Introduction

Take God’s precious Word and turn with me, please, to Matthew chapter 1. There again we’re going to find the Christmas story. We have been talking about the Lord Jesus Christ under the heading, “Come, Let Us Adore Him.” And we’ve talked about His unequalled birth. One Sunday we talked about why Jesus was born of a virgin. Then we talked about His unblemished life. Nobody—nobody—ever lived the life that the Lord Jesus Christ did. Today, we’re going to be talking about His undiminished deity. We’re going to be talking about the fact that this baby, this baby born so long ago, was God in human flesh.

I remember some years ago—some of you are old enough to remember—back in the sixties there was a movement among young people. Many of them had come out of the drug culture and the hippie culture. But it was called the Jesus Movement. And there were kids, many of them barefooted, many of them holding Bibles about this big, going around doing what they called Jesus yells, and they were cheering the Lord Jesus Christ, and they called themselves the Jesus Movement. Any of you remember that? Let me see your hands. You’re dating yourselves. But you remember that, okay? Now, do you know the strange thing about that is this: that these kids—I’ll call them kids, and I love them; I thank God for them; I never opposed the Jesus Movement; I had much rather have a young man or woman giving a cheer for Jesus than smoking pot; I never fought that; I was glad for it—many of them were unguided, untutored. But why did they call themselves the Jesus Movement in contradistinction to the churches? You talk about stolen thunder—that anyone would come along and call themselves a Jesus Movement as over against the organized church, for they operated outside of the organized church.

Now, let me say this, friend. That is an indictment to any church. Brother Whitmire asked me a long time ago, “Pastor, it would help me if you would tell me before you preach the subject, so that I could line the music up with it.” And that’s a good idea. For example, we’re talking about Jesus, and we’ve had Christmas carols this morning, and I like to see that coalesce like that. But, folks, sometimes I don’t know far enough ahead of time what I’m going to preach to let him know. And that’s an honest confession, but it’s good for the soul. And so I just say, “Jim, listen. If you’re in doubt—you don’t know what I’m going to preach—just sing about Jesus—just sing about Jesus—and it will fit, it will match, because, listen to me. The Jesus kids missed it a tad, because any so-called Jesus Movement that is not church-centered is not a Jesus Movement. The Bible says, “To him be glory in the church” (Ephesians 3:21), amen? But let’s turn that around. Any so-called church that is not Jesus-centered is not a true church. Any church that is not Jesus-centered is not a true church.

With that in mind, let’s look at the Christmas story here, and we’re going to look in Matthew chapter 1, beginning in verse 20. It speaks about Joseph, and it says, “While he thought on these things, behold, the angel of the LORD appeared unto him in a dream, saying, Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost. And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins. Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, Behold, a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us” (Matthew 1:20–23). I love that passage of Scripture.

Now, who was this child born that day? Who is this one that we call Jesus? There’s one right answer. There are many wrong answers. For example, there are those who say that Jesus was a great man. Well, beyond any peradventure, any shadow of a doubt, he was a great man, but if you just tip the hat to Jesus Christ, you’ve missed it all. H. G. Wells, the noted historian, made a list of the ten greatest men in history, and Jesus Christ was number one on that list. He talked about Charlemagne the Great, and Peter the Great, and Alexander the Great. But Jesus is more than Jesus the Great. He’s Jesus the One and Only. The late Dr. Criswell, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dallas, Texas, said this: “To compare the greatest men on earth like Alexander or Caesar or Shakespeare is like comparing a grain of dust to the whole universe, like comparing a molehill to Mount Everest in the Himalayas.” And I say amen to that.

Now some say He was a great man. Others speak of Him as a moral teacher. And He was a moral teacher, but, as C. S. Lewis says, we don’t have the option of just simply calling Him a moral teacher and moving on. Let me tell you what C. S. Lewis said—one of his greatest passages: “I am trying here to prevent anyone saying the really foolish thing that people often say about Him: I’m ready to accept Jesus as a great moral teacher, but I don't accept his claim to be God. That is the one thing we must not say. A man who was merely a man and said the sort of things Jesus said would not be a great moral teacher. He would be either a lunatic—on the level with the man who says he is a poached egg—or else he would be the Devil of Hell. You must make your choice. Either this man was, and is, the Son of God, or else a madman or something worse. You can shut him up for a fool, you can spit at him and kill him as a demon or you can fall at his feet and call Him Lord and God, but let us not come with any patronizing nonsense about his being a great human teacher. He has not left that open to us." Those are good words, aren't they?

Now others say, "Well, you know, He's more than a moral teacher; He's a prophet, a messenger of God." The Koran of Islam says that about the Lord Jesus Christ. The Koran teaches—and I quote, "Jesus was only a messenger of Allah." No. He was more than a messenger of Allah. He is God in human flesh. Others, New Agers, say He's some sort of a mystic medium, that Jesus is a channel to know God, and so they do what they think is concourse with the Almighty through their mystic Jesus, their crystal Christ, who is but a demon imitating the Lord Jesus Christ. There are demons who call themselves Jesus.

We'd better understand who this Jesus is. Let me tell you flat out, without any stutter, stammer, apology, quibble, Jesus is God in human flesh. That's who the Lord Jesus Christ is: God manifest in the flesh. Not only is He the Son of God; He is God the Son.

That brings us to a doctrine that we need to emphasize more these days than ever before—and that is the doctrine of the Trinity. Now I want you to see in this passage that we've read the Holy Trinity. For example, if you look here in Matthew chapter 1, verse 20: "Fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of"—now, underscore this if you don't mind marking in your Bible—"the Holy Ghost..."—underscore that—"the Holy Ghost. And she shall bring forth a son..."—underscore that—"a son, and thou shalt call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins. Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet"—underscore "the Lord" (Matthew 1:20–22). And there you have the Trinity: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit—God in three persons.

Look up here and let me tell you something. We're going a little deeper than normal this morning. The doctrine of the Trinity is the great Christian distinctive—the great Christian distinctive: one God in three persons. Now to misunderstand this is to lead to heresy, whether it be the heresy of the Jehovah's Witnesses, whether it be the heresy of Islam, whether it be the heresy of Unitarianism, or whether it be the heresy of some other group. If you miss the Trinity, you have missed the meaning, the message, of the Bible, that God is a God of three in one, and one in three. Our Jewish friends—and this church loves Israel—our Jewish friends miss the message. In their emphasizing the unity of God, they fail to understand that even the Hebrew Bible teaches that this God, the God of the Bible, is a triune God. And we’re going to show you that from the Word of God. Now our Jewish friends believe that Yahweh, Jehovah, is God, the one God, the Lord. And they are right. He is God the Father. But in the Bible there is also God the Son.

Now, let me show you how God the Father is described in the Bible. What is the most holy name for God in the Old Testament? It is The Great I AM. If you don’t mind putting something in your margin, put Exodus chapter 3 and verse 14: “And God said unto Moses…”—now Moses is saying, “Lord, if I’ve got to introduce you to these people, who shall I say that you are? Who are you?—“And God said unto Moses, I AM THAT I AM” (Exodus 3:14)—“I AM THAT I AM”—not “I was”; not “I will be”: “I AM the Great I AM. There never was a time when I was not. I AM THAT I AM.” That is the holy, mystical, wonderful name of Jehovah God. Now, remember, that’s how God showed Himself to Moses. Have you got it?

Now the Pharisees had Jesus on the grill; these Pharisees in whom the milk of human kindness had curdled, these Pharisees who were envious of the Lord Jesus Christ, actually sneered at Jesus. They insinuated that He was born of fornication. And Jesus had spoken of Abraham, and here’s what they said—and put this down—in John chapter 8, verses 56 and following. Jesus is speaking to those Jewish Pharisees, and here’s what He said to them: “Your father Abraham rejoiced to see my day: and he saw it, and was glad. Then said the Jews unto him, Thou art not yet fifty years old, and hast thou seen Abraham?” Now, listen to this, and don’t miss it: “Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily…”—now, folks, when Jesus says, “Verily, verily,” you listen. Listen: “Jesus said…Verily, verily, I say unto you, Before Abraham was, I am” (John 8:56–58). Did you catch that? What is the great, holy name of God in the Old Testament? He is The Great I AM. They said, “Have you seen Abraham?” He said, “Before Abraham ever got here, I AM.” There never was a time when He was not Jesus the Son of God. After this the Bible says, “They took up stones to stone Him” (John 8:59). Because why? They didn’t miss the message. It was blasphemous to them that He would so identify Himself with The Great I AM. God the Father is God, God the Son is God, and God the Holy Spirit is God.

Now in this Christmas story we see the Holy Spirit who overshadows Mary. He was the One who caused the pregnancy in Mary. He also is God, because Jesus is the Son of God according to the flesh. “Pastor Rogers, don’t you agree with others that the Holy Spirit is just an influence emanating from God?” No, the Holy Spirit is a person. Never speak of the Holy Spirit as it. Don’t talk about me, and say, “It wore a dark suit this morning.” The Holy Spirit is a person who feels, who wills, who acts, who lives, who can... be abused. The Bible says, “Grieve not the holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption” (Ephesians 4:30). You can’t grieve an influence; you can only grieve a person. And you can only grieve a person who loves you. The neighbors’ kids will vex you; your own children will grieve you, amen? You can only grieve somebody who loves you.

Let me give you a Scripture proof text here speaking of the deity of the Holy Spirit. Acts chapter 5, verses 3 to 4—there were some people named Ananias and Sapphira who had lied to the apostles and to the early church—and here’s the Scripture: “But Peter said, Ananias, why hath Satan filled thine heart to lie to the Holy Ghost,”—underscore the phrase “to lie to the Holy Ghost”—“and to keep back part of the price of the land? Whiles it remained, was it not thine own? and after it was sold, was it not in thine own power?”—now, notice this. Listen carefully. He’s already said, “You’ve lied to the Holy Ghost,” and then listen—“why hast thou conceived this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lied unto men, but unto God” (Acts 5:3–4). Did you catch it? “Why did you lie to the Holy Ghost? You lied to God.” The Father is God. The Son is God. The Holy Ghost is God. One in three, three in one.

Holy, holy, holy, merciful and mighty!
God in three Persons, blessed Trinity!
—REGINALD HEBER

You’ve sung it so many times. Do you know what you’re singing?

Three things we’re going to notice this morning.

I. The Unfathomable Mystery of the Trinity
First of all, I want us to think about the unfathomable mystery—the unfathomable mystery—of the Trinity. Now we’ve already shown you the Trinity in the Christmas story; but look, if you will, in 1 Timothy 3, verse 16. We referenced this last Sunday. “And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness” (1 Timothy 3:16). God was manifested in the flesh. You say, “Pastor Rogers, I don’t understand it.” Well, hip, hip, hurrah. I’m glad you don’t understand it. I’m glad I don’t understand it. I’m glad nobody understands it, because it can’t be understood; it must be believed. I wouldn’t have any confidence in a God that I could understand. John Wesley said, “How can a worm understand a man?” How can we understand God? How can the finite know the infinite? How can we unpick the mysteries of the Holy Trinity? It’s not given to us to understand; it is given to us to believe. It is a mystery. It goes beyond logic. It goes beyond philosophy. It goes beyond science. It goes beyond mathematics. Don’t think that you’re going to have to cram God into the little suitcase of your intellect in order to understand Him.

There are many things in the natural realm you don’t understand. You don’t understand how out of the muck and the mire of dirt a beautiful flower can grow. But there are other things that you don’t even begin to understand. Which of you understands infinity, something that never ends, like space? Who in this building can understand eternity, something that never begins and never ends? Our minds just stop, because everything we know has a beginning and an ending. Everything we know has a starting place and an ending place. But there is infinity. There is eternity. These things, very frankly, are beyond us. We don’t try to prove the Trinity. You’ll never prove the Trinity. Throw away your test tubes, put away your computer and your slide rule, bow down in the dust, open the Bible, and say, “I believe it, because God settles it in His Word.” No, this is an unfathomable mystery; but it is nonetheless true. We don’t have to understand everything.

You know, people race their theological motors to try to illustrate the Trinity, and they say, “It’s like this; it’s like that.” We try to compare God to something. Well, there’s only one God, so there’s nothing to compare Him to.

A girl had a boyfriend, but she went out with another boy one night, and she confessed to her boyfriend, “I went out with Henry, and Henry kissed me.” He said, “He did? I’ll teach him.” She said, “You couldn’t teach Henry anything.”

You can compare one kiss with another kiss, but you can’t compare God with anything, because there is no other God. Let me give you a verse. Put it down—Isaiah 40, verse 18: “To whom then will ye liken God?” (Isaiah 40:18). Don’t ever make the mistake of saying God is like this. To whom will you liken God? One kiss may be different or like another kiss, but there’s only one God—one God. Now we see reflections of His Trinity in everything—reflections, but not proofs. Time and space: that makes our universe. Time is what? Past, present, future. Space is height, width, and depth. All belong together. Each is distinguishable, but all are inseparable. You can’t have a past without a present, you can’t have a present without a future, and you can’t have a future without a past. Each are distinguishable, but all are part of one. And yet they are distinguishable. And yet they are inseparable. It’s not a proof of the Trinity, only a reflection. Space: height, width, depth. You can’t have height without width; you can’t have width without depth; you can’t have depth without height. Each is distinguishable. All are inseparable. Why? Because they are reflections of the great God who made everything: God in three persons. And this is the unfathomable mystery.

Now sometimes—sometimes—we use false analogies. Someone may say, “Well, it’s easy to understand. It’s like Pastor Rogers. He is Joyce’s husband, he is my pastor, and he is Angela’s grandfather.” No, we’re not. That’s called modalism. It’s not God acting in three ways; it is God in three persons. Well, you say, “Pastor Rogers, I don’t understand that.” Yes, that’s true. Isaiah 55, verses 8 and 9: “For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the LORD. For as the heavens are higher than the earth...”—by the way, how high is that?—“as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts” (Isaiah 55:8–9). A wise man said, “Don't try to explain the Trinity: you'll lose your mind. Don’t deny it: you'll lose your soul.” How do we know it? By divine revelation, as we open the Word of God, the only knowledge we have of the Most High, as He discloses Himself to us.

II. The Unfolded Manifestation of the Trinity

Now, here’s the second thing I want you to see. I want you to see, not only the unfathomable mystery, but I want you to see the unfolded manifestation of the Trinity. If God is a triune God, then you would expect Him to manifest Himself, which indeed He has done. You see, again, in our scripture, Matthew 1, verse 22, “Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet” (Matthew 1:22).

Now God has given us the Old Testament prophecies, and there He unfolds these things. We see them. Now Muslims claim to believe the Old Testament. Jews believe the Old Testament. Jehovah’s Witnesses claim to believe the Old Testament. Why don’t we go to the Old Testament and see if we can find the Trinity there? Well, we do on the front door in the first verse—Genesis 1:1: “In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.” You say, “Pastor, I see no Trinity there.” Well, stay with me. The Hebrew word for God there is Elohim—Elohim—and it is a plural noun. Eloh is the singular appellative for God, the single name for God—Eloh. And then if you add the im to it and make it Elohim, then that pluralizes it. For a seraph is one angel; seraphim, angels. A cherub is one angel; cherubim, more angels. It is the plural noun. But this plural noun could be translated, “In the beginning Gods...” Well, we know there’s only one God, yet the Holy Spirit inspired Moses to write down Elohim, Gods, plural. But then, almost in bad grammar, except for divine inspiration, He uses a singular verb: “Gods—Elohim—created the heaven and the earth.”

Now, what it this? It is God acting as a unity, the triune God. With that in mind, remember that the baby of Bethlehem was the One who created the manger and the very stable in which He was born. John 1, verses 1 to 3—remember it said now, “In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth” (Genesis 1:1)—“Gods.” Now, listen to this—John 1:1–3: “In the beginning was the Word...”—that’s the Bible name or description of Jesus—“In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God,”—okay now, wait a minute—“and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him; and without him”—without whom? Without Jesus—“was not any thing made that was made.” Do you see it? Nod your head. Just let me know. Are you awake? Hello!

Okay now, listen. What I’m trying to say is this: that the babe of Bethlehem is the mighty God of Genesis 1. Nothing was made without Him. You see it in the creation of the world. You see it in the great commandment that God gave to Israel. There is a commandment that God gave to Israel. Every orthodox Jew knows it by heart. It’s called the Shema. Here it is—Deuteronomy 6, verses 4 to 5: “Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God is one LORD…”—the Jews use this as the prime proof text for the unity of God—“The Lord our God is one Lord: and thou shalt love the LORD thy God with all thine heart, with all thy soul, and with all thy might” (Deuteronomy 6:4–5). The word LORD is a translation of the word Yahweh, or Jehovah: “Jehovah is one Lord,” or, “The Lord our Elohim is one Lord”; “Jehovah our Gods is one Lord”; “Yahweh our Elohim.” Don’t drop out on me now. What I’m trying to show you is this: that even in this great confession of Israel, here we have the Trinity; we have reflections of the Trinity here.

Now when he says, “Jehovah our Elohim is one Lord,” he uses a word for “one,” echad, which means, “one”—not a singular “one,” but a plural “one.” You say, “How can you have a plural ‘one’?” Well, let me give you other places where this word is used. In Genesis chapter 2, verse 24—when the Bible speaks of husband and wife coming together, the Bible says, “They [two] shall be”—echad—“one flesh” (Genesis 2:24). Now, are they two or one? The answer is yes. All right, let me give it to you again. In Genesis 11 and verse 6, at the Tower of Babel, God said, “The people is one” (Genesis 11:6). All of these? Yes, but one. The same word that’s used here: “The LORD our God is one LORD” (Deuteronomy 6:4). Look at it here in Numbers chapter 13 and verse 23: “one cluster of grapes” (Numbers 13:23)—many grapes, yet one cluster. What it is, is a plural unity. And when it says, “Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God is one LORD” (Deuteronomy 6:4), it’s saying, “Jehovah our Elohim is one Jehovah.” Has that got you scratching your head? Good. I’m happy.

Now you say, “But we don’t learn about God’s Son until we get to the New Testament.” No, you’re wrong. You learn about God’s Son in the Old Testament. Look in Daniel chapter 3, verse 25. Nebuchadnezzar looked into the fiery furnace, and he said, “Lo, I see four men loose, walking in the midst of the fire, and they have no hurt; and the form of the fourth is like the Son of God” (Daniel 3:25). Who walked with Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego through that fiery furnace? Jesus did. Look in Proverbs 30 and verse 4—here’s a question for the ancients: “Who hath ascended up into heaven, or descended? who hath gathered the wind in his fists? who hath bound the waters in a garment? who hath established all the ends of the earth? what is his name, and what is his son’s name, if thou canst tell?” (Proverbs 30:4). His name is Jehovah, and His Son’s name is Jesus. That’s the answer: God has a Son.

And what is God’s purpose with His Son? Read in the Old Testament, in Psalm chapter 2, verses 6 and 7—here’s what the Almighty says: “Yet have I set my king upon my holy hill of Zion. I will declare the decree: the LORD hath said unto me,”—Jesus is speaking—“Thou art my Son; this day have I begotten thee” (Psalm 2:6–7). Now, folks, I’m talking Old Testament here. And then what about our Christmas verse, Isaiah chapter 9 and verse 6? “Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given:”—the child born is the babe of Bethlehem; the Son given is the everlasting Jesus—“and the government shall be upon his shoulder: and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor…”—now, hold this right now—“his name shall be called…The mighty God” (Isaiah 9:6).

Now the Jehovah’s Witnesses will tell you, “Well, that’s not Jehovah God.” Well then, look in Isaiah chapter 10, verse 21: “The remnant shall return, even the remnant of Jacob, unto the mighty God” (Isaiah 10:21). And there, beyond the shadow of any doubt, it’s talking about Jehovah. And yet Jesus is called Jehovah. Therefore, in the New Testament, when we come to the miracle story of the birth of the Lord Jesus Christ, it’s no amazement to us that we see God the Spirit and God the Father and God the Son coming together in this wonderful Christmas story. And the same Gospel of Matthew, that begins, in Matthew chapter 1, speaking of the Holy Trinity, concludes, in Matthew chapter 28, giving the Great Commission to the Church. And listen, beginning in Matthew 28, verse 19—Jesus is speaking: “Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost” (Matthew 28:19). When we baptize people, we baptize them with a Trinitarian formula: Father, Son, and Holy Ghost. Listen to me. That would be blasphemous, if Jesus Christ is not God, to put Himself on the same plain, to include the Holy Spirit—and it said, “Baptize them in the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Ghost”—if Jesus is not co-equal and co-eternal with God the Father. Have you got it? Nod your head.

III. The Unchanging Ministry of the Trinity
All right now, let’s move to the third and final thing. I want you to see the unchanging ministry of the Trinity. Now it is a mystery—a mystery manifested. But why all of this fuss about it? “Pastor, what difference does it make?” Well, your destiny rides on it—your destiny rides on it. Listen again—Matthew chapter 1, verses 20 and 21: “But while he thought on these things, behold, the angel of the LORD appeared unto him in a dream, saying, Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost. And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins” (Matthew 1:20–21).
The Holy Trinity—Father, Son, and Holy Ghost—works together in your salvation. You are selected by the Father: He loved you before you were ever born. You were saved by the Son. You are sealed by the Spirit. All together, this is the way you’re saved. That’s the reason the Apostle Paul said, in 2 Corinthians 13, verse 14, “The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all” (2 Corinthians 13:14). God loves you. Jesus saved you. The Holy Spirit empowers you. That was the blessed benediction that Paul gave to that church.

Conclusion
My time is gone, but George Duncan of England told a story to a friend who passed it on to me. He said back in the Second World War there was a man, a Britisher, very wealthy, who had a son. And that son got in the Royal Air Force, the RAF. He was shot down in flames and died, and left this man, whose wife had previously died, immensely wealthy with no relatives, no other descendants. This boy was lost in the battle for Britain. There came a time when the man himself died, and he wrote a will. His will said that his estate was to be sold and given to various charities. And he said, “My art collection is to be auctioned off.” He had an incredible art collection. Sotheby’s was going to do the auctioning. The people came from all over, art collectors. Because it was a valuable collection, they were salivating with the opportunity to bid on it. And the auctioneer, the executor, said, “First of all, we’re going to auction one painting.” It was there on a tripod. They unveiled it. It was a painting of a man. It was the wealthy man’s son, the son who died. Few, if any, out there knew the boy. It was not a well-known artist. To them it was more or less valueless. And nobody bid. But one man, who was an old friend of the family, who knew the boy and had seen him grow up, thought it would be nice to have a painting of that lad—“I knew him. I watched him. I loved him”—and he bid on it. There were no other bids.

The auctioneer said, “Do I hear any other bids? Very well, it is sold to this individual.” And then he said, “The auction is over.” They said, “No, there are other paintings.” He said, “No.” He said, “I was forbidden to tell you this, but it has been written in the will that whoever buys this picture gets with the picture the entire collection. Whoever gets the son gets all the rest.”

Friend, I want to tell you, God has a Son, and when you get Jesus, you get it all. You get it all when you receive Jesus.

I’ve tried in vain a thousand ways
My fears to quell, my hopes to raise;
But all I need, the Bible says, is Jesus.
My soul is night, my heart is steel,
I cannot see, I cannot feel,
For life, for light, I must appeal to Jesus.

He died, He lives, He reigns, He pleads,
There’s love in all His words and deeds,
All—All the guilty sinner needs is Jesus.

Though some will mock, though some will blame
In spite of sin, in spite of shame,
I’ll go to Him, because His name is—what?—JESUS.

Introduction

Would you find Matthew chapter 1, please, and look with me in verses 22 and 23 in just a moment. But may I say that there’s a strange thing about Christmas. For many, it is the happiest time of the year; and for others, it may be the saddest and the loneliest season and time of the year. You know, loneliness is a genuine malady; and it becomes even more evident to some people when it seems to them that everybody else is having a wonderful time except themselves. And they get depressed. They feel so alone away from friends and family and loved ones. And it is a statistical fact that suicides increase this time of the year. Drunkenness increases this time of the year. Family fights increase this time of the year. Depression comes to the surface this time of the year.

Now the irony of all of that is this: that our Lord came to be with us that we would never be lonely again. Look in these verses. Now Matthew is commenting on the birth of Jesus, and he says, “Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, Behold, a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us” (Matthew 1:22–23).

Now, just underscore that, if you don’t mind writing in your Bible: “God with us.” He came to earth to save us. Yes, He did. But, beyond that, He is God’s answer to man’s loneliness.

Now, three things I want to lay on your heart about this loneliness this morning.

I. Loneliness Is a Common Fact
First of all, loneliness is a common fact. Now it’s much more common than you may realize. You may think, “Well, only a few people are lonely.” Thomas Wolfe, who is a famous novelist, said—and I quote: “Loneliness is far from being a rare and curious phenomenon. It is the central, inevitable fact of human existence.” Now that’s a big statement. He says it’s not just rare; it is a central and inevitable fact. And Dr. Paul Tournier, who is a famous Swiss psychologist, had this to say. He said that, “Loneliness is the most devastating malady of the age.” Now that’s a big statement: “the most devastating malady of the age.” And again, Dr. Abraham Maslow, famed research analyst, estimates this amazing thought. Listen to this. Here’s a direct quote from this man: “The truth is that the average American citizen does not have a real friend in this world.” That’s what he said. Right or wrong, if he would even say such a thing, we know that we’re dealing with a real, definite experience. And many of those who name the name of Jesus, those who follow the Lord, may be afflicted with loneliness. I was looking at a verse over in Psalms—Psalm 25, verse 16—and the Psalmist said, “For I am desolate and afflicted” (Psalm 25:16). That’s just another way of saying that he was lonely.

Now, what is loneliness? Well, I want to say that mere solitude is not loneliness. Solitude is good. Have you ever wanted to just get off by yourself? I do sometimes. I heard of a preacher who said, “I don’t want to go to heaven because there will be no parting there; I want to go because there will be no meetings there.” Just to be alone sometimes, that’s good.

And many of us don’t want to get off in solitude. Why? Because we have to look God and ourselves in the face. It’s good to have solitude. Many times Jesus would withdraw Himself from the crowds and get alone by Himself. That is a wonderful, wonderful thing. You can be alone without being lonely, right? So we’re not talking about solitude.

We’re not talking about being lonesome. There’s a difference between loneliness and lonesomeness. If you are a traveling salesman, you may be lonesome for your family when you’re away from them. Or when you’re away at school, you may be lonesome; that is, wanting to be back with your loved ones. That’s fine. That’s wonderful.

I heard about a little boy who said to his friend in school—he said, “Things are awful at my house.” He said, “My mother is in the hospital, and me and Daddy and Billy and the twins are at home alone all by ourselves.” Well, he was just lonesome for Mama. And we can be lonesome for people. That’s not what we’re talking about.

We’re talking about something worse than that. It is loneliness. And loneliness is not being merely isolated from people. As a matter of fact, you can be lonely in a crowd. That’s perhaps the worst loneliness. You may be here today surrounded by thousands of people in this worship service, and very, very lonely. I think Thoreau said, “A city is a place where hundreds of people are lonely together.” People all around you, but yet lonely. In the big cities, for example, cities like Memphis, you have Lonely Hearts clubs. They flourish. Singles bars, computerized dating services. People get on the chat room in the Internet. Why? Because they are lonely. You see, loneliness is not isolation; it’s insulation. You can be surrounded by hundreds, thousands, and be lonely.

What are we talking about? Loneliness is feeling unneeded, uncared for, unwanted; maybe even unnecessary. You feel like you’re just insulated from all those ‘round about you. Every person has three great emotional needs. You do. I do. These gentlemen do. The choir does. If you say that you don’t, I believe you’ll not be telling the truth. You have a need, a desire, to love and to be intimate with other people—a desire to love and to be intimate with others. You have a desire to be understood, somebody who knows you and really understands you; and you have a desire to be needed and to be wanted. You have a desire to love and be loved and be intimate with someone. You have a desire for someone to understand you. And you have a desire to be needed and to be wanted. And if those desires are not met, then you’re going to be lonely.

Now people are lonely for a number of reasons. I’ve listed about six reasons today that people are lonely. And your loneliness may be a result of one of these, all of these, or some of these.

A. People Are Lonely Because They’ve Been Rejected in the Past

One of the reasons that people are lonely is they’ve been rejected in the past; somebody has done them wrong. Maybe a husband, a wife, has walked off from you. Maybe children have rejected you. Maybe parents have rejected you, and you feel hurt, and you have inner wounds that have never been healed; and those wounds are there, and you’re afraid now. You’re afraid to make any kind of relationship, because you’ve been hurt so badly.

Mark Twain said one time, “If a cat sits on a hot stove, he’ll never sit on a hot stove again.” And then he said, “As a matter of fact, he won’t sit on any stove again.” If you’ve been hurt, you’re just afraid to try again. And that’s one reason that people are lonely.

B. People Are Lonely Because They Have a Poor Self-Image

Another reason is that some people just have such a poor self-image. They have a basic insecurity. They don’t see themselves as worthy of having friends. They don’t see themselves as worthy of being loved. And they’re afraid to reach out, because they’re afraid that no one will reach back. They have this deep-seated insecurity. They can’t accept others and be accepted by others because they’ve never really accepted themselves as God has accepted them.

C. People Are Lonely Because They’ve Gone Through Pain and Suffering

Another reason, another cause, is sometimes people have gone through pain and suffering, such pain and such suffering—maybe the loss of a child, the loss of a mate—they feel nobody else can understand—“People just don’t know how much I’ve been hurt”—and they close themselves off.

Joyce and I were talking the other day about a very wonderful person, a member of this church, who suffered the loss of a mate; and it was so devastating that person has just closed up shop, won’t even come to church anymore. Because of the deep hurt, they feel that nobody can understand it. Job, who was hurt so much, said, in Job chapter 7 and verse 16, “Let me alone; for my days are vanity” (Job 7:16). And sometimes people, when they have hurts—deep hurts—they just go into a shell and they become lonely.

D. People Are Lonely Because They Are Self-Centered

You know one of the big reasons for loneliness is—this is not a very pleasing thing, but I’m going to say it—so many self-centered people are lonely. They’re all wrapped up in themselves, and they turn their lives inward. And they just put up sort of a plexiglass shield of self-sufficiency around them, and they become so brittle, and they shut others out. No life is so empty as a self-centered life, and no life is so centered as a Christ-filled life. But these people are self-centered.

C. S. Lewis was a brilliant man. I don’t agree with everything C. S. Lewis says, but one thing he said was incredible. He talked about self-centered people, and here’s what he said. He said, “To love at all is to be vulnerable. Love anything and your heart will certainly be wrung and possibly broken. If you want to make sure of keeping it intact you must give it to no one… Wrap it carefully round with hobbies and little luxuries; avoid all entanglements. Lock it up safe in the casket…of your selfishness… It will not be broken; it will become unbreakable, impenetrable, irredeemable.” Maybe you’re that way. Maybe you’ve just kind of locked yourself up. But you’re receiving the loneliness that comes with that self-centeredness.
E. People Are Lonely Because of Sin

You know, sometimes your sin and the fruit of your sin can make you lonely. You become a person that is hard to live with. Cain killed Abel, and then he said, “I am a vagabond upon the earth” (Genesis 4:14). Love builds bridges. Sin builds walls. Maybe you’ve done something terrible and horrible, and that sin has separated you. Now, not all loneliness is the result of a sinful lifestyle. I want to be clear about that. But maybe that’s the cause of your loneliness.

F. People Are Lonely Because of a Depersonalized Society

I’ll tell you one of the reasons for loneliness today, I believe, is just the way we have depersonalized society. We live in strange world today. Have you noticed that we’re just becoming a lot of numbers? You go to buy something, and you put a piece of plastic down on the counter, and the clerk picks up the plastic, does some things, wraps your stuff, hands it to you. Your eyes never meet his or hers. You sign. You go out.

I go to the Atlanta Airport quite often. They have those great big escalators. You get on that thing. You go down, you know, and you go up. I look at those people. They look like sausages in a factory. And you come to this thing, and it says, “Step away from the door. The door is now closing.” “Somebody is blocking the door.” You know, you get a car, and now your dashboard talks to you: “You’re running out of gas, stupid.” It’s an amazing thing that we’re looking for somebody to know that we are real. We live in a society that is just being depersonalized. We’ve lost our roots.

The average person now moves fourteen times in his lifetime—the average American. That’s something. When I was a kid, everybody grew up in the same neighborhood. Nobody moved. We stayed there. We knew one another. Now, how do we see our neighbor? He’s driving in his garage. We’re driving in our garage while we’re letting down the garage door. That’s it! Many of us don’t even know the names of our neighbors. I daresay that most of the people in this building today could not give the names of three families to your right and three families to your left. That’s an amazing thing. Now some of you could. But we just simply have become so isolated. And we’re afraid. Crime is out there on the streets. And so, what do we do? We go in and lock our doors with triple bolts, put bars on the window. The criminals roam the streets, and we are incarcerated behind bars at night. That is the fact of our age. And no wonder this eminent Swiss psychologist said, “the most devastating malady of our age.”

II. Loneliness Is a Crippling Force

Now, here’s the second thing I want to say. Loneliness is a crippling force. It is a crippling force. Now we’re not just talking about something incidental. Again, the man said it is a devastating malady.
A. It Cripples You Emotionally

Loneliness may cripple you emotionally. There are few hurts that are deeper than loneliness. This Christmas season there will be people sitting at home whose hearts will be crushed. They imagine everybody else is having a wonderful Christmas but them. One report that I read in doing research on this message said that eighty percent of psychiatrists' patients say that they sought help because of loneliness—eighty percent. Now if that’s anywhere near true, that’s an amazing thing. It cripples us emotionally.

B. It Cripples You Physically

Let me give you another statistic. It cripples you physically. Another survey pointed out that fifty percent of heart patients were lonely and depressed before they had a heart attack—fifty percent. Physically, there can be a loss of appetite, or maybe overeating. Have you ever seen a lonely person in a restaurant overeating? Watch, you’ll see a lot of them sitting there eating to make up for this loneliness.

C. It Cripples You Spiritually

It can cripple you spiritually. As I say, people become spiritual dropouts. They don’t come to church, because they are closed up in themselves, and they cut themselves off from the very thing they need.

III. Jesus Is God’s Answer to Man’s Loneliness

I must rush past that point to get to the third and final point—and I want to spend a little more time on it. I’ve said that loneliness is a common fact. It is a crippling force. But here’s the third thing—and I really want to zero on in on this: that Jesus is God’s answer to man’s loneliness. Loneliness may be a conquered foe because of the little baby that was born here in Bethlehem so long ago—“on Bethlehem morn,” as we just heard. You see, His name, the name of that baby, is Emmanuel. And what does Emmanuel mean? “God with us.” Now that’s so important.

Let me tell you how Jesus can help your loneliness like no other person can. One of the reasons that Jesus is God’s answer to man’s loneliness is that He knew loneliness like nobody else has ever known loneliness. When the prophet Isaiah prophesied about this baby that would come into the world, the prophet Isaiah said, in Isaiah chapter 53 and verse 3, “He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief; and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not” (Isaiah 53:3). Jesus was rejected. Again, let me give you another verse—John 1, verse 11. It speaks of Jesus: “He came unto his own, and his own received him not” (John 1:11). Jesus was rejected.

Think about His birth. No room in the inn. He was born in a stable. Think about His crucifixion. They couldn’t even let Him die inside the city walls. He died outside the gates on a garbage heap. He died alone between heaven and earth on that cross. His disciples forsook Him. He's there alone, and He has to bow His head and cry, “My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?” (Matthew 27:46; Mark 15:34). Even God the Father had to turn His back upon God the Son when God the Son was bearing the sin of the world, because God is “of purer eyes than to behold iniquity” (Habakkuk 1:13). I'm saying that Jesus knew loneliness. Jesus knew rejection. Jesus knew betrayal.

Now, what does that mean to you? Well, put in your margin Hebrews chapter 4 and verse 15: “For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities…”—you say, “Nobody knows how I feel.” Jesus knows—Jesus knows. Friend, He has been there. He was rejected, despised, cast off—“we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin” (Hebrews 4:15).

Now, here's the wonderful thing. How can Jesus, Emmanuel, help you? Remember the quote I gave you where the psychologist said, “The devastating fact is that the average American has not one friend in this world”? Well, let me tell you how you can have one friend. Let me tell you how you can have a friend. Put this down—John chapter 15, beginning in verse 12. Jesus said, “This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you. Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. Ye are my friends,”—“ye are my friends”—“if ye do whatsoever I command you. Henceforth I call you not servants; for the servant knoweth not what his lord doeth: but I have called you friends; for all things that I have heard of my Father I have made known unto you” (John 15:12–15). Have you ever thought about that—I mean, really dwelt about that? I meditated on this verse all night last night. I would wake up thinking about this verse: “I have called you friends”—a friend of Jesus.

Now, listen. If you were listening, in the introduction of this message I told you that human beings have three basic needs. One is to love and be loved: someone that we can be intimate with. Now Jesus meets that need. He is someone that I can love, someone that loves me. I am totally intimate with the Lord Jesus Christ. He knows things about me that even Joyce doesn’t know. He is a friend who knows my heart. He knows all about me. Secondly, we said that we have need of somebody who can understand us, somebody who knows the hurts, the wounds, the joys, the victories, the needs, the frustrations. Jesus understands.

I love the prophecy of our Lord in Psalm 139, verses 1 through 4: “O lord, thou hast searched me, and known me. Thou knowest my downsitting and mine uprising; thou understandest my thought afar off. Thou compассest my path and my lying down, and art acquainted with all my ways. For there is not a word in my tongue, but, lo, O L ORD, thou knowest it altogether” (Psalm 139:1–4). Jesus meets that need. He knows me. He understands me.
And then, we all have a need to be needed, to be desired, to be wanted. Listen to me. Forget anybody else is here. I’m talking to you up there in the balcony, or down here, over here, over here, or back here. He loves you personally and individually. He does not love all of us; He loves each of us. He is as much your friend as if He had no other friends in the world. He is your own personal Savior. Jesus meets that deep need.

I was thinking, in preparing this message, about Zacchaeus, that little man who lived in Jericho, where I’ve visited so many times. And he was so short. He was a tax collector. He was a man who really was an outcast. Nobody would have anything to do with Zacchaeus. And he climbed up in a sycamore tree to see his Lord. You know the story. You sang it as a child: “Zacchaeus was a wee little man.” You remember the story. He’s up there in the sycamore tree, and Jesus comes along, and Jesus says, “Zacchaeus, come down, for I must abide in your house today” (Luke 19:5). Do you know what had to go through that man’s mind? Now all of the crowd is there; I mean, the crowd is there so great that Zacchaeus can’t even get near Him. So you know there was a great crowd there. And out of that crowd, He says, “Zacchaeus!” Zacchaeus had to say, “He knows me! He knows me!” Did you know He knows you? I mean, He knows your name. And then He says, “Zacchaeus, come down.” You know what he had to think? I know what he had to think: “He wants me. He’s asking me to come. He wants me.” And then He says, “Zacchaeus, I must needs abide at your house today.” And he’s saying, “He needs me. He needs me. I mean, He needs me? He wants me?”

I can tell you today without any stutter, stammer, fear, apology, hesitation, He knows you; He wants you; He needs you. You! Just say, “He’s talking to me.” Just say that: “He is talking to me.” What a friend we have in the Lord Jesus Christ! You see? And thank God about this. He is “a friend that sticketh closer than a brother” (Proverbs 18:24). He will never leave you. He said, in His Word, “I will never leave you, nor forsake you” (Hebrews 13:5). And He sends the Holy Spirit, who is Christ in the Christian, to be with us always. And the Apostle Paul said, “For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is Christ Jesus our Lord” (Romans 8:38–39).

Thank God for all of the wonderful things that we have in friendship with Jesus, our Emmanuel, who is God with us. No wonder the songwriter said,

I’ve found a Friend, O such a friend!
He loved me ere I knew him;
He drew with the cords of love,
And thus He bound me to Him.
—JAMES G. SMALL

Now let me tell you what friendship with Jesus will do for you: the Emmanuel factor.
A. Friendship with Jesus Elevates You

First of all, friend, I'll tell you what it will do. It will elevate you—it will elevate you. Have you ever listened to people who kind of namedrop, that they know somebody important? They'll say, “Well, you know, the other day when I was visiting with Congressman So-and-So, or the other day when I was da-da-da-da,” and they just drop names. You know, namedroppers. Well, that’s probably not a good thing to do, except there’s one name I always enjoy dropping—and it’s Jesus—it’s Jesus—and let people know. Hey—and don’t misunderstand what I’m trying to say, but we’re tight—we’re tight, we’re tight. I love Him, and He’s real. That elevates me. I mean, what could be said more to elevate an individual than to say, “Let me tell you who my friend is”? Let me tell you, my friend—my friend—is Jesus, the One who made the universes. That friendship elevates.

B. Friendship with Jesus Enlarges You

I'll tell you something else that friendship does. Not only does it elevate, but it enlarges. Let me tell you the secret of friendship. When you have a friend, then the friends of that friend becomes your friends. Did you ever notice that? When you meet a friend, when you have a new friend, then the friends of that friend become your friends. And that’s the reason we’re here together, because we’re all friends of Jesus, and we’re friends to one another. That’s why, folks, this church is called “a family of friends”: because there is one friend whose name is Jesus, and we wouldn’t be here together without Him, isn’t that true? Choir, you wouldn’t be up there. You wouldn’t be there. You wouldn’t be there. I wouldn’t be here without Him. But His friendship enriches. His friendship enlarges. You see, no brother in Christ is a mere acquaintance to me. No sister in Christ is a mere acquaintance. They are a friend, because they’re a friend of Jesus, and Jesus is a friend of mine.

C. Friendship with Jesus Enriches You

I’ll tell you something else about friendship with Jesus. Not only does it elevate us, and not only does it enlarge us, but friendship with Jesus enriches us. Now, notice what Jesus said in this passage of Scripture. He said, “You know, I don’t call you servants; I call you friends, because,” He says, “the servant doesn’t know what his master does” (John 15:15). What’s the difference between a servant and a friend? A servant is not necessarily told why; he’s only told what: “Just do it!” “Why?” “Because I said so.” “Do it!” But Jesus calls us friends. You see, the slave is told what; the friend is told why. When we become friends to Jesus, we get in the inner circle, and we learn some sacred secrets.

Let me give you a great verse. It’s a wonderful verse. Put it down, and then you go back to it later on—Luke chapter 10, verses 23 and 24. We’re talking now about this friendship that enriches. Now, listen to this: “And he turned him unto his disciples, and said privately,”—now, just underscore that: “privately”—“Blessed are the eyes which see the things that ye see: for I tell you, that many prophets and kings have desired to see those things which ye see, and have not seen them; and to hear those things which ye hear, and have not heard them” (Luke 10:23–24). Now, who is He talking to? Fishermen, tax collectors. And He says, “Listen—listen. Come over here. I want to tell you something. The things that you’re seeing, the things that you’re hearing, kings and prophets have wanted to know. You’re going to get in on some things that old Solomon didn’t know about. You’re going to learn some things that the prophet Isaiah didn’t know. Kings and prophets won’t know what you’re going to know, because you’re my friends. The servant doesn’t know what his master does, but the friends know.” And Jesus said, “Henceforth, I call you my friends” (John 15:15).

This friendship: it elevates; it enlarges; it enriches. His name is Emmanuel, which is, “God with us.” How blessed we are to have Jesus for a friend! Would you agree? Hallelujah! Hallelujah! You see, God, through the Holy Spirit, whispers sacred secrets into our heart.

There’s an illustration I’ve used several times, but it’s so applicable here. A student in college was challenged by an agnostic professor about the Bible, and he said to his class, “The Bible is a bundle of blunders. It’s a book of ancient mythology. It’s no longer applicable to today’s age.” And he said, “I have read the Bible, and it doesn’t make sense to me.” And one student, who was bold enough to speak up for Jesus, said, “Pardon me, sir, but may I say this to you: that the Bible is God’s love letter to His friends. If you don’t understand it, it’s because you’ve been reading somebody else’s mail.”

There it is, you see. Jesus is the One who opens these things, and He says He’s hidden these things from the wise and the prudent, and He has revealed them unto babes (Matthew 11:25; Luke 10:21). Jesus’ friendship will enrich your life. “As iron sharpens iron, so a man’s countenance sharpens the countenance of his friends” (Proverbs 27:17).

Jesus is real to me. I don’t say that boastfully; I say it thankfully. Jesus is not somebody I know about; Jesus is somebody I know. He is a friend that sticks closer than a brother (Proverbs 18:24).

Conclusion
Now as we come to the close of the message, I remind you again—listen, listen—Jesus loves you. Not just all of us; He loves each of us. Now you need a friend, but you can never have Jesus Christ as your friend until He’s your Lord and Savior. You need more than friendship with Jesus. You need your sin forgiven. You need to receive Him into your heart and into your life. And when He becomes your friend, it is your duty and your privilege to introduce your Friend to the rest of your friends, and to say,

I've found a friend, O, such a friend!
He bled, He died to save me;
And not alone the gift of life,
But His own self He gave me.

And then, all of us ought to say,

Naught that I have mine own I call,
I'll hold it for the Giver,
My heart, my strength, my life, my all
Are His, and His forever.

—JAMES G. SMALL

“They shalt call his name Emmanuel” (Matthew 1:23). But just a few verses before that, Matthew reported that the angel said, “Thou shalt call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins” (Matthew 1:21). Now, listen. You cannot say that, “He is with me,” until “He has saved me.” “Call his name Jesus, for he shall save his people from their sins.” “Call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us” (Matthew 1:23).

Introduction
I want to speak tonight on “The Loneliest Night of the Year.” I believe that Christmas Eve for so many people is the loneliest night of the year. And that’s so amazing, because we think of Christmas as the time when everybody’s happy. We think of Christmas as the time when the house is filled with family and friends and food and fun. But, you know, there are a lot of heartbroken people tonight—a lot of them! Did you know that at Christmastime there are more suicides, more drunkenness, more fights, more despair? Anybody who does counseling, like a pastor does, or anybody who deals with any of the social agencies knows that for so many people Christmas is a time of heartache and sadness.

I’ve tried to figure that out, and I believe it’s because people are told they’re supposed to be happy. And they look within and they see that they’re not happy. They’re supposed to have friends, and they look around them, and even the friends that they have seem to be so surface. And somehow it just reinforces that sadness that they live with the rest of the year; but in the season when everybody’s supposed to be so happy, it seems like it’s worse than ever before. And, you know, the irony of the whole thing is this: that Jesus came to earth, suffered, bled, and died, rose again, reigns on high, that we might never ever be lonely again. I was reading the Christmas story, and I was interested to note again in Matthew chapter 1, verse 23, what the Bible says about the Lord Jesus Christ: “Behold, a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us.” (Matthew 1:23)

Now, if you’re watching this program tonight, and you’re looking in on Bellevue’s services, we want to tell you again how happy we are to have you. This is the family night at Bellevue. We’re just kind of taking it easy. We’re not trying to be spectacular at all, but just to enjoy the things of God. But it came to our hearts and our minds that many of you tonight might be very lonely. So I want you to stay with us. I want to share with you some good news. I want to share with you the truth that Joyce was singing about just a little while back: how to be cured from your loneliness. And this is not just some slap on the back or some words of maudlin sentimentality. I want to talk to you about something that is tried and proven.

I heard of an old lady who marked in her Bible, and someone found her Bible, and she had so many places that were marked and underlined and stained with tears and all of these things, like people who have a Bible that they love so much. But by some verses she had “T” and “P”—just “TP.” And someone said, “What does that mean?” And she said, “It means tried and proven—tried and proven.”

Well, I want to talk to you about something that’s not sentiment, something that has been tried and proven, as we think about this matter of loneliness.

I. The Curse of Loneliness

And, first of all, I want you to think with me about the curse of loneliness. You know, about ten years ago Janis Joplin, who was a very famous young lady, a singer that a certain strata of people loved to hear, on October 4, 1970, in Los Angeles, she was found dead in her beautiful apartment. And as they went into the apartment, they found the heroin there; they found the fresh needle marks on her arm. This young lady who had, in a way, a portion of the world at her feet was found dead under tragic circumstances. A friend of hers reported that Janis Joplin said to her just hours before her death these words—and I want to quote them—she said, “When I am not on the theater stage, I just lie around and watch television and feel very lonely.” And here she... was, twenty-seven years of age, talented and wealthy and praised, and yet: “I sit around and watch television and feel very lonely.” Thomas Wolfe, one of the greatest novelists of all ages, once wrote these words: “Loneliness, far from being a rare and a curious phenomenon peculiar to myself and a few solitary men, is the central and inevitable fact of human existence.” He said it is the central fact, and it is inevitable that all people are lonely. And I think of the great historian, H. G. Wells, who said on his sixty-fifth birthday, “I am lonely. I am lonely and alone.”

And, you see, popularity doesn’t remove loneliness. The fact that people like to be with you does not necessarily mean that you are not going to be lonely. In 1808, many years ago, a man came into the office of Dr. James Hamilton in Manchester, England. And this man was so distraught. He looked like he had some physical malady, but the doctor examined him and could find no physical malady. He said, “Sir, what is wrong with you? You tell me.” And the man said, “I am depressed. I am distressed.” He said, “I can find no reason for wanting to live. And if you cannot help me, I’m going to take my life.” And the doctor said, “I believe that you’re just lonely. I believe that you’re just all wrapped up in yourself. What you need to do is to get outside of yourself. You need to start enjoying life.” And Dr. Hamilton said, “There’s a circus in town, and one of the most famous clowns of all time is there: Grimaldi.” And he said, “I want you to go to the circus and buy a ticket, and go in and watch Grimaldi. He’ll make you laugh.” And the doctor said, “I just believe if you can laugh, that will help you.” The man looked at the doctor and said, “Doctor, don’t jest with me. I am Grimaldi.” He was the clown making everyone else laugh.

And I believe that there are some of you here tonight and some who perhaps are sharing these services on television, and you may be the life of the party, but down inside you’re lonely, you’re empty. You’re like Janis Joplin. You’re like H. G. Wells. You’re like Grimaldi the clown. You’re saying this: “There’s something missing. There is a deep and abiding loneliness.” You can be a Christian and be lonely if you get out of fellowship with God. In Psalm 25, verse 16, the psalmist said, “I am [lonely] and afflicted.” (Psalm 25:16)

I heard one time of a man who said to his mother, “I just don’t want to go to church.” She said, “But you ought to go to church.” He said, “Well, I just don’t want to go.” She said, “Why not?” He said, “Well, all the people there, they’re unfriendly to me. They won’t speak to me. And the deacons in that church said they don’t like me. They just snub me. And the staff members, I don’t seem to be able to get along with them. I just don’t want to go.” She said, “Now, dear, go on to church. You ought to go. It will do you good. And, after all, you are the pastor.”

Now you can be a Christian and be lonely. You can be up to your ears in church work and be lonely. You look around. You can be in a crowd and be lonely. Did you know that the loneliest people sometimes are in the biggest cities? The big cities—the big cities—are the places of the Lonely Hearts Clubs. The big cities are the places of the single bars or the singles bars. They are the places of the computerized dating services and the encounter groups. I’m talking about in the big cities. A city like Memphis, Tennessee, is often filled with lonely people. There is the curse of loneliness. And Dr. Paul Tournier, the eminent Swiss psychiatrist, has called loneliness “the most devastating malady of this age”—“the most devastating malady of this age”—loneliness, the curse of loneliness.

II. The Cause of Loneliness
And then I want us to think for a little bit about the cause of loneliness. Why are people lonely?

A. Our Three Emotional Needs as Humans
Well, you know, when God made us, when God created us, He engineered us that we have three basic emotional needs.

1. We Need Someone to Love
First of all, we need someone to love, someone to share those intimate things with, someone just to open our hearts to, someone that’s so near and so close that we can share the little things as well as the big things.

2. We Need to Be Understood
But not only do we need someone to love, but we’re also engineered that we have a need to be understood. You know, it’s a terrible thing when you think, “Nobody knows. Nobody cares. Nobody understands the way I feel. Nobody knows what’s happening to me.”

3. We Need to Be Needed
But not only do we need someone to love, and not only do we need someone to understand us; but we have a third need: We need to be needed—we need to be needed. We want to be wanted. We want to be appreciated. Our self-esteem demands that somehow there be someone who says, “You are important. You’re so important that I need you; and without you my life is incomplete.”

B. Why Those Needs Aren’t Met
And yet, in spite of these three needs, it seems like everything is engineered so that many people never have these needs met.

1. A Depersonalized Society
We’re so depersonalized today. Everybody is a number rather than a name. And Madison Avenue had done a pretty good job at Christmas teaching us to love things and to use people rather than using things and loving people.

2. Mobility

But we just live in an age where we’re so mobile, also. You know, we’re picking up roots and we’re moving, and we’re packing and unpacking, and moving and packing. I read this statistic the other day, that the average person moves fourteen times now in America—fourteen times in his lifetime. And it’s tough to move. Someone said, “Moving three times is as bad as being burned out.” And we move fourteen times in our lifetime.

3. Death

And we see that many of us have had the icy fingers of death to come into our home and take away some loved one—someone so near and so precious. Even today I’ve dealt with two families who’ve had loved ones taken by death. And, thank God, both of those loved ones were Christians. They’ve gone to heaven, and we thank God for that. I think about the Singing Christmas Tree and the message of the Singing Christmas Tree, “Going Home for Christmas,” and two of our congregation have already gone home for Christmas. Perhaps they didn’t realize that they were going home for Christmas; but they have. And they’ve left behind some people, and the people that they’ve left behind can have that awful heartache—that awful loneliness—because it seems like there are so many things that seem to bring that loneliness into our heart.

4. Sin and Selfishness

And then, let me tell you another thing that can cause loneliness: Not only the depersonalization of society, and the mobility of society, and sometimes the invasion of death; but did you know that your own sin and selfishness can make you lonely? Some people are so wrapped up in themselves that they have become so lonely. They’re wondering why they’re not having a good Christmas—and do you know what they think Christmas is? They think that Christmas is unwrapping presents. Friend, the joy of Christmas is wrapping presents—wrapping presents. It’s more blessed to give than it is to receive. (Acts 20:35) And there are so many people who are sitting around waiting for someone to love them, when the Bible says, “He who would have friends must show himself friendly.” (Proverbs 18:24) And these people have become so selfish and so wrapped up within themselves.

III. The Cure for Loneliness

Well, we thought a little bit about the curse of loneliness—as Mr. Tournier says, “the most devastating malady of our age.” We’ve thought about the cause of loneliness—that we have these basic needs, and so many are not having these basic needs met; so many don’t have anyone to love; so many don’t have anyone to share with, someone who understands them; and so many don’t feel needed, or wanted, or appreciated at all.
So, let me talk to you for just a few moments about the cure for loneliness. I want to tell you again that it’s wrapped up in the Lord Jesus, whose name is Emmanuel—Emmanuel—Matthew 1, verse 23: “They shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us.” (Matthew 1:23) You see, Jesus alone is the cure for being alone. Jesus alone is the cure for loneliness. And I’ll tell you why this is. Has it ever dawned upon you that Jesus knew more loneliness than any other person who ever lived? I believe the most lonely person who ever walked Planet Earth was a man named Jesus of Nazareth. He was lonely because no one really, really understood Him.

As a matter of fact, I was reading in the Psalms, and in Psalm 102—you might want to mark it in your Bible some time—Psalm 102 is what we call a messianic psalm. That is, it’s one of the psalms that prophesies and tells about the Lord Jesus Christ. That is, the psalmist is speaking as though he were Jesus, and the words of Jesus and the thoughts of Jesus are put into the psalm. And here’s a very interesting verse that struck and gripped my heart as I prepared my heart for this message. In Psalm 102, verse 6, Jesus says, “I am like a pelican of the wilderness: I am like an owl of the desert. I watch, and am as a sparrow alone upon the house top.” (Psalm 102:6–7) Jesus was talking of Himself. The psalmist here is prophesying of the Lord Jesus Christ like a sparrow alone on a housetop. Jesus knew what loneliness was.

You see, all of these Old Testament ceremonies, and all of these Old Testament sacrifices, and all of these Old Testament celebrations, were about the Lord Jesus Christ. Can’t you imagine Jesus standing on the edge of the crowd and seeing those people go through their rituals and their celebrations and knowing it was all about Him, and yet they did not know Him? For the Bible says in Isaiah chapter 53 and verse 3, speaking of Jesus, “He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not.” (Isaiah 53:3) Oh, the loneliness of Jesus, a man of sorrows, acquainted with grief, despised, rejected of men! And the Bible tells us in John 1, verse 11, that, “He came unto his own, and his own received him not.” (John 1:11)

Not only, dear friend, was He born outside the inn that night in the stable, but He died outside the city walls on a garbage heap. He had to be buried in a borrowed tomb. The loneliest man that ever lived was the Lord Jesus Christ. And when Jesus died, He died alone. And how my heart was touched again as I thought of the Lord Jesus as He was there upon that cross being crucified, as He cried out, “My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?” (Matthew 27:46; Mark 15:34) And God the Father had turned His back upon God the Son, because God the Son had taken the sin of the world upon Himself. And the Bible says that the Father is “of purer eyes than to behold [iniquity]” (Habakkuk 1:13) Jesus took my sin. And because He took my sin, He suffered my loneliness. And Jesus died between heaven and earth suspended on a cross.
disciples fled and forsook Him. The mob railed at Him. And God the Father turned His back, and Jesus died alone. Even when David died, David could say in the words of the twenty-third psalm, “Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me.” (Psalm 23:4) But Jesus couldn’t say that. Jesus had to say, “My God, My God, why hast thou forsaken me?” Jesus walked that lonesome valley all by Himself.

The loneliest man that ever lived was Jesus Christ. He knows loneliness. And, therefore, the Bible tells us in Hebrews chapter 4 that we don’t have a high priest who cannot feel what we feel. He’s touched with our infirmities. (Hebrews 4:15) He knows. He cares. And if you’re lonely tonight, I want to tell you there is One who knows what it’s like to be lonely. And He was lonely, that you need not be lonely. He came to take our loneliness from us by suffering it for us in our place. And so the cure for loneliness is the Lord Jesus, who is Emmanuel, who is God with us.

And how does He meet our loneliness? Remember what we said that man’s three basic needs are?

A. Jesus Is Someone to Love

First of all, man needs someone to love. That’s Jesus—that’s Jesus. I want to tell you something. It may sound corny; I hope it doesn’t. But I love Jesus. I love Him. I really do. He means more to me than I could put into words. And I’m so grateful that I have someone, if friends were to forsake me, family were to leave me, there’s someone that I can love.

B. Jesus Is Someone Who Understands

But, secondly, not only is He someone to love; but, friend, He is someone who understands. You say, people don’t understand. I want to tell you, He understands. He knows all about you. I was reading in Psalm 139, beginning in verse 1, “O lord, thou hast searched me, and known me. Thou knowest my downsitting and mine uprising, thou understandest my thought afar off. Thou compassest my path and my lying down, and art acquainted with all my ways. For there is not a word in my tongue, but, lo, O LORD, thou knowest it altogether.” (Psalm 139:1–4) He understands your heartache. He understands your fear. He understands your loneliness. He knows, dear friend. He understands. “There is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother.” (Proverbs 18:24)

C. Jesus Is Someone Who Values You

But look. Not only is He someone to love. And not only is He someone who understands. But did you know that He values you? He wants you; He needs you. Did you know that in a sense He’s incomplete without you? He so desires you. Oh, the Bible speaks of the Lord Jesus in the Song of Solomon, which is a love song, and it’s put as... though Jesus is the suitor, the bridegroom, seeking His bride. And I just love that phrase in Psalms that says, “The king greatly [desires] thy beauty.” (Psalm 45:11) Did you know there’s a hunger in the heart of the Lord Jesus for you? There really is.

I was thinking about this, and I was thinking about Zacchaeus. Do you know who Zacchaeus is? Remember we used to sing that in Sunday School: “Zacchaeus was a wee little man, and a wee little man was he”? Zacchaeus was that tax collector who was despised also; they hated him. Zacchaeus had a big house, but he was so lonely. People hated Zacchaeus. He was short of stature. But he’d heard about the Lord Jesus, and I imagine there was such a void and an emptiness in Zacchaeus’ heart that he thought perhaps Jesus could meet his need. He had a hunger to know about Jesus. He ran out ahead of the crowd, and the people were so tall Zacchaeus couldn’t see over them. So he climbed up into a sycamore tree, and he’s looking out of that sycamore tree, and here comes the Lord Jesus and the mighty crowds. And Jesus stops underneath that sycamore tree, and He looks up and He says, “Zacchaeus!” And the first thought that Zacchaeus surely had was, “He knows me! He knows me!” And then, He says, “Zacchaeus…come down.” And Zacchaeus surely had another thought: “He wants me! He wants me!” And then, Jesus said, “For…I must abide at [your] house.” (Luke 19:5) “Why, He needs me! He needs me! He knows me! He wants me! Why, He even needs me!” And the Bible says, “He made haste, and came down.” (Luke 19:6)

Are you out on a limb without Him? Are you? Well, I want to tell you something, dear friend. You may be like Zacchaeus tonight and thinking that there’s nobody who knows you—Jesus knows you—there’s nobody who wants you—Jesus wants you—there’s no one who needs you—Jesus needs you. He “is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother,” (Proverbs 18:24) and He’ll never leave you. “For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers…nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.” (Romans 8:38–39)

Conclusion
Now I want to just look right here into the camera for a moment, and I want to talk to you. If you’re up late at night tonight when this is going to be replayed, I want to tell you with all of the sincerity of my heart there’s someone who wants you very much this Christmas, and I want you to give your heart to Him. I want you right now just to say to Him, “Lord Jesus, if you know me, and if you want me, and if you need me, you can have me. I give you my heart. Come into my heart, Lord Jesus.” And I promise you, He really will. And this Christmas can be so very special. We need never ever be lonely again.

Introduction

I want to speak to you today on this subject: “Twentieth-Century Wise Men.” You know, the Bible says that wise men are not always great. That is, there is a kind of wisdom that is not wisdom at all; it’s the wisdom of this world. I may be speaking to some Ph.D.’s today, and for you, Ph.D. may stand for “phenomenal dud,” if you don’t know Jesus. You may be a great entrepreneur or a great businessman. You may be an engineer. You may be a nuclear physicist. You may be a physician, a lawyer, a great businessman, or a gifted artist; but if you don’t know Jesus, then you’re not truly wise.

Now I want you to find out what the Bible has to say about real wisdom here, and I will begin reading in Matthew chapter 2 and verse 1: “Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod, the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? For we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him. When Herod, the king, had heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where the Christ should be born. And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judaea; for thus it is written by the prophet, And thou Bethlehem, in the land of Judah, art not the least among the princes of Judah: for out of thee shall come a Governor that shall rule my people, Israel. Then Herod, when he had privately called the wise men, inquired of them diligently what time the star appeared. And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also. When they had heard the king, they departed; and, lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was. When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceedingly great joy. And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshiped him; and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts: gold, and frankincense, and myrrh. And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.” (Matthew 2:1-12)

These were wise men. Jeremiah chapter 4, verse 22, spoke of that generation, and the Bible says: “they [were] wise to do evil, but to do good they [had] no knowledge.” (Jeremiah 4:22)

Omar Bradley, a great American general, once said, “We’re living in a time when our achievement, our knowledge of science, has gone far beyond our power to control it. We have too many men of science and too few men of God. We brought about brilliance without wisdom, power without conscience; we’re living in a time of nuclear giants and spiritual pygmies.” That’s well said: “nuclear giants and spiritual pygmies.” What is real wisdom? I want to give you three things that I see about wise men today, and see if God’s Holy Spirit does not bear witness with your spirit that these are the marks of the “Twentieth-Century Wise Men.”

I. Wise Men Will Seek Him

Number one: Wise men will seek Him. Wise men will seek Jesus. Now in verses 1 and 2 we read that “there came wise men from the east…saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? For we…are come to worship him” (Matthew 2:1–2). They were seeking Him.

Do you know the mark of wisdom? Do you know how to determine wisdom? Just tell me what you see, tell me what motivates you, tell me what is the consummate ambition of your life, and I can tell you clearly whether you’re wise or not, just by what you seek. You know, the Apostle Paul said, over in Philippians chapter 1, verse 21—he summed up his life; he put it in a sentence—he said this: “For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain.” (Philippians 1:21) Could you put your life into a sentence like that—“For to me to live is Christ?” What he meant was, the source, the substance, the subject, and the satisfaction of his life was Christ. “For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain.” Paul was facing the headman’s axe; he was in a prison when he said that, and he said that is my life: “For to me to live is Christ…”
Now, today, I want to ask you, what does it mean for you to live? I want you to take that sentence, “For to me to live is…” and then I want you to take the word Christ out, and then just put a blank spot there; and then, I want you to take your pen—your invisible pen—out of your pocket, and I want you to write on an invisible piece of paper, so that your neighbor can’t read it, and I want you to fill in the blank. Now, listen. There’s only one thing I ask of you: be honest. I mean, be judgment day honest: don’t put down anything that you don’t mean. After all, only you know what you’re putting down: you and God.

“For to me to live is…”—and put it in one word. “Oh,” you say, “it can’t be put in one word.” Oh, sure it can! Think about it, boil it down, and distill it: what more than anything else motivates you? Put it down. For many Americans, it would be money, right? “For to me to live is…money.” Now if that’s what motivates you, then put it down: “For to me to live is money.” “Oh,” you say, “no, that’s truly crass. I don’t want money. I just enjoy what money can buy.” Fine, a man said, “I don’t want to be a millionaire; I just want to live like one.” Fine, okay, put it down there: “For to me to live is possessions and things.” “Oh,” you say, “no, no, it’s not things. I just want to enjoy life.” Oh? Okay, put it down there: “For to me to live is pleasure.” “Well,” you say, “you make it sound so bad, pastor. I mean, I enjoy being with people. I like to love people—my family and my kids.” Fine, put it down: “For to me to live is friends and family.” Write it down. “Well,” you say, “it’s more than that. I mean, I want my life to count for something. I want my life to make a mark.” Wonderful. Put it down: “For to me to live is fame, influence, and work.” Be honest. What one thing would you write?

Now, you listen to your pastor. If you wrote anything but Jesus, then you’re not wise. You’re not wise; because, you see, it’s only when you say, “For to me to live is Christ” that you can say, “for me to die is gain.” Suppose you wrote money. For when you die, you’re going to leave it. Suppose you wrote pleasure. There are no fun and games in a Christ-less grave. Suppose you wrote family. One of these days, you’re going to kiss them all goodbye and die. Suppose you wrote fame. Well, the mossy fingers of time and the gnawing tooth of decay are going to pull down your monuments. Listen. The only way that you can say, “For to me to die is gain”—and you’re going to die—is for you to say, “For to me to live is Christ.”

Now, listen. Wise men seek Him. They seek the Lord. Do you seek the Lord? I mean, is that the burning ambition of your heart and of your life? You say, “Well, I come to church.” I’m not talking about that. You think about these men: they came from the east. Do you know where the east was? They’re talking about Babylon. That was 300 miles across the Syrian desert: distance and difficulty. Now the Christmas cards picture them coming on camels. I don’t know how they came, but I know how they didn’t come:
they didn’t come by airplane, by bus, by automobile, nor by motorcycle. I know where they didn’t stay: they didn’t stay in the Holiday Inn. Difficulty, distance, and danger.

Why, it was the time of King Herod, who was a king that was insane with jealousy and rage. Herod had murdered his mother. Herod had murdered his wife, Mariamne. Herod had murdered his three sons. Augustus Caesar said that it was safer to be Herod’s pig than to be Herod’s son. In the Greek language, the word pig and the word son sound almost alike, and he’s making a play on words. “Safer to be his pig than it was to be his son.” When Herod was sick and about to die, he had a number of the most prominent citizens arrested, and gave orders that, when he died, they also would be killed. Do you know why he did that? He said that he wanted some tears shed when he died. That’s the kind of man that Herod was. And these men, in the face of that danger, said, “We have come to seek Jesus Christ.”

Wise men will seek Him. In spite of distance, danger, and difficulty, they’ll seek Him. What does that say to these folks who are members of Bedside Baptist? They get their religion through the tube, through the radio, through the tape, or through the book—if everything is comfortable and just right. “Be careful, pastor, that we have an easy place to park.” “Be careful, pastor, that we’ve got a soft seat to sit on.” “Don’t let the light glint in my eyes, pastor.” “Don’t make it uncomfortable for me, or I may not come.” Wise men will seek Jesus. With all of their heart they will seek the Lord. It’s wise to worship. “Where is He that is born King of the Jews? For we…are come to worship him.”

II. Wise Men Will See Him

Secondly, wise men that seek Him will see Him. Look in verse 11—what a wonderful, wonderful verse that is! Look at it here chapter 2 and verse 11: “And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary, his mother, and fell down, and worshiped him” (Matthew 2:11). It’s worth seeking Him, because, friend, when you seek Him, you will see Him. You know, there’s a wonderful verse in the Bible—it’s in Jeremiah chapter 29 and verse 13: “And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart” (Jeremiah 29:13)—“ye shall seek me, and find me.” They searched for Him, they found Him, and they saw Him.

Now, you listen. There were three things that brought these wise men to Jesus, and the same three will bring you to Him today. Number one, there was the ministry of the Spirit; number two, there was the message of the Scriptures; and, number three, there was the miracle of the star. That’s what brought these men to Jesus.

A. The Ministry of the Spirit

First of all, there was the ministry of the Spirit. Well, you say, “Pastor, I don’t read anything there about the Holy Spirit.” It’s there. Now, true, the Bible doesn’t say anything about the Holy Spirit in this verse, unless you look carefully beneath the surface. But what it does say is this: “There came wise men from the east…saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? For we…are come to worship him” (Matthew 2:1–2).

Now, listen. The Bible says, “God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth” (John 4:24). Who put that desire to worship Jesus in their hearts? The Holy Spirit. Do you know why we seek Him? Because He first sought us, isn’t that true? We love Him because He first loved us. Do you know why I love the Lord Jesus? Because God, in grace, and God, in mercy, put a desire in my heart to seek after Him. By nature, in our flesh, the Bible says, “There is none that seeketh after God” (Romans 3:11), “no, not one” (Romans 3:10), and that would have included these wise men.

They didn’t come to Him because they were so intellectual. Don’t get the idea that because they were smarter than other men they came. Oh, no! Because they were wise and in that wisdom said that they were yielded to God, God the Holy Spirit could work in their hearts and draw them to Jesus. Do you have a desire to know Him, to love Him, and to serve Him? Do you find something drawing you to God? That, my friend, is Someone: He’s the Holy Spirit. Thank God for the ministry of the Spirit. Hallelujah!

B. The Message of the Scriptures

Now, listen. Not only was there the ministry of the Spirit: that’s not enough. There was something else: there was the message of the Scriptures. The wise men said, “Where is he that is born King of the Jews?” They needed something else to guide them, to help them. Well, they opened the Bible, and in verses 5 and 6 of this chapter we find a principle. God may not give you a star; it may be a friend, it may be a song, it may be a message, or it may be a sermon. Whatever it is, God will do what is necessary to bring the man to Jesus who is seeking Him. I believe that with all of my heart. For the man who is seeking God, God will move heaven and earth.

C. The Miracle of the Stars

You know, the stars have to obey our Lord. Over there in the Old Testament, in the book of Judges—Judges chapter 5, verse 20—the Bible says, “The stars in their courses fought against Sisera” (Judges 5:20). Sisera was a general. He had an army, and in that army he had 900 chariots. You can’t even imagine 900 chariots. But he was going into war against God’s people, and God sent such a tremendous rainstorm that his chariots were bogged down, and he was defeated. Now, later, when they wrote a song to celebrate the victory, one of the stanzas in that song says, “The stars in their courses fought against Sisera.” You see, Star Wars are not new: “The stars in their courses fought against Sisera.” And his kingdom came tumbling down—Herod’s kingdom came tumbling down; for Herod stumbled over the stars.

Listen to me—listen. The whole universe is against the man who’s against God. And the whole universe lines up behind the man who seeks God. Whatever is necessary, God will do it to get that hungry heart which seeks after Him to Jesus. If you want Him, God is a God of might, and God is a God of miracle. I believe that some of you are here this morning by divine appointment, because you’ve been seeking the Lord. Thank God for the miracle of the stars. The star was there to guide the wise men, and what it tells me is that, whatever is necessary, God will guide that hungry heart that wants to know the Lord Jesus Christ. “And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart” (Jeremiah 29:13).

III. Wise Men Will Serve Him
Now the third and final thing—listen: first thing—wise men will seek Him; secondly, those who seek Him will see Him; and, thirdly, those who seek Him, and those who see Him, will serve Him. As night follows day, they will serve Him. I want you to look again in verse 11, if you will: “And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary, his mother, and fell down, and worshiped him; and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh” (Matthew 2:11). Oh, there’s so much ignorance today: so many people think that this is just something incidental! Oh, no, it’s something fundamental! There’s such a deep significance!

I heard about a little boy who said that the three wise men brought gold, frankincense, and mermaids. Gold, frankincense, and myrrh: these were not trinkets; these were treasures. They opened their treasures. This was something they had planned. This was something they had brought. This didn’t happen by happenstance. Why those three things? Because they are highly symbolic, and they teach us something about the service to our dear Lord.

A. Gold Speaks of His Sovereign Dominion
Now gold was a gift that was fit for a king. Gold speaks of His sovereign dominion. You see, verse 2—they said, “Where is he that is born King of the Jews?” (Matthew 2:2). He was a king, and the Bible speaks of kings wearing crowns, and they were crowns of gold. Psalm 21, verse 3: “Thou settest a crown of pure gold on his head.” (Psalm 21:3) Now when they brought gold, they were saying, “We recognize that this little baby is the King of the Jews. He’s destined to reign. He has sovereign dominion.”
Have you recognized His dominion? You’re not wise if you haven’t. Have you bowed to Him and said, “Lord, I crown you.” “Well,” you say, “how are you going to crown Him?” You might crown Him the way they did—which was with gold. If all of your wealth is not under His control, then you’ve not recognized Him as King—as your sovereign King. He has a right to all that you own. You say, “It’s mine.” Well then, keep it, and die, and go to hell. If He’s not Lord of everything you have, then He’s not your Savior. His throne is not a duplex. He requires your absolute surrender to His lordship. He’s the King. He’s the King. It is His sovereign dominion. How am I going to serve Him? I’ll serve him with my wealth.

A. Frankincense Speaks of His Sinless Deity

Secondly, not only did they bring gold, but they also brought frankincense. And as the gold speaks of His sovereign dominion, the frankincense speaks of His sinless deity—of His sinless deity, because, not only is He King; He is also God. “Well,” you say, “how does frankincense speak of his deity?” Well, in this time, and in the Old Testament, they worshiped the Lord by burning incense—frankincense. Now incense was sweet perfume, so that, when it was burned, it would go up in smoke; and it pictured a sweet perfume rising up into the nostrils of God. It was an emblem—a symbol—of worship; and the Bible tells us that frankincense was to be used in the worship of God alone.

Now Exodus chapter 30, verse 37, reads, “And as for the perfume which thou shalt make, ye shall not make to yourselves according to the composition thereof: it shall be unto thee holy for the LORD” (Exodus 30:37). That type of frankincense was only for God. These wise men were wise, because, do you know what they said? “Not only does our wealth belong to Him, as He’s the King; but our worship also belongs to Him. He’s God—He’s God.”

Is He your God, or do you have an idol? Do you have an idol? You say, “No, I don’t believe in idols.” Anything that you love more than God is an idol. Anything that you fear more than God is an idol. Anything that you serve more than God is an idol. How are you going to serve Him? Serve Him with all that you have: your wealth belongs to Him. How are you going to serve Him? Serve Him with all that you are: your worship belongs to Him.

B. Myrrh Speaks of His Sacrificial Death

But not only did they bring Him gold, and not only did they bring Him frankincense; but they also brought Him myrrh, and that myrrh speaks of His sacrificial death and indicates that He was going to die, because myrrh was used to embalm the dead. Do you remember that Jesus was crucified, and that the Bible speaks of how they went about embalming Him, in John 19, verse 39? “And there came also Nicodemus, who at the first came to Jesus by night, and brought a mixture of myrrh and aloes, about an hundred pound weight” (John 19:39)—myrrh, to embalm the body of Jesus.

Conclusion
Here was a baby that was born to die. Are you listening? He is a king, and they brought Him gold. He’s God, and they brought Him frankincense. He’s a Savior, and they brought Him myrrh. Sovereign dominion, sinless deity, and sacrificial death. And because He is a king, He has my wealth. Because He’s God, He has my worship. And because He died, He has my witness. All that I am, all that I have, and all that I do, belongs to this One: that’s wisdom. That’s what a wise man will do, and I wonder, are you really wise? Do you understand that this baby was born to die?

They said—if you’ve been reading the newspaper, then you’ve probably read this—that they can’t put a cross on that building down there in Jackson, Mississippi. People have said, “That’s too religious.” Well, they were both right and wrong. They were right when they said that it is indeed a symbol of Christmas: it does indeed speak of Jesus specifically. In my estimation, they were wrong to take it down. But that doesn’t make a whole lot of difference. I don’t depend on lights on buildings to get the message out. Friend, if those of us who love Him and serve Him would tell the story, then we wouldn’t be worrying about whether a building is going to be lighted up.

I want to tell you something—you listen to me: It is the cross, not the cradle. The cross: that’s the central emblem of Christianity. But thank God for the cradle, the cross, and the crown. He died, He rose, and He’s coming again. Wise men will worship Him.

Let’s go back to our sentence, “For to me to live is...” Are you willing to say, “My wealth, my worship, and my witness will come to Him; I see Him as the sovereign dominion, as the sacred, sinless deity, and as the suffering Savior; I see Him, and I give all to Him?” Wise men will seek Him; wise men that seek Him will see Him; and, wise men that seek Him, and see Him, will serve Him with all that they have. Are you wise? I say, are you wise?

Introduction

Take God's Word and turn with me, if you would, please, to Matthew chapter 2. There we have the story of the visit of the wise men and the gift that they brought to the Lord Jesus. Do you have difficulty finding just the right gift for just the right person? Have you ever thought about the gift that you may give to the Lord Jesus this Christmas season? I think we can take a lesson from the wise men. And today we're thinking of this subject: “The Gifts of the Wise Men and Our Gifts to Jesus.” Matthew chapter 2, verse 1: “Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him. When Herod the king heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born. And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judaea: for thus it is written by the prophet, and thou Bethlehem, in the land of Juda, art not the least among the princes of Juda: for out of thee shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Israel. Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men, enquired of them diligently what time the star appeared. And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also. When they had heard the king, they departed; and, lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was. When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy. And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary His mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense and myrrh. And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.” (Matthew 2:1–12)

Now we all know the story of the wise men. But there is much about these wise men that we do not know. For example, we’re not certain that there were three wise men. There may have been more. There may have been three. We sing the song, “We Three Kings of Orient Are,” but there may be have been more. We know that there were three categories of gifts that are listed. There may have been more gifts. We don’t know, really, what country these wise men came from. They came from the East. I think, most likely, they came from Babylon. And I’ll tell you why I believe that they came from Babylon. In Babylon there was a great prophet, a man of God whose name was Daniel. And Babylon, of course, is to the east. It’s our modern Iraq. It was there that young Daniel was taken captive, and it was there that Daniel taught. And in Babylon there were wise men, magi. As a matter of fact, the book of Daniel tells about them. And these magi had their lives saved by Daniel. And obviously, they would have listened to the teaching and the preaching of Daniel, and it was Daniel who prophesied a coming Messiah.

There’s a lot that we do not know. We don’t know, for example, what the star was that led them. The Bible says that there was a star. But the word star is not used in a literal sense; it’s used in a symbolic sense. And it has the idea of something bright and shining, not necessarily used in the definite sense that we use the word today. I personally believe that it was not a star like the stars that you will see tonight when you go out and look. I believe it was the Shekinah glory of God in the heavens. I believe it was the same kind of Shekinah glory that shone round about those shepherds in the field where the Bible says, “And the glory of the Lord shone round about them.” (Luke 2:9) I believe it was just God’s great Shekinah glory that was there in the sky leading these wise men. But I wouldn’t argue with you about it. If you want to argue something else, that’s your privilege. What I’m simply saying is, there is a lot that we do not know, but there are some things that we wonderfully, wonderfully know. And we know this: that these men were called wise men, and they were wise because they sought the Lord.
Jesus to worship Him.

I think there is not a one of us who has not heard that slogan, “Wise men still worship Him.” And may I say, it wasn’t easy for them to worship Him. They had a lot of barriers to overcome.

A. The Barrier of Distance
For example, there was the barrier of distance. If you’ll look in verse 1, the Bible says they were wise men from the East. Now if indeed they came from Iraq, modern Iraq, to Jerusalem, even today that would be a great trip. But these are men who have come a great distance, perhaps about three hundred miles, just to worship the King of kings, the Lord Jesus Christ.

B. The Barrier of Difficulty
Not only was there the barrier of distance; there was the barrier of difficulty. I want to remind you in this day there were no planes, no trains, no automobiles. There were no hotels. There were no restaurants. There were no superhighways. Over rough terrain they came.

C. The Barrier of Danger
Not only was there distance; and not only was there difficulty; there was literal danger. When they got there, they faced ol’ King Herod. Herod was a murderous old man. And he loved to kill people. He was the one who killed all of the little babies. But before he killed those little babies, he had already murdered his wife. He had already murdered his mother. He had already murdered his sons. He was the one who murdered all the little babies under two years of age. And as a matter of fact, when Herod died, he knew he was going to die, and just before he died, he said, “Get some of the best known citizens of our land, and when I die, put them to death, because if they don’t shed any tears for me, maybe they’ll shed some tears for them. And I want there to be some tears when I die.” And so he had people killed just because he himself had died. He was a hateful, hellish, murderous old man. And these wise men were in danger from Herod himself.

So what I’m trying to say is that with great, great difficulty they came to worship the Christ child. You see, the word worship means “worth-ship.” Why are you here? Why did you come? Because you felt it was worth it to give honor and glory to the Son of God. I cannot imagine these who have a take-it-or-leave-it attitude toward worshipping the Lord Jesus Christ. In America today, I think the biggest cult is the cult of the comfortable: those who don’t want to be disturbed if the weather is not right, or if guests come, of if there is some other problem, why then, they don’t seem to be able to make it to worship. And I don’t want to brag on you being here, because, dear friend, it’s a privilege that you could be here. It’s a privilege that I can be here. Thank God for the joy of worshipping Him. These wise men sought the Lord Jesus Christ out in spite of distance and danger and difficulty. They came to worship Him.

Now when they worshipped the Lord Jesus—and we’re going to get into the heart of the message, the gifts of the wise men—they brought Him three kinds of gifts. I want you to look at it right here in the Word of God. In Matthew chapter 2 the Bible says that they brought to the Lord Jesus very special gifts. Verse 11: “And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts;”—first of all—“gold, and,”—secondly—“frankincense and”—thirdly—“myrrh.” (Matthew 2:11)

I want to ask you a question. If God the Holy Spirit engineered the entire thing—and He did—and if God wrote the Bible—and He did, and there’s only so much that can be put in the Bible—do you think that it is just by happenstance that it is recorded in God’s Word that gold and frankincense and myrrh were brought to the baby Jesus? Not at all! As a matter of fact, there is an incredible thought that is given here, and a great inference as to what Adrian should bring to Jesus this Christmas season, and what you should bring to the Lord Jesus. My gifts and your gifts must be like the gifts of the wise men of old.

Now I want us to see what these gifts are, and what they represent, and what they speak of.

I. The Gold: His Sovereign Dominion

For example, they brought to Him gold. And gold is a gift that would be presented to a king. Gold was the most precious metal of that day. And in Bible times, and even today, gold is symbolic of royalty. And, you see, when these wise men came to the Lord Jesus Christ and presented to Him gold, what they were saying is that He is a king. I believe that they had learned that the baby that would be born was a king. They learned it from the prophet Daniel. In Daniel chapter 9 and verse 25 Daniel had called the baby that would be born “Messiah the Prince.” (Daniel 9:25) And the word prince means “king, ruler, sovereign.” And when they brought gold, they said, “We recognize His sovereign dominion.”

Have you done that? Have you recognized His sovereign dominion? Isaiah chapter 9 and verse 7: “Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice henceforth even for ever.” (Isaiah 9:7) This child, this baby that we’re talking about, He is King of kings; He is Lord of lords. Now the question comes this Christmas: Will you offer to the Lord the submission that is due to Him?
Because He is your king, it is not enough for you to tip your hat; you must bow your knee.

When these kings came to the baby Jesus, they did not cuddle Him. They did not play games with Him. These powerful kings from the East bowed the knee in obeisance to Him, and they recognized that indeed He is a King. Look in verse 2. They said, “Where is he that is born King of the Jews?” (Matthew 2:2) Look in verse 6: “For out of thee shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Israel.” (Matthew 2:6) We worship, my dear friend, heaven’s King. Have you given Him the submission that is due to Him as a King? Have you?

I have a preacher friend out in Arizona. He thought one day that he would give a lesson to his congregation, so he said to them, “You know, we’ve had some Secret Service men from Washington, from the White House, they’ve been here to talk with me. And they told me that the President of the United States is going to be in our city, and because the President of the United States is going to be in our in our city on a weekend, he’s going to be in a church to worship, and they have chosen our church, and the President of the United States is going to come and worship with us next Sunday. And because of that, we want to be ready.” So he said to the choir director, “I want you and the choir to practice. I want you to have the very best musical rendition that you can possibly have.” Then he said to the custodian and to the ushers, “We want this place to be spotless. We want it to be immaculate next Sunday. We’ve got some places in the carpet that need to be patched and cleaned. I’m going to ask that all of us be dressed and on our best behavior this Lord’s Day.” And he gave the ushers very special instructions. And he gave the custodial staff very special instructions. Then he spoke to the church hostess and said, “We want to have the flowers just right,” and so forth.

Oh, what a rush of excitement was going through the congregation as he described all of the things they were going to do because the next Sunday the President of the United States was going to be there to worship with them! The people were thrilled. And then he said, “Now, folks, I want to tell you something. The President of the United States is not coming. He is not coming. I made all of that up. There have been no representatives of the White House here to see me. We’re going to have services as usual next Sunday.” But then he said this: “Why would the choir sing such a special number if the President is going to come? Why would we try to have the house so clean and all of us be so alert if the President is going to come, and yet Sunday by Sunday we do not do our very best because the King of kings is here?” Do you see what he was saying to them? Do you see what he taught them? He said, “You know, Jesus Christ is here every Lord’s Day.” “Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them.” (Matthew 18:20) Isn’t it strange that we do not recognize and reverence His kingdom and His right and authority to rule over us?

You know, after that pastor made that disclaimer, there were many people who did not hear the rest of it. All they heard was the President was coming. When he said, “That was just an illustration; that’s not really going to happen,” they never heard that. All week long the phone was ringing: “When is the President going to be there? Are there going to be reserved seats?” People who had been away from church for months, and some for years, showed up that next Sunday because the President was going to be there. How we hold in rank and how we hold in esteem men rather than the King of kings!

I was in Washington a while back and had the opportunity to go in and speak with the President for a while. And what a great honor that is when that might happen! And it was the time when the President was coming the next day to Memphis, Tennessee, for a program here called “A Thousand Points of Light.” I spoke with him for a few moments in his office, and I said, “You’re going to my city tomorrow.” He said, “That’s right, I am.” He said, “Why don’t you come and ride to Memphis with me on Air Force One?” “Why,” I said, “Mr. President, that would be a thrill. That would be an honor. I would love to do that. But I didn’t come prepared to spend the night. I have a plane that’s going back this afternoon.” “Well,” he said, “if you can arrange it, I’d love to have you,” and gave me a card, and said, “If you can go, call this particular person.” I put that card in my pocket.

Do you know what I did, folks? I went to the Holiday Inn and made a reservation. I went out and bought a toothbrush. And I’ll tell you why. You don’t get those kinds of invitations every day. I don’t. You may. I don’t. And that was one of the great thrills of my life: to ride in that airplane, to sit in the office with and talk with and fellowship with the President of the United States.

But, you know, I thought to myself after that, and I said, “Adrian, you called home. You canceled appointments. You made another reservation. You went out and bought some toiletries and everything just so you could spend a few moments with that man.” And, friend, I would do it again. But that’s not the point. I thought to myself, “Adrian, how much difficulty are you willing to go through? How much are you going to rearrange your schedule? How much time do you set aside? How much time do you make, Adrian, for the King of kings and the Lord of lords?” And my heart smote me that I am more impressed sometimes with the men of this world than I am with heaven’s King.

My dear friend, He is King of kings. He is Lord of lords. And one day, Ronald Reagan, and George Bush, and Johnny Carson, and Madonna, and Bob Sorrell, and Scotty Shows, and Adrian Rogers, and every human being who’s ever lived, will bow their knee to Jesus Christ. He is King. He is King. And they said, “Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have…come to worship him.” (Matthew 2:2) What can I give Him today?
II. The Frankincense: His Sinless Deity

My dear friend, I can recognize His sovereign dominion. The gold represents that sovereign dominion. But what about the frankincense? If the gold represents His sovereign dominion, the frankincense represents His sinless deity. "Well," you say, "Pastor Rogers, I don't see anything there about deity. It just simply says, 'frankincense.'"

May I tell you, dear friend, that if gold was a gift fit for a king, frankincense was used to worship Almighty God.

I want you to take your Bible now and I want you to turn with me to the book of Exodus and look with me in Exodus chapter 30, and we’re going to begin in verse 34. Now you'll see that it was not by happenstance that frankincense was given to the Christ child: "And the LORD said unto Moses, Take unto thee sweet spices, stacte, and onycha, and galbanum; these sweet spices"—now, watch this—"with pure frankincense:"—that's underscored in my Bible: "pure frankincense"—"of each shall there be a like weight: and thou shalt make it a perfume,"—take these spices, mix it with frankincense, and make a perfume—"a confection after the art of the apothecary, tempered together, pure"—now, watch this next phrase—"and holy: and thou shalt beat some of it very small, and put of it before the testimony in the tabernacle of the congregation, where I will meet with thee: it shall be unto you"—now, notice this phrase—"most holy. And as for the perfume which thou shalt make, ye shall not make to yourselves according to the composition thereof: it shall be unto thee holy for the LORD. Whosoever shall make like unto that, to smell thereto, shall even be cut off from his people." (Exodus 30:34–38)

What is God saying? God is saying that frankincense is the base of this holy incense that is most holy. It is to be given to God. And that incense, as it would rise up out of the tabernacle in the Old Testament, and the temple, speaks of the prayers, the worship of the saints, that goes to Almighty God. What did these wise men recognize? Why were they indeed wise as they were wise? They brought gold, and they recognized His sovereign dominion. And then, they brought frankincense. They recognized His sinless deity: Jesus Christ is God of very God.

May I say, dear friend, that they worshipped the Lord Jesus. I want you to look, if you will, in verse 11. Go back now to Matthew chapter 2 and look with me in verse 11. I want you to see something very significant. There are many today who do not give to the Lord Jesus the worship that is due to His name. They do not worship Him. But look, if you will, in verse 11—Matthew chapter 2 and verse 11. The Bible says after they brought these gifts that they "worshipped him." (Matthew 2:11) Do you see it? They "worshipped him." Underscore that. They "worshipped him."

"Well," you say, "what's important about that?" The Bible says, "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only" (Matthew 4:10; Luke 4:8)—"him only." Now, friend, if Jesus is not the Lord God, this is the ultimate blasphemy. Nobody should worship anything or anybody except God Himself. They “worshipped him.” Why? Because this baby was God. The Bible says in 1 Timothy chapter 3 and verse 16, “And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh.” (1 Timothy 3:16) Isaiah chapter 9 and verse 6 says it clearly: “For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given: and the government shall be upon his shoulder,”—that’s the gold: “the government shall be upon his shoulder”; that’s His sovereign dominion. But it goes on to say—“and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God” (Isaiah 9:6)—that’s frankincense. That’s the frankincense. You see, my dear friend, He was not only born a king; He was God, and very God, in human flesh.

How wise were these wise men? Now whether they understood all of this or not, I don’t know. But I do know that God the Holy Spirit impelled them to make these gifts, and God the Holy Spirit recorded these gifts. Now you say, “Well, I don’t believe that Jesus Christ is God, but I do believe that He was a good man.” Well, Jesus Christ said, “There is none good but one, that is, God.” (Matthew 19:17) And if Jesus Christ is not God, Jesus Christ is not good, by His own words. Somebody wrote these words:

_IF Jesus Christ is a man,—
   And only a man,—I say
   That of all mankind I cleave to him,
   And to Him will I cleave alway.
_IF Jesus Christ is a God,—
   And the only God,—I swear
   I will follow Him through heaven and hell,
   The earth, the sea, and the air.
—RICHARD WATSON GILDER

Those are good words. They sound good. But, my dear friend, if Jesus Christ is a man, and only a man, I won’t cleave to Him. I will repudiate Him. I will disown Him. I will not worship Him. I will not honor Him, because if Jesus Christ is a man and only a man, He is a fake, a fraud, and an impostor, for He Himself is claiming to be God. Jesus Christ Himself said of Himself, “Before Abraham was, I am.” (John 8:58) And that’s the most sacred name for Deity, and Jesus claimed it for Himself.

What shall I give the Lord Jesus this morning? What shall I give the Lord Jesus? Because He is sovereign dominion, I give Him my will. Because He is sinless Deity, I give Him my worship. Worship Him! Worship Him! Fall down! Fall on your face! I hadn’t intended to say this, but I’ve not been on my knees before my Lord this morning; I’ve been on my face before Him. And I don’t say that to say, “Well, big deal!” I’m just saying, dear friend, He is God. He is God. You want to say, “What shall I bring my Lord today?” Oh, my dear friend, bring Him gold: His sovereign dominion. Bring Him frankincense: His sinless deity. He is God of very God. Fall down and worship Him. Wise men did a long time ago. They didn’t tuck Him under the chin, and cuddle Him in their arms, or play games with Him. They fell on their faces before Him.

There has never been another like the Lord Jesus Christ. Jesus was the God-man. Have you ever thought how unique the life of the Lord Jesus is—how absolutely unique? And, you know, Jesus never withdrew or modified anything that He ever said. Many things He said were hard to understand, but He never said, “I made a mistake.” I would like to restate that. Jesus never ever apologized for any of His actions. Many things they didn’t understand, and some people got angry with Him, but He never one time apologized. Jesus Christ never ever sought advice from anybody. Moses had his seventy elders. Solomon, the wisest man that ever lived, had his advisors. Jesus never asked advice from anyone. Jesus Christ never justified anything that He did. When He was late—seemingly late—when Lazarus died, He never gave any explanation. When He was asleep on the back of a ship, when the ship was about to sink, He never did justify His actions to anybody. Jesus Christ never asked forgiveness. Not one time did He ask for anybody ever to forgive Him or for God ever to forgive Him. Why? Because He was sinless. Jesus Christ never asked anyone to pray for Him. He asked the disciples to watch and pray, and he told them to “pray, lest ye enter into temptation,” (Mark 14:38; Luke 22:46) but He never asked anyone to forgive Him. He never corrected Himself.

And yet He was not arrogant. He was meek and mild. Jesus Christ did not have any strong points. In order to have strong points, you have to have weak points. He had no strong points or weak points. He was the most perfectly balanced individual who ever lived.

Robert Clark has rightly given this assessment of Jesus’ character. He says there was “meekness without weakness, tenderness without feebleness, firmness without coarseness, love without sentimentality, holiness without sanctimoniousness, lowness without lowness, truth without error, enthusiasm without fanaticism, passion without prejudice, heavenly-mindedness without forgetfulness, carefreeness without carelessness, service without servility, self-exaltation without egotism, judgment without harshness, seriousness without somberness, and mercy without softness.” I love that. That’s the Lord Jesus. No strong points; no weak points. He is God of very God, and yet God in human flesh.

III. The Myrrh: His Sacrificial Death

Now they brought Him a third thing. Not only did they bring Him gold—His sovereign dominion; not only did they bring Him frankincense—His sinless deity; but they also brought Him myrrh. Now, what was myrrh? Myrrh was also a gum-like substance that was very valuable, and it was used to embalm the dead. Can you imagine bringing to a little baby something that would be used to embalm the dead? Why? Because not only did they recognize His sovereign dominion; not only did they recognize His sinless deity; but, my dear friend, they recognized His sacrificial death. They recognized that this little baby was born to die.

Let me give you some scriptures. Turn to Mark chapter 15 and verse 22. You’re in Matthew; just fast-forward to Mark chapter 15 for a moment and see what happened when the Lord Jesus Christ is on the cross—Mark chapter 15 and verse 22: “And they bring him unto the place Golgotha, which is, being interpreted, The place of a skull.” Bloody Golgotha: that’s where Jesus died. “And they gave him to drink wine mingled with”—what?—“myrrh: but he received it not. And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, casting lots upon them, what every man should take.” (Mark 15:22–24)

Myrrh was used as a narcotic to dull pain. But Jesus, that He might taste of death for every man, refused the taste of that myrrh there upon the cross. But I want you to look now in John. Just keep on going to the Gospel of John—John chapter 19. Turn to John chapter 19 and look with me in verse 38: “And after this Joseph of Arimathea, being a disciple of Jesus, but secretly for fear of the Jews, besought Pilate that he might take away the body of Jesus: and Pilate gave him leave. He came therefore, and took the body of Jesus. And there came also Nicodemus, which at first came to Jesus by night,—now, watch it—“and brought a mixture of…”—what?—“of myrrh and aloes, about an hundred pound weight. Then they took the body of Jesus, and wound it in linen clothes with the spices, as the manner of the Jews is to bury.” (John 19:38–40)
This was the manner of the Jews to bury someone. What did they use to bury someone? It was their manner; it was their custom, to bring myrrh.

Conclusion

Now I don’t know whether the wise men understood all of this or not, but I know the Holy Spirit knew it. I know this is not by accident in the Word of God. I know that of everything that could be listed here is gold and frankincense and myrrh: sovereign dominion, sacred deity, and sacrificial death. That’s what they brought to the Lord Jesus.

Do you know that the Bible never records the early church celebrating the birth of Jesus? Did you know that? I don’t think it’s wrong to celebrate the birth of Jesus. The Holy Spirit of God recorded it in the Bible. And I mean we have all of this Scripture. The birth of Jesus is very important. It gives us an opportunity to preach and to teach and to worship. That’s fine. But we don’t ever have any record that the early church was told to remember His birth. We’re told to remember what? His death. The real Christmas tree is this: He in His own body bare our sins on the tree (1 Peter 2:24)—that tree a bloody cross, not decorated, but stained with the blood of the Lord Jesus Christ. And the more carnal a Christian is, the more that Christian will make of the birth of Jesus, and the less he’ll make of the death of Jesus. I’m not against remembering His birth, because He had to be born in order to die. The Bible records the birth of the Lord Jesus. But these wise men at His birth were there remembering that one day He would die upon the tree. No wonder heaven’s choir came down to sing with heaven’s King! He came down to save. He was born to die. And how clever of the devil to substitute the celebration of His birth for the memorial of His death!

What will I give Jesus this Christmas season? I must close. Because of His sovereign dominion, I’ll give Him my wealth: all that I have belongs to Him. Because of His sinless deity, I’ll give Him my worship: I’ll fall on my face before Him. And because of His sacrificial death, I’ll give Him my witness: I want the world to know that He died for me. My wealth, my worship, and my witness belongs to my Lord this Christmas season. And so does yours.

Introduction

Find the Christmas story, please, in Matthew chapter 2, and we’re talking today about Christmas wisdom. This time of the year, we need a lot of wisdom. I need wisdom. What am I going to get Joyce? Now, that’s difficult for me, really. I mean, every year I go through this thing, and I put it off and put it off, until all of a sudden, I reach the deadline and have to run down to Walgreen’s at eleven o’clock on Christmas Eve. Do you know what John Cameron told me—a member of our church, kind of, in a way; my mentor almost; a dear friend, beloved brother, who was on the pulpit committee that brought me here? I get little gems of wisdom from John Cameron from time to time, and he told me one time—he said, “Now pastor, if you want to know what to get your wife for Christmas, here’s the way to do it: just tell her you’re going to get her something she doesn’t want, and she’ll quickly tell you what she does want.” Now, that’s a lot of wisdom. You know, it works. I’ve tried that. I said, “Now Joyce, I’m going to get...” She says, “No, no, no.” I said, “Well now, you’d better tell me what you do want.” And, that’s about the only way I can squeeze it out of her.

And, I want to talk to you about some wisdom that goes far beyond these mundane things and this worldly type of wisdom I’ve been sharing with you. I want to share with you some supernatural wisdom—how you can have some wisdom in your Christmas.

Now, let’s read this story here. I want to read right through all twelve verses here:

“Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men”—now, just underscore that: “wise men”—“from the east to Jerusalem, Saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him. When Herod the king had heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. And when he had gathered all [of] the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born. And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judaea: for thus it is written by the prophet, And thou Bethlehem, in the land of Juda, art not the least among the princes of Juda: for out of thee shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Israel. Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men, enquired of them diligently what time the star appeared. And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also”—of course, you know what he wanted to do was not to worship Him but to kill Him, as you can tell by reading more scripture. And—“When they had heard the king, they departed; and, lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was. When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy. And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense and myrrh. And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.” (Matthew 2:1–12)

Now, there’s a lot that we don’t know about these wise men. For example, we don’t know how many there were. Some say there were three because there were three types of gifts. Maybe so, but maybe not. The Bible doesn’t say with specificity. We certainly don’t know they rode on camels. They may have. Some scholars say they probably rode Arabian horses. We really don’t know. We really don’t know what country they came from. Most likely, however, they came from Babylon. A lot of things that we don't know about these men we don't have to know because if we had to know, the Bible would have told us with specificity. But, we do know this: that they were wise, because the Bible says they were “wise men.” (Matthew 2:1) The biblical word for that is magi. These were men who were students of Scripture. They were students of prophecy. They were students of the stars in the sky. And, most likely, if they were from Babylon, they were students of the prophet Daniel, because Daniel spent a great deal of time in Babylon. And, Daniel himself was a great, great prophet, and very wise.

Now, there’s something else we don’t know: we don’t know exactly what that star was. Now, there are some astronomers that say, “Well, it was a supernova, or some alignment of the planets that caused at that particular time excessive brightness in the sky.” That’s impossible that it could have been something like that, for this reason: it moved, and it led them, so you could not have some supernova, some star like that. Others say, “All right then, it was a comet.” No, it couldn’t have been a comet because a comet just flashes across the sky and it’s gone. And, it couldn’t have been a comet that would have stayed up there for months as these men traversed that distance of about three hundred miles from Babylon, or wherever it was in the East, where they first saw the star.

What was it? Eversheim, who is a Messianic Jewish scholar, says that the word star has a number of meanings in the Bible, and it comes from a root that literally means “brilliance”—“brilliance, light.” And, most likely, what this brilliance was, this aura, this thing in the sky, was the Shekinah glory of God. And, when you think about it, that makes perfect sense because the glory of God has already led people in the Old Testament. For example, what led the children of Israel through the wilderness? A pillar of fire by night, a pillar of cloud by day. (Exodus 13:21) That was what they called the “Shekinah glory of God,” that effulgence of God that had a physical manifestation of God’s glory.

And, of course, it could move—it did move. It guided them through the wilderness. When Solomon dedicated the temple, what happened? The Shekinah glory of God came into the Holy of Holies. And, before the Babylonians invaded Israel, Ezekiel the prophet tells about that Shekinah glory, how it departed from the temple. He said it came out of the Holy of Holies to the threshold there of the temple. (Ezekiel 10:18) And then, later on it moved from the threshold of the temple; it moved on to the gate, the Eastern Gate, and Ezekiel saw it. (Ezekiel 10:19) And then, he saw that glory as it moved on to the Mount of Olives and went on up and disappeared. (Ezekiel 11:23) What I’m trying to say is that the glory of the Lord could be seen as a brilliance. Ezekiel described it.

As a matter of fact, when those shepherds were in the field, what shone around them? The glory of the Lord. And then, they went, and it came over the place where the young child lay. So, I think that what happened—and it’s a wonderful story—is that the glory of God appeared to these wise men there in the East and that glory of God led them there to that place, that house where the young child was. For example, look in Luke chapter 2, verse 9; just write it down. “And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid.” (Luke 2:9)

Now, there are some things we may not know about all of the details. We know everything we need to know because if we need to know any more, the Bible would tell us. But, we do know this: that these men were exceedingly wise men. Why? Because they sought out the Lord Jesus Christ to worship Him. Look up here, and let me tell you something now. My precious friend, listen to me: the wisest things you could ever do at Christmastime, or any other time, is to worship Jesus. Now, I hope that doesn’t fall flat. I hope you don’t miss that. Friend, that is the bottom of all bottom lines. That is the wisest thing that anybody could ever do, is to simply to worship the Lord Jesus Christ.

Now, there are a lot of people who want the joys of Christmas without the worship of Jesus. Impossible! Impossible! Now, you may have a giddy time, but you’re never going to know the joys of Christmas until you learn to worship the Lord Jesus Christ.

A. The Wise Men Sought Him in Spite of Distance
I want you to see that these men were so interested in worshiping the Lord Jesus Christ that they did this in spite of great difficulty. The Bible says in verse 1: “Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to...worship him.” (Matthew 2:1–2) If Babylon, that’s a distance about three hundred miles. There was the difficulty of distance. Friend, a three-hundred-mile trip today, if you’re riding in a fine automobile, may tire you out. Can you imagine what a trip would have been like in that day—the difficulty of a trip like that?

B. The Wise Men Sought Him in Spite of Discomfort
And, there was not only the distance, but the discomfort. They were not riding in an air-conditioned automobile. There were no trains, no planes, no motels. This is rugged terrain. As a matter of fact, you’re seeing a lot of that rugged terrain on television today. They’re coming over that kind of inhospitable terrain to worship the Lord.

And, very frankly, those of you who are watching on television, this is a rainy day in our city today. And, I hate to tell you this, but there are some folks not here today because it’s raining. One morning, Joyce and I—it was about 5:30 in the morning—and a thunderclap hit, and she said, “Adrian, did you hear that?” I said, “What?” She said, “Ten thousand Baptists just rolled over and went back to sleep.” I mean, you know, difficulty. Here these guys came to worship the Lord in spite of difficulty. I’m amazed at what will keep some people out of the house of God. And, I go turn on my television. I see up there in Green Bay, and the Green Bay Packers playing on television, and there are guys out there without their shirts on, full of embalming fluid, in the snow. You don’t know what I’m talking about when I say, “embalming fluid.” I hope you don’t. Well, I hope you do. I hope you know. But, I hope you don’t know by experience. All right. Now, I mean, these guys are out there—I mean, bare-chested—rooting for people pulling a football up and down a pasture. And yet, people say, “Well, you know, it’s raining. We couldn’t come this morning.”

C. The Wise Men Sought Him in Spite of Danger

Now, here were men—they wanted to worship the Lord in spite of distance, in spite of discomfort, and in spite of danger. There was old Herod the king. He was the one who had all the little boy babies murdered later on, that pussyfooting politician. He said, “Tell me where He is, that I might come and worship Him.” (Matthew 2:8) He didn’t want to worship Him; he wanted to murder Him. He tried to murder the baby Jesus. He’d already murdered a couple of wives. He’d murdered three sons. As a matter of fact, Herod, who was so hated, had arranged that when he died, there were some prominent citizens—he had a list of them—they were all to be put to death the day he died. You know why? He wanted there to be some tears the day he died so he had a list of people. I mean, that’s the kind of a man that Herod was. And, these wise men, since that was his jurisdiction, had to deal with him. In spite of distance, in spite of discomfort, in spite of danger, they sought to worship the Lord Jesus Christ.

I wonder, does worship mean that much to you? Or, do you have sort of a take-it-or-leave-it attitude? The Bible says, “[You] shall seek [for] me, and find me, when [you] search for me with all your heart.” (Jeremiah 29:13) God have mercy upon our half-hearted worship! Say “amen.” I mean, if He’s worth anything, He’s worth everything. Worship means “worth ship.” That’s where we get the word worship: “worth ship.” What is Jesus worth to you? I believe the biggest cult in America is the cult of the comfortable: we just want to take it easy. Jeremiah 29, verse 13: “And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all of your heart.” (Jeremiah 29:13)

Now, how did these wise men find the Lord Jesus? I want you to listen, because our message today is going to have two points: number one, how they sought Him; and number two, what they brought Him. Okay? How they sought Him, and number two, what they brought Him.

I. How They Sought Him

Now, first of all, I want you to see how these wise men sought the Lord Jesus Christ—how they sought Him. Verse 1 says, “Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men…to Jerusalem.”
There were three things that helped them to find the Lord Jesus. And friend, if you’re listening through television, or if you’re here today without Christ, let me tell you how you can seek the Lord Jesus Christ.

A. The Ministry of the Spirit

First of all, there was the ministry of the Spirit. What put in the hearts of these men to seek the Lord Jesus? The Holy Spirit. The Bible says of our human flesh, “There is none that seeketh after God…no, not one.” (Romans 3:11–12) Now, there are a lot of people in the realm of church growth today who say we need to have seeker-sensitive services—that is, the people coming seeking God. Friend, the Bible says, “No man seeks God—none, not one.” (Romans 3:11–12) You say, “Well, I sought Him.” The only reason you sought Him is because He first sought you. Listen, friend, when God got you, you were running from God. The only reason God got you is He can run faster than you can. I mean, “there is none that seeketh after God…no, not one.” (Romans 3:11–12) “We love him, because he first loved us.” (1 John 4:19) It is God who put the desire in our heart to seek Him. It was God who put the desire in the heart of these wise men to seek the Lord God. Worship is a desire planted in the hearts of men by the Holy Spirit.

And, I want to tell you today, God is seeking you. You say, “How do you know?” Well, the Bible teaches, “The Lord is…not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance.” (2 Peter 3:9) The Bible says Christ is that light that lights “every man that cometh into the world.” (John 1:9) And, I can tell you with authority today that Jesus is seeking you. And, I don’t believe it’s incidental or accidental that you’re in this service today, or listening by television or tape. God is seeking you—and by the dear Holy Spirit of God. If you will listen, there’s a still, small voice in you that is inclining your heart to worship Him. You can stultify and smother that voice, if you will; but God is reaching out to you through the ministry of the Holy Spirit. And, the Holy Spirit and the bride say, “Come; come to Jesus.” (Revelation 22:17)

B. The Message of the Scripture

There’s a second thing that enabled these wise men to seek Him: not only the ministry of the Spirit, but there was the message of the Scripture. Look in verses 2 through 6 of this same chapter. And, the Bible says, “Saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him. When Herod the king had heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. And when he had gathered all the chief priests and the scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born”—now, that’s a strange thing: “Where’s the Messiah going to be born?” He brings the high muckety-mucks in there, the priests and the scribes. “Tell me where He’s going to be born”—“And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judaea”—now, how did they know that?—“for thus it is written by the prophet, And thou Bethlehem, in the land of Juda, art not the least among the princes of Juda: for out of thee shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Israel.” (Matthew
2:2–6) It’s very plain. The Bible prophesied in minute detail things about the Lord Jesus Christ, and one of these was His birthplace. These men had the Word of God. They had not only this prophecy from Micah chapter 5 and verse 2 that tells that Jesus Christ would be born in Bethlehem (Micah 5:2) ; but if they came from Babylon, they also had the prophecies from the prophet Daniel who told in Daniel chapter 9, in that remarkable prophecy, the time that Jesus would come as the Messiah (Daniel 9:24–27)—these wonderful prophecies.

Now, I want to tell you something else: if you want to find Jesus this Christmas season, not only is there the ministry of the Spirit; there’s the message of the Scripture.
Open the Bible and read. Listen. Many of these people missed His first coming because they simply did not read, believe, or obey the Scriptures. We don’t have any record, for example, that these scribes and these priests went down there to worship Him. That’s amazing. They knew where He was; they knew about it, but they still didn’t go. We don’t have any record that Herod went. That’s amazing. There was the message, the plain message.

You can hear me preach today and believe it intellectually and miss it altogether. Did you know that? Isn’t it amazing that there are unbelieving believers—that they never really ever act on what they say they believe? And, by the way, as the Scriptures clearly and plainly delineate His first coming—listen to me carefully—the Scriptures clearly and plainly delineate His Second Coming. And, there are some who missed His first coming, and there are some who are going miss His Second Coming for exactly the same reason. They’re not listening to the ministry of the Spirit and the message of the Scripture.

C. The Miracle of the Star

But now, there was a third thing that led these men, these wise men, and that was the miracle of the star. The Shekinah glory of God was leading them step by step. “Well,” you say, “when God appears to me in Shekinah glory, I will follow Him.” Friend, God knew what was necessary for those people in that day at that time. Listen carefully to me: when you set your heart to find God, when you want to know Him, whatever it takes, whatever is necessary, God will get that to you that you might know Him. That may not be a miracle of a star. It might be some other kind of a miracle. It might be that God will send some messenger to you. It may be that you will hear the urging of a next-door neighbor. I don’t know what kind of a star God will send to you, but God will reveal His glory to you.
Now, if you don’t want the Lord, God’s not going to lead you, God’s not going to guide you. I don’t even find any record that the star appeared to Herod at all, for example. Why? Herod didn’t want to know the Lord. I’ve often said, some people can’t find God for the same reason a thief can’t find a policeman: they don’t want to know. They don’t seek God. You get serious about seeking God—listen to me—you get serious about seeking God, I promise you on the authority of the Word of God, He’ll reveal Himself to you—whatever’s necessary. If you want to know Him, you can know Him.

II. What They Brought Him
So, these men were wise, number one, in how they sought Him. They were wise, number two, in what they brought Him. Now, what did they bring Him? Well, the Bible says that they brought Him gold, frankincense, and myrrh. (Matthew 2:11) Now, is that just incidental? No, it’s fundamental. Why these three specific gifts? Why are these things mentioned in the Scripture? I remind you that “all scripture is given by inspiration of God.” (2 Timothy 3:16) There’s nothing there that is not important, properly understood.

A. Gold: His Sovereign Dominion
So, the gold, number one, speaks of His sovereign dominion. Now, look in verse 2: “Where is he that is born”—what?—“king of the Jews?” (Matthew 2:2) And then, look in chapter 2, verse 6: “Thou Bethlehem, in the land of Juda, art not least among the princes of Juda: for out of thee shall come a Governor”—that means “a ruler”—“that shall rule my people Israel.” (Matthew 2:6) It is obvious, beyond any equivocation, that these wise men knew that that child was a king. If you want to have wisdom this Christmas, you’re going to understand the same thing: just as we sang, “He is Lord. He is Lord. He is risen from the dead, and He is Lord.” You see, when they brought gold, gold was the most precious metal they knew. In that day it was used to signify a king. They made their crowns of gold. The Bible speaks of crowns of gold. Daniel said that Messiah would be a king. He speaks in Daniel 9, verse 25 of “Messiah the Prince.” (Daniel 9:25) Isaiah the prophet said in Isaiah chapter 9, verse 7 that He was to be King. Listen to this: “Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even for ever. The zeal of the LORD of hosts will perform this.” (Isaiah 9:7) That little baby is King.

Now, you’ll never, never, never know the meaning of Christmas until you crown Him King. Have you done that? The angel said to Mary in Luke 1, verse 33: “And he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end.” (Luke 1:33) When you deal with Jesus, you’re dealing with Sovereignty, and He is worthy of our tribute. When you come to an earthly king, whether an earthly king or even a government, you pay tribute. Jesus said, “Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar’s, and unto God the things that are God’s.” (Matthew 22:21; Mark 12:17; Luke 10:25) I’ll guarantee you, when income tax comes around, unless you’re a dirty crook, you’re going to pay your taxes. You render to Caesar the things that are Caesar’s.

I want to ask you a question: Have you rendered to Jesus the things that are His? Do you realize that He is King of kings and Lord of lords? Have you taken the crown from your head and put the crown upon His head? Do you say, “Lord Jesus, I surrender my gold to you. I pay tribute to you. I do homage to you. I bow my knee to you”? Have you done that? I say, have you done that? In everybody’s heart there’s a throne. When self is on that throne, Christ is on the cross. When Christ is on that throne, self is on the cross. And, everybody’s in one of those two categories today. These men were wise because they recognized His sovereign dominion. “Where is he that is born King of the Jews?” (Matthew 2:2)

B. Frankincense: His Sinless Deity

All right, look at the second thing: not only did they bring to Him gold, but they brought to Him frankincense; and frankincense speaks of His sinless deity. Not only is He King; friend, He is God. You say, “Well, what does the frankincense have to do with this?” Well, look again in verse 11. It says, “They [brought] unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense and myrrh.” (Matthew 2:11)

What is frankincense? Frankincense is one of the ingredients in a sweet perfume that was used in the tabernacle and the temple for one purpose: the worship of God. As a matter of fact, God said in Exodus chapter 30 that it was not to be used for any other purpose. It is sacred, to be used for Almighty God. (Exodus 30:37–38) Now, not only did they worship Him, therefore, as King, but they worshipped Him as God. As a matter of fact, the Bible says they came and worshipped Him. Look in chapter 2, verse 11: “When they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him.” (Matthew 2:11) You remember that scene there in the Singing Christmas Tree when those wise men come, and they get on their knees, and they bow on their faces to Him, and those little boys backing away from Him would not even turn their back to Him, and it’s depicted there, as the child is there, and they’re on their faces before Him, giving Him glory? Now, will you listen to me? If that child is not God, that’s the ultimate in blasphemy, that anybody would worship a two-legged creature who is not God.

Why? If He’s not God, He has aided and abetted the greatest crime of the centuries, and that is enticing people to idolatry. The Bible says we’re to worship God. We’re to have no other gods before us. (Exodus 20:3; Deuteronomy 5:7) In the book of the Revelation, an angel appeared to John so awesome, so glorious. John, when he was stricken in awe with this particular angel, John fell to his face to worship him. The angel said, “Hey, wait! Get up! Don't worship me!” The angel said, “Look, if you do it, we'll both be in trouble. You'll be in trouble for doing it; I'll be in trouble for letting you do it. Worship God.” (Revelation 19:10)

One of Jehovah’s (false) Witnesses comes and knocks on your door—you ask him this question: “Do you worship Jesus?” Well, he’ll say, “We venerate Jesus.” “No, no, do you worship Jesus?” “Well, we admit…” “No, no, do you worship Jesus?” Do you want to get him stammering and tongue-tied? You see, he’s between a rock and a hard place. If Jesus is not God, they have no business worshipping Him. And, if Jesus was worshipped in the Bible, and they don’t, they're not doing what the Bible teaches. You see, either He's God or He's not God.

Now, my friend, when they came and they worshipped Him, and they brought that frankincense, which was a sweet perfume to be used for God only, and they bowed down and they worshipped Him, they were saying not only is He One of sovereign dominion—He’s a king—but He’s One also of sinless deity: He is God. Now folks, if there’s a message that needs to be preached in this day and this age, that’s the message.

Sometimes the Muslims say, “Oh, we believe in Jesus.” Oh, they believe in Jesus as a prophet. We believe in Jesus as God, a very God. Paul told Timothy, “Great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh.” (1 Timothy 3:16) You'll never know Christmas as you ought to know Christmas until you see, friend, His sovereign dominion, 'til you see His sinless deity. We sing that Christmas carol, “What Child Is This?” Let Isaiah answer that question—Isaiah 9, verse 6: “For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given, and the government shall be upon his shoulder: and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.” (Isaiah 9:6)

C. Myrrh: His Sacrificial Death

Now, thirdly, not only did they bring to Him gold, and not only did they bring to Him frankincense, which was that sweet perfume to be used for God only, but thirdly, they brought to Him myrrh. Now, what is myrrh? Look again at chapter 2, verse 11: “And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense and myrrh”—“and myrrh.” (Matthew 2:11)

What is myrrh? Well, when Jesus died on the cross for our sins, one of the things they offered Him to drink was myrrh. It was a bitter herb. Put in your margin “Mark 15, verse 23”: “And they gave him to drink wine mingled with myrrh: but he received it not.” (Mark 15:23) When they would bury the dead, one of the spices they used, the bitter spices to embalm the dead, was myrrh. That’s a strange thing to give a baby that’s just been born—something bitter, something used to embalm the dead. Now, whether these wise men knew with precision what they were doing, I have no knowledge. But, I know this: that God the Holy Spirit was working in the whole thing. And, here you have a prophecy—a prophecy not only of His sovereign dominion, not only of His sinless deity, but of His sacrificial death. They gave Him myrrh. This was a baby that was born to die. They anticipated, they recognized, His death upon the cross.

Conclusion

A. Be Wise in How You Seek Him

Now today, you can make much of Christmas. And, everybody loves Christmas. We get together, we eat, we give presents, the lights are beautiful, and a little baby—who can’t get excited about a little baby? But, you know something? In the Bible, we find no record that the early Church ever celebrated Christmas. I don’t think it’s wrong to celebrate Christmas, but the early Church had a memorial, not to remember His birth; they had a memorial, the Lord’s Supper, to remember what? His death. The more carnal a person is, the more they will make of His birth, the less they will make of His death. Oh, they love the cradle! They don’t love the cross. And, that same crowd—that same giddy crowd—that will be dancing around the cradle on Christmas Eve will be in a drunken stupor on New Year’s singing “Auld Lang Syne.” They don’t see this baby as a sovereign King. They don’t see Him as sinless Deity. They don’t see Him as the sacrificial Savior who’s going to die a death—an ignominious death—on the cross.

Would you like to worship Jesus with wisdom this Christmas? Thank God that this baby was born to die. You know, He was the only One who ever chose to die. No man ever else has chosen to die. You say, “What about those men who are suicide bombers?” They don’t choose to die. They were going to die anyway. All people are going to die. The only thing they did was to choose the time of their death. All people are going to die. I’ve told you before, there’s a new statistic on death: one out of one people die. You’re going to die. Jesus was the only One who chose to die. He said, “No man taketh [my life] from me, but I lay it down of myself.” (John 10:18) He didn’t have to die because there was no sin in Him. “The wages of sin is death.” (Romans 6:23) He didn’t have to die. He could never have died unless He willingly, voluntarily, vicariously laid down His life upon that cross. “No man taketh [my life] from me…I lay it down of myself.” (John 10:18) That baby was born to die. He was born a naked baby; He died a naked man upon a cross. The painters have been kind to Him and at least have put a loincloth on Him. No—my dear Savior, stripped of His clothing, nailed, writhing in pain, naked upon a cross. From the time He was a child, He had the shadow of a cross. Do you want to be wise this Christmas? Friend, you be wise like these men in the way they sought Him.

B. Be Wise in What You Bring Him
You be wise like these men in what they brought Him.

1. Your Wealth Belongs to Him
The gold tells me—are you listening?—your wealth belongs to Jesus. Don't get the idea you've done Him a wild favor if you give Him a dime out of a dollar. Friend, the whole dollar is His. He just lets you use it. It's all His. You don't believe that, do you? Friend, it is all His. “The earth is the LORD’s, and the fulness thereof.” (Psalms 24:1) So, your wealth belongs to Him. Does that turn you off? It turned a rich young ruler off one time, and He went away sorrowful. He's King. He's sovereign. Your wealth belongs to Him.

2. Your Worship Belongs to Him
I'll tell you something else: He's God, and your worship belongs to Him. You need to fall on your face before Him, make Him Lord of lords and King of kings.

3. Your Witness Belongs to Him
And, I'll tell you a third thing: He is Savior, and your witness belongs to Him. You need to receive Him and then go tell it on the mountains, let everybody know that Jesus is the Lord of lords and the King of kings. And, if we believe what we believe, this Christmas message, in these pregnant days in which we live, we're going to tell the world there is a Savior born who is Christ the Lord.

That would be a wise Christmas, wouldn't it? To seek Him the way these men sought Him, to bring to Him what they brought to Him, to recognize who He is and say, “Lord, my wealth, my worship, my witness is yours, Lord Jesus; with every inch, every ounce, every nerve, every sinew, every fiber, as much as in me is, Jesus, you are Lord.” Are you afraid to do that? Don't be. You want to have a real Christmas? You say, “Pastor Rogers, you're making it tough this morning.” No, I'm not. “His commandments are not grievous.” (1 John 5:3) I'm making it joyful. I'm telling you how to have a real Christmas. I'm telling you how to make the joys of Christmas burst aflame in your heart and in your life. We serve a wonderful Savior, do we not? We really do. I'm so glad to know the Lord Jesus Christ, and I want you to know Jesus.
When Bankruptcy Becomes a Blessing

Introduction

Take God’s Word and be finding Matthew chapter 5 as we begin today a wonderful journey through the Sermon on the Mount. And I think all of us have read the Sermon on the Mount and have enjoyed it. But we’re going to look at it, I trust, in a new and a fresh way and be blessed as we study in the months to come this wonderful, wonderful passage of Scripture. And today we’re going to start with that part of the Sermon on the Mount that we call the Beatitudes. Someone has called these Beatitudes “the attitudes that ought to be”; and I’m going to call them is “the keys to the kingdom”—the Beatitudes. And what they are, really, is a blueprint for happiness. What they are, are foundation stones for building your home and your life. Really, what they are, they are the keys to the kingdom.

I begin reading in Matthew chapter 5, verse 1. And it speaks of the Lord Jesus and it says, “And seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him: and he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying, Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted. Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.”
Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy. Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God. Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.” (Matthew 5:1–9) The attitudes that ought to be—these wonderful Beatitudes!

I’ve heard that a big dog saw a little dog chasing his tail. Said the big dog to the little dog, “Why are you doing that?” The smaller dog said, “Well, I have been studying philosophy, and I believe that I have mastered philosophy. I believe that I have discovered the answer to the problems of the universe. I have discovered what a dog’s deepest need is. The deepest need of a dog is happiness.” And he said, “I have also discovered that happiness lies in a dog’s tail. That is why I am chasing my tail.” He said, “If I can ever apprehend that tail, if I can ever lay hold upon my tail, then I shall be a happy dog.” The old dog, who was wiser, said, “I, too, have studied philosophy. And I, too, have thought and pondered about these things. And in some ways I agree with you. I, too, think that it is a good thing for a dog to be happy. And I, too, believe that, to some degree, happiness lies in a dog’s tail. But I have made a discovery: The more I chase my tail, the more it runs away from me. But when I forget about chasing it and go about my business, it always comes after me.”

Now, my dear friend, so it is with happiness. The more we pursue it, the more it runs away from us. But when we go about our business, it comes after us. But, my dear friend, happiness, is not in a dog’s tail, even for a dog.

But for those of us who know the Lord Jesus Christ, there is happiness, there is joy—that’s what this word blessedness means. It’s a word almost hard to be translated. It could be described as “to be full of joy.” It could mean “to be congratulated.” The Greek word makarios means “to be self-contained, to have what you need within you.” And we call it blessedness.

And so we are going to be thinking about a blueprint for blessedness, laws for living, attitudes that ought to be. And the first one is found in verse 3: “Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.” (Matthew 5:3) This is the first key to the kingdom: “Blessed are the poor in spirit.” Now, notice in all of these Beatitudes Jesus Christ is talking about what we are, not primarily what we have.

Now we have a world today that puts the emphasis primarily upon what you have. “Blessed are those that have wealth.” “Blessed are those who have strength.” “Blessed are those who have power.” “Blessed are those that have knowledge.” “Blessed are those that have prestige.” “Blessed are those who have popularity.” You know the big b’s—the bucks, the brains, the beauty, the brawn—those are the things that people think bring happiness. Blessedness—a lot of people have those things that don’t have joy; they don’t have blessedness. Jesus here is putting an emphasis not primarily on what a man has, but what a man is. “Blessed are…”—and then He describes character qualities. And the very first of these character qualities is a character quality called poorness of spirit.

So I want us to think about this number one key to the kingdom: poorness of spirit. And what is he talking about? Well, He’s really talking about being a beggar. He’s saying, “Blessed are the beggars.”

Now there are several words in the Bible for “being poor.” One word is a word that just speaks of poverty like the widow that put her two mites in the offering plate. Do you remember that story? The widow’s mite? She was poor. But at least she had two mites. She had something to give. That’s one word for poverty that’s found. But that’s not the word that’s found here. The word that is found here does not speak of that kind of poverty. It’s another word. It’s a word that means “a beggar, a man that has absolutely nothing.” It’s a word that was used in Luke chapter 16. You remember the story of the beggar that was at the gate of the rich man, named Lazarus, and the dogs came and licked his sores, and he ate the crumbs that fell from the rich man’s table? That is, he was absolutely, totally, completely destitute. That’s the word that’s used here: a beggar—not just a poor man, but a person whose absolutely, totally, devastatingly impoverished. And Jesus called such a one “blessed.” “Blessed are the poor in spirit.” “Blessed are the beggars.”

Now, who are these blessed beggars? I mean, what is all of this? The world wouldn’t say that’s the way to be blessed—not at all! Well, three basic things I want you to see with me today as we look at this passage of Scripture.

I. The Spiritual Beggar and His Bankruptcy

And first of all, I want you to see the spiritual beggar and his bankruptcy. What does Jesus Christ mean when He says, “Blessed are the beggars”? “Blessed are the beggars; blessed are the bankrupt”: what is what is the meaning of this? Well, let me say right away Jesus is not talking about financial poverty. Jesus never said it is a blessing to be financially poor. Don’t ever get that into your head. The Bible never puts a premium on being financially poor.

Now the Bible teaches we ought to have compassion for the poor. The Bible teaches we ought to help the poor. The Bible teaches we ought to give to the poor. The Bible teaches that many times poor people are rich in faith. But never any place does the Bible teach that material poverty, as such, is a blessing. If Jesus Christ is talking about the blessedness of financial bankruptcy, then it is our job to make everybody on this earth poor and to get poor ourselves. I mean that would be our responsibility: to immediately divest ourselves of any wealth, and to help everybody else to do the same thing, and just have one world of poor people, so everybody could be blessed.

Does that make sense to you? Do you think that is what Jesus Christ was teaching? Not at all! Jesus Christ had many friends who had material blessings. So He is not talking about financial poorness here. He is not talking, either, about a person being poor-spirited. He said, “Blessed are the poor in spirit,” but He doesn’t say, “Blessed are the poor-spirited”—that is, a person all hung over, sort of a milquetoast type of person. You know, you’ve seen them. You know: “I’m just no good. Poor me!” You know, what some people call “humility,” I call “poor posture.” That’s not what our Lord is talking about. When He says, “Blessed are the poor in spirit,” not the poor-spirited, He’s not talking about some outward expression, going around with a face as long as a saxophone, looking like a cruise director for the Titanic. That’s not what He’s talking about, either. As a matter of fact, Jesus Christ said, “When you fast, wash and anoint your face so you don’t appear to other people to be fasting”: (Matthew 6:16–18) “I’m fasting.” That’s not the way. He’s not talking about that. He’s not talking about a person being poor-spirited.

What is He talking about? “Blessed are the poor in spirit.” Our human nature is made of body, soul, and spirit. With your body, you have physical life. With your soul, you have psychological life. And with your spirit, you’re to have spiritual life. With your body, you know the world beneath you. With your soul, you know the world around you. With your spirit, you know the world above you, the spiritual world. “God is a spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth.” (John 4:24) But before a person can enter into the kingdom of heaven, he must first of all admit that in his spirit, in the realm of the spirit, no matter how much he may have in the material realm, no matter how much he may have in the psychological or soulish realm, in the spiritual realm, he is absolutely, totally, bankrupt and a beggar before God. If he doesn’t see that, he will never ever get into the kingdom of heaven. Not just that he is spiritually poor, but that he is spiritually a beggar; that he is bankrupt.

When you come to Jesus Christ, you do not strut into His presence. The very word for “beggar,” the very word for “poor,” comes from a root word which means “to cringe and to cower, to shrink back.” There are no peacocks in heaven. He’s talking here about a person who is totally, completely, devastatingly bankrupt, to the point of being reduced to being a beggar. And when he comes to God, he must say, “In my hand no price I bring, simply to Thy cross I cling.” That’s where it begins. That’s the reason that this character quality is put first: “Blessed are the poor in spirit.”

Now you’ll see some people who will sit in the congregation like this and they will say, “Well, yeah, Pastor, that’s right. I’m not perfect. But I’m not as bad as some other people.” And I say, dear friend, you are not yet bankrupt. You are not yet bankrupt. When you have that attitude—“Yeah, yeah, I know I’m not perfect; yeah, I’ve got my faults; but on the other hand, Pastor, there are some pretty good things about me”—friend, you’ve never seen yourself; you’ve never discovered what the Bible says, that even your righteousness is as filthy rags in the sight of a righteous and a holy God.
(Isaiah 64:6) Were going to see later on in this Sermon on the Mount that Jesus Christ said, “Except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.” (Matthew 5:20) And they were better outwardly than any man, woman, boy, or girl in this building today.

II. The Spiritual Beggar and His Brokenness

All right, so what we’re talking about now is the spiritual beggar and his bankruptcy. But now I want you to think about the spiritual beggar and his brokenness, because, you see, brokenness follows bankruptcy. And what is the brokenness, the broken behavior that follows?

A. The Discovery of Our Situation

Well, first of all, a man must discover and admit just who he is. Many people have never really seen this. For most people, their greatest need is to see their need. Most people sit in churches on Sunday morning in their glad rags, heady, haughty, and high-minded, thinking they’re doing God a wild favor by being there. It’s true. I mean, most of the people—I’ve said it before—are egomaniacs strutting to hell, thinking they are too good to be damned. But there must come a discovery. And you know how that discovery comes? That discovery comes, my dear friend, when we see just who God is and then we understand who we are.

For example, Simon Peter. Simon Peter was naturally an aggressive man. Simon Peter was a take-charge type of fellow. Simon Peter, the big fisherman, you know, he was always giving his opinion. Of course, he was frequently wrong, but never in doubt. Somebody said about the only time he ever opened his mouth was just to exchange feet. He was putting his foot in his mouth all the time. But Simon Peter one day had a glimpse of the majesty, the glory, of Jesus Christ. And then, do you know what he said? He said, “Depart from me; for I am a sinful man.” (Luke 5:8) He finally saw his bankruptcy.

Isaiah the prophet—what a great man was Isaiah the prophet! And if you read the book of Isaiah chapter 5, he is thundering woes against this sin, and woes against that country, and woes against this people: “Woe is you!” “Woe is you!” “Woe is you!” (Isaiah 5:18–23) Then you come back and see Isaiah chapter 6, where he said, “I also saw the Lord, high and lifted up, sitting upon the throne,” and then he said, “Woe is me, for I am a man of unclean lips, and I dwell in the midst of a people of unclean lips: for mine eyes have seen the Lord.” (Isaiah 6:1, 5) Isaiah had poorness of spirit.

I remember reading in the Bible about a woman who was a Syrophoenician. That is, she was a pagan woman; she was from Phoenicia. And Jesus happened to be there in that place, and this Syrophoenician came to Jesus Christ. She had a daughter that was demon-possessed, and she wanted Jesus Christ to heal her demon-possessed dughter. And Jesus Christ, in order to bring her to a point of brokenness of spirit, said something that sounds awfully cruel to her. She said, “Lord, have mercy on me.” And Jesus said, “I haven’t been sent to you. I have come to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.” Jesus said, “Is it reasonable that we would take bread from the children and give it to dogs?” (Matthew 15:22–26) And in effect, He was calling her a dog. And that doesn’t sound very good, coming from Jesus—I mean, that He would call her a dog.
And here He used the word for “dog” that meant “household pet.” “You don’t take the food off of the table and give it to the dog; you give it to the children.” Jesus said, “I have come to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.”

And that Syrophoenician woman, you would think that she would have gone off in a huff, and said, “I’ve never been talked to such a way in all of my life. Some religious leader He is! I thought He was a man of compassion.” She didn’t say that. Do you know what she said? She said, “You’re absolutely right.” She said, “That’s the truth, Lord. But even the dogs get the crumbs that fall from the table.” And when she used the word dogs this time, she didn’t use the same word Jesus used. She used the word that meant “scroungy, back-alley cur; mangy dog; ravenous back-alley dog.” That’s the way she described herself. Jesus’ heart was broken. He said, “Woman, great is your reward. You are going to have exactly what you ask.” (Matthew 15:27–28)

What happened to this woman? The same thing that happened to Simon Peter when He saw the Lord; the same thing that happened to Isaiah when he saw the Lord; the same thing that happened to this woman when she saw the Lord: they became poor in spirit. They became beggars in the sight of a righteous and holy God. And these beggars in the sight of a righteous and holy God got exactly what they wanted.

The Apostle Paul—if there was ever a man that was hard for him to see himself as bankrupt, it was the Apostle Paul. The Apostle Paul, first of all, he had the right birth. He was a Hebrew of the Hebrews. Secondly, he ran in the right society. He was a Pharisee.
Thirdly, he had the extra accouterments of being a Roman citizen. Next, he had the best education that money could buy. He was educated at the feet of Gamaliel. And he would have today the equivalence of a triple Ph.D. He was fluent in many languages.
He was a world traveler. He had been keeping the Jewish laws with an exactitude that was amazing. But one day he caught a glimpse of Jesus Christ. And he said, “All these things that I had counted gain, I now count as loss. I took them from the assets side of the ledger, and I put them on the liabilities side of the ledger. All these things I was depending upon,” he said, “I count them”—are you listening?—“as dung,”—excrement:
that’s what I count them as—“that I might gain Christ.” (Philippians 3:8) Spiritually bankrupt—I mean, totally, totally, totally a beggar in the sight of God!

Now, friend, you talk about something that knocks the legs out from underneath human pride—that does, doesn’t it? I mean, there are a lot of people listening to me today saying, “Well, I’m not going to go that route. Who does He think He’s talking to? I’m a pretty good guy.” Well, you and all of the rest of the pretty good guys are going to go straight to hell until you see yourself as a beggar in the sight of a righteous and a holy God. “Blessed are the poor in spirit.”

B. The Dependency of Our Situation
Now when he discovers this, then he gets a different dependency. You stop depending upon the things that you used to depend upon. You don’t depend upon your natural birth, your pedigree, what your parents may have been. You may be from the finest family in this city, but that’s not going to count at the Judgment. God has children, but He has no grandchildren. You have to be born again.

You may depend upon your position in life. When you die, they may have a big funeral for you—a lot of Cadillacs, and Mercedes, BMWs parked out in front. They may stand up and eulogize you and say, “Here lies one of the finest citizens in this city. He did this; a man of prestige, a man of influence.” But your soul will be in hell before the undertaker hears you’re dead, if that’s what you’re depending on—if you’re depending upon your money, your wealth. Billy Sunday said, “You can’t take it with you. And if you could, it would melt where some of you are going.”

What are you depending upon? Education and knowledge? You say, “Well, I’m not here to listen to some narrow-minded preacher. I am erudite. I am a learned person.” Well, you may be. And thank God for your education. Get all you can. But I’ll tell you something, friend. I had rather be in heaven saying my ABCs than in hell spouting philosophy. I’m telling you, dear friend, Jesus Christ—not Adrian Rogers, Jesus Christ—said, “Blessed are those who are spiritual beggars who have come to this place.”

Maybe you have personality and ability and you’ve always gotten through. I mean, there are some people that are just blessed with a sweet personality, like ol’ Bob over here; just a sweet personality, and you always get through. I mean, you just know how to meet folks, but that’s all you’ve got. Dear friend, try flashing that big smile at the Judgment Seat. Give God a right hand and slap Him on the back. See if that’s going to get you thorough.

Muhammad Ali, when he was in his prime—I mean, when he was at the top—got on an airplane, sat down, and the stewardess said, “Fasten your seatbelt.” He said to her, “Superman don’t need no seatbelt.” She said to him, quick as a flash, “Superman don’t need no airplane either.”

I don’t care what you’ve gained, my dear friend. I don’t care who you are. I don’t care what your ability. When a man sees what he is—bankrupt in the sight of God—then he ceases to depend upon all of these other things that cannot help him or do him any good whatsoever. Look here in Matthew chapter 5 and verse 20: “For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.” (Matthew 5:20) Well, exceeded how much? Well, I'm glad you asked. Look in verse 48: “Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.” (Matthew 5:48) That's how much it exceeds it: “Be ye therefore perfect.” Is there anybody here who would stand up and say, “I'm as perfect as God”? Absolutely not! But that's the standard that God demands. And the standard that God demands can only be met through the atoning death of the Lord Jesus Christ as the righteousness of God is imputed to you. Do you understand that? But you'll never know that righteousness; you'll never have that perfection that is given through the Lord Jesus Christ, until first of all you understand exactly what you are in the sight of a righteous and a holy God.

Now, look. What most of us need to do is to stop measuring ourselves by some false standard. Do you know what most of us like to do? We like to find somebody else that we're better than. Generally, it's a hypocrite in the church. Every now and then somebody says, “Oh, I don't want to go to church. There are so many hypocrites in the church.” Do tell. There have always been hypocrites in the church. One of the twelve apostles was a hypocrite. My dear friend, you had better not lie down in the gutter and stretch yourself out alongside some hypocrite and say, “I'm longer than he is.” You measure yourself by the standard of Almighty God. “Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.”

You folks who say, “Well, I'm just as good as those folks down there at the church,” you had better start saying, “I'm just as bad as those folks down there at that church.” And all of us, we are beggars in the sight of a righteous and a holy God until we lay our pride in the dust.

C. The Declaration of Our Situation

You see, my dear friend, there is the discovery of that situation. And once we discover it, then we stop depending upon the things that we've been depending upon. And not only is there the discovery of it, and the dependency that comes from it, but there is the declaration that follows it. We lay our pride in the dust.

I was in Los Angeles one day and I saw a man who was by a garbage can there. I saw a man stick his head in the garbage can and begin to eat—not lifting the food out. I've been in places in the country where I've seen beggars sitting at a gate, lifting up a trembling hand and pleading. I've seen mothers holding little babies gnawing at dry breasts and saying, “Please, for the baby.” It breaks my heart every time. I can't stand it. But, my dear friend, I'll tell you, there's one thing about these folks. They've lost any sense of shame.
You say, “Well, you know, I’d like to be a Christian, but I’m not going to go down there in front of all of those people and let them know that I need Jesus.” Then, go on to hell. You’re so rotten proud. You’ve never come to the place where you’re bankrupt in the sight of a righteous and a holy God. You don’t want to be seen as a person who needs God and can’t do anything for himself. Blessed and bankrupt: “Blessed are the poor in spirit”—not just the impoverished; the beggars in the sight of a righteous and a holy God.

III. The Spiritual Beggar and His Blessedness
Oh, my dear friend, let’s move on quickly and talk, last of all, about the spiritual beggar and his blessedness. We’ve talked about the spiritual beggar and his bankruptcy. We’ve talked about the spiritual beggar and his brokenness. Now, let’s look at his blessedness.

You say, “Boy, if I ever heard a downer message, this is one this morning.” Well, let’s move, then. This is not a downer; this is an upper. Jesus is not saying, “This is the way to misery.” Jesus is not saying, “This is the way to devastation.” My dear friend, Jesus is saying, “This is the way to blessedness.” “Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.” Why is it such a blessing?

Well, number one: It’s the only way you’ll ever get to heaven. You see, Isaiah 57, verse 15: “For thus saith the high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, whose name is Holy; I dwell in the high and holy place, with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit, to revive the spirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite ones.” (Isaiah 57:15) There are no peacocks in heaven. All sin is rooted in pride. And until that pride is dealt with, people are not ready and willing to receive Jesus Christ as their personal Savior and Lord.

You see, the reason that this Beatitude is put first is it is the foundation of all the other blessings that Jesus is going to talk about. If you don’t have this key, the other keys don’t make any difference at all. Listen again to Jesus in Matthew chapter 18, verses 3 and 4: “Verily I say unto you, Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven.” (Matthew 18:3–4) Until a man lays his pride in the dust, he cannot be saved. Even God cannot fill that which is already full. We’ll never live spiritually until we admit we are dead spiritually. Jesus said to the Pharisees, “Because you say you have no sin, your sin remains.” (John 9:41)

Do you know what evangelism is, my dear friend? It’s one beggar telling another beggar how to find bread. That’s all it is. You’re looking at a beggar. Evangelism is one beggar telling another beggar how to find bread.
Conclusion

She was beautiful. She was charming. She was gifted. She was the talk of the town—a lovely, gracious, talented girl. She sat at the piano and played. The crowds came and they told her how sweet and how beautiful she was. But there was a preacher there that night. His name was Cesar Millán. And Cesar Millán approached this young lady and said, “You have charm, and you have grace, and you have beauty; but if you don’t get saved; if you don’t see your need and give your heart to Jesus Christ, you’re just as lost as the worst harlot in London.” She was insulted a little bit. She was shocked by the rudeness of this preacher. I think God the Holy Spirit knew what she needed, though, because she went up to her bedroom and tried to sleep. She tried to laugh it off. But she couldn’t laugh it off. And at three AM in the morning, Charlotte Elliott gave her heart to Jesus Christ and was born again. She was the one who wrote a song that we sing here so often: “Just as I am, without one plea, but that thy blood was shed for me, O lamb of God, I come, I come.” That’s the way she came.

And, friend, that’s the way you’ll come, and that’s the way anybody will come, because it was none less than Jesus Christ who said, “Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.” That my, dear friend, is the key to the kingdom.

Introduction

We’re in a series of messages on the Sermon on the Mount, and the title of this series is “Building on the Rock,” and the subtitle “The Keys of the Kingdom,” as we’re studying the Beatitudes. These are wonderful, wonderful passages of Scripture. We call them the Beatitudes. They are not platitudes. They are so contrary to what the world would say. And the one that we have today is perhaps one of the strangest sentences in all of the Bible. I'll read them all and then come back to our Beatitude for today: “And seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him: and he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying, Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted. Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled. Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy. Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God. Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.” (Matthew 5:1–9) But note especially now verse 4: “Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.”

Now, may I say that the world would never say this. The world would never say, “Blessed are they that mourn.” The world would say just the opposite: “Blessed are those who never have to cry. Blessed are those who never mourn.” We have an idea that if we could go through life without ever crying, without any sorrow, without any pain, without any heartache, without any moan and groan, it would be wonderful. But not so.

_I walked a mile with Pleasure;_
_She chatted all the way;_
_But left me none the wiser_
_For all she had to say._

_I walked a mile with Sorrow,_
_And ne’er a word said she;_
_But, oh! The things I learned from her,_
_When sorrow walked with me._

—ROBERT BROWNING HAMILTON

“_Blessed”—Jesus says—“are they that mourn.”_

Now again, I want to say, the people of this world would say if we could just arrange conditions where we never have any sorrow, never have any pain, never have any hurts, then we could just change men; if we can change condition, we can change character. But that isn’t what the Bible teaches. The Bible teaches just the opposite. And I want to remind you that man fell in a perfect environment. It was the Garden of Eden. You couldn’t have a better environment than that which man fell in. But the world gets it so backwards. The world puts the emphasis on condition. God puts the emphasis on character.

Someone has well said, “You can’t purify the water by painting the pump.” And yet that’s what we try to do. We just think that somehow if we can change the exterior, then somehow if we can make conditions such that we never have any hurts, we never have any pains, then we’re going to be just right. But, you see, Jesus was a strange teacher. And He put the emphasis upon character; on what you are, not what you have.

Now He doesn’t say blessed are those who have popularity, those who have position, those who have personality, those who have possessions, those who have power. I can show you people who have all of these things and are perfectly, exquisitely miserable. Jesus doesn’t say blessed are those who have certain things, but blessed are those who are certain things—and here’s second in the list: “_Blessed are they that mourn._”

Now I want to make something clear here, however. Jesus is not talking about the moaners; He’s talking about the mourners. Now all of us know the moaners. I mean these people who are like that little fellow in Li’l Abner who went around with that dark cloud all over his head. You remember that guy? You couldn’t pronounce his name, because it had no vowels in it, just all consonants. But he was somebody. Everywhere he went there was a rain cloud over his head. And I know those kinds of people. And very frankly, I don’t think those are what Jesus is talking about. He was not talking about the miserable, the melancholy, the sad sacks, the crybabies of this world. He was not talking about the moaners. We all know those. They are drinking constantly from the intoxicating cup of self-pity. Their favorite hymn is “Nobody Knows the Trouble I’ve Seen,” and the only pleasure they get in life is singing it to you. And, dear friend, you don’t dare ask them how they feel, because you’ll get an organ recital. They will tell you exactly how they feel.

Now that’s not what Jesus Christ is talking about here. He is not talking about the moaners. And He’s not talking about those who have heartaches and troubles and difficulties in life. We all have those. I’ve been watching the Olympics. Have you? I tell you, I hate to see anybody lose. It breaks my heart when one of these little gymnasts will go away with a tear streaming down her cheeks. I mean, she has worked and worked and worked and worked and worked, and this is the big chance. And then, one little misstep, and it’s all over. And the tears come. And well might the tears come. But that’s not what Jesus is talking about here. He’s not talking about that. He’s not talking about the sadness in life and the sorrows of life per se.

The word here, “Blessed are they that mourn,” is the deepest word for sorrow. It’s the word for the grief that you feel at the graveside of a loved one. It’s a strong word, a word for lament. I think it’s described in Psalm 34 and verse 18: “The LORD is nigh unto them that are of a broken heart; and saveth such as be of a contrite spirit.” (Psalm 34:18) That’s what He’s talking about, my dear friend.

May I put it to you bluntly? May I ask you a question? Jesus was a man of sorrows. The most poignant verse in all of the Bible, I think, the shortest in our English Bible, is this: “Jesus wept.” (John 11:35) Do the things that break the heart of Jesus break yours? That’s the question. Do the things that break the heart of Jesus break yours? “Blessed are they that mourn.” Do we have a dry-eyed church in a hell-bent world? One of the things that we have learned not to do is to mourn.

So many of our church services are filled with cheerleader enthusiasm. I’m not talking against joy. My dear friend, the Bible says there’s a time to laugh and there is a time to weep. (Ecclesiastes 3:4) So far as our nation is concerned, I believe that it’s time for America to be on her face before God. This, my dear friend, is a time to weep. And the best thing you can say about the mourners, to begin with, is at least they have the sensitivity to feel—that their hearts are touched.

Now it’s out of vogue to mourn. It’s out of vogue to weep. We’ve done all that we can do to keep ourselves from feeling any pain. We have our psychologists who will numb our neurosis. We have our counselors who will absolve us of all guilt. We have our doctors to sedate our pain. We have our insurance agents to take away our worries. And even at death we have the mortuary to somehow try to beautify death for us.
And then on top of that, we want to go from one entertainment to another, one amusement to another. And I’ve told you before that the word amuse means “not to think.” To muse means to “think.” A museum is a place you go to think, to observe. A-muse means “not to think.” We go from one amusement to another amusement. It’s like Disney World, the Magic Kingdom. Have you ever gone to the Magic Kingdom? You move from this thing to this thing, to this thing, to this thing, and there is somebody there always sweeping up the trash so you won’t see it. We want to kind of live that way. I mean, that’s the idea of this world: just make life a Magic Kingdom. Well, Jesus is saying, come out of the Magic Kingdom into God’s kingdom, the real kingdom. And He says, “Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.”

Now we can talk about different kinds of mourning, but I believe, as I studied this passage of Scripture, Jesus here is talking about those who primarily mourn over sin—that’s an old-fashioned word, too, isn’t it?—those who mourn over sin, theirs and the sin of humanity, because, you see, Jesus began this way: “Blessed are the poor in spirit” (Matthew 5:3)—those that see that morally, spiritually, they are bankrupt in the sight of a righteous and a Holy God. And when a person sees that, what follows that, ipso facto? What follows that? When we see our bankruptcy, then it brings our brokenness—bankruptcy and brokenness. When we see that we are spiritually bankrupt—that in our hands we have nothing to offer to God, but that even our righteousness is as filthy rags in the sight of a righteous and a Holy God (Isaiah 64:6)—it is then that we mourn.

So with that in mind I want us to think of three basic things this morning that I find here in verse 4.

I. The Guilt That Convicts Us

First of all, I want you to see the guilt that convicts us—the guilt that causes us to mourn. Now you’re such a nice-looking congregation this morning dressed in your Sunday best, Bible in your hand, having just sung hymns. Many of us come to church quite satisfied with ourselves. As a matter of fact, some of us have the idea that we’ve done God a wild favor just by getting there. And one of the hardest things for us to do is to really see that we have anything to weep over, that we have anything to mourn over.

And these Beatitudes, these attitudes that ought to be, are really the text for the sermon. And so you find the sermon illustrated in the rest of the Sermon on the Mount as Jesus gives the Beatitudes. And I want you to see some illustrations of what He’s talking about. What is it that convicts us?

A. The Deceiving Power of Sin

Well, first of all, there’s the deceiving power of sin. Look in chapter 5, verses 21 and 22: “Ye have heard that it hath been said of them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment: but I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment.” (Matthew 5:21–22)

Now most of us have a little list of do’s and don’ts: “I do this,” and, “I do this,” and, “I don’t do this,” and, “I don’t do that.” And, you know, that little list of do’s and don’ts can just lead to abominable pride in our lives. I have some don’ts that you don’t have. There some things that you do that I don’t do. But, you see, what Jesus does is just to rip the veneer off of all of that. And Jesus gets down to the heart of the matter. And when Jesus sees anger, in God’s ledger He writes down “murder,” because, you see, there is that reservoir of rage that is there that nobody else can see, but God sees.

Look, if you will, in chapter 5 and verse 27. He goes on to say here, “You have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not commit adultery: but I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.” (Matthew 5:27–28) God doesn’t see as man sees. Man looks on the outward appearance. God looks on the heart. (1 Samuel 16:7)

You are reading one of those lascivious magazines, lusting: God writes down “adultery.” You say, “I’ve never committed adultery”: God says, “Huh?” Maybe not in your mind; but you’ve got a lot to mourn over, my dear friend. You know, rules and regulations, do’s and don’ts, won’t make you more like the Lord Jesus Christ.

The Apostle Paul was a proud Pharisee. He kept all of the Ten Commandments outwardly, except one of them. He said, “I was doing fine. I had my little list of commandments.” He said, “I was checking them off. ‘Thou shalt have no other gods before me’: (Exodus 20:3) I’ve never done that. ‘Thou shalt not take the name of the LORD thy God in vain’: (Exodus 20:7) I wouldn’t think of it. ‘Don’t make any graven images’: (Exodus 20:4) no sir, not me. ‘Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy’: (Exodus 20:8) I always do. ‘Honor your father and mother’: (Exodus 20:12) oh, indeed, I have done that. ‘Don’t commit adultery’: (Exodus 20:14) I wouldn’t dream of committing adultery; no sir. ‘Don’t steal’: (Exodus 20:15) not me. ‘Don’t kill’: (Exodus 20:13) oh, no.” He said, “I was doing fine. I was sailing along. But then I came to one commandment, and it wiped me out.” Do you know which one it was? It was the one commandment I’ve never heard anybody else ever confess they were guilty of: “Thou shalt not covet.” (Exodus 20:17)

Let me give it to you. Put it in your margin. Romans chapter 7 and verse 7: “What shall we say then? Is the law sin? God forbid. Nay, I had not known sin, but by the law: for I had not known lust, except the law had said, Thou shalt not covet.” (Romans 7:7) The word lust here means “desire.” Paul said, “Yes, I’ve never stolen anything. Yes, I’ve never killed anybody. Yes, I’ve never committed adultery. But I can never say I’ve never wanted to.” He said, “I had not known lust, except the law had said, Thou shalt not

B. The Defiling Power of Sin

What do we have to weep over, my dear friend? Are you listening? First of all, there is the deceptive power of sin. Many of us do not realize how deceitfully wicked our hearts are. Our hearts are “deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked.” (Jeremiah 17:9) That’s what God’s Word says. But not only the deceptive power of sin; my dear friend, the defiling power of sin. Look, if you will, in verses 29 and 30 of this same chapter:

“And if thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell. And if thy right hand offend thee, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell.” (Matthew 5:29–30)

Now, folks, you’re going to have to admit that is stout preaching. What is He saying? What does the eye speak of? Well, with our eye we are able to behold beauty. The eyes speak of the pleasurable things of life. What does the hand speak of? With the hand we grasp and hold things. That speaks of the profitable things of life. That’s what He’s talking about here, I believe: the pleasurable things and the precious things; the things that we can see, and the things that we can hold.

Do you know what sin does? Sin takes these things and it perverts them: the beautiful things, the precious things, the things that we behold and the things that we hold. Sin has a way of perverting these things. And may I tell you, the devil is a pervert. The devil has no raw materials. He takes the good things of God and he perverts them.

C. The Destroying Power of Sin

But now, watch. My dear friend, listen. There is the deceiving power of sin. There is the defiling power of sin. There is the destroying power of sin. Look at it. Continue to read. Look in verse 30 here: “And”—He said—“if thy right hand offend thee, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell.”

Now, what is Jesus Christ teaching? Is Jesus Christ telling you, my dear friend, that if you want to go to heaven, cut off your right hand and pluck out your right eye? That’s not what He’s saying. What is Jesus Christ saying? He’s saying, my dear friend, it is better to be a maimed saint on your way to heaven than to be a healthy sinner on your way to hell. That’s what He’s saying. He’s not saying that cutting off your hands is going to get you to heaven. Plucking out your eye is not going to get you to heaven. Christ died for those sins. But I’m telling you, my dear friend, it would be better for you to go limping into heaven than it would be for you to go dancing into hell. Sin destroys.

And I want to say that Jesus Christ is the One who taught more about hell than any other person in the Bible. Never lampoon a preacher that’s a hellfire preacher, because what you’re doing is ridiculing the Son of God. Jesus Christ had more to say about hell than any other preacher in the Word of God—Jesus Christ, who was infinite love. There is a hell. Hell is real. Jesus was compassionate. It was the compassionate Christ who talked about cutting off your hand and plucking out your eye. Dr. Robert G. Lee, the former pastor of this church, one of the greatest preachers of all Christendom, said, concerning preaching on hell, and people calling it cruel, “I had rather be called cruel for being kind than to be called kind for being cruel.” And I agree with him. The cruelest thing that a preacher could do would be to fail to warn people from the wrath to come and from that place that the Bible calls hell.

And again, dear friend, don’t argue with me. It was Jesus Christ who spoke here on the Sermon on the Mount. He spoke, dear friend, of the deceiving power of sin—it’s in the heart; of the defiling power of the sin; of the destroying power of sin. And when you really see that—and I can’t make you see it; all I can do is preach it, pray God the Holy Spirit of God will make you see it—but when that touches your heart, and when that gets out of your head and down into your heart; when you realize it was your sin that nailed Jesus Christ to the cross, your sin is the nails that held Him there, your hard heart, the hammer that drove those nails; when you see that sin is an affront to a righteous and a holy God; when you see that sin deceives, it defiles, it destroys; then you’ll understand why Jesus said, “Blessed are they that mourn.”

II. The Grief That Consumes Us

But I want you to see the second thing: Not only the guilt that convict us, but I want you to see the grief that consumes us. Again, I want you to know that the word here for “grief” is not an ordinary word. There are many words for “sorrow” in the Bible. This is the deepest, the most poignant word for “sorrow.” It means “to lament, to be consumed with grief.”

And again, I want to say this is the missing note in the modern church. Many people are baptized pagans. They have united with churches like they have joined country clubs. But they have never been broken over their sin. I’ll give you a verse that you need to ponder on. It’s a verse that perhaps you need to read over and over again. It’s found in 2 Corinthians chapter 7 and verse 10: “For godly sorrow worketh repentance...”—that’s the missing note—“godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation not to be repented of: but the sorrow of the world worketh death.” (2 Corinthians 7:10)

There are two kinds of sorrow, my dear friend. And Jesus here is talking about godly sorrow. “Blessed are they that mourn.” Now, what’s the difference between godly sorrow and the sorrow of the world? Listen to the verse again: “For godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation not to be repented of:”—that is, once you get saved, you don’t repent of that salvation—“but the sorrow of the world worketh death.”

Now, what is godly sorrow? It is not mere regret. Many of us have done things that we regret. And we’re sorry. I mean, when I was a child, I did many things I regretted when my dad found out about it. We had a pump room. He took me out there. And he never whipped me on an empty stomach; he always turned me over, and that’s the way he whipped me. I regretted it—sorrowfully regretted it. But that is not godly sorrow.

Not regret. Not remorse. Now regret is primarily in the mind. Remorse goes past the mind to the heart. But that, my dear friend, is not godly sorrow—remorse. As a matter of fact, remorse without repentance can be a dangerous, dangerous thing. Regret is primarily in the mind. Remorse is in the mind and in the heart. But remorse, my dear friend, compared to repentance, is a dead-end street. Repentance is a highway. Remorse looks at the sin and it’s consequences. Repentance looks beyond the sin to Calvary.

A person filled with remorse is one who loves his sin and hates himself at the same time. Have you ever seen someone like that? He loves his sin, but he hates himself, because he can’t quit. That’s remorse. A person who has repented is a person who hates his sin because he loves his Savior. That’s the difference. We have many people that waltz down our churches with regret, and others have come with remorse. But, oh, thank God for those who have come with repentance!

What is the difference? The Bible teaches that Judas, when he had learned that he had betrayed the Lord Jesus Christ and saw all that was happening, or when he became aware of the consequences of his betrayal, with trembling fingers he made a noose, put it around his neck, and hanged himself. And he stepped from the hell that was within him to the hell that was beyond him. And he is in hell tonight, so filled with remorse that he threw the thirty pieces of silver on the floor and went out and hanged himself. My dear friend, there was a man remorseful, but he never repented.

Simon Peter, on the other hand, cursed and swore and denied the Lord Jesus Christ. The Bible says he “went out, and wept bitterly.” (Matthew 26:75; Luke 22:62) Simon Peter was filled not with remorse, but with repentance. When Simon Peter saw the Lord Jesus Christ, Simon Peter knew that “not only have I broken His law; I have broken His heart, and that breaks my heart,” and he wept bitterly. And Simon Peter was the great preacher of Pentecost, because there was a godly sorrow that worketh repentance unto salvation.

“Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.” True repentance, my dear friend, and faith are heads and tails of the same coin. David, in Psalm 51, committed adultery. At least, Psalm 51 is the record of his repentance after he had committed adultery. And David said in Psalm 51 and verse 4 when he was speaking to God, “Against thee, thee only, have I sinned, and done evil in thy sight: that thou mightest be justified when thou speakest, and be clear when thou judgest.” (Psalm 51:4) David said, “O God, I didn’t just sin against my wife, and against my children, and against my body, and against the kingdom, even against your law; but, God, I’ve sinned against you. I hurt you, my God. I sinned against you. And then David said in Psalm 51 and verse 17, “The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit: a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise.” (Psalm 51:17)

Have you come to that place? I don’t mean just broken over your sin; I mean broken from your sin. I don’t mean just what your sin has done to you; I mean what your sin has done to God. I don’t mean regret; I don’t mean remorse; I mean repentance. “Godly sorrow worketh repentance not to be repented of; the sorrow of the world, death.” “Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.”

III. The God Who Comforts Us

Now what we’ve seen, my dear friend, is the guilt that convicts us; then, the grief that is to consume us; and then, the God who is to comfort us: “for they shall be comforted.” That’s what Jesus says. And that’s the only way to know the comfort of our dear Lord: “They shall be comforted.”

Now, let’s look at this: “They shall be comforted.” Once you see the guilt, and feel the grief, then you know the grace. What does it mean to be comforted? What is that? Well, it’s not a sympathetic pat on the back: “There, there.” That’s not what it means. The word comfort is not a word filled with sympathy. It’s a word filled with strength. Do you know what the word comfort means? Our English word is very much like the Bible word: com-, meaning “with,” and -fort means “strength”—“with strength.” Think of the word fortress. Think of the word fortification. Think of the word fortify. God says, “I will put my strength in you. I will be your strength. I will give you comfort. You will be comforted.”

Now, what does that mean? It means God is going to give you strength. Psalm 138 and verse 3: “In the day when I cried”—notice this: “when I cried”, “Blessed are they that mourn”—“thou answerest me, and strengthenedst me with strength in my soul.” (Psalm 138:3)

Now, how does God do this? Bless God, through the Holy Spirit. Let me give you a verse for your margin—John 14, verses 16 and 17. Jesus Christ gave us this incredible and wonderful promise. Jesus said, “And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter...”—isn’t that what we’re talking about: comfort?—“I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever. Even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you.” (John 14:16–17) What is He talking about? Oh, my dear friend, there is One who lives in my heart today. He is the Holy Spirit of God. He gives me that comfort. He speaks to my soul.

“Adrian, have you ever wept over your sin?” I have. I wept as a teenage boy. As a teenage boy, I never got into the kind of sin that people get into today. I thank God for that. I’ve never been a cigarette smoker. I don’t know what it is to be drunk. I haven’t got the foggiest notion of what drugs are like. I don’t want to find out. I went to the marriage altar a virgin, and I married a virgin. I thank God for that. I’ve never gotten into those kinds of things. And I’m so grateful to God I haven’t. But I don’t brag. It’s only by the grace of God. But, oh, I was a sinner. I knew it—all those dishonest things in my life, all those mean things in my life, those profane things in my life. And I can remember going out as a teenage boy and taking my bicycle and going out into the country. I didn’t even know how to be saved. I would sit down and weep over my sin. If somebody had pointed me to Jesus earlier, I would have been saved. I knew I was a sinner. That sin broke my heart. And I know I still fail God.

But, oh, my dear friend, there is One in me—His name is the Holy Spirit—who gives me comfort today. For those sins are nailed to the cross.

My sin, oh, the bliss of this glorious thought!
My sin, not in part but the whole,
Is nailed to the cross, and I bear it no more,
Praise the Lord, praise the Lord, O my soul!
—Horatio G. Spafford

That is the comfort the Holy Spirit gives.

Have you ever known that comfort? I mean to be clean and clear? The Holy Spirit of God is the One to those with a broken heart, those who confess their sin He comes with strength to save. You’re forgiven. You’re clean. You’re pure. You say, “Well, yes, but what if you sin after that?” Well, I’m glad you asked, because, my dear friend, listen. The Bible says in 1 John chapter 2 and verse 1, “If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: and he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but for the sins of the whole world.” First John 2:1: “An advocate.” (1 John 2:1)

Did you know that the word advocate is exactly the same word that Jesus used in John chapter 14 when He said, “I’ll send you another Comforter”? It’s the Greek word parakletos. And it comes from two words: para, meaning “alongside of, like parallel lines,” and kletos, káleō, which means “to call.” It is “someone called alongside of you.” If you go into a courtroom, you get a lawyer. He comes and stands alongside of you. He says, “Now, you let me handle this. You just be quiet. You just let me handle this. I am your lawyer.” The word comforter and the word advocate are the same word. Now, friend, that’s the strength that you have.
Do you know who the devil is? The devil is the prosecuting attorney. The Bible calls the devil—listen—“the accuser of the brethren.” There is somebody who follows you around and dogs your footsteps. He writes down everything you do, my dear friend, and he sends it to heaven as a testimony against you. The devil says, “God the Father, how can you let Adrian Rogers preach? How can you let him claim to be your child?” The devil says to me, “That’s right! You miserable failure! You’ve sinned! Deny it!” Do you know what I say to him? “See my lawyer. He’ll handle it.” “If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father”—“[a comforter] with the Father.” Jesus Christ is my Savior.

Conclusion
Friend, listen. Let me tell you something. When you come to honest brokenness over your sin; when you come to that place, the Holy Spirit of God gives you such comfort that your sin is forgiven; and then when you need help, when you’re in jeopardy, when you fail, the Holy Spirit of God stands nigh to the broken; He is a help; He is strength. And I know that strength day by day. Do you?

“Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.” He will turn every hurt to a hallelujah. He will turn ever tear to a comfort. My dear friend, it all begins when you see yourself as poor in spirit. A comforter. When you say, “O God, it is not just what I have done; it is what I am; not just what sin has done to me, but what it has done to you; and, O God, with a broken heart, I repent of it—not just regret, not only remorse, not just the mind, not just the heart, but the spirit—God, I repent,” God says, “I forgive,” and God sends the Holy Spirit, the Comforter, to give you peace.

Introduction
Take the Word of God and turn to Matthew chapter 5 as we continue our series of messages from the Sermon on the Mount under the general heading “Building on the Rock.” For Jesus said, “Whosoever hears these sayings of mine and does them will be like a wise man that built his house upon the rock.” (Matthew 7:24)

I’ve traveled in the Middle East and been in the Mediterranean. There’s a beautiful island there that I have visited, and some of you have visited; it’s the island of Crete. And that island is called in the Greek Makarios. And it’s the word that is translated “blessed.” There’s an island named “Blessed.” And the reason they named Crete Makarios is that they thought that it had everything on it that was needed to sustain life, that it was self-contained; there was enough vegetation, enough food, enough grain, everything that was on the island, enough water, to sustain life. And not only did they have enough for themselves, but they had enough to export. And so the Greeks named that island Makarios—“Blessed.”

Now we’re going to read some Beatitudes, and these Beatitudes begin with that same word, Makarios—“Blessed.” And that gives you some idea what the word blessing means. It means more than “happy.” Some translate this “happy,” but it means more than “happy.” It means “having everything that you need.” Having everything that you need spiritually: that is being blessed.
And so the Lord Jesus Christ gives us these Beatitudes, or “attitudes that ought to be.” They’re not platitudes; they are attitudes, and really they deal with Christian character. And, my dear friend, Christian character is what you are. Your reputation is what others think about you. But character is what God and your wife know about you. Now this deals with character; not what blessed men have, or not what blessed men do, but what blessed men are—because, friend, all of us are going to die—and some sooner than we think—and when you die, you’ll leave behind all that you have and all that you’ve done, and you’ll take with you all that you are, isn’t that right? See, it’s character that is so important. And that’s the reason it’s more important that you seek blessedness than happiness.

Most of the people in the world are doing what? Well, they are seeking happiness. They want to be happy. But do you know those who look for happiness the most find it the least? That’s a strange thing, but it is absolutely true. People who are on a search for happiness are generally the unhappiest people in the world. Happiness is not something you find by looking for it; happiness is something you stumble over when you’re seeking blessedness.

Now, friend, you seek happiness, and you’ll never find it. But you get right with God, and blessedness will find you. It will run you down. And this is what Jesus Christ is talking about here in these Beatitudes. He’s talking about blessedness. Listen to it: “And seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him: and he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying, Blessed...”—makarios—“Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.” And then we come to our text for today: “Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.” (Matthew 5:1–5) Now you talk about an inheritance, friend—to inherit the earth!

When I was a little boy, I used to listen to a program called “The Search for Missing Heirs.” Did you ever listen to that? Somebody had died and left a lot of money, but nobody knew to whom it belonged. And so there was a search for the missing heirs. It might be, dear friend, that today you’re that missing heir, the one who is to inherit the earth, and yet you don’t even know it. So I hope today that you’ll hear your name called. “Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.”

But what does that mean? What is this Beatitude? We’re going to talk today on this subject: “The Mighty Meek.” And if there’s one thing that this world would not say is blessed, it is meekness. I mean, we don’t think that meekness is a blessing at all. People of this world would say, “Blessed are the mighty men; blessed are the muscle men; blessed are the mental men; blessed are the money men; blessed are any kind of men except the meek men,” because we think of meekness as weakness. But the Bible says, “Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.”
I. The Definition of Meekness

Well, what is meekness? Well, let me tell you what it is not, before I tell you what it is. It is not weakness. Put that down big and plain and straight: meekness is not weakness. And if you think that meekness is weakness, you can go a week trying to be meek, and you’ll find out that meekness is not weakness. Do you know what Jesus said in Matthew chapter 11? “Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart.” (Matthew 11:29)

Do you think of Jesus as weak? Jesus said, “I am meek.” Do you think Jesus was weak? If you think that Jesus was weak, then you read the Bible where He fasted forty days and forty nights alone in the wilderness with wild beasts. I’d like to see one of you macho men do that. Do you think Jesus was weak? Get a picture of Jesus making a whip and driving the moneychangers out of the temple. Do you think Jesus was meek—Jesus, who said, “The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head”? (Matthew 8:20) These pictures of Jesus that make Him look like He just stepped out of a beauty parlor make me sick. Jesus was a man, a strong man—and He said, “I am meek and lowly in heart.” My dear friend, meekness is not weakness.

Do you know who the Bible says, in his day, was the meekest man? This is back in the Old Testament. It was Moses. The Bible says that Moses was the meekest of all the men on the earth. (Numbers 12:3) That’s before Jesus Christ got here, who was more than a man. Do you think Moses was a wimp? You study the life of Moses. I mean, he got in trouble sometimes because of his temper, but one thing he was not was a weak man. He was a general who led the children of Israel out of Egypt. He was no wimp. Meekness is not weakness. What is meekness? Well, dear friend, it is not cowardice. It is not a milquetoast type of character. It is not weakness. The word means “yielded.” It literally has the idea of strength under control.

There was a man, J. Wallace Hamilton, who wrote an incredible book that I’ve had in my library for a long time. The title of the book is Ride the Wild Horses! That’s the title of the book. And he points out that when God made us, when God created us, when God put us together, God put into our nature certain drives, certain instincts, certain ambitions, and they are not evil in themselves. But these drives, these instincts, these ambitions, need to be made to yield. And he pointed out what I want to point out: that the word meekness has the idea of a wild stallion being broken. As a matter of fact, in that day, and sometimes still in this day, when a steed—an animal, especially a horse—has been domesticated, it has been trained so a rider can sit upon its back, or so it can pull a plow. The proper term for that was that that horse, that animal, that ox, whatever, had been meeked. It had been meeked; it had been broken. Now it yields to the rider. Now it yields to the yoke. It is strength under control. That’s what meekness is. It is a compliant spirit.

You see, these Beatitudes come in order. The first step is this: “Blessed are the poor in spirit.” Now, my dear friend, that shows our condition. We say, “In myself, I am spiritually bankrupt.” And then: “Blessed are they that mourn”—because after our condition comes our contrition. You see, then we say, “O God, have mercy upon me! I see what I am. I weep over it. I truly repent of it.” And then, after that condition, and that contrition, comes that control, where “I take myself now, Lord, and I place myself under your control. I am meek; not weak, meek. I have a new master.” A horse that has been meeked still has the same strength, still has the same fire, still has the same drive; it still has the same instincts; but now there’s a bridle—a bit, a bridle, and a saddle.

Now J. Wallace Hamilton talks about different ways that you might deal with a wild horse. The first way is just to let him run wild. And that’s what we have: a generation that does today. How do they deal with this? By what we call just no restraint—or self-assertion: “Just let the horse run. Whatever is natural is beautiful, and whatever is beautiful, it must be right. So you just do your thing.” That’s self-assertion: “Don’t put any restraint upon yourself. If you want to get drunk, get drunk. If you want to fornicrate, fornicrate. If you want to fight, fight.” Just no self-restraint.

The chief apostle of this philosophy in yesterday was a man named Nietzsche. Now Nietzsche influenced the world far more than we may realize. As a matter of fact, a student of Nietzsche was Adolf Hitler. Let me tell you what Adolf Hitler said about letting the horses run wild. He said this: “Get rid of your pious priests and their weak-livered gospel of mercy. Purge out of your souls this disease, this devil of Christianity. Progress depends on the strong man and the strong people. Therefore, be strong. Assert yourself. Be a superman.”

Hitler read that. Hitler said, “That’s what I’m going to have: a super race.” And the result was the gas ovens, the holocaust, the war that some of us went through. I did when I was a little boy. That’s one way to deal with the wild horse: Just let him run. Assert yourself. Do your thing. And the devil will take the hindmost.

Now there’s just the opposite of that—and that’s not self-release, but it’s self-restraint. While there are some who want to let the horse just run wild, then there are others who want to cripple the horse. They want to hobble the horse so he can’t run at all. That’s Buddhism.

Have you ever seen a fat Buddha sitting there with that placid look upon his face? That’s Buddha. That’s the philosophy. And the philosophy is simply this. The thing that causes you your difficulty is that you have certain desires, and then you get frustrated because these desires are not met. So what you need to do is just simply negate these desires. What you need to do is somehow dampen that spirit until you come to the place where you don’t desire anything, so therefore you’re never disappointed. So therefore, in their mind, you have come to a state called nirvana. Friend, that’s not Bible Christianity. That’s no more Bible Christianity than letting the horse run wild. You don’t let the horse run wild, and you don’t cripple the horse.

Some people think, “Oh, you know, if I could, I would be holy. If I would just go to a monastery somewhere, and wear a wooly robe, and do a chant, then I’d be holy.” Well, friend, there’s no holiness in a hole. I want to tell you that. What is Jesus saying? Jesus is not saying, “Let the horse run wild.” And Jesus is not saying, “Cripple the horse.” What Jesus is saying is, “Blessed are the meek.”

Now, let me give you a verse for your margin. It’s Romans chapter 6 and verse 19. Listen to it: “For as ye have yielded your members…”—talking about your hands, your eyes, your feet, your tongue—“as ye have yielded your members servants to uncleanness and to iniquity unto iniquity;”—that is, “as you used to be yielded to Satan”; listen to it—“even so now yield your members servants to righteousness unto holiness.” (Romans 6:19) That’s it. You yield.

That’s what the word meek means: strength under control. The same members; the same eyes; the same ears; the same tongue: but now, rather than using my tongue to blaspheme, I use my tongue to praise. I still have ambition. Now my ambition is to serve the Lord Jesus Christ. I’m still a fighter. But now I’m fighting the devil. I’m fighting that crowd. It’s the same strength. God doesn’t hobble the horse; He Energizes it. But He puts the bit on. He puts the bridle on. He put’s the saddle on. He says, “Blessed are those who have yielded.” Have you ever yielded? That’s the one thing we don’t want to do, and that’s the one thing that we need to do more than anything else.

I may have told you about an experience that I had. Driving down the road, I saw a drunk staggering along in disgrace. By the way, a drunk is not funny, not to be laughed at; he’s to be wept over. I looked at him. I thought I recognized him. I did. I stopped the car. I said, “Son, get in.” He got in. I said, “Can I take you home?” He said, “Yes, Pastor.” I drove up to the house with the drunken boy, brought him in the house. His dad and his mother were there, and they were embarrassed the pastor would bring their drunken son home. They took him in and got him to bed. I started to leave. The dad stopped me. He said, “Pastor, can I talk to you?” I said, “Yes.” He said, “Pastor, I’m embarrassed that you brought my son home drunk. But he’s not the only drunk in the family.” He said, “I’m a drunk, too.” And he said, “I don’t know what to say to this boy. I would be such a hypocrite to tell him not to drink, because I’m a drunkard.” I said, “Why don’t you quit drinking?” He said, “Pastor, you probably won’t believe what I’m about to tell you, but I really hate liquor.” And he used a curse word. He said, “I hate the blank stuff, but I can’t stop.” He said, “I just don’t have what it takes. I can’t stop.”

My heart broke for him. I said, “Fred, have you ever driven a team of horses?” He was an old fellow. He said, “I sure have.” I said, “Fred, if you were driving a team of horses, wild horses, and they were getting away from you, and you were afraid for your life, and you couldn’t make them stop, and you couldn’t rein them in, and sitting next to you there in the wagon was someone that you knew could control them, what would you do?” “Well,” he said, “Pastor, that’s easy. I’d just turn the reins over to him.” And I said, “Fred, that’s the only thing I know for you to do: just simply say, ‘Lord Jesus, I can’t,’ and quit trying, and start trusting, and just simply turn the reins over to Him, because, my dear friend, those horses are wild horses, and there is only One who can contain them.”

He does not want to let them run wild. He does not want to cripple them. But what it is, is strength under control. That’s the meaning of it. That’s the meaning of meekness.

II. The Development of Meekness

Now I want you to look with me not only about the definition of meekness, but how do you develop meekness? You know, Jesus said, “Blessed are the meek.” Well, where do you get it? Now, remember there’s a sequence. First of all, you see yourself as poor in spirit—absolutely bankrupt. Secondly, you are brokenhearted over it. Now, dear friend, if you’ve never been broken, you’re never going to be meek. A meek horse is a horse that has been broken. We sit in our churches heady, high-minded, unbent, unbroken, as I said last Sunday, somehow getting the idea that we’ve done God a wild favor because we’ve come here. But we walk out never ever seeing our bankrupt condition, never ever mourning over our sin, and therefore we never ever yield our lives to Jesus Christ. But if you’re ready to yield your life to Jesus Christ this morning, let me give you three steps now to develop this meekness.

A. You Must Be Submitted to the Son of God

First of all, my dear friend, you must be submitted to the Son of God. Put these verses in your margin—Matthew chapter 11, verses 28 through 30. Listen to them. Jesus Christ is saying to you, “Today, come unto me.” Are you listening? Jesus Christ—not Adrian Rogers, Jesus Christ—is saying to you today, “Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.” Now, listen to it. “Take my yoke upon you...”—now, what is that? An ox that has the yoke is meek—“Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek...”—do you see it? Do you see it?—“I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light.” (Matthew 11:28–30)

Here’s the picture of two oxen, and they are pulling together. The yoke is on one, and the yoke is on the other, and these two oxen side by side are pulling. Jesus Christ is saying, “I want you to take my yoke upon you.” It is no longer only you, but it is you and Jesus. Whenever the yoke is on two oxen, one ox is the lead ox. And in this case, it’s Jesus. Jesus says, “Therefore, you follow me. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for my yoke is easy.”

Now when He says, “My yoke is easy,” it means it fits right. Christianity is not something that you have to do; it’s something you get to do. I mean, God loves you so incredibly. He says, “My yoke is easy.” I hear people say, “Oh, it’s hard to be a Christian! It’s hard to be a Christian!” My friend, that’s a lie. The Bible says, “The way of the transgressor is hard.” (Proverbs 13:15) Jesus said, “My yoke is easy.” That doesn’t mean you won’t pull. It doesn’t meant there’s no work to do. There’s plenty of work to do. Don’t say, “My yoke is lazy.” “Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me.”

My dear friend, first of all, if you would be meek, there’s a decision that you have to make. Jesus Christ will not force Himself upon any man, woman, boy, or girl in this room today. I’m going to give an invitation when I close this message for you to come forward and give your heart to Jesus Christ. And very frankly, it will be up to you whether you come or not. God will not force you to take this yoke. You can say no, if you wish. There are not enough angels in heaven or out of heaven to force you to come. But there are not enough demons in hell or out of hell to keep you from coming. There’s not a preacher in this world that can preach you down this aisle. And if he could, it wouldn’t do you any good. Anything I can talk you into, somebody else can talk you out of. But you’re going to have to make a decision, my dear friend, to take the yoke of Jesus Christ. You’re going to have to take it. Jesus said, “Take my yoke upon you.”

Now you can refuse, if you wish—and that’s your privilege. And I can tear my heart out and beg you to come to Jesus Christ. But you’re going to have to take His yoke. You’re going to have to learn of Him. There comes a time when you make a decision. And Jesus Christ says, “Come unto me.” He doesn’t say, “Come to a denomination.” He’s not talking about churchianity. He’s not talking about a creed. He’s saying, “Come unto me. You’ll find rest unto your souls.” And don’t you let that dirty devil get you to thinking negatively about the Lord Jesus Christ. Jesus is the way to blessedness, and meekness is the way to inherit the earth.

B. You Must Be Responsive to the Word of God

Not only, my dear friend, must you be submitted to the Son of God; I want to tell you something else: If you would be meek today, you must be responsive to the Word of God. Turn with me to James chapter 1 here for a moment. And let’s just turn to it, because I think we ought to have it in our hand. James chapter 1, and I want you to see what out Lord says here in verse 21: “Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive…”—now, watch it; look at it, James 1:21—“and receive…”—are you listening?—“receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls.” (James 1:21) The word soul is psuche. We could say, “able to save your psyche." “Receive with meekness.” Do you want to be meek? Friend, do you know what meekness is? It is submission to a higher power. And not only must you receive the Son of God; you must respond to the Word of God. “Receive with meekness”: that is, let the Word of God be your control; let the Word of God be your bridle and your bit. “Receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls.”

And look at the word receive. Actually, there are two Greek words that are translated “receive.” And obviously, they are both not used here. The first is Greek word lambano, which is sort of a self-prompted taking. It’s sort of grasping, reaching out, snatching. Frankly, there are some people who think they can learn the Bible that way. They say, “Well, I’m going to study the Bible.” And so what they do, they get a readable Bible, and what they do, they get a dictionary, a Bible dictionary, and they get a concordance. Maybe they get some commentaries. They get a yellow legal pad. They get a pen. They sit down at their desk and they say, “I am going to learn the Bible.” I feel sorry for you. You’re not going to learn the Bible. You might learn some facts about the Bible, but you’re not going to learn God’s Word until you receive it with meekness, ready to be taught. You might know the names of all the kings of Israel. You might know Bible chronology. You might know it all. But, dear friend, you have not received the Word. What you have done is simply lambano. You have gone into the Word of God to try to snatch out some truth. Maybe for your pride; maybe you’ll know more than somebody else; maybe you’ll show yourself as some teacher; but, my dear friend, you will not know the Word of God, because your spirit has never been broken.

There’s another word for receive, and it’s the word dechomai. That’s the word that’s used here. And do you know what that means? It means “to welcome with humility”—“to welcome”; not “to take,” but “to welcome.” Have you ever welcomed the Word? Have you ever sat down to study the Bible absolutely prepared to do everything it says? Not just parading the Word of God past the judgment bar of your mind to make up your mind whether you think this is right, or you think that’s wrong; or whether you think this interesting, or that is interesting. The Bible is not meant to be interesting; it’s meant to be disturbing.

I went to China to preach in China and preached in Taiwan, and Taipei, in a citywide crusade there. And I had a wonderful time. Brother Bob, you were with us. And we learned one thing. We went to a Chinese house. The Chinese are the most hospitable people I’ve ever known. They will not allow you to come into their house without serving you something. And you should never come into the Chinese house without receiving something from their hand. But when they brought a refreshment out, whether it were a cup of tea, or whatever it was, they said to us, you never reach out with one hand and take it. You take it with both hands and bow and at least take a sip. To reach out with one hand has the idea of grasping. To reach with both hands has the idea of receiving.
The hold, dear friend: If you let go of this world with both hands and reach out to Jesus Christ with both hands, and as you study the Word of God receive with meekness the engrafted word that is able to save your soul, deliver your psyche, you’ll learn, dear friend, that through the Word of God, God will put a bridle and a bit on you. And the horses won’t run wild. And they won’t be crippled. My dear friend, they will be controlled.

C. You Must Be Filled with the Spirit of God

The third thing: Not only receive Jesus, submit to Jesus the Son of God; not only bring your life to receive the Word of God; but, oh, dear friend, be filled with the Spirit of God. Read there in Galatians chapter 5, verses 21 and 22 and following. The Bible says, “The fruit of the Spirit is...”—what?—“meekness.” (Galatians 5:22–23) When you say, “Lord Jesus, I put your yoke upon me”; when you say to the Word of God, “I receive this word with meekness”; when you say to the Spirit of God, “Work in me,” the Holy Spirit of God, my dear friend, produces meekness. It’s the fruit of the Spirit. You don’t produce that fruit; you bear that fruit. He produces that fruit in you. You walk in the Spirit. There will be that meekness in your heart and in your life. “Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.”

III. The Dynamic of Meekness

I’ve talked to you about the definition of it. I’ve talked to you about the development of it. Let me talk to you for just a moment about the dynamic of it, and we’ll be finished. “Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.”

Have you ever just sort of daydreamed about having an inheritance? I heard of a man sitting on a curb crying. Somebody said, “Why are you crying?” He said, “Well, I just read in the newspaper where Rockefeller, the richest man in the world, died.” He said, “Why are you crying? You’re not a relative of his.” He said, “That’s why I’m crying.”

Oh, all of us, you know, we just kind of dream about having an inheritance. “Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.” That’s the dynamic of it. Now, what does that mean? What does it mean?

Well, may I say, friend, you’ll never have your inheritance, you’ll never have your full inheritance, without meekness. Now a man who cannot control himself, or be controlled by the Spirit of God, is never satisfied. Here are some wonderful verses. What a blessing these were to me this week as I looked at them! And we’re dealing now with what it means. What does He mean when He says we’re going to inherit the earth? Well, it speaks of now, and it speaks of hereafter; in the sweet bye-and-bye, and in the nasty now-and-now, you can inherit the earth.

First of all, how do we inherit the earth right now? First Corinthians 3—you may turn to it—verses 21 and following. First Corinthians chapter 3—I want you to listen to it: “Let no man glory in men...”—oh, we look at all of those athletes; and what was the name of that boy who signed up the other day for what? Forty million dollars. “Well,” you say, “I wish that I were he.” Well—“Therefore let no man glory in men. For all things are your’s...”—that’s more than forty million. That’s more than forty million. I mean all, that’s pretty big, isn’t it? All—a-double-l—all things are yours. You know, do you believe that? I hope you do. It’s in the Word of God. You say, “Well, I believe in my head, but it never got to my heart—“all things are your’s; whether Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come; all are your’s; and ye are Christ’s; and Christ’s is God’s.” (1 Corinthians 3:21–23)

Now, just keep that in mind, and turn to 2 Corinthians chapter 6 and verse 10. We’re talking now about inheriting the earth. He says here, “All things are your’s.” Now, look, if you will, in 2 Corinthians chapter 6 and verse 10: “As sorrowful, yet alway rejoicing; as poor...”—well, that doesn’t sound like you’ve inherited the earth, does it?—“as poor, yet making many rich;”—and now, here’s the key thing—“as having nothing, and yet possessing all things.” (2 Corinthians 6:10) Friend, I don’t care what you have. If you don’t have blessedness, you can’t enjoy it, because blessedness does not come in things. And I don’t care what you don’t have. If you have blessedness, you have everything. It’s so strange. What can the devil do to a person like this? He says here in these verses that “all things are your’s”—“as having nothing, and yet possessing all things.”

And the devil comes to you. And, you know, the devil will come as what? The devil will either come as a roaring lion to terrify you, (1 Peter 5:8) or he’ll come as an angel of light to entice you. (2 Corinthians 11:14) So, first of all, the devil comes as a roaring lion. And the devil says, “Arrrrrrrgh. If you don’t follow me, I’ll take everything from you.” You say, “Devil, you can’t take anything from me, because I don’t have anything.” That’s what it says here: “as having nothing.” “I don’t have anything, so how are you going to take something from me when I don’t have anything?”

“Well,” the devil says, “that doesn’t work. I’ll tell you what I’ll do. I’ll come to him not as a roaring lion; I’ll come to him as an angel of light.” “If you follow me,” he says, “I’ll give you this and this and this.” You say, “Devil, how are you going to give me anything? I already have everything.” What is he going to do? “As possessing nothing, yet having all things”: what can the devil do with a man like that? “All things are your’s.” “Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.”

But not only, dear friend, in this life; also in the world to come. Have you ever thought about that prayer that we’ve prayed: “Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth”? There’s coming a time when the kingdoms of this world will become the kingdoms of our Lord and His Christ. (Revelation 11:15)
Jesus shall reign where’er the sun
Does his successive journeys run;
His kingdom stretch from shore to shore,
Till moons shall wax and wane no more.
—ISAAC WATTS

And the branches shall bend down with fruit. The plains will wave with grain. The lamb and the lion will lie down together. (Isaiah 11:6) And the saints will rule and reign with Jesus Christ. (Revelation 20:6) He didn’t make this for the devil’s crown. He made it for His people. “Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.”

Conclusion

I don’t know what side you are on, dear friend, but I want to line up on this side. I want to see myself as bankrupt, broken, and destitute. I want to weep over it. And then I want to say, “Lord Jesus, as best I know how, I yield myself to you. I take your yoke. I believe your Word. I’m led of your Spirit. And I’ll inherit the earth.”
A Formula for a Blessed New Year

Introduction
Would you take God's Word and turn to the Gospel of Matthew chapter 5? I want to speak to you on “A Formula for a Blessed New Year.” Now I didn’t say, “a happy New Year”—though I hope you’ll have a happy New Year. But I can tell you, my friend, whether you have a happy New Year or not, you can have a blessed New Year—and there’s a difference. You know, happiness depends upon what happens. And if your hap is good, you’re happy. If your hap is bad, you’re unhappy. And so we don’t want your spirit and soul to depend upon happenstance. So I want to give you something that does not depend upon what happens to hold you through the New Year. And so, rather than saying, “Happy New Year” to you, I’m going to say, “A blessed New Year to you.”

Now I want to read here in Matthew chapter 5—I begin in verse 1: “And seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him: and he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying, Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted. Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled. Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy. Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God. Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God. Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say... all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.” (Matthew 5:1–12)

Now all of these are the Beatitudes, but I want to single out one of these, and it is found in verse 6: “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.” Now Jesus said, “If you’ll hear these words and live by them, you’ll be like a man that built his house upon a rock. And when the storms come, your house will stand. And,” He said, “when the rains descend, and when the floods rise, and when the winds blow, your house will stand.” (Matthew 7:24–25) When He talks about rain, He’s talking about pressure from above. When He speaks of floods, He’s talking about pressure from beneath. When He speaks of winds, He’s speaking of pressure on every side. And we live, as it were, in a pressure cooker. And 1986 looks like it’s going to be a real stormy one. And yet, in spite of all the turmoil—economic, military, terrorism, drought, famine, freeze, flood—no matter what, Jesus gives us a formula for a blessed life, no matter what happens.

Now in the Old Testament, we have the Ten Commandments. In the New Testament, we have the Beatitudes. And the basic difference is the Ten Commandments deal with outward action, but the Beatitudes deal with inward attitude. And that’s what makes these things so wonderful. Now the world thinks that happiness and blessedness depends on what we have. The world says, “Well, if you have ability, and you have money, and you have popularity, or you have handsomeness, or you have beauty, or you have talent, or you have power, then you’ll be happy.” Well, folks, you can find people who have all of these things who are perfectly miserable. That doesn’t bring happiness; that doesn’t bring blessedness. You see, in the Beatitudes the emphasis is not on the word have; it is on the word are: “Blessed are the peacemakers”; “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness.” And you see what Jesus is saying: “It is not what you have that makes you blessed; it is what you are that is the secret of blessedness and satisfaction.”

Now, look again in verse 6: “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.” And here’s my formula for you for a blessed New Year. And I’d like, if I could, to lay this burden on your heart, that you would say, “Pastor, I’m going to do what the Holy Spirit has said through you tonight. I’m going to make that my goal, my aim, this coming year.”

I. Desire Jesus Preeminently

Number one: Desire Jesus—desire Jesus. Now, when the Bible says, “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness,” it is really saying, “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after Jesus,” for the Bible says Christ “is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness.” (1 Corinthians 1:30) To seek righteousness, you must seek Jesus. To seek Jesus, you do seek righteousness. And so I want to say, this coming year, I want you to take all of your desires, and let your desires, as many as you may have, let them all be subjugated to one basic desire—and that is that you desire Jesus Christ preeminently.

Now man has natural hungers. He hungers for food, and friends, and fame, and fortune, and fashion, and fitness; and all of these things, in some degree, are legitimate. But, my dear friend, we are to hunger preeminently for Jesus Christ. He is heaven’s bread for earth’s hunger. Now the word blessed here literally means—it’s a Greek word, makarios—it literally means “to be in a state to be congratulated.” It’s very hard to translate. “Joyful,” I believe, is perhaps the closest thing we could come to translating the word blessedness. But notice what the Bible says. It does not say that we are to hunger for happiness. It doesn’t say that we are to hunger for joy. It doesn’t even say we’re to hunger for blessedness. Now, pay attention. It says we are to hunger for righteousness.

Now, so many people are hungering for happiness; but, you see, unhappiness is merely a symptom—it is not the sickness. The sickness is sin. And if you hunger for happiness, all you’re trying to do is deaden the pain of a sickness.

Let me illustrate what I’m talking about. Suppose you go to the doctor, and you’ve got a raging fever in your body, and the doctor examines you and gives you a sedative to kill the pain and a medicine to lower the fever, but he never deals with the infection. That doctor, in my estimation, if he doesn’t do something else for you, has not really helped you. Indeed, he may have hurt you by deadening the pain and doing nothing else. Now, when a person seeks happiness rather than righteousness, what they’re doing is simply deadening the pain of a sinful life.

We are to seek righteousness. Now, you see, if I seek happiness, I’ll never find it, because only real happiness, real joy, real blessedness, real fulfillment are in Jesus. But if I seek Jesus, I will find happiness; I will find joy. Happiness, joy, blessedness—whatever we want to call it tonight—is not something that we find by seeking for it.

Have you ever gone to a resort and watched the people in these resorts? Go to Miami Beach or somewhere and watch the people walking down the street. You will never see a more miserable looking lot of people than you’ll find in these resorts. If you don’t believe it, try it sometimes. Just stop and watch them as they go by. They are absolutely miserable. You’ll find better looking faces on bottles of iodine. And they have come there, most of them, to seek joy, to seek happiness—and that’s why they don’t find it. Friend, happiness, joy, fulfillment is a by-product. If you seek it, you don’t find it.
But if you serve the Lord Jesus Christ, then the Bible says, “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness.” (Matthew 5:6) You are to desire the Lord Jesus Christ. There’s a hunger that you have, dear friend, that will never ever be satisfied apart from Jesus Christ. God just made you that way, and you’re not going to be satisfied apart from the Lord Jesus.

Suppose you invite me over to your home some time for dinner. And so, about dinnertime, I arrive at your house. And you take me into your library, and you show me all of your wonderful collection of books. And I can smell the aroma of the food in the kitchen. And I look at your books, and I’m very polite about your books. But remember, it’s dinnertime. And then, after that, you show me your art collection. And I look at your art, and you explain all of the intricacies of that art. And I’m very polite, and I say, “Yes, that’s beautiful art”—and let’s say that it is. And then, you show me your gun collection, and I say, “Yes, very nice guns.” And the aroma of that food is coming in. And let’s say I’m not hungry—let’s say I’m hungry. Now there’s a difference. And I mean, it’s time to eat, and you’re showing me all of these things. Now you may even show me some poetry. You may even show me your Sunday School outline, and you may even tell me some blessed and wonderful things. But, folks, I don’t care how beautiful the art is, how interesting the books are, how cleverly you have written the poetry—it makes no difference: Those things cannot satisfy the physical hunger. Now I’m a physical being, and I’ve got to have food. But, conversely, those physical things will never ever satisfy your deepest need, which is the Lord Jesus Christ.

I want you this coming year to desire Him, to say, “Oh, I desire—I hunger—after the Lord Jesus Christ.” So, I’m going to say, number one, desire Him preeminently.

II. Seek Jesus Purposefully

Number two: This coming year, I want you to seek Him purposefully—purposefully. Now it’s not just enough to desire Him. If you really desire Him, if you really hunger for Jesus, you’re going to seek the Lord Jesus Christ. Now, when Jesus said, “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness,” He was taking the two most basic things that we need—food and water—and He was saying, as we spend so much of our lives just to make certain that we have food and water, then we’re to do that: We’re to purposefully seek the Lord Jesus Christ.

According to some reading that I’ve done, a man can live about forty days without food. He can live about three days without water. He can live about eight minutes without air. But he cannot live thirty seconds, spiritually, without Jesus. He is to seek Jesus. If he desires Jesus, he is to seek Jesus.

Now, when a man knows that he’s in a starving condition, let me tell you what happens. His interests are greatly narrowed; he’s not interested in a lot of things that other people are interested in. He really doesn’t care whether the Giants won today or not. He’s starving. He really doesn’t care about the paintings in the Dixon Art Gallery. He really doesn’t care about some peace treaty between Israel and the Arab nations. If he’s starving, his interests are very narrow. Isn’t that true? There is one thing on his mind, and that is food. And he makes up his mind that he’s going after food, and he’s going to find it or he will die.

Now I wonder, have you ever really sought the Lord Jesus Christ with that kind of a purpose? If we desire Him enough, we will seek Him that way. You see, you have but one need—and that is Jesus.

Now you say, “Well, I already have Jesus. Why should I desire Him?” Well, let me explain that. Friend, the Apostle Paul, when he was an old man, said, “Oh, that I may know him!” (Philippians 3:10) Now you have Jesus, but you’ve just touched the hem of the garment of Jesus. I want to ask you a question: Did Columbus discover America? Well, he did. But yet, there are thousands of unnamed lakes in Canada that are still to be explored. What I’m trying to say is this: that you may have discovered Jesus, but the Apostle Paul at the end of his ministry knew there was so much more, and more and more, of the Lord Jesus: “Oh, that I may know him!”

Now I don’t want you to get me wrong. I am not talking about a second blessing. You never go beyond Jesus. You go into Jesus—into Jesus. Actually, the Scripture, when it says, “Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ,” (Acts 16:31) literally may be translated, “Believe into the Lord Jesus Christ.” By faith, you go deeper and deeper and deeper into the Lord Jesus Christ. Well, in a way, it is a second blessing. People ask me, “Pastor, have you ever received the second blessing?” And sometimes, if I want to be a little mean, I just say, “Yes,” you know. And the eyes all light up. They think, well, I’ve had some sort of a charismatic experience, you know. And I say, “Yes, I have the second blessing.” And they say, “Well, tell me about it.” And I say, “The second blessing is discovering what I got when I got the first blessing, brother: just discovering Jesus, more about Jesus.” Friend, you’ll never go beyond Jesus. And I want to tell you what the third blessing is. The third blessing is discovering you didn’t discover it all in the second blessing.

Friend, let me tell you something. In Jesus, you’re complete. I mean, “In him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily.” (Colossians 2:9) And we are to desire the Lord Jesus Christ. You’ll never go beyond Jesus. You’ll never need more than Jesus. But you need to go more into Jesus to know Him better. You are to seek Him as a hungry man would seek food.

You know, Jesus said, “I am the Alpha and the Omega”—“the Alpha and the Omega.” (Revelation 1:8; Revelation 1:11; Revelation 21:6; Revelation 22:13) You think about that. What he meant by that is, “I am the alphabet.” Alpha is the first letter in the Greek alphabet; omega is the last. If He were speaking to our congregation, He wouldn’t say, “I’m alpha and omega.” What would He say? “I am A and Z, and all the letters in between.”

You know, I’ve got hundreds of books in my library, but all of them have the same basic—what?—twenty-six letters in the alphabet. Is that right? Twenty-six letters. They’re all made of twenty-six letters. Isn’t that amazing? And all that knowledge is there. And you can put those twenty-six letters together in so many different ways, and I never need to go outside the alphabet to express those thoughts. And that’s the way it is with Jesus. Friend, you never need to go outside of Jesus, but there is so much in Jesus that is still yet to be discovered, yet to be appropriated.

I was reading about an old saint. She loved the Lord with all of her heart. Her favorite verse was, “I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day.” (2 Timothy 1:12) She quoted it every opportunity she got. But as she got old, she got senile, and her mind began to fail. And she couldn’t remember it as she used to, and it really bothered her. And she would quote, “I know whom I have believed,” and she couldn’t get all of it. “I am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have…” And she couldn’t remember it. And, finally, she wasn’t even able to say, “I know whom I have believed,” or “he is able to keep.” Finally, she just remembered one word of that verse; and as she died, she repeated it over and over again. Do you know what it was? “Him,” “Him,” “Him.” And, friend, I want to tell you, when she said that, she said it all. Jesus—just Him. She had the whole thing.

Listen, folks. May the desire of your heart be this Christmas and this New Year’s that you would desire Him preeminently; and because you desire Him preeminently, that you would seek Him purposefully—I mean, that you would make it your ambition to so hunger after Jesus, to so thirst after Jesus. You see, a hungry man is a single-minded man. He’s not interested in popularity, society, position, entertainment. He’s desperate. Have you ever sought the Lord Jesus desperately? You know, a hungry person is so humble. He really doesn’t care what others think.

I’ve been to New York City and seen people eating scraps off the table that other people left in restaurants. Have you ever seen that? I’ve been to California, Los Angeles, seen a young man with his head stuck down in the garbage can eating garbage. I’m going to tell you something. If I got hungry enough, I’d do the same thing—and so would you. Now I tell you what: I’d be embarrassed if you were to see me this evening with my head in a garbage can eating garbage. You’d say, “Hey, look at the pastor. He’s eating out of a garbage can.” And everybody would say, “Look, there’s the pastor eating out of a garbage can.” Maybe there’d be a crowd there watching me eat out of a garbage can. So I don’t think I’ll do that this evening. I’ll tell you one thing: If I get hungry enough, I’ll eat out of a garbage can—and so will you.

Now, you know, there are certain proud people. They come to church, and they’re not hungry; therefore, they’re not fed. I mean, they don’t really hunger and thirst. When Jesus was talking about hungering and thirsting, He was not talking about just having a hunger pain; He was talking about starving, thirsting, wanting, desiring—passionately desiring.

You can tell when a person is hungry or not. They sit down at the table, and they don’t want to eat because the china is chipped, the parsley is on the wrong side of the plate, conversation upsets them a little bit: They’re not hungry. A person comes to church, and he says, “Well, the preacher preached too loud,” or, “The service was a little long,” or, “Nobody shook my hand.” Hey, folks, listen. If you come to this church or any church looking for something to criticize, you can find it. But if you come here looking for Jesus, you can find Him, too. And a hungry person is a person who actively seeks food—humbly seeks food—with determination. He says, “I must have it. My poor soul, it must be fed.”

A hungry person doesn’t have a take-it-or-leave-it attitude toward food. Have you ever heard anybody say something like this: “Well, if God wants to bless me, that’s all right with me”? Oh, no. Listen, friend. He wants to bless you, and it’s not your job to persuade Him to bless you, but only to permit Him to do so when you have a hunger that He can satisfy. But you’re going to have to cultivate that hunger.

You know, if somebody were to just put a morsel of food on my tongue, and push it back in my mouth, and stroke my esophagus until I swallow, maybe I’ll eat. Now, that’s the way some of you are: you think, “Maybe if he can just come here and force-feed me a little bit, maybe the pastor will be blessed enough that he’ll be able to give me a little tidbit.”

But, folks, I want you this year to say, “I want Jesus. I am going to desire Him preeminently. Therefore I am going to seek Him purposefully with all of my heart. I am going to set aside a time, a quiet time, and I’m going to get into the Word of God. And I want Jesus Christ to be someone real to me. I want to know Him as the Apostle Paul wanted to know Him.

III. Enjoy Jesus Perpetually
Now, the third and final thing I want to suggest that you do this coming year: not only desire Jesus preeminently; not only seek Him purposefully; but I would like for you to enjoy Him this year. Just enjoy the Lord Jesus continually—enjoy Him perpetually. You know, Weymouth translates verse 6, “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled,” he translates it, “For they shall be completely satisfied.”

Now to be completely satisfied doesn’t mean that you’ll never want to eat again. That would be tragic. Joyce fixed us a wonderful Christmas dinner, and we had all the kids around the table. And I have to admit I overdid it. You know, one of the things I’m going to do New Year’s is go on a diet, too, by the way. But I overdid it. I ate, and, you know, I was like that little old boy that they asked him to have some more food, and he said, “No.” He said, “I’m about to explode now.” And they said, “Well, we made cherry pie.” He said, “Well, pass me a piece of pie and stand back!” I felt about that way. And you know, I thought, “Well, you know, I really don’t care if I ever eat again.” But about seven o’clock, I was back there in the refrigerator fooling around, looking for that turkey. Isn’t that right? It’s amazing. And I’m glad I was, because I’d hate to think that I’d just eat one time and that one feeding would satisfy me. Now it does satisfy me, but I don’t want it to so satisfy me, that I don’t ever want to go eat again.

And that’s the wonderful thing about Jesus. You see, look. We are perpetually hungry, that we might be perpetually satisfied, and yet that we might get hungry again. He never allows us just to eat once and that satisfies us completely, because there’s just the joy of feasting on the Lord Jesus. He’s made us continually dependent upon Him, that there might be the joy of continual feasting, and then continual satisfaction. And so I want you to enjoy the Lord Jesus.

Let me tell you something. It is the devil’s lie that holy living and misery go together. What Jesus is saying is you can be completely satisfied. Now the devil wants to get you to thinking negatively about God. The Pharisees were known for what they were against rather than what they were for. But holiness and righteousness do not mean that we lose the good things of life; it means for the first time we can really enjoy them.

Conclusion

Here’s my wish for you—it’s wrapped up in these verses—this coming year. First Timothy 6:17: “Trust…in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy.” (1 Timothy 6:17) Or, again, Psalm 34:8: “O taste and see that the LORD is good: blessed is the man that trusteth in him.” (Psalm 34:8) Or, Psalm 107:9: “He satisfieth the longing soul, and filleth the hungry soul with goodness.” (Psalm 107:9) My desire for you this coming year, and the goal of my life this coming year, is this: I am going to desire Jesus preeminently; I am going to see Jesus purposefully, and I am going to enjoy Jesus perpetually. And I hope that you’ll do the same thing. “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.”

Introduction
Now, I want you to take your Bibles this morning and turn to Matthew chapter five and let's look at one verse, verse six. As we told you already we're speaking on this subject, THE SECRET OF SATISFACTION. Matthew chapter 5 and verse 6. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled. Now, Ramoth translates this, for they shall be completely satisfied. How many really satisfied people do you know? Not very many people know, man is always seeking and never finding. It reminds me of a little boy in the backyard chasing a yellow butterfly. He wants to get his hands on it so bad, he just thinks man, if, if I could just get that thing it'd be wonderful and so he spends half an after noon chasing it and finally he catches it. And when opens his hand all there is a yellow smear and that's the way life is in a sense. We're chasing that butterfly of happiness and satisfaction and when we get to where we think we ought to be it's not what we think it ought to be and when we get what we want we don't want what we get and we're always wanting something more. Well, I want to talk to you today about how to be satisfied, really satisfied and it's, well, I can just go so far as to say satisfaction guaranteed, that's just how strong it is. Friends all around me are trying to find what the heart yearns for by sin undermine, I have the secret, I know where it is found, only true pleasures in Jesus abound. Amen. That is true.

Now, we're dealing with the beatitudes and as someone has wisely Said these beatitudes are attitudes that ought to be. Now, in the Old Testament we have the Ten Commandments, The Ten Commandments deal with outward action, but the beatitudes deal with inward attitudes. Now, man in his search for satisfaction he puts a premium upon having things. You know, we say if a man has health, if he has wealth, if he has prestige, if he has power, if he has handsomeness, if he has friends, if he has influence, if he has all of these things, he'll be happy. A lot of people have these things and more and they're perfectly miserable. These things in and of themselves can not and do not bring happiness, do not bring satisfaction and yet our scripture today talks about the way that a person can be completely, completely satisfied because in the Bible the emphasis is not on what a man has but on what a man is. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled. Now, if in your heart today there is a hunger, dissatisfaction and you're looking for fulfillment and you don't have it then don't tune me out and don't let the devil distract you. I'm going to be talking to you today about the secret of satisfaction.

I. The Food of a Spiritual Man
The very first thing I want you to notice as we look at our verse is the food of a spiritual man. Now, notice what the text says. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after what? Righteousness, righteousness. Those who are hungry and those who are thirsty fought righteousness. Now, what is righteousness? Let me rephrase that question and ask you this way. Who is righteousness? Not what is righteousness but who is righteousness because righteousness is not primarily a thing, righteousness is primarily a person and his name is Jesus. First Corinthians chapter one and verse thirty says that Christ is made unto us righteousness. And so, Jesus, He the Lord Jesus Christ is righteousness so let's just Translate this verse this way. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after Jesus, for they shall be completely satisfied and I don't believe I have done any violence to the meaning of that verse. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after Jesus, for they shall be completely satisfied. Jesus is Heaven's bread for earth's hunger. Now, let's look at the word blessed there for a moment also in verse six. That word, it's kind of hard to get it translated, it's translated so many different ways because we don't seem to have one English word that really encapsulates the meaning of that word blessed. Some translate that word happy, happy. Well, that's pretty good but that's only part of it. Others translate that word joyful. Maybe that's better. Others translates that word to be envied, or they, blessed means to be envied or to be congratulated or they, we'll just pull all those words together and we'll just roughly use the word happy. Happy are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled.

Now, I want you to see something here. He doesn't say happy are they which do hunger and thirst after happiness, it's very important that you understand this. I want to say something, I want you to listen to me. Anybody who sets out to be happy in life never is. Did you hear that? Anybody who sets out to be satisfied in life never finds it. Anybody who searches for satisfaction never finds it, anybody who hopes for happiness in and of itself, he never finds it and I'll tell you why. Happiness is not something you find by looking for it, happiness is a by-product of righteousness. Now, we're not, he doesn't say blessed are they which do hunger and thirst for blessedness. He doesn't say happy are they which do hunger and thirst for happiness. He doesn't say satisfied are they which do hunger and thirst for satisfaction, be says blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness and righteousness is the Lord Jesus. Now, I'll tell you why you could never be satisfied by searching for satisfaction and why you can never be happy by looking for happiness because dissatisfaction and unhappiness is not a sickness, it is a symptom. The sickness is unrighteousness. On happiness is the symptom of the sickness and dissatisfaction is the symptom of the sickness which is unrighteousness. That's the reason when in the Garden of Eden after man sinned God said something very unusual. God said to Adam and Eve, cursed is the ground for thy sake, not for your punishment but because I love you thorns and thistles would have bring forth unto thee and you earn your living by the sweat of your brow and we're going to have floods and tornados and we're going to have hurricanes and we're going to have drought and we're going to have Bo weevils and we're going to have weeds and we're going to have pain and pain and moan and groan and woe and misery, why? Because God loves us. You say wait a minute, it doesn't make sense. Oh yes it does make sense. You see, when man sinned a terrible sickness entered into mankind and unhappiness is the symptom of that sickness. The worse thing that could have happened to mankind was for him to continue to live in a sinful state in the Garden of Eden and never know any pain and never know any problems. If he did he wouldn't know he was sick, he wouldn't know what was wrong with him. Did you ever get the idea it'd be wonderful if you could just live without pain? That wouldn't be wonderful at all, it'd be terrible. I mean, for example, you might be sitting on a tack right now and not know it see, if you could live without pain. It wouldn't be all that great, you'd go home this afternoon for lunch and be slicing the roast and leave your finger in the plate and never know it. It'd be awful. You see, pain is God's messenger, God's gift so that when we're sick or when we hurt ourselves pain is there to let us know that something is wrong in the physical realm.

Now, dissatisfaction aid unhappiness is the pain in the spiritual realm to let us know that man is sick, he has a sickness and it is unrighteousness and therefore man must not treat the symptom which is unhappiness, he must treat the sickness which is unrighteousness. Do you understand what I am saying? I mean, suppose you got sick and, and you had a terrible headache and you had a fever and all of your joints were hurting and so forth and you go to the doctor and the doctor and you tell the doctor, I feel miserable. You tell him how you feel and he says well, I can fix that, don't worry about that, and he goes and gets a hypodermic needle and goes? And gives you a high powered drug and you say hey, boy, thank you doc, I can feel that already and it just deadens the pain and gives you a little euphoria and you say boy, what a great doctor and you just go floating out the office you know. Would you say that's a great doctor? I wouldn't say that's a great doctor.

Now, in all honesty if I'm hurting and I go to a doctor I'd like for. Him to do something about it if he can. I think all of us, but if that's all he does, I mean, if that's all he does, if all he does is reduce the fever and kill the pain and not deal with the infection in my estimation he's not a good doctor at all. Because after a while when his narcotic has worn off the pain will come back and the condition will be worse and it'll take more the next time to deaden the pain and before long it won't be the pain that's dead, you know who it will be, don't you? Me, because you see, I have a sickness and if he's just merely treating the symptom and not the disease. Of that and you say now come on over here pastor, come into the living room, I want to show you this artwork and you show me the paintings that you have and maybe they're beautiful paintings, maybe even religious paintings, but that time I'm smelling that bread baking and I try to pay attention to the paintings and then you say now come on in here and sit down, I want you to listen to my stereo and he puts on the Bellevue Sanctuary Choir led by Tommy Lane and he says just listen to that music, that stereophonic sound and my stomach is growling and I smell that steak in there just broiling and I try to pay attention and act like I enjoy it and then he says pastor, you know, we just wanted to have you in our home for a long time, et's just have a good old fashioned prayer meeting and we begin to pray and pray and pray and I'm getting hungrier and hungrier and hungrier all the time.

Now, friend, I don't care how beautiful the paintings are, how sweet the music is, how marvelous the prayer is, that's not going to keep me from being hungry, my body has physical need. Let's suppose I'm worse than hungry, suppose I'm hungry, have you ever been hungry? I mean, just really hungry. And here, this guy is, is wasting our time.
I mean, let's get in there and eat, then we'll talk about some of these other things. Oh, you say, that's not very spiritual. It is spiritual. Listen, after Jesus had fasted for forty days and had been in direct contact with Almighty God, fellowshipping with the father, the Bible says he was still hungry. Now, all of that spiritual food could not satisfy his physical body and conversely, conversely friend, you also are a spiritual person and all of that all physical food is not going to meet the need of your spirit as spiritual food cannot meet the need of your body. Now, that which is born of the flesh is flesh and that which is born of the spirit is spirit and there's a part of you, there's a hunger of the spiritual man. The food of the spiritual is Jesus and righteousness so just remember that, that you have a deep satisfaction as the spiritual part of your nature and until you feed on the food that God has given to meet that spiritual need you will always, always, always in the deepest part of your being have a dissatisfaction and a deep unhappiness because you have a sickness called sin.

II. The Focus of a Starving Man

Now, second thing I want you to notice, if that is true, that the food of the spiritual man is Jesus, I want you to notice secondly the focus of a starving man, the focus of a starving man. You see, when Jesus was talking about hungering and thirsting he wasn't talking about mere appetite, he was talking about a person who needed food. You see, in the Middle East in that day as it is in Memphis in this day, food is not a nicety, it is a necessity, it not a luxury, it is something that we must have or we perish. God has so made us in the physical realm that we cannot exist long without food. I did some research and found out that a man can live about forty days without food. He can exist about three days without water. He can exist about eight minutes without air, but in the spiritual realm he cannot exist one second without Jesus Christ, not one second. You see, in Christ is life and without Christ, if you're feeding on Christ you have no life. You see, I'm talking now not about luxuries, I'm talking about necessities. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness.

You see, without righteousness there's the judgment of God, the wrath of God that is upon you. You must say, I must have this righteousness. You know what he said? I mean, when he was an older man, oh, that I may know him and I say wait a minute Paul, don't you know him, I mean, you're the chief apostle, you wrote most of the new testament and you're saying that I might know him. Why, I thought you already said I know. Whom I have believe and now you're saying oh, that I may know him. Yes, Paul knew him but there's so much more to know about the Lord Jesus. I mean, any of us, we just simply skimmed the surface and there's more and more and more as Christians that we need to learn about the Lord Jesus Christ. Have you ever had anybody ask you have you received the second blessing? I have.

You know, there are a certain kind of people who look down on others as if they're kind of second rate Christians. You know, like there's a, there's a first blessing, you get Jesus and then after you get Jesus then you go on and you get something else and if you only got Jesus well, and you haven't gone on and gotten something else why you to be, you're to be pitied, that you're sort of a going to Heaven second class. Well, I want to tell you something friend, I want to tell you what the second blessing is. Do you want to know what the second blessing is? The real second blessing is discovering what you got in the first blessing, that's all, just discovering what you got when you got Jesus. That's the second blessing. Do you want me to tell you what the third blessing is? That's discovering you didn't discover it all in the second blessing. And the fourth blessing is discovering you didn't discover it all in the third blessing and you go on and on and on like the apostle Paul to the end of your life saying oh, that I may know him, him, the focus of a starving man is food and the food of a spiritual man is Jesus, Jesus, Jesus, blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness. You see, Jesus is the sum, the substance. You don't go beyond Jesus, you don't go to this verse of scripture and saw all the books in my library and you know it's an amazing thing, no matter how many wonderful, beautiful thoughts or, or deep, convoluted theological tongues are there in that library, it makes no difference, they're all written with just twenty six letter. I mean, you can take and put them together all kinds of ways, but everything you need to say, you can just take those letters and put them together. Isn't that amazing? Jesus said I'm the alphabet. No matter what you need to say, I'm it.

Friend, let me tell you something, you listen to me and listen well, and get it down bit and plain and you Christians listen to me. Not only is Jesus necessary, Jesus is enough. Now, never forget that. Jesus is enough. The, the, the focus of a starving man is food and the food of a spiritual man is Jesus, blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness, Christ, our righteousness, you're to be focusing on the Lord Jesus Christ. So, you are to seek Christ, listen to me now, exclusively and not only are you to seek him exclusively, you're to seek him earnestly, earnestly. You see, a man who is really starving is dead serious about this matter of getting food. As I've said before he's interested in one thing, he's a very single minded man. He's not interested in popularity or society or position or entertainment, I mean, he's serious about it.

I heard of a, a little boy who asked his mother in the middle of the night, mama, would you get me a glass of water and she got him a glass of water and about twenty minutes he called her again and said mama, I need another glass of water. She got him another small glass of water. Then about ten minutes later he said mama, I'd like some water. She didn't think he could possibly be thirsty. She said if Now, when you understand that Christ is our righteousness what does the focus of your life come to then? Him, the Lord Jesus. You begin to seek Jesus. The focus of a starving man spiritually is Jesus, Jesus, Jesus and I want to tell you how you'll seek him. You'll seek him like a hungry man seeks food. How should you seek him? Number one, you seek him exclusively, exclusively. Now, what's a hungry man interested in? What's a starving man interested in? Football scores, flower arrangement of the Ladies pink lemonade society, what's he interested in? Fame, fashion, what is he interested in? I'll tell you what he's interested in. A starving man, you know what it is, food, food. You see, he becomes a fan, a fanatic, he's interested in one thing and one thing alone. He has narrowed all of his interest.

Now, let me tell you something friend. In the spiritual realm you have but one need and I can give you the name of that need because it's also the name of a person, J E S U S, Jesus said blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness. Christ is made to us righteousness. Now, if you are unsaved person, God help you to see that your great need today is Jesus, not Bellevue Baptist Church, not some doctrine, not some other experience, the need of your life is Jesus, the hunger of your life is Jesus and you'll never have that need met until you feast on the lord Jesus. And if you're a Christian, if you're saved you still must continue to hunger after Jesus. You say, now, wait a minute, if I already feed on him, why should I hunger after him? Well, nobody can ever eat enough at one time that they don't need to eat again and I'm going to tell you about that later on some more, but you know the apostle Paul came to the end of his life, to the end of his ministry and do you know what he said? I mean, when he was an older man, oh, that I may know him and I say wait a minute Paul, don't you know him, I mean, you're the chief apostle, you wrote most of the new testament and you're saying that I might know him. Why, I thought you already said I know: whom I have believe and now you're saying oh, that I may know him. Yes, Paul knew him but there's so much more to know about the Lord Jesus. I mean, any of us, we just simply skimmed the surface and there's more and more and more as Christians that we need to learn about the Lord Jesus Christ.

Have you ever had anybody ask you have you received the second blessing? I have. You know, there are a certain kind of people who look down on others as if they're kind of second rate Christians. You know, like there's a first blessing, you get Jesus and then after you get Jesus then you go on and you get something else and if you only got Jesus well, and you haven't gone on and gotten something else why you to be, you're to be pitied, that you're sort of a going to Heaven second class. Well, I want to tell you something friend, I want to tell you what the second blessing is. Do you want to know what the second blessing is? The real second blessing is discovering what you got in the first blessing, that's all, just discovering what you got when you got Jesus. That's the second blessing.

Do you want me to tell you what the third blessing is? That's discovering you didn't discover it all in the second blessing. And the fourth blessing is discovering you didn't discover it all in the third blessing and you go on and on and on like the apostle Paul to the end of your life saying oh, that I may know him, him, the focus of a starving man is food and the food of a spiritual man is Jesus, Jesus, Jesus, blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness. You see, Jesus is the sum, the substance. You don't go beyond Jesus, you don't go around Jesus, you just keep going deeper and deeper into Jesus. Actually, the Greek verb, believe on. The Lord Jesus Christ can be translated believe into the Lord Jesus Christ. We're just going deeper and deeper into Jesus. I heard of a little lady who had memorized so many verses of scripture she loved the Bible and in times of meditation she'd quote it back to the Lord as her praise to the Lord and that's a wonderful way to praise the Lord but as oldness and senility came she lost her memory and about the only verse that she really knew good was that one I know whom I have believed and am persuaded that he's able to keep that which I've committed unto him against that day and she would quote it over and over, but then her memory continued to fail and she could just remember a phrase out of it, committed unto him, committed unto him, committed unto him and it brought her such comfort and finally she came to the place where all she could say in that verse was one word, him, him, him, but in that one verse she had all of the Bible, all of the Bible in that one verse, him, the Lord Jesus. Don't be hungering after anything else, don't be looking for something else, you're never going to go beyond the Lord Jesus, you're never going to find anything sweeter than the Lord Jesus, more wonderful than the Lord Jesus, he in the Bible called the alpha and the omega.

Do you know what that means? You seminary students will soon find out, just rolling over here. The alpha is the first letter in the Greek alphabet, the omega is the last letter. If Jesus had been speaking the modern day Americans, he would have said I am the A and the Z, that is, I am the alphabet, all the letters in between. I was looking in my library last night sitting there thinking about this verse of scripture and saw all the books in my library and you know it's an amazing thing, no matter how many wonderful, beautiful thoughts or, or deep, convoluted theological tongues are there in that library, it makes no difference, they're all written with just twenty six letter. I mean, you can take and put them together all kinds of ways, but everything you need to say, you can just take those letters and put them together. Isn't that amazing? Jesus said I'm the alphabet. No matter what you need to say, I'm it. Friend, let me tell you something, you listen to me and listen well, and get it down bit and plain and you Christians listen to me. Not only is Jesus necessary, Jesus is enough. Now, never forget that. Jesus is enough. The focus of a starving man is food and the food of a spiritual man is Jesus, blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness, Christ, our righteousness, you're to be focusing on the Lord Jesus Christ. So, you are to seek Christ, listen to me now, exclusively and not only are you to seek him exclusively, you're to seek him earnestly, earnestly. You see, a man who is really starving is dead serious about this matter of getting food. As I've said before he's interested in one thing, he's a very single minded man. He's not interested in popularity or society or position or entertainment, I mean, he's, he's serious about it. I heard of a little boy who asked his mother in the middle of the night, mama, would you get me a glass of water and she got him a glass of water and about twenty minutes he called her again and said mama, I need another glass of water.
She got him another small glass of water. Then about ten minutes later he said mama, I'd like some water. She didn't think he could possibly be thirsty. She said if you ask me for water one more time I'm going to get up and spake you. Five more minutes he said mama, when you get up to spank me would you bring me a glass of water.

Now, blessed are they which do hunger and thirst. You see, when a person is thirsty, when a person is hungry, you pay any price, really, he'll pay any price. I was in Los Angeles, I saw a man, a good-looking young man with his head in the garbage can down there looking for crust of pizza out in front of a pizza parlor. He didn't care what the people thought. I was in the cafeteria in New York when the door opened and a man ran in off the street and sat down at the table where some people had just gotten up and began to stuff in his mouth as fast as he could the crumbs and the, and the refuse that was left on the table until the management ran him out and he ran out like a little animal out the door, like a little squirrel scurrying in and scurrying out. No pride, he didn't care what people thought.

Isn't pride an abominable thing? You know that pride will keep some of you this morning from coming down this isle and giving your heart to Jesus? You're not hungry enough. You're wondering what People think, hub? And pride, and, and lack of appetite will keep you from getting something out of a message. You come to church you know and if you come to church and you're not really hungry well, then what you do is you start looking around and to see if you can find something to criticize. Now, if you want something to criticize this morning there's a lot to criticize, you can start with Bob Sorrell and just, there's plenty to criticize, see. Isn't he humble? And, you can just start anywhere, you can start with the pastor, is what I started to say, and you can just criticize if you want to find. Somebody said it doesn't take much size to criticize. I heard about a pastor that said brother Jones, would you stand and lead us in a word of criticism, you know, it doesn't take much to criticize, you can find something to criticize, but on the other hand if you want God you can find god because he's here. Now, I mean, if a man is invited to a meal and he comes and sits down in front of that meal and he says well, I'm not going to eat. Well, why are you not going to eat? Because the china is chipped or because the fork is on the wrong side of the plate or because the parsley is not arranged just right. Well, he's not hungry. You see, a, a hungry man wants to be fed. That's the reason some folks don't like to go to church where you really preach the Bible. They want to go to one of those churches where you get a duet, a sermonette, a cigarette and the whole thing is over, you know and, and they do not want, they do not want the Word of God, they are, they're not hungry, they have no appetite for the things of God and if the service goes a little long, if pod is moving they can't understand why everybody else is so excited, they want to know why.
doesn't everybody else want to get out of this place like I do. When I was over in England I heard George Brower who was a great missionary speak and he said one day he was in a missions conference and God was tremendously blessing and he was preaching on missions and the holy spirit was obviously there but he said there was one man that just got so tired and he wanted to get out and George said he had preached a little longer than normal, that man borrowed a watch from the man next to him and held it up and went like this in the middle of the sermon. I ought not to give you any ideas, he held be filled and friend, I want to tell you that the, the food of the spiritual man is Jesus and the focus of a starving man is food. Would to God that we could see the hunger that we ought to have in our heart and in our lives.

III. The Fullness of a Satisfied Man
Now, the third thing I want you to see is the fullness, the fullness of a satisfied man, the fullness of a satisfied man. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled. Or again as Ramoth said they shall be completely satisfied. Now, that doesn't mean that you'll never want to eat again. In the physical realm sometimes you can be completely satisfied.

And let's take Thanksgiving Day for example. Now, you go and maybe if your wife is just half the cook that mine is you could go and sit down Thanksgiving dinner and you know, she just serves everything from alpha to omega and it's all there, from soup to nuts and you sit down about four inches from the table and you eat until you can touch it and you know you like that guy that said boy, I'm glad I ate when I did because I completely lost my appetite and you just, you know you feel like you never, ever want to eat again don't care if you ever eat again. I mean, this is it, this is the ultimate, the zenith and food doesn't interest me and you get up and you waddle off to the ballgame and sit down and watch the ballgame and fellowship with your family. I've done that and about seven o'clock I find myself back in the kitchen, opening the refrigerator, looking in. God built us that way. You know, we're, you just can eat enough at one time that just carries you on and that's the way it is with the Lord Jesus.

You see, look, why, God's not going to let you just feast on Jesus one time and that's all. There is a, there's a beginning feast where you come to him for salvation but then you continually feed on the Lord Jesus Christ. Why? Oh, thank God for appetites. You thank God for food, have you thanked God for appetites? Oh, thank, you see, if you don't have an appetite, one or two things wrong, either you're sick or dead, huh? Or just ate, see, you're sick or dead. I mean, listen folks, if you don't have an appetite for our Lord spiritually you're sick or spiritually you're dead or else you're just filled up with him. I mean, that's all there is to it, that's all there is to it. I'm talking to some sick saints today. I mean, you don't really have an appetite for our Lord but you're, you're saved, but you're just kind of sickly, you're kind of puny an the thought of too much food just kind of makes you a little, it just doesn't excite you. Thank God for a man that's got a spiritual appetite like a lumberjack. Boy, when a man says God, I want some more, I want to know some more about the Lord Jesus. You see, our Lord allows us to have a perpetual hunger that we might have a perpetual feast that we might have a perpetual satisfaction and that's the way we go on and on in the Christian life as we continue to feast upon the Lord Jesus. Now, this verse therefore doesn't mean that you won't get hungry again but it means that you can keep on being satisfied. Isn't that wonderful? Because he's always there, always there that you can feast upon the Lord Jesus Christ.

Now, listen, I'm talking to you about the fullness of the satisfied man. Now, go back to our scripture that says blessed is the man that blessed is the man that does hunger and thirst after righteousness, blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness. Now, notice what the word blessed remember what it means? Happy, joyful, to be congratulated, to be envied, you see, you get that, you get that happiness, you get that satisfaction. How do you get it? You get it be seeking righteousness. That's the fullness of the satisfied man. I forget about trying to be happy and I seek Jesus. I forget about trying to be satisfied and I seek Jesus and then all the sudden I say hey, I'm satisfied, hey, I'm happy and friend, you're looking at a man that's satisfied today. You're looking at a man that's filled with joy today and I don't take credit for that, it's Jesus in me that is giving me that joy and that satisfaction. I couldn't have found it had I been searching for it, but by finding him and knowing him and feeding on him, then there's the fullness of the satisfied man.

Do you know what the devil will tell you? The devil will tell you that holiness and happiness don't go together. The devil will tell you that you make up your mind, either you be righteous or you, you can have fun. Friend, the devil is a liar. You'll never know satisfaction until you find it in the right place. The devil will tell you that if you seek righteousness you won't, God will take the good things of life away from you. I want to tell you that you will never be able to enjoy the good things of life until you know Jesus, not as you ought to enjoy them. The Bible says in First Timothy chapter six, verse seventeen, he giveth us richly all things to enjoy. Listen to these verses. First Peter two, verse three, If so be that you've tasted that the Lord is gracious. I have and friend he's gracious. Psalm 34, verse 8. Oh taste and see that the Lord is good. I have a friend, he is good. Psalm 107, verse 9. For he satisfieth the longing soul and filleth the hungry soul with goodness and he's filled me because there is the fullness of a satisfied man. Oh, how sweet, how wonderful to know the Lord Jesus Christ.
Conclusion

Let's get it all together now, are you ready? Let's see if we can just bring it together. The food of a spiritual man is Jesus because he is our righteousness. The focus of a starving man is food. He narrows everything down to one thing. The fullness of a satisfied man is blessedness, blessed is the man that hungers and thirst for righteousness, he shall be filled—he shall, he shall, he shall. Do you know him? Are you saved? Are you satisfied? I mean, is the heart hunger of your life met? It will only be met in Jesus and if you try to find it any other way you can no more satisfy your spirit with things than I can satisfy my body when it's hungry with preaching. God made you a spiritual creatures as well as a physical creature. Would you say I'm hungry for the blessing? My poor soul, it must be fed. I want every head bowed.

Introduction

Take God’s Word, please, and turn to Matthew chapter 5. We’re continuing our series on the Beatitudes, and I remind you again that they’re Beatitudes and not platitudes, because the world would never agree with what these Beatitudes say. I’m talking about this world’s system.

Now, these are a series of statements that begin with the word blessed, and the word blessed means to be satisfied, it means to be secure, it means to be full of joy. And, the world thinks that the idea of blessedness is what? Well, the world says, “Blessed are the rich”; “Blessed are the powerful”; “Blessed are the handsome”; “Blessed are the influential”; “Blessed are the intelligent”; “Blessed are the wealthy”; “Blessed are those who are at ease”; “Blessed are those that have plenty”—that’s what the world says. But, that’s not what Jesus says. And then, even in the Ten Commandments, while the world thinks that a man is blessed by what he has, in the Ten Commandments the emphasis is primarily on what man does: “Do this”; “Do this”; “Do this”; “Don’t do this”; “Don’t do this”; and “Don’t do this.” But, you see that the Beatitudes go beyond even that. The Ten Commandments deal with outward action. The Beatitudes deal with the heart—“the attitudes that ought to be.”

Now, let’s read them, and then we’ll come to our Beatitude for today: “And seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him: And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying, Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven”—that's the first Beatitude. “Blessed are those who see themselves as spiritually, morally bankrupt.” They see their condition. And then, look in verse 4—“Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted”—for after they see their condition comes this contrition. They're broken about their sin, broken over their sin, and broken from their sin. There’s genuine repentance. And then—“Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth”—that is, they’re compliant. They are ready now and willing to do God’s will. To be meek means to be submitted, yielded to the will of God. Do you see how these Beatitudes follow the one after the other? And then, we come to the one that is for today: verse 6. Look at it—“Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.” (Matthew 5:1–6) Listen to it again: “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.” (Matthew 5:6) I want to talk to you today on “The Secret of Satisfaction”—that is, to have your deepest hunger met. “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.” (Matthew 5:6)

Do you know what Madison Avenue is in the business of doing? Madison Avenue is in the business of creating in you certain hungers. I mean, they will advertise things, and you will look at them, and you didn’t even know you wanted it until you see that ad. Have you ever—I have—watched something on television—maybe it will be a glass of iced tea—and I have to go into the kitchen and get one right after I watched that. I didn’t even know I was thirsty. And yet, I’m watching something there. And, they create in you… That’s their business—to create hungers in you. And, many times, because of Madison Avenue, we’re buying things we don’t need with money we don’t have to impress people we don’t like—because Madison Avenue has just created in us a certain kind of hunger.

Now, my dear friend, God, by the Holy Spirit, is wanting today in this message to create in you a hunger of something that you really do need, you desperately need—as a matter of fact, you cannot live without it—and that is to hunger and thirst after righteousness. And, if you do and if you will, there are no ifs, ands, or buts about it—I promise you satisfaction guaranteed. You will be satisfied. “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness”—this is what the scripture says—“for they shall be filled.” (Matthew 5:6)

Now, what does it mean to hunger after righteousness, anyway? What are we talking about when we say, “righteousness”? Well, you may think of righteousness as something you do. But righteousness, in the Bible, is wrapped up in a person, and His name is Jesus. The Bible tells us in 1 Corinthians chapter 1 and verse 30 that Jesus Christ is our righteousness. (1 Corinthians 1:30) He is made righteousness for us. He is our righteousness. And, when a man hungered and thirsted after righteousness, he is hungering and thirsting after Jesus Christ. Now, get that, or you won’t understand the rest of the message. Life’s hidden hunger is Jesus Christ Himself. You may not know it. You may not understand it. You may not agree with it. But, it is as true as I am standing here today. The deepest need of your life is a right relationship with God through Christ. He is the righteousness of God that you’re to hunger for.

Now, how are you to desire the Lord Jesus Christ? How are you to hunger after the Lord Jesus Christ? May I mention three ways today? And, I’m talking to you about “The Secret of Satisfaction.”

I. Desire Jesus Preeminently
Number one: You should desire Jesus preeminently. Do you have that in your mind? Please jot it down on a piece of paper. You should desire Jesus preeminently. That is, you should desire Him above all other things. Now, Jesus is talking here about hungering and thirsting. You’ve done that in the natural realm. You know what it is to be hungry naturally. Well, we’re going to talk to about being hungry supernaturally.

You see, it’s fine to hunger naturally. God made you where you get hungry physically; you get thirsty physically. There is nothing wrong with that. But, dear friend, even if you seek food and water in the first place, you’ve made a mistake. In Matthew chapter 6 and verse 33, Jesus has talked about food and fashion and fitness, and then He says, “After all these things do the Gentiles seek… But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and”—what?—“his righteousness.” (Matthew 6:32–33) “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness, and all these things”—food, fashion, fitness—“shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) Now, there’s nothing wrong with food. There’s nothing wrong with fashion. There’s nothing wrong with fitness, in their place. And, their place is second place—their place is second place. “Seek ye”—what?—“first”—“first the kingdom of God and his righteousness.” (Matthew 6:33) God will not take second place to anybody or anything.

Now, how are you to seek the Lord Jesus Christ? You are to seek Him preeminently. He is to be first in your life. Jesus Christ is heaven’s bread for man’s deepest hunger. Now, look at the verse again. It says, “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness.” (Matthew 5:6) “Blessed are those who are hungering and thirsting after Jesus—who put Jesus in first place.” “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33)

Now, He will not work in second place. You know what most folks want to do? They don’t want to seek righteousness. Do you know what they want to seek? They want to seek blessedness. When I said to the television audience, “We’re going to talk to you a little bit about how to be satisfied,” most people said, “Well, that’s what I want, is satisfaction.” Well, the problem is, by wanting satisfaction, you don’t get it. By wanting happiness, you don’t get it. By wanting blessedness, you don’t get it. You see, what you need is not primarily happiness and satisfaction and blessing. What you need is Jesus.

Now, pay attention. When you get Jesus, when you hunger and thirst after Jesus, then you are blessed. But, that is a byproduct. He doesn’t say, “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after blessedness.” “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness.” (Matthew 5:6) You say, “Well, what’s the difference?” Well, my dear friend, that lack of blessedness, that lack of joy, that lack of satisfaction, that lack of peace, that lack of fulfillment—all that is is a symptom. That tells you that there is something wrong, and that symptom that tells you that something is wrong causes you to seek the remedy, which is Jesus Christ.

Now, let me illustrate. Suppose you feel bad—you’re weak, and you’ve got pain, and you’re trembling, and you’re dehydrated, and you’ve got all of these terrible symptoms. And, you go to the doctor, and the doctor says, “Well, you’re very sick, but don’t worry about it. I’ll give you something to kill the pain.” And, he gives you a sedative, and that’s all he does. And, you go out of there, maybe on a high because of the drugs that he’s given you, and you feel fine for a while. Do you want that kind of a doctor? Well, when I go to my doctor and I hurt, I want him to make me feel better, if I can. But, if that’s all he does—if all he does is treat the symptom, if all he does is deaden the pain without dealing with the infection—as far as I’m concerned, he’s not a good doctor. A good doctor is going to find the cause of that pain, the cause of that fever, the cause of that malady, and he’s not merely going to deaden the pain and try to kill the symptoms, because the symptoms are God-given to say, “There is something wrong; get it fixed.” Isn’t that right?

Now, my dear friend, that unhappiness that you feel, that lack of fulfillment that you have, that lack of joy that’s in your life—all of that is a symptom; that’s all it is. And, if you treat the symptom without treating the disease, that would be very foolish. So, the Bible doesn’t say, “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after blessedness”; “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after peace”; “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after anything else except righteousness”—because man’s problem is what? Unrighteousness—unrighteousness. And, out of unrighteousness come all these other things. And so, until you come to the place where you see that your deepest need is Jesus Christ, ‘til you bring all of your ambitions into a burning focus to seek Jesus Christ, you’re not going to have your deepest hunger met and your deepest needs met.

Now, we have physical hunger, and there is nothing wrong with physical hunger. And, if you have physical hunger, dear friend, spiritual things can’t meet your physical hunger.
Suppose you invite me over to your house for a meal, and I come to your house. And, I know that you’re a good cook so I’ve been kind of laying off food, ate a very light breakfast and hardly any lunch because I’m determined to put you out of business when I come to your house. And so, I come to your house, and you invite me in and say, “Pastor, let me show you how we’ve redone our garden.” And, we go out and look at your beautiful flowers, and I say, “That’s nice.” And, you say, “Pastor, come into the library and let me show you some new books that I’ve bought.” And, we go in and look at your library. And, about that time I feel a growl down here, but I don’t say much about it. And then, you say, “My wife has done some antique shopping. Let me show you something she just recently bought,” and we look at that for a while. And then, you say, “You know, I’ve taken up painting. Let me show you some of my painting,” and I look at that for a while. And then, you say, “Janie, come in here and play the piano. Let the pastor hear that new song that you’ve done.” And, I’m looking at flowers, and I’m looking at antiques, and I’m listening to music, and all of this. And, my stomach is gnawing, and I’m saying, “Hey, when do we eat?”—maybe I don’t say it out loud. But finally, we get to the table, and there the table is perfectly set, the fresh cut flowers on the table, even candles burning, you know, sometimes as people do, and all the silverware is polished, but not a speck of food. Now, my dear friend, what good is all of that? None of those things—none of those things—can meet the need for food.

And, conversely, my dear friend, food can never meet the need of your deepest longing, which is Jesus. You’re a physical being, but you’re a spiritual being. And, you must have—you must have—the Lord Jesus Christ. Now, food and water—“Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst” (Matthew 5:6)—He’s talking about food and water. In the material realm, food and water are necessities; they are not luxuries. If you don’t eat physically, you’re going to die. If you don’t drink water, you’re going to die. And so it is in the spiritual realm. Jesus Christ is not some luxury; Jesus Christ is a necessity.

And, what are you to seek when you seek righteousness? My dear friend, listen, you are to seek Jesus Christ. Seek Him preeminently. Now, that means, dear friend, that all you ever will need spiritually is in Jesus Christ. Some people talk about a “second blessing.” They say, “Well, now that you’ve been saved, now that you’ve received Jesus, have you gone on and gotten the second blessing?” Friend, I want to say it with all of the love that I can possibly say it, but, dear friend, all you need is Jesus. Now, get it down big and plain and straight: the fullness of God dwells in Him, (Colossians 2:9) and He dwells in you. Not some second blessing—you seek Jesus. And, when you get Jesus, my dear friend, you get everything. You’ll never go beyond Jesus.

Now, you may go deeper and deeper into Jesus. Sometimes people ask me, “Pastor Rogers, have you gotten the second blessing?” And, whimsically I say, “Oh yes, I have.” And, they say, “Well, tell me about it.” I say, “The second blessing is discovering what I got in the first one when I got Jesus. And, I'll tell you what the third blessing is: the third blessing is discovering I didn’t discover it all in the second one because I spend the rest of my life learning more and more about the Lord Jesus Christ.”

Listen, you are to seek Jesus preeminently. “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.” (Matthew 6:33) And, my dear friend, Jesus Christ is the righteousness of God applied to us. Jesus Christ is Alpha and Omega. (Revelation 1:8,11; 21:6; 22:13) Do you know what alpha is? Alpha is the first letter in the Greek alphabet. Omega is the last letter in the Greek alphabet. And so, when the Bible calls Jesus “the Alpha and the Omega,” if it were in our idiom, Jesus would be called what? “A and Z.”

Now, I have my library at home. And, I have I really don’t know how many books, but I have a lot of them. But, did you know, dear friend, that all of the wisdom and all of the truth in that library is just in a handful of letters put together differently? That’s all—just a handful of letters put together differently; just twenty-six letters in the alphabet. That’s all. And, everything in those books is just in those letters. And, my dear friend, all of the wisdom of God is in Jesus, Alpha and Omega. I mean, it’s all there. Everything is there. He is the A, the Z, and every letter in between. He’s it.

You seek Jesus Christ preeminently.

There was an old saint. She had a favorite verse, like all of us do. But, her favorite verse was this: “I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day.” (2 Timothy 1:12) She loved it. She shared it with all of her friends. That was her favorite verse. “I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day.” (2 Timothy 1:12) But, as she got older, dementia set in, and she could not remember things like she used to remember them. And, she would try to quote her verse to her friends when they would come in, and she would say, “I know..., “I have committed..., “I know whom I have...,” and she couldn’t quite get it all out. And, she would give a part of it and get it a little confused. And, on her deathbed her memory had come down to just one word: Him. And, she would just say, “Him,” “Him.” But friend, in that one word she had the whole Bible. I mean, that’s it—Him.

Seek Jesus preeminently. “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.” (Matthew 6:33)

II. Seek Jesus Passionately

Let me tell you how else to seek Him: not only should you seek Him preeminently, but, my dear friend, you should seek Him passionately. What our Lord here is talking about is hunger; He’s talking about thirst. What are the marks of a person who is hungry?
What are the marks of a person who is thirsty? May I give you three?

A. A Deliberate Quest

The first mark of a hungry person is he is on a deliberate quest for food. Now, a starving man… Jesus here is not talking about a person who just has an appetite but a person who sees himself broken and bankrupt and famished. What are the marks of this kind of hunger? My dear friend, if you were starving, are you all that interested in the flower arrangement for the Ladies’ Pink Lemonade Society? If you’re that hungry, are you all that interested in the ball scores? I mean, if you are that hungry—what is the mark of a person who is truly hungry? Well, my dear friend, he is interested in one thing. His focus is narrow. He is interested in what? In food. In water. He has reached a point of deliberation. His mind begins to work on food and water, food and water, food and water. People sit in the church service like this, and their mind is a thousand different places. Do you know why? They’re not hungry. There’s no deliberation. There is no determination. You see, a man who is on a deliberate search for food—he has set his face for it; then he gets on a determined search for food. He’s determined—he’s going to be fed.

You know, I’ve seen people come to churches thinking like maybe they’ve done God a wild favor by getting there. And then, they kind of cross their arms and say, you know, “Let’s see what this fool has to say. Let’s see if he can persuade me.” And so, the preacher is preaching, and they are in sort of a little mental argument. What the preacher says, they say to themselves, “Yes, but…” And then, there’s a little thing going on there. They’re not hungry—they’re not hungry. They’re not desperate. They’re not trying to be fed. Can you imagine the starving man saying, “Well, if somebody wants to feed me, they may”? I’ve heard people literally say, “Well, if God wants to save me, He can.” Oh, my dear friend, “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness.” (Matthew 5:6)

A little girl said, “Mamma, may I have a drink of water?” It was already 10:30 at night. She got out of bed and got the little girl a drink of water. Eleven o’clock: “Mamma, can I have another drink of water?” She got up and got the little girl another swallow of water. She said, “Now, that’s it. You go to sleep.” 11:30: “Mamma, I want some more water.” She said, “If you say another word about water, I am going to spank you.” Fifteen minutes later: “Mamma, when you get up to spank me, will you bring me a drink of water?” A person who’s thirsty will pay a price. A person who is not thirsty or hungry, they won’t pay a price.

Again, along the same line, I heard of an itinerant who knocked on a door and said to a woman, “Will you feed a hungry man?” She said, “Are you willing to work?” He said, “Well, it doesn’t look like there’s any work to do around here.” She said, “When you came up the road, there was a pile of wood that needed sawing.” She said, “I saw you when you looked at it.” He said, “Lady, you saw me see it, but you ain’t seen me saw it.” He wasn’t hungry.

B. A Determined Quest

There are people, dear friend, who, when they’re hungry, they are in a deliberate quest for food. And, that deliberate quest for food becomes a determined quest for food. I remember that song “It’s Real,” that old gospel song about the man that had a formal religion but he really didn’t know Jesus, and then he really got serious and he said, “So I prayed to God in earnest… My poor soul, it must be fed.” Have you come to that place?

So I prayed to God in earnest,
And not caring what folks said;
I was hungry for the blessing;
My poor soul, it must be fed.

—HOMER L. COX

C. A Desperate Quest

As a matter of fact, not only is a hungry person on a determined quest; not only is a hungry person in a deliberate quest; my dear friend, he’s on a desperate quest for food. He’ll go anywhere; do anything, almost; pay any price. I’ve seen people eat out of garbage cans. Have you? And, you know they’d lost all their pride. People come to church, and many of them find something to criticize. Hey, folks, if you’re looking for something to criticize, you can find it. Let me tell you where to start: right here. If anybody says anything bad about me, I just say, “Thank God they don’t know any more.”

You’re looking for something to criticize? You can find it anywhere. Here’s a man who sits down at a table, and he says, “Well, the salt is damp. The china is chipped. The tablecloth is wrinkled. The parsley is on the wrong side of the plate.” I can tell you one thing: he’s not a hungry man. Isn’t that right? People who come to pick, to find fault, you can put it down big, put it down plain, put it down straight: they are not hungry. You come to find fault, you can find plenty to find fault with. But, if you come to find Jesus, He’s here. My dear friend, it all depends upon the appetite that you bring to church.

One lady said to a pastor, “I didn’t like the way you preached this morning.” He said, “What was wrong?” She said, “It’s your language. It was very inelegant. In the course of your sermon, you said ‘pants.’ You should never say ‘pants’; you should say ‘trousers.’ It’s much more elegant.” He said, “I’ll try to remember that.” He said, “Well, what did you think about the sermon? What else do you remember?” She said, “Very frankly, I don’t remember anything else.” He said, “If I hadn’t said ‘pants,’ you wouldn’t have gotten anything out of the message."

“Blessed”—“Blessed”—“Blessed”—“are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness.” (Matthew 5:6) My dear friend, a person who is hungry and thirsty is on a deliberate, determined, desperate search for food. Have you narrowed your interests down to one interest? I mean, do you see Jesus Christ as your greatest need? Do you seek Jesus Christ as a starving man would seek food? Oh, my dear friend, when you come to that place, you’re going to find Him.

Why is it that people are not hungry? I mean, what’s wrong with a man who is not hungry? Well, several things. Number one: He could be sick. When you get sick, you lose your appetite. Number two: He could be stuffed full of something else—feeding on this world’s garbage, or anything else. You know what the Bible says in Proverbs 27 and verse 7? “The full soul loatheth an honeycomb”—I mean, if you’re full, even honey doesn’t sound good to you—“but to the hungry soul every bitter thing is sweet.” (Proverbs 27:7) The full soul, he’s not even interested in honey. “But”—my dear friend—“to the hungry soul every bitter thing is sweet.” (Proverbs 27:7)

III. Enjoy Jesus Perpetually

Now, here’s the third thing I want to say today, and I’ll be finished. Listen, you are to desire Jesus Christ preeminently: “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.” (Matthew 6:33) Secondly, you are to desire Jesus Christ passionately. You are to hunger and thirst after Jesus Christ. But, not only that, my dear friend; you are to enjoy Jesus Christ perpetually—enjoy Him. Listen: “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.” (Matthew 5:6)

I don’t know how much of God that you have, but I’m going to tell you something today that may shock you: you have all you want—you have all you want. I don’t know how much of God you have, but you have all you want. A shallow thirst—a shallow satisfaction. Small hunger—small satisfaction. “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst…for they shall be filled.” (Matthew 5:6) That’s the reason I said, dear friend, I’ll guarantee it—because there is One who stands behind the guarantee, and His name is Jesus Christ. He’s the One. He’s the One who said, “No ifs, ands, and buts about it—you will be satisfied”—because when you are filled with righteousness, you are filled with blessedness, because you have a hidden hunger, you have a need, that can only be met by Jesus Christ.

So many people have the idea that righteousness is a negative thing. The Pharisees were known for what they didn’t do. People get the idea, “Well, if I’m going to be righteous, I can’t have any fun.” No, if you’re going to be righteous, you can be blessed. Happiness and holiness are inextricably linked together. Dear friend, you don’t lose the good things of life when you come to Jesus. As a matter of fact, listen: “Seek ye first the "kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and”—what?—“all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) I didn’t say they shall all be taken from you. They shall be added to you. Friend, listen, you enjoy those things more in the context of righteousness. Don’t let the devil get you to thinking negatively about God. The Bible says in 1 Timothy chapter 6, verse 17 that “God [gives] us richly all things to enjoy.” (1 Timothy 6:17) He doesn’t say He doesn’t want you to be blessed. He just simply says, “Get your priority right.” Seek Him preeminently, seek Him passionately, and you will enjoy Him perpetually. I love this. I love it because does that mean that if you just give your heart to Jesus today, get saved, receive Him as your personal Savior and Lord, from there on you never have to seek Him any more, you never desire Him any more? Oh no, oh no. Jesus is using an illustration that everybody can understand from the physical realm. He’s saying in the spiritual realm, your spiritual hungers are like your physical hungers.

Have you ever, on Thanksgiving Day, sat down for the Thanksgiving meal? Generally, at our house it’s about 1:30 or 2:00 before everything gets fixed. And, everybody gets in, and we all get around the table. And, we eat and eat and eat and fellowship and eat. And, you know, it’s just a great time, and everything is there. And, the turkey—and is it stuffing or dressing? I never can remember—whatever they put on the inside, anyway, that’s in there, all of that. You’re just having a wonderful time. And, when you’re finished, you say, “I don’t care if I ever eat again. I mean, that’s it. I mean, I am completely satisfied.” You know what I’m talking about? Nod your head. Look intelligent. Okay, now look—“I am completely satisfied.” And then, what happens? That’s about 3:30. About seven o’clock that night, you find yourself in there opening the refrigerator and looking in and poking around all that stuff. It’s amazing, isn’t it?

You see, listen, God allows us in the physical realm to have continuing appetite that we might have continuing satisfaction. This thing of being satisfied is not a once-for-all thing any more than eating a meal is a once-for-all thing. You see, you have a continual hunger, not because that food didn’t satisfy you; you have a continual hunger because that food did satisfy you. And, your appetite is increased because of the goodness of the food, and the satisfaction that it brought once—it continues to bring day after day. On my knees this morning, I have found that satisfaction. On my knees today, I have fed on heaven’s bread. And, you come to the Lord Jesus Christ, and you are continually being hungry and you are continually being satisfied. And, that’s the reason, my friend, I say that when you desire Him preeminently, when you seek Him passionately, you will enjoy Him perpetually. He will meet the deepest needs of your heart. And then, when you meet the Lord Jesus Christ in all of His fullness, all of His sweetness, you have that blessedness, and all of these other things are added to you. (Matthew 6:33)

My dear friend, put it down—listen—you will be completely satisfied, you will be continually satisfied, and you will be certainly satisfied because Jesus said it shall happen. Let me give you a couple of verses. Listen to this—Psalm 107 and verse 9: “For He satisfieth the longing soul, and filleth the hungry soul with goodness.” (Psalms 107:9) If people understood what they had in Jesus, I don’t believe you could keep them away with a machine gun. Listen to 1 Peter 2, verse 3: “If so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious.” (1 Peter 2:3) Psalm 34, verse 8: “O taste and see that the Lord is good.” (Psalms 34:8) Friend, I am not inviting you today to a funeral. I am inviting you to a feast.

I’ve been on this road for a long time now serving the Lord Jesus. Jesus satisfied the need of my heart when I was a teenage boy. I stopped on the corner of 39th Street and Calvin Avenue in West Palm Beach, Florida, and I looked up into the sky as a teenage boy. I had just walked my girlfriend home, the girl I’m married to today. I had been a church member, made a profession of faith. Whether I was saved or not I really don’t know, but I prayed like this: “O God, I don’t have satisfaction. I don’t know whether I’m lost and the Holy Spirit has me under conviction, or whether I’m saved and the devil’s trying to make me doubt it.” But, I just looked up into the heavens. I looked, as it were, into the face of God, and I said, “O God, right now, this moment, with all of my heart, once and for all, now and forever, I receive you as my personal Lord and Savior. I don’t look for a feeling. I take you at your word. You said, ‘Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved.’” (Acts 16:31) I believe, I receive, and that settles it.” My friend, as a teenage boy, my heart was satisfied, and it still is.

Conclusion

Do you know what evangelism is? It’s just one beggar telling another beggar where to find bread. That’s what I’m trying to tell you. I wish that I could take Jesus for you. I wish I could do it for you, but I can’t. I tell you one thing I can do: I can hold up the Word of God and tell you what Jesus said when He said, “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.” (Matthew 5:6) Desire Him preeminently. Seek Him passionately. You’ll enjoy Him perpetually—you will; I promise.

Introduction
Would you find again the Beatitudes, Matthew chapter 5? We’re calling these “The Keys to the Kingdom.” And, these are statements that Jesus Christ has made, and He begins each one of them with the word blessed. The word blessed is almost hard to translate. We could say “happy,” but it means more than “happy.” It means “fulfilled.” It means “with joy.” It means “complete.” It may mean “to be congratulated.” All of those things and more are wrapped up in that Greek word makarios.

Listen as the Lord Jesus Christ gives these Beatitudes—we’ve said almost every Sunday, “the attitudes that ought to be”: “And seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him: And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying, Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven”—and there He meant, “Blessed are those who see their spiritual condition, that they see that they are bankrupt, paupers, in the sight of a righteous and a holy God.” The word poor here doesn’t mean just “without much”; it means “without anything.” Then verse 4—“Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted”—and so, you see, when we see what we are in and of ourselves, spiritually (in our hands we have nothing to offer to God), then the next step for blessedness is to be broken over our bankruptcy: “Blessed are they that mourn.” (Matthew 5:4) Genuine, godly sorrow that brings repentance. And, that brings us to the next blessedness—“Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth”—and we’ve already told you that meekness means “submission to the will of God.” It is strength that has been conquered and now controlled, because when I see what I am in and of myself, and then when I repent of that sin with godly sorrow, then I yield myself to God. And then, look, in verse 6, the last one that we talked about—“Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled”—and that righteousness is as is Jesus Christ Himself: not our own righteousness, not self-righteousness, but the righteousness that comes by faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. So, when I see that I’m a lost sinner, and when I repent of my sin, and when I yield my heart to God, and when I hunger and thirst for Jesus, then God does something in my heart; I am born again. And then, I begin to act like a born-again person. And, that brings us to the Beatitude for today, verse 7—“Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy” (Matthew 5:1–7)

This is a God-like characteristic that is in the heart and mind of those who have been born again. And, the way it shows is by having a heart full of mercy. Those who have received mercy, beyond the shadow of any doubt or peradventure, will show mercy.

Now, what is mercy? Well, mercy is not just softness. There are some people who are so soft they wouldn’t hurt a fly. I was in a meeting the other day, and they were discussing somebody that they wanted to do something that took a little courage. And, they said, “Don’t get him. He wouldn’t kill a snake in a nursery.” Well, that’s soft enough, that’s but that’s not necessarily mercy.

And then, mercy is not just mere sentiment. It’s not seeing somebody hurting and somebody in trouble and shedding crocodile tears. That may be sentiment, but it is not mercy. I heard of a preacher who was preaching, and he was talking about how we need to be compassionate, and he said, “I was walking down the streets of a town; and I looked over there in doorway, and there was a derelict. And, the sand and the newspapers were blowing up around his body. He had passed out. He was just lying there. And,” he said, “all down that busy street people were walking—well dressed, going about their business. And, they looked down there, and there was a piece of humanity on the ground.” He said, “Nobody was stopping. Nobody did anything. And then,” he said, “after we had gone to dinner and come back, he was still there; and nobody had done anything.” Oh, isn’t it amazing? Isn’t it amazing how we always think that the other man ought to do it? And, there he had not only softness, maybe sentiment, but he did not have mercy.

What is mercy? What is this quality of mercy? My dear friend, it is compassion in action. That’s what mercy is—not softness, not sentiment, but compassion in action. Now, I want us to think about this Beatitude: “Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy.” (Matthew 5:7)
I. The Beauties of Mercy

First of all, think with me, if you would, about the beauties of mercy. Did you know that the quality of mercy is one of the most beautiful characteristics of God? And, when you’re merciful, you’re acting like God. Put these verses in your margin. I love them. They have already spoken to me this morning.

One is Lamentations chapter 3 and verse 22. Now, don’t turn to it, because I’ll be finished with the sermon before some find it, but just put it in the margin. Lamentations chapter 3 and verse 22: “It is of the Lord’s mercies that we are not consumed”—friend, you think about it—“because his compassions fail not.” (Lamentations 3:22) There, God links mercy with compassion: “It is of the Lord’s mercies that we are not consumed…his compassions [they] fail not”—and then He goes on to say—“They are new every morning.” (Lamentations 3:22–23) Every morning you can wake up and greet the mercy of God. Have you ever thought about the fact that for you to fail to live this day, God does not have to take your life—all He has to do is stop giving it? Every day is a gift from God. “[His] mercies…are new every morning.” (Lamentations 3:22–23) “It is of the Lord’s mercies that [we’re] not consumed.” (Lamentations 3:22)

And then, put this verse in your margin—Ephesians 2, verse 4 and following: “But God, who is rich in mercy, for”—or “because of”—“his great love wherewith he loved us” (Ephesians 2:4) Do you know how God counts His riches? Not in silver or gold, but in His mercy.

And so, my dear friend, what are the beauties of mercy? When you’re merciful, you’re God-like. To be unmerciful is not to be like God. The Bible says in Ephesians chapter 5 and verse 1: “Therefore be imitators of God”—not in the bad sense of imitation, but actually, the King James says, “Be ye therefore followers of God.” (Ephesians 5:1) And, the word literally means “imitators” of God. “Be God-like.”

And, my dear friend, the Lord Jesus Christ illustrated that so much in the Gospel of Luke. In the Gospel of Luke, there was a lawyer who came—Luke chapter 10, I think most of you know it—and he said, “Good master, what do I have to do to inherit eternal life? What do I have to do to be saved?” Well, Jesus said, “You know the law. What does the law say?” “Well,” he said—and this man was a good lawyer—“Well,” he said, “the law says you are to love God with all of your being, and you are to love your neighbor as yourself.” Jesus said, “You’ve got it right. You’ve got it right. You just do this, and you’ll be all right.” (Luke 10:25–28) Well, this man—he was not only a good lawyer, but he was a bad lawyer. I mean, he got the answer right, but he didn’t know the Lord. And, Jesus knew he wasn’t saved. You see, he was looking for a loophole in the law. And so, did you know that you can be one hundred percent right and still die and go to hell? Did you know that? I mean, there are some of you here in this building right now today, if I were to ask you how to be saved, you could give it to me just like that.

When you die, you’re going to hell. You say, “Well, now wait a minute, pastor. I know the plan of salvation.” You’re not saved by the plan of salvation; you’re saved by the Man of salvation.

Have you ever thought about it? When Herod wanted to know where Jesus Christ was going to be born, he went and asked the scribes, “Where is Messiah to be born?” “Oh, they said, “you go right down there to Bethlehem. That’s where He’s going to be born.” But, not a one of them went down there to bow a knee to Him. They knew, and yet they missed it. (Matthew 2:1–3) Here was a man, this lawyer—he had it all just right. He was a good lawyer, but he was a very bad lawyer; and so, he says, “But now, wait a minute. Who is my neighbor? Just who is my neighbor?” (Luke 10:29) In other words: “I don’t want to love anybody I don’t have to love. I don’t want to show mercy to anybody I don’t have to show mercy to.” I mean, as far as he was concerned, God wasn’t really around. He didn’t have to worry about God. But, His neighbor—that was something he had to worry about.

And, Jesus told him that story that I preached on not so very long ago. Remember the story of the Good Samaritan? Do you remember that story? Jesus said, “A…man went…from Jerusalem to Jericho, and [he] fell among thieves.” (Luke 10:30) Now, if you know anything about the typography of the Holy Land, you know that Jerusalem is set on a hill; Jericho is down in the Dead Sea—the rift there on the banks of the Dead Sea, thirteen hundred feet below sea level. Here’s a man. He starts on a mountaintop. He’s going from Jerusalem to Jericho. Jericho was a heathen city. You remember that’s where Rahab lived. Jerusalem was the holy city. And, this man pictures mankind going away from God, from the holy city to the hellish city. He’s going down, down, down.

And, Jesus said that on that road he “fell among thieves.” (Luke 10:30) Now, there are a lot of limestone caves there, and precipitous places. A lot of wild animals used to be there. And, it was a place where marauders, and muggers, and robbers, and thieves, cutthroats—they would stay in those caves just waiting for someone to come along. And, this man came along, and the Bible says that they beat him, they stripped him, they robbed him, and they left him half-dead. (Luke 10:30)

And then, Jesus said to this lawyer who wanted to know who his neighbor was…Jesus said to him, “Then there came along that day a certain priest, and the priest saw him, and he passed by on the other side.” (Luke 10:31) Now, you know, the priests—they were the religious people of that day. They were the teachers, and they performed all of the rituals and the sacrifices. He represents ritualism. Oh, there are so many churches today that are so filled with ritualism. They stand. They sit. They kneel. They pray. They sing. They do this. They do that. And then, they go out and are just as lost as a goose in a snowstorm. This priest represents ritualism, and he just passed by.

“Then,” Jesus said, “another man, this time a Levite, he walked by. He saw him, and he passed by.” (Luke 10:32) Now, what does the Levite represent? Well, they were keepers of the law. So, if the priest represented ritual, he represented rules. You know, the law can condemn us, and the law can describe us; but the law can’t redeem us. Maybe this Levite said, “Look at you! Boy, you’re in a mess! What were you doing down here, anyway? This isn’t a safe place to be traveling alone. You should never have been here! You’re getting just what you deserve!” And, he went on past. And, that’s what the law does, dear friend. All of the rules in the Old Testament—they can describe us; they can condemn us, but they don’t save us.

“And then,” Jesus said, “a third man came along.” (Luke 10:33) He was what? A Samaritan. Do you know who the Samaritans were? They were a mongrel race. They were the ones that were left behind after the captivity. They intermarried with the pagan, heathen people around them. And, the Jews despised them. Jesus said, “A certain Samaritan.” (Luke 10:33) I know who He had in mind: He had in mind Himself—because Jesus was despised, rejected, hated of men. And, this man, this hated one, this despised one—he’s coming along, and Jesus said, “He saw the man. He saw him where he was. And, when he saw him, he was moved with compassion. He went to him. He bound the man’s wounds. And,” Jesus said, “he poured in oil, and he poured in wine.” (Luke 10:33–34) Do you know what oil represents in the Bible, symbolically? This is a parable. All of this is highly symbolical. What does oil represent? The Holy Spirit. Comfort. He’s the Comforter. And, he’s there with the oil and the balm, the healing oil.

Then, he poured in wine. (Luke 10:34) What does wine represent? The blood of Jesus Christ. It was the wine to cleanse, the oil to comfort, representing the precious, I believe, blood of Jesus, representing the wonderful ministry of the Holy Spirit.

And then, the Bible says the Good Samaritan took this man “and set him [upon] his…beast, and brought him to an inn.” (Luke 10:34) Now, when the Good Samaritan met this man to begin with, the Good Samaritan was riding and the man was on the ground. But, after the Good Samaritan met him, the man was riding and the Samaritan was walking. What a picture of substitution! Jesus takes my place, and I take His. He “set him [upon] his…beast, and [he] brought him to an inn.” (Luke 10:34) And, he said, “You take care of him. Here’s some money. And whatever else it costs, when I come again, I will pay the price.” (Luke 10:35) What a picture of salvation! I’m so grateful that Jesus came to where I was. I’m so grateful that He had compassion upon me. I am so grateful that He brought me to His house of mercy. I’m so grateful that Jesus Christ paid the price.

And, in that same chapter, in verse 36, Jesus asked that lawyer a question. He said, “Now, which of these showed mercy?”—“Which of these showed mercy?” (Luke 10:36) My dear friend, listen, Jesus Christ has shown every one of us mercy. And, mercy is not softness. It’s not sentiment. It’s compassion—compassion in action. And oh, how we need to learn the message of mercy—not with the indifference of the priest and the Levite, not with the iniquity of those who beat of the man, but with the involvement that life calls for.

You go outside these doors, and you’ll find that there are three classes of people. You go to this city—I don’t know where you live dear friend, but in your city—I want to tell you there are three classes of people, and they’re right there in that tenth chapter of Luke. Let me tell you what they are. They are the “beater-uppers,” the “passer-uppers,” and the “picker-uppers.” That’s all the world’s made of. The beater-uppers—those people who would rob and kill and destroy. Every pornographer is one of them. Every beer baron and liquor dealer, as far as I’m concerned, is one of them. Every abortionist is one of them. Those are the beater-uppers. I’m telling you, we have people today who have been bruised and battered. Some are wounded domestically. Some are wounded psychologically. Little children who have been abused and battered, some of them sexually abused. Some of them are wounded economically. They’re victims of slumlords, unfair economical practices. Some are wounded spiritually. They’ve been caught up in the cults, and false doctrine, and liberalism. When they have gotten into those movements, they are twice a child of hell. I am telling you, the bruised and the battered and the beat-up are all around us. There are the beater-uppers. There are the passer-uppers, and, God help us, they have their names on church rolls somewhere. And then, there are the picker-uppers. You’re one of the three, my dear friend. Either you are like those thieves, who said, “What’s yours is mine, and I’m going to get it”; or you are like the priest and the Levite, who said, “What’s mine is mine, and I’m going to keep it”; or you’re going to be like the Good Samaritan, who says, “What’s mine is mine, but you can have it if you need it. And, I’m here to share, and I’m here to serve; and I’m here to minister.” “Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy.” (Matthew 5:7)

II. The Basis of Mercy

Quickly now, I want you to think with me not only about the beauties of mercy—I am telling you, my dear friend, that mercy is a beautiful thing, because it is God-like—but what is the basis of mercy. Well, my dear friend, let me say this: there can be no mercy without truth. Did that sink in? There can be no mercy without truth. I’m talking to you about the basis of mercy.

Now, let me give you a verse—Psalm 85 and verse 10: “Mercy and truth are met together; righteousness and peace have kissed each other.” (Psalms 85:10) I took my concordance and looked up place after place where God links mercy and truth together. I knew it was there, but I was amazed at the verses in the Bible where God conjoins mercy and truth. All real mercy is rooted in truth. Now, what I mean by that is to show mercy is not to minimize sin. Mercy is not sentiment. When you show mercy, you

Have you ever heard anybody say, “Is it fair for God to do this, or God to do that?” Or, have they ever gotten in the silly discussion with you about whether God is fair or whether God is not fair? Friend, God is not fair. Don’t ever expect God to be fair. God is not fair. Now, wait a minute. I’m not finished yet. God is not fair. Do you know, when I expect somebody to be fair to me, that means I have it coming to me. “Give me what I have coming. Be fair.” In other words, “I deserve this.” You see, that’s fairness: “You give me my part.” It’s like children arguing about a will: “It’s not fair that you get this and I don’t get that.” That’s fairness.

God doesn’t deal with us on the basis of fairness. God deals with us on the basis of mercy. We don’t deserve anything. When a man is looking for fairness, he’s not happy when he gets what he deserves because he figures, “I deserve it.” He’s only mad because he didn’t get it sooner, and doubly mad if somebody else gets more. I mean, that’s the object. That’s fairness. God is not fair. God is just and merciful. The justice of God says that sin must be punished. That is truth. Once you see that truth, then you cry out for mercy—then you cry out for mercy. You see, my dear friend, God is not some maudlin sentimentalist who just says, “Tut tut. Yeah, you’ve sinned, but I’m a merciful God. I’m a merciful God; that’s all right.”

Friend, let me tell you something: if you refuse the shed blood of the Lord Jesus Christ, there’s no hope for you. Don’t think you are going to come to the Judgment one day—you refused Jesus; you trampled under foot the precious blood of Jesus—and then you say, “God is merciful. I’ll just come to the Final Judgment, and I’ll just stand before God and I’ll say, ‘Well, God, that’s right. I denied you. I refused you. I cursed you. I ignored you. I went my own sinful way. Here I am at the Judgment. Have mercy, Lord.’” Do you think you’ll get mercy?

Let me give you a verse of Scripture. Listen to it. It’s one of the most frightening scriptures in all of the Bible. Hebrews 10, verses 28 and 29: “He that despised Moses’ law died without mercy under two or three witnesses”—in the Old Testament, when a man saw the law of God, and he said, “I don’t give a rip about the law of God,” and he sins, God says he’ll die without mercy. “Well,” you say, “that’s Old Testament.” All right, let’s continue to read in verse 29. Listen to this. Now, you think that was bad?—“Of how much sorer”—“of how much more radical, deep”—“punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace?” (Hebrews 10:28–29)

Do you think that Jesus Christ could have died in agony and blood for you, and you sit in a church building like this and hear a preacher preach about the love of Jesus Christ—that He died for you—and then, do you think, dear friend, that you can walk out without Christ, refuse the Lord Jesus Christ, and trample beneath your the blood of Christ? You say, “I wouldn’t do that.” My dear friend, everybody in this building will walk out either under the blood or over the blood—put it down big and straight—and, if they walk out over the blood, has done despite to the Spirit of grace. It’s not just a Baptist preacher here. My dear friend, the Holy Spirit of God is speaking to you. He’s the One who is speaking. I’m just a Western Union boy; that’s all. He’s the source of the message.

You say, “Well, I don’t want that. I refuse that.” Then, do you think you’re going to come to the Judgment and say, “O God, have mercy”?

Suppose you get sick, and you call your doctor; and your doctor comes to you, and your doctor looks very worried. You say, “Well, doctor, I don’t like that look on your face. Give it to me straight.” The doctor says, “I am sorry to tell you this. But, you’ve asked me, and I’m going to tell you. I see no hope for you. You are going to die.” You say, “Well, now wait a minute, doctor. I don’t want to die. Doctor, you’ve got to do something. Isn’t there something that the medical art can do that can save my life?” And, the doctor says, “Well, I have read of a new serum, a medicine that may work in your case. It’s very, very, very new, and very, very, very expensive.” “Well,” you say, “doctor, it’s my life. You’ve got to do something.” “Well,” the doctor says, “do you have much money?” “Well, no, doctor, I don’t have any money. But doctor, you just can’t let me die because I don’t have any money. Doctor, can’t you do something?” And, the doctor says, “Well, let me see what I can do.”

You are there in your home, languishing upon your sickbed. After two or three more days, the doctor comes back. His hair is disheveled; his beard has two days’ growth. His eyes are sunken back into his head with dark circles under his eyes. His clothing is torn. There’s blood on his shirt. His hands are trembling. And, you look at him, and you say, “Doctor, doctor, what’s happened to you? Where have you been?” He says, “I went to get this medicine for you.” He says, “I went to several foundations, and I got some money, but I didn’t get enough money.” Then, he says, “I went to my own bank account. I took all I had out of my own bank account.” Have you ever known a doctor to do that? “And then,” he says, “I didn’t have enough so I mortgaged my house. And then,” he says, “I got the medicine. And, on my way over here, I had my precious son in the car with me, and I was driving in such a way to get to you in time that I wrecked my automobile. We’ve had a tragic wreck. The blood that you see on my shirt is the blood of my little boy. My son—I’ve just come from the morgue—my son has died. But, here it is. Here’s the medicine. Take it. I believe you’ll live.”

Suppose you took that vial of medicine, whatever it may have been, precious as it is, looked at it for a while, and then threw it on the floor, and it broke, and the contents ran out in the rug, never to be retrieved. And then, suppose you pointed a finger in the face of that doctor and said, “Doctor, if I die, it will be your fault. Have mercy on me, doctor. Don’t let me die.”

You say, “That’s unthinkable! That’s unthinkable!” I’ll tell you something else, mister: it will be unthinkable for you to come to the Final Judgment and say, “O God, have mercy upon me, and don’t let me die!” when God put His darling Son on the cross and bankrupted heaven in order to buy you salvation. Amen? Listen to me. Oh, listen to me! God is a God of mercy. And, if a man “despised Moses’ law [and] died without mercy under two or three witnesses: Of how much sorer punishment…shall he be thought worthy, who [has trampled beneath his feet] the blood of the covenant, [counted it] an unholy thing, [has] done despite unto the Spirit of grace?” (Hebrews 10:28–29) My dear friend, the basis of mercy is truth. Listen—listen. The Bible teaches us that that mercy and truth are linked together.

III. The Blessings of Mercy
Let me just finish this message talking to you not only about the beauty of mercy, talking to you not only about the basis of mercy, but let me talk to you for just a moment about the blessings of mercy. Oh, the blessings of mercy! You see, Jesus here is giving blessings. And, Jesus says, “Blessed”—“blessed,” “blessed”—“are they which do hunger and thirst…[they’ll] be filled. Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy.” (Matthew 5:6–7) Now, that doesn't mean that we are forgiven because we show mercy. It means we show mercy because we are forgiven. And, the more mercy we show, the more mercy we get. It's just a cycle. And, you show mercy because you have received mercy.

Let me give you a verse of Scripture. Put this down. Boy, this is another frightening verse! James chapter 2 and verse 13: “For he shall have judgment without mercy”—that means there are some who are going to come to the Judgment and have no mercy—“he shall have judgment without mercy, that hath shewed no mercy; and mercy rejoiceth against judgment.” (James 2:13) There’s judgment, but mercy just overcomes it. But, my dear friend, you will have judgment without mercy if you show no mercy.

Here’s another verse; put it down: Psalm 18, verse 25. God’s psalmist said to God, “With the merciful [you will] shew [yourself] merciful; with an upright man [you will] shew [yourself] upright.” (Psalms 18:25) My dear friend, when you’re upright, then you show mercy. And, when you show mercy, you get more mercy. The more mercy we show, the more mercy we get. But, we can’t get it until, first of all, we have come the route of being poor in spirit, repenting of our sin, yielding to God, receiving Jesus Christ, God’s righteousness—and when we receive that mercy, we show it.

“A man was blinded in an accident. He was a young man, spent most of his life with perfect eyesight. And then, in an industrial accident he was blinded. He was bitter, confused, hurt, filled with remorse, confusion. After a while, he knew he had to go to a school for the blind. He dreaded it. But, he went into this school and went into the president’s office. The president talked to him and said, “We’re glad to have you here. We want to be a friend to you. We want to help you. You can live a very wonderful life, not as though you had sight, but there are many things that the blind know that others don’t know. We’re here to help you.” Then, he said, “There’s someone here, an instructor, who’s going to show you around the campus.” An instructor came in, and they greeted one another. And, the instructor said, “Come out on the porch with me.” They went out on the porch. He said, “Listen, I just want to help you to get acclimated here.” He said, “Here’s what we’re going to do. I’m going to walk you around the campus, first of all.” He said, “Now we’re going to walk down the steps.” He said, “There are ten steps.” He said, “Count them as we go down. There are ten that go out of this building. Count them. Try to remember how many there are.” Then, he said, “When we go down the steps, we’re going to turn right. And, as we turn right, we’re going to go out through the garden, and,” he said, “we’re going to walk through the garden, and then we’re going to circle the campus.” And, he said, “I want you to get acquainted.”

So, they began to walk. And, he said, “Don’t worry.” He said, “I’ll be right here at your elbow in case anything goes wrong.” That gave the young man some assurance. They went down the ten steps. They turned right. They went out into the garden. They took their time. The man felt the flowers and smelled them. There was a water fountain there. He got a drink from the water fountain. Then they sat on a stone bench there in the garden. Then they continued their route around. And, when they made the entire circuit of the campus, the young man was feeling better. He felt like, “You know, I know where I am. I feel a little bit at home.”

The instructor said, “Let’s go up to the dormitory where you’ll be staying. Let’s go in the room.” They counted the steps into the room. He showed him where all of the furniture was located, where things were put up, where things were kept. And then, he said, “Listen, I’m here to help you. I’m here to show you. It won’t be too long before you’ll catch on.” By this time, the young man was feeling at home. He said, “I want to thank you so much.” He said, “I had so much fear when I came here, but you’ve been such a friend. You’ve helped me so much. I want to thank you.” He said, “You’ve been very understanding.” He said, “You know, it’s hard for someone to understand when you’re blind.” “Oh,” he said, “I can understand. I’m blind also.”

You know, those who have received mercy know how to show it more than anybody else, don’t they? If you haven’t received mercy, no wonder you don’t show mercy. Oh, my dear friend, if God in love has forgiven us, how much more should we forgive one another!

Introduction

Turn in God’s Word—would you please?—to Matthew chapter 5, as we continue our study on the Sermon on the Mount, and under the general heading “Building on the Rock.” We’ve been going through, these past three Sundays on the Beatitudes, a subsection that we have entitled “The Keys to the Kingdom.” These are the Beatitudes. These are sayings of the Lord Jesus Christ that start with the word blessed, which means “to be congratulated, to have joy, to be happy, to be thankful.” And, it’s really a hard word to translate, other than just the word blessed. And, the Lord Jesus is teaching us here that character is far more important than anything else. These Beatitudes deal with character—“the attitudes that ought to be.”

It has well been said that “a child rejoices in what he has, a youth rejoices in what he does, but an adult rejoices in what he is.” Now, whether that’s always true or not, I want to say that the more mature you are as a Christian, the more you will rejoice—not in what you have or what you do, but in what you are through the Lord Jesus Christ. And, that’s what these Beatitudes talk about.

Let’s look at them again. Verse 1: “And seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him: And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying, Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted. Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled. Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy”—and then we come to verse 8. What a beautiful Beatitude!—“Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.” (Matthew 5:1–8)

Today I want to talk to you about integrity, and the title of the message is this: “Integrity: Don’t Leave Home Without It.” “Blessed are the pure in heart; for they shall see God.” (Matthew 5:8) There is an integrity crisis in America, and it touches every area of America, whether it be Watergate, Irangate, or “Pearly Gate.” All of the institutions in America are being touched by scandal and problems, and underneath it all is an integrity crisis. Three things I want you to notice as we look at this wonderful Beatitude.

I. The Principle of Integrity

First of all, what I’m going to call “the principle of integrity.” “Blessed are the pure in heart.” (Matthew 5:8) Now, what does this word pure mean? It’s the word from we get our English word catharsis, which means “a purifying,” whether it be physical or emotional, a catharsis. And, the word does not have to do so much with cleanliness, although that is inferred. It has to do more with “unity” or “singleness of heart or mind.” It literally means, “Blessed is that which is unmixed.” For example, grain that would have chaff in it would not be pure. Or, metal that would have alloy in it would not be pure. Or, milk that had been diluted would not be pure. Or, an army that would have people who would defect—defectors in it—would not be pure. And so, when he says, “Blessed are the pure in heart,” (Matthew 5:8) what he is talking about is, “Blessed are those who have integrity, that do not have divided hearts, that do not have double hearts.” The word literally means “singleness of heart.”

Now, the Lord Jesus Christ amplified this. Look in chapter 6, in this same sermon, and verse 24, and you’ll pick it up: “No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot”—you cannot—“serve God and mammon.” (Matthew 6:24) You cannot be double-minded—you cannot have an impure heart—and see God. You want to worship God? You must do it, my dear friend, without duplicity and without hypocrisy.

Now, there are a number of verses that I want to give you today, and, I think, if you’ll just stay parked in Matthew chapter 5… Unless you’re very nimble with your fingers, jot the scriptures down. But, let me give you some other scriptures. For all of the Bible comes down, really, on this one verse: “Blessed are the pure in heart” (Matthew 5:8) — “Blessed are those who are single-minded; blessed are those who are not double-minded.”

Listen to these. James 4, verse 4: “Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know ye not that the friendship of the world is enmity”—that is, “warfare”—“with God? whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world is the enemy of God.” (James 4:4) What he is saying is that you can’t hold the world with one hand and Jesus Christ with the other. And then, James goes on to say in James chapter 4 and verse 8: “Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you”—now, listen to this—“Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded.” (James 4:8) Literally, in the Greek, it is “you two-souled, double-souled people”—“you have spiritual schizophrenia, you double-minded.” You’ve got to have a single mind if you’re going to serve the Lord.

Do you know what David was called in the Bible? King David? I love King David. I’ve got a son named David who is a missionary in Spain. I love David, and we named our son David after this David, and I’ll tell you why. The Bible says in Acts chapter 13 and verse 22 that David was “a man after [God’s] own heart.” (Acts 13:22) Now remember, we’re talking about the heart, and we’re talking about integrity. “Blessed are the pure in heart.” (Matthew 5:8) I want you to see how David illustrates what we’re talking about. When God looked at David, when God was wanting a king over Israel and God came to measure David, God did not measure him by putting the tape measure from his head to his feet—God didn’t measure to see how tall he was—nor did God put the tape measure around David’s biceps. God put the measure around David’s heart.

Remember all of the sons of Jesse had come in there, and Samuel was looking for the next king of Israel. And, by the Holy Spirit, Samuel is trying to discern which one is the one that God has chosen. And, Jesse brought his big, tall son out there, Eliab, and he looked like a king. I mean, he looked like some sort of an Adonis there, and he came out. The old prophet looked at him, and God said to Samuel, “Look not thou on the height of his stature or on his countenance, for God does not see as man sees. Man looks on the outward appearance, but God looks on the heart” (1 Samuel 16:7)—the little boy named David, a keeper of the sheep. Samuel said, “Isn’t there another?” “Oh well, there’s just little David.” He said, “Well, bring him on in here. I want to look in his face. I want to look into his heart.” And, there he was, David. And, God said, “That’s the one I want, and I want him because of one thing: I want him because he’s a man after my own heart.” (1 Samuel 16:1–12) Now, what is “a man after God’s own heart”? Well he’s a man with integrity. I’m going to give you some verses that David wrote. And, by giving you these verses that David wrote, you’re going to see what made David the man he was. Jot them down.
Psalm 7 and verse 8—David said, “The LORD shall judge the people: judge me, O LORD, according to my righteousness, and according to mine integrity.” (Psalms 7:8) Do you see it? “Mine integrity.” (Psalms 7:8) By the way, just let’s open to Psalms right here; it’s worth it. Just go ahead and turn to Psalms right now. We’ve got time for this. I want you to mark these verses. Psalms, if you are not familiar with your Bible, is just about in the middle of your Bible. And, turn to Psalm 7 and verse 8. Let’s start right there. Psalm 7 and verse 8: “The LORD shall judge the people: judge me, O LORD, according to my righteousness, and according to my integrity that is in me.” (Psalms 7:8) Now, an integer is the simplest number. That is, it is a unit; it is not divisible. That’s what he’s talking about: “my integrity—I’m not double-minded.”

Look, if you will, in Psalm 25. Just fast-forward to Psalm 25, and look, if you will, in verse 21. Here’s the prayer of David. Here’s the man after God’s own heart: “Let integrity and uprightness preserve me; for I wait on thee.” (Psalms 25:21) David knew that when he waited on God, his great resource was his integrity.

Now, look in Psalm 26 and verse 1: “Judge me, O LORD; for I have walked in mine integrity: I have trusted also in the LORD; therefore I shall not slide.” (Psalms 26:1) Look in verse 11: “But as for me, I will walk in mine integrity: redeem me, and be merciful unto me.” (Psalms 26:11) Go to Psalm 41 and verse 12, and we’ll make this one the last one along this line—but Psalm 41 and verse 12: “And as for me, thou upholdest me in mine integrity.” (Psalms 41:12) By now I hope you’re catching something. By now I hope a thought is forming in your mind. When God looked at David, God said of David, “There is a man after mine own heart.” (Acts 13:22) And, what was David's heart? David’s heart was a pure heart.

The word pure means “integrity.” It means “single-mindedness.” It’s not a spiritual schizophrenic. You say, “But didn’t David sin?” Yes, David sinned. David sinned horribly. He failed God. But, I’m going to tell you something about David: David may have had a sinful heart, but he always had a single heart. You see, David was not a hypocrite. And, when David sinned, it broke David’s heart as well as it broke God’s heart. And, David never offered an alibi. David offered a confession. And, he said in Psalm 51: “Against thee, thee only, have I sinned, and done this evil in thy sight: that thou mightest be justified when thou speakest, and clear when thou judgest.” (Psalms 51:4) David knew what it was to be right, and David knew what it was to be wrong. Yes, he wasn’t sinless. My dear friend, he was single. He was not a hypocrite.

Now, I want to ask you a question, my dear friend: Do you have that kind of integrity? Do you have absolute integrity? I’m getting to the age now where young preachers come to me, and they say to me, “Pastor Rogers, Brother Rogers, give me some advice. What would you say that I need in the ministry?” You know what I tell them? “Integrity—integrity. Just have integrity.” “Blessed are the pure in heart” (Matthew 5:8) —those who are single-minded, not double-souled, who love God with all of their heart. Now, that’s the principle of integrity.

II. The Place of Integrity

Second thing I want you to think about: the place of integrity. Notice what he says:

“Blessed are those who have integrity in their heart”—“Blessed are the pure in heart.” (Matthew 5:8)

Now, what do we mean by that? We talk about “giving your heart to Jesus.” The skeptic says, “What are you going to do? Reach in the thoracic cavity and bring out that pulsating muscle and give that to God?” No, when the Bible uses the word heart, it’s not talking about the muscle that pumps the blood. It is talking about the core of the individual. It is talking about the seat of our emotions. It’s talking about the inner person. It’s talking about what I would call, in modern language, “master control.” “Your heart” speaks of total commitment. When people fall in love, they’re called what? “Sweethearts.” Not “airheads,” but “sweethearts.” They fall in love. Now, it’s the heart that is the core of individual. It is that part of the individual that dictates the character, directs the will, and dominates the affections.

Here’s a verse—Proverbs chapter 4 and verse 23: “Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life.” (Proverbs 4:23)

If you are going to be pure, my dear friend, you must be pure in heart before you can be pure any other way. And, that brings us to a real problem. Now, here’s a verse I want you to turn to. It’s found in the Old Testament—Jeremiah. It’s a classic verse on the heart: Jeremiah chapter 17. And, I want you to look at it with me and turn to it, because we’re going to get right down to the crux of the matter right here—Jeremiah chapter 17, verses 9 and 10. Now, the Bible says we are to be blessed if we are pure in heart. But, very frankly, none is. Look.

Here’s what Jeremiah says, and this is the classic passage—Jeremiah chapter 17, verses 9 and 10: “The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked: who can know it? I the LORD search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings.” (Jeremiah 17:9–10)

Now, here’s what Jeremiah says about my heart and your heart.

A. The Disease of the Heart

First of all, he says it’s diseased. Do you see that word that says “desperately wicked” (Jeremiah 17:9) in verse 9? That word literally means “incurably sick.” In Jeremiah chapter 15, verse 18, he uses the same word, and he says, “My wound [is] incurable, [it refuses] to be healed.” (Jeremiah 15:18) It’s the same word that is used for “desperately wicked.” It means that you have a heart problem, my dear friend; you have a heart ailment—and I’m not talking about the physical ailment. You have an ailment that resists all medication. “My wound [is] incurable, [it refuses] to be healed.” (Jeremiah 15:18) All the spiritual exercise and all of the spiritual diet in the world will not cure the disease of your heart. The heart is sick. It resists medication.

Now, so many people don’t understand that their problem is their heart. And, they’re trying to medicate their heart, when they need a heart transplant. They are trying somehow, some way, to cure the problem of sin. But, sin is on the inside. And, even if you reform on the outside, you’ve not dealt with the problem of the heart. I have told you before, the heart of the human problem is the problem of the human heart.

Now, I’ve gone to a sawmill from time to time and have been very interested in watching them put logs on that cradle and lop off the edges. They’ll take a big ol’ log out of the woods. And, it may have bumps and knots on it; it may be a little crooked, but they lay it on that cradle, and run it through there, and lop off one side of that log, bring it back, and turn it, run it through again, and lop off another side, bring it back, turn it, run it through again, and cut off another side. And finally, on the outside, it’s perfectly square. And, if you stand and look down, it’s perfectly straight. But, if you’ll go and look at the end of it, the heart is still crooked.

That’s the way it is with some individuals. Some individuals—they have reform outwardly. But, the Bible says, “The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked.” (Jeremiah 17:9) That’s the reason that just reformation is not enough. You need regeneration. If a man is a drunkard, for example, and he quits drinking without getting saved, all that means is he’ll go to hell sober. I mean, he’s still got to be saved. The problem is not on the outside, primarily; the problem is on the inside.

Listen to what Jesus said. Just stay there in Jeremiah, and listen to what Jesus Christ said in Mark chapter 7 and verses 20 and following: “And he said, That which cometh out of man, that defileth the man. For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, Thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lasciviousness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness: all these things come from within, and defile the man.” (Mark 7:20–23) And, my dear friend, all of these things are in your heart. You say, “Murder is not in my heart. Fornication is not in my heart.” That just proves that you don’t know your heart. “[Your] heart is deceitful above all things, and [it is] desperately wicked.” (Jeremiah 17:9) What Jesus Christ is saying is that all of these things are residual and potential in every human heart. And, we little may dare dream the potentiality for evil that lurks in our hearts. It is there down in the heart, and Jesus said it just comes out of the heart. (Mark 7:21) Everything that you see wrong in the world today has originated in the heart of men. These things come out of the heart.

If you see an apple with a wormhole in it, don’t be afraid there’s a worm in that apple. No, the hole is not there to let the worm in; the hole is there to let the worm out.
The worm was already in the apple. The hole says the worm has come out. Well, how did the worm get in there? The worm was hatched in the blossom. And, the worm was inside that apple, and it simply came out. And, these things that we see in the world today—they have come out of the heart of man. They are inbred in human nature.

That, my dear friend, is the diagnosis of the heart: your heart is diseased.

B. The Deceitfulness of the Heart

And, not only is it diseased; it’s deceitful. It’s so deceitful. Look again in Jeremiah. Go back to Jeremiah chapter 17: “The heart is deceitful above all things.” (Jeremiah 17:9) This word deceitful is the same as the name Jacob. You know, we said the name Jacob means “supplanter”; it means “con artist.” Now, if your name is Jacob today, let me tell you that Jesus transformed that name to mean “prince” today. So, be proud of your name. I’m not putting down the name. Jacob is a wonderful name. Jacob is one of the brightest stars in the Hebrew heaven, but he wasn’t until Jesus, in the Old Testament Spirit of God, had changed Him. But, the name basically meant “deceiver.” And, you remember it was Jacob who deceived his father, old, blind Isaac. And Jacob, how Jacob deceived his father—he put some goat hair on the back of his hand and came in and pretended that he was Esau. And, old, blind Isaac, who just simply went by his feelings, like so many people do, he felt the back of Jacob’s hand, and he said, “Well, the voice is Jacob’s, but the hand is Esau’s,” and he gave Jacob the blessing. Now, Isaac made a mistake. Like so many Christians today, he went by feeling rather than by the word. He made a mistake that way—just by feeling. How easily people are deceived! And, how the old Jacob in all of us deceives people!

But, my dear friend, what God is saying is that your heart is a Jacob that will deceive to get what it wants. It is incurably ill, and it is very deceitful. I’m talking about your heart. “[Your] heart”—my heart—“is deceitful above all things.” (Jeremiah 17:9) What is the most deceitful thing in the world today? You say, “The media.” Friend, the media is only deceitful because of the hearts of the people in the media. The most deceitful thing is not Hollywood. The most deceitful thing is not the media. The most deceitful thing is not some con artist. The most deceitful thing in all of the world is the human heart. “[It] is deceitful”—the Bible says—“above all things.” (Jeremiah 17:9) I didn’t say that; God said it. Now, we don’t want to recognize the problem of the heart.

One preacher went to witness, a preacher friend told me; said, “I was out soul winning.” He said, “I was in a home, and,” said, “the man in that home was a wife beater and a drunkard and an adulterer, and,” he said, “she wanted me to come witness to her husband.” He said, “I was in there talking to him, trying to get him under conviction of sin. And, she’s sitting over there hoping he won’t get mad. And so, she said to me, ‘But preacher, he’s got a good heart.’” Friend, that was his problem—that was his problem:
his heart—“deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked.” (Jeremiah 17:9)

And so, dear friend, you need to understand just how foolish it is to follow this world that says, “Let your conscience be your guide.” That’s like saying, “Let your heart be your guide.” See, you can be sincere, but if your heart is deceitful, you’ll be sincerely wrong. Here’s one of the most incredible verses in all of the Bible: “He that trusteth in his own heart is a fool.” (Proverbs 28:26) That’s it: “He that trusteth in his own heart is a fool.” (Proverbs 28:26) “The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked.” (Jeremiah 17:9) Sometimes somebody will ask you a question, and you’ll say, “Well, if I know my heart…” Well, the problem is you don’t know your heart when you answer that question.

C. The Diagnosis of the Heart

Now, I’ve talked about the disease of the heart. I’ve talked about the deceitfulness of the heart. Let me talk to you about the diagnosis of the heart. Go back to Jeremiah chapter 17, and look at it again. He says in verse 10: “I the LORD search the heart, I try the reins.” (Jeremiah 17:10) Now, you can’t search your own heart. How can Jacob investigate Jacob? How could Mr. Nixon investigate Watergate? I mean, how can a deceitful heart investigate a deceitful heart? Who is going to diagnose the heart? Who is going to say whether your heart is good or bad? My dear friend, it must be God Himself. For you to try to diagnose your heart would be like looking at a sundial with a flashlight. You’ll never get the correct time. And, for a deceitful heart to try to diagnose a deceitful heart—it is impossible. You see, your heart is diseased. It is deceptive. And, therefore, God says, “I try the heart.” Now, how does God do this?

1. God Reviews the Heart

Well, first of all, God reviews the heart. God just looks into your heart. And, the word—look at it here—it says, “I the LORD search the heart.” (Jeremiah 17:10) Do you see that? “I…search the heart.” (Jeremiah 17:10) That word means—we’re in Jeremiah chapter 17, verse 10: “I the LORD search the heart” (Jeremiah 17:10)—that means “an intensive review.” God, with His x-ray eyes, dear friend, sees things that I can’t see this morning. You all look so holy today. Friend, God’s eyes go right past that suit you’re wearing, and God searches the heart.

2. God Reveals the Heart

But, not only does God review the heart; God reveals the heart. Look again, if you will, here: “I the LORD search the heart, I try the reins.” (Jeremiah 17:10) Do you see that? “I try the reins.” (Jeremiah 17:10) Do you see it? Look at it—Jeremiah 17, verse 10: “I try the reins.” (Jeremiah 17:10) Now, what are the reins? That’s the control center. Remember that I said that your heart is master control? Now, God looks into your heart, and God searches your heart. And then, after God reviews the heart, God reveals the heart. How does He do it? He tries the reins. God allows circumstances to come into your life, and God sees how you react to those circumstances. If, my dear friend, your actions don’t prove what you are, your reactions prove what you are.

Have you ever been rude to a person? Don’t answer. You say, “Well, that person made me mad.” Well, they just revealed the anger that’s in you. They didn’t put that rudeness in you; that rudeness was already there. All they did was push the hot button. God is just trying the reins. One thing after another, God allows circumstances to come into your life. And, you say, “Well, I’m surprised at myself. I never thought I could do that.” Yeah, because you didn’t know “[your] heart [was] deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked.” (Jeremiah 17:9) And, you didn’t know that down in that pit called the human heart were all of those things, because we can mask it so well, can’t we? The right circumstance has to come.

A little girl was in the park, and a dog was barking. She started to cry; and then, the dog stopped. And, the mother said, “Look, don’t cry darling. He stopped barking.” She said, “But his bark is still in him.”

My dear friend, you may be able to control these situations, but there will come a time when it will come out and you’ll be surprised.

3. God Rewards the Heart

God reviews the heart, and, my dear friend, not only does God review the heart; God reveals the heart, and God rewards the heart. Listen, when God comes to judge, you know what He’s going to look at? Not primarily what you did but primarily what you are. The Apostle Paul says in 1 Corinthians chapter 4 and verse 5: “Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God.” (1 Corinthians 4:5) You see, God doesn’t see as man sees. Now, you see me preaching a sermon. You hear my words. My dear friend, God sees my heart this morning. God sees my heart. God reviews the heart. God reveals the heart. And God, my dear friend, rewards the heart. “Blessed are the pure in heart.” (Matthew 5:8) It is the heart—it is the heart—that is the place of integrity.

D. The Doctor of the Heart

I want to talk to you, my dear friend, not only about the diagnosis of the heart and the disease and deception of the heart, but oh, thank God for the Doctor of the heart. Jeremiah chapter 17, verse 14—look at it: “Heal me, O LORD”—and that’s the only one who can—“Heal me, O LORD, and I shall be healed”—how does He heal? By saving you—“save me, and I shall be saved.” (Jeremiah 17:14) You need a new heart. You need to be born again. How does God change you? He gives you a new heart—He gives you a new heart. Look in Jeremiah chapter 24 and verse 7. Oh, what a wonderful verse this is! He says, “And I will give them an heart to know me.” (Jeremiah 24:7) There’s a heart transplant. That’s how God does it. God just gives you a new heart. When He saves you, He gives you a new heart. And friend, you cannot be pure in heart without a new heart.

First of all, you see yourself as a bankrupt sinner: “Blessed are the poor in spirit.” (Matthew 5:3) Secondly, you are broken over that: “Blessed are they that mourn.” (Matthew 5:4) Thirdly, my dear friend, you yield yourself to Him: “Blessed are the meek.” (Matthew 5:5) You say, “Here, God, I want your will.” God puts a hunger in you. “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness.” (Matthew 5:6) That’s Jesus. You have a hunger and a thirst for the Lord Jesus Christ. And then, by mercy, He gives you mercy: “Blessed are the merciful.” (Matthew 5:7) That’s what you need today—that you might have mercy. Then, my dear friend, there’s a pure heart. It’s a work of God. It is the work of God. Oh, Doctor Jesus will give you a brand-new heart!

III. The Promise of Integrity

Now here, thirdly and quickly, what I’ve talked to you about is the principle of integrity. The principle of integrity is single-mindedness. I’ve talked to you about the place of integrity. “Blessed are the pure in heart.” (Matthew 5:8) That’s where it begins. If your heart is right, it doesn’t matter what else you do. You’ve got to be pure in heart, and only Jesus can give you a pure heart. Now, let me talk to you just briefly about the promise of integrity. “Blessed are the pure in heart; for they shall see God.” (Matthew 5:8) That’s it! That’s it! You will see God.

You see, there’s something about sin that blinds you. The Bible says in 2 Corinthians chapter 4, verse 4: “The God of this [age] hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of [the Lord Jesus] should shine unto them.” (2 Corinthians 4:4) They’re blind to their sin, blind to the danger; but they’re blind to God. They want to see God. People want to see God. I mean, they’ve done everything trying to see God. They’ve swung from ropes. They’ve pierced their bodies through with knives. They’ve fasted. They’ve prayed. They’ve lived in caves and holes of the earth. They have given their money. They have gone on pilgrimages. They have done everything, trying to see God, trying to know God. My friend, let me tell you how to know God, how to see God: just get your heart pure; you’ll see God. You say, “With my eye?” Oh, no—with the eye of faith. You see, He’s not talking about your physical heart. He’s not talking about your physical eye. You get your spiritual heart right, and your spiritual eye will see.

I was reading that scripture this morning over there in Hebrews chapter 11, where the Bible says Moses “endured, as seeing him who is invisible.” (Hebrews 11:27) You get your heart right, and friend, you’ll see the invisible; you’ll see God. So, how will you see Him? Oh, you see, you'll see Him in circumstances. You'll see Him in nature. You'll see Him in the face of your grandchild. You'll see Him in the Scriptures. And, God will become a bright, living reality to you. The Bible will burst aflame in your hands. God will be real to you, and I'll tell you why: because you'll see Him; you'll perceive Him. You will know Him because your heart is pure. In this same Sermon on the Mount, the Lord Jesus Christ said, “When [your] eye is single, [your] body [will be] full of light.” (Luke 11:34)

There are times, very frankly, when my heart gets cold, and I get away from God, and I get so busy doing things—good things—that steal away that time, just that pure devotion I need for Jesus. I have to get alone in my study, just close the door, and say, “God, it's time. I've got to see you.” And, I'll start dealing with things in my life. I start giving back to God things that I've taken, maybe not of my reputation—some supposed ability, or some so-called possession that I don't really own anyway. It all belongs to Him. Even my children, my darling wife, this church, the ministry—I give it to Him, and I say, “God, I want one thing, and I want you only.” Friend, I'll tell you, I can tell the moment when my eye gets single because my body gets full of light. You see God—you see God.

Conclusion
That's what we need—for God to be real. And, my dear friend, what God wants in you, and what God wants in you more than anything else, is a simple little word: integrity.

Don't leave home without it.†

Introduction
Be finding in the Gospels the Gospel of Matthew—Matthew chapter 5—and we’re going to look here in just a moment at these Beatitudes, “the attitudes that ought to be,” the characteristics of the God-like. And we call these Beatitudes “the keys to the kingdom.” We’ve been having a wonderful time studying the Beatitudes. And let’s begin to read—verse 1: “And seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him: and he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying, Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.” That is, “Blessed are those who see their spiritual need, that see that they are bankrupt in the sight of a righteous and a holy God.” Then, verse 4: “Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.” Yes, blessed are those who are broken over their sins, who truly repent and turn from their sins. And then, verse 5: “Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.” Blessed indeed are those who are yielded to God and ready to accept His will for their lives. Verse 6: “Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.” And our righteousness is Jesus Christ Himself, who is God’s answer to man’s sin. And then, “Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy.” Those of us who have been shown mercy, show mercy. And thank God for the mercy we have received in the Lord Jesus Christ. “Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.” When we have come this route, then God purifies our heart and gives us a fresh vision of Himself, and God becomes a bright, living reality. And then we come to the Beatitude for today—verse 9. Look at it: “Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.” (Matthew 5:1–9)

The other day when I was on an airplane I picked up one of those magazines and I read about a new mall that is opening in Minneapolis. It is said to be the largest shopping mall in the world. It covers 4.2 million square feet. Now that’s big. It’s got stores, restaurants, nightclubs, amusement rides—all of this. You say, “Well, how big is that?” Well, you could put eighty-eight football fields inside this mall. And, ladies, listen.
To visit every store, you would have to take a three-mile hike—just to visit every store in that mall. It employs ten thousand people. They expect to be doing 650 million dollars worth of business a year. About forty million visitors a year are going to come to this mall.

Now when I read that article, I thought, “You know, that’s a big shopping mall. But there’s one thing you will not be able to buy there—and that is peace.” Nobody can put it in a bottle. Nobody can put it in a jar. There’s no way, no matter how big the shopping center is, that you can buy the commodity that I’m talking about today and that is a commodity that the world needs more than anything else—and that is peace. There is something desperately wrong with our world, and you don’t need me to tell you about it.
Just pick up any newspaper and you can study it.

Now we are very intelligent people. We know a lot. We can build a mall that big. We can build jet airplanes. We can build rockets. We can build all of this. We have television that can circle the globe. We’ve made the world a neighborhood, but we haven’t made it a brotherhood. There is a desperate cry, a desperate need, for peace.

Now, what causes all of this? Well, just turn to the book of James with me—James chapter 4 now for just a moment—and I want you to look at it. James chapter 4, I think, is one of the most significant passages in all of the Bible as we go on this search for peace. James explains the whole thing. James says in James chapter 4, verse 1, “From whence come wars and fightings among you?” (James 4:1) “Why can’t we live together?” James says, “Where does all of this come from?”

In my reading I read a very interesting story. There were two men who had been taken captive by the Americans in World War II. They were captured in Germany with other German prisoners. They were brought back to the United States and they were put in a prisoner of war camp. But these two young men were different than all of the other German soldiers. They seemed to keep to themselves. They seemed to be frightened. They seemed to be bewildered. Nobody seemed to be able to communicate with them. The other Germans said they really didn’t know anything about them. And every attempt to talk to them was led to frustration, as they would shrink further and further back away from the interrogators. Nobody knew who they were. They couldn’t figure them out. They were just different. They didn’t even look like the other Germans. After a while, they brought in an expert. And he began to talk to them. He said, “No wonder you couldn’t talk with them. They are from Tibet. You don’t even understand their language.” This man understood their language, and then he got their story.

Let me tell you what happened to these two fellows. It’s really not funny, but it is funny in a way. They lived in Tibet, and they were tired of living there in their little village. They had never been anywhere or seen anything, shut off from the outside world, so they decided they would go from Tibet across the northern border. They found themselves in Russia during World War II. Immediately they were picked up by the Russian authorities. They didn’t know who these boys were. Before long, they were on a train headed towards the West. When they got there to outside a big city, they were given an army uniform. They were sent to boot camp. They shoved a rifle in their hand, and they were there on the Russian front fighting the Germans. They had never seen anything like that: people in hand-to-hand combat. They were shooting each other with guns. These young men, frightened, retreated; and when they retreated, they were captured by the Germans. And the Germans now took them, put them on another train, and they were traveling now, and they ended up in a German prisoner-of-war camp.

About that time the Allies had come with the invasion of Normandy. The Germans are retreating. They need every man that they can get. So they take these boys, shove a gun in their hand, and tell them to go fight the Americans. And so they’re out there now again, scared to death. They begin to retreat. And the Americans capture them. And this time they’re put in an American prisoner-of-war camp, and they end up in the United States. And finally, the whole secret is unlocked. These boys from Tibet came. They didn’t know anything. Finally, after they talked to them a while, they said, “Do you have any questions?” They said, “Yes, we have a question: Why are all these people trying to kill each other?” They couldn’t figure it out. “What on earth is happening?”

And that’s the question that James is asking right here: Where do these wars come from? From where come wars? “From whence come wars and fightings among you?” Now what James does, he mentions three wars that are going on. Listen to them. “From whence come wars and fightings among you? come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members? Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not. Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye might consume it upon your lusts. Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know ye not that the friendship of the world is enmity with God? whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world is the enemy of God.” (James 4:1–4)

The very first war: Men are at war with one another. Verse 1: “From whence come wars and fightings among you?" We’re at war one with another. Oh, every now and then we’ll have a truce. But a truce is that period of time when you stop to reload. Every now and then we’ll have a truce. But there is no peace—religious, economic, racial, social, political, family or personal peace. We are a people at war on the face of this globe.

Well, why are men at war with one another? Well, continue to read: “Come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members?” That is the second war. The first war is that we war among ourselves. Why do we war among ourselves? Because we are at war within ourselves. That’s what James said. There is a war on the inside that wars in our members. People are not at peace. And that’s the reason they can’t be at peace with anyone else. Most of the folks are a fight going somewhere to happen. They’re just an argument going somewhere to happen. Why? Because they are in turmoil themselves. We live in a world that is uptight and full of turmoil.

Finish these sentences for me. Let’s see if you can do it. I’m ready to throw in the… towel. You got that one right. I’m at the end of my… rope. I’m just a bundle of… nerves. My life is falling… apart. I’m at my wit’s… end. See, you know them all, don’t you? I mean, here are people; folks, we’re just full of turmoil. And James says the war on the outside is because of the war on the inside.

Well, why the war on the outside? And why the war on the inside? Because of the third war. And that is, we are at war with God. Look in verse 4, where he says, “Friendship with the world is enmity”—and that word means “warfare”—“with God.” See, we’re at war with one another—why? Because we’re at war on the inside And why are we at war on the inside? Because we are at war with God. And, “There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked.” (Isaiah 57:21)

Now, my dear friend, until you are right with God in this world, you’re going to be a troublemaker, and not a peacemaker. Just put it down big and plain and straight: until you’re right with God, in this world, you’re going to be a troublemaker, and not a peacemaker.

I. The Attribute of Peace

Now the Bible says, “Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.” The first thing I want you to see today: the attributes of peace. What do we mean by peace? Peace, my friend, is not appeasement. Don’t get the idea, if you’re a peacemaker, that you are an appeaser. Appeasement never brings peace. And don’t think that you are honor-bound to get along with everybody. There is something wrong, something desperately wrong, with the person who can get along with everybody. You just can’t do it. Now you can try. The Bible says, “If it be possible, as much as lies within you, live peaceably with all men,” (Romans 12:18) which means that it’s not always possible.
As a matter of fact, you’re going to be known by the enemies you make. Dr. Robert G. Lee, the former pastor of this church, was a great man. But he had his enemies. And he had people who didn’t love him. Every man of God has those who don’t love him. I’ve heard Dr. Lee say on more than one occasion, “One of these days somebody is going to preach my funeral.” Well, literally, I preached his funeral. But I didn’t know that I would, years ago. But he said, “One of these days somebody is going to preach my funeral, and when I’m in that coffin, when I’m in that casket, if that preacher has the nerve, the audacity, to say, ‘Here lies dear old Dr. Lee: he didn’t have an enemy, I pray God He’ll give me the courage to kick the lid off that coffin, rise up, and say, ‘That’s a lie!’” He didn’t want to be known as a man who did not have an enemy. All of us who stand for God will have enemies.

I remember reading about some preacher boy who was in a class in a liberal college, and the professor was telling them, “Oh, we ought never to have any enemies; we ought never to be controversial; there ought never to be any problems,” and so forth. And what he was giving was the gospel of appeasement. And then he said, “What we need to do is to follow the example of Jesus.” And that young preacher boy lifted his hand. He said, “Professor, if Jesus Christ was so beautifully tactful and diplomatic, how did He manage to get Himself crucified?”

Friend, listen. Jesus Christ did not get along with everybody, and everybody did not get along with Jesus Christ. And peace is not appeasement, and peace is not truce making. Now you can have a truce, and a truce is better than hot war perhaps. But that only means that is the cessation of hostilities. And there can still be a cold war. It goes underground to fester and to grow, and then perhaps to break out again.

Peace is not even the absence of war of any kind—hot or cold. There is no strife in a cemetery. But incidentally, that’s not peace. Every now and then you’ll go in a cemetery and you’ll see where it says on the headstone, “Rest in Peace.” Well, friend, it takes more than a grave marker to bring peace to a troubled soul. Peace is not just simply the absence of war. When the Bible uses the word peace, it is a positive word.

In the Old Testament, and today, modern Jews greet one another the same way: with the word shalom. And that word means “peace.” When you meet somebody and you say to them, “Shalom,” that doesn’t mean, “May you get out of war.” It infers there is something good, something wonderful, something positive, that is happening. The Greek word for “peace” is the word eirene. We get our beautiful name Irene from that. If your name is Irene, that means “peace.” Eirene: that’s the word he is using here. It is a positive word.

Now, my dear friend, let me tell you what peace is. Peace is not appeasement. Peace is not truce making. Peace is not even merely the absence of war. What is peace? Peace is a right relationship. Listen carefully, because this is a technical point, but a very important point. Peace is a right relationship with God that leads to right relationship with self and guides us in a right relationship with other people. That’s what peace is. It is a sense of wellbeing. And literally, peace is the result and fruit of righteousness.

Now if you don’t see anything else, I want you to get this now. I want you to see how righteousness and peace are linked. This is not an artificial link. If you are an unrighteous person, you can never have peace. “‘There is no peace,’ says my God, ‘to the wicked.’” The only way that you can have peace is to have righteousness. Notice the Beatitudes: “Blessed are the pure in heart,” and then, “Blessed are the peacemakers.” There is no peace without purity.

Put these verses down in your margin. First of all, James 3, verse 17: “The wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable.” (James 3:17) Did you get it? First, purity; then, peace. “Blessed are the pure in heart.” “Blessed are the peacemakers.” “The wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceful.”

Put this one down—Psalm 85 and verse 10: “Mercy and truth are met together; righteousness and peace have kissed each other.” (Psalm 85:10) Isn’t that a great verse? “Righteousness and peace have kissed each other.” There is a love affair between righteousness and peace; there is a marriage between righteousness and peace. And what God hath joined together, let no man put asunder. (Matthew 19:6; Mark 10:9) In Hebrews chapter 7 and verse 2, the Bible shows Melchizedek is a picture, a type, of the Lord Jesus Christ, and Melchizedek is called two things: first of all, “King of righteousness”; and, secondly, “King of peace.” (Hebrews 7:2) First, He must be “King of righteousness.” After He is “King of righteousness,” then He becomes “King of peace.” You see, righteousness and peace have kissed one another.

My dear friend, you cannot have peace without righteousness. What is peace? Peace is a right relationship with God, a right relationship therefore in your heart, and a right relationship with one another. It is a positive thing. It is the righteousness of God ruling and reigning in your heart.

II. The Adversary of Peace

Now that, my dear friend, is the attribute of peace. Secondly, not only do I want you to see the attribute of peace; I want you to see the adversary of peace. It follows, as night follows day, if peace is linked with righteousness, then war—lack of peace—is always rooted in sin. It always is. Let me give you these verses. Isaiah chapter 48 and verse 22: “There is no peace, saith the LORD, unto the wicked.” (Isaiah 48:22) That’s it. You want peace. This world wants peace.

My dear friend, sin is the problem. Can you imagine standing up in the Pentagon and saying, “Gentlemen, the problem is sin”? Can you imagine standing up in one of the great universities and saying, “Gentlemen, the problem is sin”? People are saying, “What are we going to do about war? What are we going to do about all of these problems?” Ladies and gentlemen, “There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked.” Righteousness and peace are linked together. Sin separates men from God. Sin brings inner turmoil. And it separates men from men.

Here’s another verse—Jeremiah 8:11–12. Key verse: “For they have healed the hurt of the daughter of my peace slightly, saying, Peace, peace; when there is no peace.” (Jeremiah 8:11) Do you remember back in the sixties when the hippies were going around saying, “Peace, bro? But, my dear friend, they were living ungodly, immoral lives. There can be no peace without the Prince of Peace. There can be no peace without purity. And so the Bible says in Jeremiah that people give a false peace, saying, “Peace, peace,” when there is no peace. And then he says in Jeremiah 8, verse 12, “Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not at all ashamed, neither could they blush.” (Jeremiah 8:12)

We have a group of people today yelling, “Peace,” and they can’t even blush over their sins. Did you know that a human being is the only animal that can blush? Friend, he is the one that needs to. But we have forgotten how to blush. Here are these people going around saying, “Peace, peace.” The Bible says they have committed an abomination—this generation of unblushables, wondering why we don’t have peace. It’s very obvious: the adversary of peace is sin. That’s the reason the Bible does not teach peace at any price.

One of the strangest verses that ever fell from the lips of the Prince of Peace, Jesus, is this—Matthew 10, verse 34. He said, “Think not that I am come to send peace on earth: I came not to send peace, but a sword.” (Matthew 10:34) That’s incredible, because the Bible calls Him the Prince of Peace. (Isaiah 9:6) I mean, He is known as the Prince of Peace. When He was born, the angels said, “Peace on earth; good will to men.” (Luke 2:14) The Bible says, “Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.” And yet in this passage Jesus Christ said, “Don’t think I came to send peace. I didn’t come to send peace; I came to send a sword.”

What is He talking about? He is saying, “I did not come to bring some sort of a false peace and amalgamation of good and evil. I came with a sword to put a line of demarcation between truth and error, between light and dark, between sin and righteousness.” Now what Jesus is saying is this—that when God’s standard of righteousness is set, there will always be a division. Without righteousness, there can be no godly peace. And the sword that Jesus has is like a scalpel. It must first hurt before it heals. Peace can never come where sin remains. God will never make a peace treaty with sin—never!

had won a sea battle, and there was a French admiral who was surrendering to Lord Nelson, and that French admiral came, and he was dressed up in all of his regalia, with his special hat; he had all of those scrambled eggs on his shoulder. He came with spit and polish to approach Lord Nelson on the deck of a ship. He had his sword down by his side in the scabbard. And Lord Nelson saw him coming. Remember, he was coming to surrender. And that admiral with almost a smile on his face, as an equal, put out his hand to Lord Nelson. Lord Nelson just stepped back and said, “Your sword first. Lay down your sword.”

My dear friend, there are a lot of people who just think they can walk up and gladly hand the Lord Jesus Christ. He says, “Your sword first. Surrender first.” Jesus, my dear friend, is not an appeaser, and He will never make a truce with sin—never! To that degree, Jesus said, “Don’t think that I came to send peace. I came to send a sword.” What He meant by that is this: there can never be peace without first of all a surrender to the lordship of Jesus Christ.

III. The Attainment of Peace
Now, here’s the third thing I want you to see. I’ve talked to you about the attribute of peace, which is righteousness. I’ve talked to you about the adversary of peace, which is sin. “There is no peace, saith my LORD, to the wicked.” Now I want to talk to you about the attainment of peace. I’ve said you can’t buy it in that supermarket. You can’t buy it in that mall. How can you attain peace? Let me give you some wonderful news.

A. Peace Has Been Planned by the Father
First of all, this peace has been planned by the Father. Jeremiah 29 and verse 11—if you don’t know this verse, you need to learn it: “For I know the thoughts that I think toward you, saith the LORD, thoughts of peace, and not of evil, to give you an expected end.” (Jeremiah 29:11) When God thinks of you, do you know what God wants for you? Peace. This is what God desires for you. God’s thoughts to you are not thoughts of malevolence. God is not some vengeful deity sitting up there on the throne making a lot of rules and laws that make you squirm like a worm in hot ashes trying to keep them, throwing down thunderbolts of wrath. That’s not the idea of God. God says, “The thoughts I have toward you, the things that I think to you, the plans that I have for you, they are plans of peace.”

Six times in the New Testament He is called the God of peace. In the book of Judges, Judges chapter 6 and verse 24, He is called Jehovah Shalom—Jehovah Shalom, the Lord our peace. Peace, peace, has been planned by the Father.

B. Peace Has Been Purchased by the Son
Secondly—are you listening?—peace has been purchased by the Son—planned by the Father, purchased by the Son. Put these verses down—Ephesians 2, verses 13 and 14: “But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ. For He is our peace.” (Ephesians 2:13–14) “You who were far off, you who were enemies, you are made near nigh by the blood of Christ. For He is our peace.”

Then put this one down—Colossians 1, verses 19 and 20: “For it pleased the Father that in him should all fulness dwell;”—that is, in the Lord Jesus Christ—“and, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself.” (Colossians 1:19–20) Jesus Christ on the cross provided this peace. How does the cross bring peace? At the cross wickedness was not appeased; wickedness was confronted. At the cross sin was not overlooked. At the cross sin was atoned and paid for, and God’s greatest righteousness confronted man’s greatest wickedness. And righteousness won and peace was attained through the blood of the cross. Thank God for that. I say, thank God for that.

A lady who lay dying—some people did not know her very well, she was a stranger in those parts, and they thought they ought to witness to her. One came and stood by her bedside and said, “Madam, do you know how ill you are?” She said, “Yes, I believe I am dying.” They said, “Well, we don’t want to alarm you, but have you made peace with God?” She said, “No.” They said, “May we help you to make peace with God?” She said, “No.” “Don’t you realize you’re dying?” “Yes.” “Don’t you want to make peace with God?” She said, “No.” She said, “I have no need to make peace with God: I am resting in the peace that Jesus made at Calvary.” She was way ahead of them. “I am resting in the peace that Jesus made.” We don’t make peace; Jesus made peace through the blood of His cross.

C. Peace Is Provided by the Spirit

Now, listen. It was planned by the Father—God says, “I know the plans I have for you, the plans of peace”; purchased by the Son; and, my dear friend, it is provided by the Spirit, the Holy Spirit of God. You see, the Bible says in Galatians chapter 5 and verse 22, “The fruit of the Spirit is…peace.” (Galatians 5:22) It is provided by the Spirit.

Remember Jesus. In John chapter 14 Jesus said, “I am going to pray to the Father, and He will send you another Comforter, that He may abide with you.” (John 14:16) “And He is going to teach you all things and bring them into your remembrance.” (John 14:26) And then He says in verse 27, “Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.” (John 14:27) It is the Holy Spirit that brings this to our hearts and minds. He is the One who gives us this peace in our hearts, that tells us we are at peace with God. Planned by the Father, purchased by the Son, provided by the Spirit: the Holy Spirit is the executor of the will of Jesus Christ, Jesus’ last will and testament before He died.
He said to you, “Peace I give unto you.” That is what He left you. That is His legacy, my dear friend: His peace. And then He said, “Not as the world gives, give I unto you.” It is peace, as the old song says, the world didn’t give and the world can’t take away. The world didn’t give it to me, and the world can’t take it from me. It is the peace that passes understanding. (Philippians 4:7) No psychologist, no psychiatrist, without Jesus Christ could have any understanding of this, my dear friend.

IV. The Agents of Peace

Now, last of all, look at our text, and it says very, very wonderfully, “Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.” Let me talk to you last of all about the agents of peace. We have talked to you about the attribute of peace, the adversary of peace, the attainment of peace, and then here is the agent of peace. And that’s me; that’s you. We are God’s agents.

I saw a cartoon in a magazine one time that in a preacher’s study there was his filing cabinet—you know, this four-drawer filing cabinet. And in the drawer next to the top it said “Sacred.” And in the one right at the very top it said “Top Sacred.” Well, dear friend, you are a sacred agent. You are Sacred Agent 777. You are God’s agent of peace.

Now that is so true. You are an ambassador. Do you know what we said peace is? It is reconciliation. And the Bible says in 2 Corinthians chapter 5, verse 18, “All things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ,”—we’ve been saved; we’ve been given peace; and then He says—“and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation.” (2 Corinthians 5:18) That is our ministry. Oh, my dear friend, what is the ministry of reconciliation? It is just simply soul winning. It is just simply telling people about Jesus. He has given to us the ministry of reconciliation.

I was invited to Washington for the inauguration, and after the inauguration I got in a cab, and I came out the door. You know where I had been a guest there: at a particular building. And the cab driver thought I was important because of the door I came out. He said, “What do you do?” I said, “I am an ambassador.” Boy, he looked up. He was impressed. “Who do you represent?” I said, “A king.” Boy, He was really impressed. We went on a while back and he said, “Well, who is he?” I said, “He’s the greatest.” Well, on and on I just toyed with him for a while, and then I told Him, “I am a son of God, an ambassador of Jesus Christ, and an emissary of peace,” and I preached Christ to that young man.

And, my dear friend, I want to tell you, I had rather be an ambassador for Jesus than to be a prince or king here on this earth. We are ambassadors for Christ. He has committed to us the ministry of reconciliation. The grandest thing, the greatest thing, you can ever do is to receive the peace that Jesus Christ made on the cross, and let the peace of God rule and reign in your heart, and then be not just simply a peace lover, but, my dear friend, a peacemaker; not an appeaser, not making peace with sin and unrighteousness, but lifting up the precious blood of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Conclusion

Do you have peace? Corrie Ten Boom said, “If you look around, you’ll be distressed. If you look within, you’ll be depressed. But if you look to Jesus, you’ll be at rest.” That is where the peace comes from. Do you have peace with God? Do you? Remember you'll never have peace until something is done about this problem of sin.

Introduction
Take God’s Word and turn to Matthew chapter 5. We have been studying together the Beatitudes. And, I don’t know about you, but my own heart has been blessed and enriched as we have studied together the Word of God, these beatitudes, as we’ve said, the attitudes that ought to be the character of a Christian, what a Christian is really like, and we call these the keys of the Kingdom. And, today, we come to Matthew chapter 5 and verse 10: “Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you” (Matthew 5:10–12).

And, I have a feeling, ladies and gentlemen, that we are living in the lengthening shadows of the last day. I believe that Jesus Christ is coming soon, and one of the marks of the last days—and we can see it fulfilled—is the persecution of the saints of God, the children of God. The new whipping boy in the world today, do you know who he is? He is the Bible-believing Christian. You can ridicule other groups and get in trouble, but today, if you want to become the butt of jokes, if you want to receive the wrath of the world, become a true Bible-believing Christian. There’s no way to be a genuine Christian, a true man of God, and true woman of God, and escape persecution.

I want you to put in your margin 2 Timothy chapter 3 and verse 12. Don’t turn to it but listen to it. The Apostle Paul said, “Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Timothy 3:12). There are no ifs, ands, and buts about that. All will—that is, who determine to live godly in Christ Jesus. So, I want to speak to you today on this subject: “Preparing for Persecution.” And, you need to prepare your children, just as you prepare them to go to school, you need to prepare them to live in a world that is becoming increasingly hostile to Bible-believing Christians. Now, you can rub shoulders with this world. You can compromise with this world. You can go along with this world, and not receive any persecution. The persecution comes to those who will live godly in Christ Jesus.

Now, as a matter of fact, this verse that I just read to you speaks of joy. It says, “Rejoice, and be exceeding glad,” and it speaks of persecution. That’s incredible that God would put both joy and persecution in the same passage, isn’t it? Joy is the thermostat. Persecution is the thermometer. You say, “What do you mean by that?” Well, no matter what happens, the joy of the Lord is there to regulate conditions in your life. There’s nothing that can take your joy from you. Joy controls conditions like a thermostat. But, let me tell you about persecution. Persecution is the thermometer that registers how much you love Jesus. That’s it. If you’re out-and-out for Jesus Christ—you can tell whether or not you’re out-and-out for Jesus Christ by the persecution you get.

Now, if you’re not getting any persecution, don’t say you must be doing a wonderful job. Very frankly, you’re doing a poor job. For the Bible says, “Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution.” That doesn’t mean that they’re going to throw you in the dungeon. That doesn’t mean that they’re going to tie you to a post and whip you. That doesn’t mean that they’re going to come in with a machine gun and kill your children. It may do all. All of that may happen, but that isn’t what that necessarily means. The word persecution literally means, “to pursue,” as we’re going to see here in a moment. They are going to follow after you in many ways. You will become the butt of jokes; you’ll become ostracized socially; you’ll be passed by for promotions; you’ll be looked down upon as socially inappropriate, if you live godly for Christ Jesus.

When I was a young man working my way through school, I was in construction work, and I was a carpenter’s helper in high school and also early college, and I worked alongside of a man who was quite a profane man. And, when he learned that I was going to be a preacher, he really enjoyed ragging me about my faith, which I didn’t mind, really, but I was the butt of a lot of jokes, and a lot of innuendos, and so forth, but then he said, “Listen, young man. If you’re going to be a preacher, why don’t you be a good one?” And then, he said, "I knew a preacher one time; he was a good preacher." I said, "Well, tell me about him.” He said, “He was a great guy. You could be around him, he would never mention politics or religion.” That was his idea of a good preacher: a man who never talked about God. Now, if you just want to be the kind of a person who never takes a stand for anything, never witnesses for the Lord Jesus Christ, the people like that profane man that I was working under, they'll think that you are just fine.

I. The Reasons for Persecution

Now, let me very quickly, in the time we have, as we look at this passage of Scripture that talks about preparing for persecution, I hope to make it very personal, and let me give you, first of all, the reasons for persecution. Why are Christians persecuted?

A. The Life We Live

Look in verse 10, if you will: “Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake” (Matthew 5:10). Do you see it? That's the reason: “for righteousness' sake.” Now, the word righteousness comes from a Greek word which means, “to divide.” The reason that Christians are persecuted is that in a very real sense they are divisive; they divide. They are different. You see, to divide means, “to be different.” Christians are different. Christians ought to stand out like a diamond in a coalmine, like a gardenia in a garbage can. Christians are different.

Now, point in case: if you'll just take the first seven beatitudes that we read and look at them, how different they are from the world! We’re just simply different. For example, it says, “Blessed are the poor in spirit” (Matthew 5:3). Well, the world doesn’t say that you’re to be poor in spirit. Humility is laughed at today. Today we’re told, “Be number one; assert yourself.” The Beatitudes say, “Blessed are they that mourn” (Matthew 5:4). Who in America wants to mourn? America is laughing her way into Hell. “Blessed are the meek” (Matthew 5:5). The world says, “Don't be a meek man. Be a mighty man. Be a muscle man. Be a money man. Be a missile man. But, whatever you do, don’t be a meek man.” The world doesn’t like that. The world thinks that meekness is weakness, and the world’s attitude and motto is “Winner take all.”

Now, what I’m simply saying is this—and listen to me, my dear friend: If you will take these beatitudes, I will guarantee it; if you’ll take the first seven attitudes and begin to live that way, then number eight is guaranteed: you will be persecuted—you will be persecuted. Now, if you’re not living by the first seven, you’re not going to get number eight. But, if you’ll take the first seven, if you’ll take these beatitudes and you will begin to put them into shoe leather, get them out of that notebook that you’re writing in and get them into shoe leather, the eighth is guaranteed. Why? Because children of God are children of light, and they’re children of darkness. My dear friend, we’re alive in the spirit. They are dead in trespasses in sin. We live by faith. They walk by sight. We understand them. But, they do not understand us. And, Jesus, after He talked about being persecuted, He said, “You’re the salt of the earth; you’re the light of the world” (Matthew 5:13–14). Salt irritates when it is poured into a wound, and light reveals. And, I’m telling you that the gospel of Jesus Christ is an irritant to the putrefying wounds of this world, and the gospel of Jesus Christ is revealing light to the things of darkness of this world. And, therefore, they say, “Remove that salt, and put out that light.”

Now, when we are persecuted for righteousness’ sake, we must be very careful here. We must be very, very careful that it is persecution, and not punishing. A lot of Christians confuse persecution and punishment. We are punished by good people when we do evil. We are persecuted by evil people when we do good. Now, that’s the difference. Now, there are a lot of people, very frankly, who think that they are being persecuted when they are simply receiving punishment that they ought to receive. Here’s another verse I want you to put in your margin—1 Peter chapter 4, beginning in verse 14: “If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of; but on your part he is glorified.” But now, listen to 1 Peter chapter 4, verse 15: “But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody”—verily, he that sticketh his nose in shall find a fist at the end of it—“in other men’s matters. Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed” (1 Peter 4:14–16).

A lot of Christians think they’re being persecuted. They’re not being persecuted; they’re just busybodies; they’re just people with bad manners and bad breath and arrogance and ego and everything else. And, they say, “Oh, people don’t like me! I’m being persecuted!” You’re not being persecuted. My dear friend, you’re not living for the Lord Jesus Christ. That’s just what you have received because of what you have done. You say, “Well, I’m a witness.” But, the problem is, you’re not a witness; you’re more like a prosecuting attorney. You say, “Well I want to be different.” But, the problem is, you’re not different; you’re odd.

Now, my dear friend, when Christians are filled with the Spirit, they’re going to be supernaturally natural. They’re going to be naturally supernatural. They’re going to be different. And, they will be persecuted. But, don’t go around saying you’re persecuted if you’re not living for the Lord Jesus Christ. This passage of Scripture, in the Beatitudes, says, number one, it must be false what they say about you; and, number two, it must be for His sake.
B. The Lord We Love

The first reason that we’re persecuted, number one, my dear friend, is because of what we are; that is, the life we live. The second reason we’re persecuted—look at the Scripture again—“Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake”—that’s the first reason. Now, look, if you will, in verse 11: “Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake” (Matthew 5:11). That’s the second reason: the Lord we love. That will bring persecution. The life we live: “for righteousness’ sake.” The Lord we love. Jesus says, “for my sake.”

May I tell you, this world hates Jesus Christ. You say, “Oh no, the world doesn’t hate Jesus Christ.” My friend, the world hates Jesus Christ. Now, when I say that, a lot of people don’t understand why I say that. Let me say this, my dear friend. The world does not hate the baby Jesus. Pretty soon, Christmas will come, and everybody loves a baby in a manger. The world doesn’t hate the baby Jesus. A few people may. But, by and large, the world, the giddy crowd, dances around the manger, and the merchants will make millions. They don’t mind the baby Jesus. I’m going to tell you something else. The world does not hate the Jesus that healed the sick and fed the multitudes. The world doesn’t hate that Jesus—not at all. That isn’t why the world hates Jesus. And, if that’s all you know of the Lord Jesus Christ, then you may think that the world really doesn’t hate the Lord Jesus.

Do you know why the world hates Jesus? Jesus said, “I have come to destroy the works of the devil” (1 John 3:8). And, that, my dear friend, is why the world hates Jesus. Jesus has come to destroy the works of the devil. What are they? Liquor, abortion, pornography, pride, racism, and greed. And, Jesus Christ stands against that, and the world stands for it. And, my dear friend, when you stand with the Christ of the Bible—when you stand with the Christ of the Bible... I’m not talking about the baby Jesus. I’m not talking about the humble Jesus by the shores of Galilee. I’m talking about the Savior. Listen to what Jesus Christ said, in John chapter 15, verse 19 and following. Jesus said to His disciples, “If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you. Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord. If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they have kept my saying, they will keep yours also” (John 15:19–20).

My dear friend, the only reason that the world hate Jesus is because Jesus is not of the world. And, the Bible says, in Philippians 1 and verse 29, “For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Philippians 1:29). My dear friend, when you receive Jesus Christ, you receive suffering. You say, “Well then, I don’t think I’ll receive Him.” That’s your business—that’s your business. Just don’t receive Him. But, don’t come down here and say, “I want to be a Christian. I want Jesus Christ as my Lord. I want Him as my Savior. I want Him as my companion. I want His fullness. I want His grace. I want His love. But, I’m not going to suffer with the Lord Jesus Christ.”

My dear friend, you can’t be that way. Jesus said, “I’ve chosen you out of the world,” and the reason that a Christian, a real Christian, is persecuted, number one, is for righteousness’ sake: he is different. And, number two, for the Lord’s sake: he is devoted. The life we live, and the Lord we love. The life we live; the Lord we love. The life we live; the Lord we love. My dear friend, you begin to live by these beatitudes, and you be out-and-out, with a burning, blazing, passionate, emotional love for Jesus Christ that will not back up, let up, or shut up, and this world will come down on you like a hammer. And, if you don’t believe it, it’s because you’re not doing it. My dear friend, the Bible says, “Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution.” That, my dear friend, is the thermometer that registers how much you love the Lord Jesus Christ.

II. The Result of Persecution

Now, here’s the second thing: not only the reason for persecution, but the result of this persecution. What shall it be like? Look, if you will, in verse 11: “Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you,”—number one—“and persecute you,”—number two—“and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake”—number three (Matthew 5:11).

A. Personal Insult

First of all, there’s going to personal insult. They will revile you. You will be made the butt of jokes. There are people that are going to laugh at you. They’ve done it ever since I was a teenager, gave my heart to Christ in high school, and would not do the things the other guys did, and would not use the language the other guys used. I was captain of my football team, president of our class, but nonetheless I knew what it was to be ridiculed and reviled for Jesus Christ.

B. Physical Abuse

But, not only will they revile you, my dear friend; there may be not only personal insult, but physical abuse. The Bible says they will persecute you. And, this word persecute has more than just being reviled. It means, actually, they will do you harm if they can. You say, “Well, people don’t do that in the twentieth century today.” My dear friend, listen to me. More people have died for Jesus Christ in this century than all of the other centuries put together—in this century; in the twentieth century. As a matter of fact, there are people right now who are in prison. I’m not talking about in the former Soviet Union. I’m talking about in America. You know why? They’re standing up for the unborn—they’re standing up for the unborn. I mean, today. They are in prison. They’ve been persecuted. Why? Because they stand up for those who cannot stand up for themselves.

C. Social Stigma

But, not only will there be personal insult, and physical abuse; there will be social stigma. They will “say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake.” My dear friend, Christians never truly—true Christians, Bible-believing Christians—are never really reported on in the newspapers or in the media—most of the time, at least—as they ought. If you ever see a situational comedy, the Bible-believing Christian, what’s he made to look like? He is, number one, made to look like some authoritarian bigot, or some cruel monster, or some Elmer Gantry hypocrite—the whipping boy, the whipping boy; I say of society today is the Bible-believing Christian. He may be the most widely hated species on this earth. Much of it comes from the radical, liberal median, radical sibyl libertarians and the pornography industry. The mainstream film and television producers are becoming overtly anti-Christian. That’s the result of it.

III. The Response to Persecution

Now, number three. I’ve talked to you about the reasons for it. I’ve talked to you about the result of it. “They will revile you. They will persecute you. They will say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake,” the Lord Jesus said. Now, number three: What is your response? What is your response? How are you going to respond?

A. Reign in Life

Well, number one, my dear friend: You need to respond like a king. Look at it, if you will. He says, in verse 10, “Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven” (Matthew 5:10). Now, just underscore that. The very first thing you ought to do is reign like a king. When you’re persecuted, never come down to their level. You are a part of a kingdom, and you need to live like it. You need to walk like it. You need to talk like it. Never get down on their level. Remember, yours is the Kingdom. You’re one of the King’s kids. And, learn to act like it and live like it.

There are three levels of life. First of all, there’s what I want to call the hellish level. That’s the level of Hell. That’s the level that returns evil for good. That’s what Jesus is talking about. We’re persecuted for righteousness’ sake. All of that is out of Hell. If you’re one who persecutes the righteous, may God have mercy upon you! There is the hellish level. Then, there is the human level. The human level returns good for good, and evil for evil. Most people are on that. They’re not on the hellish level; they’re on the human level. But, my dear friend, there’s the heavenly level—the heavenly level, the level of the Kingdom, that returns good for evil. Now, that’s the level you’re to get on. When you’re persecuted, then learn to return good for evil. That, my dear friend, is what we’re called to do.

Look in Matthew chapter 5 and verse 43. You’re there in Matthew 5; look in verse 43: “Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy. But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you; that ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven” (Matthew 5:43–45). That’s what I’m saying. You’re the King’s kids. You are the King’s kids. You act like your Father in Heaven. Don’t get even. You see the problem with getting even is this: you’re a child of the King; you’re in the Kingdom. Here are these people: they’re out of the Kingdom. You say, “I’m going to get even.” You see what you do? Do you see what you do when you get even? That’s what you do. You get even. Don’t get even. Return good for evil. Reign in life.

B. Rejoice in the Lord

Number two: Rejoice in the Lord. Look in verse 12. He says to “Rejoice, and be exceeding glad” (Matthew 5:12). Do you know what this word means? I did a word study on it. It literally means, “to leap and jump.” I mean, “to dance.” You’re so happy you can’t keep your feet on the ground. Why? Because you’ve been persecuted. You say, “That doesn’t make sense.” Oh, friend, when you realize they can finally see the difference, when you realize that somebody has discovered that I’m a Christian... Somebody said, “If most people were arrested for being a Christian, there wouldn’t be enough evidence to convict them.” “Rejoice, and be exceeding glad,” because somehow they have identified you with the Lord, and that ought to be a time of great joy.

I was reading the other day in Acts chapter 5, verse 41, about those early apostles who were persecuted, and the Bible says, in Acts chapter 5, verse 41, after they had been put on trial, the Bible says, “And they departed from the presence of the council, rejoicing”—rejoicing, rejoicing—“that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for his name” (Acts 5:41). Boy, isn’t that a great verse? Have you ever said, “Oh, thank you Lord, thank you, thank you, I’m worthy to suffer shame for your name”? Reign in life. Rejoice in the Lord. Our Lord has commanded that you’re to rejoice and be exceeding glad. The Bible says, in 2 Timothy chapter 2, verse 12, “If we suffer, we shall also reign with him: if we deny him, he also will deny us” (2 Timothy 2:12).

C. Respond in Love

The third thing: not only should you reign in life, and rejoice in the Lord, but you should respond in love. Just respond in love. What a witness that is! You see, it’s so much easier to respond in love if you’ve done the first two things. Just reign in life, and rejoice in the Lord, and just respond in love. You see, my dear friend, the world needs love. The world doesn’t need what it deserves. You know what love is? Love—love—is not giving people what they deserve; love is giving people what they need. And, Jesus said, “Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you” (Matthew 5:44). What a witness!

Let me tell you what happened. Saul, before he became the Apostle Paul, Saul hated a Christian. That Christian’s name was Stephen. My son Stephen is named after this same Stephen, my son who played the piano today. Stephen stood up for the Lord Jesus Christ, and Paul hated him. And, Paul said, “If you guys want to stone him, I’ll hold your coats” (Acts 7:58). There’s old Saul over there holding the coats, looking with glee, as old Stephen is being stoned (Acts 8:1). And, here’s Stephen over here, the stones are falling on him, he’s crumpling to the earth, and he begins to pray, and he says, “Lord, Jesus, lay not this sin to their charge” (Acts 7:60). He’s being stoned, and he’s praying; he’s praying for old Saul over here. Saul never forgot it. He never forgot it. Later on, when Saul got saved, Jesus said, “It’s hard for you, isn’t it, Saul, to kick against the pricks” (Acts 9:5). That is, it’s so hard for you to rebel against what is happening in your heart and your life, because you saw the love of God released in a man who was being persecuted for righteousness’ sake. He returned good for evil. The greatest Christian who ever lived came to Jesus Christ.

Conclusion

You say, “I don’t know if these people who are persecuting me are going to get saved. I don’t know whether they’ll be better or not if I return good for evil.” I don’t know whether they will or not, either. I don’t know whether they’ll be better or not myself, but I know one thing: you’ll be better. You’ll be better. You’ll be better. You see, look, folks. We are not in this world to please other people. We’re here to please Jesus.

I’m told that a concert violinist played a concert, and when he finished playing, the people stood to their feet in applause. But, the violinist put his face in his hands and wept. They said, “Don’t weep! Look at the people! They loved it!” But, he kept weeping. They said, “Look! They’re all standing!” He said, “They’re not all standing.” He said, “You see that man down there? He’s not standing.” They said, “He’s only one man.” He said, “I know. But, he’s my teacher. And, if he’s not pleased, I’m not pleased.”

Friend, I want to tell you something. It doesn’t matter if you please the whole world, and don’t please Jesus. But, if you please Jesus, it doesn’t matter whom you displease. That’s it. I’m going to give you a chance right now to take a stand for Jesus Christ. No fine print in the contract. I’m going to ask you to come to Jesus Christ and commit your life to Him and to be different, to receive persecution, yes, but to receive “joy unspeakable and full of glory” (1 Peter 1:8).
When Christians Are Persecuted

Introduction
Take God’s precious Word and find the Gospel according to Matthew, chapter 5, and we’re going to look at a classic passage of Scripture on persecution. And, our message today is “When Christians Are Persecuted.” I believe that we’re living in the lengthening shadows of the last days, and one of the marks of the last days, according to the Word of God, will be increasing persecution on the children of God, the true Church.

Now, let me tell you something, and it may come as a shock to you: but you cannot be a genuine Christian and escape persecution. Now, at the close of the message today I’m going to be giving an invitation, and I’m going to be asking men, women, boys, and girls to say “yes” to Jesus Christ. I’m going to ask you to trust Him as your personal Lord and Savior—and not only trust Him in your heart, but I’m going to ask you openly, boldly, plainly to take a stand for Jesus Christ by coming forward, to identify yourself with Jesus Christ; not to try to bootleg a blessing, not to try to sneak into heaven under camouflage, but I’m going to ask you to take a bold, clear stand openly for Jesus Christ. But, I want to say at the outset I don’t want there to be any fine print in the contract. I’m telling you that if you give your heart to Jesus Christ—I mean, if you are a true Christian—you are going to suffer persecution.

Second Timothy 3:12—even before we get to our text, let me give you this: “Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution.” (2 Timothy 3:12) It doesn’t say they may; it says they shall. And, it doesn’t say some; it says all. “All [who] will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution.” (2 Timothy 3:12) Whether you’ve noticed or not, the whipping boy in today’s society is the Bible-believing Christian. That is true today. Christians today—true Bible-believing Christians—may be the most widely persecuted people on earth. Everything from the limitation of their freedoms to verbal abuse, or anti-Christian groups or organizations—even to the point of death—Christians are being persecuted today. Now, of course, you can compromise, you can rub shoulders with this world, and not suffer any persecution at all. As a matter of fact, they’ll like you very much. But, if you take a stand for the Lord Jesus Christ—an open, clear stand for Jesus—you will be persecuted.

When I was going to college and seminary, I had to work my way through eight years of school. Joyce and I were married for seven of those eight years, and we intentionally started our family. I wanted her to stay home with the children, and I worked. I’ve done many, many things. One of the things I’ve worked at was construction work—worked as a carpenter’s helper when I was a college student, and even as a high school student. And, I worked alongside a profane man who used perverse language, gutter language, and he loved to ride me about the fact that I’m a Christian, and then especially the fact that I’d already given my heart and felt the call to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ, even in high school. And, he would laugh and make all the preacher jokes. And, by the way, I’ve heard every preacher joke you’ve ever heard. Don’t think you can tell me a preacher joke I haven’t heard. You just may, but I doubt it. But, all of those preacher jokes and all of that—I heard all of that. And then, one day, in a moment of seriousness, he laid down his hammer, and he turned to me and he said, “Well, I’ll tell you one thing.” He said, “If you’re going to be a preacher, be a good one.” He said, “I knew a preacher one time; he was a good one. You could be around him all day long. He’d never speak to you about religion.”

That’s what the world believes. I’m telling you that you can rub shoulders with this world. You can deny the Lord Jesus Christ, and the world will think you’re wonderful. But, if you say, “I’m going to stand up for the Lord Jesus Christ. I’m going to hoist the blood-stained banner of Prince Emmanuel high, and I’m going to march under it,” then this world will come down on you like a hammer. And, if you don’t believe it, you haven’t tried it. The Bible says, “Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution.” (2 Timothy 3:12)

Now, joy is the thermostat in your life that controls your life, but persecution is the thermometer in your life that measures your life. And so, we’re going to look a little bit at persecution today, find out what the Lord Jesus Christ had to say about it. Matthew 5, and I begin in verse 10: Jesus said, “Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake”—well, already it sounds pretty good, doesn’t it?—“Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.” (Matthew 5:10–12) Now, this is what Jesus Christ, our Commander-in-Chief, said about persecution. And, I want to think with you under three headings.

I. The Reasons for Persecution
First of all, I want you to think of the reasons for persecution. Why would Christians be persecuted? Why would anybody want to persecute a Bible-believing Christian?

A. The Lifestyle We Show
Well, in the passage that we just read, there are three reasons, and number one is the lifestyle that we show, or the light that we show. Look, if you will, in verse 10. Look at it quickly: “Blessed are they which are persecuted for”—what?—“righteousness’ sake.” (Matthew 5:10) If you live a righteous life, they will persecute you. Why is that? Well, the word righteous comes from a root word that means “to divide.” If you are righteous, you are going to be different. And, if you’re different, they’re going to persecute you. You see, the Bible tells us in 1 Peter chapter 2, verse 9 that we are “a peculiar people.” (1 Peter 2:9) And, this world doesn’t like peculiar people. It doesn’t say we’re odd. Now, I know some of us are odd, but that isn’t what peculiar means. It means that we are different. We’re children of light; they’re children of darkness. We live by faith; they live by sight. We understand them; they don’t understand us. We are salt, and salt stings and irritates. We are light, and light reveals.

Have you ever been somewhere in a room, people sitting around, perhaps watching television or doing something else, and all the other lights are out, and people have maybe taken off their shoes or maybe loosened their garments, and then somebody comes in and throws on a light switch? They say, “Hey! Turn out that light!” The world doesn’t like the light that reveals.

Now, we are to be persecuted, number one, for righteousness’ sake and because of the lifestyle that we live. What we believe starts at a different source. It follows a different course. It’s headed toward a different conclusion. And, therefore, folks, if you’re righteous in an unrighteous world, it makes sense: you’re going against the tide. It just makes sense. You are different, and the lifestyle we live is one of the reasons you’re going to be persecuted.

Now, that brings me to a point: a lot of people think they’re being persecuted when they’re not. They’re being punished, and they deserve it. What is the difference between persecution and punishment?

1. It Must Be False

We are punished by good people for doing wrong. We are persecuted by evil people for doing right. Now, make certain that it’s persecution that you’re getting. And, you know, Jesus said—look again in verse 10, if you will—"Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake." (Matthew 5:10)

Now, there are a lot of people who are persecuted, and they deserve it—at least, they’re punished. Put in your margin “1 Peter chapter 4.” I’ll read it; you just write it down. First Peter 4:14–16: "If ye be reproached by the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and God resteth upon you: on their part he”—Jesus—"is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified”—when you get persecuted for Jesus, Jesus is glorified. But now, listen to what Peter says—"But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer”—now, listen to this—"or as a busybody in other men’s matters”—don’t be a busybody Christian, sticking your nose in, because if you do, you might find a fist on the end of it. Now, listen—"Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed." (1 Peter 4:14–16)

Now, some of us just suffer for other reasons, and we’re not suffering as a Christian; we’re not suffering for righteousness’ sake. It may be some Messiah complex that we have. It may be arrogance on our part, and it may be laziness on our part. I’ve known of Christians who say, “Well, the boss won’t let me witness on the job. I’m being persecuted.” Well, he didn’t pay you to witness. He paid you to do what you do. Do it. And, don’t call it persecution if you’re being lazy and not doing what you’re supposed to do on the job. Hey, friend, it may just be bad breath and body odor, and you think you’re being persecuted. Hey, no! The persecution has to be because of the lifestyle that we show: we’re like the Lord Jesus Christ. He says, number one, it must be false.

2. It Must Be for His Sake

Number two: It must be for His sake. Now, if you let it be known that you’re a Christian—I mean, where you work, where you live, in the club, if you let it be known that you’re a Christian—you’re going to be different, and they’re going to be watching you. Now, if you’re just like them, it’s not going to bother them at all. But, if you are different—really different—they’re going to persecute you. I said the word righteous comes from a word that means “to divide.” The word persecute comes from a word which means “to pursue.” They’re going to be pursuing you. They’re going to be tracking you. They’re going to be on your trail. They’re going to be watching you. They’re going to see how you react to that dirty joke that’s passed around in the office. They’re going to see whether or not you’re going to bet on the ballgames. They’re going to see whether you will flirt. They’re going to see what you’ll do at Christmastime when they’re having the big party. They’re going to be watching you, and they’re going to be trying to catch you doing something wrong. They’re going to be pursuing you.

One of my favorite stories in the Bible is the Lord Jesus Christ and His disciples on the Sabbath Day. They’re going through the wheat fields, and they’re hungry, so they take some grains of wheat, do that, get the husks off, and eat the wheat. The Pharisees saw Him, and they said, “Aha! Working on the Sabbath! You’re threshing wheat on the Sabbath!” Of course, Jesus taught them that the Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath, and so forth. (Mark 2:27) But, that’s not the point in this particular story. Have you ever thought, “What are a bunch of Pharisees doing out there in the cornfield anyway?” Following Jesus. I mean, they’re just watching Him, just following Him. I’ve said before, it kind of reminds me of Hee Haw. They come up—“Aha! There he is!”—watching, pursuing, trying to find fault. They will pursue you, looking for any blood in the water. They’ll be circling you like barracudas.

B. The Lies We Suffer

Now, why are we persecuted? Number one: the lifestyle we show. Number two: the lies we suffer. Look in verse 11: “[They will] say all manner of evil against you falsely.” (Matthew 5:11) Now, let me tell you something about the world: the world does not play fair. Do you think that the world’s only going to tell the truth about you? No! They’re going to tell lies on you. How did they crucify Jesus? They lied about Him. The Bible says they brought false witnesses against Jesus. (Matthew 26:59; Mark 14:56–57) You remember that? And then what did Jesus say? Jesus said, “The [servant] is [no better than] his master.” (Matthew 10:24)

C. The Lord We Serve

Now, don’t think the devil fights fair. He doesn’t. There’s the lifestyle we show, which is righteousness. There are the lies that we suffer. You say, “Pastor, people ever tell lies about you?” Is water wet? Sure! You say, “Well, they ought not to do that.” That’s not the point. They do. They’ll do that about you if you live for the Lord Jesus Christ. Now, there’s the lifestyle we show. There are the lies we suffer. But, let me tell you the main reason we’re persecuted: the Lord we serve. Jesus said, “for my [name’s] sake.” (Matthew 5:11) If you serve the Lord Jesus Christ, then you are going to suffer persecution.

The world hates Jesus. Now, let me be careful here and tell you what Jesus the world hates. The world doesn’t hate the baby Jesus. The world does not hate the baby Jesus. The world loves the baby Jesus—I mean, the little baby in the manger. Who doesn’t love a baby? The world loves the baby. They love to get together and sing “Silent night, holy night.” I’m talking about the biggest pagans will sing that song. They love to sing it. And, the merchants, whether they’re Christians or not, they say, “Boy, the baby Jesus has done us good.” The world loves the baby Jesus. That’s not the Jesus they hate.

I’ll tell you something else: they don’t hate the Jesus that performed miracles. They don’t hate the Jesus that walked on water, fed the multitudes, and healed the sick. They loved that Jesus. And, the world will contribute money to hospitals that have religious names that are in the ministry of healing. They say, “Well, that’s fine.” And, the world will love that Jesus.

I love the baby Jesus, and I love the Jesus that healed. But, I’ll tell you, there is a Jesus that the world hates, and let me tell you why the world hates Jesus. Listen to John chapter 15, verse 19 and following. Jesus said, “If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but because ye are not of the world, therefore the world hateth you. Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord. If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they have kept my saying, they will keep yours also. But all these things will they do unto you for my name’s sake, because they know not him that sent me. If I had not come and spoken unto them, they had not had sin”—now, watch this—“but now they have no cloak for their sin.” (John 15:19–22) Jesus, in another place, said, “The world hates me because I testify that their works are evil.” (John 7:7)

Do you know why the world hates Jesus? Not because He was a baby, not because He healed the sick, but because He came to rip the mask off of sin and to testify to this world. The world hates the Jesus that’s against pornography. The world hates the Jesus that’s against abortion. The world hates the Jesus that’s against racism. The world hates the Jesus that is against pride. The world hates the Jesus that is against sodomy. The world hates the Jesus that is against the murder of little babies. The world hates the Jesus that says, “This is wrong; it is sin.” That’s the Jesus this world hates. Jesus said, “The world hates me because I testify of it, that its deeds are evil.” (John 7:7) Now, if you go along, you’ll get along. But, when you stand up with Jesus Christ and say, “This is right, and this is wrong”… Remember, the word righteous means “to divide.”

And why, therefore, does a true Christian suffer persecution? The lifestyle we show—we’re different—the lies we suffer, the Lord we serve—those are the reasons, right here in chapter 5 of Matthew. That’s why you’ll suffer persecution. Now, if your life is not any different, there will be no need for them to lie about you. And, if you are not close to the Lord Jesus Christ, if you’re not following Jesus, you’re not getting any persecution. But, I remind you again of what the Bible says: “Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution.” (2 Timothy 3:12)

II. The Result of Persecution

Now, what is this persecution going to be like? We find it here in the Word of God—not only the reasons, but the result of this persecution. Look in verse 11, if you will. Look at it: “Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake.” (Matthew 5:11)

A. Personal Insult

First of all, there’s going to be personal insult. They’re going to revile you. If you’re a child of God, you’re going to be a butt of jokes. You’re going to be openly ridiculed. I’ve been ridiculed since I was in high school for standing up for the Lord Jesus Christ. I’ve been ridiculed by football players that I’ve played football with. I’ve been ridiculed by classmates. I don’t say that feeling sorry for myself. The fleas come with the dog. I mean, you’re going to be ridiculed; they’re going to revile you. And, you know, some people can stand almost anything except to be laughed at. Do you know that? Does it bother you to be laughed at? The Bible says of the Lord Jesus Christ that “they laughed him to scorn.” (Matthew 9:24; Mark 5:40; Luke 8:53) Can you imagine anybody getting a belly laugh at the Lord Jesus Christ? They did. “They laughed him to scorn.” (Matthew 9:24; Mark 5:40; Luke 8:53) They were even mocking Him when He was on the cross dying in agony and blood.

B. Physical Intimidation

What is the result of this persecution? Number one: There’s going to be personal insult. Number two: There’s going to be physical intimidation. They’re going to persecute you. Did you know, while I’m speaking today, there are people in prison, languishing in prisons today, because they are being persecuted—many of them because they’ve stood up for the unborn? And, now they’re in prison. They stood up against the murder of little babies in their community.

Did you know, around the world today, Christians are dying? James Dobson says more believers are martyred in recent years than we dare dream. Last year, approximately 160,000 believers in the world died for Jesus Christ—approximately 160,000. More people have lost their lives for Jesus Christ in this century than all the prior centuries since His birth put together. Did you think that that was for the first century? I’m telling you, all around the world today people are suffering for Christ—in China. And, the business people in China are saying, “Oh, how wonderful it would be if we could just have more business with China!” Where is the politician, where is the president, where is somebody who will speak up against the butchering of Christians in China and the persecution of Christians in China? Listen, there are churches that are not state-run churches where those who will not register, they’re put in prison; they’re tortured. Some of them are forced to unimaginable horrors in China. In the Sudan today, some Christians often are sold into slavery, some for as cheaply as fifteen dollars a head—that’s in Sudan today—because they will not submit to Islam. Did you know in Pakistan there are laws against blasphemy—in Pakistan—where non-Muslims may be forced to convert with Islam or face death? All over the world today people are dying for the name of Christ. Physical intimidation. Most of us have “not yet resisted unto blood,” (Hebrews 12:4) but the day may come.

C. Social Injustice

Personal insult. Physical intimidation. Social injustice. Look at it again. They’re going to “say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my [name’s] sake.” (Matthew 5:11) Jesus described it further in Mark 13—put it in your margin—verse 9: “But take heed to yourselves: for they shall deliver you up to councils; and in the synagogues ye shall be beaten: and ye shall be brought before rulers and kings for my sake, for a testimony against them. And the gospel must first be published among all nations. But when they shall lead you, and deliver you up, take no thought beforehand what ye shall speak, neither do ye premeditate: but whatsoever shall be given you in that hour, that speak ye: for it is not ye that speak, but the Holy Ghost. Now brother shall betray the brother to death, and the father the son; and children shall rise up against their parents, and shall cause them to be put to death. And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved.” (Mark 13:9–13) Do you still want to be a Christian? When I give the invitation, do you still want to come forward and say “yes” to Jesus Christ?

Now listen, what’s He talking about here? Social injustice—it can come from the religious world. Jesus spoke of “councils” and “synagogues”—it can come from the governmental world. Jesus here spoke of “rulers and kings for my [name’s] sake.” (Mark 13:9) The world system, even the court system, is loaded against Christians. Out in California not so long ago, the ACLU said—quote—listen to this: “It is our position that teaching that monogamous, heterosexual intercourse within marriage is a traditional American value is unconstitutional establishment of religious doctrine in public schools.” If you teach in a school that people ought to get married before they have sexual relations, that is a traditional American value that they say is unconstitutional. That’s where we’ve come, folks. If we just simply say, “This is right, and this is wrong”…

There is a fixed standard. In many colleges today, there are professors who are being dismissed and denied tenure because of their Christian stand. Graduate students cannot even get in. They are denied fellowships and even degrees because of their stand for the Lord Jesus Christ. And, it may be at home; it may be domestic. Jesus said in verse 12: “The brother shall betray the brother to death, and the father the son; and children shall rise up against their parents.” (Mark 13:12) Some of you right now I know in this building today are suffering at home because you’re here today—suffering at home; you’re being persecuted for the name of Jesus Christ. And so, what is going to happen today if you stand for the Lord Jesus Christ? What is the result? There’s going to be social injustice. There’s going to be physical intimidation. There is going to be open ridicule if you stand for Jesus Christ. The Bible guarantees it.

III. The Reaction to Persecution
Now, let’s come to the end. We’ve talked about the reasons for it. We’ve talked about the results of it. Let’s talk just a little bit of the reaction to it. How should you as a child of God react to persecution—as a child of God?

A. Reign in Life
Well, this passage of Scripture tells us what we should do. Look, if you will, in verse 10 again: “Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake”—now, notice the next phrase—“for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.” (Matthew 5:10) You know what a kingdom is? A kingdom is where somebody rules and reigns. What do you do when you’re persecuted? Number one: You reign with Jesus in life, just rule with Him. Remember this world is not our home. There are three levels of living. The lowest level is what I want to call the “hellish level,” and the hellish level is where you return evil for good. And, there are a lot of people who will do that. That’s the lowest level—returning evil for good. But then, the human level is the next higher level, and that’s where most people live. That’s returning good for good and evil for evil. That’s the human level. “You get me; I’ll get you. You’re good to me; I’ll be good to you. You scratch my back; I’ll scratch yours. You hurt me; I’ll get you.” That’s the human level: “An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth.” (Matthew 5:38) But, the heavenly level is this: “I will return, not evil for good, not good for good and evil for evil, but I will return to you good for evil.” When you do that, you begin to reign in life.

Now, you’re in Matthew 5; just pass on over to verse 43, and look in verse 43—Matthew 5 and verse 43—and see what our Lord says here: “Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy. But I say unto you”—listen to this—“Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you; that ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and the unjust.” (Matthew 5:43–45) Just continue to reign in life. Don’t come down to their level. When somebody harms you or hurts you, don’t get even.

Remember that there are three levels. Here’s the lowest level: that’s evil for good. Here’s the human level: that’s evil for evil, good for good. Here’s the heavenly level: that is good for evil. Now, here you are up here, and here they are down here. And, you say, “Well, they’ve harmed me. I’m going to get even with them.” Now, watch this. Do you see yourself getting even? Do you see what you’ve done? You’ve gotten even with them; you have come to their level. Don’t do it. You’re children of the kingdom. You live in a different kingdom. We are to reign in life. You know, people with low self-esteem are the people who retaliate. The people who react, the people who resent, are the people who retaliate.

I have a book in my library. The title of the book is Some Dogs I’ve Known. It’s a good book, written by a Methodist preacher of yesteryear. And, what caused him to write the book was one day he’d been preaching in a town and he’d been getting some criticism because he would not cut any corners—a good, old-timey Methodist preacher. And, he was standing out in front of the hotel where he was staying, and he saw one of these massive bulldogs—you know, one that’s got, you know, the great big front shoulders and the little whatever; one of these with the big jaws that hang down like that and his nose slanted back. Do you know why a bulldog’s nose is slanted backward? So he can still breathe while he’s holding on. And, this bulldog, walking down the street like this. And, he said—this preacher said in this story—he said, “I saw a little feisty dog come out and begin to yap at him, and begin to snarl at him, and follow along behind this bulldog, just yapping and snarling.” He said, “The old bulldog never turned around, never paid any attention to him.” He said, “One bite would have cut him in half. He could have turned around, put that little old feisty dog in his jaws and demolished him. But, he just kept walking like the little old feisty dog was not there at all.” And then, here’s what this man wrote, and I copied it down for you: he said, “I did not laugh. I went to my room and said my prayers. I prayed, ‘O God, whatever that bulldog’s got, I want. Oh, for the ability to walk with strong threats straight ahead and let them yap and snarl, growl and bark, to their hearts’ content.’” And then, he pointed out that we need—and I quote again: “Men who the acclaim or howling threat of the multitude do not move. Men who walk on amid criticism, condemnation, anathema, cursings, content to know that in their very molding and making there is something so royal as to defend them forever against such mouthing. Men who are too tall for stooping. Men whose ears are too close to heaven to hear the little growls from the throats of the wormlike things of earth.” That’s good, isn’t it? Think of that big old bulldog, and remember that you’re God’s bulldog.
B. Rejoice in the Lord

Listen, folks, you are a part of the kingdom. Reign in life. Number two: Rejoice in the Lord. Look in verse 12: “Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven.” (Matthew 5:12) Why should you rejoice? Well, number one, if you’re getting persecuted, it’s evident that you’re living godly in Christ Jesus.

I remember reading about those apostles in the book of Acts, chapter 5, and they were persecuted. The Bible says, “And they departed from the presence of the council, rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for his name.” (Acts 5:41) Thank God they can see the difference. Thank God they can. Reign in life. Rejoice in the Lord. You’re like the prophets: “for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.” (Matthew 5:12) Think of your reward: “for great is your reward in heaven.” (Matthew 5:12)

Friend,

It pays to serve Jesus, it pays every day,
It pays every step of the way.

—FRANK C. HUSTON

The Bible says in 2 Timothy 2:12: “If we suffer, we shall also reign with him: if we deny him, he also will deny us.” (2 Timothy 2:12) You don’t have to go around trying to win popularity contests.

There was a concert violinist, and he was good. He played a concert that brought everybody to their feet. He slipped off the stage. The people would not sit down. The people said, “Go back and take a second bow. They won’t sit down. They’re giving you an ovation.” He said, “I don’t want to go out there.” They said, “Listen, they love you. They all love you.” He said, “No, they don’t.” He said, “You see that little man sitting over there with his head down? He’s not standing. That is my teacher. He’s not standing. And, if he’s not pleased, I’m not pleased.” Let me tell you something: if you displease Jesus, it really doesn’t matter whom you please. And, if you please Jesus, it really doesn’t matter whom you displease. I mean if Jesus is pleased, that’s all that you really need to care about. If the Lord Jesus Christ is pleased, then He is going to say, “Well done.”

C. Release Love

Now, here’s the final thing. Look, what do you do? You reign in life. You rejoice in the Lord. And then, you release love. Just release love. Again, Matthew 5, verse 44: “But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you.” (Matthew 5:44) You’re going to be like Jesus if you will do this. And, to do good to them doesn’t mean that you merely have sympathy for them but that you actually, literally, do them good. You know what you can say to your enemies? “I’m going to treat you the way that Jesus treated me.”
“God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.” (Romans 5:8)

Do you know when we do that—when we reign in life, when we rejoice in the Lord, when we release love—do you know what we do? We bring the greatest witness that we can possibly bring. Do you know that the word martyr and the word witness are the same word in the Greek language?

Let me show you how it works. There was a young man named Stephen. Stephen—by the way, deacons, he wasn’t an ordained preacher; he was a deacon—and Stephen preached, in Acts chapter 7, one of the mightiest sermons in the entire Bible. The religious council was out there to persecute him. He was standing up for the Lord Jesus Christ. He would not compromise. He would not back down. He preached the Lord Jesus Christ. They were so angry that they moved against him to stone him, to put him to death. There was a man there whose name was Saul, and Saul was holding the coats of those people who were doing the stoning. Saul, proud Pharisee, he’s over there watching, now, these men murder Stephen. He was being stoned. You haven’t been stoned yet, have you? Anybody here been stoned for Jesus? I doubt it. But now, Saul is there just holding their garments, holding their coats, persecuting these Christians. (Acts 7:58) You know what Stephen did? As he was falling to the ground, as those stones were falling on him, he looked up to heaven and he said, “Lord, don’t hold this against them”—“Lay not this sin [God] to their charge.” (Acts 7:60) He looked up. He said, “I see heaven open. I see Jesus standing.” (Acts 7:56) You know, Jesus is supposed to be seated at the right hand of the Father. But friend, when this happened, Jesus stood up—stood up to welcome Stephen home.

Later on, on the road to Damascus, the Apostle Paul, the one who’d been standing there holding the garments, he saw a light above the brightness of the noonday sun, and out of that light came the voice of One who was the very Son of God, Jesus Christ, and He said to him, “Saul, it’s hard for you, isn’t it, to kick against the ox goad?” (Acts 9:3–5) What was the ox goad that old Saul was kicking against like a big old ox? It was the testimony, the shining face, of a man named Stephen, who said, “Lord, lay not this sin to their charge.” (Acts 7:60)

I’m telling you, when this world sees in us, not arrogance, but genuine love; when they see us being willing to suffer in the name of Jesus and not retaliate, but to reign in life, to rejoice in the Lord, and to respond in love, I’m going to tell you something, friend: that is different, and they’re going to want the Jesus that we have.

Conclusion

I believe that with all of my heart. We’re going to be persecuted—no fine print. In a moment I’m going to ask you to give your heart to Jesus Christ and to suffer persecution. You say, “Ooop, I don’t think I’ll come.” That’s your business. But, I’m going to tell you one thing: if I had a thousand lives to live, I’d give every one to Jesus with all my heart. He’s the only One worth knowing and worth serving.
How to Prepare for Persecution

Introduction

Would you be finding, please, Matthew chapter 5 in your Bible. We’re going to be talking about one of the signs of the last days, and that is the persecution of the church. Did you know that’s one of the signs that we’re living in the last days? And I want to speak to you today about how to prepare for persecution, for as surely as I am standing here the church will know more and more and more and more persecution. And there is no way—that you can be a genuine Christian and be exempt. For example, the Bible says, in 2 Timothy, “Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Timothy 3:12). That’s a pretty clear statement: “all” and “shall.” No ifs, ands, and buts about it. The new whipping boy in the world today is the Bible-believing Christian. He may be the most hated and persecuted person on this earth. Bible Christians today endure everything from the limitations of their freedoms, their civil rights, scorn and ridicule in the media, and many are going through prison, and many through death.

Now, what does the Bible have to say about that? Well, look, if you will, please, in Matthew chapter 5, and hear the words of Jesus—verse 10: “Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake...”—I’m glad that’s there, aren’t you? I’m glad that’s there. Jesus said, “Blessed”—“Blessed”—“are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you. Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing...”—and may I suggest that we have too many good-for-nothing Christians—“it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men. Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid” (Matthew 5:10–14).

Now there is a way that you can escape persecution: just fail to be salt and light. Just compromise. Rub shoulders with this old world. Be conformed to this world. You won’t get any persecution.

When I was going to college, I had a job as a construction worker, a carpenter’s helper.
And they asked me, those carpenters on that job said, “What are you going to do, son?” I said, “God’s called me to preach.” I began to get it in the neck from that time on: all the preacher jokes, and all of the dirty language and so forth. And then one man called me aside, and he looked at me very serious, and he said, “Young man, if you’re going to be a preacher,” said, “let me tell you how to be a good one.” He said, “I know a preacher.
Everybody loved him.” He said, “He never talks about politics or religion. And so,” he said, “if you’ll be a preacher, just never talk about politics and religion.” You can be loved. Just rub shoulders with this old world and everybody perhaps will love you.

Let me tell you something. In the Christian life, joy is the thermostat. You can set the thermostat and decide that you’re going to live with joy, because joy is internal, and it doesn’t depend upon circumstances. But if joy is the thermostat, persecution is the thermometer. It shows how you are living for the Lord Jesus Christ.

Now there are three things I want to lay on your heart today, and they come out of this passage. And, by the way, these are things you’d better write indelibly upon the hearts and minds of your children. Now you may make it. They may not, unless you write this upon their hearts: three things about persecution, as we get closer to the Second Coming of the Lord Jesus Christ.

I. We Should Expect Persecution

Number one: We should expect persecution. Now, why are we persecuted? Why will Bible-believing Christians be persecuted, and why have they been persecuted for 2,000 years?
Three reasons.

A. The Lifestyle We Show

Number one: the lifestyle we show. We are different. Look, if you will, in verse 10:
“Blessed are they which are persecuted for...”—what?—“for righteousness’ sake” (Matthew 5:10). That’s why you’re persecuted: “for righteousness’ sake.” Do you know what the word righteousness means? It comes from a Greek word which means, “to divide, to be different.”
We live in a world that breeds conformity, inclusivity. The world does not like people being different. But listen, friend. We are different. We’re children of light. They are children of darkness. We are alive in the spirit. They are dead in the spirit. We live by faith. They live by sight. Therefore we understand them, but they don’t understand us. And we are different. And they hate differences. We are salt. We know that salt flavors. But I want to tell you something else: you rub salt in a wound, and it irritates; it stings. And we are light. And when people are in a dark room, and you turn on the light, they say, “Hey, turn off that light.” “Men hate the light because their deeds are evil” (John 3:19).

Now when we live a different lifestyle—and, by the way, we’re twice-born people in a world of once-born people—what we have starts at a different source. It follows a different course. It arrives at a different conclusion. I used to think that there were two ways. Here’s the broad way, and here’s the narrow way. And some people are on the broad way, and we’re on the narrow way looking over at them, and they’re over here in the broad way looking at us. That’s not the way it is, folks. Here’s the broad way going this way. Here’s the narrow way going this way, right against the tide. It starts at a different source. It follows a different course. It ends at a different conclusion. We’re twice-born people in a world of once-born people. We are different, and the world does not like the difference. If we’re righteous, they will try to dumb us down. They’ll try to reach out and claim us.

Now when I’m talking about persecution, you must understand there is a difference between persecution and punishment. Some of us are getting what we deserve. It’s just simply punishment. What is punishment? Punishment comes from good people when we do bad. Persecution comes from bad people when we do good. Now some of us, we’re getting what we deserve. You know, Jesus said we’re to be persecuted for what? For righteousness’ sake, and for His name’s sake. Just put in your margin what Simon Peter had to say about that in 1 Peter chapter 4, verses 14 and 15. Now, listen. Listen to what Peter said: “If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he”—that is, Christ—“is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified.” But now, listen to the caveat he put here. “But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men’s matters” (1 Peter 4:14–15).

The reason some of us are being persecuted is we have simply earned it: full of ego, a messiah complex, arrogance, laziness, bad manners, and sometimes, bad breath. And we’ve got it coming to us. No, I’m not talking about punishment. I’m talking about persecution. Some of us try to witness like a prosecuting attorney. Jesus didn’t say, “You’ll be my lawyers.” He said, “You’ll be my witnesses.” If we’re being persecuted, number one, it’s got to be false; and, number two, it’s got to be for His name’s sake. Do you know what the word persecute literally means? It means, “to pursue”—“to pursue.” It doesn’t necessarily mean they’re going to put you in irons. It doesn’t necessarily mean they’re going to pour boiling oil on you. They’re going to be pursuing you.
And the idea is a pursuit to find something that you’re doing wrong. You fly the flag high for the Lord Jesus Christ where you work, you let them know that you’re a Christian, let them know you’re a Baptist, let them know you’re a Bellevue Baptist, good night! They’ll watch you. They’ll watch you. In the life of Jesus—do you remember one day that Jesus was going through the wheat fields, and His disciples were hungry, and they got some wheat and rubbed it in their hands and began to eat that wheat? The Pharisees said, “Look, it’s the Sabbath day. He’s threshing wheat on the Sabbath.” And Jesus reminded them that the Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath. But here’s the interesting thing. What were a bunch of Pharisees doing out in the cornfields anyway? You think about it. You see them down there, like Hee Haw, you know, rising up out of the cornfield. Following Him. Watching Him. Trying to find something they could blame Him with. One of the reason we’ll be persecuted is the lifestyle we show.

B. The Lies We Suffer

Another reason we will be persecuted, friend, is not only the lifestyle we’ll show, but the lies we’ll suffer. Look, if you will again. He says, in verse 11, “Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake” (Matthew 5:11). I’m going to surprise you. It may shock you, but do you know they’ll tell lies about you? They will tell lies about you. How did Jesus manage to get crucified? False witnesses, isn’t that right? False witnesses.

What started the first persecution on Christians in Rome? It was Nero, who told a big one. Nero burned Rome, according to history. He needed a scapegoat. He was in a vast remodeling project, and he wanted to get rid of the slums, so he said, “Here’s a good way to do it: a match.” Well, not a match. They didn’t have matches. However they got fire started, and they burned Rome. It backfired on him—no pun intended. It backfired on him, and he’s trying now to put the blame. He said, “Blame those Christians. They’re the ones talking about setting the world on fire. Blame those Christians.”

Now you might as well get ready, folks. They’re going to lie about you. They’ll lie about Jim Dobson. They’ll lie about anybody. They’ll lie about me. Don’t believe everything you hear about any Christian, okay? “They will say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my name’s sake.”

C. The Lord We Serve

The lifestyle we show: that’s one reason. We’re different. The lies that we suffer. Here’s the third reason, and here’s the main reason: the Lord that we serve—the Lord that we serve. The devil didn’t primarily engineer it against you; he’s just trying to get at Jesus by getting at you, because you’re His representative. Notice what he says here. Look at it again.
He says, in verse 11, “Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake” (Matthew 5:11). The Lord that you love. If you love Jesus, you’re going to be persecuted. The name of Jesus is always a point of offense.

That may surprise you to know that this world hates Jesus. “Oh,” you say, “not the world. The world doesn’t hate Jesus.” Well, the world does hate Jesus. Now, wait a minute. I have to qualify this and tell you which Jesus the world hates. The world does not hate the baby Jesus in the manger. All the world loves Christmas—most all the world. I mean, here’s a little baby in a manger, dimpled feet on straw. And here’s a mother nursing a baby. Why, the merchants love that. Hey, folks, let me tell you something. Christmas is a big business. It is a big business. The world doesn’t hate the baby Jesus. I’ll tell you something else. The world does not hate the Jesus that fed the multitudes and opened blind eyes and healed the sick. That’s not why the world hates Jesus. Do you want to know why the world hates Jesus? Let me tell you why the world hates Jesus. The world hates Jesus for why he came. And that was to destroy the works of the devil—to destroy the works of the devil. Jesus and His kingdom is against liquor, against abortion, against pornography, against pride, against racism, against hatred, against selfishness, the works of the devil. That’s why they hate Him.

Here’s what Jesus said, in John chapter 15, beginning in verse 19: “If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you. Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord. If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they have kept my saying, they will keep yours also. But all these things will they do unto you”—listen—“for my name’s sake, because they know not him that sent me” (John 15:19–21). Why are we persecuted? The lifestyle we show. The lies we suffer. But primarily the Lord we serve: “for my name’s sake.”

Did you know that one of your gifts is the ability to suffer for Jesus? Philippians 1, verse 29: “For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Philippians 1:29). Do you love Jesus? Then don’t complain when the persecution comes because of Him, His dear name’s sake.

II. We Must Endure Persecution

So here’s the first point. Here’s what I’m trying to lay on your heart. We should expect persecution. Here’s the second point. Not only should we expect persecution; we must endure persecution. There’s no way, really, that we’re going to get around it. Now, let me tell you how it’s going to come, as you endure it.
A. Personal Insult

First of all, it may be personal insult. Look again, if you will, in verse 1: “Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you” (Matthew 5:11). They love to revile you. You're going to be made the butt of jokes. You're going to be ridiculed.

And now, you know, reviling Christians is big business. There’s a new rock star, Marilyn Manson. He has now made popular Christian-bashing. He sold more than a million copies of his production, “Antichrist Superstar.” He’s been on the front page of Rolling Stone magazine. The LA Times has done a feature article on him. He dresses his stage with Nazi style banners. He gets these young teenagers and young adults to pay twenty dollars or more to come to a concert. And then they begin to shout a mantra, which says this: “We hate love. We love hate.” And people come to hear this man. They dress in dark clothes, wear dark mascara, dark lipstick. And here’s what he said—and you listen: “Don't be oppressed by the fascism of Christianity.” He’s the hottest thing going right now.

B. Physical Intimidation

There will be this reviling. There will be this personal insult. But there will be something else. Not only will there be person insult; there will be physical intimidation. “Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you” (Matthew 5:11). Now I said persecute means, “to follow,” but it means sometimes, “to follow in order to imprison.” There are people in prison right this moment because they've stood up for the unborn. I mean, they are in jail right now. Dr. James Dobson, who’s sitting out here, said, in his recent newsletter, that in 1996 more than 160,000 Christians have been martyred, killed, for Jesus. He pointed out that more people have lost their lives standing up for Jesus in this century than all other nineteen centuries before this one—in one century. Don’t get the idea that the martyrs lived in yesterday. We're going to find physical intimidation. In China, if Christians will not line up behind a state-run church, they face prison, torture, maybe death. In the Sudan, some Christians, often children, are sold for fifteen dollars a head. Others are forcibly converted to Islam. In Pakistan, under blasphemous laws, non-Muslims may be forced into Islam or be killed. That's in this twentieth century.

C. Social Injustice

I’ll tell you what else we’re going to face: social injustice. He said, “They’re going to say all manner of evil against you falsely for my sake.” Jesus elaborated on this in Mark chapter 13. Turn to Mark 13. Look, if you will, in verse 9—Mark 13, verse 9. Now Jesus is speaking to us as well as those who heard Him say this the first time: “But take heed to yourselves: for they shall deliver you up to councils; and in the synagogues ye shall be beaten: and ye shall be brought before rulers and kings for my sake, for a testimony against them. And the gospel must first be published among all nations. But when they shall lead you, and deliver you up, take no thought beforehand what ye shall speak, neither do ye premeditate: but whatsoever shall be given you in that hour, that speak ye: for it is not ye that speak, but the Holy Ghost. Now the brother shall betray the brother to death, and the father the son; and children shall rise up against their parents, and shall cause them to be put to death. And ye”—believers—“shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved” (Mark 13:9–13). What I’m talking about is, not only should we expect persecution, we should endure persecution.

It’s going to come from the religious world. He says, in verse 9, they’ll deliver you up to councils and synagogues. Don’t get the idea that the religious world really honors the Lord Jesus—not the Christ of the Bible.

It’s going to come from the governmental world—verse 9: “You’re going to be brought before rulers and kings for my sake.” Did you know the government is loaded against what you and I believe? I mean, the system. The ACLU recently said in California, “It is our position that teaching that monogamous, heterosexual intercourse within marriage is a traditional American value.” That is, if you teach that one man should be married to one woman, and that men should cohabit with women and vice versa, that, they said, is an unconstitutional establishment of religious doctrine in public schools. When you tell boys that God wants you to get married before you have sex, and that God wants sex between male and female rather than between male and male, and female between female, they say, “Hey, that’s a religious value, and therefore that is unconstitutional.”

It may come, friend, from religious circles. It may come from governmental circles. A lot of it will come from home. Look in verse 12: “The brother shall betray the brother to death, and the father the son; and children shall rise up against their parents” (Mark 13:12). Know what the devil is doing now? He has leveled all of the artillery of hell against the home. That’s the reason I’m so grateful for Focus on the Family. But some of you, some of you in this building today, sit here with a broken heart, because you have a husband, a wife, father, mother, son, or daughter who persecute you for the very fact that you come here on Sunday morning. It’s a fight just for you to get out of the house. And when you come back home, you get some smart remark about that church down there and what you believe.

Folks, it’s a part of being saved. It is a part of being a Christian. And don’t think it’s strange. You don’t say, “Oh, man, something has gotten wrong.” Nothing has gotten wrong. Peter said, concerning the fiery trial, “Don’t think that some strange thing has happened to you”—“as though some strange thing has happened to you” (1 Peter 4:12). It comes with the territory.
III. We Can Enlist the Persecution

So the first thing, there is the persecution—listen—there is the persecution we should expect. There is the persecution we must endure. You’re not going to get out of it—not if you live for Jesus. Now, here’s the third thing: there is the persecution we can enlist. You know, we can use it. We can use it for the glory of God. Notice, if you will, what our Lord says here. He says, in verse 12, “Rejoice,”—“Rejoice”—“and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you” (Matthew 5:12).

How do you enlist persecution? How do you take what the devil meant for evil and turn it into good?

A. Reign in Life

Well, number one: just continue to reign in life. Notice what he says. Look at it. Go back to Matthew 5. He says, “Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake: for theirs is the...”—what?—“the kingdom” (Matthew 5:10)—“the kingdom.” We’re in the kingdom. There are three levels of life. There is the hellish level. There is the human level. There is the heavenly level. What is the hellish level? That’s when good people are persecuted by bad people for doing good. That is returning evil for good. That’s the hellish level. There’s a lot of hellishness around. Then there is the human level. Do you know what the human level is? Good for good, and evil for evil. That’s the human level. What is the heavenly level? The heavenly level is those who are children of the king, and we return what? Good for evil—good for evil.

Now, look—you’re in chapter 5; just fast-forward over there to verse 43—look at it. Oh, this is tough, but we’ve got to believe it, because it’s in the Word. Jesus said, “Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy.” That’s the human level—that’s the human level. “But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you; that ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust” (Matthew 5:43–45). People persecute you? Don’t get even. Don’t get even. Why? Where are you? You are reigning with the Lord. You’re in the kingdom. Where are they? They’re either on the human level or the hellish level.

Now, watch it. You say, “I’m going to get even.” Here you are. Here they are. So you get even. You get even—you get even. No, don’t get even. Reign. Rule. You’re in the kingdom. You’re in the kingdom.
I read a book one time, written by a man, called Some Dogs I Have Known. He was an old Methodist preacher. He had a lot of wisdom. He said one day he was in a town, he saw one of these massive bulldogs—you know, the guy's got big shoulders and little tiny hind legs—going down the road like this—a big old mouth. And, he said, a little feisty dog came out and began to yap at that bulldog. He said the bulldog never looked back going down the street. And he watched. He said he could snap him up; he could break him in half, have him for breakfast. The old bulldog never looked back. This preacher went home and he wrote this. He prayed, “Oh, God, whatever that bulldog’s got, I want. Oh, for the ability to walk straight ahead, and let them yap and snarl, growl and bark, till their heart is content.” And then he said, “God, give us men whom the acclaim or howling threat of the multitude do not move; men who walk amid criticism, condemnation, anathema, cursings, content to know that in their very molding and making there is something so royal as to defend them forever against such mouthing; men who are too tall for stooping, men whose ears are too close to heaven to hear the little growls from the throats of the wormlike things of earth.” That’s good, isn’t it? God, help me not to stoop, to come down to their level.

B. Rejoice in the Lord

But not only reign in life; rejoice in the Lord. Look, if you will, in verse 12: “Rejoice, and be exceeding glad” (Matthew 5:12). Why do you rejoice in the Lord? Well, listen, folks. As I said, you have to earn persecution. You're not going to get it if you don't live for Jesus. But if you're getting it, you say, “Hallelujah! Hallelujah, they see Jesus!” Do you remember when they took those apostles there, and they told them, they warned them, said, “Don't you preach any more in the name of Jesus. We'll put you in prison. You saw what we did to Him. You know what we can do to you.” The Bible says, “They departed from the presence of the council, rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for his name” (Acts 5:41)—“rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for his name.”

C. Release Love

Reign in life. Rejoice in the Lord, if it comes. And, thirdly, release love. Just release love. Just keep loving. This is not sympathy; this is love. And, you know, if we'll do this, we'll be like the prophets. He said, “That's the way they persecuted the prophets.” But thank God for the prophets. Did you know that the word martyr and the word witness are the same word in the Greek language?

There was a man who was being persecuted. His name was Stephen. He was a deacon. And he was being persecuted. They were stoning him. And you never heard such love to come out of a man's mouth. He began to pray as they were stoning him. He began to pray, and he said, “Lord, don’t lay this sin to their charge.” And he prayed for those who were persecuting him and stoning him (Acts 7:54–60). The Bible says, “His face shown like an angel” (Acts 6:15). He said, “I see heaven open. I see Jesus standing there.” I thought He was seated. He might have been seated most of the time, but He’s standing, saying, “Welcome home, son! Welcome home! Welcome home, Stephen! You weren’t ashamed of me.” I have a son named Stephen. “You were not ashamed of me.”

There was a man there, standing there, who watched all of that. As a matter of fact, he was holding the clothes for everybody. His name was Saul. He hated Christians. But he never got that sight out of his mind. Later, on the road to Damascus, Jesus appeared to him and said, “Saul, it’s hard for you, isn’t it? It’s hard for you to kick against the goad.” He was talking about the ox goad, because there was something goading him. Do you know what it was? A face like an angel, a bloody face shining like an angel; a man who showed supernatural love. We’re going to be persecuted, but you know what? Not only should we expect it, and endure it; we should enlist it for Jesus. Amen? Amen.

Conclusion

Father, help us to stand up, stand up, for Jesus as soldiers of the cross. To lift high his royal banner, that it must not suffer loss. Lord Jesus, help me never, never, dear Savior, to be ashamed of you who died for me. Amen.

Conclusion

Introduction

I want you to take God’s Word and find Matthew chapter 5. Would you turn to it—Matthew chapter 5. Many of us believe—I do—that we are living in the receding shadows of the end of the age, and we see signs of the times all about us. One of those signs is the persecution of Christians. So I want to talk to you this morning on this subject: “Learning to Stand for Jesus.” So many Christians are folding up when they ought to be standing up. And one of the things that we need to teach our children, those of us who are settled in the faith, is to teach them to be settled in the faith, so they can stand on the solid rock of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

Now, begin reading with me, if you will, in verse 10 of this chapter: “Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake...”—that’s an amazing statement in itself, the blessing of being persecuted—“Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you. Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men. Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid” (Matthew 5:10–14). What glorious words these are from our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ!

Now the point is clear and plain this morning. If you stand up for the Lord Jesus Christ, you’re going to be persecuted. Now the Bible says, “All that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Timothy 3:13)—“all” and “shall.” Now there is a way that you can escape persecution. Would you like to hear what it is? Just don’t live godly. “All that will... live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution.” Now you can hobnob and rub shoulders with the people of this world, fail to take a stand, fail to be distinctive, and you perhaps will not suffer persecution.

I’ve done many jobs working my way though school. One of them is to work in construction as a carpenter’s helper. And I worked around some carpenters who were profane men. They loved to tell dirty jokes, and they loved to ridicule my faith, especially when they learned I was going to be a preacher. Finally, one of those men, though, turned to me and looked me straight in the eye, and said, “Well, if you’re going to be a preacher, be a good one.” He said, “I once knew a preacher who was a good one.” He said, “He never mentioned religion or politics.”

Now there’s a way that you can just not take a stand for anything, and people will call you a good preacher. But, friend, the persecution that you receive is the thermometer that registers your love and your courage for the Lord Jesus Christ.

Now in this passage before us Jesus Christ is talking about the persecution that every mother’s child who loves the Lord Jesus Christ will receive if they stand for Him.

I. The Reasons for Persecution

Let’s look for a moment at the reasons for this persecution.

A. The Life We Show

The first reason is the life that we show. Look, if you will, in verse 10: “Blessed are they which are persecuted”—now, watch this—“for righteousness’ sake.”—“for righteousness’ sake”—“for theirs is the kingdom of heaven” (Matthew 5:10). The world will persecute you if you live a lifestyle of righteousness, if that is the life that you show.

Now the root word for persecute—and I looked it up again yesterday—is a word which means, “to divide” or “to separate.” Now a person who is righteous is divided, separated, from this world, so not everybody is going to be persecuted. Friend, listen. You have to earn persecution. You have to earn it. And the way you earn it is to be different.

Now righteousness is already described in this fifth chapter by the Beatitudes. Look at the Beatitudes: be pure in heart, mourn, hunger and thirst after righteousness, and all of these things. Now if you do these things, all of these Beatitudes, the next Beatitude is axiomatic: “Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake.”

Now if you’re not righteous, forget it: you’re not going to be persecuted. But, you see, righteousness divides. That’s what the word persecute means. It means, “to separate, to divide.”

We are, the Bible says, a peculiar people. Now you can jot that down—1 Peter chapter 2, verse 9: we are a peculiar people (1 Peter 2:9). We’re different from the world. Our faith is so different. It starts at a different source; it follows a different course; it ends at a different destination.

I heard of a lady who called her husband on the car phone. He was an elderly man. He’d gone to the grocery store. She said, “Now, Herbert, I’ve just listened to the news, and there is a crazy man on the expressway going the wrong way. Be careful.” He said, “They’re all going the wrong way!”

If you’re a Christian, you’re going to be like that man, in reverse. There is the wide road and the narrow road, and it doesn’t mean that the narrow road and the wide road are running parallel. Here is the wide road, and the narrow road is going in the opposite direction. When you stop being in collusion with the devil, you will find yourself being in collision with him.

Now we are a peculiar people. We’re children of light. They’re children of darkness. We live by the Spirit. They live in sin. We live by faith. They live by sight. We understand them. They do not understand us.

The passage that I just read in verse 13 says we’re the salt of the earth. Well, salt stings. It irritates when it’s rubbed into a wound. We’re the light of the world. Light reveals. Light exposes. And so the world, by nature, says, “Get that salt out of here, and turn off that light!”

We’re different. It’s righteousness. Now we need to be very careful here. Some may go around saying, “Well, I’m persecuted,” and you may be, but you’re not persecuted for righteousness’ sake. Jesus said it must be for righteousness’ and for His name’s sake. Put this verse down there in your margin—1 Peter chapter 4, verses 14 through 16: “If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he”—that is, Jesus—“is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified. But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief; or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men’s matters.” Busybody: you stick your nose in somebody else’s business and you might find a fist at the end of it. Don’t suffer “as a busybody in other men’s matters.” But look in verse 16: “Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf” (1 Peter 4:14–16).

The reason we suffer is for righteousness’ sake. To suffer as a Christian, you’re to be a witness, but you’re not called to be a prosecuting attorney. You’re to be different, but you’re not to be odd. You see, the persecution must be false, and it must be for Jesus’ sake.

Now this word persecution also means, “to pursue.” You see, when you’re different, they will pursue you. They’ll be watching you like a hawk. They’ll be trying to find some flaw, some difference, in you. And when they find it, it will make them feel better as they condemn you.
One time the Bible describes Jesus as going through the wheat field. And He was hungry, and it was on the Sabbath day, so He and His disciples plucked some ears of wheat and began to thresh it with their hand and to eat that wheat. It was on the Sabbath day. And there were some Pharisees who said, “Aha! Aha! Aha! You have broken the Sabbath.” Well, of course, He hadn’t. But the funny part of this whole story is, what were a bunch of Pharisees doing out in the wheat field, anyway? Kind of like Hee Haw. They stood up: “Aha!” They were following Jesus. They were pursuing Jesus. And they’ll do the same to you. When you fly the flag high, they’re going to be watching and trying to find something that they can criticize you for.

B. The Lies We Suffer

Why are we persecuted? Number one: The life that we show. Number two: The lies that we suffer. Look again in verse 11: “Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake” (Matthew 5:11). They will tell lies about you. They will say things about you that are not true. I remind you that the most righteous person who ever lived, obviously, was Jesus. And how did they crucify Him? With false witnesses. They lied about the Lord Jesus Christ.

C. The Lord We Serve

Now you can expect to be lied about. You can expect your pastor to be lied about. You can expect any child of God to be lied about. And they will persecute you for the life you show. They will persecute you for the lies you suffer. Or that will be the reason that we’re persecuted: because we’re lied on. And then, a third reason, and the major reason, is the Lord we serve. Look again in verse 11: “Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely.”—now, watch the last three words—“for my sake” (Matthew 5:11)—“for my sake.” The Lord we serve: that’s the reason that we are persecuted.

Now this world hates Jesus. You say, “Oh, no, pastor. No, the world loves Jesus.” Well, let’s get it straight. The world has no qualms with the baby Jesus. The merchants are happy for the baby Jesus. You can walk through the mall, and you can see the manger scenes, and so forth. And the world loves the baby Jesus. Why? Who doesn’t love a baby? What a sweet story that is, the little baby Jesus there in the straw in the crib! The merchants love Jesus. I’ll tell you why: because they are making gazillions on the baby Jesus, the birth of Jesus that we celebrate. The world does not hate the baby Jesus. No, not at all! And, also, the world doesn’t hate the Jesus who healed the sick. The world does not hate the Jesus who fed the multitudes. The world doesn’t hate that Jesus. As a matter of fact, again, millions of dollars have been raised to help feed the multitudes and to heal the sick, and everybody says that is a good thing.

But why does the world hate Jesus? May I tell you very clearly and plainly? Because Jesus came—and He Himself said so—to destroy the works of the devil (1 John 3:8), amen? Now Jesus came against liquor and abortion and pornography and pride and racism and hatred. Jesus is against that. And because of that the world hates Jesus. Put in your margin John chapter 15, verses 19 through 22. Jesus said, “If ye were of the world, the world would love his own:”—that is, just be worldly, and the world will love you—“but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you. Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord.” Do you think you’re better than Jesus? Do you think the reason that you’re not persecuted is that you’re better than Jesus? “The servant is not greater than his lord.” Now, listen to this: “If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they have kept my saying, they will keep yours also.” Now, listen to this: “But all these things will they do unto you for my name’s sake, because they know not him that sent me. If I had not come and spoken unto them, they had not had sin: but now they have no cloak for their sin” (John 15:19–22).

That’s it! Jesus came to condemn sin. Jesus exposed their sin, and they hated Him. And they still hate Him. They hate the things that Jesus Christ stands against. He came to destroy the works of the devil.

Why are you persecuted? The life that we show, the lies that we suffer, and the Lord that we serve. It’s right there in this passage of Scripture. That’s why we’re going to be persecuted.

II. The Result of Persecution

Now, what is the result of this persecution? Look now in chapter 5—Matthew chapter 5, verse 11: “Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake” (Matthew 5:11). Now, what are the results of this?

A. Personal Insults

Well, first of all, there are going to be personal insults. They’re going to revile you. They’re going to say some things about you that are not very flattering. You will find yourself the butt of jokes. Even now they’re dividing America up into the United States of Canada and Jesus Land. They look on us who live in the heartland of America as country bumpkins. We have the title of being the fly-over land. You’re just going from the east coast to the west coast, and the west coat back to the east coast. But we are looked down upon. We are reviled.
B. Physical Intimidation

Now, folks, it may be personal insults. I’ve been insulted a good number of times for Jesus. Secondly, it may be physical intimidation. Look again. It says they will persecute you, there in verse 11. There are people right now in prison—right now—because they have stood against sin, stood up for the unborn. They are persecuted. They are in prison.

Dr. James Dobson, who is a personal friend of mine, has said that it is estimated that 160,000 Christians in a recent year died for the Lord Jesus Christ—160,000 Christians. They were martyred. Many of the others suffered unimaginable torture and deprivation. You’re going to be persecuted.

Listen. In China, Christians who worship in churches that are not state-run face prison and even torture. In the Sudan right now, some Christians, often children, are sold into slavery for fifteen dollars a head, many of the little girls forced into prostitution. Others are forced to convert to Islam. In Pakistan, if some would refuse to convert to Islam, they would be put to death.

C. Social Injustice

There will be the reviling: personal insult. There will be the persecution: physical intimidation. And there will also be social injustice—social injustice: They will “say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake” (Matthew 5:11). Jesus gave a warning about this. Put this verse down in the margin—don’t turn to it, but listen to it—Mark 13, verses 9 through 13: “But take heed to yourselves: for they shall deliver you up to councils; and in the synagogues ye shall be beaten: and ye shall be brought before rulers and kings for my sake, for a testimony against them. And the gospel must first be published among all nations. But when they shall lead you, and deliver you up,”—listen to this now—“take no thought beforehand what ye shall speak, neither do ye premeditate: but whatsoever shall be given you in that hour, that speak ye: for it is not ye that speak, but the Holy Ghost. Now the brother shall betray the brother to death, and the father the son; and children shall rise up against their parents, and shall cause them to be put to death. And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved” (Mark 13:9–13).

Now this passage of Scripture deals with the Great Tribulation and the horrors of the Great Tribulation, but we see foregleams of that today.

1. From the Religious World

This injustice is going to come from the religious world. They’re going to bring you before councils and synagogues, and the religious world will persecute you. I don’t have a Messiah complex, but the religious world has persecuted me. Now you can have New Age religion, and you can preach, as long as you leave out the lordship of Jesus Christ. But this will come from the religious world.

2. From the Governmental World

Not only will it come from the religious world, it will come before the governmental world. Look in verse 9 of this chapter, Mark 13. “Ye shall be brought before rulers and kings for my sake” (Mark 13:9). This world system is loaded against Jesus.

Recently, the ACLU has said in California—and I quote them—“It is our position that teaching that monogamous, heterosexual intercourse within a marriage is a traditional American value is an unconstitutional establishment of a religious doctrine in public schools.” That is, if you just teach in a public school that a traditional marriage—a man and a woman—is an American value, that is unconstitutional in America. Is that not something? Friend, this persecution is here.

3. From the Domestic World

It may come from the religious world. It may come from the governmental world. It may come from your own family. It may be domestic persecution. Now, again, you have your Bible open to Matthew chapter 5, but here in this scripture in Mark chapter 13 and verse 12 it says, “Now the brother shall betray the brother to death, and the father the son; and children shall rise up against their parents, and shall cause them to be put to death” (Mark 13:12).

You may be persecuted by those closest to you: family members. And some of you right now are suffering that kind of persecution. Not infrequently am I called upon to counsel with or give advice to people who find this animus in their own families. They’re hated. They’re persecuted in their families.

The persecution will come from the religious world. It will come from the governmental world. It will come from the domestic world. That’s black print on white paper.

III. Our Response to Persecution

Now, finally, what should be our response? We’ve talked about the reasons, and the results. What is our response? How should we respond in these last days to the persecution that is going to get worse and worse and worse?

A. Reign in Life

Number one: We should learn to reign in life. Look in verse 10. We’re back to chapter 5, Matthew 5—look in verse 10. When we are persecuted, God says, “for [ours] is the kingdom of heaven” (Matthew 5:10). The scripture literally says, concerning the persecuted, “for theirs is in the kingdom of heaven.” We have a kingdom. We reign with Christ in life, the Bible says. When these people persecute us, remember who we are. We’re children of the kingdom. And because we’re children of the kingdom, we should reign in life.

There are three levels of life. First of all, there is the hellish level, that returns evil for good. Then there is the human level, that returns evil for evil, and good for good. Then there’s the heavenly level, that returns good for evil.

Now you’re in Matthew 5—fast-forward to verse 43: “Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy. But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you;”—He’s still on the subject of persecution—“that ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust” (Matthew 5:43–45).

When they persecute us, we’re not to try to get even. Here we are up here in the kingdom. Here they are down here in the world. And they persecute us. “Well,” we say, “I’m going to get even with them.” Now, watch this. What do we do when we get even? That’s what we do when we get even. We leave our status, we leave our position, and no longer are we reigning with the Lord Jesus Christ.

I read a book one time called Some Dogs I Have Known. It was written by an old Methodist preacher, Bob Shuler. Bob Shuler was in a town one time holding a revival meeting, and he was getting some criticism. But he happened to be standing there outside of a restaurant, and he saw a strange sight in the road. There was a massive bulldog. You know how they walk like this—big jaws, big shoulder muscles. And he’s walking down the street, this old bulldog is. And right behind him was a little dog, a little yapping mutt, and that dog was yapping at this bulldog’s heels, snarling and yapping and barking. The old bulldog just kept on walking. He could have snapped him in two with one bite, but he just kept on walking, paid no attention to this yapping mutt. Shuler went back and wrote these words: “I did not laugh. I went to my room and said my prayers. I prayed, ‘O God, whatever the bulldog’s got, I want. Oh, for the ability to walk with strong treads, straight ahead, and let them yap and snarl, growl and bark, to their heart’s content.’” He then pointed out that, “We need men who the acclaimed or howling threat of the multitude did not move, men who walk on amid criticism, condemnation, anathema, cursings, content to know that in their very molding and making there is something”—listen to this—“so royal as to defend them forever against such mouthings; men who are too tall for stooping, men whose ears are too close to heaven to hear the little growls from the throats of the wormlike things of earth.” That’s a good lesson from the bulldog.

They will yap at you. Listen. You reign in life. Don’t forget who you are. You’re children of the kingdom.
B. Rejoice in the Lord

And not only do you reign in life, you rejoice in the Lord. Again, in verse 12—look at it again: “Rejoice,”—“rejoice”—“and be exceeding glad” (Matthew 5:12). You're to rejoice in the Lord.

This word rejoice, as I’ve told you a few Sundays ago, actually has the idea of leaping and dancing. Don’t sit in the corner and feel sorry for yourself. Don’t suck your thumb. Why? Think of the company we resemble. Verse 12 says, “for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you” (Matthew 5:12).

When I get to heaven, I don’t want to meet the Apostle Paul, and he say, “Adrian, where are your scars?” I say, “Well, I didn't get any scars.” I don't want to be ashamed. I want to be a prophet. Don’t you want to be a prophet? They persecuted the prophets. There’s a company we resemble. There’s the character we reveal that we’re living for Jesus. There is the compensation we receive. “Great is your reward in heaven” (Matthew 5:12). I learned to sing a long time ago,

It pays to serve Jesus, it pays every day,

It pays every step of the way.

—FRANK C. HUSTON

You know, if I got no other pay, except to remind people of Jesus, that would be enough.

In the early part of the Book of Acts there were some disciples who were being persecuted, and they’d been put in prison. They’d been beaten—beaten. But they kept on preaching Jesus. You might as well have told the sun not to shine as to tell these men not to preach Jesus. And the Bible says of those who were persecuting them that they departed from the presence of the council, and the people in the council marveled that they were fisherman, unlearned—now listen to this—“and took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus” (Acts 4:13). They’d been persecuted, but they reacted in such a way that the people of this world said, “They are like the Lord Jesus Christ.”

C. Release Love

Now, what do you do when you’re persecuted? Listen. You reign in life. Number two: You simply stay true to the Lord Jesus Christ and rejoice in the Lord. And, finally—listen: You release love—love—to those who persecute you. Look again in Matthew chapter 5, verse 44—look at it: “But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you; that ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven” (Matthew 5:44–45). Release love—release love.
Now this will be so much easier if you do the first two things, if you will reign in life, understand who you are. Then you can release love. And this love is not mere sympathy; it’s doing good to them. Notice what he says. See, God makes it to rain upon the just and the unjust (Matthew 5:45). Don’t say, “Well, I’m going to treat some people nice because they’re good people, and other people wrong because they persecute me.” Be like God and love them! Aren’t you glad that God loves sinners? Amen? Where would we be if He didn’t love us? These people are blind. They don’t have life. They don’t understand. As a matter of fact, the Bible says, in the last days, those that kill us will think they do God service (John 16:2). They are blind, and they need love, and we need to treat them as God has treated us.

Last example, and I’ll close this message. There was a preacher—well, actually it was a deacon—his name was Stephen. My son Stephen is named after this man. He was among the first deacons in the Bible. He was a powerful preacher of the Word of God. And they couldn’t controvert him. They could not change him. They could not intimidate him. So they stoned him to death. Can you imagine what it would be like to be stoned to death? Now that’s persecution. They stoned him to death. And there was a young man there holding the garments of these who were doing the stoning. You know, you take off your coat to do something like that. And this man was standing there holding their garments. His name was Saul. Later on, he became Paul, the mightiest Christian missionary theologian that the world has ever known. He was changed. What changed him? The way Stephen died. Stephen, as he was dying, looked up to heaven and said, “Lord Jesus, Lord Jesus, don’t charge this terrible thing to their account. Lord Jesus, have mercy upon them” (Acts 7:60). Saul never forgot that.

When Jesus met Saul on the road to Damascus, Jesus said, “It’s hard for you to kick against the ox goad, isn’t it?” (Acts 9:5). What was goading this man? What was goading him? What was it that gave him this disquietude? It was the face of a man that shined like an angel who released love when he was persecuted.

Conclusion
We are going to be persecuted. “Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Timothy 3:12). My brothers and my sisters, we need to believe this, but how much more do we need to teach our children to “stand up, stand up for Jesus, ye soldiers of the cross.” Teach them. Show them. These are days of golden opportunity to share the Lord Jesus Christ.

Introduction
Matthew chapter 5 and verse 13—would you find it, please? We’re continuing our series on the Sermon on the Mount. The title of the series: “Building on the Rock.” Today, we come to a very wonderful verse of Scripture, Matthew chapter 5 and verse 13. The Lord Jesus said, “Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under the foot of men.” (Matthew 5:13) What a verse! What a verse!

A little boy asked his mother, so I’m told, “Mother, would you give me a dollar if I’ll be a good boy?” She said, “Son, why don’t you be good for nothing like your father?”

There are a lot of Christians who are that way. They are good for nothing. Jesus said they’re like salt that’s lost its savor. They are cast out. They are “good for nothing, but to be…trodden under the foot of men.” (Matthew 5:13)

We’re thinking today about salt. Probably already today you’ve put some salt on your eggs. Maybe you had some oatmeal with salt in it. Salt is very necessary for life. But salt, you know, is a compound made of sodium, which is a metal, really. It’s about the consistency of hard cheese. When I took chemistry, we’d take a little sodium and drop it in water, and we’d get a very explosive gas out of that sodium: we would get hydrogen gas. And then, chlorine, the other element, is a green poisonous gas. And, if you were to walk into a room full of chlorine, you’d be dead in a little while. These are two very dangerous things. If you were to ingest either that sodium or that chlorine alone, you’d die. And yet, God, in His chemistry, has put the two together: sodium chloride. We call it today “table salt.” It’s necessary for life. And, I think of what God has done by the chemistry of the cross, how He’s taken that deadly part of my nature and God has made something new out of me, even given me a new name, just like sodium and chloride get a new name called “salt.” And, Jesus said, “[You] are the salt of the earth.” (Matthew 5:13) I want to talk to you today about “Salty Saints.”

I. The Dynamic of Pure Salt
I want you to see, first of all, what I want to call “the dynamic of pure salt.” Why did Jesus use this metaphor? Why did Jesus use this figure of speech? Why did Jesus, when He described these people who were living like the Beatitudes, why did He call them “salt”? My dear friend, you’d have to understand the importance of salt in Jesus’ time. If it’s important in our time, how much more important it was important in Jesus’ time! In that society, sometimes salt—pure salt—was more valuable than gold. As a matter of fact, pure salt was a rare delicacy. Pure salt was a medium of exchange. As a matter of fact, our English word salary literally means “salt money.” You understand that expression today, “That man is worth his salt,” or, “He’s not worth his salt.” Salt was so very valuable. Why? Because of what it did, and what it does.

A. Salt Seasons
Number one: As you well know, salt seasons. Salt causes flavor to come alive. In the book of Job, we read this question: “Can that which is unsavoury be eaten without salt? Is there any taste in the white of an egg?” (Job 6:6) The answer is obviously no. What does salt do? Salt seasons. The little boy said, “Salt is that which tastes bad when you don’t have it.” That’s right. You see, Christians are to give to life, and Christians are to give to society, a flavor, a tang, a zest.

Most of the people in America are simply living bland lives; they’re living flavorless lives. That’s the reason they’re always trying to do something to get themselves on some kind of a high. Most of the people that you go to work with tomorrow, as I’ve told you before, they’re not all that interested in going to heaven or hell; they just want to know how to hack it on Monday. There is not excitement, no thrill. Their lives are tasteless. Their lives are flavorless. It is the bland leading the bland. And, we who are Christians, we are to be different. That’s the reason the Bible says in Colossians chapter 4 and verse 6: “Let your speech [always] be…seasoned with salt." (Colossians 4:6) You know, there ought to be something about every Christian that’s absolutely exciting. Do you know why I think we have so many boring sermons? Because preachers are boring. Why we have so many boring Sunday school lessons? Because the teacher is bored.

A preacher went to the doctor, and he said, “Doctor, you’ve got to give me something to help me because of my snoring.” The doctor said, “Is it keeping your wife awake?” He said, “It’s keeping the whole congregation awake.”

“Let your speech be…seasoned with salt.” (Colossians 4:6) There ought to be zest about us. There ought to be a flavor about the children of God. Salt seasons.

B. Salt Preserves
I’ll tell you what else salt does, my dear friend: salt preserves. When Jesus talked about being the salt of the earth, in that crowd there were fishermen. Jesus is right there by the Sea of Galilee. This is the Sermon on the Mount. And, Jesus is telling those fishermen right there, “[You] are the salt of the earth.” (Matthew 5:13) And, obviously, He’s talking about the preserving power of salt as well as the seasoning power of salt. Salt, in that day, prevented decay; it restrained corruption. It was necessary for those fishermen to keep their fish edible for them to salt them down. And oh, if ever there were a day when we need the preserving power of the gospel salt, it is this day of deadly decay.

C. Salt Heals
Now, a third thing salt does: not only does salt flavor, not only does salt preserve, but salt heals. You remember reading there in 2 Kings where Elisha put a cruse of salt into some deadly, polluted waters, and those waters were healed, and where there was barrenness and bitterness there came blessedness. (2 Kings 2:20–21) Salt has an antiseptic about it. Salt has healing properties to it. As a matter of fact, in Bible times, when little babies were born, they would give that baby a saline bath. They would salt the baby with salt, that is, to hold down infection. And so, salt, my dear friend, is an antiseptic. Salt heals.

D. Salt Burns
But, I’ll tell you what else salt does: salt burns; salt irritates. Have you ever gotten a little ulcer in your mouth and then eaten a tomato with some salt on it? Have you ever gotten a cut on your hand and then got salt in it? You see, the Bible says in Mark chapter 9 and verse 49: “For every one shall be salted with fire.” (Mark 9:49) What’s he saying? He’s saying fire and salt have something in common. My dear friend, salt burns. And, I want to tell you that the truth of God’s Word, when it is rubbed into this diseased and putrefying old world, will sting. Now, there are a lot of people who want a nonirritating brand of the gospel. But, my dear friend, I want to tell you, no offense means no effect. You describe this world, you preach to this world, and you’re going to be an irritant to this world. Salt burns; it irritates.

E. Salt Penetrates

I’ll tell you what else salt does, my dear friend: salt penetrates. You can take just a pinch of salt and put it into a gallon of water, and it will permeate that entire gallon of water. As a matter of fact, salt is one of the few major compounds that will dissolve equally well in hot or cold water. And, what we need to do is to get the salt to the source, where it can penetrate, where it can activate and change society. You know what happens in so many of our churches? We become just gigantic salt warehouses. You don’t salt salt. We’re salting one another when we need to salt society. Many of our Sunday school classes have become sacred societies for snubbing sinners when they ought to be saltshakers, getting out here and changing the world. Salt penetrates.

Jesus said here in this passage of Scripture, “Ye are the salt of the earth.” (Matthew 5:13) Look at it in verse 13. He didn’t say, “You are the salt of the church.” “[You] are the salt of the earth.” (Matthew 5:13) We hear a lot today about “separation of church and state.” Anytime any preacher stands up and begins to talk about the moral issues of today, when they have a political ramification, someone will say, “Oh, hush, hush! Separation of church and state! Separation of church and state! You go back under the rock where you belong, and shut up.” My dear friend, I’m coming out from under the rock; I’m standing on the Rock. And, I want to tell this world, dear friend, that Christians are to be the salt of the earth. And, we may believe in the separation of church and state, rightly understood, but we don’t believe in the separation of salt from society. Jesus Christ said, “Ye are the salt of the earth.” (Matthew 5:13) And, if God’s people, good people, don’t speak out and stand up, this nation is going to hell in a hand basket—and real quick. I hope you understand that. Separation from sin—yes. Isolation from sinners—absolutely not! You know the problem with us? We sit in these auditoriums like this all around America today, and all we have become is some sort of glorified saltshaker: the salt never gets out.

In 1985, in New Orleans, Louisiana, there was a celebration. Do you know what they were celebrating? The park commission was celebrating that they had gone through the entire summer without one drowning in the city pools. They were so excited about that. There were two hundred people there. They were having a celebration. With those two hundred people, there were one hundred lifeguards. They were there celebrating. At the end of the celebration, the four lifeguards there that night looked in the bottom of the pool, and there was a fully dressed man that drowned in the midst of a hundred lifeguards. Jerome Moody, age 31, died surrounded by a hundred lifeguards. And, I wonder how many souls are going to hell in our neighborhoods surrounded by people who claim to be the salt of the earth.

Salt, my dear friend, penetrates. Now, that’s the dynamic of pure salt.

II. The Dissipation of Polluted Salt

I want to talk to you about the dissipation of polluted salt. Look again in verse 13: “Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted?” (Matthew 5:13) And, in Bible times, they got much of their salt from the Dead Sea. There’s more salt concentrated there than any other place on earth. When the sun would come out on that particular salt, it would evaporate the water, and the salt and the minerals would be left behind together. You couldn’t use that on your table. As a matter of fact, it’s polluted. It’s terrible, noxious. I have been down there to put my finger in that, just put it to the tip of my tongue. It’s bitter indeed. Salt—yes; but all of the purity of salt has leaked out and leached out, and the chemicals, the impurities, are left. It is valueless. Not only is it valueless; it is harmful. If you would take that salt and put it on your crops, they would die. If you were to pour it down the well, the water would be poison.

What would they do with that salt? I’ll tell you one thing they could do with it: they could just cast it out on the roadway. That was the only safe place for it. You couldn’t put it on the fields where it would leak down into the water supply, and so forth. Put it on the roadway. And, because it made a very good cement, the moisture would come and dampen it and it would harden. And, men would walk on it, and it would be trampled down. Nothing would grow there. But, it made very good pavement for men to walk on. Look at what he says here: “Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour”—it’s saltiness—“wherewith shall it be salted? It is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men.” (Matthew 5:13)

Do you know what is happening to the Church of the Lord Jesus Christ today, my dear friend? Do you know what is happening to Christians in this day and this age? We’re being walked on like never before. You know as well as I know that the whipping boy in today’s society is the Bible-believing Christian, isn’t it true? People today have us beneath their feet. You say, “Well, preacher, they’re never supposed to love us.” I don’t care whether they love us or not. I don’t want them to love us. Jesus said, “[Beware] when all men speak well of you!” (Luke 6:26) I want them to respect us. The problem is, today, my dear friend, that they no longer respect Bible-believing Christians, and I’ll tell you why: because we have become good for nothing. We have lost our saltiness. The world has no respect for the children of God. We’re trodden down under the foot of men.
III. The Demand for Preserving Salt

The third thing I want you to notice—I have talked to you about the dynamic of pure salt; I have talked to you about the dissipation of polluted salt—let me talk to you finally, and a little more emphatically, if I might, about the demand for preserving salt—the demand. If there were ever a need, if there were ever a time, if there were ever an age for the salt to work, now is the need, now is the time, now is the age. I wonder if rivers of blood and oceans of tears are what it’s going to take to bring this nation to her knees.

I am more concerned about America today than I have ever been in my life. Many people do not understand what is happening in America. My dear friend, if America was ever at the crossroads, she’s at the crossroads this hour. And, many people do not understand because they themselves are saltless saints; they are good-for-nothing saints. They are being trodden under the foot of man. I am alarmed. I would to God—I would to God—that God would give me the power and strength to stir you and stir others who hear this message today.

What has happened in America? In 1962, the Supreme Court of the United States of America banned prayer in the public schools. My dear friend, the freeborn American ought to be able to pray anywhere: in the home, in your house, in the schoolhouse, the state house, church house, the White House. But, school prayer was banned in 1962. Then, the Bible—reading the Bible was banned in 1963. Then, the posting of the Ten Commandments was banned in 1980, so as to say, the kids, if they come and see the Ten Commandments on the wall, they may be influenced by that. They may be influenced not to kill. They may be influenced not to steal. They may be influenced not to commit adultery. Oh, we wouldn’t want to do that!

So, in so-called “God-blessed America,” these things have tumbled down, and in 1987, the United States has become, by that time, a legally atheistic country. Did you know there is presently more religious freedom in the former Soviet Union than there is in the United States of America today? God, the Bible, the Ten Commandments, and prayer are illegal in our schools, but condoms, sex education, homosexuality, humanism are legal. America’s public education system is becoming a snake pit. And, I'll tell you why, my dear friend: “the salt [has] lost [its] savour.” (Matthew 5:13) And, it’s time for the salt to work.

In 1973, abortion on demand was legalized in America. January 22, 1973, will go down, in my estimation, as the blackest day in American history—when nine black-robbed Supreme Court Justices—the high priests, the self-appointed high priests of the new humanism—classified little babies in the mother’s womb as a nonperson. The little baby, therefore, is a nonperson; it has no rights. Since that time, more than twenty million little preborn babies have been slaughtered, and they have been sacrificed upon the altar of expediency.
Did you know that in the last fifteen years, at least half—and more than half—of all of the pregnancies among white Americans have been killed by abortion—most of them not even therapeutic, most of them convenient abortions? Beloved, it’s time for the salt to work. Did you know that in the last twenty-five years, suicides among young people have increased 150 percent? It’s time for the salt to work. Did you know that two-thirds of the graduating seniors in our high schools—I said two-thirds—confessed, when polled, that they have experimented with illegal drugs? It’s time, my dear friend, for the salt to work. Did you know that in America one million of America’s teenage girls get pregnant every year? It’s time for the salt to work. In America, so-called “God-blessed America,” sodomy has gone from a sin to a sickness to a socially accepted practice. It is time for the salt to work. In America, the divorce rate has risen forty percent from 1970 to 1992—forty percent! It is time for the salt to work. I am telling you that the cesspools of iniquity are full and running over. Love is forsaken as lust. Satan is worshipped as a saint. Man is magnified above his Maker. And, it is time for the salt to work.

I want to tell you something, my dear friend: not only is America ripe for judgment; America is now being judged. All of these things are the judgment of God. How does God judge us? He lets us have our way. Not only is God America’s biggest hope, our only hope; God is America’s biggest threat—the judgment of God. And, God not only will judge America; God is judging America. It’s time for the salt to work. The only hope! The only hope! It’s not in Washington. It’s not in the Pentagon. It’s not on Capitol Hill. It’s not in Tennessee. It’s not in Nashville. It’s not in our city hall. My dear friend, the only hope to keep the decay down is the salt of the earth, God’s people. We need to apply the salt. The problem is not with Hollywood, the needy elite. The problem is not with the pornographers. The problem is not with the liquor dealer. The problem is not with the crooked politicians. Very frankly, my dear friend, if you want to know where the problem is, look around. It’s saltless saints. That’s where the problem is—“salt [that has] lost its savour…it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under the foot of men.” (Matthew 5:13)

Let me tell you what has happened in America. The Zondervan publishing house presented these following items. Quote: “Some things to ponder about. ‘The land of the free and the home of the brave.’ In the wake of the Supreme Court stances, number one”—listen to this—“you may not display a cross on public property unless it’s on fire, in which case such action is protected by the First Amendment of the Constitution”—that’s a free expression of speech—“In most states, rather, a minor”—that is, a child, a young child—“may abort an unborn child without her parents’ consent. Yet, without her parents’ permission, she may not go on a school field trip to the zoo.” You can’t even take her to the zoo without parents’ permission, but you can abort a child without the parents’ permission, or even knowledge. We live in America today, where if you wanted...)
to use a dog for medical purposes, medical experimentation, there is going to go up around America a great cry. And yet, in the same so-called “God-blessed America,” we have those who are campaigning to use, to farm, to harvest the tissue of aborted babies for the same purpose. We save the whale. We kill the babies. We want to spare the rain forest, but we kill the babies. What is wrong in America? What has happened to this land of the free, this home of the brave? I'll tell you what has happened: the salt has lost its savor. We are good for nothing. We are fit to be cast out and trodden under foot of men. And, that is what is happened. Friend, it's time for the salt to work.

You say, “Pastor, are you an optimist or a pessimist?” I'm a realist. I believe as long as there is God, there is hope. I believe that we can have revival in America. I hope you believe it. Why? Because I believe in God. When you talk about revival in America, all you get from some people is a sympathetic smile. My dear friend, I want to tell you, God is not dead, and God is not old, and God is not sick, and God has not lost His power. And, we sang today about the Second Coming of Jesus Christ, but you'd better stop using the Second Coming of Jesus Christ as a last resort and some escape cow, while meanwhile back at the ranch we're living here. And, you don't know—Jesus may not come for a hundred years. I want my grandchildren to live in the kind of a land that I had the joy of living in, only I want it to be better. You say, “But men are so wicked today.” Well, friend, let me tell you something: God has never had anything but wicked people to work with. Adam was totally depraved. You can't get worse than that. It's an insult to God to say that we cannot have revival in wicked times.

On Mount Carmel, Elijah decided that he would be soft. The priests tallied 450; Elijah, one man of God. He proposed a contest. He said, “The god that [answers] by fire, let him be God.” (1 Kings 18:24) And, that was the test—not fame, figures, or finances, but fire. And, God sent revival on Mount Carmel, and the fire came and burned that wet sacrifice. You remember the story? Don't say we can't have revival. My dear friend, a god that can't burn wet wood is no good anyway.

God is still alive. In Nineveh... You think America is bad? My dear friend, the way the people in Nineveh were living in Jonah’s time was so terrible that God said, “I'm going to obliterate them all. I'm going to destroy them.” And, God sent a salty saint—by the way, he had to spend the night on a foam blubber mattress before he got right—God sent Jonah, and an entire city about the size of Memphis, Tennessee, repented in sackcloth and ashes.

God can do it. My dear friend, in Jerusalem there was a mighty revival in Jerusalem the Day of Pentecost. Never was there a city where they hated Jesus Christ more, for there they crucified Him. They were gospel-hardened. They had heard the preaching of the prophets and had turned from it. Not only that—there was scandal. Simon Peter cursed and swore on one of His closest friends and denied Him. Judas had sold Him for thirty pieces of silver. And yet, on the Day of Pentecost, the Spirit of God fell, and those salty saints moved out. And, there was revival.

My dear friend, in the Dark Ages—we call it “the Protestant Reformation.” You think things are bad today? My dear friend, the boys and girls in our Sunday school know more about the Bible than the priests in those days. It was a terrible thing. And yet, God raised up Luther, God raised up Calvin, God raised up others, and there was what you call “the Protestant Reformation.” It was a mighty revival. It was a change in history. And, God sent revival, and I say, “O God, do it again!” It’s time, my dear friend, for the salt to work.

When Wesley was in England, my dear friend, in the eighteenth century, there was a complete breakdown in the government. The morals of France were about to take over. The immorality of France was just about to overtake England. The clergy in England were drunk; they were gambling. They were profligate people. There was a state church. And, the Puritan preachers came in. They decided they would be the salt of the earth. Those Puritan preachers were put in jail. The slave trade was flourishing. It was a dark day. And, my dear friend, God sent Wesley and others, and there was a mighty revival in England.

Even in America, Dwight L. Moody—he was the Billy Graham of his day. Never was unbelief more firmly entrenched than when Dwight L. Moody was preaching. On one occasion, Dwight L. Moody preached to a congregation of infidels about the size of this congregation, all of them saying, “I’m an infidel. I don’t believe in God. I hate Christ. I hate the Bible.” Dwight L. Moody, a little uneducated shoe clerk, stood up and preached to all those infidels, and the power of God fell because of one salty saint.

Don’t tell me we can’t have revival. Don’t tell me it’s too late for America. You say, “Well, there’s so much sin.” There’s sin in Hollywood. There is sin in pornography. There is sin in the music industry. There is sin in the government. God help us, there is sin in the Church. But, I want to tell you, the Bible says, “Where sin [did abound], grace did much more abound.” (Romans 5:20) The problem is not that God cannot. God said, “If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land.” (2 Chronicles 7:14)

Conclusion
It’s time to blow the trumpet in America. It’s time! Oh, it’s past time for the salt to work! You know what? Do you know what? Do you know what? God took sodium, deadly and explosive; God took chlorine, noxious and deadly; and God, by His divine chemistry, put them together, and God made something incredibly wonderful—necessary for life, necessary for preservation, necessary for purity. My dear friend, the God who did that with common salt is the God who, by the chemistry of the cross, can change you and make you a brand-new creature. There are millions in the world—billions—whose lives have been changed radically and dramatically for good, for God, and for heaven by faith in Jesus Christ.

Introduction

Find in God’s Word Matthew chapter 5. In a moment, we’re going to begin reading in verse 14. The title of the message today: “Bright Lights in a Dark World.” Last week, we talked about the fact that Jesus said “[we] are the salt of the earth.” (Matthew 5:13) In this passage of Scripture Jesus is going to tell us we are the light of the world.

Now, both salt and light have to be applied. When salt is applied, it goes inward and disappears. Light comes from within and always appears. The salt speaks of character; the light speaks of testimony. And, what the world needs is both penetration and illumination, both character and confession. These are astounding words from the lips of Jesus; listen to them. Jesus says in verse 14: “Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid. Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house. Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.” (Matthew 5:14–16) Now, I want us to think of three simple little words today: who, what, and why. Now, that’s an easy outline for us to follow.
I. Who?

Who? Jesus Christ, in verse 14, says, “Ye are the light of the world.” (Matthew 5:14)

Now, to whom was He speaking? Well, this is the Sermon on the Mount. And, where was the mount? Well, that was in northern Galilee, by the shore of Galilee. To whom was He speaking? To the villagers there; to His disciples, fisher-folk, a motley crew. And, He’s saying to them, “[You] are the light of the world.” (Matthew 5:14)

Now, to whom was He speaking? Well, this is the Sermon on the Mount. And, where was the mount? Well, that was in northern Galilee, by the shore of Galilee. To whom was He speaking? To the villagers there; to His disciples, fisher-folk, a motley crew. And, He’s saying to them, “[You] are the light of the world.” (Matthew 5:14)

Now, can you imagine that? On a hillside in Galilee? The Galileans, my dear friend, were the hillbillies of that day. They were the country cousins, the bumpkins, of that day. It is to these people that Jesus is saying, “[You] are the light of the world.” (Matthew 5:14)

Now, either that’s one of the greatest statements ever made or a great statement of megalomania, where somebody is saying something that is absolutely absurd and ridiculous. And, I can just imagine them saying, if they were thinking at all, “Who…me? us? Are you talking to us? We are the light of the world?” Amazing! But, my dear friend, that’s exactly what Jesus is saying. As a matter of fact, the Greek scholars tell us that the word you is emphatic. It means “you and nobody else.” “[You] are the light of the world.” (Matthew 5:14)

Do you know how God intends to get His work done, dear friend, in this world today? If Jesus Christ were to stand here on this pulpit platform this morning, He could very well say the same thing to those of you who are sitting in this place. He could look you right in the face and say, “[You] are the light of the world.” (Matthew 5:14)

You say, “Now, wait a minute, pastor. You may be the light, but I’m not the light. I’m excused.” Oh, no. My dear friend, you are the light of the world. And, what happens, so many times, is that our members don’t understand that.

It’s like a general who calls his army together, and he lectures to them on the principles of war and tells them all about warfare. And then, he sends them off to eat a chicken dinner while he puts his rifle on his shoulder and goes off to war.

Somehow we have the idea that there are just a few people who are the light of the world, or just a few people who are to preach the gospel. But that is not so. God’s plan is to take ordinary people just like you, just like me, and through us to do extraordinary things.

Now, the world thinks it lives in light. The world brags about being so enlightened. We have the high muckety-mucks of this world. But, the Apostle Paul, with a sense of sarcasm, said in 1 Corinthians chapter 1 and verse 20: “Where is the wise? where is the scribe? where is the disputer of this world?” (1 Corinthians 1:20) What he is saying is, “All right, all of you statesmen, and you movers and shakers, and you philosophers, and you thinkers, and you scientists, and you educators, and you people in the think tank, where have you gotten us to?”

I was thinking the other day about the technology of our age, folks. The technology of today is the science fiction of when I was a boy. And, I leave this place to go home; I get in an automobile that is regulated by a computer. And, I put a tape in my tape deck, and I listen to music that comes from a little sliver of plastic—beautiful music—while I’m driving down a superhighway. I remember I’m supposed to say something to my secretary. I can pick up a telephone and talk to her while I’m driving down the highway. I get home; I walk into a house that has climate control—it is air-conditioned. I go and sit down, and sit down in front of a thing called a television set, and I have a space command—at least I used to have it before my grandson hid it, I have no idea where—and I can change the channels without ever having to get up. And, what kind of channels? Well, my dear friend, the news can happen across the ocean, and some sort of a television signal goes from the earth to a satellite, and comes out of that satellite down into my living room, and I’m in touch with the entire world. And, I’m doing this while my tea is being heated in the microwave. It’s incredible.

But yet, we’re in deeper difficulty than we’ve ever been. We call it an “enlightened age,” but we’re sinking lower and lower. The question is, if we’re so smart and if we have so much light, why are we in the difficulty that we’re in? And, everybody that comes along, he has a new idea. Now, if you’ve lived very long, you remember the New Deal. The New Deal was exchanged for the Fair Deal, the Fair Deal for the Great Society. And then, we had Camelot; and then, we had Camp David. And then, we had Reaganomics; and then, we had detente. And then, we had Glasnost; and then, we had “A Thousand Points of Light.” And now, a fellow’s come along proposing a New Covenant. And, we sink slower, and slower do we sink. What is happening, my dear friend, is that we have substituted intelligence for wisdom.

Somebody wrote these words: “Thus did Western man decide to abolish himself, creating his own boredom out of his own affluence, his own vulnerability out of his own strength, his own impotence out of his own erotomania, himself blowing the trumpet that brought the walls of his own city tumbling down, and having convinced himself that he is too numerous, labors with pill and scalpel and syringe to make himself fewer, until at last, having educated himself into imbecility and polluted and drugged himself into stupefaction, he keels over, a weary, battered old brontosaurus, and becomes extinct.” That’s poignant, isn’t it? That’s society today. That’s enlightenment today.

And, Jesus says to common people—not to the statesmen and the philosophers, but to the common folks like us—“[we] are the light of the world.” (Matthew 5:14) That’s the wonderful thing about the gospel. You know, Jesus said, “I’ve hidden these things from the wise and the prudent, and I have revealed them unto babes.” (Matthew 11:25; Luke 10:21)

Do you know the wisdom of God? The Bible says, “In the wisdom of God the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe.” (1 Corinthians 1:21) Now, “foolishness of preaching” (1 Corinthians 1:21)—what is it? He said, “We preach Christ crucified.” (1 Corinthians 1:23) You see, through the cross. Let me give you the wisdom of God; let me tell you why we have the light of the world: through the cross. Through the cross even a little child can know the heart of God. Is there any greater wisdom than knowing the heart of God? And, even a little child can understand, my dear friend, the mysteries of life and death.

“We are the light of the world.” (Matthew 5:14) Now, the world doesn’t understand this. The world looks at us, and the world says, “They don’t count.” The world puts the emphasis upon beauty, upon brawn, and upon brains, and upon bucks, but Jesus puts the emphasis upon character. “[You’re] the salt of the earth.” (Matthew 5:13) He puts the emphasis upon revelation. “[You] are the light of the world.” (Matthew 5:13) How wonderful that is!

Now, sometime ago, I was in Moscow. You prayed for me, and I want to thank you for that. I’ll be going back at the close of our trip to Romania. But, I preached in a beautiful music hall. And, after I preached there—there was a very fine congregation; some of the leaders in the city of Moscow were there, and they came to the platform and wanted to talk. A man stood there and said, “May I have a few moments with you?” And, I said, “Yes.” He said, “I am a philosopher.” He said, “I study philosophy, and I belong to a philosophical society.” I said, “That’s very nice.” He said, “Could you come and lecture to our philosophical society?” I said, “I would like to, but my schedule will not allow it. I cannot come.” He said, “May I ask you a question?” I said, “Certainly.” He said, “It seems to me that there are two ecologies: a higher ecology and lower ecology. Would you agree?” I said, “Yes, sir, I would.” He said, “It seems to me that these two ecologies are in conflict with each other. Would you agree?” I said, “Yes, sir, I would.” He said, “It seems that there’s a constant struggle between the higher ecology and the lower ecology.” I said, “That is correct.” And then, I just broke in, and I said, “Sir, what you call the ‘higher ecology’ is God, and what you call the ‘lower ecology’ is the power of Satan. And, these are in constant conflict one with the other. But,” I said, “sir, the Bible teaches that the Son of God is Jesus Christ, who died for our sins. And, the Bible teaches that if we will repent of our sins and receive Christ into our hearts as our personal Savior, then Christ lives on the inside. And then, the Bible says, ‘Greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world.’” (1 John 4:4) And, I said, “You can overcome the lower ecology because the One who is the Lord of the higher ecology, Jesus Christ Himself, lives in your heart and gives you power day by day.” And, I said, “He lives in my heart. He wants to live in your heart.” “Oh?” He got out his pad, started to write. He said, “Give me that again. I want to hear that.” It was amazing because the boys and girls in our Sunday school know that, but he didn’t know it. He didn’t know it.

You know why he didn’t know it? The same reason you wouldn’t have known it unless somebody had taught you. You see? You didn’t figure it out. We don’t have anything we haven’t received. But see, that was such good news to a man who had lived all of his life, even though a philosopher, being taught there is no God, not understanding what we understand—very simple to understand.

So, that was the first man I talked with. I turned around. There was another man standing behind me. He had his card already out. It was his business card. He said, “Sir, I am a space scientist.” He was with the space agency there. He handed me his card. He said, “I want to talk with you.” He said, “I’ve been a scientist all of my life, and,” he said, “I want to tell you that, through the study of science and the laws of the universe, I have come to believe that there is a higher power. I have come to believe that there must be some supernatural higher power because all of this could not have happened—the intricate laws of the universe could not operate—unless there is some controlling force.” I said, “That’s very good, sir, and I agree with you that all of this world shows the marks of its Creator, Almighty God. But,” I said, “sir, all you can do is know about God through the study of science. You can see how God works, but you cannot understand who God is until God reveals Himself to you. And,” I said, “God has revealed Himself to you in a book called the Bible.” And, I said, “The Bible tells you that this God who made everything is a God of love. He sent His Son to die for you on the cross to redeem you from your sins.” And, I gave to that space scientist two big black Bibles. He hugged them to his chest and went off with those Bibles like he had received the grand prize. A scientist, but he needed to know Jesus.

I turned from him, and it’s almost like these three had been choreographed. And, they were standing right over there. Somebody said, “There is a lady who wants to speak to you.” She was about thirty-five, beautiful. Her eyes glistened with tears. She said, “Sir, I’m a lawyer.” She was a lawyer for the GUM department stores. She said, “This is the first religious service I’ve ever been to in my life.” She said, “Tonight, I’ve given my heart to Jesus Christ.” I had the joy of sharing with her and helping her to get started in the Christian life.

And, I thought to myself, “Isn’t it wonderful? Isn’t it wonderful that God can take people like we are, just plain ordinary folks, and yet fill us with the Lord Jesus Christ and give us His Word?” My dear friend, I want to say to every philosopher and to every scientist and to every lawyer that Jesus Christ is the light of the world. And, His light shines in us; and then, His light shines through us. And, God just takes normal people, ordinary people—people like me, people like you—and Jesus says to you and to me, “You have the answer. ’You are the light of the world.’” (Matthew 5:14)

II. What?
And so, the very first question that we want to ask and answer is, “Who?” The answer: you—you. You say, “Not me, pastor.” Yes, you. Now, many of us, therefore, we try to get out of it. So, let’s go on and answer it a little bit further—not only who, but what: “[You are the light of the world.” (Matthew 5:14) Now, you don’t light light. You don’t salt salt. The idea is that we are to get outside the four walls of the church, and we are to be the light of the world. And, our Lord, the Master Teacher, gives three illustrations here, and I want you to look at them.

A. The Foolishness of Concealed Light
First of all, He talks about the foolishness of concealed light. Look in verses 14 and 15: “Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid. Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel”—now, the bushel, of course, is like our bushel basket. It was something that you carried commodities in. Now, what I think our Lord is saying is, “You shouldn’t let business and possessions and things hide your light.” They don’t—“put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house. Let your light so shine.” (Matthew 5:14–16)

Now, what is He saying? He’s talking about, first of all, the foolishness of concealed light. You don’t light a lamp and put it under a bushel basket. And, my dear friend, when you got saved, you were saved to shine. Don’t hide your testimony. Are you ashamed to carry a Bible to work? Are you a businessman without a Bible on your desk? Are you a student who does not carry at least the New Testament? Sir, when you go out to lunch tomorrow and those other buddies are there around that table, do you bow your head and thank God for the food? Do you invite them to do so? Do people know that you are a Christian? Or, are you hiding your lamp under a bushel? Are you ashamed of the One who died for you? Oh, the light is burning; you love the Lord. But, you are hiding your light; you’re smothering your light. You have it under a bushel. The foolishness of concealed light. What’s a light for? A light is to shine. You say, “I love the Lord Jesus.” I know you do. You even have that “Jesus Saves” lapel pin. The only problem is you wear it on your underwear. You hide your light. You don’t let others know that you love the Lord Jesus Christ. Be bold! Be bold! The foolishness of concealed light.

B. The Faithfulness of Courageous Light
And then, oh, my dear friend, there is the faithfulness of courageous light. He said, “You are to take your light and put it on a candlestick” (Matthew 5:15); that is, lift it up that it will give light to all that are in the house. You say, “But pastor, you don’t know where I work. I work with a lot of pagans.” “Hey, pastor, if you only knew the dirty jokes, the things that are Xeroxed and passed around in our office; if you only knew the gossip; if you only knew the blasphemy, you’d understand why I want to get another job. I want to get out of this place. I’m just so oppressed there. There’s nobody saved there where I am. I want to go to an office that’s full of Christians.” You know what you want to do? You just want to light light, don’t you? You just want to salt salt, don’t you? Why do you think God put you where He put you? Why do you think you’re in that place?

I remember reading the book of Titus, and Titus is complaining about the Cretians, and he says something about the people who lived in Crete: “The Cretians are [always] slow bellies.” (Titus 1:12) Now, I don’t know what the word “slow belly” means, but that doesn’t sound good to me. “[They] are…slow bellies.” (Titus 1:12) And, Paul says to Titus, “For this cause left I thee in Crete.” (Titus 1:5) That’s why you are there—because of the way these people are. My dear friend, the Bible says we are to shine as lights in a dark world. That’s why we’re there. That’s why we’re there.

You say, “I’m not much, Brother Rogers. I can’t sing. I don’t have a lot of money. I’m not good looking. I didn’t make high grades in school.” It doesn’t make any difference. Just let your light shine. It’s not your light; it’s His light anyway. Christ is the light of the world, (John 9:5) and it is Him shining in you. I want to ask you a question: What is most important in a house—the chandelier in the foyer or the single light bulb that keeps you from breaking your neck on the basement steps? I mean, it’s not the ornamentation; it’s who you are. It’s where you are. You are a light in a dark place.

C. The Forcefulness of Collective Light

There’s the foolishness of concealed light: you don’t light a light and put it under a bushel. My dear friend, there is the faithfulness of courageous light. You let your light shine, and it gives light to all that are in the house. There’s somebody—that you can influence for the Lord Jesus Christ. And then, my dear friend, look at it again—there is the forcefulness of collective light. Look, if you will, at verse 14: “Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid.” (Matthew 5:14)

Now, what is a city? A city that is full of light is where men have lighted a light. They have not put it under a bushel; they have put it on a candlestick. But, this light has light. That house has a light. That house has a light. That house has a light. That house has a light. And, all over, first thing you know, there is a glow across the sky, because that city is an elevated place; it is up on a hill. What’s our Lord talking about? He’s talking about the Church. He’s talking about us now, collectively. He’s not talking about concealed light. He’s not talking only about courageous light. He’s talking about collective light. Did you see what happened when they started to pass that light up there in the choir? My dear friend, many of us together can glow for the Lord Jesus Christ and make an impact that we cannot make by ourselves. We need one another, and we shine brightest when we shine together. And, a city that is set on a hill, it can’t be hid. And, the Church is the city of God, and we are to be living in an elevated place.

I have gone to Israel and been there where Jesus gave the Sermon on the Mount. And, you go out at nighttime and stand on those hills at Galilee, and there is a city in the distance. Its name is Safed, and you can see the lights of that city even today. And, it surely must have been the city when Jesus was talking about when he said, “A city…set on [a] hill cannot be hid.” (Matthew 5:14)

Oh, my dear friend, this is the what? “[We] are the light of the world.” (Matthew 5:14)

If we don’t shine, who is going to? It is our privilege, it is our duty, it is our responsibility to shine for the Lord Jesus Christ.

III. How?

Now, last of all, how are we going to do it? How are we going to do it? Look, if you will, in verse 16: “Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.” (Matthew 5:16) Now, here, my dear friend, is the how. How are you going to do it?

A. Surrender

Well, first of all, there is going to have to be surrender—there’s going to have to be surrender. Look at the little word let. Do you see it? Let it happen. You see, when you get right with God, when you get saved, when you get filled with the Holy Spirit of God, you don’t have to make yourself shine; you will shine. Just let yourself shine. If you force it, it will be a glare and not a glow. You just let yourself shine. It’s just your willingness to cooperate with God. It’s not that difficult. “Let your light so shine.” (Matthew 5:16) Manley Beasley, who is now in heaven, used to say, “You get right with God—truly, thoroughly right with God—and you’ll have to backslide to keep from winning souls to Jesus Christ.” It’s just automatic. You are going to shine if you are full of the Lord Jesus Christ.

The Bible tells about Stephen, who was stoned. Remember, Stephen was stoned for his testimony. And, the Bible says that while they were stoning him, he looked up into heaven, and, the Bible says, his face shone like the face of an angel. (Acts 6:15) I don’t think that Stephen had been to a seminar on face-shining. I don’t think he had studied and said, “Now I’m going to make my face shine.” He’s just so full of Jesus, you just let Him shine. It’s just surrender to Him.

†A little boy asked his daddy, I’m told, “Daddy, how tall am I?” And, the dad said, “Well, son, I don’t know…about four-and-a-half feet.” He said, “Daddy, how tall is Jesus?” “Well,” he said, “son, I don’t know. Maybe He’s six feet tall.” He said, “I’m four-and-a-half, and He’s six feet tall?” He said, “Well, then, if Jesus is in me, He’ll stick out, won’t He?” He really will. If Jesus is in you, He will stick out. My dear friend, you just let your light shine. You see, there has to be surrender. Just say, “Here I am, Lord Jesus.” The Christ in you will not be contained if you will just let Him be Jesus in you.

B. Sacrifice
But, not only will it be surrender; hey, there has to be sacrifice, because He said, “Let your light shine”—“shine.” Did you know there is no shining without burning? No shining without burning. It was said of John the Baptist, “He was a burning and a shining light.” (John 5:35) You see, if we’re willing to be consumed, if we’re willing to be fuel for the Master’s fire, that as it was on the Day of Pentecost, there set on every man’s head a flickering flame of fire… They were like human candles burning for the Lord—“a burning and a shining light.” (John 5:35) Are you willing to be consumed for Christ? Are you willing to burn out for the Lord Jesus Christ? There can be no shining without burning.

C. Sanctification
And then, last of all, not only must there be that surrender, not only must there be that sacrifice, but all of these speak primarily about that sanctification. You see, what He says is this: “that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.” (Matthew 5:16) That’s sanctification. That’s the Christ life. The life you live is Jesus in you, and they can see that.

Hudson Taylor, the great missionary who founded the China Inland Mission, Hudson Taylor came back, and a newspaperman said, “Hudson Taylor, did you know that they are comparing you to the Apostle Paul? How does that make you feel?” He said, “That makes me feel really bad.” He said, “I wanted to remind them of Jesus.” Of Jesus, see?

Let them see your good works, which is Christ in you. “And the life which I now live…I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me.” (Galatians 2:20) And, it’s not my life, but it is His life—not only a changed life, but an exchanged life. And, people see Jesus Christ in me and in you.

Conclusion
Now folks, listen—listen. We’re coming to the end of an age. There is more darkness today than there has ever been in history, in my estimation. We know more science. We have more abilities. We have more technology. But, our world—our whole world—is lost in the darkness of sin. The light of the world is Jesus. Do you believe that? Do you? That was a weak amen. Do you believe that? Amen? The light of the world is Jesus.
Some years ago in South Carolina, there was terrible fire in a schoolhouse. Seventy children were burned to death. The people in that South Carolina community came to stand around that schoolhouse to do what they could do, but the raging inferno was such that they could not get in there to rescue the children from that terrible holocaust. There was a father who came there and looked in through the window. He could see his son in the flames. The son recognized the dad, and the dad recognized the son. And, the boy said to his daddy, “Daddy! Daddy! Save me, Daddy! Save me!” And, the dad began to go into the flames, and strong men held him back. There was no way. It was totally impossible. It was too late.

And, the little boy saw what was happening. He began to cry, and he said, “Daddy, can’t you save me? Daddy, can’t you save me? Daddy, daddy, save me!” And, that father watched his son wither like a flower with an acetylene torch turned on him. Night and day after that, that father could see with his eyes his son in those flames, could hear with his ears the pitiful cry of his son: “Daddy, can’t you save me? Daddy, can’t you save me?” He lived about two years after that. He died prematurely because he died of such an anguish of heart and soul.

Now friend, I want to say something about this world in which we live: this world is in a perishing state. And, this world looks at science, and this world says to science, “Science, can’t you save me?” And, science says, “No, I can’t save you. I can tell you how far it is from Earth to the sun, but I cannot tell you how to remove sin from your heart. I can’t save you.” And, the world looks at philosophy, and the world says, “Philosophy, can’t you save me?” And, philosophy says, “I can’t save you. I can tell you more and more about less and less until you know everything about very little, but I can’t save you.” The world looks at education and says, “Education, can’t you save me?” Education says, “I can make you smart, but I can’t make you wise. I can’t save you.” The world looks to culture, and the world says, “Culture, can’t you save me?” And, culture says, “I can’t save you. All I can do is make the world a better place to go to hell from, but I can’t save you.” Friend, there’s only One who can save, and He’s mighty to save. And His name is Jesus. He’s the light of the world.

In your home, you’ve tried everything. You need Jesus. In your life, you’ve tried everything: you’ve tried religion; you’ve tried church membership; you’ve tried turning over a new leaf, but you’ve never ever bowed at the feet of Jesus. You’ve never truly received Christ into your heart. I am telling you, my dear friend, that Jesus, and Jesus alone, is the answer to your heart hunger. Jesus Christ, who saved me when I was a teenage boy, is the Jesus who wants to save you. And, He will save you today if you’ll trust Him. The light of the world is Jesus, and He is light for you, for your darkness.

Introduction

Would you take God’s Word, please, and open to Matthew chapter 5. In a moment, we’re going to be reading verse 17 and verse 18. In these Sundays—the ones that precede us, and the ones that will follow us for a short time—I’m going to be speaking to you about my desires for this church. We’re talking really about, “Milestones and New Horizons,” looking backward a little bit, looking forward a whole lot. And I’ve tried to talk to you about what kind of a church I want us to be: a victorious church, a Spirit-filled church, a united church. Next Sunday, I’m going to be talking to you about a Christ-honoring church, God willing, if we’re still here and the Rapture hasn’t come. But, today, I want to speak to you about a Bible-believing church. I do not have enough vocabulary to tell you how important it is that your faith must rest in the Word of God.

Now what I want you to see today is what Jesus thought of His Bible. Now what Jesus thought of His Bible is so very important to you; for the servant must be like his master (Matthew 10:25). But Jesus had a Bible. It was the Old Testament. And I want you to hear Jesus’ testimony to the Old Testament. Now, listen, folks. Only ignorance scoffs at the fact that Jesus Christ was a historical character. We know that beyond the shadow of any doubt. Now, just who was this Jesus? Well, scholars are still scratching their heads and thinking. We know, because we have a Bible. Now, listen very carefully to this next statement. Jesus authenticates the Bible, and the Bible authenticates the Lord Jesus. These rise or fall together. I want you to see what Jesus said about His Bible.

I’m talking to you about the time that Jesus was here on earth before the New Testament was ever written. Jesus said—verse 17, “Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil. For verily I say unto you…”—now, folks, listen. When Jesus says, “verily,” everything that Jesus says is true; but when Jesus says, “verily,” He’s saying, “Pay attention!” That word verily means, “truly” or “amen and amen”—“verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled” (Matthew 5:17–18). Now that’s what Jesus said about His Bible. He said, “I didn’t come to destroy the law and the prophets.” The law and the prophets were the names for the Old Testament. That’s what the Jews called, and still call, the Old Testament: the law and the prophets.

Now I want you to see what Jesus said about His Bible. I’m going to call it the Old Testament. Now I want to lay three things on your heart today. I pray God that you will receive them. I pray God that He will rivet them upon your soul. I pray God He will etch them in your psyche. I pray God that you will never, never, never waiver on these truths. Bellevue Baptist Church has been, is, and must be always, a Bible-based church. Congregation, amen? Now this Search Committee is looking for a man who stands foursquare on the Word of God.

Think with me about three things in this passage that we see concerning Jesus and His Bible.

I. Jesus Fulfills the Old Testament in Its Predictions
First thought: Jesus fulfills the Old Testament in its predictions. The Old Testament is a book of prophecy. It is a book of predictions, and it predicts the Lord Jesus Christ. “Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil” (Matthew 5:17). Jesus Christ is the fulfillment of every Old Testament prophecy concerning Him. Do you want a key to understanding the Bible? The key to understanding the Bible is to look for Jesus in the Bible. Jesus is the hero of the Bible. If you read the Bible and you don’t find Jesus, re-read it! The Bible has one hero: His name is Jesus; one villain: that is Satan; one problem: that is sin; one solution: that is salvation. That is what the Bible is all about. Let me give you some scriptures for your margin just to point out what I’m talking about that Jesus and the Bible rise or stand together.

Now Luke chapter 24, verse 27—Jesus is speaking, and the Bible says, “And beginning at Moses and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself” (Luke 24:27). That is, Jesus took the Old Testament. He started with Moses—Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy—and then He went on to the prophets, and He began to expound the things in these Scriptures. Now it says that He did this in all of the Scriptures. It doesn’t say that He showed them all the things concerning Himself in the Scriptures, but He showed them in all the Scriptures the things concerning Himself. That’s the reason I say that the Bible is a Jesus book. Sometimes people say, “Have you read the four Gospels?” Friend, I’ve read all sixty-six. They’re all about the Lord Jesus Christ: “in all the scriptures.”

Now you may not see Him literally there on any page. If you’re reading some of the list of names in Genesis that sound like a Hebrew telephone directory, and you say, “Where is Jesus there?” well, friend, if you understand the history—Bible history and all of it—you’ll understand ultimately it is written to present the Lord Jesus Christ.

Now, put down this verse also—Acts chapter 10 and verse 43: “To him”—that is, to Jesus—“give all the prophets witness…”—don’t get the idea that the Old Testament was written about one thing and the New Testament is written about something else—“To [Jesus] give all the prophets witness, that through his name whosoever believeth in him shall receive the remission of sins” (Acts 10:43). The Savior, and the salvation that the Savior provides, are presented in the Old Testament.

And then here’s what Jesus says to the church called Bellevue. Now, you listen. John chapter 5, verse 39: “Search the scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life: and they are they which testify of me” (John 5:39). Did you hear that? Jesus said, “You search the scriptures.” And I want to remind you that His Bible was the Old Testament. And He says, “These are they which testify of me.” God has no program, no plans, no purposes, that do not ultimately center in the Lord Jesus Christ. And Jesus is in all of the Bible; and you’ll find Him especially in prophecy.

Now I said that Jesus fulfills the predictions of the Old Testament. Jesus Christ is unique. He’s the only person ever born to this world whose ancestry, birth time, forerunner, birth place, birth manner, infancy, manhood, teaching, character, preaching, reception, rejection, death, burial, resurrection, and ascension were all prophesied centuries before He was born. Now, friend, what a testimony—let me say it that way—what a testimony to the character of the Bible and the character of Jesus, how they rise and stand together!

You know, in the Bible there are a great number of prophecies in the Old Testament concerning Jesus Christ: 333 precise prophecies. A man named Peter Stoner, who’s a statistician, didn’t take 333. He took only eight. And he figures the possibility that eight of these prophecies could have been fulfilled by chance—only eight out of 333. Now he wrote in the book Science Speaks this amazing fact. He said the mathematical chance that eight of these prophecies could be fulfilled in one person, eight—now, listen to this—is ten to the seventeenth power. You say, “Now I know exactly how many that is, pastor.” Well, I don’t know that we even have a name for that. Gazillion, I guess.

But he illustrates it. And this I can understand. He said if you were to take the state of Texas from border to border, and cover the state of Texas with silver dollars—now the Texans would like this—with silver dollars two feet high—now, just in your mind think of the state of Texas. One week I drove across Texas. It seemed like a week driving from border to border. It’s a big state. Now, just imagine Texas covered with silver dollars two feet high—and then you take a man and blindfold him, and drop him down somewhere by helicopter—El Paso, Dallas, it doesn’t matter where—and there’s one silver dollar in all those silver dollars that has a special mark on it—and he’s blindfolded and cannot see: the chance that he would reach down and pick up that one silver dollar is about the same mathematical probability that these eight prophecies could be fulfilled by mere chance. And only eight of them that he deals with. What about 333 of these prophecies?

You see, look. One prophecy: you say, “Well, He may be the Son of God.” Two prophecies: “Well, it’s a little more different.” Three, and so forth: you see, when you add them up, then the possibility of chance greatly diminishes.

Joyce and I have a son named David who lives in Spain. When I want to call to David, I pick up the phone and dial a specific number, and he’s on the other end. But think of how the mathematical situation works out. When I pick up the phone, I eliminate everybody who doesn’t have a telephone. So I know I’m not going to call anybody who doesn’t have a telephone when I lift up the phone. And then, when I dial the overseas operator or number, I know that I’m not going to talk to anybody in North America. Three hundred million people are cut out of the equation right now. And then, I dial the country number. And then, we eliminate all of the millions and billions of people who live in other countries. And then, I dial the area code. And then, I eliminate everybody in that country, the country of Spain, that doesn’t have that particular area code. And then, I begin to dial his personal number. When I dial the first number, I eliminate everybody whose phone number doesn’t begin with that first number. And then, the second number: we eliminate everybody whose phone number doesn’t begin with the next two numbers; and on, and we keep narrowing and narrowing the scope until the phone rings and I hear this voice I love to hear say, “Diga”—“Speak”—and there’s David.

Now, do you think that anybody could pick up a telephone and just dial numbers and get their loved ones; I mean, just at random, overseas somewhere? No! Well, friend, it’s a mathematical impossibility that such would happen. Well, let’s call the Lord Jesus Christ. Are you ready to call Jesus and get Him on the phone?

Well, first of all, when we pick up the phone and begin to speak to the Lord Jesus Christ, we’re looking for someone from the human race. You say, “I thought He was God.” Yes, He is God; but He is human. The Bible says that this Savior is to be the seed of the woman, in Genesis 3, verse 15, the very first prophecy we have that He’s a man, not an angel or some other creature (Genesis 3:15). And so, first of all, we have to dial someone of a certain race. And then, we dial someone who is of a section of that race. Three sections came out of the ark: Ham, Shem, and Japheth. But Jesus is of Shem. Genesis 9, verse 26: “Blessed be the LORD God of Shem” (Genesis 9:26). So He must be a Semite, or Shemite. But now, not only do we have a race and a section of that race; but we tighten the focus, and we have a nation of that section. And we see there in Genesis chapter 12 where God says of Abraham He’s going to make of him a great nation, and He’s going to be the one, through him, that all the nations of the world will be blessed (Genesis 12:2–3). That is, Messiah is going to come through Abraham. But then, not only do we have a nation, but we have, friend, a tribe of that nation. Out of that nation is going to come a tribe, and that tribe is going to be the tribe of Judah; and we tighten the focus a little bit more. Genesis chapter 49, verse 10, says that, “The sceptre shall not depart from Judah” (Genesis 49:10). And so we have a tribe.

So now, notice what we’re saying. There’s a tribe of that nation, of that section, or that race. But now, wait a minute. We narrow it just a little bit more. There’s a family of that tribe from whom the Messiah will come. In 1 Samuel 16, verse 3, we find out that it is one of the sons of a man named Jesse, who’s going to have a son named David, who’s going to be the progenitor of the Savor of the world, according to the flesh. But now we notice not only is there a family; there is a woman of that family who’s going to give birth to the Messiah. Isaiah chapter 7, verse 14, says that, “A virgin shall conceive, and bear a son” (Isaiah 7:14). And then, we find out that there is a Son born of that woman, of that family, of that tribe, of that nation, of that race. “Hello, Jesus!” There He is!

Now, listen. Do you think for one minute that happens by chance? Jesus said, “You search the Scriptures; these are they which testify of me” (John 5:39). And Jesus fulfills the Old Testament in prediction. It’s there. You see Jesus there in the Old Testament in prediction.

II. Jesus Fulfills the Old Testament in Its Perfection
But now here’s the second thing I want you to see. Jesus fulfills the Old Testament in its perfection—not only in its prediction, but in its perfection. Jesus said here, in verses 17 and 18, that not a jot or a tittle will fail from the law till the law be fulfilled. Listen to it. “Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil. For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled” (Matthew 5:17–18). You say, “Well, pastor, tell me what a jot and a tittle is?” Well, the jot is the smallest letter in the Greek alphabet we call an iota. That’s the smallest marking in Greek or Hebrew. That’s a jot. And then, a tittle is the smallest punctuation mark, almost like a fly scratch. And Jesus is saying, “Look, this thing is so inspired, this Bible, that the smallest, most minute marks, punctuations, are there, and they will never, never, never fail.”
Now Jesus held the highest view of the Bible. We have some people today who tell us, “Well, the Bible is inspired in spots,” and they think they’re inspired to spot the spots. Friend, I want to tell you, if you can’t trust all of it as God originally gave it, you cannot trust any of it. Jesus said, “Not a jot or a tittle shall fail from the law till all be fulfilled.”

Now I want to give you two words. You may not be interested in these. They’re a little bit technical. But, first of all, the Bible is verbally inspired. That means, not just the thoughts, but the words. Verba, in Latin, means word for word, the Bible is inspired. Jesus said, in Matthew 4:4, “Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.” And don’t let anybody just tell you, “Well, the thoughts are inspired; you can fool with the words.” Friend, you can’t have thoughts without words any more than you could have mathematics without numbers. God gives the word. So the Bible is verbally inspired. Say, “verbally.” All right now, that’s a word you’ve learned about the Word of God.

Now the Bible is also plenarily inspired. We believe in the verbal, plenary inspiration of the Word of God. Now, what do we mean by plenary? Say, “plenary.” That means, “full.” It means all of it. That means Genesis to Revelation, the Bible is verbally, plenarily inspired: “Not a jot, not a tittle, shall fail from the law till all be fulfilled.” Got it?

All right now, don’t ever slip. You go off there, and some of these people with their verbal gymnastics and their use of words are going to plant doubt in your mind concerning the Word of God. Anybody who puts doubt in your mind concerning the Word of God is doing the work of the devil. Put it down. You kids going off to college, you’d better get a grip on the Word of God. And your view of the Bible had better be the view of your Savior, who said, “Not a jot, not a tittle, shall fail from the law till all be fulfilled.” And that—that moves me.

Now, you see, if that’s not true, you’ve only got one of two conclusions: either the Bible was not true, and Jesus was so ignorant He didn’t know it; or else Jesus knew it, but He was so dishonest He wouldn’t admit it. Well, your Savior may be ignorant or dishonest, but not mine. I don’t think yours is either.

III. Jesus Fulfills the Old Testament in Its Purpose
Now I want you to see a third thing. Jesus fulfills the law of God, friend, not only in its prediction, and not only in its perfection; but Jesus fulfills the Bible, and especially the Old Testament, in its purpose. What is the purpose of the Old Testament law? Well, the Bible says that the Old Testament law is a schoolmaster to bring us to Christ (Galatians 3:24). The law can’t save us. The Ten Commandments cannot save us. But all they do is to show us our need for the dear Savior. Put down this verse—Romans 10, verse 4: “For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth" (Romans 10:4). Jesus said, “I didn’t come to destroy the law or the prophets. I’m not going to say, ‘Well, the Ten Commandments don’t matter anymore’ forget about that. ’ I didn’t come to destroy it, but I have come to fulfill it” (Matthew 5:17).

Now when you understand this, you understand what the cross is all about, why Jesus Christ died. When Jesus Christ died, He bowed His head, and He said, “It is finished; it is fulfilled” (John 19:30). That’s what He’s saying; “I have fulfilled it; I have met every demand of the law.” You see, if Jesus had not met every demand of the law, He could not be your Savior. God demanded a perfect, sinless sacrifice that was born of a virgin with none of the Adamic nature in Him; and He lived a sinless life. Jesus Christ met every standard of the law of God—every one of them. Jesus met every requirement of the Word of God. And that’s the only reason that Jesus can be my Savior, and yours. Had Jesus not fulfilled the righteousness of the law, I could never be righteous. You see, Jesus did this for me. Jesus fulfilled the law for us, that grace might fulfill it in us.

Let me tell you the difference between the law and the gospel. When you think of the law, you think of the Ten Commandments, because that summarizes the law. You see, listen. The law says, “Do this, and you will live.” The gospel says, “Live, and you will do.” The law says, “Pay me what you owe.” The gospel says, “I forgive all.” The law says, “You shall love the Lord with all of your being” (Deuteronomy 6:5). The gospel says, “Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son” (1 John 4:10). The law says, “Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them” (Galatians 3:10). If you are going to try to be saved by keeping the law, and you break one little point, there’s a curse upon you. Listen to it again. The law says, “Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them.” But the gospel says—and I thank God for this—“Blessed is the man whose iniquities are forgiven and whose sins are covered” (Romans 4:7). The law says, “The wages of sin is death” (Romans 6:23). But the gospel says, “The gift of God is eternal life” (Romans 6:23). The law says, “Do.” The gospel says, “Done.” Jesus fulfilled it. He died upon the cross. The law says, “Run,” but it gives us no legs. The gospel says, “Fly,” and it gives us wings.

Conclusion
You see, listen. Why the Old Testament? To show that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, that He fulfills the Bible in its predictions; to show that He is the Son of God who fulfills the Bible in its perfection, and who believed it; and then, He’s the Son of God who fulfills the Bible in its provision. The law is just here to tell us that we’re sinners, that we’re lost. We cannot save ourselves. You say, “Well, my religion, pastor, is the Ten Commandments.” Then you’re going to die and go to hell. You say, “That’s blunt.” I meant it to be. Jesus said, “For whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all” (James 2:10). Is there anybody here who would have the audacity, the unmitigated gall, to stand and say, “I have never broken one of the Ten Commandments?” Of course not! Of course not! If you’ve broken one, in spirit you’ve broken them all. The law is a unit, and God doesn’t grade on the curve.

Imagine yourself hanging over a ferocious furnace of fire suspended by a chain: nine links in that chain are made of forged steel, and one link is made of crepe paper. How safe are you?

“Whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all.” I am a sinner. You are a sinner. Jesus came to save sinners. He suffered, bled, and died on that cross, and paid every debt that we owe. And He fulfilled the law in its purpose, where the law is but a schoolmaster to bring us to Christ, to say we’re poor, lost sinners. We can’t save ourselves; but Jesus died to save us. And we say, “In my hand no price I bring; simply to thy cross I cling.” That’s the gospel. The gospel, friend, is good news. Well, you say, “Does that mean, pastor, it doesn’t matter how I live, that the Ten Commandments are obsolete?” No, they’re absolute. And every day of my life I want to live by God’s blessed commandments. But the Bible says, “The righteousness of the law is fulfilled in us” (Romans 8:4). You can’t do that without Jesus Christ in you. That’s what it’s all about.

Introduction
Take the Word of God and find, if you will, Matthew chapter 5. When you’ve found it, look up here, and let me tell you something. We have been in a series of Bible lessons, studies, sermons—whatever you want to call them—called “Milestones and New Horizons.” We’ve been looking backward to see what God has done. We haven’t done a lot of that, but we have been looking forward to see what God wants to do. But, we know that we have been trying for thirty-something years to build some foundations into your life. So, I’ve been talking to you about the kind of a church that I have endeavored to lead this church to be and the kind of a church that I want it to be. I’ve talked to you about a unified church. I’ve talked to you about a steadfast church. I’ve talked to you about a Spirit-filled church. I have talked to you about a militant conquest church. But today, I want to talk to you about a Bible-believing church. The thing that has made and kept Bellevue through the years is her unwavering, steadfast faith in the inerrant, infallible Word of God—and may it ever be so. May this church, ’til Jesus comes, take a stand without stutter, stammer, or apology for the Word of God.

Now, let me tell you something: only ignorance scoffs at the fact that Jesus Christ, as a historical figure, walked upon this earth. Everybody with a modicum of brains or any understanding of history knows that. But, the question is, who was, and who is, Jesus? Now, every so often, you’ll find something in TIME Magazine or Newsweek or something, and the scholars will get together to determine who Jesus is. Friend, it’s already been determined. They call that scholarship! I’d just as soon trust a bunch of blind men in a dark cave with a jarful of lightning bugs trying to find something as I would these men trying to find out who Jesus is. I want you to listen very carefully: the way you’re going to know who Jesus is is the Bible, and the way you’re going to know the Bible is the Word of God is Jesus. Now, it may sound like circular reasoning to you, but it is not. Jesus and the Bible stand together. Jesus testified of the Bible, and the Bible testifies of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Now look, if you will, here in Matthew chapter 5, and let’s begin reading in verse 17: “Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil. For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled.” (Matthew 5:17–18) Now, these are the words of Jesus concerning the Bible. Jesus said, “Verily, I say unto you…” (Matthew 5:18) Now, when Jesus prefaced something with the word verily, that means “perk up your ears; listen. This is not incidental; this is fundamental. Don’t pass over this.” “Verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth shall pass, [not a] jot [nor a] tittle shall [fail] from the law [or the prophets], till [the law] be fulfilled.” (Matthew 5:18) “I didn’t come to destroy the law and the prophets: I came to fulfill.” (Matthew 5:17) Now, when Jesus said, “the law and the prophets,” He was talking about the Old Testament. That was the Bible of the Lord Jesus. The New Testament had not yet been written. So, Jesus here is talking about what we would call today “the Old Testament,” beginning in Genesis and ending in Malachi. And, the term that the Jews use for that was “the law and the prophets.” Now listen, Jesus came to fulfill all of that. Oh, how I pray God that you will understand this truth that the key to the Bible is the Lord Jesus Christ. The Bible has one hero: His name is Jesus; one villain—he is Satan; one purpose—salvation; one end—to the glory of God. And, you’ll never be victorious as a Christian until you have a steadfast, rock-ribbed assurance about the Word of God.

Now, if you call yourself a follower of Jesus Christ—now listen—if you call yourself a follower of Jesus Christ, then His view of the Bible must be yours. What right do you have to call yourself a follower of Jesus if His view of the Bible is not yours? Now, when Jesus looked at the Bible, He said, “I came to fulfill it.” (Matthew 5:17) You see, the key to understanding the Bible—I say it again—is Jesus Christ.

After His resurrection, Jesus was walking on the road to Emmaus with two forlorn disciples. They were perplexed and bewildered. They didn’t know what was happening. But, Jesus had already risen from the dead. It was after His crucifixion and resurrection. And Jesus, in a form that they did not recognize, began to walk with them, and He began to open the Bible to them. I would love to have been a part of that Bible conference. I would love to have had a tape recording or a transcription of that Bible conference. But, listen to what it says here in Luke chapter 24 and verse 27: “And beginning at Moses and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself.” (Luke 24:27) Now, He started with Moses. What He means by “Moses” is the five books of Moses: Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy. He started there, and He went all the way through to Malachi. And, He said, “Now look, here’s the Messiah here. Here’s the Messiah here. Here’s the Messiah here, and here.” It doesn’t say He showed them all the things concerning Himself in the Scriptures. It says, “he [showed] them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself.” (Luke 24:27) That means somewhere hiding in the shadows, or somewhere in plain type and illustration, you’re going to find the Lord Jesus. You read the Bible and don’t find Jesus, reread it—you missed it! People say, “Have you read the four Gospels?” I’ve read all sixty-six of them. It’s all about the Lord Jesus.

How do I know it’s all about Him? Because He said so. Acts 10, verse 43—here’s what the prophet said: “To him”—that is, to Jesus—“give all the prophets witness, that through his name whosoever believeth in him shall receive remission of sins.” (Acts 10:43) All of the prophets—you name them: Isaiah, Jeremiah, Daniel, Hosea, Ezekiel—all of them are saying, “Look to Jesus and receive remission of sins.” That’s what the Word of God says. Jesus said in John chapter 5, verse 39: “Search the scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life.” (John 5:39) There were some people who thought just a knowledge of the Scripture would give them eternal life. Jesus said, “Oh no!” You can go to hell with a Bible under your arm. “Search the scriptures”—see what it means. Don’t think that Bible study is going to bring you eternal life—“Search the scriptures…[these] are they which testify of me.” (John 5:39) Now, if you read the Bible and you don’t see Jesus, you missed it. “Search the scriptures…in [these you] think [you] have eternal life”—but, listen—“[they’re the ones, the things, the truths that] testify of me.” (John 5:39)

Now, with that in your mind, I want to tell you three things about Jesus and His Bible. And again, I want to tell you that the views of Jesus concerning the Bible must be your views and, by God’s grace, shall be the views of this church.

I. Jesus Fulfills the Old Testament in Its Predictions

Number one: Jesus fulfills the Old Testament in its predictions. Now, the Old Testament is a book of prophecy, and it predicts the coming of a Messiah. And, Jesus is the fulfillment of all of those predictions. Prophecy upon prophecy upon prophecy says that a Messiah is coming.

Now, scholars tell us that there are at least 333 exact, precise prophecies in the Old Testament that were fulfilled by the Lord Jesus in what we call “New Testament times.” Centuries before Jesus Christ was here in the flesh, the Bible spoke of Him.
How would you like to paint a picture of someone you’d never seen and paint it in the greatest of detail, and not only would the picture be painted by one person, but the picture would be painted—the portrait—by over twenty people, and none of them had seen what the other one had painted? Let me tell you, that’s what the prophets did as they gave us in the Old Testament a prophetic portrait of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Precious church, Jesus is the only person born into this world whose ancestry, whose birth time, whose forerunner, whose birthplace, whose birth manner, whose infancy, whose manhood, whose teaching, whose character, whose preaching, whose reception, whose rejection, whose death, burial, and resurrection, and ascension were all prophesied in a marvelous way before He was born. Now, when you see how Jesus fulfilled the Scriptures, you have to say the Scriptures are the Word of God. When you see the Scriptures being fulfilled in Jesus, you have to say Jesus is the Son of God. You see, there is no way—congregation, there’s no way; none, not a little bit—that these things could happen apart from divine inspiration: 333 direct prophecies.

A man named Peter Stoner, who’s a mathematician and statistician, began to study this, and he worked out the laws of mathematical probability, which is a true science. Now, he didn’t take 333 prophecies; he took eight—eight of them—and he said, “What is the mathematical probability that these eight prophecies could be fulfilled by chance?” He said, “It is one in ten raised to the seventeenth power.” Start putting the zeros there. How many is that? I don’t know. I don’t think there’s a name for it. A “gazillion,” I guess. One in whatever that number is.

So, since we can’t understand it, Peter Stoner gave us an illustration. He said, “Suppose you take the state of Texas and cover it with silver dollars”—now, the Texans would like that—“cover it with silver dollars two-feet-high from border to border”—do you know how big Texas is? Friend, I drove across Texas, and it took me one hundred years just to get across Texas. Now, just think of Texas, that big state, covered in silver dollars two-feet-high—“One of those silver dollars has a marking on it. Then, you take a man and blindfold him and take him by helicopter and drop him down into Texas somewhere”—in Dallas, El Paso. It doesn’t matter. Laredo, wherever. That’s a city in Texas. Laredo, Texas? Yeah, all right—“drop him down and say, ‘Now, you find that silver dollar’”—now remember, there are billions of them, and they cover the state two-feet-deep—“And, he comes up with the one silver dollar. Blindfolded, he reaches in and finds it.” Peter Stoner said, “That’s the chance that eight of these scriptures could be fulfilled.”

Not eight that we’re thinking about now, but 333. It is astronomically impossible that these prophecies concerning the Lord Jesus Christ could be fulfilled apart from divine inspiration. And, it is also impossible that anyone should willingly, intelligently deny the deity of Jesus Christ when we see these prophecies fulfilled in the Lord Jesus Christ.
Now, you see, look, one prophecy—you might understand it; two—you say, “Possible”; three—it’s getting harder; four—it’s getting more difficult. But, after a while it gets impossible.

Joyce and I have a son who lives in Spain. He’s a missionary. He and our daughter-in-law and grandsons live there. We like to call David. Now, suppose I want to call David long distance. I want you to see how the law of probability begins to work. When I pick up a telephone, immediately I dismiss the billions—and I said billions—who don’t have a telephone. They can’t answer it because they don’t have a telephone. So immediately, some are excluded. And then, I dial the overseas number. Well, immediately that excludes everybody in North America. And then, I dial an area code, and immediately that excludes everybody else that’s not in that area when I dial the number of that nation and then the area code. And so, we’re tightening the focus more and more. And then, I begin to dial one number, his personal number: everybody else whose number doesn’t begin with that number that is in that area code that is in that nation, they are excluded. Then, I dial the next number, and everybody that doesn’t have two numbers exactly like that is excluded. And then, another and another and another. And finally, I get to that last digit, and I dial that. And, a voice that I love to hear picks up the phone and says, “Diga,” which means, “Speak.” It’s our son David. Now, do you think that anybody wanting to find David could pick up a telephone at random and just start dialing numbers? Of course not! You see, the more complicated it gets, the lower the probability that this could be fulfilled just by chance.

Would you like to dial up Jesus? All right, let’s see how we’ll dial up Jesus. First of all, we have to dial and say this has to be a person of the human race, for Genesis 3, verse 15 says that it is the seed of the woman that will be the Messiah that will bruise the serpent’s head. (Genesis 3:15) And so, we have to start with a race. No angel can do it. No other creature can do it. The Messiah has to be a son of man.

But then, we tighten the focus a little bit more, and we say not only must this person be of that particular race, but He has to come from a division of that race. You see, all humankind was divided by the flood into three streams: Ham, Shem, and Japheth. Well, the Bible says that Shem is the one who is blessed. It is through Shem that the Messiah will come. (Genesis 9:26) And, you can find that, if you wish, in Genesis 9, verse 26.

So, we have a race. Then, we narrow the focus: a section of that race. And then, we narrow the focus a little bit more: a nation out of that section out of that race. He’s got to come from the Hebrew nation. The Bible tells us in Genesis chapter 12 that God has chosen a man named Abraham who is going to be the father of the Hebrew nation and out of him is going to come a Messiah. (Genesis 12:1–3) And so, we have a nation out of that section out that race.

But, we’re not finished yet. There has to be a tribe out of that nation out of that section out of that race. So, our Lord is coming from the tribe of Judah—Genesis 49, verse 10. (Genesis 49:10)

But, we’re not finished yet. Not only must there be a tribe out of that nation out of that section out of that race, but there must be a family out of that tribe out of that nation out of that section out of that race. It’s the family of Jesse. And, God appointed Samuel to go to Jesse’s house and appoint a king over Israel who would be, according to the flesh, the progenitor of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, in 1 Samuel chapter 16. (1 Samuel 16)

So, there’s a family, but we tighten the focus more. There is a woman that comes out of that family that comes out of that tribe, that comes out of that nation, that comes out of that section, that comes out of that race. And, she’s to be a virgin—Isaiah 7, verse 14—and she is to give birth to a son. (Isaiah 7:14) And then, there is a son who is to be born of that woman of that family of that tribe of that nation of that section of that race—one person whose birthplace, and birth time, and miraculous birth is prophesied.

“Hello, Jesus?” There He is! There He is! Are you telling me that happens by chance? Jesus said, “I fulfill the law and the prophets.” (Matthew 5:17) He does! He fulfills it. He fulfills the predictions of the Old Testament.

II. Jesus Fulfills the Old Testament in Its Perfection

Secondly, Jesus fulfills the perfection of the Old Testament. The Old Testament is a perfect book. Jesus said, “Not a jot or a tittle shall fail from the law.” (Matthew 5:18) Now, the linguists call this in our day a “yod and an iota.” These are the smallest markings. _Iota_—a very small letter; a _yod_—a little inflection, a little marking, a little pinpoint that looks almost like a fly scratch. What Jesus is talking about is the Bible in its minutia, and He says, “None of that’s going to fail.”

Now, we have people today who tell us that the Bible is inspired in spots, and they think they’re inspired to spot the spots. No. Remember what I said? “[Jesus showed] them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself.” (Luke 24:27) Put it down big; put it down plain; put it down straight: every word is from God. Now, I’m not talking about somebody’s mistranslation; I’m talking about the Word that God gave, the Word that proceeds out of the mouth of God. Jesus said in Matthew chapter 4, verse 4 that “man shall not live by bread alone, but”—now, listen to this—“by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.” (Matthew 4:4) When the Bible speaks, God speaks, and God is not wrong in a jot or a tittle, an iota or yod. Everything comes from God.

A. The Verbal Inspiration of the Bible

Now, I want to give you a word I want you to learn, and the word is _verbal_. And, of course, you obviously know what _verbal_ means, but I want you to learn what it means in theology. It comes from the Latin verba, if you took Latin as I did and forgot, but it means “word.” So, the words of the Scripture are inspired, not just the thoughts, because, you see, you can’t have thoughts without words any more than you could have mathematics without numbers. So, Jesus said—not Adrian, but Jesus—“Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.” (Matthew 4:4) We call that “verbal inspiration.” Say “verbal.” Say “Pastor, I’ll never forget it.” Nod your head. That means, “I’m not going to forget it.” The Bible is verbally inspired—every word, every jot, every tittle.

B. The Plenary Inspiration of the Bible

But, not only is it verbally inspired; it is plenarily inspired. Now, I know that every day you use the word plenary, but the word plenary means “full.” It is “fully inspired.” First Samuel is no more inspired than the seventeenth chapter of John, and the seventeenth chapter of John is no more inspired than 1 Samuel or anything else. All of it is inspired. “Every word [comes from] the mouth of God.” (Matthew 4:4) That means there is a full inspiration. That’s the reason I told you Jesus said He “[showed] them in all the scriptures”—not some of them, but in all the Scriptures—“the things concerning himself.” (Luke 24:27)

Now forever, as a believer, you say, “I believe in the verbal, plenary inspiration of the Word of God.” Say “amen.” Verbal, plenary inspiration of the Word of God—that makes the Bible the infallible, inerrant Word of God. “Well,” you say, “pastor, that’s your opinion.” No, you’re missing it. That’s Jesus’ Word, not my opinion. It’s His Word. Jesus said it. If you’re a follower of Jesus, His opinion of the Bible has to be your opinion of the Bible. And, if you are a lover of the Bible, what the Bible says about Jesus you’re going to have to believe. And, Jesus and the Bible rise or fall together. And so, I want you to understand that Jesus fulfills the Old Testament in its perfection.

Now, if Jesus believed the Bible to be perfect and it’s really not, you have only one of two conclusions: either Jesus was ignorant if He believed it and it was not, or if He knew it was not and He taught that it was, then He was dishonest. I don’t know about your Savior, but my Savior is not ignorant or dishonest. He believes the Word of God. It is impossible to accept Christ’s authority without accepting the Scripture’s authority, and vice versa.

III. Jesus Fulfills the Old Testament in Its Purpose

Now, we’ve talked about Jesus fulfilling the predictions of the Old Testament. We’ve talked about Jesus fulfilling the perfections of the Old Testament. Now finally, we’re going to think about Jesus fulfilling the purpose of the Old Testament. What is the purpose of the law and the prophets? The Bible says that the Old Testament is “[a] schoolmaster to bring us [to] Christ.” (Galatians 3:24) There used to be, in Bible times, person who walked children to school. That’s what the Old Testament does: it takes us by the hand and brings us to Christ. It presents the Lord Jesus Christ. That is the purpose. And so, Romans chapter 10, verse 4 says, “For Christ is the end of the law”—talking now about the Old Testament—“for righteousness to everyone that believeth.” (Romans 10:4) If you never get past the Old Testament to Jesus, you don’t get the purpose of it.

Now, what did Jesus do? He fulfilled the law. Jesus kept every commandment. Jesus lived up to every standard. Jesus did whatever the law commanded. The law was the law of God. The law is not evil; it’s good. But, none of us can keep it. None ever has, except the Lord Jesus Christ. And, Jesus could look people straight in the eye and say, “Which of you can convict me of sin?” (John 8:46) I wouldn’t say that to my friends, much less to my enemies. “Which of you can convict me of sin?” (John 8:46) Jesus Christ fulfilled the law in its purpose so He could bring us to Christ. “The law is a schoolmaster to bring us to the Lord Jesus Christ.” (Galatians 3:24) The law is here to tell us that we cannot do it by ourselves. The law is here to convict us. Is there anybody here who would have the audacity, the unmitigated gall, to say, “I’ve always kept the Ten Commandments”? Of course not! “Well,” you say, “pastor, I’ve kept a lot of them.” Well, God doesn’t grade on a curve. Do you know what the Bible says? “[If anyone will] keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all.” (James 2:10) Well, that wipes us all out. Friend, you see, the law is a unit.

If a policeman stops you for running a red light, it does you no good to tell him about all the times you did stop, or the time you had your blinker on when you turned right. No.

Suppose you are hanging over an inferno, a roaring fire that wants to consume you, and you are suspended by a chain of forged steel—that is, nine links are forged steel and one is crepe paper. How safe are you?

You see, if you “keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, [you’re] guilty of all.” (James 2:10) If you’re trying to go to heaven by keeping the commandments, you’re not going to make it; you’re going to go to hell. The law is there to tell us that we need a Savior. But, what kind of a Savior do we need? A righteous, perfect, sinless Savior, who kept all the law so He could be the sacrifice for sin. Had Jesus failed in fulfilling the law, He could not have been our Savior. Jesus fulfilled the law for us, and by grace He fulfills it in us.

The law says, “Do, and you will live.” The gospel says, “Live, and you will do.” The law says, “Pay what you owe.” Grace and the gospel say, “I forgive you all.” The law says, “Love God with all of your being.” (Deuteronomy 6:5) The gospel says, “Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us, and sent his Son.” (1 John 4:10) law says, “Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them.” (Galatians 3:10) If you think that you’re going to be saved by being a good boy or girl and you break one of the smallest laws, there’s a curse upon you. But, the Bible says—and thank God for this: “Blessed [is he] whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sins are covered.” (Romans 4:7) The law says, “The wages of sin is death; but”—the gospel says—“the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.” (Romans 6:23) The law says, “Do.” The gospel says, “Done.” The law says, “Run,” but it gives us no legs. The gospel says, “Fly,” and it gives us wings. You see, I’m not saying that the Ten Commandments are not important. I try to live by the Ten Commandments. But, I know if I’m depending upon my living by the Ten Commandments to get me to heaven, I will never—no, never; no, never—make it.

Conclusion
But, I thank God for a Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ, who fulfilled the predictions of the Old Testament, who in His life showed us the perfections of the Old Testament, and who offers to us the provision of the Old Testament, which is the New Testament—the Son of God.

Do you want to be saved? Stop trying and start trusting. Salvation is the gift of God. And, Jesus fulfilled the law and paid it all that He might die upon the cross, bow His head, and say, “It’s done; it’s finished: I fulfilled the law.” (John 19:30) And so, “the law [is a] schoolmaster to bring [you to] Christ.” (Galatians 3:24)

Now, let me just conclude by saying, folks, that what Jesus believes about the Bible is what you need to believe, and what the Bible says about Jesus is what you need to receive. And, I want to tell you, the Bible says clearly, plainly, sweetly, sublimely—listen to me—if you will receive Jesus Christ as your personal Savior and Lord, He will blot out every sin, every transgression of the law; every broken commandment will be buried in the grave of God’s forgetfulness, because Jesus paid that in full for you. He suffered, bled, and died as the perfect, sinless sacrifice to pay for my sin and your sin. If you will believe and receive the Lord Jesus Christ, He will put His Spirit into you. That’s not an emotional feeling, but it is an awareness that He is there. And then, you begin to live a righteous life, not in order to be saved, but because you are saved. And, the righteousness of the law is fulfilled, not so much by us but in us—by the Holy Spirit. And then, when we die and stand before that Final Judgment, thank God, we don’t have to stand before Ten Commandments and be judged by them, but we can see the nail-pierced hands of Jesus, who fulfilled the law for us. Isn’t that wonderful? That’s wonderful! That’s glorious! Hallelujah!

Introduction

Now, we’ve been in the Sermon on the Mount, and would you open to Matthew chapter 5. Be finding verses 17 and 18. The theme for our entire study is “Building on the Rock,” for Jesus said, “When anybody hears these words of mine, and he does them, he’s like a wise man who builds his house upon a rock. The winds and the floods and the rain may come, but that house will stand, for it is built on a rock” (Matthew 7:24–25).

Today I want to talk to you about fulfillment. How many truly fulfilled people do you know? How many people do you know who are satisfied, filled with joy and peace, assurance, spiritual satisfaction? How many? Well, I want to talk to you today about “The Secret of Fulfillment.” And, we’re reading here in chapter 5, verses 17 and 18. Jesus Christ said, “Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil. For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled” (Matthew 5:17–18).

My heart has been blessed as I have meditated on these scriptures. They speak of the Lord Jesus, the great fulfiller. And, whoever you are today, if you don’t know the Lord Jesus Christ, you are behind in your education. No one is truly educated who is ignorant of the Lord Jesus Christ. You may know biology and the study of life, but how sad if you don’t know Jesus, the giver of life! You may astronomy and how the heavens go, but how sad if you don’t know Jesus and how to go to Heaven! You may know biology and the study of life, but how sad if you don’t know Jesus, indeed, who is the giver of life! You may know botany, the study of flowers, but how sad if you don’t know Jesus, who is Sharon’s sweetest rose and the lily of the valley (Song of Solomon 2:1)! You may know geology and the ages of the rocks, but friend, it is sad indeed if you don’t know Jesus Christ, who is the Rock of Ages! You may know history and all of the record of mankind, but how sad if you don’t know Jesus Christ in whom we live and move and have our being (Acts 17:28)! It is said of history that history is His story. So all of Bible points us to the Lord Jesus Christ, and I want you to look at these two verses today that have been such a blessing to my heart.

I. Jesus prophetically fulfills the Word of God

The Bible tells us that Jesus is the great fulfiller. Jesus prophetically fulfills the Word of God. Look again, if you will, in this verse, verse 17: “Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil” (Matthew 5:17). Now, Jesus is the fulfillment of all that the prophets wrote about. Do you want to understand the Bible? Would you like the Bible to burst aflame in your hand? Would you like for the truth of God’s Word to leap off of the pages into your heart? Would you like to find a key that would help you to unlock all of the rest of the Bible? Well, the key is a person, and His name is Jesus Christ. He is the One who fulfills the prophets.

Now, put these verses in your margin. They are great and wonderful verses. The first is a verse that comes out of Luke chapter 24. Jesus Christ has been raised from the dead, and after His resurrection He’s on His way to Emmaus. And, there are two weary, forlorn disciples who are walking along that road, and Jesus joins them. He catches up with them, and He gets into a discussion with them. They don’t know who He is. They don’t recognize Him in His resurrected form, and so they’re walking along. It’s about a seven-mile journey, and Jesus begins to talk with them about the Word of God. I would like to have a tape recording of that conversation, that seven-mile Bible conference. And, the Bible says, in Luke chapter 24 and verse 27—here’s the verse—“And beginning at Moses and all the prophets...”—now, that’s what we call here in this verse “the law and the prophets.” “Moses and all the prophets”: that just means all the Old Testament—“Beginning at Moses and all the prophets...”—that is, He stepped into the Bible at Genesis 1:1, and He began to talk—“Beginning at Moses and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself” (Luke 24:27).

Wouldn’t you have loved to hear that? Wouldn’t you have loved to hear the Son of God just open the Bible, walking along for seven miles, talking to them and expounding to them in all of the Scriptures the things concerning Himself? Can you imagine what that would have been like to hear the Son of God? I only say that to say this: that, friend, if you don’t read the Bible, and you don’t see Jesus, you’d better go back and re-read the Bible. Standing somewhere in the shadows you’ll find Jesus.
And then, the Apostle Paul said, in Acts chapter 10, verse 43, “To him”—to Jesus—“give all the prophets witness” (Acts 10:43). All of the prophets spoke about the Lord Jesus Christ. Prophecy centers in the Lord Jesus Christ. Prophecy is not primarily about some thing; prophecy is about someone.

The Bible says that, “The testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy” (Revelation 19:10). And, the Lord Jesus Christ challenged the crowd. There in John chapter 5 and verse 39, He says, “Search the scriptures; for in them ye think that ye have eternal life.” Jesus said, “[these] are they which testify of me” (John 5:39). And, I want to remind you that when Jesus said this He was not talking about the New Testament. It had not yet been written. He was talking about the Old Testament. Don’t get the idea that the Old Testament is about something else, and the New Testament is about Jesus. Every scripture that I have been giving you has been telling you that the Old Testament is about the Lord Jesus Christ. When you step into the portals of God’s Word, in Genesis 1:1, you begin to meet the Lord Jesus Christ.

“In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth” (Genesis 1:1). And yet, the Bible says that all things were made by Jesus (John 1:3). And, you see, it’s all about the Lord Jesus Christ. You know, in Genesis, He’s the seed of the woman (Genesis 3:15). In Exodus, He’s the Passover lamb (Exodus 12:21). In Leviticus, He is our atoning sacrifice. In Numbers, He is the smitten rock (Numbers 20:11). In Deuteronomy, He is that prophet who is to come (Deuteronomy 18:15, 18). In Joshua, He is the captain of the Lord’s hosts (Joshua 5:14). In Judges, He is the deliverer of God’s people (Judges 3:9, 15). In Ruth, He is our kinsmen redeemer (Ruth 4:5–6). In 1 Samuel, He is the anointed One (1 Samuel 16:13). In 2 Samuel, He is the king enthroned. In 1 Kings, He is the glory of the Lord filling the Temple (1 Kings 8:11). In 2 Kings, He is the royal seed. In 1 Chronicles, He is the glorious king. In 2 Chronicles, He is the Lord who appears to Solomon (2 Chronicles 7:12). In Ezra, He is “the LORD God of our fathers” (Ezra 7:27). In Nehemiah, He is the restorer of Israel. In Esther, He is the advocate who pleads for His people. In Job, He is my Redeemer that I know lives and shall stand upon the earth (Job 19:25). In the Book of Psalms, He is the Shepherd (Psalm 23:1); He is the King of glory (Psalm 24:7–10). In Ecclesiastes, He is the significance of life. In Song Of Solomon, the Lord Jesus Christ is the heavenly bridegroom. In Isaiah, He is Immanuel, God with us (Isaiah 7:14). He is “Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace” (Isaiah 9:6), the virgin-born Son of God (Isaiah 7:14). In Jeremiah, He is the divine potter who is molding and making our lives (Jeremiah 18:1–6). In Lamentations, He is the brokenhearted Jehovah who weeps over us. In Ezekiel, He is the glory of God. In Daniel, He is that stone cut out of a mountain without hands that will smite the image of this ungodly world upon it’s feet and then become a kingdom that will fill this earth (Daniel 2:34–35). In Hosea, the Lord Jesus is the child called out of Egypt (Hosea 11:1). In Joel, He is the Lord that roars out of Zion (Joel 3:16). In Amos, Jesus is the judge of the nations. In Obadiah, He is the Lord of the coming Kingdom. In Jonah, He is God’s messenger to the Gentiles. In Micah, He is Bethlehem’s baby, the One who is going to be the ruler of Israel (Micah 5:2). In Nahum, He is “a strong hold in the day of trouble” (Nahum 1:7). In Habakkuk, He is the Lord in His holy temple (Habakkuk 2:20). In Zephaniah, He is the king of Israel (Zephaniah 3:15). In Haggai, He is the Lord of hosts. In Zechariah, He is the Lord coming into Jerusalem riding upon a colt (Zechariah 9:9). In Malachi, He is the coming messenger (Malachi 3:1), the Sun of righteousness with healing in His wings (Malachi 4:2).

All of the Bible—all of the Bible—is about the Lord Jesus. Jesus said, “I didn’t come to destroy the law and the prophets.” When He said, “the law and the prophets,” He meant the Old Testament. He said, “I didn’t come to destroy it. I came to fulfill it. It is all about Me” (Matthew 5:17). Such a wonderful book is the Bible! Oh, the prophecies of the Old Testament are fulfilled in the Lord Jesus.

The other day Joyce and I picked up the phone and called our son David, who is a missionary in Spain. Well, that’s an amazing thing that we in Memphis, Tennessee, can pick up a telephone and push some numbers, and on the other end one person will answer. Well, maybe two. Jonathan may answer. But, one household answers. There are five and a half billion people on the earth, and we can just push some numbers, and we eliminate everybody else.

Did you know I was thinking that the Bible is that way, prophecy is that way, that by the process of elimination all prophecy centers in the Lord Jesus Christ? For example, let me tell you how Jesus is prophesied in the Bible. You step into the Bible, and in Genesis chapter 3, verse 15, you find the first prophecy of the coming of our Lord. And the Bible says that He is to be the seed of the woman (Genesis 3:15). That is, the Messiah is not going to be an angel. He is not going to be God sitting in Heaven. But, it is going to be someone of the human race. So, right away you eliminate all the billions of angels and all of the other created beings. None of them are the redeemer. So, first of all, a certain race.

And then, you go to Genesis chapter 9 and verse 26, and you see that there’s a certain section of that race. You see, you push the next number, and you eliminate the sons of Japheth, and you eliminate the sons of Ham, and you just come to the sons of Shem. Out of that section of that race the Messiah is going to come (Genesis 9:25–26). And then, you punch another number, and it brings up a nation of that section, because the Bible tells us, in Genesis chapter 12, that this Messiah is going to be a descendant of Abraham. So, what you have now is a race, and you have a section of that race, and then you have a nation out of that race (Genesis 12:1–3). And then, you push another number, and up comes a tribe of that nation. Genesis chapter 49 and verse 10 tells us that Messiah is going to come of the tribe of Judah (Genesis 49:10).

And then, you continue to dial, and you push another number, and you find out that the Messiah is going to come out of a certain family of that tribe. And, 1 Samuel chapter 16, Messiah has to be a descendant of Jesse (1 Samuel 16:1). Then, you push another number, and you find out that the Messiah is going to be of a woman of that family—Isaiah chapter 7, verse 14—a very unusual woman; she is going to be a virgin (Isaiah 7:14). You push another number, and you find out where this woman is going to be when Messiah is born. In Micah 5, verse 2, it must be in Bethlehem (Micah 5:2). Then, you push another number, and you get the time where Messiah is going to be born in Bethlehem of this woman of that family of that tribe of that nation of that section of that race. The phone rings, and Jesus is on the other end. I mean, dear friend, God just keeps on tightening the focus. It’s incredible how the Scripture is fulfilled in the Lord Jesus Christ. Jesus said, “I didn’t come to destroy the Old Testament. I came to fulfill it.”

It is amazing how these Old Testament prophets painted a portrait of the Lord Jesus. Could you paint a portrait of somebody, having not seen Him? Well, they painted a portrait of Jesus and filled in such detail it’s incredible. And, not just one person worked on that portrait; 20 to 25 people painted that portrait centuries before the Lord Jesus Christ ever came, and they painted a word portrait of the Lord Jesus Christ and filled in all of the details.

Did all of that happen just by chance? Peter Stoner has written a book called Science Speaks. And, he takes the prophecies of the Lord Jesus Christ—and, by the way, let me tell you in the Old Testament there are about 333 precise details that tell about the Lord Jesus Christ; 333—he, Peter Stoner, just takes eight of these—not 333, but just eight of these. And, he’s a mathematician, and he figures out the probability, the likelihood, that all eight of these prophecies could have been fulfilled in one person by chance. Do you know what that chance is? It is one in ten to the seventeenth power. You just keep on adding 17 zeros. I don’t even know what number that is. I don’t even know how to pronounce the number. I can’t even figure it out. Just put 17—one and ten—followed by 17 zeros. How do you do it? Well, Peter Stoner said for people like me who are not mathematicians—I can picture this—he said, if you were to take the state of Texas and cover it with silver dollars two feet deep... Now, I’m sure the Texans would like this, but if you were to take the state of Texas and cover it from border to border with silver dollars two feet deep, and then blindfold a man and let him walk as far as he wanted after you’ve stirred all of those silver dollars, and he were to pick out the one silver dollar that you had marked, that is approximately the same chance that he’s talking about that these eight prophecies could have been fulfilled by chance.

But, my dear friend, it is not one in eight; it is one in 333 exact precise details about the Lord Jesus Christ. It’s amazing. When you study the Bible, friend, it’s about Jesus. You know, the Bible speaks of God creating the heavens, the stellar heavens, the great galaxies that sweep across velvet blackness and night and from this direction to that direction and that direction on into infinity; the billions and billions and billions of stars. You know how God describes that in His Word? He made the stars also. That’s it. That’s it. I mean just five words. He made the stars.

But, He takes a little tent in the wilderness, the tabernacle, just a little tent, and He takes about 50 chapters describing that little tent. Why is that? Because that tent, that tabernacle, is a picture, a prophecy of the Lord Jesus Christ. And, as you study the tabernacle, you understand what the Bible means when it says, “And the Word was made flesh, and [tabernacled] among us” (John 1:14). You see, all of that Old Testament, all of it, was a picture of the Lord Jesus Christ. He didn’t come to destroy the law and the prophets; Jesus came to fulfill the law and the prophets.

II. Jesus Practically Fulfills the Word of God

So, put it down. Jesus, number one, prophetically fulfills the Word of God. Number two: Jesus practically fulfills the Word of God. Now, not only did He fulfill the prophets; He fulfilled the law. And, the law is God’s demand on us. The law speaks of God’s righteous demands, because not only was the Old Testament full of prophecy; it is full of requirements. And, Jesus, to the letter, fulfilled the law.

A. Jesus Fulfilled the Moral Law

Jesus fulfilled the moral law. The law is full of moral demands, but Jesus Christ was the only man who ever lived who absolutely, totally, to perfection, kept every point of the law. No one could point to the Lord Jesus Christ and say He broke the law of God. Jesus Christ could stand before them all and say, “Who can convict me of sin?” (John 8:46). “Sin is the transgression of the law” (1 John 3:4), my dear friend, and Jesus fulfilled it in spirit and in letter. He fulfilled the moral law.

B. Jesus Fulfilled the Ceremonial Law

Jesus fulfilled the ceremonial law. All of those Old Testament ceremonies were about the Lord Jesus Christ. All of the Old Testament sacrifices pointed toward the Lord Jesus Christ.
There was a Russian psychologist that I studied about when I was in school, and I'm sure you did: his name was Pavlov. And, Pavlov did experiments on what we call conditioned response. You remember that? What Pavlov did, he got some dogs, and he put them in a pen. And, before he would feed his dogs he would ring a bell, and then he would put down the dog food. Each day he’d come in and ring the bell and feed the dogs. Now, the time came when all Pavlov had to do was just ring the bell, and the dogs would begin to drool; they’d just salivate. He had built into those dogs what he called a conditioned response. And, the ringing of the bell meant food.

God, in the Old Testament, was building into His people a conditioned response. And, every time one of those animals was slain, and the blood was poured out, and that animal was offered on a smoking Jewish altar, what was God doing? God was building into His people a conditioned response. God was teaching them that sin means death. “The wages of sin is death” (Romans 6:23). “The soul that sinneth, it must surely die” (Ezekiel 18:4, 20). And, the Lord Jesus Christ—the Lord Jesus Christ—was the answer to the conditioned response that God had been building through the centuries. Every Old Testament sacrifice, every Old Testament ritual, was God’s bell ringing, teaching that sin meant death, and man needs a redeemer.

Jesus, my friend, fulfilled the moral law. Jesus fulfilled the ceremonial law of the Old Testament. And so, it’s been filled up in the Lord Jesus. We don’t need that anymore. My dear friend, in Christ, it’s fulfilled. I don’t need a high priest anymore. He is my high priest. I don’t need a bloody altar anymore. The blood of Jesus Christ, God’s Son, cleanses me from all sin (1 John 1:7). I don’t try to keep the Sabbath day, Saturday, which is the seventh day, because every day for me is a holy day because Christ is my rest.

C. Jesus Fulfilled the Judicial Law

You see, Jesus fulfilled the moral law. Jesus fulfilled the ceremonial law. And, oh, my dear friend, Jesus fulfilled the judicial law of God. What is the judicial law of God? The judicial law of God is that “the wages of sin is death” (Romans 6:23). “The soul that sinneth, it must surely die” (Ezekiel 18:4, 20). And so, the Lord Jesus Christ took my sin, your sin, carried that sin to the cross, and Jesus fulfilled the law by dying for our sin. And, the Bible tells us, in Galatians chapter 3 and verse 13, that He has redeemed us from the curse of the law, because He was made a curse for us (Galatians 3:13). He carried my sin to the cross. And, you see, He paid and met the righteous demands of the law, and that’s what He meant when He hung His head when He died and said “Tetelestai” (John 19:30). That means, “It is paid in full. I have fulfilled the judicial demands of the law. I’ve fulfilled the law. I’ve paid in full. Man’s sin has been paid for.” Therefore, the Bible says, in Romans chapter 10 and verse
4, “For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth” (Romans 10:4). Why? Because He fulfilled the law. We’re not under the law anymore, because Jesus has fulfilled the law.

The law says, “Do this, and thou shalt live.” The gospel says, “Live, and then thou shalt do.” The law says, “Pay me all that you owe.” The gospel says, “I freely forgive thee all.” The law says, “Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind” (Matthew 22:37; Mark 12:30), but the gospel says “Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation”—the satisfaction—“for our sins” (1 John 4:10). The law says, “Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them” (Galatians 3:10). The gospel says, “Blessed [is the man] whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sins are covered” (Romans 4:7). The law says, “The wages of sin is death” (Romans 6:23). The gospel says, “The gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Romans 6:23). The law demands holiness. The gospel gives holiness. The law says, “Do.” The gospel says, “Done.” The law makes blessing the result of obedience. The gospel makes obedience the result of blessing. The law puts the day of rest at the end of the week. The gospel puts it at the beginning of the week, because we have new life in Christ. The law says “If.” The gospel says, “Therefore.” The law says, “Run,” but it gives us no legs. The gospel says, “Fly,” and it gives us wings.

Why? Why? Because Christ fulfilled the law. He said, “I didn’t come to destroy the law and the prophets. I came to fulfill it.” And, when God forgives my sin, God doesn’t overlook His law. God doesn’t say the law doesn’t matter. Oh, my dear friend, listen. Jesus paid in full for my sin debt. Now, listen. Jesus fulfilled the law for me, and now He fulfills it in me—in me. He paid my failure. He paid my sin debt. And now, the righteousness of the law is worked out in every one of us who love the Lord Jesus Christ and love is the fulfillment of the law. How wonderful that is!

III. Jesus Perfectly Fulfills the Word of God

You see, Jesus prophetically fulfills the Word of God. Jesus practically fulfills the Word of God. One last thing: Jesus perfectly fulfills the Word of God. Look at it again in verse 18: “For verily...”—and, by the way, when Jesus says “verily,” that’s the time to put up your antenna. That means, “Pay attention.” That means, “truly.” That means, “I am emphasizing this.” Now, listen—“For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass...”—friend, one day it will, and if this world is your hope, you’re just arranging the deck chairs on the Titanic—“Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled” (Matthew 5:8).
Now, what’s a jot and a tittle? He’s talking about an iota and a yod, the smallest Hebrew letter and the smallest little marking, little stroke of the pen. Jesus said, the smallest part of all of this, none of it’s going to pass. The Word of God stands. Did Jesus believe in the inerrancy of the Scripture? You’d better believe He did. Did Jesus believe in the infallibility of the Word of God? You’d better believe He did. Did Jesus believe in the indestructibility of the Word of God? Of course He did! Did Jesus believe in the authority of the Word of God? Of course He did! My dear friend, if Jesus is your Master and your Lord, then your Master and your Lord’s view of Scripture must be yours. And, remember, we’re not talking about the New Testament here. The New Testament is inspired too, but you know the battle is today over the Old Testament. This is what Jesus is talking about. Jesus here is talking about the Old Testament. And, He is saying, not the smallest pen marking will fail till all be fulfilled.

I heard about a man who absentmindedly in a meeting after he read the Scripture—he had been used to presiding—said, “If there are no additions or corrections, the Scriptures stand approved as read.” Well, friend, they do. And they don’t need your additions or your corrections. Jesus said, not a jot, not a tittle, not an iota, not a subscript, will fail from the law until all be fulfilled.

Now, friend, if there are errors in the Bible—listen to me—if there are errors in the Old Testament, you must conclude one of two things about the Lord Jesus Christ. Put this scripture down in front of you, verse 18, and to conclude this, if there are errors in the Old Testament, either Jesus Christ was ignorant of those errors, therefore He was not omniscient, could not have been God in human flesh; or else Jesus knew there were errors and pretended there were not, and therefore Jesus was dishonest and a fraud and a fake; or else the Bible is exactly what Jesus believed it to be: the inerrant, infallible Word of God.

Now, Jesus said—listen—“Not a jot, not a tittle, shall fail from the law till all be fulfilled.” That is, there’s more yet to be fulfilled. You see, Jesus, who came the first time—and I said there are 333 precise details that prophesy His first coming; there are many more that prophesy His Second Coming—and Jesus said, “You can bank on it. Not a jot nor tittle will fail till all be fulfilled.” That encourages me, because the Old Testament says somebody is coming, but it also says somebody is going to come again.

I was talking to a man with the newspaper the other day. He called me up to interview me, and he asked me about the coming election. He said, “Do you have any prognostications? Do you have any prophecies? What’s going to happen?” I said, “Well, there’s an old Chinese proverb that says, “Never make predictions, especially about the future.” Now, my dear friend, we have people today telling us that Jesus is going to come on this date, or Jesus is going to come on that date. There’s one man who is saying that Jesus is coming in a few days, some Korean prophet. Well, if I were God, and had intended for Jesus to come on that day, I’d just change my mind, wouldn’t you? The Bible says, “That day and that hour knows no man, not even the angels” (Matthew 24:36; Mark 13:32). But, oh, my friend, I am telling you He is coming. It will all be fulfilled, and our Lord is coming, and “the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD as waters that cover the sea” (Habakkuk 2:14). And, you can put it down big, and you can put it down plain, and you can put it down straight, that the same Bible that was minutely and gloriously fulfilled will be fulfilled in the Second Coming of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

Conclusion

Now, I said I wanted to speak to you about the secret of fulfillment. Listen, friend. The Christ who fulfilled the prophecies, and the Christ who fulfilled the law, and the Christ who will come again to fulfill history, is the One that you are longing for, that God made you for, the One that you are hungry to know. You may not know it, but He’s what you’re longing for. He really is.

Friends all around me are trying to find
What the heart yearns for, by sin undermined;
I have the secret, I have know where ’tis found:
Only true pleasures in Jesus abound.

Jesus is all this poor world needs today.
Blindly they strive, for sin darkens their way.
O to pull back the grim curtains of night,
One glimpse of Jesus and all will be bright! (Harry D. Loes)

Christ is what you long for. Christ is what you hunger for. He fulfilled the prophecies and He fulfilled the law that He might fulfill the deepest need of your heart.

If I could give my heart to Jesus Christ for you, I would. If I could trust Him on your behalf, I would. But, I cannot. If I could walk down this aisle and openly stand for Jesus on your behalf, I would. But, I can’t. Nobody can do it for you. And, I don’t think anyone could keep you from doing it. I know there are not enough angels in Heaven to drag you down this aisle, because God wouldn’t allow it. There are not enough demons to keep you from doing it, because God would not allow that. He simply says, “Whosoever will may come.”

Are you saved? Are you a child of God? I didn’t ask if you were a Baptist or Methodist or Presbyterian or something like that, Jewish or Roman Catholic. Are you saved? Does God’s Spirit bear witness with your Spirit that you’re a child of God? You can be saved by trusting Him right now. And, you can be fulfilled, and realize why God made you, and for the first time in your life have the deepest longing of your heart met.

Conclusion

Introduction
Take God’s Word and turn, today, to Matthew chapter 5 as we continue our series in the Sermon on the Mount. And, the title of the message today: “It’s What’s Inside That When Howard Carter discovered the tomb of ol’ King Tut in 1924, he found that King Tut was buried in a coffin. I have seen the coffin. I have been to Egypt, to an Egyptian museum, and seen this huge sarcophagus, this coffin that they buried ol’ King Tut in. First of all, there was the large outer coffin. When they opened that, they looked inside, and there was another coffin overlaid with gold. They looked inside of that, and there was another coffin. Inside that one was another coffin of solid gold. When they looked inside there, there was King Tut, wrapped in gold cloth. And, he had a gold mask on his face. You’ve seen that beautiful solid gold mask covering his face. But, when they took that off and unwrapped the gold cloth, inside was a dead, shriveled, leathery corpse. Outside—very beautiful; inside—a dead man’s bones. It’s what’s inside that counts, not the outer covering that we sometimes wear and the façade of gold that we put on to try to hide the decaying spiritual life.

The Pharisees were past masters at this: outwardly, they looked so good, but Jesus said, “On the inside, you are a dead, putrefying, spiritual corpse.” Begin to read here in Matthew chapter 5 and verse 20. Jesus said, “For I say unto you…except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.” (Matthew 5:20) Now, I’ve tried to think what a church full of scribes and Pharisees would be like. Well, number one, Brother Dan: They’d be here every Sunday. Number two: They’d be on time. Number three: They’d all be carrying Bibles. Number four: They’d all be tithing. Number five: They’d never curse, or swear, or drink, or get drunk, or commit adultery. Number six: They’d all go to hell. Outwardly, they were very righteous, but Jesus said, “Except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.” (Matthew 5:20)

Now, He’s talking not about what’s on the outside, but He’s talking about what’s on the inside. And then, He gives six illustrations, and these six illustrations are used by the Lord Jesus just to rip away the façade of self-righteousness and show the Pharisees what was truly down deep in their heart.

Now, the first of these six illustrations we’re going to talk about today is in verses 21 and 22. Here’s the first one: “Ye have heard that it was said of them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment: But I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment: and whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be in danger of the council: but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire.” (Matthew 5:21–22)

Now, I want to say again that the Pharisees had a form of religion that was outward. It was external. It was superficial. It was hypocritical. Don’t turn to it, but let me tell you how Jesus described them. It’s really humorous the way Jesus described them. In Matthew chapter 23—just put it in your margin—verses 23 through 25, Jesus said, “Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin.” (Matthew 23:23) Do you know what they did? They were so careful. If they have a little mint plant—you know, mint like you put in your iced tea—they’d say, “Well now, that plant belongs to God so I’ve got to count the leaves: one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine—this tenth leaf, that belongs to God.” So, they’d pick off the tenth leaf, and they’d tithe that tenth leaf. I mean, everything belonged to God. The tithe belonged to God—and it does. Jesus didn’t say they were wrong to tithe. He said, “These ought ye to have done.” (Matthew 23:23)

But, let me back up and give the whole verse: “Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy, and faith”—now, tithing, that’s external; judgment, mercy, and faith, that’s internal—“these ought ye to have done”—you ought to tithe—“and not to leave the other undone. Ye blind guides”—can you imagine anything more ridiculous than somebody who is supposed to be a guide who’s blind?—“which strain at a gnat, and swallow a camel”—don’t tell me Jesus didn’t have a sense of humor. I’m sure this one had them in the aisles. Here’s a guy gagging at a gnat; and then, on the other hand, here comes a camel all the way down. I see his tail going in. And, you strained at a gnat; you gagged at a gnat. You swallow a camel. And then, He says (evidently, He’d been watching a man wash dishes)—“Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess.” (Matthew 23:23–25) Here’s a man who does dishes. All he does is wipe the outside and put them back in the cupboard, and on the inside, he hasn’t touched them. And, Jesus said, “That’s the way your religion is. You’re a blind guy; you’re gagging at gnats, swallowing camels. When you do the dishes, all you’re doing is wiping the outside; you’re leaving the inside full of filth.” And, our Lord’s first concern is not the outside; our Lord’s first concern is the inside. It’s what’s inside that counts. Sin is an inside job, and so is righteousness an inside job.

I’ve often used this illustration about a log in the sawmill. You may take a crooked log out of the forest, put it in the sawmill, lop off one side, lop off the other side, lop of the other side, lop off the other side, and it’s perfectly straight. But, if you look at it from the end, the heart is still crooked—the heart is still crooked.

And, the Pharisees, their lives were so straight on the outside. But, on the inside, their heart was still crooked.

One time, years ago, I was working in a Billy Graham crusade as a counselor.
the service, a girl came forward, and she wanted to give her heart to Christ. And, we dealt with her back there in the back after the service. And, the girl’s mother was a socialite, and she was mortified that her daughter had come down there with the rest of those sinners to give her heart to Christ because to this woman that was an affront. It actually embarrassed her that her daughter “needed to be saved.” And so, the mother was back there in the counseling room protesting, and she was saying, “Sweetheart, you don’t need this. Darling, Mamma knows you. You’re a good girl.” And, I never will forget what that teenage girl said as she looked into her mother’s face. She said, “Mother, you can’t see my heart.” This girl knew that she was a sinner, and she knew that she needed to be saved. But, the mother was so much like these Pharisees so long ago. It’s what’s inside that is the problem.

Listen to me, my dear friend: a man is not a sinner because he sins; he sins because he’s a sinner. A man is not a thief because he steals; he steals because he’s a thief. A man is not a liar because he tells lies; he tells lies because he’s a liar. Jesus said, “All of these things come out of the heart.” (Matthew 15:18) And, that’s the reason Jesus said that our righteousness has to exceed the righteousness of the scribes and the Pharisees. And, many of those people that Jesus witnessed to and talked to never got saved because they never did see that they were sinners.

First of all, you’ve got to get a man lost before you can get him saved. And, the Apostle Paul wrote about these same people when he said in Romans chapter 10 and verse 3: “They being ignorant of God’s righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God.” (Romans 10:3) And so, what our Lord Jesus Christ is going to do here in the Sermon on the Mount—He’s going to rip away the veil; He’s going to shatter the self-righteousness of these people, and He’s going to show them their need of Him and their need of regeneration. That’s the reason He says down in verse 20: “Except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and the Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.” (Matthew 5:20)

I. The Malice of Murder

And then, He gives the first of six illustrations. This first one has to do with murder. Now, He speaks in verse 21 of the malice of murder: “Ye have heard that it was said of them of old time, Thou shalt not kill.” (Matthew 5:21) And indeed, that is true—indeed, it is true. No one should commit murder. Of course, our Lord is quoting from Exodus chapter 20 and verse 13, the Ten Commandments, that simply say, “Thou shalt not kill.” (Exodus 20:13)
A. Not All Killing Is Forbidden

Now, let me say parenthetically here that the Ten Commandments do not forbid all killing. When the Bible says, “Thou shalt not kill,” (Matthew 5:21) that literally means “Thou shalt do no murder.”

1. The Bible Does Not Forbid the Killing of Animals

For example—and you might want to turn to Exodus chapter 20, where this is found—the killing of animals is not forbidden. Some people think that it’s wrong to kill animals, but the Bible doesn’t tell us that it’s wrong to kill animals. As a matter of fact, in Exodus chapter 20 and verse 24, right after He says, “Thou shalt not kill” (Exodus 20:13) in verse 13, in verse 24, He says this: “An altar of earth thou shalt make unto me, and shalt sacrifice thereon thy burnt offerings, and thy peace offerings, thy sheep, and thine oxen: in all places where I record my name I will come unto thee, and I will bless thee.” (Exodus 20:24) There was nothing wrong with the sacrificing of these animals. When God said, “Thou shalt not kill,” (Exodus 20:13) He wasn’t referring to animals. No one should be cruel to animals, but it’s all right to use animals for food. Jesus ate fish and a honeycomb, did He not? Don’t tell me Jesus was a sinner. Don’t tell me Jesus did wrong. He did not. There is no sin found in the Lord Jesus. The Bible does not proscribe or forbid the killing of animals.

2. The Bible Does Not Forbid Capital Punishment

The Bible does not forbid capital punishment. In Exodus chapter 20, where the Bible says, “Thou shalt not kill” (Exodus 20:13)—and read this and mark it if it’s not marked in your Bible—the Bible also says in Exodus 21 and verse 12: “He that smiteth a man, so that he die, shall be surely put to death.” (Exodus 21:12) That’s what God’s Word says: you kill somebody, you have committed a crime worthy of death. And, when the Bible says in the Ten Commandments, “Thou shalt not kill,” (Exodus 20:13) it does not forbid capital punishment.

Now, no Christian should ever take personal revenge. That’s not up to us. We never have a right—we never have a right—to take the life of another person. And yet, the government is ordained to do that. Read Romans chapter 13, (Romans 13:3–4) and read also Genesis chapter 9 and verse 6: “Whoso sheddeth man’s blood, by man shall his blood be shed: for in the image of God made he man.” (Genesis 9:6) You see, God did not save us because He doesn’t value human life; it’s because He does value human life. Capital punishment is clearly taught in the Bible, and the person just has to deny the Word of God to deny capital punishment.

3. The Bible Does Not Forbid Killing in Self-Defense

When the Bible says, “Thou shalt no kill,” (Exodus 20:13) it doesn’t proscribe the killing of animals; it does not forbid, tragic as it may be, capital punishment; and the Bible does not forbid, tragic as it may be, the necessity to defend your loved ones sometimes by taking another life. If you go on in Exodus chapter 22, verses 2 and 3, God says, “If a thief be found breaking up, and be smitten that he die, there shall no blood be shed for him”—that is, if somebody is breaking into your house and you smite him and he dies, you’re not going to die because of that. But, the Bible says—“If the sun be risen upon him, there shall be blood shed for him; for he should make full restitution.” (Exodus 22:2–3) Now, what does that mean? It means that if you kill a thief when it wasn’t necessary to kill him—just because he was stealing in broad, open daylight; you’re not in danger—then you are guilty. The thief is guilty, but you have no right to take his life. But, you do have a right to protect your loved ones. You have an obligation to protect your children. You have an obligation to protect your wife and family—a responsibility.

B. Types of Killing That the Bible Forbids

But Jesus, here, is speaking to the Pharisees, and the whole time He is saying this first part, “You’ve read, ‘Thou shalt not kill,’” (Matthew 5:21) they’re all nodding their heads because the Pharisees would not think of committing murder. As a matter of fact, what is forbidden when it says, “Thou shalt not kill”? (Exodus 20:13)

1. Homicide

First off, obviously, the crime of homicide. And, America has become the murder capital of the world. We have coldblooded people who are gunning down innocent citizens—and armed robberies. We have people who are taking revenge on people they do not like. We have rapists and others who are murdering people and sacrificing them on the altar of their lust, and their blood cries out from the ground to a holy God. And, God is not deaf to these cries, and God is going to avenge the blood of these people who are killed by homicide. Homicide is what is forbidden.

2. Suicide

Suicide is forbidden. “Thou shalt not kill.” (Exodus 20:13) You don’t have a right to kill yourself. You don’t have a right to take your own life because it is not your own; it belongs to God. You say, “Well, I have problems that are incurable.” No, my dear friend, you have no right to play God. The most incurable disease, the most constant pain, the most severe trouble, the deepest heartache, the worst persecution—no matter what is—and my heart goes out and my heart is broken for what some people are suffering—but let me tell you, my dear friend, suicide takes the matter out of God’s hands and puts it into your hands, and you have no right to do that. God alone is wise enough, God alone is strong enough, God alone is good enough to handle your problem. But, I’m talking to somebody here who has ever contemplated such a thing. Do not do it! Do not do it! You do not have the wisdom, the judgment, to do this. The Bible says in 1 Corinthians chapter 10 and verse 13: “There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted”—that word means “tested”—“above that ye are able; but will with the [test]”—“will with the temptation”—“make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it.” (1 Corinthians 10:13) God will give you grace, and God will meet your need. Wait on Him. Wait on Him! There’s hardly anything anyone can do that would cause more shame, and more sorrow, and more heartache to a family than suicide.

“Say, pastor, could a Christian commit suicide?” Well, if a Christian is mentally deranged or takes his or her eyes from the Lord, that is a possibility—but a tragic possibility! My dear friend, a person who commits suicide will be so ashamed when he faces God.

3. Infanticide

“Thou shalt not kill.” (Exodus 20:13) You have no right to take another’s life because of the value of human life. You have no right to take your own life. This would include homicide, suicide. It certainly includes infanticide, taking the lives of little babies. And, my heart is so sick. Last Friday night, I went to Dallas to speak in a rally for the unborn. Thank God for these who are standing up for those who won’t stand up—or cannot stand up—for themselves. I am heartsick that in America we are so concerned about the spotted owl, we are so concerned about the whale, we are so concerned about the snail darter, we’re so concerned about the bald eagle—and we ought to be; nothing wrong with that—but what is wrong with a nation that will slaughter the innocent and make all this fuss about a spotted owl? Something very sick in America! Something very wrong in America!

You say, “Well, it’s legal.” Everything that’s legal is not right. I think maybe we ought to abort the court. These people who kill these little babies, I feel like saying, “Why don’t you pick on somebody your own size?” It’s wrong to do that. I want to tell you what Dr. Gallup, the researcher and pollster, said. He said, “If a doctor will take money for killing the innocent in the womb, he will kill you with a needle when paid by your children.” God is going to judge—God is going to judge—America.

II. The Acid of Anger

And, while Jesus is saying, “You’ve heard it said, ‘Thou shalt not kill,’” (Matthew 5:21) the Pharisees were there nodding their heads, saying, “That is right—that is right. We would not commit homicide. No, we would not commit suicide. No, we would not commit infanticide.” And so, they wrapped themselves in the robe of self-righteousness, and they are saying, “We are fine.” But, Jesus didn’t stop there. Not only did Jesus speak of the malice of murder; then Jesus began to speak of the acid of anger. And look, if you will, as Jesus continues now in verse 22: “But I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment: and whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be in danger of the council: but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire.” (Matthew 5:22)

Now, Jesus is going to destroy the illusion of self-righteousness. Do you see? There was one sin that the Pharisees were sure that they were not guilty of, and that was the sin of murder—just like many of this congregation who are so sure that you don’t have murder in your heart; at least, murder on your record. But, what the Lord Jesus is going to show is that hatred is an acid that destroys its container. And, our Lord goes beyond the act of murder to the attitude behind it—beyond the murder to the motive—to show what really causes people to kill.

A little boy was doing his homework, so I’m told, and he asked his dad—he said, “Dad, what causes people to go to war? Why do people kill each other in war?” “Well,” he said, “son, it’s like this. If you want to know what causes war,” he said, “for example, in World War I,” he said, “Germany invaded Belgium.” And, the mother came in. She was drying her hands, and she had been doing dishes. And, she said, “No, no, father, that’s not the way it is. Here’s the way that war started.” He said to her, “Look, do you want to answer the question or do you want me to answer the question? Did he ask you or did he ask me? Besides that, you don’t know anything about it. Why don’t you butt out of this conversation?” She said, “What do you mean I don’t know anything about it?” And, she threw her dishtowel on the floor, turned around, and slammed the door. You could hear the dishes rattling in the cabinet. And, he said, “Now son, let me tell you how wars start.” He said, “No thanks, Dad. I already know.” You know, it comes out of the heart.

A. Types of Anger That Come Out of the Heart
And, that’s what our Lord Jesus is about to show, and He speaks here of angers.

1. Caustic Anger
First of all, He speaks of caustic anger, where, He says, you’re angry with a brother. (Matthew 5:22) That is, somebody’s done something to you. I don’t know what they did to you, but they did something; they did you wrong. And so, you’ve got that caustic anger. You feel that corrosive acid, that caustic acid, building up in you.

2. Contemptuous Anger
And, that caustic acid, that caustic anger, turns to contemptuous anger. What you say there is “Raca.” (Matthew 5:22) You say, “What does that mean?” Did you know we don’t have an English translation for that? That’s an untranslatable word. That’s the reason they just put in the Bible, “Raca.” (Matthew 5:22) Do you know what it means? It means, “You don’t have any value. I don’t value you.” Some translations translate it this way: “worthless one.” It’s actually a term of contempt. Racial prejudice is wrapped up in this word. When you look down on other people, you feel that you are superior to other people—whatever it is, that air of superiority. You see, somebody takes somebody else’s life because they do not see the worth, the value, of every single human being.

3. Condemning Anger

There’s caustic anger. And then, there is contemptuous anger. And then, there is condemning anger. Our Lord says, “You say, ‘Thou fool,’ you will be in danger of hellfire.” (Matthew 5:22) The word fool here—He’s not talking about saying somebody is foolish, but you have to understand what the word fool meant in the Bible. The word fool here actually involves moral perversity and godlessness and wickedness. A person who is a fool, unless he gets redeemed and saved, is certainly going to hell, certainly damned, certainly lost. The Bible says there’s no hope for the fool. (Proverbs 26:12; Proverbs 29:20)

So, you see what a person has done? Caustic anger, contemptuous anger, condemning anger. Somebody’s hurt, and something begins to burn and boil and seethe in his heart. That is very wrong. Now, the Bible says in 1 John chapter 3 and verse 15: “Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer: and ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him.” (1 John 3:15)

You say, “Pastor Rogers, is all anger wrong?” Of course not! Some anger is very good. Ephesians chapter 4 and verse 26 says, “Be ye angry”—that’s a command—“and sin not”—that’s a command too—“Be ye angry, and sin not: let not the sun go down upon your wrath.” (Ephesians 4:26) Your wrath is wrong, but righteous anger is different. You see, there is a righteous anger. In the Old Testament, eighteen times you read of the anger of the Lord. We read in the New Testament where Jesus was moved with anger when He drove the moneychangers out of the temple. (Matthew 21:12–13; Mark 11:15–17)

You can tell the size of the man by what makes him angry. What makes you angry? You miss a putt—do you wrap your putter around a tree? Is that what makes you angry? Somebody gets your parking place, and you blow a fuse? You tell the size of a man by what makes him angry. Do you know the way to be angry and sin not? It’s to be angry only at sin. Jesus was moved with anger, but the anger that Jesus warns about is the anger that gives Satan a foothold in his life.

Now, I want you to just put a bookmark there in Matthew 5, like I’m going to, and I want you to turn to Ephesians 4 here. Let me show you something about anger—when our Lord speaks of being angry without a cause and the danger that will cause. Turn to the book of Ephesians, and I want you to look in verses 26 through 31. Do you have it? All right, look in verse 26: “Be ye angry”—see, there’s our command—“and sin not”—there’s the first responding command—“let not the sun go down upon your wrath”—now, if you were angry for the wrong reason, don’t go to bed angry. Husbands and wives, never go to bed back to back—"let not the sun go down upon your wrath: Neither give place to the devil"—when, my dear friend, you get this anger in your heart, this wrath there, and you go to bed with it, you don't deal with it, you give it a place there, do you know what you have done? You've just cleared off a space for the devil to come encamp. You have given the devil a campground, a lodging place, a sanctuary in your life. That is the devil's lawful, rightful place, is your anger, and he'll move into it. Now, verse 28—"Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth. Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth"—now, you wouldn't think of stealing, or you wouldn't think of cursing, I hope—"but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace unto the hearers. And grieve not the Holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption"—most Pharisees would not steal, and most Pharisees would not let corrupt communication come out of their mouth. But now, watch what our Lord says in verse 31—"Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice." (Ephesians 4:26–31)

B. The Progression to Malice
Now, I've shown you this before, but I want you to slow down and see how wise the Scriptures are. I want you to see why anger is behind murder. Now, watch this progression; watch these five steps.

1. Bitterness
First of all, "all bitterness." (Ephesians 4:31) Do you see the word bitterness? Do you see it? Look at it in verse 31: “Let all bitterness…” (Ephesians 4:31) Do you know what bitterness is? Bitterness is a feeling of resentment that settles down in your heart when you feel somebody has done you wrong. Maybe they have overlooked you; maybe they have abused you; maybe they have insulted you; maybe they have hurt you in some way—and you get a feeling that the Bible calls “bitterness.” Now, it's not yet anger; it's just bitterness. You just feel bad in here, and you're carrying that resentment.

2. Wrath
But now, the word bitterness is followed by the word wrath. Do you see it? Look in verse 31: “wrath.” (Ephesians 4:31) Now, what is wrath? Wrath comes from a Greek word that means “to burn.” You're doing a slow burn. Did you ever feel that slow burn on the inside? A lot of antacid companies are happy that you have it. It's that slow burn that's in there. It's just that heat that comes. First, bitterness; and then, that bitterness turns to wrath. It's kind of like smoldering rags in a closet—just doing that slow burn.

3. Anger
And then, the next word is anger. (Ephesians 4:31) Somebody opens the closet door, and oxygen comes to those smoldering rags that are in a state of spontaneous combustion. And, suddenly the flame just bursts and begins to flame brightly, and that which is smoldering bursts into flames. That’s anger. People fly off the handle. Have you ever seen anybody just fly off the handle just like that? I mean, they’ll tell you off in a second, or they’ll pick up things, or throw things, or slam a door, or pound their fist, or kick something. And, you say, “Man, what got into them?” I’ll tell you what has gotten into them: already—you couldn’t see it—but there was bitterness; and then, there was wrath. After the bitterness came the wrath, and then came the anger. What you thought happened at a moment had been happening a long time ago. That bitterness was there. That bitterness turned to wrath. And finally, those smoldering rags of wrath opened into the fires and flames of anger.

4. Clamor
But, the devil is not finished yet. After that anger comes clamor. Do you see the word clamor? Look at it verse 31: “clamour.” (Ephesians 4:31) Do you know what the word clamor means? It means “loud talking.” You raise your voice. You shout or you cry. A person says, “Why did you do that?” You say, “Well, now wait a minute. Don’t shout.” “I’m not shouting.” And, your voice gets louder, and you begin to clamor and to say all kinds of wicked things, loud things. You just find yourself expressing yourself in a way that’s unbecoming.

5. Evil Speaking
But, you’re not finished yet. You’re on a roll now; and so, the next thing is “evil speaking.” (Ephesians 4:31) You see, once you raise your voice, once you get into this attitude, then you begin to evil speak. You begin to say things that you ought not to say. You will say to a child, “You will never amount to anything.” You’ll say to a wife, “I am sorry that I married you.” You’ll say to a brother, “I wish you were dead.” Now, you say terrible, horrible, hateful, hellish things, and the devil’s just sitting over there in the corner just laughing and saying, “Tell them this, also.” And, it’s evil speaking. You’re out of control.

Do you know there’s a school of psychology that says it’s good for you to vent your anger? Have you ever heard that—that you should just ventilate your anger, just let it all get out? that it’s good for you? That’s a lie, my dear friend. The Bible says you’re not to do that. And, in a new book, Anger: The Misunderstood Emotion, Carol Tavris writes this: “The psychological rationale for ventilating anger does not stand up under experimental scrutiny. The weight of the evidence indicates precisely the opposite: expressing anger makes you more angry, solidifies an angry attitude, and establishes a hostile habit.” That’s the reason the Bible says, “A soft answer turneth away wrath” (Proverbs 15:1)—not ventilating your anger.
6. Malice
But see, look, here it is: First of all, there’s bitterness. That bitterness turns to wrath. That wrath turns to anger. That anger turns to clamor. That clamor turns to evil speaking. And then, what’s the last one? Malice. (Ephesians 4:31) Do you know what malice is? Malice is doing something evil and hurtful. Malice is what leads to murder. That’s the reason why I spoke of the malice of murder. After you’ve said those wicked and vile things that begin to come out of your mouth, then you have a desire to reach out and strike somebody, to hurt somebody, to hit somebody, to harm somebody. And, that’s what’s behind this thing of murder. It all starts in the heart. It all starts with a root of bitterness.

And, so many people are carrying around this load of bitterness, and there are people who are sitting in this congregation this morning who have in your heart the seeds of murder—your bitterness. Now, you may never kill anybody. It’s far better to carry the seed in your heart than to do it. Don’t just say, “Well, I’m already guilty before God so I might as well kill somebody.” No, that’s not the thing. It’s not what it does to them we are talking about; it’s what it does to you, primarily, right now. You see, listen—listen, my dear friend. Jesus is dealing with Pharisees, and He only takes one illustration. We’re going to take many more. You may say, “Well, I don’t have that problem, Pastor Rogers.” Well, come next Sunday. We’ll find yours. Jesus has six illustrations right here. But, what Jesus is saying here is that it is what is on the inside, but not what is on the outside, that makes men the sinners that they are.

III. The Requirement for Righteousness
So, we see the malice of murder. We see the acid of anger. Now, we can see the requirement for righteousness. Jesus said—listen—“Except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.” (Matthew 5:20) That is, you cannot behave your way into heaven.

Do you know what’s wrong with self-righteousness? Self-righteousness is like trying to fill a bottomless cup. You see, suppose you had a bottomless cup and you start trying to fill it. You’ll never fill it; it has no bottom. Trying to fill yourself with yourself adds nothing to yourself because nothing plus nothing equals nothing.

You can never—you can never—have righteousness, never be righteous, never be right with God—never, never, never—until you have the righteousness which is from above.

Now, remember what Paul said in Romans 10, verse 3, concerning his people: “They being ignorant of God’s righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God.”
(Romans 10:3) Self-righteousness in God’s sight is as filthy rags. The Pharisees needed to see this. They didn’t understand it. They did not understand it.

How righteous are you? Let me tell you what real righteousness is.

A. Imputed Righteousness

Now, listen to me. Real righteousness—God’s righteousness—is, first of all, imputed righteousness—imputed righteousness. Because Jesus died, because Jesus paid your sin debt, God just imputes righteousness to you. God puts righteousness on your account. God says, “Adrian is righteous”—not because of anything I’ve done; I mean, nothing I have done. It is because Jesus suffered, bled, and died, and paid for my sins on the cross. And, God imputes righteousness to me.

B. Implanted Righteousness

Now, wait a minute. Not only is it imputed righteousness; it is implanted righteousness. Then He gives me a new nature; and then, I do what I do because I am what I am. And, I have been made new and clean and pure on the inside. And, God has worked a miracle in my heart, and God has worked a judicial miracle and a spiritual miracle. Imputed righteousness—a judicial miracle. He says, “Put righteousness on his account. Forget all of his sins; they are blotted out. He is righteous as my Son is righteous.” And then, implanted righteousness—He puts His righteousness into me, and then the love of God begins to come out of me. And, it is no longer “I, but Christ [that] liveth in me.” (Galatians 2:20)

Conclusion

Let me just tell you this story. A man dreamed, so I’m told, of the gates of heaven, and there were people who were trying to get into heaven. Someone knocked at the gate of heaven, and a voice from within said, “Who is it that seeks entrance into heaven, and what is the password?” And, the man at the pearly gates said, “I am a righteous man, a moral man.” And, He said, “What is the password into heaven?” He said, “Honesty.” And, the voice from within said, “Depart from me, ye that work iniquity. I never knew you.” Another knocked at the gate of heaven, and the voice within said, “Who is it that seeks entrance into heaven, and what is the password into heaven?” And, the man at the gate said, “I am a religious man.” And, He said, “And, what is the password into heaven?” And, he said, “Ritual and religion.” And, the voice within said, “Depart from me, ye that work iniquity. I never knew you.” Another knocked at the pearly gate, and the voice within said, “Who is it that seeks entrance into heaven, and what is the password?” And, this man said, “I am a humanitarian.” He said, “What is the password into heaven?” He said, “Love, charity.” And, the voice within said, “Depart from me, ye that work iniquity. I never knew you.” At last there came one other, and he knocked at the gate. And, the voice within said, “Who is it that seeks entrance into heaven, and what is the password?” This man said, “In my hand no price I bring. Simply to thy cross I cling.” And, the voice within said, “Open wide the gate, and let him in, for of such is the kingdom of heaven.”

That’s what our Lord meant when He said to the moralists, to the religionists, and to the humanitarians, “Except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.” (Matthew 5:20) Our Lord is not against these other things. He’s not against religion—if it’s His religion. He’s not against morality. He’s not against love. He’s not against the keeping of the commandment that says, “Thou shalt not kill.” (Exodus 20:13) He’s very much for it. But, what God is saying, my dear friend, is \textit{the heart of the human problem is the problem of the human heart}. And, the only answer to that is the new birth, the righteousness of God that is imputed and implanted when we are saved.

Introduction

Would you take your Bibles and turn to Matthew chapter 5? And, when you’ve found that place, just hold it there and look up because we’re going to stay in the Gospel of Matthew, and it will help you very much tonight if you will keep your Bible open to the Gospel of Matthew.

I heard about a man who went into a pet store, and he’d always wanted a parakeet. And, he saw that a parakeet was on sale for only twenty-five dollars, and the parakeet was guaranteed to talk. The man thought that was a bargain. He bought the parakeet and took it home and waited a day, and two days, three days—the parakeet never uttered a word. The man went back to the pet store, and he said, “I thought you said that the parakeet could speak.” “Well,” he said, “he does speak. But,” he said, “you know, he always first gets on the little swing and swings before he speaks. Don’t you have a little swing?” He said, “No.” He said, “Well, here’s a little swing. It costs ten dollars. You need a little swing for the parakeet because he swings before he speaks.” And so, the man bought the swing and went back. The bird still didn’t speak. He came back to the pet store, and he said, “The bird is still not saying a word.” He said, “Well, you know, he always swings and then looks in the little mirror before he speaks. Don’t you have a little mirror?” He said, “No, you didn’t say anything about a little mirror.” He said, “Well, there’s a little mirror that we have here. It costs fifteen dollars, and you need a little mirror.” And so, the man bought the little mirror, went back, waited a while, and came back. He said, “The parakeet still has not said a word.” He said, “You mean that he sits on the swing and swings, and looks in the mirror, and pecks the bell, and then doesn’t say anything?” He said, “What do you mean ‘pecks the bell’?” “Oh, he always pecks the little bell before he speaks. You need a little bell. We have a little bell here for twenty dollars, and we’d like to have you have this little bell.” And so, the man bought the little bell and came back. And, after a while, he said, “Look, the parakeet has not said a word.” He said, “Yes, you have to have a little ladder. He runs up and down the little ladder before he ever speaks.” And, the man begrudgingly spent some more money for a little ladder. After a while, he came back into the pet store, and the man said, “How is the parakeet?” He said, “The parakeet is dead!” He said, “Dead?” He said, “Yes, dead!” He said, “Well, did he ever speak?” He said, “Yes, he did speak.” He said, “What did he say?” He said, “Just before he fell over dead, he looked at me and said, ‘Don’t they sell any birdseed in that pet store?’”

Priorities are important. Well, for the parakeet, birdseed is more important than a bell, a mirror, a ladder, or a swing. And, in life, many times we just don’t get our priorities straight. Let’s just imagine now that you could go way back into time before the world was ever created, and you are with God the Father in eternity past. And God, if we could speak in human terms, has a plan board out there, and He has a design out there. And, an angel is looking over His shoulder, and the angel says to God the Father, “What are you going to do?” And, God says, “I am going to make a man. This is my plan for a man.” And, the angel says, “Holy Father, why are you making a man? What is the purpose of a man? What are you going to use that man for? Why are you making him?” Now, God obviously had a purpose when He made man. You would agree, wouldn’t you? And, we need to understand what a purpose is for anything.

For example, what did man make a pen to do? Well, that pen is to write. Now, this pen is a nice pen. I didn’t buy it, but somebody gave it to me. But friend, if this pen, whose purpose is to write, will not write, a twenty-cent Bic would be better than this pen. Is that not correct? A twenty-cent Bic that writes would be better than this pen if it doesn’t write, for the purpose of a pen is to write. And, if it won’t write, if it doesn’t do its primary function, then that pen is a failure.
Now, if God had a purpose for you and you don’t fulfill that purpose, what are you? Failure. You’re a failure. No matter how nice you may look, if you do not fulfill the purpose that God created you for, you are a failure. Do you know what the word sin means? One of the Greek words for sin means “to miss the mark.” It’s the idea of archery. And, the archer pulls the bow and lets fly the arrow, and if the arrow misses the mark, that’s the same word that is used for sin. It is “missing the mark.” Now, you’re not going to hit the mark if you don’t even know what the mark is, if you don’t ask yourself, “Why did God create me?” What did God have in mind when God made a man? We know what a man would have in mind if he made a pen, what a man would have in mind if he made an automobile. It would be transportation. What did God have in mind for you?

Now, I want to say this: that you will never experience genuine fulfillment until you fulfill the purpose for which you were created. You cannot be fulfilled unless you fulfill the purpose for which God made you. And, you can never have success, you’ll always be a failure, if you do not fulfill that purpose. A pen is successful when it writes. An automobile is successful when it transports us. And, you’re successful when you do that for which God made you.

Now, it is your purpose—understanding your purpose, why you were created—that will help you to prioritize to see what things are important and what things are not important. Many of you young people here are graduating. And, you’re getting out of school, and you’re facing life. And again, fulfillment—again, success—is finding out what God had in mind, what God wants to be in first place.

In our Baptist churches, we talk a lot about being saved—and well we might, for the Bible says, “The Son of man is come to seek and to save that which is lost.” (Luke 19:10) That’s why Jesus came—to save us. But, what did He save us for? You see, most of us are interested in what He saved us from. We say, “We’re saved from hell.” No, what did He save you for?

Now, what is the purpose of an automobile? The purpose of that automobile is transportation. Well, if the automobile is wrecked, or if the automobile, for whatever reason—the engine, or the drive train, or whatever—it doesn’t work, you bring it into the shop, and they repair it. They fix it. They put it back. Now, when they repair it, they fix it and they put it back. Then, what does that mean? Is it just to sit there? No, it is repaired. It is restored. It is put back as it was so that it can do what it was made to do to begin with. So many people, all they think about in their salvation is what they’ve been saved from—the wreck—not what they’re saved for, which is God’s purpose for them.

So what you need to understand is that God has a purpose for your life. God has some things that He wants to be in first place.

Now, we’re going to look in the Gospel of Matthew, and we’re going to find five times where our Lord tells us to put first things first. And, if you don’t put first things first, they’re not going to work. And really, the Christian life is not that complicated, but while it is not that complicated, it is very precise in what it says. Now, here are five things that I want us to learn how to put first. Are you ready?

I. Fellowship Before Worship

Turn, first of all, to Matthew chapter 5, and look, if you will, in verses 23 and 24. Jesus here is speaking of worship, and He is warning us about being out of sorts and out of fellowship with a brother or a sister while we worship. And so, He says in verse 23: “Therefore if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee; leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way”—now, here it is. Underscore this if you don’t mind marking in your Bible. It’s marked in mine. Mark it in yours—“first”—first, first—“be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.” (Matthew 5:23–24) Now, we’re talking about priorities here. And, what is the priority here? It is fellowship before worship. Write it down: “My priority is fellowship before worship.”

Now, I quoted to you a scripture a while back that said, “Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!” (Psalms 133:1) The devil knows that, and he wants to sow discord in the rank of the redeemed. The devil knows that no Christian can be right with God if he is willingly and consciously wrong with his brother. There is a lot of worship on Sunday morning and Sunday nights that is vain and that God does not accept. You may give your money—you may have put money in the plate this morning or tonight, but God did not accept it. You may pray, but God did not hear your prayer. You may sing, but God was not pleased with your music. Why? Because you were not reconciled to your brother. You willingly and deliberately would not go and endeavor to make it right. And so, fellowship comes before worship. That is God’s priority.

Notice it doesn’t say, “If you have something against someone else, go and see him.” If you bring your gift to the altar and remember there that your brother has aught against you, you go and first be reconciled to your brother. Is there someone that you have wronged? Is there someone that thinks you have wronged them? God’s goal, God’s plan, is not to prove who’s right or wrong; God’s plan is the reconciliation of His children.

Now, let’s think a little bit about priorities. Now, you’re in church. You look holy. You look very sanctified. And, don’t answer these questions out loud, but is there somebody who has something against you? Is there an unjust debt that you owe, something you’ve not paid? Are there harsh words and criticism that you’ve made against someone that you’ve not put right? Is there gossip that you’ve spread? Is there any duty to someone else that you’ve neglected? Have you wronged somebody, and you sit in church tonight? Now, it seems strange for a preacher to say this, but, you know, you don’t have a right to make an offering and to give that offering to God if you’re not right with somebody else. That’s what Jesus said: “Before you make your offering, before you come to bring your gift to the altar,” He said, “you leave your gift.” (Matthew 5:23–24)

Now, this is very important. He doesn’t say, “Spend it.” He says, “Leave it.” (Matthew 5:24) Why do you leave it? Because it’s tainted money: ‘t ain’t yours. It belongs to God. It’s tainted. You can’t offer it, but you can’t keep it. You leave your gift there at the altar. Then, you go make it right with God and right with your brother, and then you come and offer your gift to God. You go make it right. That is a priority. None of us should ever, ever, ever come to church to worship God—never—when we have aught in our heart against someone else or know that someone else has aught against us and we have not endeavored to make it right. So, first priority of these five: first fellowship and then worship. Who said that? Jesus.

II. The Spiritual Before the Material
All right. Now, let’s look at the second priority. Turn to Matthew chapter 6 and verse 33—Matthew chapter 6 and verse 33. Here are the words of Jesus: “But seek ye”—what’s the next word?—“first”—“seek ye first”—“the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) What’s the second priority that all of us need to remember? First the spiritual and then the material. “Seek ye first the kingdom of God”—the spiritual—“and all these things”—the material—“shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33)

Now, this is a great and a wonderful verse. Most of us don’t believe this. An old, old saint one time had a habit of taking her Bible and marking the good verses. And, the real good verses, she’d put “T&P” by them in the margin. Somebody asked her, “What does ‘T&P’ mean?” She said, “That means ‘tried and proven.'” This is one that is tried and proven. Now, if you have not tried it and have not proved it, don’t say it is wrong, because it is not Adrian, it is Jesus Christ Himself, who said, “[You] seek...first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things [will] be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33)

Now we, in America, just have things so out of whack. Do you know what we do? We worship our work; we work at our play, and then we play at our worship. And, we wonder why it doesn’t work out. We worship our work. That’s number one to most people. I mean that if people had to make a choice between the two, they would say, “Well, my job comes first. After all, a man’s got to live.” No, he doesn’t; he’s got to die. But they—we—worship our work. And then, we work at our play. It is amazing what people are doing today to try to have a good time. Have you ever seen anybody ever try to have a good time working at it? So, we work at our play, and then we play at our worship. We don’t really put our Lord first and seek first the kingdom of God. And, do you know what the fruit of seeking things first rather than God first is? It is simply worry. Just back up here before verse 33, and let’s go look in verse 25. Jesus says in verse 25: “Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life”—now the word thought here is not talking about a happy-go-lucky person, but it’s talking about anxious thought; it’s talking about worry. And, our Lord is saying—“Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat”—that is, “food”—“and the body than raiment?” (Matthew 6:25)—or “clothing.” Now, these are the things that He’s talking about in verse 33. Look at them here in this verse. He’s talking about things: eating, drinking, clothes. He’s saying these are the things that so many of us worry about.

A. Worry Is Needless

Now, let me tell you something about worry. Anybody here worry? Don’t lift your hand. Number one, according to verse 25: because of warped priorities. And, the best thing you can say about it is it is needless—because Jesus said, “Don’t do it.” And, if Jesus said, “Don’t do it,” then you don’t need to do it.

B. Worry Is Senseless

But secondly, not only is it needless; it is absolutely senseless. Look in verse 26: “Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; and yet your heavenly Father feedeth them”—notice the logic of Jesus—“Are ye not much better than they?” (Matthew 6:26) Now, what’s He talking about? He’s saying, “The little birds, they don’t worry. They don’t. They’re not farmers. They don’t plant. They don’t sow. They don’t reap. But, God takes care of them.” Inference: What farmer would feed his chickens and starve his children? What Heavenly Father will take care of the birds of the air and not take care of His children?

C. Worry Is Useless

Worry—verse 25—is needless. Verse 26: It is senseless. Verse 27: It is useless. Look in verse 27: “Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?” (Matthew 6:27) That is, if you’re not tall enough—you want to be 6’2” and you’re 6’1”—can you worry yourself an inch taller? What Jesus is saying is worry doesn’t do any good. It is absolutely useless. It never solved a problem. It never dried a tear. It never lifted a burden. It’s absolutely useless. There are two kinds of things you should never worry about. You want to tell you what they are? The things you can’t do anything about—that’s the first kind. The second kind is the things you can do something about.
Only two things you should never worry about. I mean, if you can’t do anything about it, why worry about it?

_For every evil under the sun,
There is a remedy or there is none.
If there be one, seek ’til ye find it;
If there be none, never mind it._

Just don’t worry about the things that you can’t do anything about; don’t worry about the things you can do something about—either one. Jesus is teaching that it is useless to worry. Now, some of you don’t believe it’s useless to worry. Like a little old lady said, “Don’t tell me worry doesn’t do any good. Most of the things I worry about never happen.”

D. Worry Is Faithless

Now, not only is it useless, but look in verse 30—it is faithless. Listen to what Jesus said, “Wherefore”—verse 30—“if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to day is, and to morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?” (Matthew 6:30) Do you know what worry is? Worry is a wound in the heart of God. It is a wound in the heart of God. It the opposite of faith. Worry is faith turned inside out. Why, how it must grieve God when we worry!

When our children were little, suppose I came into the house and I see my little children in the corner whining and crying and sniffling, and I say, “Darlings, what’s wrong?” and they say, “We’re just afraid, Daddy, that we’re not going to have a place to sleep tonight. We’re afraid, Daddy, we’re not going to have anything to eat tonight. We’re afraid, Daddy, that somebody is going to come into the house and carry us away and snatch us away. We are afraid, Daddy.” How would that make me feel as a father? I’d say, “Children, don’t worry. Daddy will get us something to eat, and Daddy will watch over us. And, Daddy’s going to give us a place to sleep tonight, and Daddy won’t let anybody hurt you.” I’m a human father, and I would do my best. But, the truth is that it’s possible that I could fail to give them food to eat. The truth is it is possible that I could have failed to protect them. Is that not right? But folks, do you think that God is not able? I mean, when we’re in the corner sniffling and crying, it would make me feel terrible as a father to see my children doing that, because I would say, “My children don’t think I’m able.” You see, worry dishonors God. It is a wound in the heart of God. It is absolutely faithless.

E. Worry Is Pagan

And then, last of all, friend, it’s pagan. Look, if you will, in verse 31. Jesus says, “Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or,
Wherewithal shall we be clothed? (for after all these things do the Gentiles seek:) for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things”—and now, come back to our verse—“But seek ye first the kingdom of God”—“first the kingdom of God”—“and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:31–33)

Worry is because you have your priorities wrong—you have your priorities wrong. That’s what worry is. It’s just that you have tried to put things first and God second, and God will not work in second place.

III. Purity Before Ministry

Now, let me give you a third priority. We’re talking about “The Power of Proper Priorities,” fulfilling the function for which God made us. Turn to Matthew chapter 7 now—we’re just in the book of Matthew—Matthew chapter 7, and read with me verses 1 through 5. Jesus says, “Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again. And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother’s eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye? Or how wilt thou say to thy brother, Let me pull out the mote out of thine eye; and, behold, a beam is in thine own eye? Thou hypocrite”—now, underscore this word right now—“first”—first, first—“cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother’s eye.” (Matthew 7:1–5)

Third priority: purity before ministry.

Now, this is a verse that has been twisted and misappropriated. Many people think that our Lord is telling us not to judge. No, the Bible commands us to judge. The Bible says, “Judge righteous judgment.” (John 7:24) He’s not saying not to judge. For example, I stopped reading in verse 5. Look in verse 6: “Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither cast ye your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn again and rend you.” (Matthew 7:6) You’re going to have to know who the hogs and the dogs are, aren’t you? I mean, you’re going to have to have some discernment. He’s not talking about failing to discern; what He is talking about is being a hypocrite when you judge. Look at verse 5: “Thou hypocrite…” (Matthew 7:5) What is a hypocrite? A hypocrite is somebody who is trying to put ministry before purity. It can’t be done. First purity and then ministry. What our Lord is saying is, “You cannot minister and get sawdust out of somebody else’s eye when you’ve got a saw log in your own eye.” That’s what He’s talking about—a crosstie in your own eye. He doesn’t say not to pick the speck of your brother’s eye. He just says don’t do it when you’ve got a log in your own eye, because if you do, you’re going to poke out your brother’s eye because you’re not going to be able to see what is in your brother’s eye.

But, you see, there’s something about the sins of a hypocrite that blinds him. That’s terrible, if you’ve ever seen these people carrying around a load of sin and trying to find fault in other people and they think they’re perfectly fine.

Faults in others I can see.

But, praise the Lord, there are none in me.

There are people like that. Every now and then people come to me and say, “Pastor, do you know there are some hypocrites in the church?” I say, “Oh? Hypocrites in the church?” Yes, there are. There were in Jesus’ day. There are in our day. They’re all around us. Sometimes they stand in the pulpit.

What is our Lord saying? Our Lord is saying there is a power in proper priorities. First purity and then ministry. I don’t say this self-servingly, but I would be absolutely petrified—to stand up here and preach with unconfessed, unrepented-of sin in my heart and in my life. I would be frightened to do that. You say, “Aren’t you wonderful!” No, that’s not wonderful. That’s normal. That’s natural. That’s what a Christian is supposed to be. Purity before ministry. Wherever it is, with whomever you are, we’re to be pure.

Now, it doesn’t mean we’re not to help our brothers. We’re to minister. If somebody has sawdust in their eye, let’s help get it out. Galatians chapter 6, verse 1: “Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness”—but now, listen to this—“considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted.” (Galatians 6:1)

IV. Binding Before Loosing

Now, let’s move on. Let me give you a fourth powerful priority—understanding why God created us, why God saved us, how God expects us live. Turn to Matthew chapter 12. We’re just going through the book of Matthew here. Turn to Matthew chapter 12, and let’s begin reading in verse 24. Now, what has happened is there was a demon-possessed man, and this man was blind and dumb. And, Jesus had delivered this man from the power—the awesome power—of Satan. He’d set him free. And, the Pharisees were there. These Pharisees, in whose heart the milk of human kindness had curdled, they began to criticize and to carp and to find fault because the people were turning to Jesus and turning from them. And so, they tried—they could not deny the miracle, so they tried to explain it away. And, in verse 24 we read: “When the Pharisees heard it, they said, This fellow doth not cast out devils, but by Beelzebub the prince of the devils”—the lord of the flies, grotesque god of the Phoenicians, the god of filth. And, that was their way to designate and describe Satan. Look in verse 25—“And Jesus knew their thoughts”—hey, folks, He knows yours, too; I mean, right now—“Jesus knew their thoughts, and said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and every city or house divided against itself shall not stand: and if Satan cast out Satan, he is divided against himself; how shall then his kingdom stand?”—what Jesus is saying, “What you’re saying is not logical.” It, very plainly, it is, well, I’m not going to use the word. My wife told me not to call anybody stupid. It’s stupid. I said it. Jesus says, “This doesn’t make sense.” And then, notice in verse 27—“And if I by Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your children cast them out? therefore they shall be your judges. But if I cast out devils by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God is come unto you”—now, notice verse 29—“Or else how can one enter into a strong man’s house, and spoil his goods”—now, watch it very carefully—“except he first”—first, first—“bind the strong man? and then he will spoil his house.” (Matthew 12:24–29) The fourth priority: the binding before the loosing.

Now, we all know individuals who’ve been taken captive by Satan. And, we’re trying to get them back, and we’re trying to set them free without first of all binding the strong man who has kept them captive. You see, how did Jesus deliver this man who was demon-possessed? The answer is in verse 29. Jesus bound the strong man. Who is the strong man in this analogy that Jesus is using? The strong man is Satan himself. Jesus realized that His battle was not with flesh and blood, for the Bible teaches—and Jesus knew it—that “we wrestle not [with] flesh and blood, but [with] principalities, [and] powers...[and] spiritual wickedness in high places.” (Ephesians 6:12) And, Jesus said this man was taken captive, this man that was both blind and dumb. Not all blindness or all speech impediment is caused by demonic activity, but some is. This was. And, Jesus said, “This man is taken captive; and I have to go into this strong man’s house, and I have to bring this captive out of the strong man’s house.”

Now, how is Jesus going to do that? Is Jesus going to sneak into the house under cover of darkness as a sneak thief? Is that how He’s going to rob the strong man’s house? No. You cannot sneak up on Satan in the darkness. He is the prince of darkness. You’re not going to sneak up on him in the darkness. You’re not going to come as a cat burglar. You know how you’re going to take somebody from Satan? Strong-armed robbery! You’re going to go in there with might, and you’re going to say to that strong man, “I’m going to put you in chains and leave you there while I take this captive free and take him out.” That’s what Jesus said. Verse 29: “How can you rob a strong man’s house, except ye first bind him?” (Matthew 12:29)

Now folks, the problem with many of us is this: we get our priorities wrong. We think that somehow the answer is education, or environment, or lecture, or psychology, or psychiatry. The devil fears none of these things. He doesn’t fear all of them put together. The answer is he must be bound. You say, “Well, pastor, I don’t have the power to do it.” Well, I’m glad you admit it. I don’t have the power to do it either, but that doesn’t mean that we’re powerless.

You’re in Matthew 12; turn to Matthew 18, and look with me here for just a moment in verses 18 through 20. Our Lord here is talking about prayer: “Verily I say unto you, whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven”—the Greek construction is “whatever ye bind on earth shall have already been bound in heaven”—“and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall [have already been] loosed in heaven. Again I say unto you, That if two of you shall agree on earth as touching any thing that they shall ask, it shall be done for them of my Father which is in heaven. For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them.” (Matthew 18:18–20) Who does the binding? Who does the loosing? God has done it in heaven. Because God has done it in heaven, we can do it on earth. God has given us power here.

You know, many of us have loved ones who have been bound, taken captive, by Satan. Can we set them free? Well, yes, we can indeed. So many times our prayers are in the wrong direction. We’re praying at them when we really need to be praying against the strong man and binding the strong man—binding Satan in the name of Jesus. Does that mean, therefore, that I can pray in faith and guarantee that somebody else is going to be saved? No. God gives them a will. Now, I’ll never be able to superimpose my will upon their will, but I’ll tell you what it does mean: it does mean that while my prayers do not force them to be saved, my prayers do free them to be saved. My prayers bind the power that holds them in darkness. And, as 2 Corinthians 4:4 says, “The god of this [age]”—“the god of this world”—“hath blinded the minds of them which believe not.” (2 Corinthians 4:4) But, so many times we get our priorities wrong. And, we’re trying to set the captives free, and we haven’t bound the strong man.

And folks, whether you realize it or not, the church of the living God is at war today with Satan, and we need to learn something about warfare prayer. We need to learn something about taking authority over the prince of darkness. And, our Lord Jesus is telling us that there is a priority here.

V. The Inside Before the Outside
Now, here is the fifth of these priorities that I want us to look at tonight, and all of these are from the Gospel of Matthew. Turn to Matthew chapter 23, beginning in verse 25. Jesus is talking to the religious of His day, and He says, “Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are”—the cup, the platter—“full of extortion and excess. Thou blind Pharisee, cleanse”—what’s the next word? “First”—“Thou blind Pharisee, cleanse first that which is within the cup and platter, that the outside of them may be clean also.” (Matthew 23:25–26) Evidently, the way men do dishes hasn’t changed for two thousand years. Jesus said, “These guys, they’re supposed to be doing the dishes, and all they’re doing is wiping off the outside of the dish and putting them back up in the cabinet.” Inside is all of this grime, and filth, and so forth.
Now, what is our Lord saying? Our Lord is saying that in living the Christian life and fulfilling the purpose that He created us for there has to be a priority. And, what is the fifth of these five powerful priorities? First the inside; then the outside. That’s the last priority I want to mention: first the inside and then the outside.

Now, how does the world do it? The world has their priorities backward. The world tries to change men by starting on the outside and working toward the inside. The world has the idea that if you can take man out of a bad environment and put him in a good environment, you’re going to change the man. Question: Where did man get in trouble to begin with? In the Garden of Eden. Now, you can’t get a better environment than that. As Dwight L. Moody used to say, “You cannot purify the water by painting by pump.” It has to come from the inside. Man needs a birth, not a bath. He needs to be saved. He needs to be born again. He needs to be regenerated. You see, God works from the inside out. Man, with his twisted priorities, works from the outside in. And, by the way, this is the secret of learning victory. It’s to work on the inside. When you get the inside right, the outside follows. But, you’ll never work from the outside in.

I think I’ve used this illustration before, but if you’ll notice the trees in your yard, when the fall of the year comes, the leaves come off the trees. At a certain time they’ll begin to turn different colors, and then they finally turn brown; and then, they shrivel a little bit. And then, we get one of those nor’easters; and the wind blows, and the leaves just fall. But, if you go out in your backyard, or front yard—wherever that tree is—you’ll notice there are particular kinds of trees that all the leaves don’t fall off of. The leaves just kind of droop, and they just hang there. And, they will hang there all winter. And, when do those leaves fall? In the spring! In the spring! And, you know, do you know what causes those leaves to fall? It is the new life that is coming on, and it’s the new life that just pushes those leaves off.

I’ve seen people give their hearts to Christ, and a lot of leaves will fall. But, they still have some old habits, some old language, some old way of thinking. Do you know what they need to do? Just put their roots down deep in the soil of God’s Word, and absorb the strength and the life of Jesus, and springtime will come to their soul. And, those leaves fall off because they’re being pushed off by the new life that’s in Christ. First the inside and then the outside.

Conclusion
Go back to the question to begin with: Why did God make you? Friend, God had in mind a man, a woman. What did God have in mind? Well, He said He wanted someone to serve Him. Do you really believe that? That’s why He made you—to serve Him? Well, friend, He’d have been a lot wiser if He’d just kept on using the angels. They serve Him a lot better than we do. Now, yes, we ought to serve the Lord, but that’s not why He made us. Friend, He made us to know Him and to love Him, and He wanted to love us and fellowship with us. And, all of these other things still come and get in line behind that main thing: to know Him, and to love Him, and to have fellowship with Him. And, do you know where that begins? Listen to me carefully: that begins when you repent of your sin and receive Jesus Christ as your Lord and Savior.

I did that as a teenage boy. And, when I gave my heart to Jesus and got it settled, a river of peace started to flow in my soul, and it’s flowing there right now tonight. And, if I could give my heart to Jesus on your behalf, I would, I guess. I say, I guess I would. I don’t know whether I would or not. It would rob you of the joy. I can’t anyway. I can’t anyway. I’ve preached as best I know how. You, right now, can receive Christ and be saved. And, the Lord Jesus tonight—listen to me on the back row—He will save you tonight, He will save you instantly, and He will keep you saved eternally if you’ll trust Him.

Introduction

Thank you so much. Take your Bibles please and turn to the Gospel of Matthew chapter 5. Everyone has been very solicitous about my voice, and I appreciate that. I got some post-nasal drip last Sunday, and I preached vociferously three times in a row Sunday morning, and that did my voice in for last Sunday night. I so appreciate Tom Clayton, Jr., who preached in my stead and obviously did a better job than I would have done. And we just praise the Lord for that great message and anointing that God gave to our dear brother. But then in the meanwhile I’ve gotten both feet back in the stirrups and preached Wednesday night guardedly, and then Thursday, and then three times this morning, and then had a deacons meeting this afternoon. So I believe we'll make the message—I'm sure to your delight—short and sweet tonight.

So let’s look in Matthew chapter 5. Actually, our sermon title is “The Power of Proper Priorities.” I was thinking again that this the first Sunday of the New Year. So I thought we would think about some first things tonight. And I took my concordance and studied the Book of Matthew and found how Matthew has an unusual way of emphasizing the sayings of Jesus that deal with putting first things first. Now next Sunday night, God willing, and if the Rapture hasn’t come, and we’re all able to come, next Sunday night we want to bring our concluding message in the series on the Book of Revelation.
You know, for it seems like since Hector was a pup, we have been dealing with the Book of the Revelation, and for one reason or another various things have come along, and so we want to deal next Sunday, God willing, with the twenty-second chapter of the Book of the Revelation.

And then I am very excited about some new theories that I want us to study together. I want us to study together the life of David in the Old Testament. It’s been a blessing to my heart as I’ve been studying David. We’re going to be looking together at the life of David. And also in the Gospel of John—we’re going to be studying together the Gospel of John. I think that will be a good series from the Old Testament. And then again from the New Testament.

And then on Wednesday evening—we’re going to be looking on Wednesday evening at contemporary issues: challenges to the cross, challenges to Christianity. We’re going to be studying what the Bible teaches about such subjects as abortion, and homosexuality, and evolution, and church and state, and pornography, and gambling, and divorce, and all of these modern-day issues. And we’re going to try to hold up the Word of God and find what saith the Word of God on these issues.

And I’m excited about our study together on these issues. We’ll be delving into the Word of God on Sunday morning, and Sunday evening, and Wednesday evening. And I want you to make it your prayer and your resolution that you’ll be a part of these studies, and that you’ll come with a hungry heart, and with a smile on your face, and a friend by your side, and a prayer in your heart, and that we will be together the church that our Lord Jesus Christ wants us to be.

But tonight let’s be thinking for just a few moments about “The Power of Proper Priorities.” You know, most of our New Year’s resolutions go in one year and out the other. We make them, and then after a while we fail. And I think perhaps it’s because we make too many or perhaps we make them lightly. I’m not against making New Year’s resolutions. I’m frank to confess to you that I make them every year. And as I looked back at the end of this year, I found out that I didn’t do so good. I don’t know how you did, but I didn’t do so good. I made some progress, but I really didn’t live up to my expectation. So I’m starting all over again. God’s given me a brand spanking New Year.

But one of the things that I’m trying to do in my New Year, and I’d like to encourage you to do in your New Year, is to put first things first—to put first things first—just to get your priorities right. Really, that’s about all that living the Christian life is. I mean, when you get down to it and analyze it—I’ve been thinking about it—it is primarily a matter of getting your priorities in line: proper priorities.

Now I want you to notice in the Gospel of Matthew—and we’re going to stay primarily in the Gospel of Matthew—I want you to notice five powerful priorities that I think would be good for us, all of us, to set as our priorities for the coming year.

I. Be Reconciled to Your Brother

First of all—first of all—I want us to look in Matthew chapter 5, verses 23 and 24—Matthew chapter 5, verses 23 and 24: “Therefore if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee; leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way;”—now here’s our word; underscore it—“first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer your gift” (Matthew 5:23–24). First be reconciled to thy brother. Our first priority is to make certain that our fellowship is right with our brother before we endeavor to worship God: first your fellowship with your brother, and then your worship.

The Lord Jesus said if you come to church on some Sunday and you’re ready to put your tithe in the offering plate, and there you think and you consider, and there is a breech in fellowship between you and some brother or sister in the family of God, that you ought not to make that offering. You ought to just leave that offering. As a matter of fact, you ought to leave the worship service. Maybe some of you will get up and go before I’m finished preaching. You ought to just leave the worship service. Go find your brother. First be reconciled to your brother, and then make your offering.

Because you see, there’s a lot of what I want to call wasted worship. I mean you come to church on Sunday and you sing, but it doesn’t please God. You pray, but it gets no higher than the chandelier. You give, but God doesn’t accept it. Why? Because there is a biblical teaching that no man can be right with God who is consciously wrong with his brother. No man can be right with God who is consciously wrong with his brother.

And the Lord Jesus said if you come to church now and you’re getting ready to make an offering, and there the Holy Spirit reminds you that there is something between you and one brother or sister in this church, leave your offering. And I like that. That’s so wise of the Lord Jesus. He said, “Leave it.” Now the church can’t take it, but you can’t take it either. It’s tainted money. ‘Taint ours, ‘taint yours. You just leave it. Maybe we ought to have a special box, a fund somewhere where we just hold it in escrow. It can’t be spent. This man’s not right with God. He can’t spend it either. But just leave your money. First go and be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and make your offering.

Now notice it doesn’t say that if you’ve got something against somebody else, go see them. Now Matthew chapter 18 deals with that. But we’re in Matthew chapter 5, and this says it is if somebody has something against you. Or is there somebody who thinks they have something against you? Then you should go to them.

Is there somebody, who so far as you know is harboring ill feelings toward you? Go to them and seek a reconciliation. I want you to stop right now. Are there people holding things against you? Somebody that you’ve offended? Somebody that you’ve wronged? Some debt that you haven’t paid? Some harsh words that you’ve spoken? Some duty that you’ve failed to fulfill? Somebody that you wounded, hurt, slighted, overlooked? Is there? Do you feel that that person is out of fellowship with you? I want you as a brother or sister in this church to honestly consider if there is anybody like that that you know of. As a matter of fact, if it weren’t for the radio audience and this dead time, I would just stop right now and I’d just say let’s stop right now and let’s just take about three or four minutes, and let’s make everybody think.

Boy, we hate to do that, don’t we? It’s easier to take notes than it is to think. And I’d just make us think. I’m praying that even as I’m preaching that God the Holy Spirit will enable you to be thinking about those that the Holy Spirit may be laying on your heart, someone who has ought against you. Before you sing, before you pray, before you teach, before you give, before you worship, the Bible says, first, first, first, first be reconciled to your brother, and then carry on your worship with Almighty God.

Now let me tell you something, friend. There is no offering on earth that can be a substitute for getting right with your brother—no offering on earth. The Lord just says, “Leave it there, and go and get right.”

And make certain of your motivation when you go. What some people call burying the hatchet is just digging up more dirt. I mean they don’t really go to get right; they just go to tell their brother why they were right all along, and why the brother was wrong all along. No. Listen. Just go to be reconciled to your brother. Listen. If there is anything that grieves my heart as a father, it is to see any of my children who are out of fellowship one with the other. I’m certain if there is anything that grieves the heart of our great God, it would be to see any of His children out of fellowship with one another.

I’ve said it before, that the devil had rather start a church fuss than open a porno palace or sell a barrel of whiskey any day, amen? He really had. Oh, “Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!” (Psalm 133:1). First be reconciled to your brother.

II. Seek First the Kingdom of God
All right now, let me give you another priority here for the New Year. Look, if you will, please, in Matthew chapter 6 now and verse 33—the second of these powerful priorities that Jesus mentions in the Book of Matthew: “But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Matthew 6:33). This is one of the great, great promises of the Bible. It is the kind of promise about which that little old lady put “t” and “p” in her margin: “tried and proven”—“tried and proven.” “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.”

Now I spoke this morning of fear and worry. I want to tell you this verse is God’s cure for fear and it is God’s key for prosperity. Do you want to have a future free from fear? Do you want to have a prosperous New Year? This verse is God’s cure for worry and this verse is God’s key to prosperity. Do you know what much of our worry is? Plain and simply, just putting things first and God second—that’s all.

You see, God will not work in second place. He will not. I preached, you remember, last Sunday on putting Jesus first: “That in all things he might have the preeminence” (Colossians 1:18). He does not want a place in your life. He does not desire prominence in your life. He demands preeminence.

“Seek ye first”—seek ye first, seek ye first, seek ye first—“the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.” You say, “Why doesn’t Christianity work for me?” When all else fails, read the directions. Listen, friend. Matthew chapter 6, verse 33: “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.”

Are you really doing that? I mean, are you really? Modern Americans put things first and God second. Now the sin of worry is just another way of saying that things are first. Let’s back up. We’re in verse 33; let’s back up to verse 25. Let me tell you why you ought not to worry. Look here—Matthew chapter 6 and verse 25.

A. Worry Is Needless

First of all, worry is absolutely needless. Look in verse 25—Jesus said, “Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought”—that literally means “take no anxiety”—“for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than [food],”—or meat—“and the body than raiment?” (Matthew 6:25). Now worry is needless, number one, because Jesus said we don’t have to worry. It is absolutely needless. We have His assurance that He will take care of us.

B. Worry Is Senseless

But not only is it needless; it is senseless. Look in verse 26: “Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?” (Matthew 6:26). Now notice what Jesus is saying. Notice the logic. Your Father feeds the birds. Now He was talking to a farming people. Do you think there was a farmer who was listening to Him who would feed his chickens and let his children starve?

C. Worry Is Useless

You see what He’s saying? He is saying that worry, number one, is needless; number two, that worry is senseless. Number three: He says that worry is useless. Look in verse 27: “Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?” (Matthew 6:27). The best thing you can say about worry is that it does no good. Of course, the worst thing is that it does much harm. Worry is absolutely useless. It does no good at all. It doesn’t cure any problems. It doesn’t lift any burdens. It doesn’t wipe away any tears. It never has, it never can, it never will. Worry can’t make you any taller, can’t make you any shorter, can’t make you any fatter, can’t make you any thinner.

I reminded our staff in our staff meeting about the little lady who said, “Don’t tell me worry doesn’t do any good. Most of the things I worry about never happen.”

Oh, listen, friend. It is so senseless, and it is so, therefore, useless.

D. Worry Is Faithless

But go on. It is faithless. Look in verse 30, as we continue to read: “Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to day is, and to morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?” (Matthew 6:30). Worry is faithless. Worry is just the opposite of faith. Worry says, “Thou liest, O God,” when God says that He is going to take care of us.

E. Worry Is Excuseless

But since worry is so needless, and so senseless, and so useless, and so faithless, then worry is excuseless. Look, if you will, please, in verses 31 and 32: “Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? Or, What shall we drink? Or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? (for after all these things)—now watch it—“do the Gentiles seek:)” (Matthew 6:31–32). What Jesus is saying is worry is pagan. It is pagan. After these things do the Gentiles. And what He meant by Gentiles were the pagans who didn’t even know, who did not even believe. That’s the way an ungodly man lives.

He is so concerned about things, he puts things first and God second. And where you go hereafter depends upon what you go after here. You put things first, you’re going to go to hell. You put God first, you’re going to go to heaven. It’s just that plain.

“And…these things do the Gentiles”—the pagans—“seek.”

And so our Lord says, in this coming year, that first the spiritual, and then the material. Would you make up your mind to do that this coming year? Would you say, “My priority is to be in fellowship with my brother before I worship; secondly, my priority today is to be absolutely in spiritual fellowship with God so that I put the spiritual first and then the material”?

III. Cast the Beam Out of Your Own Eye

All right now, the third thing I want you to see. Turn, if you will, please, to Matthew chapter 7, and let’s begin reading verse 1. Again we’re going to see a very powerful priority. Jesus said, “Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again. And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother’s eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye? Or how wilt thou say to thy brother, Let me pull out the mote out of thine eye; and, behold, a beam is in thine own eye?” Now notice our priority in verse 5: “Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother’s eye” (Matthew 7:1–5).

The word beam and the word mote, so far as I can tell, this is the only time in the New Testament either of these words are used. But the word beam means exactly what we think: “a beam, a log, a crosstie, a great big board, a plank.” And the word mote means, “a speck, a piece of dust,” sawdust perhaps. And what our Lord is showing is the ridiculousness of a man tying to help somebody else get a piece of sawdust out of his eye when that man has a crosstie, a log, in his own eye. Jesus here is speaking in extremes, what the Bible calls hyperbole. Of course, no one could literally have a log in his own eye, but he could have one spiritually. And that’s what Jesus is talking about.

Now there’s a lot of misunderstanding here in Matthew chapter 7. The Lord is not saying that we ought not to try to get a mote out of our brother’s eye. As a matter of fact, we ought. Listen, friend. If I’ve got something in my eye, and you help me get it out, I thank you for it. We ought to help one another. Listen. If somebody stumbles or somebody falls spiritually, we ought to help them get right. The Bible says in Galatians 6, “Ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself” (Galatians 6:1). So we’re to help one another, and we’re to correct one another. We’re to lovingly guide one another. But what the Lord is talking about is the folly of being a hypocrite and judging somebody else before we first of all take care of our own lives.

The key is verse 5: “Thou hypocrite.” There is something about the hypocrite that has sin in his own life, and he can never see the sin in his own life; all he can do is just simply see the sin in his brother’s life—there is something about the sin of the hypocrite that blinds him. “Faults in others I can see, but praise the Lord, there’s none in me.” That’s the way the hypocrite is. He’s just so arrogant; he’s just so proud. He is ridiculous. Don’t tell me Jesus didn’t have a sense of humor. He talks about people gagging at a gnat and swallowing a camel (Matthew 23:24). Now that’s exactly what He’s talking about right here. Can you see that guy gulping a camel down, the tail going right on down? I mean, Jesus had a tremendous sense of humor. And again I believe this one laid them in the aisles when he was talking about a guy here with a log in his eye going about to perform surgery on some poor fellow who’s gotten a speck of dust in his own eye.

How blind we are! And what Jesus is doing is saying, dear friend: Don’t be so hardhearted. Don't be so faultfinding. Don't be such a critical person. Don't be such a hypocrite. He's not saying not to help your brother. He's saying, when you get the log out of your eye, you will see more clearly how to get the speck out of your brother’s eye.

He’s not saying, don’t do it. He’s saying, do it. But what is the log in our eye? What is this crosstie? What do you think it is? Do you think it is adultery or murder or something? No, no—not the crowd Jesus was talking to. If you knew the crowd that Jesus was talking to, He was talking to the Pharisees, and murder wasn’t their problem. Adultery wasn’t their problem. Sodomy wasn’t their problem. Thievery wasn’t their problem. Do you know what the log was that was in their eye? Pay attention, because some of you are liable to miss it also. The log that was in their eye was their attitude toward the speck that was in their brother’s eye. The log that was in their eye was the attitude they had toward the speck that was in their brother’s eye.

“I thank you, Lord, that I’m not as other men” (Luke 18:11). You see? That, my friend, is a worse sin than the sins of the flesh that so many people in that day were guilty of, but not the proud Pharisees. They were going around with a horrible, heinous, hurtful sin. And it was this: the sin of pride.

And God help us this coming year. There is one thing I don’t want to pastor: it’s a hardhearted church, a faultfinding church. I’m going to hold the standard up, and I’m going to preach the Word of God pure, plain, and powerful. And I’m not going to diminish it. But I want our church to be a church of love and openness, and I want the vilest and the deepest dyed in sin and the lowest and the most broken to come here and to know that they are loved. I don’t care who they are and what they have done.

And God forbid that we should sit around here with arrogant pride trying to help other people because they are such great sinners. No, no, no, no—first ourselves; first judge ourselves. First consider our own heart. First get right with God. And then God will help us indeed to go about doing some sawdust removing from the eyes of these who need it so very much.

IV. Bind Satan

Let me give you another priority here. Look, if you will, in Matthew chapter 12, and let’s begin in verse 22. The background of the verse that I’m going to read is that Jesus has healed a man that is blind and dumb. The Pharisees said that He healed this man by the power of Beelzebub, the prince of the devil. Now begin reading in verse 22, in Matthew chapter 12, and I’ll read all the way through verse 29 so you can get the thought: “Then was brought unto him one possessed with a devil, blind, and dumb: and he”—that is, Jesus—“healed him, insomuch that the blind and the dumb both spake and saw. And all the people were amazed, and said, Is not this the son of David?” That is a euphemism for the Messiah. “Is this not the Messiah?” “But when the Pharisees heard it, they said, This fellow doth not cast out [demons], but by Beelzebub the prince of the devils. And Jesus knew their thoughts, and said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and every city or house divided against itself cannot stand: and if Satan cast out Satan, he is divided against himself; how shall then his kingdom stand?” But now notice verse 27, “And if I by Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your children cast them out? therefore they shall be your judges. But if I cast out devils by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God is come unto you. Or else how can one enter into a strong man’s house, and spoil his goods,”—now here’s our priority—“except he first bind the strong man? and then he will spoil his house” (Matthew 12:22–29).

What is this priority? Listen, friend. First the binding of Satan, and then the loosing of the saint. This man who was blind and dumb was blind and dumb because of the power of the devil. That shows us that the devil does have the power to physically afflict people. Of course, not everyone who is dumb or inarticulate has a demon. Not everyone who is blind is blind because he or she has a demon. But there is the power of the devil to blind—the power of the devil to paralyze vocal cords, and so forth.

And Jesus, when He entered into this conflict, Jesus knew that He was not in battle with flesh and blood. Jesus knew that He was in a battle with the devil himself. And Jesus explained how He was able to deliver this man from the kingdom of Satan. Jesus had gone into Satan’s kingdom. Jesus had gone into Satan’s palace. Jesus had gone right into Satan’s treasure house, and Jesus had robbed Satan. Satan looked at this poor demon-possessed man who was blind and dumb as one of his own dirty playthings, as one of his treasures, as one of his toys. This man belonged to Satan, and Jesus went right into Satan’s home and stole that man away. Jesus took him from Satan. He robbed Satan of his treasure.

But how did He do it? Under the cover of darkness? Did Jesus sneak into Satan’s kingdom? No. It was what we would call today armed robbery. It was a strong-armed robbery. Jesus went in, knocked on the door. Satan came. Jesus laid hands on him and bound him hand and foot, left him writhing on the floor, and walked in and took what He wanted, and walked out. That’s the way Jesus dealt with Satan. He bound Satan and then He spoiled his house.

Now how are we to deliver souls from the power of the devil today? Jesus tells us we must first bind the strong man; then we can rob his house. I’m afraid that many of us when we are praying for unsaved friends and neighbors are directing our prayers many times in the wrong way. We are saying, “O God, help them to see, help them to see.” And they are blind and they cannot see, for “the god of this world hath blinded the minds... of them which believe not” (2 Corinthians 4:4), and what we need to do is to bind the blinder. Amen? What we need to do is to learn how that in our soul winning and all of these things we’re not in a battle with flesh and blood. “We wrestle not against flesh and blood” (Ephesians 6:12). We’re in the same battle that the Lord Jesus was in. We’re in a battle with Satan himself, and we will never rob his house until we first bind him.

Now how are we going to bind him? Well, look in Matthew 18. You’re in Matthew 12, just turn to Matthew 18, and let’s look in verse 18. Jesus said, “Verily I say unto you, whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven. Again I say unto you, That if two of you shall agree on earth as touching any thing that they shall ask,”—that is, in prayer—“it shall be done for them of my Father which is in heaven. For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them” (Matthew 18:18–20).

Jesus says that we can take the golden chains of His power and the cords of His love and His omnipotence and we can bind Satan with them. And we can take the key of faith and we can unlock the prison house of despair, and we can let souls go free. We can set them free, but not until we learn this thing of warfare. And when we get finished with the series that I mentioned to you, I’m working on a series on spiritual warfare, because friend, we’re in a battle. And we’d better learn that God has given to us the binding power and the loosing power: His power of attorney. And the same power that Jesus used in Matthew 12 He gave to the church in Matthew 18, and now we can bind, and now we can loose.

Are you picking up a theme that I found here in the Book of Matthew? Are you seeing what the Lord is saying? Are you seeing how powerful these priorities are? First of all, we must be right with our brother before we can worship. Secondly, we must put spiritual things before we put material things. And thirdly, ladies and gentlemen, as God’s people, we must first judge ourselves before we try to judge somebody else. And next, we must bind Satan before we try to loose sinners.

V. First the Inside, Then the Outside

Now let me just give you one more of these priorities and we’ll be finished. Turn, if you will now, to Matthew chapter 23—Matthew chapter 23—and let’s look in verse 25. My voice is getting better. I think I’ll just go right on. Praise the Lord! All right, Matthew chapter 23 and verse 25. You can’t drink yourself sober, but you can preach yourself strong. All right, Matthew chapter 23 and verse 25: “Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess. Thou blind Pharisee, cleanse first that which is within the cup and platter, that the outside of them may be clean also” (Matthew Here's one more powerful priority: first the inside, and then the outside—first the inside, and then the outside. Evidently the way men do dishes hasn’t changed in over 2,000 years, you’re saying. Here’s the man who does dishes. He gets all these dishes and just gives them a wipe on the outside and puts them on the shelf. Who wants to eat out of dishes like that? They may look good on the outside, but they are filthy on the inside. And Jesus says, “Any good housekeeper knows that when you do dishes, first you clean the inside, and then you clean the outside.”

Now what is He talking about? You see, when you just clean up the outside of your life, that’s reformation; but when you clean up the inside of your life, that’s regeneration. What Jesus is saying here to these Pharisees is they didn’t need another bath; they needed a new birth. You see, when we try to help men what do we do, we always start on the outside. We think if we can start with environment and food and clothes and education that we will change the man. It cannot be done—it cannot be done.

Nazi Germany had food, clothing, education. They had it all. I mean, do you think really that the need of our world is just to spray enough money over its problems and they will all go away? Do you really think that man’s problem is environmental? Not really. Friend, I want to tell you that it was in the Garden of Eden that man got in trouble in the first place. You’re not going to have a better environment than that. I am not saying that we ought not to help, out of compassion, to change man’s environment. If you think I’m saying that, you’re wrong. But I’m saying, ladies and gentlemen, that man needs more than soap and soup; he needs salvation. He needs a birth from above, not merely a boost from below. And Jesus said this: first the inside, then the outside. Man says, first the outside, perhaps it will change the inside. Oh, what Jesus was saying to these Pharisees and what He has been saying to this generation is that man needs a divine change, an inner change, an inner cleansing.

Now in my backyard I have a number of trees and Joyce and I enjoy our breakfast and our dinner watching the leaves fall in the fall of the year. But there are certain trees in my backyard that hold their leaves. And I’m not talking about the evergreens. I’m talking about there are certain kinds of oak or whatever they are. Their leaves wither and they turn brown, but those trees hold their leaves until the spring. Do you have any like that? Those leaves don’t fall. But you know what’s going to happen this spring? That new leaf comes on, it’s going to push that old leaf off.

And I want to tell you, ladies and gentlemen, that that’s exactly what happens to your old habits and your old life when you find the Lord Jesus. That new life pushes that old life off. It is not a matter of plucking off this leaf and knocking off that leaf, brushing off that leaf. You’ll never do it that way but of that new life in Christ when you receive Christ and you are born again.

Have you been born again? Don't try to be good without being born again. Some of you may be sitting here thinking, “You know, Brother Rogers, there are some things in my life, and honest to goodness, Brother Rogers, when I get them all straightened out, I’m going to walk down that aisle and give my heart to Jesus.” Friend, you'll wake up in hell and still won't have them all straightened out. Don’t try to grow up before you get born. First the inside, then the outside.

Conclusion

These are God’s powerful priorities. And I want to make them my priorities for the coming year.

Conclusion

Introduction

Would you take God’s Word and turn, please, to Matthew chapter 5. We’ve been on a journey throughout the Sermon on the Mount. The general title of this series is “Building on the Rock.” Today, we come to a very pertinent passage of Scripture—Matthew chapter 5, verses 27 and 28. Sunday before last, we spoke about verse 27. And now we move into verse 28. But I want to read both of them together: “Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not commit adultery: but I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.” (Matthew 5:27–28)

Now the Lord Jesus Christ is showing us here the heart of the problem. So what I want to speak to you about today is “Developing a Clean Thought Life.” Jesus Christ points out that the great pollution problem is not in the air, or in our streams, or in our forests, or in our fields, but in our hearts, or minds, or souls. And to be happy, to be useful, we must be pure and we must be clean on the inside.

Now it’s very important that you understand that it is what is in you that really counts. It has well been said that the child delights in what he has, a youth delights in what he does, and an adult delights in what he is. May that be true about us today—and especially those who are mature Christians. It is far more important to be something than it is to have something or to do something, and that thing that you are to do and to be is to be pure. You have got to change the inside before you can change the outside. It’s what’s on the inside that motivates you.

Vance Havner wrote a book called The Hidden Persuaders. And do you know what he said? He said more than ninety percent of the things that you buy, those purchases are based on emotion and impulse. Now that’s an amazing thing—more than ninety percent. There is a hidden persuader that is on the inside. What you think determines what you do.

That’s the reason that the biggest bunch of hypocrites in the world are these social scientists who tell us what a person sees does not affect them. If that is so, my dear friend, why will somebody pay one and a half million dollars for one minute of advertising in the Super Bowl? Would you pay 500,000 dollars for sixty seconds, if what people see does not affect what they do? Of course it does!

And Jesus knows that. And so our Lord here speaks about what happens on the inside. Now, my dear friend, we in America today have reached the bottom of the garbage can so far as pornography and solicitous materials is concerned. Madonna has recently released a $49.95 book entitled, I think, Sex. It’s a coffee table book, so I’ve heard. It has been said that it is something you put on your coffee table. More than 800,000 copies were released in the first printing; six languages; placed on the market.

James Dobson, our dear brother in Christ, who is the principal founder and speaker of Focus on the Family, said the Madonna book “is, without question, the most outrageous single event that has occurred in my lifetime…”—now that’s not just anybody saying that: that’s what James Dobson said—“the most outrageous single event that has occurred in my lifetime, with reference to teenagers especially.” “It is not just about airbrushed nudity,” Dobson said. “It’s not just soft-core pornography… It’s filled with perversions of the most explicit type…full frontal nudity cast in homosexual settings…sadomasochistic behavior with whips, knives, and chains…and clearly implied bestiality and pedophilia”—that is, sexual perversion with children. James Dobson said, “I am angry about those who are doing this to the younger generation.” Dobson noted that this book will be “seen by literally millions of kids” and will stir them “to do things that ultimately will destroy the family.” Dobson went on to say, “This is not just some porno queen.” He notes that millions of youth will “imitate Madonna—she has such influence with them.”

This is the problem of what is in the heart and what is in the mind. And that is the reason the Lord Jesus said, “Whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.”

I. What Is Wrong with Pornography?
Now, what is wrong with pornography?

A. Psychological Poison
Well, number one: It is psychological poison. It poisons the mind. Dr. Victor Klein, who is professor of psychology at the University of Utah, said there are four steps in pornography—and this is how the devil gets a claw in somebody’s brain. First of all, there is an addiction effect. Pornography is addictive like a drug is addictive. The individual—and it’s almost always a male—gets hooked on pornography. But it moves from addiction to escalation. And what he means by that is, it takes, in time, more deviant behavior, more explicit materials, for the person to get his kicks. Just like a drug, he has to go deeper and deeper, and move into more hard drugs, as he moves into more hard-core pornography: first, addiction; then, escalation; and then, thirdly, the person is desensitized. Dr. Klein said, “What was originally shocking; what was seen originally as anti-social; what was seen originally as depressing, becomes now acceptable, and the person is no longer shocked, no longer offended, by this material.” That is the third step. And then, he says, the fourth step is this: Almost invariably, the individual is tempted, and many times does act out what he sees. Now he may try to act that out with his partner, his wife; sometimes, other members of his family; sometimes, his children; to engage in sexual activities, many of which are deviant.

B. Social Sickness
It is psychological poison: first of all, addiction; then, escalation; and then, desensitization; and then, finally, dear friend, the acting out of this thing. But not only is it psychological poison; it is a social sickness. No less than a Harvard professor wrote a book in which he sees Americans as victims of a sex mania, and he says, as malignant as cancer.

Now there are those that will tell you, the eggheads will tell you, that pornography is a legitimate outlet to release tensions. Now if you believe that, you also believe, my dear friend, that you cure drug addicts with drugs; and you believe, dear friend, that you cure alcoholics with liquor; and you also believe that you put out a fire with gasoline. It is absolute nonsense to say such things.

Statistics tell us now that in America one out of every four baby girls will be sexually abused by an adult male. One baby boy in ten will be sexually abused by an adult male. A trained policeman said this: “Not everyone who reads pornography is a sex deviant. But every sex deviant reads it.”

C. Domestic Damage
Not only is there the psychological damage; not only is there the social damage; but, my dear friend, there is the domestic damage. Homes are being torn apart by this kind of thing. Dr. Robert J. Stoller, a psychiatrist, said this: “Hostility is the essential dynamic of all pornography.” God meant the sex act to express love between the man and his wife. And he uses that to show the great holy love of Christ toward us. And then Dr. Stoller said this: “If a man saturates his mind with pictures and stories of rape, torture, and murder in connection with sex, how is he likely to treat his own wife? What will he do to his children?” Any counselor can tell you the heartache, the devastation, to the home that has come through pornography. There is the domestic damage.

D. Spiritual Destruction
But, my dear friend, the most important thing is the spiritual destruction that comes by pornography and lust. James chapter 1, verses 14 through 16: “But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed. Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death.” Then James said, “Do not err, my beloved brethren.” (James 1:14–16) This is why Jesus Christ said, “Whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.” It is something that brings spiritual death. When it gets into your heart, it’s going to be expressed one way or another.

II. How Can You Keep Your Mind Pure?
Now people have tried all kinds of ways to be able to conquer lust. People have tried all kinds of ways to deal with this problem, because it is all around us. And, my dear friend, you cannot practice isolation, so you had better learn some kind of insulation, and you had better learn something that is going to protect you in this day when, as I have said, we have reached the absolute bottom of the garbage can. How can you keep your mind pure? Men have searched in caves and deserts, and remote islands and jungles and mountain peaks; they have sat, they have knelt, they have lain prostrate, they have swung from ropes, they have pierced themselves through with lances, they have endured all kinds of self-inflicted punishment, trying to get pure, trying to be pure, to no avail.

A little boy was asked to complete this proverb: “Cleanliness is next to…” He completed it this way: “Cleanliness is next to impossible.”

Well, maybe you feel that way. But, thank God, there is hope. The Lord Jesus Christ would never have given such a warning had there not been a way to escape. Our Lord said, “But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.”

Now having said that, I want us to leave the Sermon on the Mount and I want us to go to Psalm 119. And I want to show you from Psalm 119 how to do what Jesus says that you must do. And I want to give you three steps to keeping a pure heart. Now these are things that I have learned from the Word of God and tested by experience. Psalm 119, and I’m going to begin with verse 9. I want every dad to listen to this, because this is what you need to teach your son. I want every mother to listen to this. I want every teenager to listen to it. I want every grandparent to listen to it. We are dealing, my dear friend, with a very, very, very serious matter in America today. The battle today is for the mind, the heart, the soul—that is, the citadel. Now here is what David said in Psalm 119: “Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? by taking heed thereto according to thy word. With my whole heart have I sought thee: O let me not wander from thy commandments. Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee. Blessed art thou, O LORD: teach me thy statutes. With my lips have I declared all the judgments of thy mouth. I have rejoiced in the way of thy testimonies, as much as in all riches. I will meditate in thy precepts, and have respect unto thy ways. I will delight myself in thy statues: I will not forget thy word.” (Psalm 119:9–16) Now, my dear friend, beyond any shadow of any doubt or peradventure, the subject here is how to have a clean thought life. Beyond any doubt, look in verse 9: “Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way?”

Now I want to give you three steps, and I pray God the Holy Spirit will etch these things upon your consciousness and upon your mind. If you don’t need them, somebody you know needs them. And if you’re not having a problem with sexual lust, you can apply what I’m going to say to the problem of anger, or pride, or gluttony, or any other kind of problem. The principle is the same. So, let’s see what our Lord has to say.

A. Admit Your Problem and Get Clean
Number one: Admit your problem and get clean. Look in verse 9: “Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way?” Now when he says his way has to be cleansed, that means that he knows that the way is dirty. He must cleanse his way. Now, look at the word way. Do you see it? “Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way?” Do you see the word way there? The Hebrew word here has the idea of a rut—like a rut in a dirty road. It’s a groove. It is something that is a groove in one’s mind. A person with a filthy mind has a groove in his mind; he has a one-track mind. He has a muddy rut in his mind. And his thoughts always run in that way, just like the wagon wheels get down in the rut in a road. That’s what he’s talking about. He has a way.
Now you have to admit that there is something there that is wrong. It may be pornography. Or you may not be using pornography. It may be some thought process. It may be lusting after some secretary in your office. It may be your neighbor’s wife. Whatever it is—it may be some secret fantasy—but you must admit that you have this problem. If you don’t admit that you have the problem, if you do have the problem, you are never, never going to get help. You must admit your problem, and then get clean.

Now God will never cleanse an excuse, and God will never cleanse an alibi, but God will always cleanse a sin. And you can be clean. You can be clean today. I don’t care what your addiction has been. I don’t care what your problem has been. I don’t care what you’ve been looking at. I don’t care what you’ve been thinking. I don’t care what you’ve been feeling. I don’t care what you have been doing. You today can be as clean as the driven snow by God’s Word.

Now, listen: “Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? by taking heed thereto according to [the Word of God].” The instrument of cleansing is the Word of God. Now, my dear friend, if you don’t first of all get clean, you are never going to win the war. First of all, you must admit your problem and get clean. Jesus Christ said in John chapter 15 and verse 3, “You are clean. You are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you.” (John 15:3) And the word clean there is the word katharos. It is the word that we get catharsis from. Do you know what a catharsis is? A catharsis is a cleansing on the inside. Now Jesus will make you clean on the inside through His Word. “You are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you.”

Now I want you just to picture today the cleansing tides of Calvary and the fresh breezes of the Holy Spirit just blowing through you and washing over you and making you absolutely clean. First John chapter 1 and verse 9 says this: “If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all”—not some, but all—“unrighteousness.” (1 John 1:9) Every man, woman, boy, and girl here today can be absolutely, totally, perfectly, clean.

Imagine the Lord Jesus Christ coming into your temple and doing spring cleaning. Imagine the Lord Jesus Christ just coming in and cleansing your heart, your mind, your life; just cleaning it completely, and leaving it absolutely spotlessly, squeaky clean. Do you see? Before you can stay clean, you’ve got to get clean. There is no reason that anybody who’s listening to me today should not be absolutely, totally, pure and clean, for 1 John 1:9 says, “If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.”

Have you ever cleaned your garage? Once or twice, anyway? Or the storage room, or whatever that room is that tends to accumulate all those things? And one Saturday you go out there and you put it all up, and you sweep it out, and you get it just right, and it looks just right. And once it gets clean, then it’s so much easier to keep it clean. But if it’s not clean, then you just dump anything into it.

B. Affirm Your Purpose to Stay Clean

Now that’s what our Lord is saying here. First of all, you must get clean in order to stay clean. First of all, admit your problem. Say, “I do have a problem, Lord. I have a secret addiction. I have an inward moral impurity. It is there. I admit it is there. I know that I know that your blood is sufficient. Your Word, your promises, the authority of God’s Word will cleanse me and make me clean.” That is step number one. If you don’t take step number one, the rest of what I have to say will do you absolutely, totally, no good. Step number one: Admit your problem and get clean. Step number two: Affirm your purpose to stay clean. Admit your problem and get clean. Step number two: Affirm your purpose to stay clean. Look in verse 10: “With my whole heart have I sought thee: O let me not wander from thy commandments.” (Psalm 119:10)

Now the scourge of the twentieth century is half-hearted Christians. My dear friend, if you don’t get clean, then you’re not going to stay clean. But you can get clean and not stay clean unless not only do you admit your problem, but you affirm your purpose. You say with all there is of you and in you; every inch, every ounce, every nerve, every fiber, every corpuscle; with your whole heart, you seek God. Look in verse 10: “With my whole heart have I sought thee: O let me not wander from thy commandments.” Being halfhearted is an insult to God, and it does no good. There is a battle for your mind; and if you’re halfhearted, you’re going to lose it.

Listen to these verses. James chapter 1 and verse 8: “A double minded man is unstable in all of his ways.” (James 1:8) James 4, verse 8: “Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded.” (James 4:8) Listen to this. I am talking about a whole heart now. Deuteronomy chapter 4 and verse 29: “But if from thence thou shalt seek the LORD thy God, thou shalt find him, if thou seek him with all thy heart and with all thy soul.” (Deuteronomy 4:29)

Have you ever made up your mind, young man, that you’re going to get clean and stay clean? I mean, have you ever said, “I will, by the grace of God”? In Daniel chapter 1 and verse 8, the Bible says, “Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself.” (Daniel 1:8) Have you ever purposed in your heart? Have you ever said, “With my whole heart I am determined; by the grace of God I am determined I will not behave this way”? The Bible says in Job chapter 31 and verse 1—Job speaking, and he said—“I have made a covenant with my eyes. Why then should I look upon a maid?” (Job 31:1) What Job did was this. He said, “I have determined; I made a covenant with my eyes, I’m not going to do it.”

I want to tell you, I travel a lot. I go into hotel rooms and motel rooms. I don’t have to keep on making up my mind whether or not I’m going to watch pornography on television. I don’t have to keep making up my mind. I have made a covenant with my eyes. I have determined I will not do it. With my whole heart I have determined I will not do it. My dear friend, you have to come to that place. If you don’t come to that place, you are going to go down. You cannot be halfhearted about this thing. You and you alone must make a decision, and nobody else can make that decision for you. I am telling you, my dear friend, you must admit your problem and get clean. And, secondly—listen—you must, dear friend, affirm your purpose to stay clean. It must be a matter of your whole heart.

I read some years ago about the little ermine. The ladies had these ermine coats. The fur of the ermine is snow white. And years ago they would go into the wild to hunt the ermine and they would use dogs to hunt the ermine. And first of all, they would find the lair, the den, where the ermine would stay. And there would be a little small aperture, a hole, that the ermine would crawl into. They would find that place, and they would daub it with mud and filth and put it around the mouth of that den. And then when the dogs would come and trace that little animal, when he would come and he would see that filth there around his home, rather than running underground, he would turn and face the dog and fight to the death, because he would not defile himself; he would not defile his white coat with that filth. Isn’t that an amazing thing, that he would not defile himself? He would rather die than defile himself.

I wonder if you are that way. I wonder how important it is to you to be pure? Young man, do you really want to be pure? Young lady, do you want to be pure? Mister, do you want to be pure? Have you said what David said: “with my whole heart”? If you don’t say that, just forget it, my dear friend. You must admit your problem and get clean. And then, my dear friend, you must affirm your purpose to stay clean. If you don’t do it, you’re going down. And if there were ever a day, a generation of people that will go down, this is the day, and this is the generation.

C. Apply Your Protection to Keep Clean

Number three—here’s the third step: Not only must you admit your problem and get clean; number two, not only must you affirm your purpose to stay clean; but you must, number three, apply your protection to keep clean. It’s not enough to get clean. It is not enough to determine to stay clean. My dear friend, you need help, and you must apply your protection to keep clean. Now your protection is the Bible, the Word of God. Verse 9: “Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? by taking heed thereto according to thy word.” (Psalm 119:9)

Now, let me tell you how to use the Bible as an antidote against pornography. Let me tell you how to use the Bible as an antidote against lust. Let me tell you how to use the Word of God to purify your heart and to keep your heart clean and pure. Jesus said, “Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth.” (John 17:17)

Now, how? All right, here are the steps.

1. Memorize the Word of God

Number one: You must memorize the Word of God. Look in verse 11: “Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee.” (Psalm 119:11) Do you see it? That is black print on white paper, my dear friend. “Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee.” The Bible is your one true protection. If you do not load up on the Word of God, even though you may purpose to stay clean, you will not stay clean.

These hath God married, and no man shall part: Dust on the Bible, and sin in the heart.

My dear friend, you need to get into the Word of God.

Question: Do you have a daily quiet time with God? Do you have a time when you get alone with God? Do you have a time when you’re taking mega-doses of the Word of God? If not, no wonder that you are failing. No wonder that you are going down. You say, “Oh, the Bible is this; the Bible is wonderful; the Bible is good; the Bible is great.” I want to ask you a question. What is worth more: a gold nugget or a dime? You say, “Well, a gold nugget.” All right, let’s put them on the bottom of the ocean floor. Now, which one is worth more? Practically neither one. I mean, the Word of God is worth no more to you than a ten-cent novel, if you’re not reading it; I mean, if you’re not putting it in your heart and in your mind. You should memorize the Word of God. Get it down in your heart.

Now, why does that change you? Well, listen to Philippians chapter 4 and verses 8 and 9. Don’t turn to it. Just listen to it: “Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things.” And all of those things are found in the Word of God. That’s a description of the Lord Jesus Christ. And then Paul said, “Those things, which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God of peace shall be with you.” (Philippians 4:8–9) God says, “Listen. Fill your mind with that which is right.”

I have told you many, many times from this pulpit that the gracious and good and wise God has made us where we can’t think two thoughts at one time. And if you’re thinking what you ought to think, you cannot be thinking what you ought not to think. And what you ought to think is the Word of God. And you must hide God’s Word in your heart: things that are pure, just lovely, virtuous things. “If there be any praise, think on these things.” You are to load up on the Word of God; and not just read it, but memorize it. Commit it to memory.
Now there is an ocean parasite that feeds on plants and mollusks and these things. And first of all, that parasite attacks the shell, the muscle that holds the shell tight, and it weakens that muscle. And then, when the muscle is relaxed, it goes in and feeds on the animal itself. An impure thought is like that parasite.

And, my dear friend, you’ve got to have an antidote; you’ve got to have something that you are thinking. Load up on the Word of God. I try every night; as I go to sleep, my last thoughts are the Word of God. I take a verse of Scripture and I think about it and I meditate it on it. And when I wake up in the morning, my first thought generally is the Word of God and a word of praise to our Lord. You must, my dear friend, memorize the Word of God.

2. Personalize the Word of God
Secondly, not only must you memorize the Word of God; you must personalize the Word of God. Look in verse 12: “Blessed art thou, O LORD: teach me thy statutes.” (Psalm 119:12) What good is it to memorize it, if you don’t understand it? My dear friend, not only must you memorize it; you must personalize it. Facts from the Bible are not enough—even wonderful facts. You cannot separate the Word of God from the God of that Word. And God must take that Word and teach it to you. And He will teach it to you.

I heard of a new Christian who had a friend named Charlie. And Charlie was his discipiler and teaching him what the Bible said. And this man would go and sit at Charlie’s feet, and Charlie would say, “It means this,” and Charlie would say, “It means that.” And Charlie was a good Bible teacher. And one day the man was reading the Bible, and he didn’t understand it, and he said, “Oh, I wish Charlie were here.” And he said, “It seemed like the Holy Spirit said, ‘Why don’t you ask me? I’m the one who taught Charlie.’”

My dear friend, listen. God wants to teach you the Word of God. If you would pray this prayer, “O God, teach my thy Word; Lord, I want to know your Word”—it’s not enough to memorize it; my dear friend, personalize it. Let me give you five little steps as you read any passage. Just ask yourself: Is there a lesson to learn? Is there a sin to avoid? Is there a blessing to enjoy? Is there a promise to claim? Is there a new thought to carry with me? If you’ll just use those five questions, almost any passage of Scripture will just burst aflame. “Teach me, O God, thy Word.”

3. Verbalize the Word of God
You must memorize the Word of God. You must personalize the Word of God. Number three: You must verbalize the Word of God. Look in verse 13: “With my lips have I declared all the judgments of thy mouth.” (Psalm 119:13) Now, my dear friend, when you memorize it, and when you personalize it, then begin to share it. Begin to verbalize it. Begin to speak it.
Do you see confession and possession are linked? Take the Word of God. When everybody else is cursing and swearing and telling dirty stories, begin to articulate the Word of God. Use it in your prayer. Use it in your praise. Use it in your testimony. Speak to yourself, and God's Word will move from your heart to your lips, and from your lips back to your heart again. And the more of the Word of God you give away, the more the Word of God will stick to you. This is what the Bible calls in the book of Revelation the word of our testimony. And the Bible says concerning the devil, “They overcame him with the word of their testimony.” (Revelation 12:11) That is the reason that Brother Jim teaches us to sing Scripture, to have these Scripture songs that we sing. That is the reason we encourage you to give your testimony: to memorize the Word of God, to personalize the Word of God, so you can verbalize the Word of God.

We need to speak, share, and sing the Word of God. The Psalmist said, “His praise shall continually be in my mouth.” (Psalm 34:1) And you say, what is all of this about? My dear friend, it's about staying clean and pure in a vile and a filthy world. That's what it's about.

4. Vitalize the Word of God
Memorize the Word. Personalize the Word. Verbalize the Word. Number four: Vitalize the Word. Look, if you will, in verses 14 and following: “I have rejoiced in the way of thy testimonies, as much as in all riches.” Is that true to you? Do you really rejoice in God's Word? Does God's Word mean more to you than any other possession that you could possess? David said so: “I have rejoiced in the way of thy testimonies, as much as in all riches. I will meditate in thy precepts, and have respect unto thy ways.” Do you stand in awe of the Word of God? Do you have respect unto God's ways? Look in verse 16: “I will delight myself in thy statutes: I will not forget thy word.” (Psalm 119:14–16) Now, look at these words. Verse 14: rejoice. Look in verse 15: respect. Look in verse 16: delight. What I'm trying to say is just vitalize the Word of God. Just understand how wonderful it is.

Do you know what an impure mind is? Do you know what it is? It is the mind trying to find contentment some other place. I mean, you have bought into the devil's lies that, “This is where the joy is; this is where the fulfillment is; this is where the riches are; and if you don't get to this place and do these things, then you are going to miss out.” My dear friend, you are not going to miss out when you have the Lord Jesus Christ.

Don’t feel sorry for me because I’m a Christian. Hey, kids, don’t feel sorry for me because I don’t do these things. And by the way, you say, “Well, you’re just an old fogey; you’re just so old: it doesn’t make any difference to you.” I want to tell you, when I was a teenager living for Christ in high school, I was the president of my high school class; I was the captain of my football team. And I don’t say that to brag, but I want to tell you, my dear friend, I was living for Jesus then and leading my schoolmates in prayer; and I stayed pure and went to the marriage altar pure—and I’m glad I did. And I’ll tell you why. All of these years I have found joy and fulfillment in the Lord Jesus Christ. To have a respect unto God’s Word, to rejoice unto God’s Word, to know the riches of God’s Word, my dear friend, vitalize it. Don’t you sell out too cheap. And don’t you sacrifice the important upon the altar of the immediate. So, find fulfillment in the Lord Jesus.

5. Internalize the Word the God
Now, here’s the last thing. Now, listen. Not only do you vitalize it; but, oh, my dear friend, you must internalize it. Look in verse 15 now: “I will meditate in thy precepts.” (Psalm 119:15)

Do you see that? Do you know what meditation is? It has two ideas. One is the idea of rumination, or chewing the cud. They say a cow has four stomachs, and it will go out there in the field and load up on alfalfa and hay and clover and Bahia and whatever, and put these things in various stomachs. And then the cow goes out and will lie down under a tree and get to thinking about that clover, and say, “Clover, please,” and some clover comes up, and he chews that clover. And then he says, “Alfalfa, please,” and that comes up, and he chews that. You’ve seen the cow just ruminating and chewing the cud, because the cow, she has assimilated that: it is down there to be drawn upon.

Or again, the word meditate has the idea of humming. Have you ever had a tune get into your head and you just couldn’t get it out, and you go around all day long just humming a tune? The Word of God is to be that way.

How important is meditation? Look, if you will, in Psalm 119, verse 23: “Princes also did sit and speak against me: but thy servant did meditate in thy statutes.” (Psalm 119:23) Look, if you will, in verse 48: “My hands also will I lift up unto thy commandments, which I have loved; and I will meditate in thy statutes.” (Psalm 119:48) Look, if you will, in verse 97: “O how I love they law! it is my meditation all the day.” (Psalm 119:97) Look in verse 148: “Mine eyes prevent the night watches, that I might meditate in thy word.” (Psalm 119:148)

Meditate! Meditate! Meditate! That, my dear friend, is when you internalize the Word of God. And for you to meditate, it takes time. It takes quietness. It takes concentration. And that is why you need that quiet time. But not only do you do that in your quiet time; then it stays with you all the day long.

Have you ever driven a stick-shift automobile? When you first get that stick-shift automobile, you say, “Now, what is this? That’s first, second, third, fourth. How does it work?” You know, you’re just going through that thing of remembering to put the clutch in and all that. But after a while, if you drive an automobile like that, you never think about that anymore; it’s just second nature. You can’t even tell yourself that you are shifting gears; you’re just in there putting in the clutch, doing this and that. Just a second nature thing, isn’t it?

You get to be a second-nature Christian when you meditate on the Word of God. You don’t even stop and say, “Now, why am I doing this? What must I do, and what must I not do?” You just have the Word of God. It’s such a part of you that you don’t even have to say, “I will,” or, “I won’t”: you just do because the Word of God is in you. You have internalized the Word of God. The Word of God is such a part of you that, my dear friend, your mind is under the blood, your mind is empowered by the Spirit, and your mind is filled with the Word of God. And then you are a victorious person. And then, my dear friend, you can practice what the Lord Jesus teaches you to practice—and that is a godly Christian home: one man for one woman till death do them part.

Conclusion

And all this junk about “safe sex” is a crock. Listen to me, my dear friend. That’s like talking about safe sin. There is no such thing. It is sacred sex—which is the best sex. And God says, “Thou shalt not commit adultery.” (Exodus 20:14) He’s not trying to keep sex from you; He’s trying to keep sex for you. God loves you. It is one of His greatest gifts. And don’t mess it up. And don’t you blow it. And if you have, my dear friend, admit your problem and get clean. And then, dear friend, affirm your purpose to stay clean. And then, apply your power to keep clean, which is the Word of God. Get that Word of God in your heart. Let it flow through you. And don’t tell me it won’t work if you haven’t tried it. “Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? by taking heed thereto according to thy word.” (Psalm 119:9)

Introduction

Take God’s Word and turn to Matthew chapter 5, would you, please. We’re continuing our series, “Building on the Rock,” as we are studying the Sermon on the Mount. Last week, you will remember that we talked about that it is what is on the inside that counts. Our Lord looks past the act, and our Lord looks right on the heart, and He deals with the attitude. And today that is so clear. Matthew chapter 5—we’re going to read verses 27 and 28. The title of our message today is, “Winning the Battle for the Home.”

A war has been waged on America’s homes, and we are at a crisis point, and never
I have dealt with a more pertinent scripture than the scripture we have today. Jesus said, “Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not commit adultery: but I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart”—“in his heart.” (Matthew 5:27–28)

We are in a crisis in America today—a crisis that deals with the matter of moral purity and the sanctity of the home. And I don’t mind telling you that my heart is broken. It seems as though a sewer pipe has broken and is spewing filth all over God’s blessed America. And I was thinking yesterday about that passage of Scripture in Ezra chapter 9 and verse 6, where Ezra said, “O my God, I am ashamed and blush to lift up my face to thee, my God: for our iniquities are increased over our head, and our trespass is grown up unto the heavens.” (Ezra 9:6) Ezra said, “O God, I am ashamed to even to look into your face, because of the sin of my nation.” He said, “O my God, I blush.” Thank God that he could blush. Many people in America have become a generation of unblushables.

When I’m talking about sexual morals, I’m not just talking to you about a thing of niceties. I’m not just talking to you about a matter of manners. I’m not just talking to you about something that deals with taste. I’m talking to you about something that is at war against the basic unit, the fabric, of our society.

God built the home before he instituted government and before he built the church. And God’s plan is one man for one woman until death do them part, in a monogamous marriage. And the Bible says, in Genesis chapter 2 and verse 24, “Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh.” (Genesis 2:24) My dear friend, that is God’s eternal plan. And that’s why the Lord Jesus Christ clearly said, without equivocation, stutter, or stammer, “Thou shalt not commit adultery.” (Exodus 20:14)

But the devil—the devil—has aimed the artillery of hell against your family, against your home, against my family, against our homes, because the devil knows that if he can hurt us at home, he can hurt us all over. Satan’s plan has always been, number one, to deny God. That’s not a mere superstition. And, once he has denied God, he wants to debase man and make man a mere animal. And if there is no God, and if man is the product of blind evolution, it follows—one, two, three—you deny God, you debase man, then, my dear friend, you deny morals; there is no fixed standard of right and wrong. And, after you have done that, you destroy the home. And, after you have done that, you dominate society. And Satan is well on his way.

Very frankly, that is one of the reasons that we are building our Family Life Center. Next Sunday is Love Offering Sunday, and I pray God that this message will impel your heart to say, “Yes, pastor, I do want to stand with my church. I want to stand with my pastor. I want to obey my God and do all that I can do to build the families of Bellevue.
Baptist Church.”

Nothing tears at the fabric of society any more than sexual immorality, moral impurity. Gibbon, who wrote The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, and gave those reasons for the fall of the Roman Empire, put at the very top of his list of reasons the breakdown of the home through sexual and moral impurity. It is a known sociological fact that those who treat sex lightly will treat other human beings lightly.

With that in mind, having looked at this passage here in Matthew chapter 5, I want you to go now to the Old Testament. I want you to turn to the book of Proverbs. And in the book of Proverbs, I want to give you five factors—five factors—that will help you to build and maintain moral purity and keep your home as it ought to be. And I want every teenager here to open his or her Bible to Proverbs chapter 5. And I pray God that the Holy Spirit will emblazon these truths upon your heart, will etch them into your consciousness, and cause them to reverberate through your soul. Here are five factors for the maintenance of sexual purity, and therefore, a building of a strong family. Five things that I want you to remember. I want every father to write these things down. I want every mother to remember these things. I want every teenager to listen carefully.

I. The Instruction Factor: Learn Godly Wisdom

Number one: you need to remember the instruction factor—the instruction factor—and learn godly wisdom. Look in Proverbs chapter 5, verses 1 and 2: “My son, attend unto my wisdom, and bow thine ear to my understanding: that thou mayest regard discretion, and that thy lips may keep knowledge.” (Proverbs 5:1–2) Now all of this is in the context of sexual purity. We often hear the statement, “What you don’t know can’t hurt you.” Very frankly, that’s stupid. What you don’t know may kill you. And we have families that are failing, primarily, for a lack of wisdom, discretion, understanding and knowledge.

And where, my dear friend, are we going to learn? Are we going to learn at the university from the professor of sociology who teaches humanistic hogwash in the halls of higher learning? Are we going to learn for the rantings of the baby butchers called Planned Parenthood? Is that where we are going to learn? Where are we going to learn? Are we going to learn from the money-grabbing moguls of dirt for profit in Hollywood? Where are we going to learn? Are we going to learn from those eminent theologians Geraldo, Leno, Donahue, and Hefner? Are these the ones who are going to teach us? Where are we going to learn?

God is saying here, in Proverbs chapter 1, that we are to bow our ear to God’s understanding. God has a way. God has a plan. Listen to Proverbs chapter 6 and verse 32. Turn to that and look at it: “But whoso committeth adultery with a woman lacketh understanding…”—do you know what that says? It says, my dear friend, that immorality is stupid. If that hurts your feelings, you come up to me after the service and apologize, and I’ll forgive you—“whoso committeth adultery with a woman lacketh understanding:”—you just simply do not know—“he that doeth it destroyeth his own soul. A wound and dishonour shall he get; and his reproach shall not be wiped away.” (Proverbs 6:32)

Now the very first thing, my dear friend, is the instruction factor. You need to be instructed; you need to learn. And we need to teach in our churches today with no uncertain sound. We have social engineers today who put the Bible out of school. They put sex education with condoms and birth control and abortion without parental consent into school. We’ve taken the Ten Commandments down from the walls and put policemen in the halls. Where are we going to learn?

My dear friend, God has given us a book; God has given us an instruction manual. And the very first factor, my dear friend, is the instruction fact. We need to learn godly wisdom: “My son, attend unto my wisdom, and bow thine ear to my understanding: that thou mayest regard discretion, and that thy lips may keep knowledge.” (Proverbs 5:1–2)

And so the very first factor is the instruction factor: you need to learn godly wisdom.

II. The Deception Factor: Beware of Devilish Snares
The second factor that you need to be aware of is the deception factor—just the opposite of the instruction factor. Remember the deception factor, and beware of Satan’s snares. Now, continue to read in verse 3—Proverbs 5 and verse 3: “For the lips of a strange woman drop as an honeycomb, and her mouth is smoother than oil: but her end is bitter as wormwood, sharp as a two-edged sword. Her feet go down to death; her steps take hold on hell. Lest thou shouldest ponder the path of life, her ways are moveable, that thou canst not know them.” (Proverbs 5:3–6) And here he’s talking about satanic deception. He’s talking here about the ways of Satan to ruin your life. And he talks about an immoral woman. Satan is too clever to go fishing without any bait on his hook. And so, like any fisherman, Satan deceives, first of all, with allurement; and then entrapments; and then enslavement.

A. Frivolity
Now, notice what Satan does. Notice his fatal trap. Look, first of all, in verse 3: “For the lips of a strange woman drop as an honeycomb.” (Proverbs 5:3) Now, what’s he talking about there? Her lips are sweeter than honey. Ol’ Honey Lips: that’s her name. That’s what we call her. The sweetness just flows out. I mean, it seems so wonderful. Immorality, to so many people, seems so good. I was talking to a man, and he said to me as he was living this kind of a life, he said, “How could anything so wonderful as this be wrong?” The Bible says, “The bread of deceit is sweet, but afterward a man’s mouth shall be filled with gravel.” (Proverbs 20:17)
B. Flattery

First of all, there’s this frivolity, this fun, this rush, this thrill. Here she is: she’s honey lips. And then, not only is there that frivolity; there’s that flattery. Look, if you will, in the last part of verse 3: “Her mouth is smoother than oil.” (Proverbs 5:3) She knows how to give him the “come hither.” And, of course, if Solomon had been talking to a daughter, he would talk about the man and his line—the flatterer. Many people are very susceptible to flattery. A little flattery now and then makes big fools of little men. This is the reason that you need a quiet time. This is the reason that in the morning you need to spend time with God, mister, before you go to work.

Look, if you will, in Proverbs 6, verse 23—look at it: “For the commandment is a lamp; and the law is light; and reproofs of instruction are the way of life: to keep thee from the evil woman, from the flattery of the tongue of a strange woman.” (Proverbs 6:23) There is nothing, sir, that will protect you more from immorality, from the flirtation of that woman that works next to you, than to load up in the morning early with the Word of God, to go out of your house with the Word of God in your heart. Listen to it again: “For the commandment is a lamp; and the law is light; and reproofs of instruction are the way of life: to keep thee from the evil woman, from the flattery of the tongue of a strange woman.”

Now, every now and then, we hear about some man, sometimes even a minister, a preacher, or somebody, who fell, and they say, “Oh, isn’t that terrible?” Maybe a deacon, maybe a church worker—they say, “Isn’t that terrible? Look how far he fell.” Well, friend, you may not know how low he was living. He didn’t fall that far. He had failed to keep himself in the Word of God, and to be loading up and storing up the Word of God.

C. Vitality

First of all, there’s that frivolity: Ol’ Honey Lips. Then, there’s that flattery: her mouth is smoother than oil. But there is that vitality. Look in verses 4 and 5: “But her end is bitter as wormwood, sharp as a two-edged sword. Her feet go down to death; her steps take hold on hell.” (Proverbs 5:4–5) What a deadly power this sin has! Nothing is more destructive. Sin fascinates, and then it assassinates. It thrills, and then it kills. Her steps take hold on hell. It brings death: death to your joy, purity, happiness; death to the home; spiritual death, physical death, eternal death.

III. The Protection Factor: Avoid Dangerous Situations

Oh, my dear friend, there is the instruction factor: Learn godly wisdom. There is the deception factor: Beware of devilish snares. Here’s the third factor. It is the protection factor: Avoid dangerous situations. Proverbs chapter 5, verses 7 and 8—look at it: “Here me now therefore, O ye children, and depart not from the words of my mouth. Remove thy way far from her, and come not nigh the door of her house.” (Proverbs 5:7–8)

I hope that every young man in this congregation has underlined that right now in his Bible. You say, “Well, I don’t think that I have to worry about that.” My dear friend, Oswald Chambers has said a long time ago, “An unguarded strength is a double weakness.” Did you hear that? I want every deacon to listen to me. I want every godly teacher listening to me by television to remember this. “An unguarded strength is a double weakness.” And the Bible says, “Let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall.” (1 Corinthians 10:12)

Now this sexual immorality, this is not a sin that we are told to fight; it’s a sin that we are told to flee. Look in verse 8: “Remove thy way far from her, and come not nigh the door of her house.” Don’t even walk past her house. Let me give you some other verses to put into your margin. Second Timothy chapter 2 and verse 22: “Flee also youthful lusts.” (2 Timothy 2:22) “Flee,” the Bible says. Be a coward again. First Corinthians 6, verse 18: “Flee fornication. Every sin that a man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body.” (1 Corinthians 6:18) “Flee fornication.” “Flee youthful lusts.” Don’t even come near her house. The Bible says, “There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape.” (1 Corinthians 10:13) And, my dear friend, often the way to escape is two legs—the King’s highway—and a hard run. You just get out of there. You saturate that place with your absence. You don’t hang around those kinds of places. You don’t hang around that kind of literature. You don’t go to those kinds of movies. You don’t do it. You just simply don’t do it.

Joseph, in the Bible, was a holy man. There was a woman who wanted to seduce Joseph. It was Mrs. Potiphar—Potiphar’s wife. Joseph was like a servant in the house. Mrs. Potiphar tried to entice Joseph to come to bed with her. And Joseph, when he realized what was happening, he began to leave the room. She reached out and took hold of his garment. And he left his coat there and fled. And he’s still holy; he’s still pure.

Now some people might laugh at him, and call him Holy Joe. But he is holy. I thank God for that. I know some stupid people—and, yes, I’m going to use the word stupid—some of them who call themselves Christian counselors and pastors and leaders and so forth, who would have said, “Now, Mrs. Potiphar, you should not act this way. Let’s you and I kneel down by the bed and pray about this.” Joseph didn’t do that. Joseph did not begin to fight this temptation. He fled. “Flee youthful lusts.”

I know what the temptation of the flesh is. I’m a man. But I thank God that I went to the marriage altar a virgin. When I was in college, I had this motto on my desk: “He who would not fall down ought not to walk in slippery places.” Flee. “Flee fornication.” That’s what the Bible says. The Bible says, don’t even come near her house. Don’t even come near that company. Just get away.

Let me give you men—businessmen, ministers, deacons, and others—some rules. Never visit the opposite sex alone at their home. Don’t do it. Never counsel with the opposite sex alone in your office. If you do that counseling, your secretary’s next door, the door is slightly ajar. Never go to lunch alone with the opposite sex. There’s no reason to do it. You don’t have to do it. Don’t do it. Never discuss detailed sexual problems with the opposite sex. Don’t playfully or good-naturedly flirt with the opposite sex. Don’t say little cute things like, “Why don’t you leave that guy your married to and come run away with me?” You may think it’s funny, but, my dear friend, it plants a seed in the mind that Satan wants to water and cultivate. You don’t have to call that waitress “sweetheart.” Call your wife “sweetheart.” You don’t have to call that waitress “darling” or “dear.” Save those words for your wife.

Be careful what you put in your mind. As a matter of fact, the next message is going to be “How to Deal with the Thought Life.” We’re going to be dealing with immorality and pornography and all of this, and how to keep your thought life pure. For Jesus Christ said, “Whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.” (Matthew 5:28) And we’re going to talk about how to handle lust. And that will be the next message. I don’t even have time to get it all into this message today.

IV. The Destruction Factor: Consider the Deadly Consequences
But, my dear friend, you remember the instruction factor. You remember the deception factor. Remember the protection factor. Just simply give a wide berth to this: “Flee fornication.” And then, in order to help you do that, you need to remember the destruction factor—the destruction factor—and consider the deadly consequences. What are the consequences of immorality? Why does God say that it is stupid? You say, “It’s the in thing to do.” God says it is stupid. You lack understanding. Let me give you some reasons.

A. Dissipation

Well, first of all, there’s dissipation. Look, if you will, in verses 9 and 10. He says, “Don’t come near the door of her house,”—“lest thou give thine honour unto others, and thy years unto the cruel: lest strangers be filled with thy wealth; and thy labours be in the house of a stranger.” (Proverbs 5:9–10)

Now sin is costly. Sin does not pay. It costs. I think of a man in this city that I knew and loved well. He was a dear friend, a professional man. He had one of the most beautiful homes in this city, one of the finest families in this city. He professed to be a Christian, but he worked side by side with a beautiful woman, and before long those threads of flirtation began to be woven into a cord, and then a chain of bondage. And this man got into deep sin and immorality. It broke my heart to stand by: to do all that I could do, but I could not stop this man. Today that man has lost his business. Today that man has lost his family. Today that man has lost his home. Today that man has lost his reputation. He has lost his children. Those children are calling somebody else “Daddy.” It breaks my heart.

I know of ministers who bought a tombstone for their ministry, and I know of businessmen who have absolutely ruined their career. What a colossal waste!

B. Disease

That’s what God is saying first of all: there is dissipation. Verse 9: “You give honor unto others and your years unto the cruel.” But not only is there dissipation; there is disease. Look, if you will now, in verse 11: “And thou mourn at the last, when thy flesh and thy body are consumed.” (Proverbs 5:11)

You’re saying, “Is AIDS the judgment of God?” My dear friend, it is the consequence of sin. It’s the consequence of sin. You say, “Does everybody who has AIDS a sinner?” Of course not! Is every child that’s killed by a drunken driver guilty of drunkenness? Of course not! Of course not! But, my dear friend, I have an announcement, and I would to God I could get on ABC, CBS, and NBC, and CNN, and tell the world I have the answer to the AIDS epidemic. I have the answer. I, Adrian Rogers, I have the answer. And you guys in the laboratory, and you guys at the White House, and all of you social engineers, I have the answer. Just live by this book. That’s it. I mean, they are running around saying, “What is the answer?”—“What is the answer?” I’ll tell you the answer: one man for one woman till death do them part. That’s the answer. You say, “Well, that’s too simple.” Yes, but it is God’s Word, and God said, “And you will mourn at the last, when your flesh and your body are consumed.” We have these high-powered drugs, and yet we are in a sexually transmitted disease epidemic that’s ten times greater than it was a few years ago.

C. Disappointment

First of all, there’s dissipation. Secondly, there is disease. Thirdly, there is disappointment. Look, if you will, in verses 12 through 13: “And [you’ll] say, How have I hated instruction, and my heart despised reproof; and have not obeyed the voice of my teachers, nor inclined mine ear to them that instructed me!” (Proverbs 5:12–13) One of these days, there will be some of you sitting in this place today who will say, “Why didn’t I listen to the pastor? Why did I not listen to the Word of God?” My dear friend, you are going to be so disappointed. You’re going to live the life. You’re going to say, “This is the way to joy; this is the way to happiness; this is the way to fulfillment.” But it is not.
The Living Bible translates this verse this way: “Oh, if only I had listened! … Why wouldn’t I take advice?”

People say this is what liberates. It doesn’t liberate. Sweden has an open society. They have been liberated sexually, but no nation has a higher suicide rate than Sweden does. Satan offers high wages, but he pays in counterfeit money. There is that disappointment. You get what you want, and you’re not going to want what you get.

D. Disgrace

And then, number four, there’s disgrace. Look, if you will, in verse 14: “I was almost in all evil in the midst of the congregation and assembly.” (Proverbs 5:14) What does that mean in plain English? The Living Bible says, “For now I must face public disgrace.” You can only hide it so long. One of these days, sir, God is going to expose you. One of these days, young lady, your sin is going to be made known. If not here, at the Final Judgment, for Luke chapter 12 and verse 2 says, “For there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed; neither hid, that shall not be known.” (Luke 12:2) What a disgrace that’s going to be! Your wife, your children, your parents, your pastor, your friends, will know. You will not be able to hide this sin. You may be hiding it now, but sooner or later it will be made known. That’s what verse 14 is talking about.

I remember reading about a newspaper that had this motto: “If you don’t want it printed, don’t let it happen.” My dear friend, if you do not want this known, then repent of it, and be done with it—or never get into it—because there is that disgrace.

E. Dominion

And then, number five: not only is there that disgrace; there is that dominion. Look, if you will, in verse 22, and he goes on to say, “His own iniquities shall take the wicked himself, and he shall be holden with the cords of his sins.” (Proverbs 5:22) I don’t know of any other sin that enslaves like the sin of immorality. There is a dominion; there is a person who is held, is entrapped, by this sin.

I have in my counseling dealt with those who have been living a life of immorality. I would sit down and pray, and I would say, “Son, do you see this is wrong? I’m thinking of one fine young man that I dealt with. Son, do you see this is wrong?” “Yes sir.” “Do you realize that God loves you?” “Yes sir.” “Do you know that God wants the best for you?” “Yes.” “Don’t you want the best for your wife and children?” “Yes, I do.” “Don’t you think that God has the power to deliver you?” “Yes sir, I do.” “Don’t you want to repent of this sin, and go and make it right with your wife, and ask her to forgive you, and let me counsel with her, and see if we can get…” “Yes sir, I do, I do.” We get on our knees. He cries. He weeps. He prays. He says, “O God, I want you to forgive me. I want you to cleanse me. I want you to help me.” He leaves the office, and I lift my hands to God and say, “Oh, thank you, God! Praise the Lord! Thank you for another victory!” And then, two or three months later, I hear he’s back with that same woman, back living in that sin, and finally that home is broken. My heart is crushed. I say, “O God, O God, we prayed! O God, he said he wanted help!”

But I think of the chains, the bondage of this. And I’m not saying there is no help. And I’m not saying you cannot set yourself free. But I’m telling you, my dear friend, “Every other sin that a man commits is without the body. He that commits adultery and fornication sins against his own body.” (1 Corinthians 6:18) And there is a bondage there.

The Tyrant of Syracuse one time told the blacksmith, and said to the blacksmith, “I want to see your art. Would you bring your bellows? Would you bring your anvil? Would you bring your forge? Would you bring your molten metal? I want to see you make a chain.” And so the blacksmith there before the Tyrant made a chain. When he finished, he said, “There, sire. There is the chain. There is the work of my art. That chain is so strong that a team of horses attached to either end would not be able to break it.” Then the Tyrant of Syracuse maniacally laughed, and in his inherent cruelty said, “Guards, bind the blacksmith in the chain, and throw him in the dungeon!” And so it is that men are chained with the very chain that they have forged on the anvil of a hard heart and the bellows of their lust as they have disobeyed a holy God.

And the Bible says, my dear friend, there is that dominion of this sin: “His own iniquities shall take the wicked himself, and he shall be holden with the cords of his sins.” The very chain that he has forged is the very chain that will bind him.

F. Death

But not only is there dominion; there is death. Look, if you will, in verse 23: “He shall die without instruction.” (Proverbs 5:23) There is moral death. There is spiritual death. There is eternal death. And the warm flames of lust will turn to the fiery flames of hell. Do you think that you can live this way and strut into heaven? I am telling you, my dear friend, you are going to go straight to hell. Listen to 1 Corinthians chapter 6 and verse 9: “Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate,”—that means “homosexuals”—“nor abusers of themselves with mankind…shall inherit the kingdom of God.” (1 Corinthians 6:9–10) God says that. I didn’t say that. If you want to argue about it, don’t come to me after the service. You take 1 Corinthians chapter 6 and verse 9, and you read it to God, and you say, “God, you’re wrong.” But, my dear friend, God is not wrong. If that’s your lifestyle, if that’s the way that you are living, you do not know the grace of God; you have no right to call yourself a child of God. And you have no hope of heaven unless you are willing to repent and turn from that sin.

You say what about “once saved, always saved”? My dear friend, if you were saved and you lived that way, God would take you to the woodshed and beat the living daylights out of you. You wouldn’t be sitting, smiling, and saying, “What a wonderful life I am living!” My dear friend, listen. Either you are headed for the woodshed, or you are headed for hell, but you are not headed for heaven. If you could live that way with no conviction, no compunction, no remorse, you do not know the God of this Bible. And God says, “Hey, don’t kid yourself. Don’t be deceived. People who live this way are not going to heaven.” You say, “Can’t God forgive?” Of course, God will forgive. But, my dear friend, you cannot hold onto this sin with one hand and hold onto God with the other hand. It cannot be done. Remember the destruction factor. What is it? Dissipation, disease, disappointment, disgrace, dominion, and death. That’s what God says right here.

V. The Intention Factor: Enjoy God’s Best

Now, here’s the fifth and final factor that I want you to remember. The fifth and final factor is the intention factor—the intention factor—and enjoy God’s best. Understand what God has for you. What is God’s intention for you?

A. A Lasting Marriage

Well, number one: It is a lasting marriage. Look in chapter 5 and verse 18: “Let thy fountain be blessed: and rejoice with the wife of thy youth.” (Proverbs 5:18) What is God’s best? God’s best is one man for one woman till death do them part. I love my wife. I thank God for my darling wife. I would not trade our Christian home for anything on earth. Sometimes I teasingly say to Joyce, “If you ever leave me, I’m going with you.” My dear friend, listen. She’s mine. She’s mine to keep, and I’m hers to keep. What a lasting marriage, the Bible says here, “Let thy fountain be blessed: and rejoice with the wife of thy youth”—the same wife that you had as a young man.

B. A Loving Marriage

Not only is it a lasting marriage; God’s best intention is a loving marriage. Look in verse 19: “Let her be as the loving hind and pleasant roe; let her breasts satisfy thee at all times; and be thou ravished always with her love.” (Proverbs 5:19) Oh, my dear friend, listen—listen. Don’t get the idea that, if you live according to God’s law, you are going to miss out. The problem is if you don’t live according to God’s law; you are going to miss out. These kids are talking about going all the way. That’s the one thing they don’t do; they don’t go all the way. They don’t know the fulfillment, the joy, of a monogamous marriage—the ravishing love that comes by one man committed to one woman until death do them part.

Don’t you know that God’s laws are for your welfare? God is not some tyrant sitting up there in heaven making a bunch of laws to make you squirm, like a worm in hot ashes, trying to keep those laws. God loves you! God’s laws are for your welfare. And every time God says, “Thou shalt not,” God just simply says, “Don’t hurt yourself.” And every time God says, “Thou shalt,” God is saying, “Help yourself to happiness.” And God is not trying to keep sex from you; He is trying to keep sex for you! Here is God’s wonderful gift! And that’s the reason God says, “Thou shalt not commit adultery.” (Exodus 20:14) That’s the reason God says, “Flee fornication,” (1 Corinthians 6:18) because God has something so wonderful for you. And God wants you, my dear friend, to have a lasting marriage, and God wants you to have a loving marriage.

Young people, listen to me: Keep yourself pure. Save yourself for the one you are going to marry. You say, “Well, everybody else is doing it.” Let them do it; you be different. God has something wonderful for you. You eat your cake now; you’ll have a crummy tomorrow. You live by God’s laws; you be wise—you be wise.

C. A Liberating Marriage

What is God’s best? A lasting marriage, a loving marriage, a liberating marriage. Verse 22 will not be true about you: “His own iniquities shall take the wicked himself, and he shall be holden with the cords of his sins.” (Proverbs 5:22) You see, you are not bound by this; you are free! Free to be all that God wants you to be! Free to be all that you ought to be!

You say, “Well, Pastor Rogers, I’ve already failed. Is there hope for me?” Absolutely! Oh, my dear friend, “where sin abounds, grace does much more abound.” (Romans 5:20) If you have committed sin, confess it, and God will cleanse you. The Bible says, “If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us”—“and to cleanse us”—“and to cleanse us from all”—not some but all—“unrighteousness.” (1 John 1:9)

Conclusion

Thank God you can be pure. But, my dear friend, if you are living a life of immorality or contemplating that life, I beg you—I beg you—I warn you: Save yourself from the heartache, the humiliation, the destruction that comes. And in the name of all that is good and holy and wise, get out the instruction manual, learn God’s way, learn why the wisest and best man that ever lived, the Lord Jesus, who was more than man, who was God Himself, said, “Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not commit adultery: But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.” (Matthew 5:27–28) You see, the Lord Jesus just keeps on coming back to the heart. And that’s what we need—is a new heart. That comes by receiving Him.
Roadblocks on the Way to Hell

By Adrian Rogers

Date Preached: February 12, 1984

Conclusion

Introduction

We have in the Southern Baptist Convention a group of people who call themselves “moderates.” And, I believe in moderation. I’m a moderate. I’ve tried to be a moderate—tried to exercise moderately; I try to eat moderately. I try to do those things with moderation that we’re supposed to do in moderation. And so, to that degree, I’m a moderate. And, I’m also a liberal: I try to give liberally; I try to preach a liberal base of the old-fashioned gospel and give it away as liberally as I can. I think there’s a sense in which we all ought to be liberal—for the Bible says, “The liberal soul shall be made fat”
If you mean by liberal "a spirit of selflessness in giving." I'd like to be liberal on those things that a man ought to be liberal about. I'd like to be moderate about those things that a man ought to be moderate about. But, I'm also a conservative about those things that a man ought to be conservative about, and I believe one of the things that we ought to be distinctly conservative about is the Word of God, the death of Christ, and the great doctrines of the Bible. There's no room for moderation there, and moderate heat never boiled water.

If someone were to ask me, “How do you love your wife?” and I said, “Well, moderately,” I'm afraid I'd get in trouble.

There are some things, dear friend, that we're not to be moderate about, and one of them is the Word of God.

I was talking to one of these so-called moderates, and we were talking about the Old Testament. He just didn't believe those stories in the Old Testament, and he said, “Very frankly, I just don't believe that God ordered the slaughter of the Amalekites in the Samuel passages. I just don't believe that.” He said, “That's not the God that I know. The God that I know is a God of love, and the God that I know is represented in the fifth chapter of Matthew.” Now, you will remember that the fifth chapter of Matthew is that very wonderful passage that speaks of the Beatitudes and all of these wonderful things. But, I reminded this preacher of something else that's in the fifth chapter of Matthew, the Sermon on the Mount, and it is here in Matthew chapter 5, verse 29. These are the words of the Lord Jesus: “And if thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell. And if thy right hand offend thee, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell.” (Matthew 5:29–30) And, this man was asked, “Which is worse—for an Amalekite to lose his physical life because of his sin or for people to be cast eternally in a place called hell?” Well, he adroitly changed the subject. But, let me tell you, dear friend, that the God of the Old Testament and the God of the New Testament is a God of judgment.

I don't enjoy preaching about judgment. As a matter of fact, I had to fight with myself and make myself preach this sermon tonight. And, I'll tell you the honest truth before God: I sat in my study and tried to change this sermon tonight. As a matter of fact, I've got two or three other messages with me tonight ready to preach because I did not want to preach on the subject of hell. I don't enjoy preaching on hell. I don't like to think about hell. But, I know that God has called me to preach the whole truth and nothing but the truth, and I must stand before my Lord one day and give an account of my stewardship of the Word of God. I do not like to think of the idea of hell.

So many today think lightly of hell. Hell has become the butt of so many jokes. It has become a byword. It breaks my heart to go to one of our football stadiums and hear our young people tell somebody else to go to hell, as they chant, “Go to hell, Ole Miss! Go to hell!” And, I think, “Oh, if you only knew what you were saying! If you only knew the horrors of hell! If you only knew the terrors of hell!” How it breaks my heart to see people so lightly and so glibly talk of this place called hell! Of course, the devil is behind all of that, because if people do not believe in hell, they’re not going to seek a Savior. But, people who believe in hell are going to seek a Savior from hell. And so, the devil doesn’t want you to understand the truth about the Bible doctrine of hell, for the Bible says in 2 Corinthians 4:4: “The god of this [age] hath blinded the minds of them which believe not.” (2 Corinthians 4:4)

And so, those of us who believe in hell, we’re called “fighting fundies” (fundamentalists). And, they laugh at us, and they sneer at us. And, they say that we’re harsh; they say that we’re cruel because we preach on hell. Is a doctor cruel because he believes about cancer and warns people? Is a traffic expert cruel because he warns of excessive speed? Dr. Lee said, “I’d rather be called cruel for being kind than to be called kind for being cruel.” And, I want to tell you, the cruelest thing that a liberal preacher can do is to lull his people to sleep and not warn them as to what the Bible has to say about the doctrine of hell. It may sound kind, but it is indeed cruel. And, it makes no difference to me if all of the theologians, and all of the scholars, and all of the preachers, and all of the scientists, and all of the statesmen, and all of the politicians, and all of everybody else, all of the teachers, gave up their idea of hell and said, “There is no hell.” It would not change the Word of God one iota, for the Bible says in 1 Peter 1:25: “The word of the Lord endureth for ever.” (1 Peter 1:25)

They laughed at men. They laughed at Noah when Noah warned of a flood, and I imagine they had a symposium to discuss old crazy Noah building that ship out there on dry ground. And, I can just hear one man say, “Well, if Noah did hear any message from God about a flood, I can assure you it wasn’t literal water.” Now friend, let me tell you something: God said what He means, and God meant what He said. They laughed at Noah, but the Bible says in Genesis 7:22 that, “All in whose nostrils was the breath of life, of all that was in the dry land, died.” (Genesis 7:22)

They laughed at Lot. Lot’s sons-in-law thought that he was crazy, and they sneered at him. The Bible says they mocked at him when Lot warned that God was going to destroy Sodom with fire and brimstone. (Genesis 19:14) But, the Bible says in Genesis 19:24: “Then the LORD rained upon Sodom and upon Gomorrah brimstone and fire from the LORD out of heaven” (Genesis 19:24) —brimstone and fire; literal fire, literal brimstone, just as the Bible had warned that God would do.

They laughed at Daniel and mocked at Daniel when Daniel said that the Chaldeans and the Babylonian Empire were going to be destroyed and that Belshazzar would die.
But, the Bible tells us in Daniel 5:30: “In that night was Belshazzar the king of the Chaldeans slain.” (Daniel 5:30) What I’m trying to say is, people, that though we laugh and though we mock, we do not change the reality of hell.

I. The Reality of Hell
Now, let me talk to you about the reality of hell. Why do I believe in the reality of hell? I want to tell you, my common sense doesn’t cause me to believe in it. Logic doesn’t cause me to believe in it. Sentiment doesn’t cause me to believe in it. But, let me tell you why I believe in hell—not that it is illogical, but I don’t come to it on a logical basis. We must go to the Word of God.

A. The Word of God Declares It
One of the reasons that I believe in hell is the Word of God declares it. Now friend, the Bible says in Mark 9:43–44—Jesus, re-emphasizing the same words that I read to you from Matthew 5, Jesus said, “It is better for thee to enter into life maimed, than having two hands to go into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched: where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched.” (Mark 9:43–44)

I’ve been careful to read my first two references from the Bible about hell from the words of the Lord Jesus Christ. There are over 162 texts in the New Testament that warn about hell, and over seventy of these come from the lips of the Lord Jesus Christ Himself. Over seventy times, Jesus, the Lord of love, warned about hell. The doctrine of hell does not come from some ignorant, uneducated, backwoods rube or from some belligerent monster who has no love; but Jesus, with tears coursing down His cheeks—Jesus, who was inexpressible love—declared that there was a hell. And, there is a hell. One reason that I believe in hell, therefore: the Word of God declares it.

B. The Cross of Christ Demonstrates It
Another reason that I believe in hell—the cross of Christ demonstrates it. Now, when you see Jesus dying in agony and blood upon that cross, when you see the suffering of the Lord Jesus Christ, when you see the spit that was spit into His face, when you understand that the beard was snatched from His cheeks, when you understand that the rod laid those bruises upon His back and the whip and the scourge took the flesh from His bones, when you see that crown of thorns, when you see those Syrian nails driven through His quivering palms, when you listen and feel the heartbeat, the despair, the agony of utter midnight, tell me that Jesus suffered all of that when there’s no hell to save a man from. And, I’ll tell you, any God that would let His Son suffer that way when men do not need to be saved from hell is a God that I have no respect for. Oh, friend, I want to tell you that not only does the Word of God declare it; the cross of Jesus Christ demonstrates it.
C. The Justice of God Demands It
And, I want to say, dear friend, that the holiness and the justice of God demands it. Do you have the idea that a man can live as some men live, as Hitler lived, as Idris Amin lived, as Hugh Hefner has lived, as Madalyn Murray O’Hair has lived; do you think that a man can ruin the virtue of women; do you believe that a man can sell dope; do you believe that a man can rob widows and orphans; do you believe that a man can live like the devil incarnate and then commit suicide and go out into all eternity, and there be no difference between that man and another man who did not live correspondingly the same way? Do you believe there’s no justice out there? Do you believe that a man just steps out of this life and into eternity and it’s oblivion, it’s all over—that there’s not a judgment?

“Oh,” people say, “well, people have their hell in this world.” Well, friend, if you’ll look around, many who are living for the devil are living heady, high-minded, and wild, and they’re having a ball. It will take another world to settle the score. You’re going to find out that many of God’s choicest of saints have suffered. And, I’m telling you, dear friend, that the holiness of God and the justice of God demands—demands—that there is a hell.

II. The Suffering in Hell
Now, what is hell like? What does the Bible say concerning the horrors of hell? Well, the Jehovah’s Witnesses will go from house to house and door to door, and they will tell you that there is no place called hell, as we believe it. They believe that hell is cessation; they believe that hell is annihilation—that when a man dies without Christ, without God, without hope, that he’s like a dog that dies, he’s like a cow that dies: he’s just simply annihilated. And, so many believe the same thing. And, I don’t want to get in a name-calling thing here to tell you all of the cults and “the isms,” as Dr. Lee says, “that ought to be wasms,” that do not believe in this place called hell.

A. Hell Is a Place of Unending Living Death
But, I want to tell you, dear friend, that hell is a place of everlasting existence. Look in Revelation 21:8. And, by the way, you ought to keep these scriptures and jot them down so you will have them when you’re going to need them, because you’re going to need them. Look, the Bible says, “But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death.” (Revelation 21:8) Now, what we call “death” today would be welcome in that place called “the second death.” It goes on unending and never ends. Look, if you will, in Revelation 14:11: “And the smoke of their torment ascendeth up for ever and ever: and they have no rest day nor night, who worship the beast and his image, and whosoever receiveth the mark of his name”—“they have no rest day nor night.” (Revelation 14:11)

And, I want to show you proof positive that death does not bring annihilation and that hell is not annihilation. Look, if you will, in Luke 12. Here in Luke 12 our Lord is describing the degrees of punishment that there will be in hell. Look with me in verse 47: “And that servant, which knew his lord’s will, and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes. But he that knew not, and did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with few stripes. For unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required: and to whom men have committed much, of him they will ask the more.” (Luke 12:47–48)

Now, this scripture tells us that there are degrees of punishment for those who disobey God. When a man openly knows the will of God and refuses the will of God—when a man sits in an air-conditioned, upholstered, well-lighted auditorium like this and hears the gospel preached, and he says no to Christ—that man is going to receive far more severe punishment in hell than the man who’s never heard the gospel. “That servant, who knew his master’s will, and did things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with many stripes.” (Luke 12:47) But, I want to ask you a question: If we all die alike, if we’re all annihilated, if we all rot, if we all decay, if there’s no life after this life in a place called hell, then this scripture is absolutely, totally nonsensical, isn’t it? Hell is an unending living death called “the second death.”

B. Hell Is a Place of Unsatisfied Desires

I want to say, secondly, that hell is a place of unsatisfied desires. In Luke 16, Jesus tells the story of a rich man who died and went to hell. Some people call that a parable, but I don’t believe it’s a parable. Jesus said, “There was a certain rich man,” (Luke 16:1) and Jesus in that story mentions Lazarus by name. And, from all accounts, it is a historical event. Jesus, knowing all things, knew about a rich man who died and went to hell. And, Jesus said that when this rich man found himself in the flames of hell, he offered this kind of a prayer: in Luke 16:24, he said, “Send Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue.” (Luke 16:24)

Years ago, I was called to the hospital to see Mrs. Cowart. Mrs. Cowart was one of the sweet little ladies in the first church that I ever pastored. I was just a boy. And, I started pastoring when I was nineteen years of age, and I had no experience visiting in the hospital. I’d never been around sick people. My parents had not been sick, brothers and sisters had never been sick, and I’d never had any sickness to speak of. I went in the hospital to see this dear lady who had a ruptured appendix. And, it had caused a severe infection, and her body was burning with fever. But, one thing that they said that Mrs. Cowart could not have was water to drink. I didn’t understand that; maybe some of you doctors understand it a little bit better. But, she couldn’t have any water to drink. I remember when I went in and laid my hand on her hand to pray for her, her hand was so hot that it seemed almost as if it would burn my hand. Of course, I know it wasn’t that hot, but she just had a horrible fever raging through her body. And, she said, “Pastor, would you get me a drink of water, please?” I said, “Oh, Mrs. Cowart, I’d like to, but the doctor says you can’t have any water.” And, she said, “Well, pastor, just a sip of water.” That broke my heart because she was one of the most godly little ladies I’d ever known. I said, “Mrs. Cowart, if anybody gives you water, it will have to be the doctor or the nurse. I can’t give it to you.” She said, “But pastor, I’m burning. It’s so hot, and I’m so thirsty.” She said, “Pastor, would you just put a few drops of water on my tongue?” And oh, I thought surely that would be all right, but I said, “I’d better ask the nurse, Mrs. Cowart. I don’t want to do anything that will hurt you.” She said, “Pastor, just take a towel and wet my lips. Please, pastor!” And, my heart broke, and I thought of people who will be in hell crying, suffering, pleading for a drop of water to cool their tongue.

You say, “Well, Jesus was using a metaphor. Jesus was using a figure of speech.” If He was, dear friend, what was He trying to describe? What kind of suffering was the Lord Jesus trying to describe if it is a metaphor, if it is a figure of speech? I’m telling you, dear friend, that hell is a place of unsatisfied desires. And, the dope addict will take his desires there, and the fornicator will take his desires there; and the pervert will take his desires there. He will have those desires. Those desires will be intensified and unsatisfied.

C. Hell Is a Place of Ungodly Associations

I’ll tell you something else about hell: hell is going to be a place of ungodly associates. Have you ever heard anybody laugh and joke and say, “Well, heaven for climate, but hell for company”? That’s what Mark Twain said. He thought that was funny. He’ll have his company in hell. Hell is a place, yes—and there is a vast company in hell.

Do you want to know who’s going to be in hell? Look, if you will, again, in Revelation 21:8, and see what the Word of God has to say about the company in hell, the ungodly associates in hell. Revelation 21:8: “But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable”—and I take the word abominable here to mean “sexual perverts”—“and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers”—and the word sorcerers here means “drug pushers and addicts”—“and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death.” (Revelation 21:8)

People say, “Well, I just don’t want to be a member of the church, because there are hypocrites in the church.” Yes, there are some hypocrites in the church. One of the twelve disciples was a hypocrite. But, I’ll tell you, I’d rather be in God’s glorious church and spend a few years with some of the hypocrites than to die and go to hell and spend... eternity with all of them. Friend, I want to tell you something now; I want to tell you something: every hypocrite is going to end up in the lake of fire.

I went through the Bible and tried to find out who the Bible says will be there. The devil will be there, and he won’t be the lord of hell. He’ll suffer in hell. Hell was “prepared for the devil and his angels.” (Matthew 25:41) The antichrist will be there. The false prophet will be there. The fearful will be there. The unbelieving will be there. Revelers will be there. Adulterers will be there. The abominable will be there. Murderers shall be there. Whoremongers will be there. Sorcerers will be there. Idolaters will be there. Extortioners will be there. The effeminate will be there. Liars will be there. Thieves will be there. Hypocrites will be there. Drunkards will be there. The covetous will be there. The blasphemers will be there.

You say, “Well, that’s a horrible, fearful list of people.” That is true, indeed. But, if you’ll look in Revelation 21:8, you’ll see that “the fearful, and unbelieving” (Revelation 21:8) head the list. Now, you might think that being a whoremonger, a sorcerer, is terrible, but I want to tell you, if you refuse Jesus Christ as your personal Savior—you’re afraid tonight to openly and publicly to confess Him as your Lord—you’re going to lead the list of those that are in hell. And, hell is a place of ungodly associates. I want you to think of your teenage girl going to hell and staying in hell with all of these people, mister, if she doesn’t get saved. You’d better learn to pray for your daughter. You’d better learn to pray for your neighbor. They are going to be in hell forever with these kinds of people.

D. Hell Is a Place of Absolute Hopelessness
I want to say something else about hell: not only is hell a place of hellish and ungodly associations; hell is a place of absolute hopelessness. When a man goes to hell, he stays there forever. In the sixteenth chapter of Luke, Jesus taught that there was a great gulf that is fixed between those who are in heaven and those that are in hell; and people cannot pass from hell to heaven, neither can people pass from heaven to hell. (Luke 16:26) It is a place of everlasting existence, and there is no hope ever to get out of hell. In Matthew 25:46, Jesus spoke of those who are going to hell, and Jesus said, “[They] shall go away into everlasting [torment].” (Matthew 25:46) Now, how long is everlasting? Everlasting torment!

Now, we like to say that “hope springs eternal in the human breast,” but one great poet said above the doors of hell should be engraved these words: “Abandon all hope, ye who enter here.” Hell is a place, dear friend, that, once you’re there, you’ll never get out of hell. If you don’t want to go to hell, you don’t have to go to hell. But, if you die and go to hell, you will never ever get out of hell. And, the Bible says, “The smoke of their torment ascendeth…for ever and ever.” (Revela­tion 14:11)
E. Hell Is a Place of Burning

Hell is a place of burning. Now Jesus, in Mark 9:48, spoke of “where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched.” (Mark 9:48) “Pastor, do you believe there’s fire in hell?” Let me read to you some descriptions of hell taken from the Bible: “the thirst that is not quenched,” “unquenchable fire,” “a lake of fire,” “fire and brimstone,” “everlasting burnings,” “flames of fire,” “everlasting fire,” “in flaming fire,” “a furnace of fire,” “the devouring fire,” “eternal fire.” These are not my words; these are biblical words. You say, “Well, I don’t believe it’s literal fire; I believe it’s symbolic fire.” I hope for your sake it is not symbolic if you die and go to hell because I want to tell you that the symbol is always weaker than the reality. Which is more beautiful—the painting of a sunset or the sunset? The sunset, of course. The painting is but a symbol of the reality. And, if it is but symbolic, if it is a figure of speech, if it is a metaphor, then, my dear friend, God chose the thing that causes the most intense suffering and pain that we know of.

Have you ever burned your finger—just touched a hot stove and burned your finger, felt that pain? I’m speaking to some who are in this building tonight who’ve gone through fire. I’m speaking to some who’ve had great portions of their body burned. I’ve been in the hospital to see those people who couldn’t be touched, couldn’t be turned, to lie there and suffer, and no narcotic is enough to kill and deaden the pain. I’m telling you that whatever it is, God ransacked the lectionaries and the dictionaries of this world to choose a word that He calls burning to illustrate what it’s going to be like for those who refuse the Lord Jesus, for those who spurn the gospel of grace, for those who trample under their dirty feet the precious blood of the Lamb of God. The Bible calls it burning.

You can laugh at this. You can say, “I don’t believe it.” That is your privilege. But, my dear friend, I’m giving to you tonight the Word of God. I don’t like to think about it. Again, the Bible calls hell a place of “outer darkness.” Jesus said in Matthew 25:30: “And cast ye the unprofitable servant into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.” (Matthew 25:30) How far from heaven the lost will be in a place that the Bible called “outer darkness”? How far from your mother you will be, son—your mother in heaven and you in hell! How far from your wife you will be, mister, when she goes to heaven and you go to hell! It is a place of outer darkness, everlasting separation.

F. Hell Is a Place of Memory

Again, as we think of the horrors of hell, I want to tell you that hell is going to be a place of memory. You’re going to carry your memory with you. In the sixteenth chapter of Luke, that rich man who fared sumptuously, he had it all, but he died and went to hell. And, he cried and asked for a drop of water to cool his tongue. And, in Luke 16:25, Abraham said unto him, “Son, remember...” (Luke 16:25) And, that tells me, dear friend, that this man in hell had his memory of this life. And, if you go to hell, you’ll remember:
you’ll remember every sin you ever committed; you’ll remember every gospel sermon you ever heard, every gospel invitation, every song; you’ll remember this service. I pray God that God will give you a demonstration, an illustration, of this service. And, this very service tonight will burn in your consciousness through all eternity, and you will remember the night that Adrian Rogers preached that sermon on hell, the night that Adrian Rogers tore his heart out, the night that I begged you not to go to hell. You will remember! Remember! Oh, hell is a place of memory! You would give a thousand worlds like this one to have the opportunity that you have tonight to come down this aisle and give your heart to Jesus Christ.

III. The Refuge from Hell

Now, let me just close the message tonight by talking to you about not only the reality of hell and the sufferings of hell, but I want to talk to you about the refuge from hell. I want to talk to you about how to escape hell. It’s not too late. We’re still on mercy’s side of the door. God doesn’t want you to go to hell. The love of God will follow you right to the brink of hell and stand there with outstretched arms, and with tears the Lord Jesus will beg you not to go to hell. The Bible says in 2 Peter 3:9: “The Lord is not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance.” (2 Peter 3:9) And, God doesn’t want you to die and go to hell.

I believe that God has put five major Rs on the road to hell. And, if you go to hell, you’ll have to climb over these roadblocks that God has placed there. I mean, did you know that people take more difficulty to go to hell than they do to go to heaven, that people have to fight and work to go to hell? They actually struggle to go to hell. They have to climb over the roadblocks that God has built on the road to hell.

A. Roadblock #1: God’s Holy Word

The very first one is this book, God’s Holy Word. If you go to hell, you’ll have to climb over this book. You’ll have to trample beneath your feet this book because God has His Word here tonight to warn you not to go to hell.

B. Roadblock #2: The Holy Spirit

But, not only that; the Holy Spirit is God’s roadblock on the road to hell—God’s Holy Spirit, tonight. I know because I’ve prayed, and I prayed that God would use me, God’s Holy Spirit tonight is speaking to you, seeking you. And, that still, small voice that you hear within you is God’s loving Spirit sent into your heart to say, “Come to Jesus.” And, you’ll have to insult the Holy Spirit. You’ll have to do despite to the Holy Spirit. You’ll have to trample under your feet the Holy Spirit in order to get to hell.
C. Roadblock #3: The Prayers of God’s People
I’ll tell you something else that God has put as a roadblock on the road to hell, and that is the prayers of God’s people. I have prayed for you. I try not to preach a sermon that I don’t soak in prayer. Our deacons pray for you. Doubtless, you have a mother who prays for you, a father who prays for you, a brother who prays for you, a sister who prays for you, a neighbor who prays for you, somebody who’s praying for you and saying, “O God, don’t let them die and go to hell!”

D. Roadblock #4: The Church
But, if you go to hell, you’ll have to step over God’s Word to get there. If you go to hell, you’ll have to step over the wooings and the pleadings of the Holy Spirit to get there. If you go to hell, you’ll have to step over the prayers of those that love you and those who plead for you to get there. I’ll tell you, if you go to hell, you’ll have to step over the Church of the Lord Jesus Christ. This church is God’s roadblock to hell. God put this church in this city. God wants this church to be here to warn you “to flee from the wrath to come.” (Matthew 3:7; Luke 3:7)

E. Roadblock #5: The Cross of Christ
But, I’ll tell you, most of all, dear friend, if you go to hell, you’ll have to climb over the bloody cross of Jesus Christ to get there. God put His darling Son upon the cross, and God let Jesus suffer and bleed and die in agony and blood. And, I tell you, if you go to hell, it will be because you trampled beneath your feet the cross of Christ; you climbed over God’s mighty demonstration of His love for you.

Conclusion
†Years ago, I read a story. Gipsy Smith, the great evangelist, told the story. He said he was raised a gypsy boy, and one day the gypsies were traveling, going from one place to another, and they tried to get their wagons across a little narrow bridge crossing a stream. And somehow, in crossing the stream, one of the horses reared. And, the horse was frightened, and the carriage and the wagons tipped over. And, this gypsy boy’s mother fell into the rushing torrent, the water of that stream. The gypsy boy was not a good swimmer, but he pulled his coat from off his back and jumped into the water and tried to get his mother. But, she was frightened, and she panicked; and she fought him. And, he tried to save her, and she pulled him under. And, he wasn’t a good swimmer. He said, “Mother, be still! I want to help you!” But, she was in such a frenzy and such a panic that she kept fighting and kept fighting. Finally, exhausted, the boy released the hold on his mother, and she sank beneath the swirling waters and was drowned.
   Later on, at the funeral, that gypsy boy was there, and he looked down at the face of his now dead mother, and the hot tears coursed down his cheeks. And, he said,
“Mother! Mother, I tried to save you, but you wouldn’t let me! Mother, I tried to save you, but you wouldn’t let me! Mother, I tried to save you, but you wouldn’t let me!”

I believe that the Lord Jesus Christ, as you drop into hell, will say, “Oh, sinner, I tried to save you! I tried to save you! I died to save you, but you wouldn’t let me. You wouldn’t let me. You wouldn’t let me.”

“The Lord is not…willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance.” (2 Peter 3:9)

Introduction

Would you please find a place in God’s Word in Matthew chapter 5 as we continue our journey through the Sermon on the Mount under the general heading “Building on the Rock”—Matthew chapter 5.

Some years ago I read of a man who bought from the city the city garbage dump. It had been filled up. It was a landfill and it was for sale. He negotiated with the city fathers and bought that landfill because he had a plan for it. He began to haul in dirt and cover all of that garbage. And then he took his bulldozers and worked it over and tamped it down. And then he laid out a subdivision. It was a beautiful subdivision. He had streets and sidewalks; contractors came in and built houses; and young families bought those houses and moved in. And it was as beautiful and as pretty a neighborhood as you would ever see for several years. And then the streets began to buckle. The sidewalks began to crack, and foundations began to give way beneath those houses. And the roofs began to sag, and the walls began to crack. And one by one, the people moved out. And it was absolutely a worthless subdivision. The old-timers knew what was wrong. They just laughed and they said, “Well, you know, that was a foolish endeavor, to begin with. It was all built on garbage.” And we have so many homes today that are built the same way.
I want to talk to you today on this subject: “A Foundation for the Family.” Matthew chapter 5 and verse 31: “It hath been said, Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him give her a writing of divorcement: but I say unto you, That whosoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery: and whosoever shall marry her”—that is, the divorcee—“committeth adultery.” (Matthew 5:31) And then, turn, if you will, to chapter 7, and look, if you will, in verse 24: “Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock”—not upon garbage, but upon a rock. (Matthew 7:24)

Now I want to talk to you know about “A Foundation for the Family.” We’re living in a time of national tragedy. And that tragedy is homes that are built on garbage, and throwaway marriages. People get married looking for an ideal. And that ideal turns to an ordeal. And then they look around for a new deal. And they are trying to start all over again, and they say, “Well, I’m just going to get a fresh start; I’m going to divorce this mate and marry another.” That is becoming an American way of life. But, oh, the hurts, the heartaches, the hellishness that comes by not obeying the Word of God!

My dear friend, marriage is for keeps. That was a good place for an amen. I asked Joyce, “Joyce, will you love me when I’m old and unattractive? She said, “Of course I do.”

That’s the way it is to be: one man for one woman till death do them part. You don’t come into marriage with the idea that, “If it doesn’t work out, we’ll bail out.” Marriage is made in heaven; but, my dear friend, it is worked out here on earth.

Newsweek magazine recently said, “The landscape is littered with victims of the divorce epidemic: ex-wives raising their children alone, former husbands trying to start new lives and still be good fathers to kids they see only on specified days, and the children themselves often torn apart between two warring parents.” Then, in a recent ten-year study of sixty divorced middle-class families in Northern California, psychologist Judy Wallerstein found that only ten percent of the ex-spouses said they had both succeeded in improving their own lives. Only ten percent said it was better. “Divorce,” Wallerstein said, “has been a wrenching experience for every family I have ever seen.” And I say today, my dear friend, we are in an epidemic of it. And no wonder we have so many broken lives!

Now, you see, broken homes produce broken lives that produce broken homes that produce broken lives that produce broken homes, and the cycle goes on and on and on. And we need to learn from the Word of God how to break that cycle and get some foundations for the family. God hates divorce. God has said in Malachi chapter 2, verse 16, that he hates divorce; He hates putting away. (Malachi 2:16)

Now there are three things that I want you to see today as we talk about foundations for the family.
I. The God-Designed Plan for Marriage

First of all, I want you to see the God-designed plan for marriage. Now, look, if you will again, in verses 31 and 32: “It hath been said, Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him give her a writing of divorcement: but I say unto you, That whosoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery: and whosoever shall marry her that is divorced commiteth adultery.” (Matthew 5:31–32)

Now that’s what Jesus said here in Matthew chapter 5. And then there is a companion passage over here in Matthew chapter 19 and I want you to read that. Matthew chapter 19, and I begin in verse 1: “And it came to pass, that when Jesus had finished these sayings, he departed from Galilee, and came into the coasts of Judaea beyond Jordan; and great multitudes followed him; and he healed them there. The Pharisees also came unto him, tempting him,”—now the word tempting means they were “testing” Him—“and saying unto him, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife for every cause?” There was a rabbi in this day, Hillel, who was teaching that you could put away your wife if she didn’t please you with her cooking. You could put her away if her voice was too loud. You could put her away if she said something disrespectful to your parents. They had all kinds of laws. Hillel was teaching this. They asked Jesus, “Do you agree with Rabbi Hillel?” That’s what they were doing. “Can a man put away his wife for every cause?” “And he answered and said unto them, Have ye not read, that he which made them at the beginning made them male and female,”—by the way, my dear friend, God is against the idea of unisex. When God made man and woman, He made he-men and she-women; a him and a her, not a shim. And God made them that way: male and female—“and said, For this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife: and they twain”—they two—“shall be one flesh? Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh.” And then, listen to this: “What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder.” (Matthew 19:1–6)

Now here is the God-designed plan for marriage. And the Lord Jesus, in conjunction with the Sermon on the Mount, and here in Matthew 19, gives us that plan. Now you could take the best carpenter in the world—I mean the very best carpenter in the world—and tell him to build a house, and if he doesn’t know what a house was, he couldn’t build it, no matter what kind of a carpenter he is. You can take the most wonderful children in the world and say, “Build a Christian home,” or, “Build a home as God designed,” and if you don’t know what God designed, how are you going to build it?

So, let’s find out what God’s design is. What is the God-designed plan for marriage? Now in this verse in Matthew chapter 19 there are three key verbs. Do you know what a verb is? It’s an action word. One of those verbs is the word leave. The other verb is the word cleave. And the other verb is the word be. Leave, cleave, and be: all of my marriage counseling is just is wrapped up in these three words. And all marriage problems come from a misunderstanding of these three words. This is God’s plan for marriage.

A. The Priority of Marriage: Leave

What Jesus Christ is doing is quoting the book of Genesis right here. Now when Jesus said, “Let a man leave his father,” that speaks of the priority of marriage. Marriage is the highest of all human relationships. And the relationship between husband and wife is a closer bond than the relationship, believe it or not, of parent and child. You may not believe that, or you may not say that is natural; but it is supernatural, and it is God’s Word that the relationship between husband and wife is the closest, dearest relationship here on this earth. And so when you’re raising your boys and girls and getting them ready for marriage, you have to be preparing them to leave your home.

Do you know what your job is as a parent? It’s to give your children wings so they can leave the nest. The Bible says that the eagle stirs her nest. (Deuteronomy 32:11) That is, what does she do? She teaches her little eaglets to fly. Now that’s what you do with your children if you’re wise. You know, boys and girls today don’t need to be too comfortable at home. A mother eagle would come in there with little fish and juicy worms and keep feeding those eagles; but after a while there comes a time when she has to stir the nest and get that thing out.

Do you know what many of us do? I know I’ve been guilty of it—saying, “I don’t want my children to have it as hard as I had it. I want them to have the things I didn’t have.” But I have to ask myself this question: Am I not only giving them the things my parents could not give me, but am I giving them the things my parents did give me?

I was born in the Depression, and right in the heart of the Depression, and I have a real good idea I wasn’t planned. Thank God I wasn’t aborted. But I don’t think I was planned. I’ve never discussed this with my mother. I’ve never wanted to put her on the spot. I just don’t think I was planned. But that didn’t make any difference. I know I was loved. And I’m going to tell you something. We had very little, but we had so much.

And do you know what I remember primarily about our childhood? The good times we had because we had so little! I can remember times when my dad, because there was no work, would say, “Well, let’s just load up and go fishing.” We would spend the day on Singer Island there, one of the most beautiful islands there off of the coast of Palm Beach—all day long there in the crystalline clear water. And we would catch minnows when Dad would fish. And then we would build a big bonfire on the shore and put a big can of Van Camp’s Pork & Beans in that fire until it got hot and bring some grease and fry those fish. And, hey, folks, I just long to do that today. I mean, listen. That’s something that money can’t buy.

I can remember going out there and playing ball with a broken bat. Did you ever have a bat that you had to wrap with tape because the bat got broke? Listen. If the guy that had the old ball went home, the game was over. I mean, that’s all we had. But listen. Those were good times.

Things don’t make us happy. Don’t just be so interested in making your children comfortable. Try to build into them some character and get them ready to leave the nest. Do you know what your job is? Your job is to work yourself out of a job. Did you know that a parent is successful when the children no longer need them? You see, you work yourself out of a job, but you don’t work yourself out of a relationship. And that sometimes is hard to do, because there are several kinds of love.

You see, a child has need love. A child will love his mother. Do you know why the child loves his mother? Not because she is pretty in her face, or not because she is gentle, or anything else. The child loves the mother because the child has needs, and the mother meets the needs. That is need love.

Do you know why people have children? They have need-to-be-needed love. That’s the reason why there are people today—and, oh, what a tragedy it is that little babies are being aborted—because there are so many parents who want to adopt a baby. They need to be needed. They want somebody to love. They just have a need to be needed, to give that love. And that is a God-given need. And so the little baby has need love, and the parents have need-to-be-needed love, and that bonds them together right away. And that’s the reason there is such a wonderful bond there.

But, you see, what happens is this: after a while, a child grows out of that need love. There comes a time—a normal, natural time—when the child does not need the mother like the child used to need the mother. And it is our job to help that child to stand alone. To the degree that you can do that, you are a successful parent—when they no longer need you.

Now that is very hard, because some parents, when they see this happening, when that child is getting to be fourteen, fifteen, sixteen, they see that child beginning now to stand alone and make their own decisions and do their own thing. The parent says, “Now, wait a minute: they’re getting away.” And the child no longer has the need love, but the parent still has the need-to-be-needed love, and so what the parent does is create artificial needs. And at that point rebellion can start, because when you make those apron strings too tight, and you put those cords too tight, and you build the wall to that nest too high, and this child is wanting to be independent and stand alone, and you keep reinforcing your need to be needed; when he no longer has the need love, then you, if you’re not careful, you’ll say, “You are rebellious.” It may not be rebellion at that point; it may be your problem at that point. But you may be creating a rebellious child if you are not careful. What you do is just simply help that child, and teach them how to make decisions; teach them how to earn their money; teach them how to save money; teach them how to go out and face this world and stand alone. Don’t try to hold them too tight. Like a bar of soap, if you try to hold them too tight, it will pop out of your hand.

But, my dear friend, if you teach them to stand alone, and let them leave father and mother, they will come back and be the best friends you ever had. You work yourself out of a job, but you don’t work yourself out of a relationship. And this is what marriage is all about: where a man will leave his father and his mother and will cleave unto his wife. And so the verb here is the word leave. And that speaks of the priority of marriage. Marriage is the highest of all human relationships. That is the priority of marriage.

B. The Preeminence of Marriage: Cleave
But then, look at the next verb, if you will—and that is the word cleave. He leaves his father and mother and he cleaves unto his wife. Now the word cleave here means to “glue” or to “weld.” There is a bonding that takes place, a welding that takes place between a man and a woman. And this speaks not only of the priority of marriage—to leave—but the preeminence of marriage—to cleave. And if you keep those two things together, the priority and the preeminence of marriage, don’t even consider divorce. Don’t even consider it. Take your scissors and cut the word out of the dictionary. Get it out of your vocabulary. Don’t even consider it. It is not an option. You are bound to your husband. You are bound to your wife. You cleave to your husband. You cleave to your wife. You show me two kids who consider divorce as an option, and I’ll show you two kids who have a much greater potential for the disintegration of their home.

You see, listen. Do you think that those people who have divorced get divorced because they have a problem? And those people who don’t get divorced don’t get divorced because they don’t have any problems? Who are you kidding? All couples have essentially the same kinds of problems. The difference is in commitment. My dear friend, there are no problems too big to solve; there are just people too small to solve them. All people have problems. But there comes a time of commitment where you say, “I will cleave to my wife.”

C. The Purpose of Marriage: Be
Now, leave, cleave, and the third verb is be. And be what? You are to be one flesh. Now that means more than sex and the sexual union. A person is a whole person, and you are to be one flesh physically, psychologically, and spiritually. You are one flesh physically—that is, for procreation and multiplication—because God said, “Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth.” (Genesis 1:28; Genesis 9:1) And by the way, you know, it’s getting out of vogue today to have children. Oh, my dear friend, “Children are the heritage of the Lord… Blessed is the man that hath his quiver full of them.” (Psalm 127:3, 5) You say, “But we have things we want. We want another car. We want vacations. We want this and that.” May God pity you! “Oh,” you say, “children make a make rich man poor.” No, my dear friend, they make a poor man rich. A rich man can’t take his money to heaven. I’m taking all my kids to heaven.

Listen, my dear friend. Children are the heritage of the Lord. And you’re to be one flesh for procreation: that you might reproduce and replenish. Enjoy God’s blessing. And then you are to be one flesh psychologically. This is not only for procreation, but for communication, to enjoy one another. The deepest emotional and psychological needs of man are met in woman, and of woman in man. “It is not good that the man should be alone,” (Genesis 2:18) the Lord said. And not only should your wife be your sweetheart; she ought to be your friend. Not only should you be lovers; you ought to be friends.

And then, one flesh not only physically, and one flesh psychologically, but one flesh spiritually—and that is for communion. There is no deeper, sweeter communion than a man and woman loving God together.

Before I left home today my darling wife and I sat at breakfast and held hands and prayed for our children, and prayed for fellow ministers in this city and fellow ministers around the world, and prayed for other things that were on our heart. And thank God for that union and that communion where two are one spiritually and they worship God and enjoy the things of God together.

II. The God-Desired Preeminence of Marriage

Now, my dear friend, that is the divine plan for marriage. That is what the Lord Jesus said: the God-designed plan. Now, here’s the second thing I want you to see: Not only the God-designed plan for marriage, but I want you to see the God-desired preeminence of marriage. Now, go back to Matthew chapter 5, if you will, and look again—Matthew chapter 5, verses 31 and 32: “It hath been said, Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him give her a writing of divorcement:”—Deuteronomy chapter 24—“but I say unto you, That whosoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery: and whosoever shall marry her that is divorced committeth adultery.” (Matthew 5:31–32)

Here our Lord Jesus is talking about the God-desired preeminence of marriage. And Jesus permitted—not commanded, but permitted—divorce for only one reason—and that was fornication. Go back again, if you will now, to the Matthew 19 passage, and we’re going to pick up where we left off. Matthew chapter 19 and verse 5. Jesus said, “For this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife: and they twain shall be one flesh? Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder. They say unto him, Why did Moses then command to give a writing of divorcement, and to put her away?” “If you say that you are not to put her away, why did Moses allow this?” “He saith unto them, Moses because of the hardness of your hearts”—“allowed you”—“suffered you to put away your wives: but from the beginning it was not so.” That is, that is not God’s design; that is not God’s plan; that was only concession for the hardness of men’s hearts. “And I say unto you,”—now here’s verse 9—“Whosoever shall put away his wife, except it be for fornication…”—porneia—“fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery: and whosoever marrieth her which is put away doth commit adultery.” (Matthew 19:5–9)

Now Moses permitted, but did not command, divorce. Divorce is not God’s original intent. And porneia is sexual immorality. A physical act of sexual immorality is the only reason, the only allowance, that the Lord Jesus gave for divorce. But He did not command divorce. He did not even commend divorce. As a matter of fact, our Lord teaches that restoration and forgiveness, even in the case of marital infidelity, is far, far better.

Now I guess the classic example of that is in the book of Hosea. If you read the book of Hosea, Hosea had a wife whose name was Gomer, who not only committed immorality, but she finally ended up as a prostitute. And yet Hosea went back to her, reclaimed her, forgave her, remarried her, and restored the home. And that is God’s ideal. Now of course, you cannot make the other partner do that. Sometimes Hosea could have asked, and Gomer could have refused and gone her sinful way, and Hosea then would have been helpless to do anything about it. But thank God for the Hoseas of this world who are willing and able to go and forgive and restore a marriage.

There are so many foolish excuses today for divorce. And people today in America, it’s amazing; they say, for example, “Well, I don’t love anymore, and since the love has gone out of our marriage, then we’ll get a divorce.” That, my dear friend, is never a reason for divorce. And I’ll tell you why. It is not love that sustains your marriage; it is your marriage that sustains your love.

Now, get this in your heart. When you think of love, you’re probably thinking of emotion. But when God speaks of love, God is not speaking primarily of emotion; God is speaking of commitment. You are commanded to love. Let me give you a verse—Ephesians chapter 5, verse 25. Here is a command to every man in this building who is married: “Husbands, love your wives.” (Ephesians 5:25)

Now that’s not a suggestion; that is a command. You are commanded to love her. And love is something you are commanded to do. It is something you can learn to do. In Titus chapter 2 and verse 4, the Bible says the older women are to teach the younger women to love their husband. (Titus 2:4) You see, love is not something that is so ephemeral, so emotional, that maybe you see it, maybe you don’t; you fall in love, you fall out of love; you are a helpless victim. No, no, no, no! The Bible doesn’t teach that.

You know that foolish song you used to sing some ten, twelve, years ago, “Please release me, let me go; I don’t love you anymore,” and all that? That’s garbage. Beautiful tune. As a matter of fact, that man got saved and rewrote that whole thing. No, my dear friend, you are commanded to love.

Now there's nothing wrong with romance. There's nothing wrong with emotion. I hope you keep the honey in your honeymoon. But I remember when I fell in love with a little girl named Joyce Gentry. I remember sitting there in my desk, looking across and seeing that girl, and I said, "I like her." I just liked her. I don't know why. I liked the way she smiled. It was just something about her. I think I liked the fact she always had her homework done—and I never did. I don't know what it was. But I looked at her. And it's something about that, that I just began to saddle up to her and write her notes and talk to her and see her in the playground and at the school parties.

I remember one time looking up there. I was sitting in church and looking at Joyce sitting in the choir. I thought, "I love her with all of my heart." It seemed to me I saw a halo around her head. I just thought—that is, I really to this day—I did see a halo. I don't know whether it was in my mind, or whether it was a halo; but I saw it. It was just a glow about her. And the romance, that was there. And I can remember all of those wonderful things: the moonlight, the roses, the sweetness. That's wonderful. But, my dear friend, it hasn't all been that way. Raising four children, having the funeral of the fifth child who died as an infant, and getting those kids through school, and working through school, and going through seven years of school married, where I was the breadwinner and letting Joyce stay home, and still getting an education, and all of that—it was hard. And there have been difficult times, and there have been disagreements. I married a beautiful girl. I'm married to a complicated woman now. My dear friend, I have to make adjustments. And she has to make adjustments. And it has never gotten easier; it gets harder. I am telling you, it's an amazing thing. You would think after all of this time we would listen. We're having new things to adjust to every day. And do you know what keeps us together? It is love, not romance. And do you know what keeps the love there? Commitment. "Husbands, love your wives." "Teach the women to love their husbands."

Now, my dear friend, don't give me this stuff about the love going out of your marriage and therefore you're going to get divorced. And then somebody said, "Oh well, you know, it's better for the children. We're just so concerned about the children, and so because of the children it would be far better for the children if we got a divorce than to raise those children in the atmosphere of an unhappy home."

Well, my dear friend, the study of broken homes does not back that up. Divorce is not a positive factor for the children. As a matter of fact, it might be helpful, if you want to know whether it would be better for the children or not, to ask the children. And when you say, "Well, it's better for the children that we get a divorce than to have the children live around constant arguments," well, you're just guilty of binary thinking. You only have two alternatives: one alternative is arguments... the other alternative is divorce.
want to tell you there is a third alternative—and that is for you to get right with God; for you to get right with God and cut this stuff out and make your marriage work. Your talking about “It’s better for the children,” that is generally an act of selfishness. You portray it as a noble sacrifice for the children when you ought to be doing something about the relationship that is rending the hearts and lives of these children.

And then here is the classic one: “Personally, well, you know, I owe it to myself to be happy.” Where did you get that idea? “I owe it to myself to be happy. It’s the American right. I am to be happy.” My dear friend, God has another plan for you—and that is that you be holy. Now happiness is fine. But happiness, when you make happiness your prime goal in life, that is the ultimate selfishness. And, my dear friend, it will end up in the ultimate unhappiness.

You do not live in isolation. When you got married, you made a holy vow. You made a vow to your partner. And it is not only your happiness, but it is his welfare, her welfare, that you are to be concerned about. You made a vow to Almighty God. And, my dear friend, your vow to God is more important than your happiness. You even took a vow upon yourself. And your character is more important than that. And don’t come around here saying, “Well, I am supposed to be happy.” No, my dear friend, God has a plan for your life—and it is to obey His Word.

Somebody says, “But I prayed to God, and God told me it is all right. God wants me to get a divorce. God is leading me this way.” My dear friend, God never, never, never, never goes contrary to His Word—never! God is not going to make an exception for you. And if you say, “Well, God told me that He’s making an exception for me,” you’re guilty of self-deception and autosuggestion. It is not the Word of God.

So, just simply throw away your parachute. Divorce is not an option. “Well,” you say, “my marriage is in deep difficulty.” Well, it may be. And may I say this, my dear friend: Marriages are not healed overnight. And even if you make a decision to put your marriage back together, it’s not going to be just wonderful. As a matter of fact, it may be tortuous. Marriages are not healed overnight. But I’m going to tell you something: the direction of your marriage can be changed overnight. That is the important thing: just simply that you turned and began to go in the right direction. It may take you a long time to get there, but at least you’re headed in that way. And by a decision, by a consecration of a surrendered will, the direction of your home can be changed overnight. And you can begin to go in that right direction.

And why did you get married, to begin with? Well, you loved her. She loved you. You saw things in each other. And if you were to sit down and think of all the positive things, you would think of so many positive things, but you think about the ten percent of the things that are bad. Well, why throw away ninety percent of a good marriage because of ten percent of the things that are bad? Why not work on those ten percent of the things?
Change what you can change. Accept what you cannot change. Commit it to God. And don’t come around with these excuses.

III. The God-Declared Pardon for a Failed Marriage
Now, here’s the third thing I want to say. I’ve talked about the God-designed plan for marriage. I’ve talked about the God-desired permanence of marriage. Let me talk to you about the God-declared pardon for a failed marriage. Now we’re in Matthew chapter 5. Before long, we’re going to get into Matthew 6, where our Lord taught us to pray. And in Matthew chapter 6, verse 12, He taught us to pray this: “And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.” (Matthew 6:12)

Now, what about people who have already failed? “Pastor Rogers, are you here today trying to put a guilt trip on me because I’ve got a divorce and I’ve been remarried?” No, no, no, no! No! Oh, God, no! God is a God of forgiveness. God is a God of grace. And if you have failed, and your marriage is irreparably broken, you’ve remarried, you’ve got a second home and so forth, you can’t unscramble eggs; you can’t go backwards. And one thing that really bothers me today is there are those who want to make divorce the unpardonable sin. They want to divorce a dead-end street. They want to treat divorced people like second-class citizens in the kingdom of heaven. And they sit around and pass judgment.

It’s an amazing thing that if a Christian could be a murderer or something, and he gets saved, and they put him on “From the Prison to the Pulpit,” how wonderful: he’s a preacher of the gospel! Or somebody who has been maybe a whoremonger before he got saved, and he got saved from all of this, and we say, “How wonderful! How wonderful! Look what God has done for him!” But let somebody get a divorce; let somebody get an irreparable divorce where it cannot be put together, whether they be the guilty party or the innocent party, and then there come those people who want with great judgment to say somehow that they are second-class citizens in the kingdom of heaven. My dear friend, if you have repented of your sin and given your heart to Jesus Christ, there is no such thing as a second-class citizen in the kingdom of heaven. Put it down big, put it down plain, and put it down straight—Romans chapter 8 and verse 1: “There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus.” (Romans 8:1) Hallelujah for that! “The blood of Jesus Christ [God’s] Son cleanseth us from all sin.” (1 John 1:7) Isaiah 1:18: “Come now, and let us reason together, saith the LORD: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool.” (Isaiah 1:18)

Let me tell you about a church. A church is not a showcase for saints; it is a hospital for sinners. That’s why we’re here: to help people who need help. And if you think that I’m here, my dear friend, to push you down because you made a mistake, which one of us here has never made a mistake? I remember reading in the Bible about that woman who was taken in the very act of adultery, and there were there those who wanted to stone her. You read about it in John chapter 8 and verse 7: “So when they continued asking him, he lifted up himself, and said unto them, He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her.” (John 8:7) And then in John chapter 8, beginning in verse 10: “When Jesus had lifted up himself, and saw none but the woman,”—that is, all the men went away—“he said unto her, Woman, where are those thine accusers? hath no man condemned thee? She said, No man, Lord. And Jesus said unto her, Neither do I condemn thee: go, and sin no more.” (John 8:10–11) Jesus did not take a weak view of sin. Jesus did not say, “I am condoning sin,” when He forgave her; but Jesus said, “I do not condemn you; go, and sin no more.” And there is that proper balance.

I remember reading there in John 4 where Jesus spoke to that woman at the well, that Samaritan woman, that outcast. She had had five husbands. But rather than condemning her, the Lord Jesus Christ knew the thirst of her soul, and Jesus knew that she had gone from affair to affair, from husband to husband, trying to find out what He alone would give her, and He gave to her the water of life and satisfied her thirsty soul. He didn’t condemn her; He saved her—brought her to Himself.

And what would Jesus do today? I’ll tell you what He would do today. He would do what He has always done. For Hebrews chapter 13 and verse 8 says, “Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and to day, and for ever.” (Hebrews 13:8)

Sure, divorce is wrong. And as long, my dear friend, as there is breath in these lungs, I’m going to be preaching what our Lord says about it. But there are two sides also, my dear friend. While we must never lower the standard, we must never ever become pharisaical; we must never become hardhearted to those who need the grace of God.

And what is the position of this church? I’ll tell you what it is. There is a dangerous precipice, a dangerous cliff, called divorce. And our job, our duty, as a church is to build a wall as high as we can, as strong as we can, and say to our kids, “Don’t fall over that precipice. It’s dangerous. It’s destructive. Don’t do it! Don’t do it! Don’t do it!” But, my dear friend, for those who do, for whatever reason, not only are we going to keep the wall up here, but we’re going to keep an ambulance down there. And we’ll keep plenty of gas in it to minister to those people and show them the love and the grace of God that every one of us have received. And that’s the kind of a church we need to be and every church needs to be.

Conclusion
Now, my dear friend, listen to me. If you’re married, and Jesus Christ is not the head of your home, make Jesus Christ the head of your home, because if you don’t, you have... very little chance of having a Bible home. As a matter of fact, you have no chance at all—without making Jesus Christ the head. You might be able to survive, and stay married until you die, but you’ll not have the kind of a home that I’m talking about. Make Jesus Christ the head of your home.

If you’re divorced, and it was your fault, ask God to forgive you, and be reconciled to your partner. Your partner’s already remarried, or you’re already remarried? Still, go, and in repentance go to that person and make every wrong as right as you can. And give forgiveness. And receive the forgiveness of God. If you have been divorced against your will, and you’re the victim of somebody’s treachery, ask God to take the bitterness out of your heart, and forgive that person, even if they won’t repent. Forgive them in spirit. You cannot fully forgive them until they repent. But have the spirit of forgiveness, as Jesus prayed from the cross, “Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do.” (Luke 23:34) And take the remainder of your life and give it to God. God is not finished with you.

And if you’re listening to me and you’re thinking about getting a divorce, don’t do it. Don’t do it. Somebody out there listening by television, I beg you in the name of Jesus, take the Word of God, ask God to help you, and put that house back together.

And let me just say to those of you who are married, if you have a holy, happy Christian home, I want to tell you it is probably in today’s world the best testimony for Jesus you can have—just your house, just your home. Let your home be a light where Christ shines. And don’t build upon garbage, but build your house upon the rock. The Bible tells us in Ecclesiastes chapter 4 and verse 12, “A threefold cord is not quickly broken.” (Ecclesiastes 4:12) That is a man, a woman, and Jesus Christ. My dear friend, when you put that threefold cord together, then it’s very hard for the devil to break it.

Introduction
We’re preaching through the Sermon on the Mount, and we’re in Matthew chapter 5. Would you be finding it, please—Matthew chapter 5? And, in just a moment, we’re going to read, beginning in verse 38, and read right on through to verse 42—Matthew 5:38–42.

Well, we live in a world that is a very, very self-centered world. And, somebody has well said that, “People who are all wrapped up in themselves make a very small package.” How are we going to get outside ourselves? How are we going to learn the joy of a selfless and Christ-filled life? The passage that I’m going to read to you will tell you all about it. The title of the message this morning: “The Miracle Mile.”

Now look, if you will, in Matthew chapter 5, beginning in verse 38: “Ye have heard that it hath been said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth: But I say unto you”—that is, Jesus said—“That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also. And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also. And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain”—that is, “Go with him two miles”—“Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away.” (Matthew 5:38–42) Now, I want you to notice especially verse 41: “And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain” (Matthew 5:41)—or, “go with him two.”

The title of the message: “The Miracle Mile.” Now, I want to talk to you about “the miracle mile,” which is the second mile. Jesus said, “If anybody forces you to go with him one mile, go with him two.” (Matthew 5:41)

I. The Principle of the Miracle Mile

The first thing I want you to see is what I’m going to call “the principle of the miracle mile.” Now, what is all of this about? Well, you have to understand the background. You see, the Romans occupied the land of Palestine for about one hundred years, but they had learned something from the Persians, who had, at one time, ruled the world. The Persians had learned a secret—that not only would they conquer a people, but they could use those people in a very advantageous way that, as they subjugated them, they could make them do certain menial tasks. And, one of the things was this: that if a Persian soldier was on his journey and he saw somebody in a conquered land, he could say to that person, “Listen, by law, you must carry my knapsack, and you must carry my weapons for a mile.” And, they had to do that. The Romans learned from the Persians some six hundred years before that that was a very wonderful plan.

And so, the Romans would often take a Jewish citizen, a civilian; a Roman solider would say to a Jewish civilian, “Here, carry this backpack for me. Carry my burden. Carry my weapons. You must do it by law. You must carry this burden for a mile.” That was the law. And, you talk about something that was humiliating to a Jew! Something that he hated with all of the intensity of his soul would be to be forced to carry another man’s burden for a mile.

Now, it is said that every Jewish boy had marked off a milepost from his house. He knew exactly how far a mile was because he was going to carry that burden a mile but not one step further. He knew exactly how far. And so, this is the situation in Jesus’ time, and it caused so much resentment; it caused so much rebellion. And, the Roman soldiers, according to historians, enjoyed humiliating the Jew by making him carry that burden a mile. They were the occupational army, you know, during that time.

Now, Jesus is preaching. They never went to sleep when Jesus was preaching. Jesus is preaching along, and He says, “And if anybody commands you to go with him a mile, go with him two.” (Matthew 5:41) Boy, at that time, they blinked, and heads jerked. “You mean, you want us to do double duty? You want us to go not only one mile; you want us to go two miles?” Jesus said, “That’s exactly right.” What is the principle of the miracle mile? Are you listening? The principle that Jesus Christ is talking about is simply this: you must do more than is required by law.

Now, the Pharisees and the scribes to whom Jesus was speaking in this Sermon on the Mount, among others, they were very careful to keep the law of God, so they thought. And look, if you will, for example, in verse 20. I think you’ll pick it up in chapter 5, verse 20: “For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.” (Matthew 5:20) Now, the scribes and the Pharisees were very careful to keep the law—at least, they thought they were. They were keeping the letter of the law. They were keeping the law in a punctilious way. And, Jesus said—listen—“Unless you are willing to go beyond what the scribes and the Pharisees do, you will in no wise enter into the kingdom of heaven.” (Matthew 5:20) What the Pharisees had, and what many people in America have today, is what I want to call a “minimum morality,” a “loveless legalism.” And, what is the principle of the miracle mile? It is simply this: to do more than what is required.

I was reading the other day about a farmer who had been in to buy a car, and later on the car salesman came to buy from the farmer a cow. And, here’s the way the farmer sold the cow to the automobile dealer; the farmer priced it this way: “Basic cow: four hundred dollars. Two-toned: an extra forty-five dollars. Extra stomach: seventy-five dollars. Produce storage compartment: sixty dollars. Dispensing device—four spigots, ten dollars each: forty dollars. Genuine cowhide upholstery: 125 dollars. Dual horns: fifteen dollars. Automatic fly swatter: thirty-five dollars.” And, some other things added up to 895 dollars for a four-hundred-dollar cow. Now, the Pharisees were very much like that farmer. I mean, they were willing to do just as much as required, and no more.

Somebody has said that “life really is lived on three levels: there’s the hellish level that returns evil for good; and then, there’s the human level that returns good for good and evil for evil; and then, there is the holy level, the heavenly level, that returns good for evil.” That’s what our Lord is saying here in verse 44: “But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you.” (Matthew 5:44) “Those who require you to carry their burden a mile, carry it two.” (Matthew 5:41) Do more than is expected. Do more than is required. Go beyond that minimum morality. That is the principle of the miracle mile.

II. The Practice of the Miracle Mile

Secondly, I want you to notice not only the principle of the miracle mile, but the practice of it. Now, if you read this carelessly, you’ll get the idea that Jesus is teaching passivism. For example, look, if you will, in verses 38 and 39: “Ye have heard that it hath been said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth: But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also. And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also. And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him [two].” (Matthew 5:38–41)

Now, is Jesus just teaching that Christians are to be doormats? Is that what He’s teaching? Is Jesus teaching that we can never defend ourselves, that we can never protect our homes, our lives, our loved ones? Not at all! As a matter of fact, Jesus said also, if you will remember in this Sermon on the Mount, that He did not come to diminish, or to destroy, the law of the prophets—He didn’t come to destroy that; He came to fulfill it. (Matthew 5:17) And, Jesus said, “Not a jot, not a tittle, shall fail from the law.” (Matthew 5:18) Jesus believed all of the Old Testament law, and a part of the Old Testament law is that we are to defend our loved ones and to defend, even sometimes to the point of death, our liberties and our rights.

As a matter of fact, Jesus here is quoting Exodus chapter 21, verses 24 and 25. He’s quoting it exactly: “[An] eye for [an] eye, [a] tooth for [a] tooth, hand for [a] hand, foot for [a] foot, Burning for burning, wound for wound, stripe for stripe.” (Exodus 21:24–25) If you read the Bible and find pacifism and you think Jesus is talking about us being a pacifist, you’re wrong. As a matter of fact, the Bible is against lawlessness. The Bible is against anarchy. We live in a generation of people who have pudding for brains who are defending the lion’s right to eat the lamb. Jesus never did that. Jesus taught that there should be civil justice.

“But now, wait a minute, pastor. On the one hand, you say that the Bible is against lawlessness and the Bible doesn’t teach pacifism; and yet, here, on the other hand, our Lord says, ‘Resist not evil.’ (Matthew 5:39) Somebody slaps you on one cheek—‘Just turn the other.’ Is that contradictory?” Not rightly understood; it is not.

The great Apostle Paul, I think, gives the greatest commentary on this passage. If you would, turn to Romans chapter 12 right now, and I want you to look at it because if you don’t, you’re going to get confused on this point. Turn to Romans chapter 12, and see what the great Apostle Paul teaches on this subject. Romans 12—and I’m going to read beginning in verse 17, and I'm going to read right on through Romans 12 'til I get to chapter 13 and go to verse 4. I'll put it all together, and you'll have it exactly as the Bible teaches it. Now, here's what the Apostle Paul said, and he's commenting on what Jesus said—Romans chapter 12 and verse 17: “Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men. If it be possible”—now, underscore that sometimes it’s not possible—“If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men”—sometimes it is not possible. Now, notice verse 19—“Dearly beloved, avenge not yourselves”—that is, “don’t take revenge”—“but rather give place unto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord”—you can be certain that God is no pacifist—“Therefore if thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink: for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head. Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good.” (Romans 12:17–21)

Now, that ends the chapter. And, if that’s as far as we read, we’d say, “Well, the Bible teaches pacifism, and the Bible teaches that we’re just to lie down in front of evil and let evil take over.” But, continue to read. Go now into Romans chapter 13 and verse 1: “Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers”—“the higher authorities”—“For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God. Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation. For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil. Wilt thou then not be afraid of the power? do that which is good, and thou shalt have praise of the same: For he”—the army officer, the soldier, the magistrate—“For he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the sword in vain”—God’s magistrates have “swords”; that is, authority and power to wound and to hurt—“for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil.” (Romans 13:1–4) Now, what is this saying? Very simply this: that you and I are not to take personal revenge. But, the Bible does not teach pacifism.

As a matter of fact, the Bible teaches that evil must be restrained. Now, turn to another passage; then I’m going to comment on it—1 Peter chapter 2, verses 13 and 14. Here’s what God says to those of us who are citizens—1 Peter 2:13: “Submit yourselves to every ordinance of man”—that is, to man’s laws—“for the Lord’s sake: whether it be to the king, as supreme; Or unto governors”—now, listen to this—“as unto them that are sent by him for the punishment of evildoers, and for the praise of them that do well.” (1 Peter 2:13–14) Now, men are wicked. We live in a wicked society, and the wickedness of human nature has to be restrained by law. And, just to lie down in front of sin and error and evil and wickedness is neither just nor kind because it doesn’t protect the innocent, nor does it restrain wickedness.

So, what is our Lord talking about here? Well, let me just say this parenthetically: Have you ever heard it said that you cannot legislate morality? Well, you’re right. There is no law on earth that can make you moral—none. You can’t legislate morality. There’s not a law written that can make you love me or make me love you. You can’t do that with law. Now, here are two fellows over here. Now, let’s say we make a law to say that they have to love me. There’s no law that can do that. So, therefore, I have to have a law that says they can’t kill me. You say, “You cannot legislate morality,” so, therefore, you legislate against immorality. That’s what it’s all about. Laws are not here to make us good. Laws are here because we are so bad and we have to be restrained. And so, what is our Lord saying here when He says that “if somebody will slap you on one cheek, turn the other?” (Matthew 5:39) What is our Lord saying when He’s saying, “Resist not evil”? (Matthew 5:39) He is teaching that you are not to take personal vengeance. You’re not to stand up for your so-called “rights.” God has ways of taking vengeance, and God has ways of protecting. And, there are times when we ourselves have to protect our loved ones. But, what He’s talking about here is the idea that so many people have—and I’ll illustrate it here in a moment—of standing up for their own so-called “rights.”

For example, look, if you will, in verse 39, and maybe it will get a little clearer here when we talk about this miracle mile. Go back to Matthew chapter 5 and verse 39. Look at it here. Now, Jesus says in verse 39: “Whosever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also.” (Matthew 5:39) Now, there are two things, if you wanted to make a Jew angry, two things you could do: one is to spit in his face; the other is to slap him. Have you ever been slapped in the face? I mean, somebody with an open hand, right in the face. Or, to spit in your face? The ultimate act of contemptuousness. What is our Lord saying here when He’s saying this? “Go the second mile when your dignity is degraded.” You see, that’s what they did to the Lord Jesus Christ. By the way, just put in your margin “Matthew chapter 26 and verse 67,” and read it when you get home: “Then did they spit in his face, and buffeted him; and others smote him with the palms of their hands.” (Matthew 26:67) They spit in the face of Jesus, and they slapped Jesus with an open hand. And, Jesus did not slap back; Jesus just simply turned the other cheek. What is our Lord saying? “When your dignity is degraded, when somebody insults you with an open hand, or a vile word, or whatever it is, just turn the other cheek. Go the second mile.”

And then, He gives another illustration. Look, if you will, in verse 40 of this same chapter: “And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him take thy cloak also.” (Matthew 5:40) Our Lord is not saying here that you’re not supposed to protect your property if somebody is trying to steal it. That’s not what He’s saying. Here is a law case. You’ve done something wrong, and somebody has sued you. And, they’ve gotten a judgment against you. And, you don’t have anything to pay so they take your shirt. Our Lord says, “Yes, and give him your coat also. You did wrong. And, don’t just simply pay what’s due. Don’t just go one mile. Don’t just obey the law. Give him your coat also. Go the second mile. Don’t just do the minimum. Do more than is required.”

And then, when somebody has a need and comes to you and asks you for help, look, if you will, in verse 42: “Give to him that asketh of thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away.” (Matthew 5:42) Don’t just pay what you owe. Anybody can do that. Look in verse 46: “For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? do not even the publicans the same? And if you salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others? do not even the publicans so?” (Matthew 5:46–47) If you just love those that love you, if you just give to those who can give to you, if you just help those who help you, if you just do what is required of you and no more, any good red-blooded atheist can do that. But, when somebody has a need and they come to you, you don’t owe them anything; but Jesus says, “Give to them, and don’t turn them away.” The Bible says in 1 Timothy chapter 6, verses 17 and 18: “Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy”—now, if you have money, listen—“That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate.” (1 Timothy 6:17–18) And, 1 John 3, verses 17 and 18: “But whoso hath this world’s good, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him? My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth.” (1 John 3:17–18)

Now, here is our Lord saying that if you’re walking down the street and somebody says to you, “Give me your billfold”; somebody says, “Give me your shoes”; somebody says, “Give me your house”; somebody says, “Give me your automobile,” are you to do that? No, that’s not what our Lord is saying at all. That is a false and an extreme interpretation of what our Lord is saying here. There is the kind of giving that does not help but it hurts. All scripture has to be compared to scripture. For example, the Apostle Paul said in 2 Thessalonians, “If any [man] would not work, neither should he eat.” (2 Thessalonians 3:10) You don’t give to a worthless person. You don’t give to a professional beggar. You don’t give to a fraudulent person. You don’t encourage the alcoholic in his booze by giving him more money to buy booze with. That’s not what our Lord is talking about. But, what our Lord is talking about is simply this: that we do not simply pay what we owe, but we look beyond what we owe to see what they need and what we can do with that which God has put in our hand. And, by turning the other cheek, or by going beyond that which is required of us in a court of law, or by helping those that we do not owe anything to, we are doing something that Jesus calls “going the second mile.” There’s the law mile and the legal mile, and there’s the love mile and the extra mile that I want to call “the miracle mile.”
III. The Power of the Miracle Mile

Now, let me go to the third and final point here this morning. I’ve talked to you about the principle of the miracle mile. I’ve talked to you about the practice of it and some illustrations that Jesus gave—and He gave more—about loving our enemies. This whole chapter is full of that—going beyond the minimum morality, going beyond what is required by law and supplied by love. Now, let me, thirdly, just kind of wrap it up and see if I can apply it to where we live today. We’ve talked about the principle of it. We’ve talked about the practice of it. Let me talk to you about the power—the power of the miracle mile.

Why? What will the miracle mile do? Why did I call it, when I prepared this message, “the miracle mile”? Well, there are many things it will do, but I want to mention three of them today that, when you begin to live this way, will transform your life and give you joy and power that you will never have any other way.

A. It Will Change Your Attitude

Number one: It will change your attitude. The second mile is the smile mile. Remember that: the second mile is the smile mile. The first mile is the slave mile. You go the first mile and that’s all—you’re going to hate it every step of the way. In the first mile, you’re required to go that far, and you are the victim. In the second mile, you are the victor. In the first mile, you are being controlled. In the second mile, you are controlling. The first mile is the law mile. The second mile is the love mile. The first mile only makes you bitter. The second mile gives you joy. In the first mile, you are conquered. In the second mile, you have conquered yourself, and the man who makes you carry his burden. The first mile is drudgery. The second mile is victory. It changes your attitude because you say, “I’m not doing this because I have to; I am doing this because I want to—because my Lord has taught me to.” It will change your attitude.

B. It Will Make You a Success

Here’s a second thing the second mile will do: it will make you a success. All successful people, even in the in the natural realm, they are almost always second-milers. The reason that some people are not successful in their spiritual life is that they’re just first-milers. They say, “Well, I’m going to do five minutes a day of devotions. Five minutes is up. I’m finished. I’m going to read my Bible so I can mark it up. I’m going to read through the Bible in a year. A dose a day keeps the devil away.” They’re just simply doing what they think is required, but that’s all they do.

Last night I was speaking with Kemmons Wilson, who was the one of the founders of the Holiday Inn organization back when it was a good family organization. And, he was one of the founders. I have heard Kemmons Wilson talk about what it takes to make success. And, I always laugh when he talks to these high schoolers and others and he says, “If you want to be a success, you just have to work a half a day; that’s all.” He says, “It doesn’t make any difference if it’s the first twelve hours or the second twelve hours—just half a day; that’s all.” What’s he talking about? If you want to be a success—whether you’re building hotels or building lives for Jesus; it makes no difference—my dear friend, you’ve got to be a second-miler. All of these folks who just simply watch the clock on their job, all they do is what is required of them, what they’re paid to do. My dear friend, if you only do what you are paid to do, you’ll never be paid for what you’ve not done. There’s a difference.

I was reading about Henry Ford. You know, he was kind of eccentric. And, Henry Ford, who built the great Ford organization, he was a genius, but different, eccentric. And, Henry Ford bought the Lincoln factory in Detroit, and it was losing money. And, he was trying to get the thing humming and started. So, he asked somebody to cut down for him a log. They cut a log off a tree, trimmed the limbs off of it. And, he had it brought into the office building, and he laid that log in front of the elevators that go up to the top, right down there on the floor. And, the next morning when everybody came in, there was a log there. So, all of the secretaries and stenographers and executives, they all stepped over that log and went up. And, there it was. Maybe they commented on it, but that was all.

Day after day, the maintenance people cleaned around that log. People stepped over that log. It stayed there, Bob, for three weeks. Nobody asked about it; nobody moved it. Everybody said, “I don’t know what it’s doing there, but it’s not my department. I don’t get paid for handling logs in front of elevators.” And, it stayed there for three weeks. And, Henry Ford called them all in and said, “I put that log there, and not a one of you asked about it. Nobody asked why it was there. Nobody wanted to know about it. Nobody did anything to remove it. And, every one of you are fired.” He fired everybody on that entire floor—fired every one of them; put his son Edsel in there to do something to make that business make money. You see, everybody says, “That’s not my business”; “I’m not there”; “I don’t have anything to do with moving logs”; “I type letters”; “I do this”; “I do that.”

You know, we have some folks here at this church, and I thank God for them. They don’t just simply report to work on Monday morning and say, “This is what I’m paid to do, and I’m going to do that,” and when the whistle blows at 4:30 or 5:00, or whenever it is, they go home and forget the rest of it. My dear friend, listen, the second mile will change your attitude. The first mile, you’re being controlled. You’re a victim; you’re forced to do it. The second mile, you say, “I am doing this. Now I am in control.” And, you can whistle while you walk and whistle while you work, going the second mile. The second mile is the mile that brings success in any endeavor—in the physical realm, in the spiritual realm, wherever it is.
C. It Is the Key to Better Relationships

Thirdly, not only will the second mile change your attitude; not only will this miracle mile make you a successful person; but, my dear friend, it is the key to better relationships. And, therefore, it is the key to witness.

Let’s just imagine here we are back two thousand years ago in the land of Palestine. Here’s a man out there; he’s working in the field. He’s plowing along, working in the field. Here comes a Roman soldier. He’s got this Roman soldier’s backpack on. He’s got his spear. He’s got his canteen. He has all this. He sees that Jewish man out there in the field. He says, “Hey, I’m talking to you! You! Yeah, you! Come here! Pick this up! I’m tired. Carry that for me!” That Jew throws the reins of that plow down. He scowls. He grits his teeth. He mutters something. The soldier says, “What did you say?” “I didn’t say anything.” He says, “Pick that up.” He picks it up. He says, “Okay, I’m going to carry this, mister. You’re a soldier. Your people are in control, and there’s nothing we can do about it. And, I’ve got to do it, and I’m going to do it. But, I want to tell you something, soldier: one of these days, we may be on top, and you may be under. And, I just hope I meet you some day after this is all over.” And, he picks that burden up, and he carries it. There’s the mark—a mile. And, he throws it down and says, “There! Now I’ve done it.” He walks back to his work. But, he’s too angry to work. He hits his fist on the barn door, goes in the house, and his wife says, “What’s wrong with you?” “Oh,” he says, “don’t talk to me about it. I don’t want to talk. I don’t want any supper. Just forget it.” Oh, he’s seething. He’s an inferno, he’s so angry. He’s been forced to go a mile.

But now, here’s another man. He’s heard Jesus give the Sermon on the Mount. A Roman soldier comes along and says, “Hey, you! Come over here!” “You talking to me? Be right there.” “Carry that burden.” “Yes sir, be glad to. Come on. Let’s go.” The soldier says, “This man, is he sick? What’s wrong with this fellow?” They begin to walk along, and the Jewish man says to the Roman soldier, “Where are you from? Tell me about your family. How long have you been in the army?” And, they’re walking along, and they’re getting in a conversation. And then, they come finally to the one-mile mark. The Roman soldier says, “Well, thank you for carrying my burden. You’ve been different than most people. I appreciate it.” And, the Jewish boy says, “Wait a minute. You’re tired. This is a heavy load. Right down the road about two miles there’s a well of water where we can both get a drink. I’m thirsty. I’m sure you must be thirsty. Let me just carry this for you another mile. Tell me some more about your family. Tell me about what it was like back in Rome.”

Why, the second mile is so different from the first mile, they become friends. They begin to talk; they begin to converse. They’re sitting there drinking water, and the Roman soldier says to the Jewish man, “You know, I’ve got to confess something to you: I’ve had the wrong opinion of you Jews. I really have. I’ve hated Jews. I have thought you were a squalid race. I thought you had no character. I thought… I've never seen… Listen, just forgive me for the way I've felt about the Jewish people.” The Jew says, “Well, listen, you’ve got a heart just like I do. When you talked about your wife and children, I saw that the heart that beats in your chest is just like the heart that beats in mine.” “Why did you go two miles? Why? I mean you didn’t have to. Why?” “Well,” the Jewish man says, “have you ever heard of a man named Jesus? Many of us think He’s the Messiah. I heard Him preach an incredible message. We were there at the Mount of the Beatitudes, and Jesus preached. And, Jesus said, ‘When you fellows tell us to go one mile, we’re supposed to go two, just out of love.’” He says, “Jesus said that? Who is Jesus? I’ve never heard anything like that. Tell me about this Jesus. I want to learn more about that. I have never in my life heard anything like that.”

Don’t you think that would open a door to witness? Don’t you think that would make a difference? Don’t you think it would make a difference where you worked tomorrow if you began to live that way? Don’t you think it would make a difference in your school? Hey, I know it would make a difference in our homes. I know it would make a difference in our jobs. I know it would make a difference if we would just simply say, “I’m not going to go just one mile and do all that is required. I’ll do what Jesus says, and I’ll go the second mile. When they slap me on one cheek, I’ll turn the other. They sue me in law and take my shirt; I’ll give ‘em my coat. I’ll not just give what I owe, but I’ll give what they need. Somebody makes me go a mile, I’ll go a second mile, and I’ll do it with a smile on my face.” And, my dear friend, if people began to live like that on Monday, they’d start believing what I preach on Sunday. You know it is true. We’d go out and begin to live that miracle mile, the mile that makes a difference.

Conclusion
And, I just want to say this before I’m finished: Jesus—Jesus, the Son of God—was the One, my dear friend, that went the second mile. All of His life—all of His life—was the life of a second mile. Even in the Garden of Eden God was going the second mile. Adam and Eve had sinned against God, and you would think that God would stay up there in heaven and let Adam and Eve try and find Him. But, there is God, walking in the garden, saying, “Adam, where are you?” (Genesis 3:9) That wasn’t the voice of a detective; that was the voice of a brokenhearted God, seeking God. And, Jesus left heaven, came to this earth, and the Bible says, “God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.” (Romans 5:8) He went the second mile. We deserved the penalty of the law and justice, but He came to give us grace and mercy. That’s what Christmas is all about. Oh, what a great Savior we have! What a wonderful, dear Savior! What a wonderful Lord we have! I can’t understand why people don’t want to give their hearts to Jesus. Can you understand that? I can’t understand it. I really can’t. If I had a thousand lives to live, I’d give every one to Jesus Christ.

A preacher was preaching, and he preached about Jesus and gave the invitation. And, people were coming forward, and a little girl who didn’t understand it all asked her mother, “What are those people doing?” And, her mother said, “They’re going forward to give their hearts to Jesus.” That little girl said, “Why don’t we all go?”

That’s a good question. Why don’t we all go? Such a wonderful Savior is Jesus, who went the second mile for us! And, He wants to save you today.

Introduction
Would you find God’s Word, turn to Matthew chapter 5? And, when you’ve found it, look up here. We’re putting a new emphasis in the church—maybe you’ve noticed it, maybe you’ve not—but that emphasis—and for the succeeding months—will be on fellowship: “Building the Fellowship.” And, in order to build the fellowship, there is a principle that we are enfolding into that theme, and I’m going to teach you that principle this morning. Now, it’s not an original principle with me. The principle began with the Lord Jesus Christ. He taught it in the Bible, in the Sermon on the Mount. But, if you learn that principle, it will give you “joy unspeakable and full of glory.” (1 Peter 1:8) It will put a smile on your face. It will put a spring in your step. It will put victory in your life. That principle is the principle called “the second mile.” The second mile is the smile mile.

Now, I want you to read in God’s Word, beginning in verse 38—chapter 5 and verse 38: “Ye have heard that it hath been said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth: But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also. And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also. And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain”—that is, “go with him two miles”—“Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away. Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy. But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you: That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust. For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? do not even the publicans so? And if ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others? Do not even the publicans so? Be ye therefore perfect”—and the word there, perfect, means “mature”: “Be ye therefore mature, perfect”—“even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.” (Matthew 5:38–48)

Now, the key to living with a smile is a Christ-centered life. The key to living a Christ-centered life is, first of all, emptying yourself out of your own self-life. Even God cannot fill that which is already full, so the Christ-filled life is a self-emptied life. So many of us are so full of self. And, as the wise man said, “A man wrapped up in himself makes a very small package.” I want you to think with me now on this principle, a principle of living—selfless living, joyful living, Christ-filled living: the principle of the second mile. And, remember this: it’s the second mile that brings the smile. There are three things I want to tell you about the second mile this morning, and I pray God the Holy Spirit will not only write them in your notes, but write them on your heart.

I. The Second Mile Is the Mastery Mile

Number one: The second mile is the mastery mile. Have you got that? It is the mastery mile. Now, what do we mean? In verse 41, when Jesus said, “If anyone will compel you to go with him a mile, go with him two miles,” (Matthew 5:41) what is He talking about? Well, in Jesus’ day, the Romans had a practice. They had learned this practice from the Persians about six centuries before that. When they would conquer a land, they would subjugate that land and rule over it. And, one of the things that they did to keep people in their place and to help them to understand just who they were and who was in charge was the principle of the Roman mile. And, in this day, a Roman soldier who had a backpack, a burden, or whatever, if he was walking along and he was tired and weary and he saw a young, able-bodied Jewish man there, or a boy, he could say to him, “You, carry this pack,” and, by law, that Jewish boy had to pick up that Roman soldier’s pack, his burden, and carry it for him one mile. They knew this. Some have said that every Jewish boy had a mile staked off from his property, from his farm, from his field, from his house—one mile—because if he were compelled to carry a burden a mile, he would do it, but he would not go one inch, one step, further. With spite and hate and resentment, he would carry that load and then dump it down. He had done what the law had commanded. He had done what was required. It brought incredible resentment from the Jews. Not only were they living as conquered people, not only were the Romans were in charge, but now they were humiliated.

Can you imagine when Jesus is preaching? Can you imagine? He says, “Now, if somebody compels you to go with him a mile, go with him two miles.” (Matthew 5:41) Friend, you never went to sleep when Jesus was preaching. I can just hear them: “He must be jesting. Is He serious? I mean, does He expect us to carry for those Gentile dogs, to do double duty, to go the second mile?” That’s exactly what Jesus was saying. What He’s saying is we need to do more than the legalists, those who do what is required and not one bit more. Go back to verse 20. Jesus said, “For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.” (Matthew 5:20) The scribes and the Pharisees did exactly what they were required to do, not one jot, not one tittle, more. Jesus said even when they paid their tithe, they “[paid their] tithe of mint…anise and cummin.” (Matthew 23:23) That is, they were counting the little mint leaves: “One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine—these are mine. Ten—that’s yours, Lord. I’ve done my duty. That is it.” What is the principle of the second mile? What is the smile mile? What will put a smile on your face? It is to do more than is required.

Now, what Jesus is saying is that any pagan can go one mile; he has to, anyway. Look, if you will, in verses 46 and 47 of this same chapter: “For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? do not even the publicans the same?”—you see, that’s the first mile: just to love those that love us—“And if ye salute your brethren only”—that is, if you’re friendly to people that you know and love—“what do ye more than others?”—you’ve only gone a mile—“do not even the publicans so?” (Matthew 5:46–47) Now, what Jesus is saying is that we who are children of God are different: We’re not legalists. We’re not lost. But, we are filled with another principle, which is the principle of the smile mile, the second mile.

You see, life is lived, really, on three levels. First of all, there is the hellish level. And, a lot of people in the world live on the hellish level—that is, to return evil for good. And, there are people like that, who return evil for good. That’s the hellish level. Now, the human level—the very best you could hope for without the new birth is to return good for good and evil for evil; that’s the human level. But, the heavenly level is to return good for evil. Now, when you return good for good, evil for evil, that’s the first mile. But, when you return good for evil, that is the second mile.

Now, a boy, a Jewish boy, who is carrying that Roman pack the first mile, he is a slave while he’s doing that because he’s required to do it. But, when he carries that pack the second mile, he is no longer a slave; he’s the one in control. Think about it. He’s the one who says, “I am now in charge. I’m not doing what you tell me I must do. I am now doing what I want to do. I am no longer the slave. I am in mastery right now. I am now under self-control.” Now, the devil wants to keep you under his control, but when you finally say, “I am not the devil’s slave. I am in charge of my own life now. I’m not doing what is required; I’m doing more than is required,” then move your ears back and get ready for a smile.

II. The Second Mile Is the Charity Mile

Now folks, let me tell you something: the second mile is the mastery mile. Now, here’s the second thing I want you to learn: not only is the second mile the mastery mile, but the second mile is the charity mile. You see, you do the first mile out of legalism; you do the second mile out of love. And, it is love that brings joy. Now, the Pharisees and the Sadducees and the scribes, they were very careful to do the first mile—I’m talking about in biblical legalism, not only carrying a Roman’s backpack, but in biblical legalism, they did that because they were self-righteous prigs. In those Pharisees, the milk of human kindness had curdled. They had religion, but they didn’t have reality; they didn’t have life.

Now, Jesus not only preached in glittering generalities, but Jesus preached in awesome specificity. For example, not only did Jesus say, “Go the second mile,” but He gave illustrations of how they could go the second mile that went far beyond carrying a soldier’s backpack.

A. Go the Second Mile When Your Dignity Is Degraded

For example, you go the second mile when your dignity is degraded. Look, if you will, at verse 38. Look at it: “Ye have heard that it hath been said, An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth: But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on the right cheek, turn to him the other also.” (Matthew 5:38–39) That is, “Go the second mile.” The first mile is revenge. The second mile is to give place to evil. Now, let me say this right away: Jesus is not talking pacifism. Jesus was not a pacifist. Jesus did not say that we ought never to defend ourselves. That’s not what He’s talking about here. If you think that’s what He’s talking about here, you’re going to be in awful trouble in this wicked world in which we live.

The other day Joyce and I went out to go for a boat ride, and when we got in the boat, I was doing some work getting things ready, and I slammed a lid, and I looked down, and there was a wasp that was on my arm, and he bit me there. And, I looked over, and there was another wasp, and he bit me there. And, I looked up, and there were wasps all around my head. Joyce is just getting on the boat. I said, “Run, Joyce! Run!” And, she began to run, and I began to run. And, those things were chasing us all over the backyard. You know what I did? I did not turn the other cheek. I went in, and I got me one of those wasp bombs. Man, revenge was sweet! I let them have it right between the running lights. I’ll tell you why. Jesus, here, is not talking about the lamb defending the lion’s right to eat it, or Adrian defending a wasp’s right to sting it, or you defending somebody’s right to act lawlessly. What Jesus here is talking about is when you’re insulted, when somebody has come and has degraded your dignity.

Notice what He says. Stand up here a minute, Scotty. I won’t hit you hard. Come here. Notice what He says: “If somebody strikes you on your right cheek…” (Matthew 5:39) Now, notice what He said: “your right cheek.” Point to your right cheek. You know which one that is? All right. Now, the normal person is right-handed. Well, if I were going to strike him, where would I normally strike him? I’d strike him on his left cheek. That’s just normal. To strike him on his right cheek is to give him what? You may see that. I’m not going to hit you. To strike him on his right cheek is to give him the back of my hand. It’s an insult. It’s like in olden days, when somebody would want a duel, they would take their gloves and slap a person. It’s saying, “You good-for-nothing! You lowdown person!” And, what our Lord is teaching here is that when somebody insults us, somebody degrades us, we’re to go the second mile.

That’s exactly what Paul taught in Romans chapter 12, verses 17 and following. He says, “Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men. If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men. Dearly beloved, avenge not yourselves, but rather give place unto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord. Therefore if thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink: for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head. Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good.” (Romans 12:17–21) And so, all of us are going to get insulted. All of us are going to be degraded. All of us are going to be looked down upon some time. If you want to know what you’re full of, just see what spills out when you get jostled.

I’d not been a pastor of this church very long when a man wrote me a letter. Evidently, he decided he didn’t like the new pastor, and he wrote me a letter. It was a degrading letter. And, very frankly, it was an unfair letter. Now, if he wanted some good things to criticize me about, I could have given him a list. But, he didn’t get any of the right things. He just got something that was really unfair. And, he wrote me a letter, and it was an accusatory letter, a very unfair letter, and a very hurtful letter.

I decided I would take that man as a project. I wrote him back—not a hypocritical letter, but I wrote him back a very kind letter. And, when I saw him the next time, I went straight for him and said, “How are you doing? Good to see you,” and I really meant it from my heart. The next time I saw him, I went toward him—and again and again and again and again. Finally, the man began to warm up to me and talk with me, and finally I was able to do some things for him. Finally, he got down where he could not get around, except in a wheelchair, and when he would come in the auditorium, I’d see him, I’d leave the platform, I’d go put my arms around him and hug him, and tell him I loved him.

Before he went to heaven, he told somebody, and that somebody told me—he said,
“You know, that man Rogers is the greatest man in the world.” Well, I’m not, but I don’t mind him thinking that. Brother Bob, he left a sizable gift to the church that we might do some work in his will. But, you know, I thought of that man, how I could have just returned evil for evil and said, “He had it coming to him.”

Now, I wish I could tell you many success stories. Maybe that’s the only one I have.
But, I want to tell you, friend, that God honors the second mile. You want me to tell you how to get rid of an enemy? Make a friend out of him.

B. Go the Second Mile When Your Adversary Is Victorious Jesus is saying, “Go the second mile.” Number one: Go the second mile when your dignity is degraded. Number two: Go the second mile when your adversary is victorious.
Look, if you will, in verse 40 of this same chapter now: “And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also.” (Matthew 5:40) Now, the cloak here is like the overcoat. If he gets in a lawsuit, he’s victorious over you, then just don’t give him simply what the settlement is; give him more than the settlement. Now, our Lord is not talking about somebody robbing you. He’s not talking about if a robber comes into your house and you say, “Let me guide you over here to the safe.” He’s not talking about that. He’s talking here about a legal settlement. In this legal matter, there has been a brother who is adjudicated guilty; and so, he has to give his coat. Jesus said that if you’ve been wrong and you know that you’re wrong, don’t simply try to rectify that wrong by whatever the law says you must do; do more than the law says you must do—go the second mile. That’s what Zacchaeus did, wasn’t it, when Zacchaeus said, “If I

C. Go the Second Mile When You Have a Brother in Need Go the second mile. If you’re wrong, when you apologize, get right with God and get right with your brother. And then, go the second mile when your brother is victorious over you. Number three: Go the second mile when you have a brother, a sister, in need.
Look in verse 42: “Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away.” (Matthew 5:42) We have to understand that we, when we are like the pagans or when we’re like the scribes and the Pharisees, we do all that is required and we do not one scintilla, not one iota more, when our Lord says, “Do more. Do more.” Have a giving spirit because nothing that you own is really yours anyway. It’s all placed on the altar. It all belongs to God.

Now, the implication here is that somebody has a genuine need. You have to learn how to give wisely. Psalm 112, verse 5 says, “A good man sheweth favour, and lendeth: he will guide his affairs with discretion.” (Psalms 112:5) If a drunkard asks you for money for more alcohol, you don’t give it to him. If an addict asks you for money for more dope, you don’t give it to him. If a professional beggar is asking, you don’t help that professional beggar by giving him something that’s going to increase him in begging. Just because somebody asks, that doesn’t mean that you necessarily are to give. You’re to give with discretion. But, what our Lord is saying is you give to those who have need. Don’t just simply pay your bills; go the second mile.

D. Go the Second Mile When You Are Used and Abused

Go the second mile, He’s saying, when you’re used and abused. Look in verse 43. I can imagine they’re listening to every word that Jesus is saying here: “Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy. But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you.” (Matthew 5:43–44) You know what you do when you get even? The sad thing is, that’s exactly what you do. You’re up here. Somebody else is down here. They wrong you. You get even. I mean, you just come right down to where they are. Why do you let them lower you to their standards? No, our Lord says this: that you go the second mile.

Has somebody done you wrong? If they haven’t, just wait—they will! And, when you get revenge, you don’t feel better. You might feel smug. The old flesh might be lavishing a little bit. But, in your spirit you hurt. But, when you go the second mile, the second mile is the smile mile.

Don’t be like the lady that Charles Lowery told about. There was a man reading the newspaper. He loved expensive automobiles. He couldn’t afford one, but he loved just to read the want ads. And, he saw that a woman had advertised in the newspaper a Jaguar automobile with low mileage, in mint condition, for two hundred dollars. “Oh,” he said, “this can’t be true.” But, he called the number, and the lady answered. And, he said, “Are you the one who put the ad in the paper for a late-model Jaguar for two hundred dollars? What’s wrong with it?” She said, “Nothing’s wrong with it.” She said, “I’m going to sell it to the first person that gets here.” He said, “I’ll be right over.” He said, “I want to see it.”

He thought it was worth a chance. He drove over. There it sat in the driveway—absolutely beautiful! He looked it over. He couldn’t see anything wrong with it. He said, “Lady, are you really going to sell this automobile for two hundred dollars?” She said, “I was, but I’ve changed my mind. Now it’s $99.50. I’m going to cut the price in half.” He said, “What’s wrong with it?” She said, “Not a thing in the world’s wrong with it.” She said, “It’s my husband’s automobile. He ran off with his secretary to Hawaii. He told me to sell it and send him the money, and that’s what I’m going to do.” I suppose she felt good for just a little while. But friend, it is forgiveness, it is restitution, it is love—that is the second mile.

I read years and years ago—maybe thirty, forty years ago. I can’t remember—a story that’s always been in my heart about a soldier boy drafted in the army who at home, Brother Bob, would get on his knees and pray by his bed before he went to sleep. And, he thought, “Do I have the courage to do this in the barracks?” Now, you can imagine what it would be like for a soldier in the modern barracks to get down on his knees and pray beside his bed. He wrestled with his conscience. He said, “I’m going to do it.” He would have to do it in front of all these other guys and the obscene language and the dirty pictures and all that. This boy got down on his knees by his bed, by his bunk, and prayed and thanked God. Some got quiet, and some admired him. There was a big, old, rough soldier that saw him and picked up his army boots and threw them at this boy while he was praying and struck him. The boy finished his prayers and went to sleep. The next morning, when that man who threw the boots woke up, he found those boots, beautifully polished, sitting by his own bed. That boy had polished his boots.

I don’t know a better example than that of going the second mile. You see, I’m sure that when he polished those boots and gave them back and he returned good for evil, there was something that came over him—the joy of the Lord Jesus Christ that you can get no other way. It’s love.

III. The Second Mile Is the Victory Mile
You see, the first mile is the slave mile. The second mile is the mastery mile. The first mile is the legal mile. The second mile is the love mile. And so, the second mile—the smile mile—it’s the mastery mile. It’s the charity mile. I want to say one third thing about it: it is the victory mile.

We sang “Victory in Jesus.” Well, let me tell you how to live out that victory. You see, the first mile, when this boy is carrying this pack, he’s a slave. But, when he carries it the second mile, he is a victor. I’ve been around people long enough, and been leading people long enough, and been working with volunteers long enough, and staff long enough, and business people long enough, I have observed people who are successful people. Let me tell you one thing all successful people have in mind. Let me tell you something they have in common. Let me tell you something that all successful people do—all of them: they’re second-milers.
A. On the Job

Successful people are second-milers on the job. Do you want to be a success? Be a second-miler. If you do only what you’re paid to do on your job, if you are a clock-watcher rather than a second-miler, you’re not going to go very far on your job.

Many of us who live in the city of Memphis have a friend named Kemmons Wilson. He’s one of the founders, the chief founder, of the Holiday Inns. And, Kemmons has a way of talking to people about success. And, I love what he says: he says, “If you want to be a success in life, you just work half a day.” Well, everybody likes that. He says, “It doesn’t matter whether it’s the first twelve hours or the second twelve hours; you just work half a day.” These people who just want to do as little as they can do, they’re not going to be successful on their job.

Let me tell you about another entrepreneur that I read about: Henry Ford. I’m talking about the original Henry Ford. Henry Ford took over the Lincoln factory in Detroit, and it wasn’t working. It was losing money. Nobody seemed to really care. Henry Ford got his maintenance crew, had them go out in the woods and cut down a tree, and they trimmed the limbs off of it and just left the stump, the log. And, he had them put that log on the elevator and bring it up to the office floor. And then, he had them lay that log right in front of the elevators. He didn’t tell anybody about why he had done it. Nobody knew when it was done. It was done in the nighttime.

The next morning, when people got there and they opened the elevator, there was a log lying right across the floor. In order to get out, they had to step over it; they had to walk around it. “Why was it there? Who put a log in this place? Why doesn’t somebody move it? Where’s maintenance?” But, for three weeks that log stayed there. Nobody did anything. Management didn’t say, “Why is the log here?” Somebody didn’t ask, “Who put the log there?” Nobody moved the log. Nobody inquired about the log.

After a while, Henry Ford came up, and he fired everybody on that floor—everybody. He fired them all. He told them, “I put the log here. I wanted to see if somebody, just somebody, wondered, ‘What is a log doing in front of the elevator?’—at least inquired about it, tried to find out about it. But, every one of you is just so interested in doing your job—nothing more and nothing less. I don’t want you.” Maybe the government wouldn’t let him fire them all today for a log, but he did then. He put his son Edsel in charge of that plant, and it began to make money.

I’m telling you, folks, everybody in life who is victorious is a second-miler. Jim Whitmire, sitting over here, he’s a second-miler. You know, you never have to ask Jim to do his job and that’s all; you just have to put a bridle on him and say, “Don’t do so much.” Jim, I mean, good night! Jim is a second-miler. He’s not drawing his breath and drawing his salary. And, you can tell in what he does he’s a second-miler. These other men on the staff, they’re second-milers.

B. At School

Be a second-miler in school. You kids, if you’re studying just to pass the test, if you’re studying just to get a C, just to get the diploma, just to get out of school, you’re never going to amount to much. You’re going to school to learn. Have a hunger for knowledge. Read the lesson—more than the lesson. Find out all that you can find out. Don’t just study enough to get by. When you find yourself knowing the material and mastering the material, you’ll go to class with a smile on your face—I guarantee it.

C. In Marriage

In marriage. My bride is sitting down there. When we got married, her father said, “Adrian, I hear people say that marriage is a fifty-fifty proposition.” He said, “Adrian, it is not a fifty-fifty proposition.” He said, “Adrian, a lot of times it’s a ninety-ten. Sometimes you have to go ninety percent, and the other person’s only going to go ten percent.” And, Joyce and I have found that’s true—that in marriage, if you simply do what is required, what is right, what is fair, your marriage is not going to amount to much. There has to be a lot of going the second mile to make a marriage a right marriage. And, those of you who have happy marriages, you know this.

D. In Your Devotional Life

In your devotional life you have to go the second mile. There are so many people who say, “I have a quiet time. I’m going to read a chapter a day. I’m going to have so many minutes in prayer,” and it’s a legal thing rather than a love thing: “A dose a day keeps the devil away.” And, rather than loving and praying and seeking God with your whole heart, you’re just a one-miler.

E. In Your Witnessing Life

In your witnessing life. Do you know what will help you to be a good witness for the Lord Jesus more than anything else? It is to go the second mile.

I want you to imagine this. Here’s a boy. He’s working out there. He’s chopping in the fields. A Roman soldier comes by and says, “Hey, you! Carry this load!” Boy, he’s so angry he slams that hoe down and says, “All right, give it here; let’s go.” He walks a mile, gritting his teeth, mumbling, thinking about that Roman soldier. He gets to that milepost. He slams it on the ground. He says, “All right, I’ve done it. You’re on top right now. You’re on top. You’re in control. One of these days I hope we’re in control. And, Mr. Soldier, when we’re in control, when we’re on top, you’re going to learn what it’s like. We’re going to get you. I just hope that day comes.” He’s angry. The soldier’s angry. He goes home, bangs his fist against the barn door, goes in the house, slams the door, sits down, can’t eat his dinner. He’s angry, seething.
I want you to notice a second-miler. That soldier says, “Hey, come here! Carry this load!” “Yes sir, I’ll be right there.” He picks up the load and says, “Let’s go!” He says, “Where are you from? What part of Rome? I’ve never been to Rome. What’s Rome like?” And, he begins to talk to this Roman soldier. “Do you have a family? Are you married? Do you have children?” They’re walking along. After a while, he gets to the end. The soldier says, “Well, I’ve enjoyed the conversation.” He says, “No, wait a minute. About another mile down there, there’s a well down there. I know where we can get a cold drink of water. Let me carry this for you the second mile.”

And, they go walking down there the second mile; and finally, he sets the backpack down. And, that soldier looks at him, and he says, “I want to tell you something: you’re different from any Jewish boy I ever knew. I hated the Jews, and they hated us. There’s something different about you.” “Well,” the Jewish boy says, “I hope there’s something different about me. See, I heard Jesus preach one day, and He told me something about going a second mile. That’s what I’ve been doing.” “Jesus, who’s He?” “Oh, He’s the Messiah of Israel. He’s the One who came to redeem us, to give us new life.”

I want to ask you a question: Do you think that that second Jewish boy would have a better chance of witnessing than that first Jewish boy? Do you think that he would have a better chance of sharing Jesus? Of course he would, because, precious friend, not only are we witnesses; we’re also part of the evidence.

It’s the second mile—it is the second mile that is the mastery mile. It is the second mile that is the charity mile. It is the second mile that is the victory mile and brings victory. And, we will never really, as Christians, have the victory that we ought to have until we learn the smile mile that Jesus is talking about—going the second mile.

Conclusion

Let me just wrap it up and tell you this: that Jesus went the second mile for every one of us. Jesus did not practice what He preached; He preached what He practiced. You see, the first mile was God created us and gave us a chance, and we failed it. God would have been perfectly just to cast us into hell. But, Romans 5:8 says that, “God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.” (Romans 5:8) That’s the second mile. Jesus went the second mile.

In a church service a pastor was giving an invitation like I’m going to do in just a moment. A little child was in the service, had not been in the service before, and the little child saw people coming down all of the aisles. And, the little guy asked his mother, “Where are they going?” And, the mother said, “They’re going forward to give their hearts to Jesus.” And, the little boy said, “Why don’t we all go?”

That’s a good question. That is a good question—because He’s done so much for us. If I had a thousand lives, I'd want to give every one of them to Jesus. And friend, why don’t we all give our lives to the One who loved us and gave Himself for us?
Hypocrisy

Introduction

Take your Bibles and turn to Matthew chapter 6, and look at verse 5. And, I want you to find just a part of the verse where Jesus said, “Thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are.” (Matthew 6:5) We're going to talk tonight about hypocrisy, and what God thinks about hypocrisy, and what we need to think and learn about hypocrisy.

There are so many people that are religious but lost. They do not have reality. There’s an old gospel song, Brother Jim—I’ll certainly not sing it, but I have been so blessed listening to gospel singers sing it. It’s called “It’s Real, It’s Real, I Know It’s Real,” and the song goes:

   Oh, how well do I remember how I doubted day by day,
   For I did not know for certain that my sins were washed away;
   When the Spirit tried to tell me, I would not the truth receive.
I endeavored to be happy, and to make myself believe. And then, it goes on, as this man tells his experience and he says:

Then at last by faith I touched Him, and, like sparks from smitten steel,

Just so quick salvation reached me, oh, bless God, I know it’s real!

But it’s real, it’s real;

Oh, I know it’s real;

Praise God, the doubts are settled,

For I know, I know it’s real!

—HOMER L. COX

I hope that is true in your heart tonight. I hope that you don’t just have form without force, religion without reality, culture without Calvary. I pray God tonight that you’re not just playing church, but you can say with the writer of that song, “It’s real. It’s real! Praise God, I know that it is real!”—because ours is a very phony world.

The thing I want for these young people, and the choir behind me, and for those that we were singing about, who are holding little babies—that they will look up at their mom and dad and they’ll see a mom and dad who truly love the Lord: they’re not phony; they’re not plastic parents; they’re not phony Christians; they’re real; they’re not cardboard Christians.

I want my children to know that their daddy is real. When my first son was born, Steve, we were living in a little house trailer at Stetson University. We didn’t even have any indoor bathroom in that little house trailer. We had a path, not a bath. And, of course, there was a community shower there, and toilet stalls, and so forth, that we would go to. I was living in that little house trailer and working our way through school, and we had very little. We got married knowing that it would be difficult. But, Joyce and I had been dating so long; we were so much in love. And, we were just living from hand to mouth—and it was God’s hand to our mouth.

And, I wanted Joyce to stay home. I thought I needed to work to pay our school tuition and other things, and I had gone there on a football scholarship. But, I had turned from that to take some other work and finally was called to a little country church. And certainly, we weren’t getting rich in that little country church. They were paying us thirty dollars a week—twenty-five dollars a week, I believe. And, we had to drive three hundred miles—twenty-five or thirty dollars a week, I can’t remember which—and no car expense. We had an old car that I’d bought, and we were going back and forth.

And then, after I’d preached a little while, they said, “We’ve got more preacher than we bargained for. We’re going to raise you five dollars.” Joyce and I talked about that for a while, and we thought, “That’s too much. We just can’t take five dollars.” So, we decided to split it and keep two dollars and fifty cents and give the other two dollars and fifty cents over and above back to the church, lest we be overpaid. And, we were just eking out a living, but God never failed us. We never missed a meal.

I can remember one particular time, however, I had been working at A&P stacking groceries, walking home, stopped at a restaurant to get my dinner, reached in my pocket, and I had twenty cents. And, I looked at the menu, and there was a cheese sandwich for twenty cents. Actually, I had twenty-one cents. And, she said, “Do you want anything to drink?” I said, “No, a sandwich will be fine.” And, I walked out of there, and I had one penny in my pocket. But, I said, “Lord, I’ve still got some money.”

And, you know, I heard a preacher say once—I don’t know why I’m telling this; it’s not in my notes—but anyway, I heard a preacher say one time—he was in a revival meeting, a very small church, and I’d gone to listen to him; and, you know, they take a love offering for these evangelists, and he was an evangelist—and he said, “I don’t need any money.” And, I thought to myself, “You’re the first preacher I’ve ever heard say that—especially when they were going to take an offering.” He said, “I don’t need any money.” And, he said, “You know, my wife and I have forty dollars in the bank. We don’t need any money until that’s gone.” Isn’t that beautiful? Isn’t that beautiful how God takes care of His own? Well, I’m digressing.

We were living in that little trailer, and God was taking care of us and meeting our need. And then, God gave us our son, Steve, and Steve was not an accident or an incident. We wanted to start our family early, which we did. And so, God gave us our little son, Steve, and he was born at Fish Memorial Hospital in Deland, Florida. And, I remember when that little baby boy was born. I went and looked at him—the most beautiful thing I’d ever seen in the world. You know, they really look like a drowned rat when they’re first born—but to me, just beautiful. And, I remember going and getting back on my knees in that little house trailer—I can remember like it was yesterday—and thanking God for my son and praying to God, saying, “God, if I never ever get to pastor a church that amounts to anything, if I never ever have any so-called ‘success’ in life, I want to be a good dad. I want to my son to think that Abraham Lincoln and George Washington were the Jesse James boys compared to their preacher dad.” And, I tell you, our children are not perfect and their parents are not perfect, but they know we’re real. They know we love God. I would not be afraid to put any of my children up here and have you ask them whether or not their parents are phonies.

I want the boys and girls that come to our church—I want them to know that our staff is real. I want them to know that our deacons are real. I want them to know that our Sunday school teachers and our youth leaders are real. Now, when Brother Jim Whitmire is up here leading us in praise worship, I want them to believe that he loves God with all his heart and that he’s not just putting on a performance, but he is genuinely leading us in reality.
Now, our Lord here is speaking about hypocrites. Now, what is a hypocrite? He says, “Don’t be like the hypocrites.” (Matthew 6:5) Well, the word hypocrite literally means “actor”—an actor in a play.” That’s what the word hupokrites means in the Greek language. Jesus said, “Don’t be an actor. Don’t be putting on a performance.” He says that the hypocrites do what they do to be seen of men. Notice in verse 5: “And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men.” (Matthew 6:5) The word seen there, in verse 1, is the word theaomai, the word we get our word theater from. So, He says, “Don’t be actors playing the theater. Be real.”

Now, we have so many people who go to church, and Satan one day would like to give them an award, his Academy Award, because he has many who are hypocrites in this world. As a matter of fact, just turn over to chapter 7 and look, if you will, in verse 15. Our Lord continues this theme for a long time, and our Lord says, “Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep’s clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves.” (Matthew 7:15) These are they that, outside, they are one thing; inside, they are something else.

And then, go on over to Matthew 23—Jesus keeps on saying this thing—Matthew 23, verse 27 and 28: “Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites!”—actors—“for ye are like unto whitened sepulchres”—in the Middle East, and especially among the Jews, they did not want to touch the dead. They would be ceremonially unclean. And so, they would not only bury their dead in these graves, these sepulchers, but they would take whitewash and wash them until they would be gleaming in the sun. And, the reason they would whitewash them is that they would stand out so the people could stay away from them. And so, the whitewash on the outside was a warning: “Stay away!” But, they would gleam in the sun, and they would literally, though they would be sepulchers, or graves, be beautiful. So, He says, “Outside, they’re like whitened sepulchers”—“which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead men’s bones, and of all uncleanness”—that is, there would be the stench and the rottenness of decay on the inside. And then, He said to these Pharisees—“Even so ye also outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisy”—there’s our word again—“and iniquity.” (Matthew 23:27–28)

Now, a hypocrite is not a person who is merely failing to live a Christian life. I fail. You fail. We all fail. That does not mean we’re hypocrites. When we make mistakes, stumble, fall, slip, sin, do whatever we do, that doesn’t mean we’re hypocrites. It may mean that we’re carnal. It may mean that we have been ambushed by the devil. It may mean many things. But, that’s not what our Lord here is talking about. Our Lord is not talking about an out-and-out sinner who refuses Christ and the gospel. What our Lord is talking about is a phony person, a person who has a lot in the showcase but he doesn’t have much in the warehouse.

Now, Jesus reserved His most severe language for the hypocrite. Jesus literally had words of compassion for people taken in sin—out-and-out sinners. For the publicans, the sinners, Jesus ate with them, He loved them, He fellowshipped with them, not because He approved of their sin, but He was a friend of sinners. I’m glad He was and is, aren’t you? You’d better be, because you’d be a mess without it because you’re a sinner. Jesus is a friend of sinners. But, His most severe words were for the hypocrites, those who were phony.

We hear a lot today in the news about not casting stones. You know, Jesus said, “Let him that is without sin cast the first stone.” (John 8:7) To whom was He speaking? Jesus said to this woman who had been taken in adultery—she was just a pure, raw sinner, and Jesus warned her about her sin. She’d turned from her sin to the Messiah—Jesus said, “Go, and sin no more.” (John 8:11) He didn’t say, “There, there. Just keep on sinning.” No, here was a fallen woman. She needed compassion. She needed love, and Jesus came to her and forgave her. And, Jesus turned to those other people, those religious leaders standing there with stones in their hand and hatred in their heart, and malice and sin, and full of dead men’s bones on the inside, practicing sin and still wearing the garb of religion, rotten on the inside—He said, “Let the one of you who is without sin cast the first stone.” (John 8:7) He didn’t say, “The one who’s never sinned cast the first stone.” He’s not saying that judgment is not needed when it is appropriate. He’s not saying that mercy is not to be given when it is needed. What He is saying is this: that these people are full of rottenness and sin and filth and debauchery on the inside, but on the outside these wolves are wearing sheep’s clothing. These were the ones that Jesus condemned so much. That woman on the ground was just a pure, raw sinner, and she needed mercy. She wasn’t somebody who pretended to be righteous. Had she pretended to be righteous when she was not, Jesus would not have said, “I forgive you. Go, and sin no more,” until she repented and got right with God. She wasn’t the kind that walked out of church on Sunday morning carrying a big black Bible and then went to commit adultery on Sunday afternoon. She wasn’t that kind, no.

A sinner is a sinner is a sinner that needs the mercy of God. A hypocrite is a person who has a heart full of sin, and, having a heart full of sin, is at the same time, while practicing sin, trying to condemn other people. Jesus has His most severe words for these kinds of people. Now, they’re play actors. They have form without force. Everything is in the show window. But, they don’t have reality.

Now, there are three things we’re going to notice about hypocrisy tonight—and very quickly; I’m not going to speak a long time.
I. The Concealed Root of Hypocrisy

First of all, I want you to see the concealed root of hypocrisy. Now, I use the word concealed on purpose as an adjective because the root is underground. What makes a hypocrite? What motivates a hypocrite? What is the root of hypocrisy? Well, it really is a form of idolatry. They want to be seen of men. (Matthew 6:5) Notice, if you will, in chapter 6 and verse 1: “Take heed that ye do not your alms before men”—now, notice this—“to be seen of them.” (Matthew 6:1) Go, if you will, to verse 5: “And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets”—here it is—“that they may be seen of men.” (Matthew 6:5) Go look, if you will, in verse 16: “Moreover when ye fast, be not, as the hypocrites”—“be not, as the hypocrites”—“of a sad countenance: for they disfigure their faces, that they may appear unto men to fast.” (Matthew 6:16)

And so, what motivates the hypocrite? What is it that makes a hypocrite a hypocrite? He wants the approval of men. He is more interested in the approval of men than he is the approval of God, and, therefore, he is an idolater, because he has another god in his heart which is approval.

A. In the Matter of Giving

Our Lord gives illustrations of this, for example, in the matter of giving. He says here in verses 1 through 4: “Take heed that ye do not your alms before men”—the word alms, boys and girls, means “to give to the poor”—“to be seen of them: otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven. Therefore when thou doest thine alms, do not sound a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues.” (Matthew 6:1–2) G. Campbell Morgan tells us that the Pharisees of the day carried silver trumpets, and when they would go out to give money to the poor, they would blow the trumpet. And, when they would blow the trumpet, the needy would come. And, while the people were there watching, then the Pharisees would distribute money to the poor. They would sound a trumpet so everybody could see them doing this thing. There’s nothing wrong with giving to the poor. There is nothing wrong with giving to the poor publicly. There is much wrong with giving to the poor in order to be seen of men, when you have this sort of self-conscious righteousness.

The Lord says in verse 3: “When you do your alms, don’t let your left hand know what your right hand is doing.” (Matthew 6:3) Now, what does He mean, “Don’t let you left hand know what your right hand is doing”? Well, have you ever reached in your pocket to get a handful of change? You have to buy something, you go to buy a newspaper or anything else, you reach in your pocket, you get your change, and you take your change out of your left hand. And so, Jesus just said, “Hey, when you give, just go ahead and empty your pockets. Don’t let your right hand know what your left

I do that sometimes when I’m overseas, and they, you know, they have funny money overseas. And, I get a handful of solly molly goos—I don’t know what they are. You know, I’ll be in a taxi. I just open my hand, and hold it out, and say, “You take whatever you want” because I don’t know how to even count the change. And, I suppose most people are honest because I know that maybe I didn’t cash more than ten dollars’ worth, so I know I can’t be taken too badly. If they ask for more, then I’ll give them more—but just hold out a handful. That’s what our Lord is saying here: “Just don’t let your right hand know what your left hand is doing, or don’t let your left hand know what your right hand is doing. Give generously; give liberally—not to be seen of men.”

B. In the Matter of Praying

He says the same thing, not only in our giving, but in our praying: “Don’t be a hypocrite.” Now, notice verses 5 to 8: “And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward. But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly. But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking. Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.” (Matthew 6:5–8)

Now, it’s not wrong to pray in public. I’ve prayed in public tonight. But, I trust I didn’t pray in public to be seen of you. I prayed because I wanted to pray in public. The Bible mentions many public prayers. In Acts chapter 4 and verse 24, it speaks of a public prayer: “And when they heard that, they lifted up their voice to God with one accord, and said, Lord, thou art God, which hast made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and all that in them is.” (Acts 4:24) They prayed publicly. They prayed vocally. They prayed out loud. Nothing wrong with that. Never ever be ashamed to pray in public—never! And, don’t fail to pray in a restaurant. When God gives you a meal, it can be one of your greatest witnesses just to bow your head and pray and thank God for the food. There’s nothing wrong with praying in public. What Jesus is warning about is doing your private devotions in public.

Now, it’s one thing to pray in the pulpit here and to lead the congregation in prayer, but would it not be a quite different thing for me to get out here at the corner of Interstate 40 somewhere, when the cars are going by, and get my Bible, and sit there and read, and kneel, and pray, so everybody could say, “Oh, there’s the preacher. He’s having his morning devotions there. Isn’t he a holy man?” Well, that would be ridiculous. That would be silly. But, that’s what the Pharisees were doing: they were praying to be seen of men. Prayers that are pretense require an audience. He’s just saying, “Don’t do your private devotions in public in order to be seen of men.” (Matthew 6:5)

1. You Don’t Pray to Impress God
And, He says in verse 7—why do we pray? Look. Why we pray? Why do we pray? Not to impress God—“When [you] pray, [don’t] use…vain repetitions, as the heathen do.” (Matthew 6:7) You don’t have to be eloquent when you pray. You’re not going to impress God, even if you’re Shakespeare.

2. You Don’t Pray to Inform God
You don’t pray to impress God, and you don’t pray to inform God. Notice verse 8: “Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.” (Matthew 6:8) You don’t have to inform God. God knows everything you need. He knows every thought of your mind. He knows when you go out. He knows when you come in. He watches you when you’re asleep. There’s not a thought in your mind but what He knows it altogether. There’s not a deed in your life that He’s not already aware of.

3. You Pray to Invite God and Enjoy God
Well, then, if you don’t pray to impress God and you don’t pray to inform God, why do you pray? You pray to invite God and enjoy God. You just come to Him, in verse 9, and say, “Our Father…Hallowed be thy name.” (Matthew 6:9) And, prayer is a wonderful way to have fellowship with God. But, the hypocrite, he prays just simply to be seen of men.

One of the things that really bothers me is to be in a public assembly somewhere and somebody says, “Now, let’s all stand and say the Lord’s Prayer.” Friend, you don’t say prayers; you pray prayers. Now, there’s nothing wrong with praying the Lord’s Prayer if that represents the desire of your heart. But, Jesus said, “Don’t use vain repetition.” (Matthew 6:7) He didn’t say, “Pray this prayer.” He said, “Pray in this manner.” (Matthew 6:9) For us to “stand and say the Lord’s Prayer” would be like for you to come into my house, and I would say, “Would you stand and say a conversation?” Prayer is talking with God, not to impress God, not to inform God, but to invite God and enjoy God. That’s the way we’re to pray.

C. In the Matter of Fasting
Then the Lord mentions a third thing, a third matter, of wanting to be seen of men. Notice verses 16 through 18 of this same chapter. He says, “Moreover when ye fast, be not, as the hypocrites”—as the play actors—“of a sad countenance: for they disfigure their faces, that they may appear unto men to fast. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward. But thou, when thou fastest, anoint thine head, and wash thy face; that thou appear not unto men to fast, but unto thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father,
Now, fasting is right, and fasting is proper. Jesus didn’t say, “If you fast…” He said, “When [you] fast…” (Matthew 6:16) Jesus expects us to fast. And yet, on the other hand, I am not to fast to be seen of men. Now, He’s not saying that a public fast is wrong. There’s nothing wrong with the pastor calling the church to fasting and prayer for a day, for a week, for a month—nothing wrong with that. There’s nothing wrong for a nation to be called to fast. This November, we’re calling all America to fasting and praying. We’re trying to get millions of people to fast and pray for our country. And, I will be, along with Dr. Bill Bright and others, leading a meeting in Houston, Texas, fasting and praying, and we will be there together. I’ve done this for a number of years now, to fast and pray publicly. Jesus is not saying it’s wrong to fast publicly, but Jesus is saying, “If you’re having a private fast, don’t tell anybody about it.” The Pharisees, when they were fasting, put ashes on their head. They put on their ragged clothes. They would look very sad, very wan, and they would go around so humble because they were fasting, wanting everybody to know they were fasting. Jesus said, “Look, when you fast, put on some bright clothes, put a smile on your face, and don’t let anybody know that you’re fasting.”

Friend, if you think it’s hard to fast, let me tell you something: it’s even more difficult to fast and not let anybody know about it—not let anybody know just how holy you are by fasting. So, there is that private prayer. There is that private fasting. There is that private giving, where we give with the right motive. And so, what is the root—what is the concealed, underground root—of hypocrisy? It is the desire to be seen of people, to be praised of people.

II. The Corrupting Fruit of Hypocrisy

Now, think not only about the concealed root, but I want you to think about the corrupting fruit of hypocrisy.

A. Hypocrisy Deceives

What does hypocrisy do? It deceives. You see, the emphasis here is “to be seen of men.”

You know, I heard Robert Reich, former Cabinet member, last week, I believe, on a talk show, speaking about President Clinton. Robert Reich has been in the theater. He’s been an actor. And, he said of the president, “He is an excellent method actor.” Now, “method actor,” as I understand it, is a person—Brother Jim, you’ve studied acting some in college—but I believe that a method actor is a person who feels the part so much that he actually lives the part, that he actually becomes, in his own mind, what he’s doing, what he’s saying, what he’s feeling. So, if, in the play, there’s a death and there’s a body in the casket, and he, in the play, is the bereaved person, he doesn’t merely act bereaved; he becomes bereaved. I mean, he actually is brokenhearted in the play. That’s a tremendous actor—a person who can so immerse himself in the play, in whatever it is, that he actually becomes what he is acting. And, rather than acting brokenhearted, he is, at that moment, brokenhearted. Rather than acting like he’s rejoicing, if it’s a scene that requires joy—or anger, or whatever—a method actor can so immerse himself to the point that when he says whatever he says, he literally believes what he is saying is reality. That’s dangerous. That’s good acting. But, when you take that and you put that into life, then you get to telling things, and you create your own reality, and you come to the place where you believe your own lies. John talks about that. He says, “We deceive ourselves.” (1 John 1:8) And, what a deception this is—when a man is so good at what he does, he loses touch with reality and he literally deceives himself. Hypocrisy deceives.

And, this is the reason that Jesus said that hypocrites who are religious leaders are blind leading the blind. Listen to Matthew 23, verses 13 through 15: “woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, [play actors]! for ye shut up the kingdom of heaven against men: for ye neither go in yourselves, neither suffer ye them that are entering to go in”—now, these are people who are supposed to show the way to heaven, but they’re not going. And, they’re leading others astray—“Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye devour widows’ houses, and for a pretence make long prayer: therefore ye shall receive the greater damnation. Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye compass sea and land to make one proselyte”—that is, one so-called “convert”—“and when he is made, ye make him twofold more the child of hell than yourself” (Matthew 23:13–15)—the blind leading the blind.

B. Hypocrisy Defrauds
What does hypocrisy do? It deceives. What else does it do? Friend, it defrauds. You see, look, if you will, in chapter 6, verse 2—the last part: “Verily I say unto you, They have their reward” (Matthew 6:2)—these people who give to be seen of men. Look, if you will, in verse 5: “Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.” (Matthew 6:5) And then, the last part of verse 16: “Verily I say unto you”—those who fast to be seen of men—“They have their reward.” (Matthew 6:16) Now, the word for reward there, I’m told, in the Greek language means “to be paid in full.” That’s all they get. Now, if you pray to be seen of men, if you’re seen of men, that’s it—no more! If you give to be seen of men and you’re seen of men, that’s it—there’s no more! If you fast to be seen of men and you fast, that’s it—all you’ve done is gone hungry and been seen of men; you have not fasted as unto the Lord. And, one of the worst things about hypocrisy is that it defrauds you; it keeps you from having the reward that God wants you to have.
To be a hypocrite would be like cheating at solitaire. When you’re playing a game with yourself and you cheat, it’s kind of dumb. And, to be a hypocrite is to defraud yourself.

C. Hypocrisy Damns

Hypocrisy deceives. Hypocrisy defrauds. But, the worst thing about hypocrisy is it damns; it takes you to hell. Look, if you will, in chapter 7, verses 21 and following. Our Lord says here in chapter 7: “Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven. Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity.” (Matthew 7:21–23) They’re going to depart into everlasting fire. They’ve never been saved. They may preach, they may prophesy, they may do good works, they may take up the offering, they may sing in the choir, they may serve on a church staff, they may be a pastor—they may be all of these things, but they’re going to die and go to hell because they are plastic prophets, they are cardboard Christians, they have fake faith, and they are not real.

Now, look up here and let me tell you something: in every church there are hypocrites. There are some hypocrites in the church tonight. And, that doesn’t even necessarily even mean that you are what the world would call a “wicked person.” You just have form without force; you’ve never really been saved, and you know in your heart it is not real. You know that what you’ve seen, what you talk about, what you live, in your heart, is not reality to you. The devil had just as soon send you to hell from that pew as he had the gutter. As a matter of fact, he had rather have you do that.

III. The Pursuit of Hypocrisy

Now, let me close this message tonight and talk not only about the concealed root of hypocrisy (the great desire to be seen of men), and let me talk not only about the fruit of this corrupting fruit, where it deceives and it defrauds and it damns, but think a little bit about the pursuit of hypocrisy—how we look into our hearts and into our lives and see if it’s there.

Notice how chapter 6 begins again. Look at it—chapter 6, verse 1: “Take heed”—“Take heed.” (Matthew 6:1) You know, I had to ask myself as I was thinking about these scriptures, “Adrian, are you a hypocrite?” Now, I know I’m saved, but I mean, is there hypocrisy in me? With my wife? With my children? With the staff? With you, when I preach? Do I preach things that I don’t live? Do I say things I don’t believe? Jesus said, “Take heed.” (Matthew 6:1)
So, I want to ask you a few little questions tonight. You don’t mind, do you? Shake your head this way. “No, I don’t mind, pastor. Ask those questions.” Okay. Now, I want to ask you just some honest questions, and let’s just see if we are more concerned about what others think than what we ought to think.

For example, have you ever failed to obey the Lord because you felt that you might be rejected by other people? Have you? That’s a form of hypocrisy. That means that you want the praise of men more than you want the praise of God. Now, you guys and gals in school, in college, in high school, middle school, there’s so much pressure. Now, if you fail to obey God because you want to be received and you don’t want to be rejected, you’ve got a touch of hypocrisy in you.

Now, let me ask you another question: Do you do things and are you able to do things that are right and good and not let anybody know? Or, do you always have to find some way to tell others when you do something that is good and right because somehow it just seems hollow if the Lord is the only one who knows? If you give some money, if you do a deed, if you do anything and you have this little gnawing void in you—you say, “Oh, I wish everybody else knew how good I was”—you may have a little hypocrisy in you.

Let me ask you another question: Is your private life consistent with your public image? If you had a window on your heart, would you want to be a stained-glass window? Or, would you want people to see inside of you? I mean, are you the same in private that you are in public? You know, I have to ask myself this question all the time, Mark, because I’m a public person: Am I getting up here saying things, doing things, acting a certain way, and I don’t have that reality in my heart?

Let me ask you another question: When you do something good, are you wounded, are you hurt, when somebody else gets the credit? Somebody said, “You can do a tremendous amount of good if you don’t care who gets the credit for it.” But, does it bother you when other people get the credit for the things that you did? Well, if you did it as unto the Lord, what difference does it make who gets the credit for it? Or, let’s just turn that on its head: Have you stopped serving, have you stopped attending, because nobody recognizes you, nobody pats you on the back, nobody says, “Thank you”—you don’t get the praise that you think is due to you? Well, you’ve got a little touch of Pharisee in you if that’s true.

Or, let’s just go on a little further: Have you accepted praise and recognition for something you didn’t deserve? Somebody says things about you, and you know they’re not true; but you say, “Hmm, yeah, that’s right. Tell me more.”

All right, let me ask you another question: Do you love the praise of men more than the praise of God? What really means the most to you? Can you get alone and just say, “God, if you’re pleased, it really doesn’t matter if they’re pleased or not.” You know, I do that a lot in my preaching. You know, not every sermon is a barnburner. I know that. You don’t have to tell me that. I know that myself. I mean, I preach a lot. But, you know what I do before I preach? I did it this morning. I tell God what I’m going to preach. I kind of preach it to Him. And, if I don’t feel good telling Him what I’m going to preach, I sure don’t feel good telling you about it—I mean, because I want Him to be pleased. Now, here’s the thing: sometimes I will preach a message, and, as far as I can tell, there’s not much response. Maybe it’s a yawner. And, you know, there’s not much response, not a lot of “atta-boys” after I get finished preaching. I just kind of go back to my study, and that’s it. But, you know what? If I know that I’ve preached the Word of God, if I know that He’s pleased, that carries me a long way—carries me a long way just to know that.

Now, you know, if a preacher says he doesn’t want to be encouraged in his preaching, he’s probably lying. And Jim, when you do great music, you like people to tell you that they’re blessed. That’s a blessing. But, you know what we need to do? We need to be so divorced from the dependency upon the praise of men, to hear the Lord say, “Well done” and be satisfied with that. That may mean that we’re not truly a hypocrite.

Let me ask you another question. This is the last one: Are you defeated by the hypocrisy of other people? Do you know what bothers a hypocrite almost more than anything else? Hypocrisy. Look, hypocrisy doesn’t really bother me. It hurts me, but I’m not going to stumble over hypocrisy. You know, I hear people say, “Well, I’m not going to go down there to that church any more because there are hypocrites down there.” I feel like saying, “Do tell. Oh, I am so surprised.” Listen, one of the twelve apostles was a hypocrite. We bought a dozen eggs; one of them was a hypocrite.

Now, let me tell you something, friend: there are hypocrites in every walk of life. But, do you know what the hypocrite uses for an excuse? Hypocrisy. Anybody who uses hypocrisy for an excuse is himself a hypocrite. Do you know why I absolutely know that the church is not full of hypocrites? Do you know how I know that they’re not all hypocrites? Do you know how I know? Because I’m not one. I know I’m real. I know I’m not perfect, but I know I’m real. I know—I know—that I love God. I’m not boasting about it; I’m just telling you what I know. I am real. So, when you tell me that they’re all phonies, I know you’re lying because I know I’m not.

And, the man who thinks they’re all phonies must be a phony because if he thinks everybody else is a phony and he thinks everybody’s a phony, that means he’s a phony. You see, those who have reality know reality because they themselves experience it themselves. A hypocrite, therefore, is himself a hypocrite. And, you know, the man who hides behind a hypocrite is hiding behind something bigger than he is, or else he couldn’t hide behind it, isn’t that right? And, if you let a hypocrite come between you and God, the hypocrite is closer to God than you are. Don’t let some hypocrites keep you from the blessings of God.

There may be some hypocrites in the church, but the ol' ship of Zion is not going to sink just because there are some bad eggs on board. Jesus knows who the hypocrites are. I'd rather spend a few years with some hypocrites in the church than spend all eternity with every one of them in hell, hadn't you? So, these are just some tests about hypocrisy.

Conclusion

You see, there's the concealed root of hypocrisy—that desire to be seen of men, which is really, in itself, idolatry. And, there's that corrupting fruit: it deceives (the hypocrite himself gets to believing his own lies after a while), it defrauds (it keeps you from getting the real blessings that God wants you to have; you just have your reward now), and it damns (it can carry you right on to hell). And so, therefore, we need to ask ourselves these questions and find out if we have reality.

Now, you can have hypocrisy in you and not be lost. I mean, there can be areas in your heart and in your life where you’re a little hypocritical. And, you know, most likely, there are some in mine. I hope not. But, Jesus said, “Take heed”—“Take heed.”

Introduction

Would you turn now to Matthew chapter 6, and hold it open there before you—the Gospel of Matthew chapter 6. Every so often, the theater and film people of this generation have an award ceremony that they call the Academy Awards. And there they give awards to actors and actresses. Many of those actresses are beautiful to look upon. Many of them have faces like angels; they have morals like alley cats. And they give them an award for being an actress or for being an actor. And if a person, I suppose, leads a good clean moral life, and they’re an actor, then that perhaps is legitimate. Perhaps most of them do not live that kind of life. The Academy Awards. I believe that the biggest actors are not just found in Hollywood. Many of them are found in the realm of religion. I want to speak to you today about “Satan’s Academy Award.”

The Lord tells about these who are actors. They are play actors. They are in the church. The Greeks used to have actors who would wear masks. If they wanted to look sorrowful, they would put on a sorrowful mask. If they wanted to look happy, they would put on a happy mask. The masks actually had handles, and they would just hold them in front of their faces. The word for that is hypokrites. It’s the word we get our word hypocrite from.

I want you to look at what our Lord has to say here in Matthew chapter 6, verses 1 and 2: “Take heed that ye do not your alms for men, to be seen of them;”—do you see the word see? It's the Greek word theaomai. It's a word we get our word theater from. “Take heed,” Jesus says, “that you're not just playing in a theater”—“otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven. Therefore when thou dost thine alms, do not sound a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites”—the play actors—“do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men”—that is, the applause every actor wants. “Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.” (Matthew 6:1–2) Verse 5: “And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are”—“the actors are”—“for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men.” They're in a theater. “Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.” (Matthew 6:5) On down to verse 16: “Moreover when ye fast, be not, as the hypocrites,”—that is, the play actors—“of a sad countenance:”—they're wearing the sad mask today—“for they disfigure their faces, that they may appear unto men to fast.” That is, it's a play. “Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.” (Matthew 6:16)

I read an article about Art Linkletter. Many of us know Linkletter's been in the entertainment realm for many, many years. Art Linkletter said that he was a professing Christian, until one day he had a great crisis in his life. And he really needed help, and he was meeting with some young people who were turned-on, on-fire Christians: no pretense, no false front. And they were in a hotel lobby in San Francisco. It came time to pray, and those young people said, “Let’s pray,” and they got down on their knees in that hotel lobby. Ark Linkletter, being a public figure, said, “I really felt funny about getting down on my knees in a public place like that. But,” he said, “I had such a need of God, I realized all of this time I had not been a true Christian.” And these were his words. He said, “I was a cardboard Christian—a cardboard Christian.” And he said, “I threw all of that away, and I humbled myself before God, and got on my knees, and broke through to God, and met reality.”

Now, reality is what this world needs. The world is sick and tired of make-believe, cardboard Christians, and the reality is what the world hungers for. It is the greatest need in the church of the living God today: reality—not hypocrisy, but reality. I’ve said before, and I want to say again, that the greatest argument for Christ, and the greatest argument against Christ, is the life of a Christian: one way or the other, whether it is realism or hypocrisy.

Now I just want to pick out, before we really get into the meat of the message this morning, a few scriptures that show what the Lord Jesus had to say about hypocrisy. For example, in Matthew chapter 7 and verse 15, He says, “Beware of false prophets.” The word false is pseudo, pseudo-prophets—“which come to you in sheep’s clothing.” (Matthew 7:15) Every actor has his garb that he wears. But inwardly they're ravening wolves. Jesus said, “Now, watch out for these pseudo-prophets.” Then He said, in Matthew chapter 23, verses
27 and following, “Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites!”—play actors—“for ye are like unto whited sepulchres, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead men’s bones, and of all uncleanness. Even so ye also outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisy and iniquity.” (Matthew 23:27–28)

Jesus reserved His most severe language for the religious leaders of this time, the Pharisees. What was a Pharisee like? Well, he would read the Scriptures. He would worship. He would attend the services. He would bring a tithe. He was separated from the world. He tried to win others to his religion. But it was all outward. He didn’t know the Lord. And the Lord Jesus had the most excoriating, vituperative language for religious people. And yet, on the other hand, when Jesus would find the sinner caught in sin, in the web of sin, Jesus was the most compassionate. The woman taken in adultery, how compassionate was the Lord Jesus! When others said, “Stone her,” Jesus said, “Forgive her.” (John 8:1–11)

There was a tax collector named Zacchaeus. No one else would have anything to do with him, but Jesus went into his house, fellowshipped with him, and ate with him. As a matter of fact, they crucified Jesus because, they said, He was a friend of sinners. Thank God He is, because, if He’s not, He won’t have anything to do with me or with you. Jesus, the friend of sinners—Jesus—had the sternest words for these hypocrites, these actors, these who were candidates for Satan’s Academy Award.

Now I want you to look at the passage that is before us. And there are three basic things I want you to see in chapter 6.

I. The Shameful Display of Hypocrisy

First of all, I want you to see what I’m going to call the shameful display of hypocrisy. Jesus gives three illustrations of hypocrisy: one in the area of almsgiving, one in the area of prayer, and one in the area of fasting. That is, in the area of our donations and our discipline, Jesus speaks of hypocrisy.

A. In the Area of Donations

First of all, look in the area of donations. Verses 1 through 4: “Take heed that ye do not your alms”—that is, your giving, your donations—“before men, to be seen of them: otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven. Therefore when thou doest thine alms, do not sound a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward. But when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth: that thine alms may be a secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret himself shall reward thee openly.” (Matthew 6:1–4)
Now Jesus here is not talking about the gift that you bring to the church on Sunday, or that someone would bring to the synagogue on Saturday. He’s talking about giving to poor people, giving alms, gifts of charity. Now He’s not against this. He’s not saying it is wrong to do this. As a matter of fact, if you back in chapter 5, and look in verse 42, you’re going to see that our Lord says, “Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn thou not away.” (Matthew 5:42)

The Lord is not against giving to the poor. As a matter of a fact, the Bible clearly and definitely says this we ought to do, in Psalm 41, verse 1: “Blessed is he that considereth the poor: the LORD will deliver him in time of trouble.” (Psalm 41:1) And all of us ought to be looking for poor people that we can give to and minister to.

Now it is not the deed that Jesus says is wrong that these Pharisees are doing; it was their motive, and it was their method. Now, if the devil cannot keep you from doing a right thing, He will get you to do a right thing in a wrong way. The Pharisees, in Jesus’ time, literally had little silver trumpets. When they wanted to give money to the poor, they would go out and stand in the marketplace: “It’s time now to give money to the poor!” Ta-ta-ta-ta-ta: they would blow their trumpet. And when they would blow the trumpet, the poor would come, saying, “We’re going to receive something,” and not only would the poor come, but everybody on the street would hear the trumpet. Their ears would be attracted to the sound of that silver trumpet, and they would sound their trumpet, and then they would throw out their goodies to the poor to be seen of men. Everybody would say, “There’s the Pharisee. Isn’t he a generous man? Look what he’s given to the poor.”

Have you ever noticed at Christmastime that people want to give to the poor? They always somehow manage to get some media attention out of it. And many times these are politicians who want to be seen giving things to the poor. I mean, it is a media event. They want to be seen giving to the poor. All of us have our own little trumpet that we can sound so that others can see us give to the poor. Very few people go out—some do—under cover of night, when nobody else knows about it, and just simply give, for giving’s sake. But there are always those who want to be seen by men.

Now what our Lord is saying is that it is not wrong to do it. It is the motive and the method. Now, notice in verse 3: “But when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth.” (Matthew 6:3) What on earth does that mean? Well, both the right hand and the left hand are connected to the brain. And it’s really the brain that knows what is going on. What’s our Lord talking about? He’s just simply saying, “Don’t be so careful in the way that you give.” Now, if you’re walking down the street, and there’s somebody who’s in need, just reach into your pocket, your right hand—that’s where most of us keep our change—and just give it to him.” What do we do when we want to know exactly what we’re
In the Area of Our Devotions

Now our Lord speaks of hypocrisy, therefore, in the area of our donations. And then He speaks of hypocrisy in the area of our devotions. Continue to read, in verse 5: “And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the [play actors] are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues...that they may be seen of men”—that they are putting on a theater. “Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.” (Matthew 6:5)

Now I want to say, it is not wrong to pray in public, nor is it wrong to give in public. Don’t misunderstand what Jesus has to say. It is not wrong to give in public. And it is certainly not wrong to pray in public. As a matter of fact, it is wrong not to pray in public. And we pray in public here. And the Bible encourages people to pray in public. The Bible illustrates how people prayed in public. For example, in the book of Acts, one of the great chapters is chapter 4, and it speaks of public prayer in Acts chapter 4 and verse 24: “And when they heard that, they lifted up their voice to God with one accord, and said, Lord, thou art God, which hast made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and all that in them is.” (Acts 4:24) Together they prayed. And God is glorified when people come together to pray. As a matter of fact, He’s going to give us an illustration of how to pray, when He says, “Our Father.” Not “My Father” but “Our Father”: people are praying together.

Don’t be ashamed to pray in public. There’s nothing wrong with public prayer. When you go into a restaurant, and a meal is set before you, and you bow your head at home to thank God for the meal, bow it in that restaurant. Thank God for the meal. And don’t care who says or who sees. You don’t do it to be seen of men, but you’re not ashamed to be seen of men. For Jesus said, “Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is heaven.” (Matthew 5:16)

We have a little boy, Philip, who died. I took Philip to the emergency room while Joyce stayed home to pray. Philip was one of those little infant crib deaths. I wrapped him in my coat and drove through blinding tears to the emergency room of the hospital, while Joyce stayed with our two other little children. I cannot tell you the agony in my heart, as I burst through those hospital doors and beat on the door to get somebody to come and take that little baby, and see if they could revive the life in that child. And I don’t mind telling you, dear friend, there in that busy corridor, as they left me on the outside, I got on my knees in that corridor. I didn’t care who saw me on my knees. I was down on my knees praying. I didn’t care if the whole world saw me, because I was not ashamed to be seen praying in public, because I had a need. I wasn’t doing it to be seen of men. There’s nothing wrong with that kind of prayer.

But what our Lord is saying, my dear friend, is, “Do not pray to be seen of men.” Now what our Lord here is talking about is your private devotion. And what Jesus is saying is you do not do your private devotions in public. One of the secrets of prayer is prayer in secret. And, my dear friend, if you don’t pray in secret, don’t pray in public—if all the praying you do is just simply outward. You see, prayer as a pretense always has to have an audience. But prayer as a reality knows that God alone is the audience.

I think I told you of a young lawyer one time, who graduated from law school, hung up his shingle, had a spanking brand new office, didn’t have one client in the world, sitting there behind his desk, getting ready to do business. He hears footsteps, somebody walking down the hall. He’s very excited: maybe this is a customer. He picks up the phone, prepared to act like he’s busy: “Hello.” “Yes.” “No, I’m sorry.” “I’ve got a heavy corporation case tomorrow.” “Oh, no, no, no, I can’t see you then.” “Perhaps.” “No, not next Wednesday. The Wednesday after next I think my secretary will have a place on her calendar for you—the Wednesday after next.” Then he hangs the phone up. And he sees the man standing in front of him, and he says, “Now, good sir, what may I do for you?” He said, “I’m from the phone company. I came to hook up your telephone.”

Now I think, dear friend, that this is the kind of praying that Jesus is talking about. Jesus is talking about that kind of hypocrisy when there’s nobody on the other line. We’re just simply praying to be seen of men. We’re trying to impress them rather than to impress the Lord.

Now our Lord tells us how we are to pray. Look, if you will, in verse 7: “But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking.” (Matthew 6:7) When you pray, you don’t pray to impress God. God is not impressed with the rhetoric of your prayers. God is not impressed with your much speaking. God is not impressed with your eloquence. You don’t have to be a junior-size Shakespeare in order to pray. And you don’t have to use King James English to pray. And you’d better beware of using trite phrases that are often repeated. I am guilty of doing that. That is one of the great dangers of a preacher: that at times you get little shibboleths, little phrases, that you put into your prayers.

Down at the old church one day, I had gone from early in the morning to late at night, and I had meetings all day long. I was weary. I was brain dead. I was just at the end of myself. A man saw me at the close of the service. He said, “Pastor Rogers, I must talk to you. I must. I have a very big problem.” I said, “All right, come on in. Sit down and talk.” And my heart was right. I was listening to that man. I wanted to help him. And, finally, when he finished, I said, “Let me pray for you.” All day long, I also had been dictating letters, signing them, “In Jesus’ name, Adrian Rogers.” When I got to the end of that prayer, I prayed, “In Jesus’ name, Adrian Rogers.” “Oh,” I thought, “God, what have I done? Did he hear me say that, Lord? I mean, did he realize what I said?” I guess God knew who it was down there praying, “In Jesus’ name, Adrian Rogers.” I said, “Dear God, don’t let me fall into that kind of business.”

Oh, my dear friend, we do not pray to impress God, nor do we pray to inform God. Look in verse 8: “Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.” (Matthew 6:8) You don’t pray to impress God. You don’t pray to inform God. You don’t tell God one blessed thing when you pray that He doesn’t already know. I’ve asked you before, does it ever occur to you that nothing ever occurs to God? I mean, God knows everything. God knows the beginning from the end. And He knows what you have need of before you ever ask Him.

So, if you don’t pray to impress God, if you don’t pray to inform God, what do you pray to do? You pray to invite God, and to enjoy God. Look, if you will, as He continues to tell us, “After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.” (Matthew 6:9–13)

Well, if God already knows that I have need of these things, why do I ask God? Why doesn’t God just give them to me? I’ll tell you why. God wants us to enjoy Him. God could do it without me; but, thank God, He will not.

Sometime ago, I was going to a speaking engagement, and the people said, “We’ll send an airplane for you if you can come.” I said, “All right. With that stipulation, I’ll come”—because other than that, I could not come. My schedule was such that I could not come. But they said, “We’ll send an airplane, and pick you up, and carry you over there.” I said, “All right, I’ll go.” And it was to a college somewhere. And the man came over and landed out here in the Memphis Aero. I got in that airplane with him, and we were going over Arkansas. He said, “Are you a pilot?” I said, “No.” He said, “Did you ever fly an airplane?” I said, “No.” He said, “Would you like to?” I said, “Yes.” So we’re sitting there side by side. He’s over here, and I’m over here. He said, “Do this, and do this; and don’t do this, and don’t do that.” He said, “Now, take the controls.” And so I did. For a long time I flew that airplane—kind of like this, and kind of like that. But he’s always sitting over there. He’s always there with his hands on the control. He’s just letting me fly the airplane. Now he didn’t need me to fly the airplane. I couldn’t fly it without him, but he could fly it without me. And if it had been me alone, I’d have piled it on the ground. But he just simply guided me, and helped me, and we had sweet fellowship, as I flew the airplane along with his help.

Now God could do it without you. But you wouldn’t get the joy out of it. You wouldn’t have the fellowship with Him, you wouldn’t have that participation with Him, as together you do what He could do without you and you could never do without Him.

Why does God teach us to pray? Not to impress God; not to inform God; but to invite God—because God never ever wants me to be independent of Him and to fail see my need of Him. And if God just gave me what I needed without my ever asking, I would never really see my need of Him.

God does not force Himself upon me. God invites me to pray and to have fellowship with Him. And therefore the Lord Jesus gave us a prayer that no hypocrite can ever pray. Look at it, beginning in verse 9. I cannot say “our” when I pray, if there’s no room for others and their needs. I cannot say “Father,” if I’m a hypocrite and do not demonstrate the relationship of His fatherhood in my daily living. I cannot say “who art in heaven,” if all of my interest and my pursuits are earthly things, like a hypocrite. I cannot say, “Hallowed be thy name,” if I’m called by His name and I am not holy, as a hypocrite would be. I cannot say “Thy kingdom come,” if I am unwilling to give up my own sovereignty and accept the righteous reign of God. I cannot say, “Thy will be done,” if I’m unwilling, or resentful of God’s will in my life. I cannot say, “in earth, as it is in heaven,” unless I’m willing to give myself to His service here and now. I cannot say, “Give [me] this day [my] daily bread,” unless I’m extending an honest effort to get my daily bread, or unless I’m genuinely concerned about the bread of my fellow man. I cannot say, “Forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us,” if I’m a hypocrite, and continue to hold a grudge in my heart. I cannot say, “lead [me] not into temptation,” if I deliberately choose to remain in a situation where I’m likely to be tempted. I’m a hypocrite, if I do that. I cannot pray, “deliver [me] from evil,” if I am not prepared to fight evil in the spiritual realm through prayer. I cannot say, “thine is the kingdom,” if I do not give to my King the disciplined obedience of a loyal subject. I cannot say, “thine is...the power,” if, as a hypocrite, I fear what my neighbors or friends may say or do. I cannot say, “thine is...the glory,” if I’m seeking my own glory first. I cannot say “for ever,” if I’m so concerned about today’s affairs. I cannot say “Amen,” unless I mean it: “By whatever cost, may this prayer be answered.”
C. In the Area of Our Disciplines

And so, what our Lord does, He talks about hypocrisy in the area of our donations. And then, He talks about hypocrisy in the area of our devotions. And then, He talks about hypocrisy in the area of our disciplines. Look, if you will, in chapter 6, verse 16: “Moreover when ye fast, be not, as the hypocrites, of a sad countenance: for they disfigure their faces.” (Matthew 6:16) That is, they actually put on a mask. The play actors of Jesus’ day, these Pharisees, when they would have their fast day, they would take ashes, and put ashes on themselves. They would take dirt, and put dirt on their face. They would tear their clothes, and they would go around now, wearing the costume of an actor, because they were fasting.

Again, there’s nothing wrong with fasting; nothing wrong with giving to the poor; nothing wrong with praying in public; nothing wrong with fasting. We ought to fast. Jesus didn’t say, “if you fast”, but, “when you fast.” And Jesus expects me to fast, and Jesus expects you to fast. But what were the Pharisees doing? They were doing the right thing with the wrong motive and the wrong method. They put on these gloomy clothes, a gloomy face, and they were going around trying to look humble.

A lot of people in the ministry do that today. I always feel a little funny when people ask me, “Are you a preacher?” I mean, people I don’t even know. They’ll walk up to me and say, “Are you a preacher?” I mean, I hadn’t been witnessing to them, or anything. They just say, “Are you a preacher?” I say, “No, I’ve just been sick.” Why do they ask that? I don’t want to look like a preacher. I’m not ashamed of being a preacher. I think that a man of God ought to dress and act in such a way that no one will suspect that he is but be amazed when they find out that he is. We ought to be supernaturally natural, and naturally supernatural. In all spiritual things, we ought to be natural; in all natural things, we ought to be spiritual.

But these Pharisees were just hypocrites. They were just going on putting on some sort of a show in the area of their disciplines. And our Lord said, “I’m sick of it. You’re play actors.” You know something harder than fasting? It’s fasting, and not letting anybody know it. That’s more difficult than fasting: not to let anybody know that you’re fasting when you’re fasting.

II. The Sinister Danger of Hypocrisy

Well, what our Lord is talking about here in these passages of Scripture are some sad demonstrations of hypocrisy. Now I want you to see the sinister danger of hypocrisy—the sinister danger of hypocrisy. What does hypocrisy do?
A. It Deceives

Well, number one: It deceives. Look, if you will, in verse 1. He says, “You do your alms before men.” (Matthew 6:1) Look, if you will, in verse 5. He says, “...that they may be seen of men.” (Matthew 6:5) Look in verse 16: “...that they may appear unto men to fast.” (Matthew 6:16) That is, it’s all a means to deceive other people. It deceives. And the sad thing about it is this: that the hypocrite who deceives other people begins after a while to deceive himself.

And then, the tragedy is this: that you have the problem leading the blind. Now just stay there in Matthew 6, and turn to Matthew 23. This theme runs all the way through the book of Matthew. Turn to Matthew chapter 23, and look, if you will, in verse 13: “But woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye shut up the kingdom of heaven against men: for ye neither go in yourselves, neither suffer ye them that are entering to go in. Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye devour widows’ houses, and for a pretence make long prayer: therefore ye shall receive the greater damnation. Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye compass sea and land to make one proselyte,”—that’s one convert to your religion—“and when he is made, ye make him twofold more the child of hell than yourselves.” (Matthew 23:13–15)

You see, the Pharisees were deceived, and they were deceivers. They were actors. And whenever they would make a convert, he would be a twofold child of hell. It is the blind leading the blind. One of the great problems in American Christianity today is hypocrisy, because not only is the hypocrite going to hell; he’s taking so many with him. It deceives.

B. It Defrauds

Number two: It defrauds. Go back to Matthew 6, and look, if you will, in verses 2 and 3. Jesus says, in the last part of verse 2, “They have their reward.” (Matthew 6:2) Look, if you will, in the last part of verse 6: “Thy Father which seeth thee in secret shall reward thee openly.” (Matthew 6:6) Look in verse 16: “Moreover when ye fast, be not, as the hypocrites, of a sad countenance: for they disfigure their faces, that they may appear unto men to fast. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.” (Matthew 6:16)

In all of these passages, our Lord is talking about the word reward: the reward, the reward, the reward! Is it wrong or right to serve God for reward? It is right to serve God for reward. Our Lord teaches us to serve God for reward. As a matter of fact, we’re going to find, in this Sermon on the Mount, where Jesus said, “Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven.” (Matthew 6:20) Now that doesn’t make any sense at all, unless there is some treasure in heaven that you can lay up. And our Lord does not discourage it. The Lord does encourage you to have a reward.
But the problem with many people is that many people are going to defraud themselves. They’re going to cheat themselves. For Jesus said, “These people who do things to be seen of men, they already have their reward.” And the word reward is a technical word, which means “paid in full, no more payment is due; it is complete; it is paid in full.” It’s a very technical word of a bill that has been completely, totally, paid.

That is, if you pray to be seen of men, you’re seen of men; you get your pay. You don’t get any more. If you give to be seen of men, you’re paid in full. When you’re seen of men, you don’t get any more pay. If you fast to be seen of men, when you’ll get your reward is when you’re seen of men. You are paid in full; you don’t get any more. The sad thing, my dear friend, is that, when you get what you want, one day you will not want what you got; that is, that you have defrauded yourself; you have cheated yourself. There’s no place in heaven where our Lord is going to say, “Enter thou into thy reward, and, well done, thou good and faithful servant.” You’re not going to get any of that. There won’t be any reward in heaven for you. You have cheated yourself.

Did you know that the things you’re going to be rewarded for in heaven are the things that you probably don’t even remember doing here? Did you know that? Did you know, if we remember what we do, God forgets it? If we forget it, God remembers it. It’s a strange thing.

Go back to Matthew 25. Look, let me show you something. This theme runs throughout the book of Matthew. Matthew 25, verse 34—our Lord is talking about that time when some people are going to receive a very wonderful reward. And look, if you will, in verse 34: “Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: for I was an hungréd, and ye gave my meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in: naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me. Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungréd, and fed thee? or thirsty, and gave thee drink? when saw we thee a stranger, and took thee in? or naked, and clothed thee? or when saw we thee sick, or in prison, and came unto thee?” “Lord, I don’t remember that. When did all of this happen, God—these things that you’re rewarding me for? I don’t remember it.” “And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me.” (Matthew 25:34–40)

The things that they forget, God remembered. The things that we remember, God forgets. They said, “Lord, I don’t remember doing that.” And I dare say the best good that you do for the Lord Jesus is when you do that unconscious good: you don’t even let your left hand know what your right hand is doing. You’re not praying to be seen of men, but you’re not ashamed that men will see you pray. You just simply do it because it is real. It’s in your heart. That’s what the world yearns for, and that’s what the world longs for.

C. It Destroys

My dear friend, what does this hypocrisy do? It deceives. It defrauds. And it destroys. Look, if you will, in Matthew chapter 7, verse 21—oh, one of the most terrifying passages of Scripture in all of the Bible! Look at it: “Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven. Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity.” (Matthew 7:21–23)

These play actors thought they were doing something good. God says it is iniquity. Now I want to remind you—listen to me, because I dare say there are many people that I’m preaching to today who’ve never really been saved; you are religious; you say, “Lord, Lord”; you give your money; you go to Sunday School—but Jesus calls it iniquity, because you have never been saved; you’ve never been born again.

You say “Well, I’m not a drunkard. I’m not a thief. I’m not a harlot.” My friend, the devil had rather send you to hell from the pew than from the gutter. And these people in Matthew chapter 7, verse 22, they were hypocrites. They had religion, but they did not have reality. They had form, but they did not have force. They had plenty on the shelves, but they had nothing in the warehouse. They were not saved.

What is the danger of hypocrisy? My dear friend, it deceives. It defrauds. It destroys. That’s why Jesus said so much about it.

III. The Serious Discernment of Hypocrisy

Now, one last thing, and I’ll be finished. Let me talk to you about the serious discernment of hypocrisy. If it’s such a dangerous thing, we’d better look at it very carefully. Go back to chapter 6, and look in verse 1. Jesus said, “Take heed.” (Matthew 6:1) Do you see that? Jesus said, “Take heed.” Now you’d better be very careful.

You know, when I prepared this sermon, I had to do some real hard searching. I had to do some hard searching on my knees this morning before I came out here to preach. I had to ask myself, “Adrian, is there some Pharisee in you?” And, very frankly, I had to do some business with God.

I want to give you some questions I want you to ask yourself. I’ve tried to ask these questions to myself:
Have I ever failed to obey God because I feared rejection by other people? You see, the play actors are always concerned about what they will think rather than what He will think.

Question number two: Am I willing, and do I often do service for God, and service for others, that I never tell anybody about—I never let anyone know it?

Number three: Is my private life consistent with my public life? I had to ask myself this morning on my knees, “Adrian, are you what the people of Bellevue think you are?”

All of these are just questions that ask this: Do we love the praise of men more than we love the praise of God? Are we really serving God from our hearts? If so, we have a reward in heaven.

I’m not going to let some hypocrite keep me from serving God, dear friend. I’m just not going to do it. There are some people who say, “Well, they’re hypocrites—they’re hypocrites. I’m not going to be a Christian because of the hypocrites.” Well, I’ve got news for you, my dear friend. If you’re hiding behind a hypocrite, you’re smaller than he is—or you couldn’t hide behind him. I’m going to tell you something else. If you’re hiding behind him, he’s closer to God than you are—or you couldn’t be hiding behind him. You say, “Well, there are hypocrites in the church.” Well, do tell. Do tell. One of Jesus’ twelve disciples was a hypocrite. Thank God the eleven didn’t up and quit.

Every now and then, somebody picks up the paper and reads about some charlatan in the ministry, maybe some television preacher or something like that. They say, “Ha, ha, ha! See what they all are?” That’s a lie, and you know it. It’s not what they all are. And you know it’s a lie.

Conclusion

Do you know why it doesn’t shake me when I learn of some hypocrite? Do you know why it doesn’t shake me? I’ll tell you why it doesn’t shake me: because I know one person who’s not a hypocrite. Do you know who He is? And you ought to know one who’s not. You see, no hypocrite on earth is going to shake you, if you know what you have is real. It will cause you grief. It will cause you heartache. It will cause you pity. It will cause you righteous indignation. But it will not shake your faith—because you know God personally. You say, “Well, I don’t want to go to church because of all those hypocrites down there.” Well, my dear friend, it would be better to come to church and spend a few years with some of them than to go to hell and spend eternity with all of them.

Let me tell you something. There always have been hypocrites. There always will be. The Lord Jesus Christ devoted the sixth chapter of the Gospel of Matthew to the problem of hypocrites. But oh, how wonderful it is to know Jesus Christ: to know Him, to serve Him, and love Him, with reality in your heart and in your life!

Conclusion

Introduction
Now, I want you to take your Bibles, please, and open up God’s word to Matthew, chapter 6, and we’re going to begin reading in verse 5. And, please have an open Bible in your hand. If you don’t have a Bible with you, look there in the pew before you. There ought to be a Bible there for you to use. Or, look on with your neighbor. You’ll always get so much more from any message if you’ll use the Word of God. Matthew chapter 6—we’re going to begin reading in verse 5.

Now, we’re talking today on this subject: “Enjoying the Family of God.” And, this is the second in a series of messages on what is commonly called “the Lord’s Prayer,” more aptly called “the model prayer.” And, we’re calling the entire series “The Principles of Prevailing Prayer”—prayer that is answered. Today: “Enjoying the Family of God.”

Matthew chapter 6 and verse 5: “And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward. But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly. But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking. Be not therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him. After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.” (Matthew 6:5–13)

Now, how should we pray?

A. We Are to Pray Secretly

Well, the Lord Jesus, first of all, in verses 5 and 6, says that we’re to pray secretly. (Matthew 6:5–6) The secret of praying is praying in secret. What a man is in his prayer closet is what he is. You can’t measure a preacher by what he is in the pulpit but by what he is in his prayer life in private. And, that frightens me and challenges me, and it ought to frighten you and challenge you. We are to get alone with God and to pray in secret.

B. We Are to Pray Sincerely

But, not only are we to pray secretly; we’re to pray sincerely. In verses 7 and 8, He says, “When you pray, don’t use vain repetition.” (Matthew 6:7) Now, there are a lot of people who just like to rattle off prayer. And, they repeat little words, little phrases, but they’re not sincere. They don’t even really think about what they’re talking about.

In Tibet, they pray with a prayer wheel. They have a little wheel on the end of a stick, and they just roll it round and round and round and round. And, every time the wheel goes around, that’s a prayer. I know some Baptists like that, but the difference is the wheels are in their head. And, they’re just going round and round and round, but they don’t really think about what they’re talking about. They’re just simply using vain repetition. Did you ever hear anybody say something like this: “Say a prayer for me”? Now, that kind of bothers me when I hear people ask a request like that: “Say a prayer for me.” We don’t say prayers; we pray prayers. What’s the difference?

Well, suppose I came to visit you, and I sat down in your living room, and you looked at me and said, “Say a conversation.” It would be ridiculous. You see, I don’t say conversation; I talk. You don’t say prayers; you pray.

We are talking with God, not just rattling off little things. Even this prayer that I’ve just read to you, I called it “the Model Prayer” because it’s a guide to pray. Jesus said in verse 9: “After this manner…pray ye.” (Matthew 6:9) He didn’t say to pray this prayer. We’re not all supposed to stand up and say, “Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.” (Matthew 6:9) That’s all right if you’re praying that prayer out of your heart, but just to repeat it, to use vain repetition… We’re not “heard for [our] much speaking.” (Matthew 6:7)

C. We Are to Pray Spiritually
We are to pray secretly. We are to pray sincerely. We are to pray spiritually. Our Lord taught us how to pray, beginning in verse 9.

And, verse 9 is going to be the verse that we’re going to look at for today. It’s the key verse for today. And, look at it again: “After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.” (Matthew 6:9) And, there are three things I want you to see in that verse with me today: first of all, I want you to see our Heavenly Father; secondly, I want you to see our human family; and thirdly, I want you to see our holy faith. I believe all three are talked about in verse 9. Okay, let’s look at it.

I. Our Heavenly Father
First of all, I want you to notice our Heavenly Father. Jesus, when He taught us to pray, taught us that we could come to God and address God as our Father.

A. Who He Is
Now, people have always been talking about God, and who He is, and what He’s like. Aristotle, the philosopher, said that God is “the Unmoved Mover.” Huxley said God is “eternal energy.” Arnold said that God is “the absolute unknown.” In Star Wars, He’s “the Force,” and to some people, He’s “the Man upstairs.” Frankly, all that leaves me cold. I’m glad I don’t have to pray to eternal energy. I'm glad I don’t have to call upon the Force. I am glad that I don’t have to think about the Unmoved Mover. I am glad that Jesus taught me when I pray, I can come to Him and say, “Father.” Jesus taught us to pray to God as Father. Do you know, come to think of it, that may be one of the most important words in all of the Bible—Father, Father. “When ye pray, say, ‘Our Father.’” (Matthew 6:9) That’s who He is.

B. Where He Is
Now, let’s think about where He is. The Scripture says, “Our Father which art in heaven.” (Matthew 6:9) But literally, in the Greek language it is “in the heavens.” It’s plural. “Our Father which art in [the heavens].” (Matthew 6:9) The word heaven is used twice in this prayer—first of all, “Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name”—and later on—“Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.” (Matthew 6:9–10) The first time it is plural. The second time it is singular. Now, that’s not by accident, dear friend; that is by divine design. And, not one jot nor one tittle is in the Scripture by mistake.

And so, why does the Bible say that we’re to pray to God, “Our Father which art in [the heavens]”? (Matthew 6:9) Well, there are three heavens. Do you remember the Apostle Paul said he was caught up into the third heaven, into paradise, and he saw there things not lawful for man to utter? (2 Corinthians 12:2–4) The first heaven is what? That’s the heaven of the atmosphere, the air that surrounds us. The very atmosphere that we live in is called, in the Bible, “the heavens.” You know, the Bible speaks of “the fowls of the air” and “the birds of the heavens.” (Genesis 6:7; Jeremiah 4:25) And so, the atmosphere where the birds fly, where the sparrows are, that’s the first heaven. And then, the second heaven is where the sun, the moon, and the stars are. The Bible says, “The heavens declare the glory of God.” (Psalms 19:1) The Bible speaks of the sun, the moon, and the stars as “the host of heaven.” (Deuteronomy 4:19) Now, the third heaven is where God dwells on high in that glorious place called “paradise,” the third heaven, where Paul was caught up to. Someone has well said, “We see the first heaven by day. We see the second heaven by night, and we see that third heaven by faith.” And, thank God for the three heavens.

Now, why are we taught to pray to our Father who is in the heavens? Well, what I believe Jesus is teaching us about is God is everywhere and there’s nowhere where God is not. Now, so many times, if we take this and don’t understand that He uses it in the plural, we might pray like this: “Our Father which art in heaven.” (Matthew 6:9) That is, He’s way out there—God—trying to reach Him. Oh, no, friend. He is way out there, but He’s right here—He’s right here. “Our Father which art in [the heavens].” (Matthew 6:9) He is as close to us as the air that surrounds us, as our breath. That’s what the theologians call “the transcendence and the immanence of God.” Do you know, I like the idea that God is up there because that means He rules over all and there’s nothing that He does not see, nothing that He’s not aware of. But, I like the idea that He’s here because now I can know Him and love Him and have fellowship with Him.

You know, I was really blessed by doing some study about that phrase that says “not a sparrow falls without your Heavenly Father.” (Matthew 10:29) Do you know how often we say that? We often sing it and talk about it. “Not a sparrow falls but what He knows about it.” Well, that is true, but that’s not what the Bible says. It literally says, “Not a sparrow falls without your Heavenly Father.” (Matthew 10:29) Now, what does that mean? It means that no sparrow ever died alone; not one of them died alone. Did you know that He’s there with a dying sparrow? I mean, when a sparrow dies, God is with him. “No sparrow falls without the Father.” (Matthew 10:29) That means not only did God attend the funeral, but God was there at the deathbed when a sparrow falls, when a little sparrow falls. “Not two sparrows sold for a farthing” (Matthew 10:29) —for a penny? That’s the kind of God we have—the God where the birds of the air fill the air. He’s the God of those heavens. And then, I want to tell you, He’s the God of the stellar heavens, and He’s the God of that heavenly home that we have there. What a wonderful, wonderful God! So, who is He? He’s our Father. Where is He? He’s in the first heaven. He’s in the second heaven. He’s in the third heaven. He’s right here with us. Hallelujah! Now, what does that mean to us? What does that mean to us? He’s our Father.

1. A Lesson Concerning His Conception

Well, first of all, that tells me something about His children. You see, this prayer is not a prayer for everybody. This prayer is only a prayer for the children of God. Now, you can’t come to God and call Him Father if you’re not His child. You say, “Well, everybody’s God’s child.” Oh no they’re not. The Bible says in the first chapter of John, “He came unto his own, and his own received him not. But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the [children] of God, even to them that believe on his name.” (John 1:11–12) And, the Bible says in the book of Galatians, chapter 3, verse 26 that we’re “children of God by faith in Jesus Christ.” (Galatians 3:26) That’s the way you become a child of God.

You know, Jesus was talking to the unsaved people of His day, and He said to them, “Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do.” (John 8:44) That’s John 8:44. So, not everybody’s a child of God. The only way that you can be a child of God is to receive Jesus Christ as your personal Savior. You see, you come to God as a father, but what did Jesus say? John 14:6: “I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me.” (John 14:6) Isn’t that right? The only way you can come to God is through Jesus. The only way that you can pray this prayer, therefore—“Our Father which art in heaven” (Matthew 6:9) —is to have Christ as your personal Savior and the elder brother. Then God is your Father.

So, the very first thing that tells me is a lesson concerning conception. I am God’s child, not by creation, but by conception. God has conceived me. I’ve been born again. I am a “[partaker] of the divine nature.” (2 Peter 1:4) God’s seed is in me. I am His child. He fathered me. He sired me. And, therefore, I can call him Father.

2. A Lesson Concerning His Care

But, not only does it tell me something about His children; it also tells me something about His care. Did you know because He’s my Father, He’s got to take care of me? I’ll tell you one thing about God: He’ll never be arrested for child desertion. He’ll never be arrested for neglecting His children. You see, listen, when you bring a child into the world, you bring a responsibility in the world. I wish some people knew that today. I mean, there is a responsibility to sire a child, to father a child. And, God is never going to be arrested for child abuse and child neglect. He’s going to take care of His own. And, how we must insult the Father when we worry, and stew, and fuss, and wrinkle our brow like God is not going to take care of us!

I want you to notice the logic that Jesus uses here in this same sixth chapter. Look, if you will, in verse 26: “Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father”—not their Heavenly Father; your Heavenly Father—“feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?” (Matthew 6:26) Do you see that? “Your Heavenly Father feeds the fowls of the air. Aren’t you better than a bird?” (Matthew 6:26) Now, what’s God saying? Listen to the logic: What farmer would feed his chickens and starve his children? See? I mean, if God takes care of the birds, God’s going to take care of the believers. If God takes care of the fowls of the air, He’s going to take care of His own. We belong to God. He’s going to take care of us. I’m not a beggar; I’m a child, so I can come and expect God to take care of me.

Now, when my wife cooks us a meal, as she did Thanksgiving Day—boy, I wish you could have seen what we had. I sat about three inches from the table and ate ’til I touched it. It was good—super! But now, when Joyce worked and had that fantastic meal there, then she didn’t say, “All right now, everybody come in! All you kids get down on the floor and squirm and beg and plead and cry, and maybe I’ll let you eat.” She didn’t say that. She said, “Come, dears! Dinner’s ready!” What a dinner it was!

3. A Lesson Concerning His Correction
You see, that’s what God says. We’re His children. We don’t come to Him as beggars. You see, not only is there the lesson concerning His conception, but there’s the lesson concerning His care—and not only the lesson concerning that, but the lesson concerning His correction, because if I address him as Father, then that means He has every right—indeed, He has the duty—to correct me and to discipline me. Do you know what the Bible says in Hebrews chapter 12, verse 6? “For whom the [Father] loveth he chasteneth, and scourgeth every son whom he receiveth…for what son is he whom the father chasteneth not?” (Hebrews 12:6–7) Do you know what that means? That means that God loves us so much that God will not allow us to live in sin without correcting us. And, you ought to be glad that you have a Father like that.

Did your daddy ever used to tell you, “I am doing this because I love you,” when he whipped you? Oh boy, that was one thing that was hard for me to believe! I couldn’t stand that much love. And then: “Son, this hurts me more than it hurts you.” That’s when I really didn’t believe—“This hurts me more than it hurts you.” But, you know, when I’ve gotten to be a papa and a daddy, I’ve understood that. You know, the Bible says, “No chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous: nevertheless afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby.” (Hebrews 12:11) When I was getting a whipping, I never did say, “Hot-diggety-dog! I’m getting a whipping! This is wonderful! Boy, it’s going to make me a better boy!” I never did do that. I just wasn’t that much of a philosopher, because folks, it hurt. But, I want to tell you something: I have never known a man whose father lovingly chastised him who, when he got to be a grown man, did not speak lovingly and with respect and reverence about his father who did that, because, you know why? It shows us that they cared enough—they cared enough. It is a mark of the father’s love. “Whom the [Father loves] he [chastens].” (Hebrews 12:6)

You say, “Well, I’m a member of this church. I’m living in sin. I don’t tithe. I don’t witness. I don’t pray. I’m living high, wide, and handsome, and God doesn’t chastise me.” I’ll tell you why: because you’re going straight to hell. You’ve never been saved. “Whom the Lord [loves] he [chastens].” (Hebrews 12:6) The Bible says, “If ye be without chastisement, whereof all are partakers, then are ye bastards, and not sons.” (Hebrews 12:8) “Pastor, what does that mean?” It means this: “If you were my child,” the Father says, “I would have chastened you long ago. If you live that way and I don’t chastise you, it’s because I never fathered you, I never sired you. You’re not a part of my family!”

You see, I’ve told our people before, God deals with His people on a cash basis. He deals with the unsaved on a credit basis. You see, He deals with His people as a father, but He deals with the unsaved as judge. Now, what I mean by cash is that when we as Christians disobey, God moves in immediately. But, the unsaved person—God doesn’t bother him. He goes on in sin. And, if you think God judges the unsaved, He doesn’t—He judges the unsaved at the Final Judgment, not before. And, he’s just living by credit. He’s just storing it up. The Bible says in Romans 2:5: “But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasurest up unto thyself against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God.” (Romans 2:5) What that verse means in plain English is this: that you are just putting wrath in the bank. God is just dealing with you on a credit basis, and one day you’re going to pay at the Judgment.

Listen, if you’re being chastised, just thank God for it. Just thank God that God loves you enough. You see, when you come to God as a father, that means there’s a lesson concerning conception. He has conceived you. You’ve been born again by the Holy Spirit of God and become a partaker of the divine nature. (2 Peter 1:4) That means, correspondingly, that God has taken a responsibility, and there’s a lesson concerning care—that God is going to take care of you. He’s honor-bound to do it. And, that means there’s a lesson concerning correction, because He loves you so much. If you step out of bounds, He’s going to step in. “For what son is he whom the father chasteneth not?”
(Hebrews 12:7) “Whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth.” (Hebrews 12:6)

4. A Lesson Concerning His Compassion

But, I want to tell you, there’s another lesson—and a beautiful lesson—and it’s the lesson concerning compassion. You know, because He has fathered us, we’re His, and He loves us. I was reading this morning in Psalm 103 and verse 13: “Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear him.” (Psalms 103:13) “Like as a father pitieth his children…” (Psalms 103:13)

I love my children. I would die for my children. There’s nothing that I have that is not at their disposal if they need it. And, if they need it and I don’t have it, I’d go out and try to find it and get it because I love my children. But, you know, my love for my children is faint compared to God’s love for me. The Bible says, “When my father and my mother [cast me off], then [will] the Lord…take me up.” (Psalms 27:10) Oh listen, how God loves us! How marvelously God loves us! You see, we have the Father’s compassion, and God doesn’t stop loving us when we sin. He still loves us.

Do you know what keeps me on the straight and narrow? It’s not because I’m afraid of what God might do to me. That’s not it. Oh, He will chastise me, but it’s not the chastisement that keeps me on the straight and narrow. I love my Father—I’m talking about my Heavenly Father. Do you know the difference between a slave and a son? When a slave disobeys, he’s afraid of the master’s whip. But, when a son disobeys, he fears his father’s displeasure. You see, when we as Christians sin against God, not only do we break God’s law; we break God’s heart. I don’t want to grieve my Father. I think of how many times I must have brought grief to my mother and father in this world. Do you know why I grieve them so much? Because they love me so much. Did you know you’ll only be grieved by somebody that you love? That’s what grieves you. That’s the reason the Bible says in the book of Ephesians, the fourth chapter, “Grieve not the holy Spirit of God.” (Ephesians 4:30) Grieve is a love word. You see, when God loves us, then we grieve Him.

One man heard his boys, his two sons—they were talking, and they were little boys. And, one of them said to the other one, “Don’t you do that! If you do that, Daddy won’t love you any more!” When the father heard that, he interrupted. He said, “Boys, that’s not true.” He said, “There’s nothing you can do that will stop me from loving you.” And, the little boy didn’t understand. He said, “Daddy, do you mean that you love us when we’re bad as well as you do when we were good?” He said, “That’s right. I love you just as much when you’re bad as I do when you’re good, but there’s a difference: when you’re good, it’s a love that makes me glad, but when you’re bad, it’s a love that hurts me.”

Did you know that love can hurt? Love can hurt. I don’t want to hurt God. I don’t want to hurt the One who loves me that much. He is my Father. And so, I can see in this that I’m His child. And, because I’m His child, I’m in His care. And, because I’m in His care, I’ll have His correction. But, His correction is always going to be with His compassion, that He loves me.

Do you know the only time in the Bible you’ll ever find a picture of God being in a hurry? How many of you know where that is? Just kind of nod your head. Do you know where that is? The only picture in the Bible of God being in a hurry? It’s in the fifteenth chapter of Luke. It’s when that prodigal son was coming home. And, the Bible says, “His father saw him, and while he was yet a great way off, he had compassion upon him and ran and fell on his neck.” (Luke 15:20) Oh, the father running to welcome him home—that’s a picture of our great God, the Father! The compassion of the Father! How much He loves me today! I’m so grateful! I’m so glad that Jesus taught me that I can pray to Him as a Father. So, that’s the very first thing I want you to think about, is our Heavenly Father: who He is, where He is, and what that means to me.

II. Our Human Family

Now, the second thing I want you to think about is our human family, because look again in verse 9. You see what it says? “After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father” (Matthew 6:9)—not “my Father”; “Our Father.” Now, look up here. I want to tell you something: you’re not an only child—you are not an only child. You are a part of the family of God. It is not my Father; it is our Father.

Now, here is a prayer that is to be prayed alone in a closet; and yet, alone in a closet, we’re thinking about other people. “Our Father which art in heaven…” (Matthew 6:9) And, did you know that you can’t be right with the Father if you’re wrong with His children? Did you know that? “If you forgive not men their trespasses against you, neither shall your Heavenly Father forgive you your trespasses against Him.” (Matthew 6:15) “Forgive us our debts, as we forgive those who trespass against us.” (Matthew 6:12) You cannot be spiritually right with God and consciously wrong with your brother. Not only is there a Heavenly Father; there is a human family. “Our Father…” (Matthew 6:9) As I was thinking about this, I thought about three things, dear friend.

A. There Is the Family Love to Share

First of all, there is a family love to share. We’re part of the family of God. We’ve got to love one another. Don’t tell me that you love the Father if you don’t love His children. How can you love God if you don’t love what God loves? You see, how can a man say, “I love God,” whom he has not seen, if he doesn’t love his brother? (1 John 4:20) So, we are to love the Father. There is the family love to share.

That’s one thing I like about Bellevue Church. Boy, it’s the love in this church! I praise the Lord for it. And, it’s not sticky, gooey sentimentality. Many of us don’t even know one another’s name. Many of you are sitting by a person that you don’t even know their name, but yet there’s the love that permeates the atmosphere of this place. That’s supernatural love. That’s the love that’s in the family. I’m so glad I’m a part of a family of God. I’m enjoying the family of God. There’s the family love to share.

B. There Is the Family Likeness to Wear

But, wait a minute—there’s also the family likeness to wear. Did you know the members of a family are supposed to be alike? And, they’re supposed to be like their father. Have you ever heard this expression: “Like father, like son”? Or, “He’s a chip off the old block”?

Do you know what used to make me feel good as a boy? When somebody would say to me something like this: “Aren’t you Arden Rogers’ son?” Or, “You look like you belong to A. D. Rogers.” “Well, I do!“ “Well, you certainly look like him,” Or, “You talk like him.” Boy, as a kid, that would make me feel so good. I don’t know what it is—just to have a child…to be told that the son…you remind them of their dad. I so loved and admired my dad. He seemed to be so smart, so wise, so strong—never could fool him about anything. And yet, I knew my dad was stern at times, but I was just so proud of my papa. And, for you to say, “Hey, you remind me of A. D. Rogers, of Arden Rogers,” that’s a blessing to me.

I’ll tell you another thing that’s a blessing to me: if people can look at me and be reminded of my Father in heaven. I want to wear His likeness. I want others to see Jesus in me, and I want His likeness to be displayed in me. And, I want to be a reflection of the Father, who has fathered me, because the Bible says His seed remains in me. (1 John 3:9) I’ve been sired by heaven and by the Father above.

C. There Is the Family Load to Bear

But, not only is there the family love to share, the family likeness to wear, but folks, listen to me—there’s the family load to bear. Did you know everybody’s supposed to have a job in the family? The littlest child can carry out the trash, pick up his toys, straighten up his room. I mean, whether you’ve just gotten saved or whether you’ve been saved for a long time, did you know that we’ve got a tremendous job in this family? Did you know that? Folks, think about that love. I mean, think about it. How do you think that’s going to be done? It’s going to be done by you, you, and you, and you; him, her, and me; them, him, those two—each one, our part. Smile. Say “amen.” Nod your head. And, by the way, let me tell you about saying “amen.” You see, I preach until I think you understand it, and you may be here until 3:30 if you don’t start saying “amen.”
Listen. Listen, folks, there is the family load to share. We can’t all bear the same load. We don’t expect as much of a child as we do an adult. We don’t expect as much as an invalid as we do a strong person. “Unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall much be required.” (Luke 12:48) But, when we come on Love Offering Sunday, we each one are going to come doing our part, whatever it is. And then, the Father will be pleased. He knows what we can do. Some of you may be able to do things you never even dreamed of doing. Some of you may have money that you didn’t even know you had—some insurance policy somewhere. Some of you may have a piece of property. Some of you may have jewelry. Some of you may have an heirloom, an antique, that you can translate into the Love Offering. You know, we keep asking God to give us, give us: “Give us, Lord!” And, He may have already given it to us, and all we need to do is look around and find out what God has already given us, that we may give it back to Him.

Folks, I want to tell you this much: you’re not going to out-give the Father. You’re not going to do it. He has taught us, “Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom.” (Luke 6:38) And so, I just thank God that there’s a family load to share.

III. Our Holy Faith

Now finally, I want you to think not only of the Heavenly Father and the human family, but I want you to think of our holy faith. For notice what this says. Notice what it says. It says this: “Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.” (Matthew 6:9) What a wonderful name that He has!

A. We Are to Remember His Name

Now, the word hallowed means “holy”—“[Holy] be your name” (Matthew 6:9)—“to be held in reverence, to be respected, to be sanctified in our sight.” Oh, our holy faith! “Hallowed be thy name.” (Matthew 6:9) Why does He say, “Hallowed be thy name” (Matthew 6:9)? Because God’s name and God’s nature are linked together. For example, God has taught us all of His names in the Old Testament.

One of His names, for example, is Elohim. Do you know what that means? Elohim means “the Almighty God,” “the God of strength.” But now, look right up here for just a moment. I want to talk to you about the names of God. Elohim means “the God of might.” Jehovah means He’s “the self-existing God”—always was, always will be. He has called Himself by various names. Jehovah Shalom—He’s “the God who is our peace,” “the Lord of our peace.” He’s called Himself Jehovah Jireh. That means He’s “the Lord who will provide.” He’s called Himself Jehovah Nissi. That means He’s “the God who is our banner.” That is, we march to victory under the banner of this great God. He’s called Himself Jehovah Tsidkenu. That means He’s “the Lord our righteousness.” He’s called Himself Jehovah Rapha. That means He’s “God our healer.” All of these names in the Bible are given. Jehovah Shammah—that means He’s “the God who’s ever present.”

But, do you know what Jesus said? Listen to me. Listen. Here’s what Jesus said: Jesus said, “I have manifested [His] name.” (John 17:6) Did you know that all of the names of God are wrapped up in Jesus? Did you know that? Did you know that Jesus is our righteousness, Jesus is our peace, Jesus is our healer, Jesus is our banner? That’s the reason that when you say, “Jesus,” folks, you’ve said it all. All of the names of God are in that one name.

Let me tell you this. Listen to it. In Philippians, the second chapter, the Bible says, God has “given him a name which is above every name”—and what is that name?—“That at the name of Jesus, every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; And that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.” (Philippians 2:9–11) You think that God the Father is jealous of His names? No, it is to the glory of God the Father that every tongue confesses that Jesus Christ is Lord. And, that name is a name that is above every name.

And so, when we say, “Hallowed be thy name,” (Matthew 6:9) as we understand it in the radiant beams of the New Testament, we’re understanding that all of the names of God are wrapped up in the Lord Jesus Christ. Bill Gaither was right when he said, “You know, there is just something about that name.” His name is wonderful. “Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.” (Matthew 6:9) Oh, all of the names of the Father are in the Lord Jesus! Thank God for Jesus! Hallelujah!

B. We Are to Reverence the Name

Not only are we to recognize the name, but friend, we’re to reverence the name. You see, here’s our Lord teaching us how to pray. Let me tell you now how to get ready to pray. Are you ready? Are you listening? Listen. Number one: You recognize that God is your Father, and you put away all fear. And, you can come up, as it were, and sit in His lap and put your arms around His neck. He’s your Father. And, you can come to Him. But secondly, you come to Him with praise. You begin to say, “Father, hallowed be thy name.” Praise the Lord. Just spend time in His presence, loving Him, praising Him, worshipping Him, giving glory to His name. Do it, and prayer will become real. If you’re having difficulty praying, try praising. You’ll have an ocean to swim in.

One of the grandest things I’ve ever learned about prayer is to spend time praising the Lord. Start this way: “Hallowed be thy name.” (Matthew 6:9) Notice how this prayer begins: “thy name,” “thy kingdom,” “thy will.” Then it talks about “our bread,” and the rest of it. But, it starts with God’s glory. God’s not some sort of a sanctified bellhop or a glorified Santa Claus we come to with a shopping list. You need to come to Him as your Father. And, come to Him giving Him the glory and giving Him the praise. And, dear friend, when you come to the Father through Jesus and in the name of Jesus, you need to pray, “Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.” (Matthew 6:9)

C. We Are to Rely on the Name

We are to remember the name. We are to reverence the name. And, friend—and I’m finished—we are to rely upon the name. Oh, the name is powerful! The name is powerful—because Jesus said, “Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full.” (John 16:24) We need to be like little David who came against Goliath. He said, “[You come] to me with a sword, and…a spear, and…a shield: but I come to [you] in the name of the LORD of hosts.” (1 Samuel 17:45)

Oh, rely upon the name!

I read about a man who was a lawyer—a very wealthy, affluent man. He met a beggar on the street. The beggar was a panhandler asking for money, and the lawyer said, “I think I know you.” The beggar says, “And I know you. We were college classmates.” “That’s right. The second floor of the dorm.” And, they talked about it. They had a little reunion. The lawyer said to him, “God has prospered me. I’ve been blessed. I want to help you to get a new start.” And, the lawyer wrote for that beggar a check for one hundred dollars. That’s back when a hundred dollars was almost a thousand dollars in worth. The beggar took it. The lawyer friend said to him, “I want you to get a new start. Clean yourself up. Get a job. This will help you to get over this emergency.”

The beggar took that check, and he went to the bank and he stood outside the bank. He looked in the bank, and there in the bank he saw those men all dressed up in their banker’s suits. He saw that clean, polished marble. He saw the efficiency and the cleanliness of that bank. He looked at himself—the rags, the beard, the filth, the grime. He said, “If I go in there, they won’t cash this check for me. They’ll think I stole it. They won’t even cash it for me.” And, he didn’t have enough courage even to go into the bank.

Later on, the lawyer saw him on the streets again, still in his rags, and the lawyer said to him, “John, did you squander that money?” He said, “No.” He said, “I haven’t even cashed the check.” And, he told the lawyer why he didn’t have enough courage to go in the bank. And, the lawyer, with his legal mind, said, “Now John, you listen to me. You go in that bank, and you cash that check. And, don’t you worry about how you look or what you wear. It is not how you look or what you wear that counts, but my signature upon that check that counts.”

Now friend, when I heard that story, I thought, “Oh, hallelujah! When I come to the Father, when I pray in Jesus’ name, when I rely upon His name, I am not presenting myself, but I am presenting all that He is. And, I’m putting His signature upon my prayer."

Conclusion

Now, listen—listen. Your Heavenly Father—the key word is relationship. Are you listening? Are you saved? You’re not ready to pray unless you’re born again. The key word is relationship. Do you have a relationship to God through Christ? Have you been born again? The human family—the key word is fellowship. Are you in fellowship with your brothers and sisters in Christ? Don’t get the idea that you’re going to have your prayers answered if you’re out of fellowship with a brother or sister in Christ. The holy faith—the key word is worship. Three “ships”: relationship, fellowship, worship. That’s the threshold of prayer: relationship, fellowship, worship—our Heavenly Father, our human family, our holy faith. Hallowed, hallowed, hallowed be thy name, dear Father.

Introduction
So, Matthew chapter 6, we begin in verse 9—Matthew chapter 6 and verse 9: “After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven”—and then, we come to the key phrase for the message today—“Give us this day our daily bread.” (Matthew 6:9–11) Now, I want you to see that this prayer is a model prayer. It’s not primarily the Lord’s Prayer, as it is often called, because in this prayer forgiveness is asked for. Jesus never needed to pray for forgiveness, did He? Of course not! He was sinless. So, it was not the Lord’s Prayer. It is the disciples’ prayer or, more aptly, a model prayer. He didn’t tell us to pray this exact prayer—though you may if you wish—but He said, “Pray in this manner.” And, remember He prefaced it by saying that it’s not the length of our prayer, the loudness of our prayer, the language of our prayer, or the logic of our prayer that is really all that important. We’re not “heard for [our] much speaking.” (Matthew 6:7) We’re not to come to argue with God or to shout at God. But, prayer is the heart speaking to God and a child communing with his Father.

Now, we’ve talked about other aspects of this prayer, but oh, I want to tell you the one today is exciting because it tells me that God is going to meet my needs. Do you have any needs? Wonderful! Then God, dear friend, is here to meet your needs. You see, this is a model prayer. Jesus was not just saying that the only thing that we could pray for was bread, but He used that to be illustrative of any need that we have. For the Bible says in the book of Philippians, chapter 4, and verse 19: “But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus.” (Philippians 4:19) And, why shouldn’t He? Now listen, we think about our obligations to God—and we have some—but have you ever thought about God’s obligation to you?

I brought some children into this world, and when I brought those children into this world, that made me obligated to them. I need to take care of my children. And, if I don’t take care of my children, I have “[departed from] the faith…I’m] worse than an infidel.” (1 Timothy 5:8) As a matter of fact, I could get arrested for child neglect if I failed to take care of my children, right?

Friend, God will never be arrested for child neglect. God is not going to be embarrassed about the way He takes care of His children. God is going to take care of you. He’s honor-bound to take care of you. He must take care of you if you will come and meet Him at His condition and allow Him to do it, for “my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus.” (Philippians 4:19)

Some time ago, a young man came to me and he said, “God has called me to preach.” And, he said, “He wants me to go away to college and study, and I know the college He wants me to go to. But, I can’t go.” I said, “Why can’t you go?” “Oh,” he said, “I don’t have the finances. I don’t have the wherewithal to go.” I said, “Well, listen, if I could get a millionaire to underwrite your expenses, would you go?” He thought I knew a millionaire. I said, “If I could get a millionaire to underwrite your expenses, would you go?” “Oh, boy,” he said, “I certainly would!” I said, “Well, you have the One who owns the world”—amen?—“a Father in heaven!” I firmly believe this: where God guides, He supplies, and anything that God orders, He can pay the bill for. I cannot believe that there’s a man that God wants to go to school, to seminary, or anywhere else, and that man cannot afford to go. I just don’t believe that. I believe, dear friend, if God wants him to go, he can go. And, behind every command of God is the omnipotent power of God to carry out that command, for “my God shall [meet] all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus.” (Philippians 4:19)

I know what it is to go to school and work your way through school and live from hand to mouth. Joyce and I were married through seven years of college and seminary, and I didn’t allow her to work. I said, “You stay home and take care of the family, and I’m going to go to school and I’m going to go to work.” And, I don’t say it braggingly, but God took care of us, folks. It was hand to mouth—from God’s hand to our mouth. And, we would have been beneath the poverty level, according to any way that anybody would speak of poverty. But, I want to tell you, we were rich. I told her, “Listen, I don’t know whether I can get out of school and take care of you, but I believe we can keep on going to school, and I can take care of you” because God met our needs. And, He’ll meet your need. God’s not going to be arrested for child neglect. “My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus.” (Philippians 4:19) Hallelujah! “Our Father which art in heaven... Give us this day our daily bread.” (Matthew 6:9–11)

Now, there are four thoughts that I want to place on your heart.

I. A Definite Priority to Be Established

Number one is this: There is a definite priority that should be established. I want you to look at this prayer again. See how it begins in verse 9: “After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven”—number one—“Hallowed be thy name”—number two—“Thy kingdom come”—number three—“Thy will be done.” (Matthew 6:9–10) Do you see it? “Thy name,” “thy kingdom,” “thy will.” And then, after that, “our bread,” “our debts,” “our protection,” “our temptations.” Do you see that? First of all, we take God’s viewpoint. And, first of all, the prayer is not for my needs, but it is for God’s glory. And, there’s a definite priority that needs to be established.

Now, all of this is wrapped up in the same chapter in verse 33. Look at it—Matthew chapter 6 and verse 33. Read it: “But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness”—“Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done” (Matthew 6:10)—“seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things”—daily bread—“shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) Do you see that? A priority that must be established. Ladies and gentlemen, God is not going to take second place. Don’t you know that? Do you know what’s wrong with many so-called Christians in America? They’re trying to put things first and God second, and they wonder why it doesn’t work. God does not—will not—work in second place. “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.” (Matthew 6:33)

Now, people say, “Well, I prayed, and it didn’t work.” Don’t you tell me it didn’t work unless you were putting God and His kingdom first. Don’t tell me that God is not faithful. Listen, friend, when all else fails, read the instructions. Just read the instructions. “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) That is God’s Word. It cannot fail. It never has failed. It never will fail. An old saint put in the margin of her Bible by this verse, “T & P.” Someone asked her, “What does that mean?” She said, “It means, ‘tried and proven’.”

“Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) See? It just makes sense. What is daily bread for, anyway? To give us strength. Now, why should God give you strength to serve the devil? I mean, why should God give you strength unless your strength is going to be used for His glory, for His kingdom, for His will, for His work? But, when I say, “Dear God, I seek you first. I put your interest first. I put your business first. I want to take care of your affairs,” then God says, “Very well, my son, and I’ll take care of your affairs, also.” “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) And, don’t you tell me that that’s not true unless you’ve been putting God first.

Do you give Him the first thoughts in the morning? Do you give Him the first day of the week? Do you give the first fruits of your income? “Honour the LORD with thy substance, and with the firstfruits of thine increase: So shall thy barns be filled with plenty, and thy presses burst out with new wine.” (Proverbs 3:9–10) Or, do you say, “Well, we’ll pay all our bills and see what we have left, and maybe we can give the Lord something”? Put God first and things in second place.

Is God the first in your desires? Is there anything that you love more than you love Him? The Bible says that “in all things he [should] have the preeminence.” (Colossians 1:18) I’m telling you, ladies and gentlemen, that God is going to take care of our daily bread if we understand there is a definite priority that must be established: thy kingdom, our bread. “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33)

II. A Daily Provision to Be Enjoyed
Now, there’s a second thing I want us to see: not only a definite priority that must be established, but a daily provision that ought to be enjoyed. Aren’t you glad God said, “bread”? Don’t you love bread? I love it too much. Bread’s so good. Those hot biscuits—first bite is a half moon; the second, a total eclipse. Do you know what I’m talking about? Boy, it’s good! Nothing better than fresh bread! Yesterday, my wife took out of the oven a loaf of bread—just a loaf of bread. We sliced it and put melted butter and honey on it. Friend, I had to almost get out of there before I consumed it—I mean, the loaf! It was good. God wants to meet our needs, and there is a daily provision to be enjoyed. And, when God gives you bread, He wants you to eat it and He wants you to enjoy it because it’s good and it’s good for you.

But now, notice—a daily provision to be enjoyed. “Give us this day our daily bread.” (Matthew 6:11) That means I’m not to worry about what I’m going to have to eat tomorrow if I’ve got something to eat today. Do you know what the Bible says? The Bible says if I have food and clothes, I’m to be content. (1 Timothy 6:8) But, how many people do you know that are content with food and clothes? I mean, we think we’ve got to have a lot of bread in the bank, and if we don’t have a lot of bread in the bank, we’re going to hardly enjoy the bread that we have to eat today.
A. Worry Is Needless

Now, I want you to see what Jesus said. He taught us how to pray, and then He explained it. Just go on here and look, if you will, in verse 25, and He tells us here that worry about tomorrow’s bread is just needless. Look. He says in verse 25: “Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life”—that is, “Don’t worry about your life”—“what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?” (Matthew 6:25) I mean, there’s more to life than just eating and drinking and wearing clothes. There’s a God in heaven! Worry, dear friend, is needless, therefore.

B. Worry Is Senseless

But, not only is it needless—I want you to see the Savior’s argument—He says that it’s senseless. Look, if you will, in verse 26: “Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not”—you’ve never known a chicken who was a farmer. You might have known some farmers who were chickens, but you never knew a chicken who was a farmer—“Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?” (Matthew 6:26) You see, Jesus said for you to worry about tomorrow’s bread is senseless. It doesn’t make sense. For what farmer would feed his chickens and starve his children? Do you see the logic of the Lord Jesus?

C. Worry Is Useless

But, not only is it needless and senseless; it’s useless. Look, if you will, in verse 27: “Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?” (Matthew 6:27) Now, which basketball player who wants to be seven feet tall can be seven feet tall by worrying about it? You can’t do it. Worry is useless. It doesn’t do any good. That’s the best thing you can say about it: it doesn’t do any good. I mean, worry never solved a problem, lifted a burden, dried a tear, or soothed a wrinkled brow. Worry is useless. “Which of you by taking [anxious] thought can add one cubit unto his stature?” (Matthew 6:27)

D. Worry Is Faithless

But, He goes on to say worry is faithless. Begin reading in verse 28, and look at it: “And why take ye thought”—that is, “anxious thought”—“for raiment?”—or “clothing”—“Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin: And yet I say unto you, That even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these”—take that camera right there and put it on those, would you, sir? Right there, up close. And, I want you look at those flowers. My goodness, those are beautiful! I don’t know what ol’ King Solomon had to wear, but he never had anything like that. Isn’t that gorgeous? Isn’t that beautiful? Now, listen to the logic. I mean, God just causes that to come up out of the ground—“Solomon in all of his glory was not arrayed like one of these. Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to day is, and to morrow is cast into the oven”—listen. In two or three days, these flowers will be gone. Friend, listen—“shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?” (Matthew 6:28–30)

Not only is worry useless; it is faithless. Did you know that worry is a slander against God? Worry says, “Either, God, you care, but you’re not able to do anything, or else you’re able, but you don’t care.” Worry says, “God, this one’s too big for you.” Did you know that worry and faith are just the opposite? You take worry and turn it inside out—you have faith. Take faith and turn it inside out, and you have worry. And without faith it is impossible to please God. (Hebrews 11:6)

E. Worry Is Excuseless

What does Jesus tell us? It is needless. It is senseless. It is useless. It is faithless. But then, He tells us it is excuseless. Look, if you will, in verse 31: “Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed?”—now, listen to this next phrase, friend, because it’s a kicker—“(For after all these things do the Gentiles seek).” (Matthew 6:31–32) One translation I read said, “These are the things that the pagans go after.” Worry is pagan! It is excuseless! You’re acting as though there’s no God when you worry. You’re acting like an unsaved person when you worry about tomorrow’s bread.

Now listen, we’re to enjoy today’s bread. You know, many of us are just enduring today to get to tomorrow, and others of us are enduring today, worrying about tomorrow. But, if we have food today, we’re to be content. Continue to read this chapter, and look at it again. I’m going to bring you back to verse 33 that we’ve already mentioned: “But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and these things”—that is, your daily bread—“shall be added unto you”—now, notice the conclusion—“Take therefore no thought for the morrow”—do you see that? Jesus said, “Pray for daily bread; take no thought for the morrow.” Why?—“for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:33–34)

Now, come up close and I want to give you a lesson. I hope you’ll never forget it. Are you listening? God has sort of a divine ecology, a balance of problems and strength. Did you know that God gives you trouble every day? You say, “I sure do.” God gives it to you, not the devil. Now, he may give you some too, but God sees to it that you have some trouble every day. Why? God wants you to have enough trouble to keep you leaning on Him, to keep you dependent upon Him, to keep you from being self-sufficient, where you say, “I don’t need God.” So, God knows how much trouble you need, and God gives you some trouble every day.
But, wait a minute. God, when He gives you that trouble, God also gives you strength every day so you can be victorious every day. So, on the one hand, on this side, God gives you trouble; and then, He balances it out on this side with strength. That’s exactly what the last verse means when it says, “Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof” (Matthew 6:34) “Sufficient” is what? The strength for the evil. The word evil here doesn’t mean “sin.” It means “evil” like an “evil smell” or something like that, you see. That is, we have difficulty. God gives us difficulty, and then God gives us sufficient strength to meet that difficulty.

Now, when does He give it to us? As we need it. Listen. The Bible says, “As [your] days [are], so shall [your] strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25) I mean, I have trouble today; I have strength today. When I have trouble tomorrow, I’ll have strength tomorrow. But, God never gives me tomorrow’s strength for today’s problems. Are you understanding that? I am not to worry about tomorrow. I’ve got enough to take care of today, and God gives me sufficient strength today to take care of my needs today, as “sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) I have all that I need to meet today, but I don’t have enough to meet tomorrow.

Now, what happens when I go out into tomorrow and I get tomorrow’s problems and I bring tomorrow’s problems into today? I upset the whole thing. It all gets out of balance, and I find I’m trying to use today’s strength on tomorrow’s problems. And, worry doesn’t take the sorrow out of tomorrow; it takes the strength out of today—worry doesn’t take the sorrow out of tomorrow; it takes the strength out of today. And then, when I get to tomorrow, I get to tomorrow out of breath because I’m already worn out trying to handle tomorrow’s problems today. And, it just makes tomorrow worse.

What I’m to do—I’m to say, “God, give me this day my daily bread. I take no thought for the morrow. The morrow shall take thought for the things of itself.” I’m not against planning. The Bible’s not against planning. The Bible says, “Go to the ant, thou sluggard; consider her ways, and be wise.” (Proverbs 6:6) The ant gathers her food in the summertime for the wintertime. Jesus said, “Which of you, intending to build a tower, [doesn’t sit] down first, and [count] the cost, [if] he [has enough] to [build] it?” (Luke 14:28) The Bible is not against planning for the future, but the Bible is definitely against worrying about tomorrow. I tell you, it is needless. It is senseless. It is faithless. It is useless. It is pagan. It is excuseless. I’m to pray to God today that God will give me today my daily bread. It’s just wonderful how God does it. God gives you problems, and God gives you strength; and God keeps you standing upright, and God keeps you balanced.

Now, you say, “Well, I don’t want any problems.” Well, friend, all sunshine makes a desert. You say, “Then give me all problems.” All rain makes a swamp. But, you see, when God gives you sunshine and rain, God gives you a garden, and God makes you fruitful for Him. And so, in your life, some rain is going to fall, and in your life, some sun is going to shine. But, God is going to give you strength for today’s needs, not for tomorrow’s needs. And so, Jesus taught us to pray, “Give us this day our daily bread.” (Matthew 6:11) And friend, don’t fail to enjoy. It's good! And, enjoy what God is doing for you today. It’s a lot better when you get it day by day. It’s fresher.

Now, you want a bank full of bread. What would you do if you had a warehouse full of bread? It would get stale and moldy before you could eat it anyway, wouldn’t it? I mean, you want all that laid up for you in the future. Now, I want to ask you a question: Hadn’t you rather live in a bakery than have a warehouse full of bread, especially if your father owned the bakery and he was a good baker? You see, do you remember those times when you just were down to nothing and God came and supplied? Wasn’t that sweet? I mean, wasn’t that wonderful? Wasn’t that bread good? Because it’s fresh! You know, there’s nothing that smells better than bread that just came out of the oven. And, there’s nothing that’s sweeter than having God, when you don’t have anything else, just bake you a fresh loaf of some kind of spiritual bread and serve it to you, and you know that it’s God that did it. How good that is! How sweet that is, as we depend upon God!

You know, so many of us, we act just like pagans. We think if we can’t see it on the bank account that somehow we’re not going to be taken care of. Come on, folks, be honest. I heard a preacher say one time, “I don’t need any money.” Boy, when I heard that, I perked up my ears. He was the first preacher I believe I ever heard say that. He said, “I don’t need any money.” He was preaching. He said, “I don’t need any money.” And then, he said something like this: he said, “My wife and I have nineteen dollars in the bank, and we don’t need any money until that’s gone.” Now, you think about that. You say that you need money; but friend, you don’t need a thing until you’re out of everything. And, if you have Jesus, you’ll never be out of everything.

So, what I’m trying to say is that there is a daily provision to be enjoyed. Don’t let tomorrow take the joy out of today. “Having food and [clothes] be…content.” (1 Timothy 6:8) And, learn to pray, and seek the Lord, and say, “Dear Lord, give me today my daily bread. Yes, I’ll plan for tomorrow, but I refuse to worry about tomorrow. I’m going to seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness. And Lord, you’re not going to be arrested for child neglect.”

III. A Divine Provider to Be Exalted
Now, there’s a definite priority that needs to be established. There is a daily provision that needs to be enjoyed. Thirdly, dear friend, there is a divine Provider that needs to be exalted. You see, Jesus taught us to pray for bread that we might recognize who is the source of all things. The Bible says that it is God “who giveth us richly all things to enjoy.” (1 Timothy 6:17) So many times we fail to understand that God is the source.
A little boy was carrying a loaf of bread, and a man said to him, “Son, where did you get that bread?” “Oh,” he said, “I got it from the baker.” He said, “But where did the baker get it?” “Oh,” he said, “he baked it.” “With what did he bake it?” “Well, with flour.” “Well, where did he get the flour?” “Well, he ground some corn.” “But where did he get the corn?” “Well, he got it from the merchant.” “But where did the merchant get it?” “Oh, he got it from the farmer.” “Where did the farmer get it?” “Well, he got it from God.”

Then, the man said, “Son, where did you get that loaf of bread?” He said, “I got it from God.” You see, we need to understand that, don’t we? You see, it is God who gives us everything.

Now, some of you say, “Well, you know, I’ve got plenty in the bank. I don’t need to ask God to give me my daily bread.” How foolish you are! How foolish you are! I want you to look here in this sixth chapter, if you will, in verse 19: “Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal”—you know, all that you’ve got in the bank, somebody might be getting it right now—“But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through and steal.” (Matthew 6:19–20) I don’t care how much money you have in the bank; you’d better learn to pray at the beginning of each day, “God, give me today my daily bread.” You don’t know how quickly it can be taken from you or you can be taken from it.

I was down in Florida, and the pastor said, “Let’s go witness to a man. He’s a fine young man, a real entrepreneur, a businessman.” He was educated and handsome; articulate, witty, charming; a real man’s kind of a man. The pastor loved him so much. He said, “I want him to come to know the Lord.” He reminded me of the rich, young ruler. The man decided he wanted to host the pastor and the evangelist. We went to one of the finest restaurants. We had a sumptuous meal. The man wanted to be our host. He paid. Then, we began to talk, and the talk was fine and lighthearted and happy. But then, we turned the conversation to the Lord, and even then he began to tease a little and speak lightheartedly about the things of the Lord. But, I refused to let him get off that easy. And, we pushed the dishes aside, and I leaned over the table and began to speak with that young, wealthy wheeler-dealer about the things of God. And, after a while, he told me when he seemed to get in a corner, “Look, mister. I don’t need God. I’ve got it.” And, he began to tell me about his ability, and his wealth, and his money. And, he said, “Other people may need God. I don’t need God.” And, I forgot for a moment I was a guest, and I said, “I want to tell you something, mister: just an air bubble hits your brain, and you’ll become so incapacitated you’ll turn into a slobbering idiot. You won’t be able to handle your business. You talk about what you’ve done.”

The Bible says, “The plowing of the wicked, is sin.” (Proverbs 21:4) Do you know what that means? It means, when a man goes out and plows a field, and he uses God’s rain and God’s sunshine and God’s earth, and God causes those seeds to germinate, and that man doesn’t give God the glory, that man’s a sinner. I don’t care how much you’ve got; you’d better learn to pray to God to give you your daily bread. “Give us this day our daily bread.” (Matthew 6:11) There is a Divine Provider to be exalted, and we need to pray, even though we think we have it.

And, we need to also remember that it doesn’t say, “Give me my daily bread”; it says, “Give us…our daily bread.” (Matthew 6:11) And, if you’ve got plenty, there are plenty who don’t have plenty, and you’d better learn how to pray for them. And, when you’re praying and asking God to give you bread, remember that it’s a corporate thing: “Give us this day our daily bread.” (Matthew 6:11) And, if you’re sitting there happy, fat, and sassy, learn to pray for those who don’t have much; learn to intercede: “And God bless them, and God help them.” But, I’m telling you, there’s a Divine Provider who needs to be exalted. We get that bread from God. And, to fail to give Him the glory is a horrible sin.

IV. A Diligent Performance To Be Expected

Now, one final thing I want to say: dear friend, there is a diligent performance to be expected. When I pray for daily bread, that gives me no excuse for laziness. And, if I fail to work for that for which I pray, then my prayer will not be answered. You say, “But wait a minute. God feeds the birds.” He does, but He doesn’t throw it in the nest. Come on, folks. Have you ever seen a bird scratch for his food? Hunt for his food? Peck for his food? Every bird gets up early every morning and goes to work. Every bird does that. Most of them are up and at work before you’re up and at work. It’s those early birds that God is feeding. They’re out there working.

Listen, let me give you some scripture here. Turn to Genesis chapter 3 and verse 19. Let me show what God said back over here in the dawn of creation about this matter of bread. Genesis chapter 3 and verse 19: “In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread”—“In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread.” (Genesis 3:19) Now, do you know what that means translated into the modern idiom? “You’re going to have to work for it.”

Let me show you something here. Turn in the New Testament to 2 Thessalonians, the third chapter and the tenth verse. It’s not a real hard book to find. It’s harder to say than it is to find. Turn to 2 Thessalonians, the third chapter, the tenth verse. Now, there were some hyperspiritual people—“spiritual” in quotation marks, not really spiritual—in the church at Corinth who were saying, “Well, we’re just going to pray and wait on Jesus to get back. We’re not going to go to work. We’re too spiritual to go to work. We’re just going to pray and trust the Lord.” And, Paul’s answer to these people was in 2 Thessalonians chapter 3, verse 10: “For even when we were with you, this we commanded you”—not “suggested you,” but “commanded you”—“that if any would not work, neither should he eat.” (2 Thessalonians 3:10) Do you see that? “If any would not work, neither should he eat.” (2 Thessalonians 3:10) Do you know what ought to happen to a person who refuses to work? Let him go hungry. You say, “Oh, that’s unloving!” Well, I didn’t write it; God wrote it. “If any man would not work, neither should he eat.” (2 Thessalonians 3:10)

Now, it doesn’t say, “If any man cannot work.” We have a responsibility to take care of those who cannot take care of themselves. That’s not what it says. It’s not talking about a man who wants a job and can’t get one, although there’s some kind of work—if a man wants a job rather than a position—for most anybody. It’s not talking about those who are crippled. It’s not talking about widows, and orphans, and people like that who cannot supply for themselves. But, the Bible clearly and plainly says that a sluggard, a person who refuses to work, in my estimation, he can sit around all day long and say “God, give me today my daily bread,” and God is under no obligation to feed that man at all. As a matter of fact, I don’t believe God will.

Let me give you some other scripture to point out what I’m talking about. Turn to Proverbs chapter 20, right, almost, in the middle of the Bible, and look with me in Proverbs chapter 20 and verse 4: “The sluggard will not plow by reason of the cold”—that is, “It is just too cold to go to work today”—“therefore shall he beg in harvest, and have nothing.” (Proverbs 20:4) Look, if you will, in Proverbs chapter 20 and verse 13: “Love not sleep, lest thou come to poverty; open thine eyes, and thou shalt be satisfied with bread.” (Proverbs 20:13) As a matter of fact, you might put “Proverbs 20, verse 13,” right alongside Matthew 6, verse 11: “Give us this day our daily bread.” (Matthew 6:11)

What I’m trying to say is this, dear friend: that there’s a balance in the Bible—not only a balance between God’s trouble that He gives us and God’s strength that He gives us, but there’s a balance between the fact that we should pray and work. The Bible says, “Faith without works is dead.” (James 1:26) And, prayer is no substitute for work, and work is no substitute for prayer. I must learn to pray, no matter what kind of job I have, “Give me today my daily bread.” But, I also must learn to pray and ask God to give me the strength.

You fellows who are praying for a girlfriend, you’d better say “amen” by shaving. You’re praying for a job, you’d better say “amen” by reading the want ads. You’re praying for daily bread, you’d better say “amen” with a hammer or a saw, a shovel, a job, shoe leather—somehow! “If [a man will] not work, neither [shall] he eat.” (2 Thessalonians 3:10) “Of the sweat of your brow, you’re going to eat your bread.” (Genesis 3:19) That’s what God says. That’s not being hardhearted. Friend, that’s a principle in all of the Bible.

Now, how do you build a Sunday school—a great Sunday school? I want us to have a great Sunday school. I saw a tract one time; it said, “How to Build a Great Sunday School.” Boy, I was interested in that! I opened it up, and on the inside it said, “Go to work!” Sure, we must pray. Sure, we must say, “God, bless our church.” Do you think that we can claim our Canaan without work, blood, sweat, and tears? We’re not going to. You say, “Well, God gave Joshua Jericho.” Yeah, but he didn’t go in a rocking chair, and neither are we. I’m saying that God wants to meet our needs, and God will meet our needs. But, ladies and gentlemen, there is a diligent performance that is expected. God doesn’t throw it in the nest of those little birds.

Conclusion

Well, that’s my message for today, but let me tell you something, friend: there’s something far more important than feeding your body, and that is knowing the Lord Jesus Christ. What difference would it make if you had three square meals a day for ninety years and died and went to hell? What difference would it make? You’d spend all eternity in hell if you lived in a bakery and then died and went to hell.

†Suppose a man falls in love with a girl and he wants to marry her, so he says to her, “Wilt thou?” and she wilts. And, she just decides she’s going to marry him so he goes out and just hocks everything that he has and buys a gorgeous solitary diamond. And, he brings it to her wrapped up and says, “Take this in the house; it’s for you”—she doesn’t know what it is. It’s a surprise—“I’m coming back later to see what you think of it.” Suppose he comes back later and says, “What did you think of the gift?” Now, you know every diamond comes in a little box—or most of them do—with a hinge and a latch, covered, generally, with velvet on the outside, or leather, and on the inside there’s satin. So, he says, “What did you think of the gift?” “Oh,” she said, “I love it. It’s so cute. Look at the little hinge. And it’s so fuzzy! And, look how smooth it is on the inside! And look at the little latch! Thank you. Thank you, sweetheart.” “Yes,” he said, “But what about what was in the box?” “Oh, you mean that wire and glass? I threw that away. But thank you! Thank you for this box.”

Now ladies, you know that woman’s got trouble, right? I mean, there’s something missing somewhere, right? You say, “Nobody would be that stupid.” Well, let me tell you, America’s filled with people that stupid. This body is the box. The soul is the diamond within the box. What we do is feed the box, and dress the box, and pamper the box, and heat the box, and cool the box, and bathe the box, and dress the box. “[But] what [should] it profit a man, if he…gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Or what [should] a man give in exchange for his soul?” (Mark 8:36–37)†

Oh, my friends, Jesus is the Bread of heaven, and unless you feed on Christ, it makes no difference how much daily bread you have. Do you know Christ? Are you saved? Are you born again? If you were to die right now, would you go to heaven? Do you know that your sins are forgiven? Do you know that Christ is in your heart?

Introduction

Take your Bibles, find Matthew chapter 6, and again we begin in verse 9, as we continue our journey through the Sermon on the Mount. And we’ve been for months in this study, and we will be months to come, I believe. Today, I want to talk to you on this subject: “How to Pray for Daily Bread.” As I read this prayer that our Lord gave, I want to remind you, it is the Model Prayer. The Lord did not necessarily say, “Pray this prayer,” but He said, “Pray in this manner.” And He taught us something very wonderful about prayer. He taught us it’s not the length of our prayer; He taught us it’s not the logic of our prayer; He taught us it’s not the language of our prayer, but the faith of our prayer, the focus of our prayer, the force of our prayer, that causes this prayer to be heard in heaven. Listen to what our Lord said, in verse 9: “After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.” (Matthew 6:9–13)

Now, look again, especially at verse 11, “Give us this day our daily bread.” Do you have a need today? God delights to meet your need. It gives God honor to meet your need. It is really a dishonor to the Heavenly Father if He does not meet the needs of His children. Now verse 11 teaches us to pray for our daily bread, but bread is symbolic of any need that you may have. Of course, it is a chief need, because we must have bread in order to live. May I give you four steps teaching you how to pray for your need, to have your need met: “How to Pray for Daily Bread.”
I. Establish a Proper Priority

Number one—put it down big, plain and straight: You must establish a proper priority. Do you have it? You must establish a proper priority. Notice the priority in this prayer. Look again in verse 9: “After this manner pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done.” Do you see that? “Thy name,” “Thy kingdom,” “Thy will.” And then, notice how the prayer changes, in verse 11: “Our bread,” continuing, “our debts,” our temptations. First of all, there is God’s name, God’s kingdom, God’s will; and then, our need.

Now, if you don’t get that priority straight, you’ll never have power in prayer. God is not some sort of a heavenly bellhop up there running around to meet your needs. Prayer is not some sort of a place where man gets his will done in heaven. Prayer is the way that God gets His will done on earth. That’s so very important that we understand this. One of the keys to understanding it all is the way the Lord Jesus Christ summed it up in Matthew chapter 6, verse 33. And that is an incredible verse. Look at it. We’re in Matthew chapter 6, but look in verse 33. Our Lord sums it up by saying this: “But seek ye first…”—first, that’s the priority—“seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33)

See? “Thy name,” “Thy kingdom,” “Thy will”; “our bread,” “our debts,” our temptation. Do you see it? It’s so very plain. There must be a priority established. And if you don’t establish that priority, you’re not going to get your prayers answered. Answered prayer is not for rebels. Can you say from your heart, “Dear God, the desire of my heart, first of all, is your kingdom; first of all, is your will”?

Now, you see, you’re asking God to give you bread. What is bread for? Well, bread is to strengthen and nourish your body. When you eat bread, the chemistry of your body turns that bread into strength. Well, what is strength for? For activity. Why should God give you more strength to serve the devil? Good question, isn’t it? Why should God strengthen you to serve the devil? Why should God give your body strength, if you’re not going to use that strength to serve Him? So you must pray, “Lord, thy will,” before you pray, “Our bread.”

I’ve done many things working my way through school. I did not have parents who were able to pay my way through school. You know, they say that today college bread is a four-year loaf on Daddy’s dough. Well, I didn’t have that four-year loaf on Daddy’s dough. I had to work my way through school. And I did a myriad of different things.

One of the things I used to do every summer was to do construction work. I can remember down in West Palm Beach, Florida, we were remodeling the Palm Beach Mercantile Store. I was working for McLaren Construction Company. And I had the very exotic and high-skilled job of pushing a wheelbarrow. And we were pouring a concrete slab on top of a building. And it was a huge thing that we had to pour, and all of the steel network was in there, and there were runners made of wood there, just planks to run the wheelbarrows. And we were taking wheelbarrows full of concrete, and running them back to the nethermost parts of that great big slab where the crane could not reach, to dump the concrete. And we’d been working all afternoon, and there was still work to do; and when you’re pouring concrete, you just pour it until you get finished. You just don’t stop. You have to keep on going. And the quitting time came, but we could not possibly quit. And our employer, Mr. McLaren, said, “Men, you’ve got to just keep working”—“just keep working, keep working, keep working.”

Well, friend, after a while, it got time for bread and beans, and I was getting, not hungry, but hungry. And if you’ve ever been that way, I will never forget, after a while, a truck came up, and it was loaded with the best sandwiches and hot coffee and other things, and Mr. McLaren just said, “Fellows, go help yourself.” He didn’t make us pay for it—nothing else. He said, “It’s right there. Just go help yourself. Just grab a sandwich. But don’t slow down. Just keep working.” And so I realized what he was doing. He wanted my strength. And so I got his food.

That’s what the heavenly Father’s saying: “Listen. As long as you’re doing my work, as long as you’re serving me, as long as you have your priorities correct, then, when you say, ‘Thy name,’ ‘thy kingdom,’ ‘thy will,’ then you can say, ‘Dear God, give me this day my daily bread.’” But if you’re not submitted to the will of God, if you have not established that priority, if Matthew chapter 6 and verse 33 is not tested, tried, and proved in your heart, then why should you expect God to answer your prayer? Again, I want to ask this question: Why should God give you more strength to serve the devil? Why should He? Of course He shouldn’t!

Now, listen. An old saint, when she used to read her Bible, would find a verse, and she would put “t and p” by that verse. Do you know what that “t and p” stood for? It stood for “tried and proven”—“tried and proven.” And by Matthew 6:33 she had put “t and p”—“tried and proven”: “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.”

There’s one place that God will not work—and that is second place. The Bible says, “In all things He must have the preeminence.” God does not want a place in your life. God doesn’t want prominence in your life. God demands preeminence. “Seek ye”—what?—“first the kingdom of God”—“Seek ye first the kingdom of God.”

So, if you’re praying for bread, or praying for any need, there is a priority that must be established. So, the first point is: Establish a proper priority—Establish a proper priority. When you come to God in prayer, you have to ask yourself, “Dear God, is the burning, consuming desire of my heart that your name would be glorified? Is the burning, consuming desire of my heart that your kingdom will come? Is the burning, consuming desire of my heart is that your will will be done in earth as it is in heaven?"

Now, don’t tell me it won’t work, if you’ve not tried it. Don’t tell me that Matthew chapter 6 and verse 33 is just but a vain promise, if you’ve not put it to practice. “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and these things shall be added unto you.” Have you got that one?

II. Express Your Prayerful Petition
All right now, let’s move on to the second thing. Not only should you establish a proper priority, but then you must express your prayerful petition. You ask God. You see, Jesus taught us to ask. Jesus taught us to pray this way: “Give us this day our daily bread.” May I tell you why some people don’t have their needs met? They don’t ask. It’s that simple. They don’t ask. You’re in Matthew 6. Turn over to Matthew 7, and look in verse 11: “If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask Him?” (Matthew 7:11) Look in verse 9: “What man is there of you, whom if his son ask bread, will he give him a stone?” (Matthew 7:9) “Lord, give us some bread. We need some bread." When you establish the priority, you express the petition. You just simply say, “Lord, I have a need.”

You know what James said? The Apostle James, in James chapter 4 and verse 2, said that many people have not because they ask not. (James 4:2) They don’t have, because they don’t ask. Did you know that you deny yourself when you don’t pray? Did you know that prayer is the key that unlocks heaven’s treasury?

One day, many, many years ago, down in Florida, I was into my study, and I was thinking, and I had a thought that literally staggered me. I mean, it just staggered me. It hit me like a sledgehammer. I don’t believe I’ve ever had a thought in all of my life that had the impact on my heart that this thought had. When I tell you what it is, you’re going to say, “Well, everybody knows that.” Well, I knew it too. I knew it up here. But it hit me with such a force I have never forgotten it. May I tell you what it the thought is that I had. Do you want to know this staggering thought? You’re going to be disappointed, but maybe not. When I tell you, you’re going to say, “Oh, I was expecting something different.” Here’s the thought—here’s the thought I had: God answers prayer—God answers prayer. I thought to myself, “Self, is that true the One who created the universes, the great eternal God, will hear me, that I can talk to Him, that I can call upon Him, and He will answer me and show me great and mighty things?” And then I said to myself, “Self, if that is true—and it is true—you are an unmitigated fool if you don’t learn how to pray.”
Now, if there is nothing to it—I mean if God doesn’t answer prayer; if there is nothing—let’s forget the whole thing. But if God does answer prayer, let’s pray. What fools we are—what fools we are—if we don’t learn to pray. “You have not, because you ask not.”

An illustration that I often use about prayer is this. I used to pastor a little church when I was in college, First Baptist Church of Fellsmere. It was also the last and only Baptist Church at Fellsmere, a town of about five hundred people, a little town out there in the Indian River country where the Indian River citrus grows. I had a dear senior deacon there, Mr. Ingram. I used to stay in his home when I’d go down there to preach, drive down about 130 miles from Stetson University where I was in college, and preached on the weekends to that little congregation. And one day Mr. Ingram, who had all these orange trees in his yard, said, “Adrian, I’m going to give you some grapefruit, and some oranges, and tangerines, and so forth.” I said, “Well, thank you, Mr. Ingram.” But I wasn’t prepared for what he did, because he brought several great big what we would call duffle bags, canvas sacks, full of oranges, and put them in the trunk of my car.

I said, “Mr. Ingram, I can’t eat all of those oranges.” “Well,” he said, “son, take them back to college and throw them away.” So I put them in the trunk of my car, and took them back to Deland, in Florida, where I was going to school, and lugged them upstairs, because Joyce and I were living in a little garage apartment, and had them in a closet—had a closet full of oranges.

And we were having lunch one day, and sitting up there in a garage apartment, and I looked down in our backyard, and in the backyard of our garage apartment we had a sour orange tree. Do you know what a sour orange is? That’s an ornamental shrub. The oranges are beautiful, dark orange—beautiful—kind of a pebbly skin, but you don’t eat them. They’re not fit for man nor beast. I mean, one taste, and you have lockjaw. It’s absolutely bitter and sour, but beautiful. And I looked out there, and I saw a little guy about knee-high to a grasshopper sneaking around in our backyard. And he looked suspicious. He was looking around to see if anyone was looking. Of course, I was looking. And just like God watches us all the time, I was looking down. And it dawned on me what he was going to do. He was going to steal a sour orange. And I thought, “Well, I just think I’ll let him.” And so I just watched as he got that limb and pulled it down, and got one of those oranges, and unhooked it, and started off with it.

Now I didn’t have any extra money in those days, but I believe I would have given a dollar bill to see him take the first bite. You know, it was just so strange to me to see that fellow stealing a sour orange. And then I got to thinking, “You know, that’s so pathetic. Had that boy simply come and knocked on my door, and said, mister, can I have one of those oranges?” you know what I would have told him? “Absolutely not: because that’s not what you need. But, son, if you will come in here, I will load you down with the best oranges that you've ever seen. I've got oranges that are spoiling. I've got oranges that are going to waste. I have oranges I don't know what to do with. I'd be glad to give them to you." But he didn't ask. And so he got his little sour orange and went away.

I wonder some day, when we get to heaven, if God's not going to take us through heaven, and then He's going to say, "By the way, just stop right here. I want to open this closet door. I want you to look in there. You see all those things? Those were yours, but you never asked for them. Those were blessings I wanted to give you. I wanted to help you. I wanted to bless you. But you did it your way, didn't you? Those were the blessings you could have had but you did not have, simply because you did not ask."

Friend, after a priority, then there comes a petition. The Lord taught us to pray, "Give us this day our daily bread." "Ask, and ye shall receive," (John 16:24) the Bible says. Now that doesn't mean that you have the key to Fort Knox. That doesn't mean that you're going to get everything you want. As a matter of fact, in the King James Version of the Scripture, it says, "Give us this day our daily bread." Isn't that what it says? But, you know, the word daily bread may be translated different ways. "Daily bread" is a fine translation, but it may be also translated, "Give us this day bread sufficient for us"—"bread sufficient for us." The idea of daily is there, because it begins this way: "Give us this day bread sufficient for us." That means that God is going to meet our need "according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus"—Philippians 4, verse 19. (Philippians 4:19) It doesn't say God's going to meet our greed. God is going to meet our need according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus.

And our Lord taught us to pray for bread, not for cake necessarily. Sometimes we want things we don't need, isn't that true? And sometimes we need things we don't want. My dad used to say, "You need a spanking." Well, I didn't want one, but I guess he was right: I needed one. "And my God will supply all of your need—your need—according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus." "Give us this day bread sufficient for us"—what we need. Proverbs 30, verses 7 and following: "Two things have I required of thee; deny me them not before I die: remove far from me vanity and lies: give me neither poverty nor riches; feed me with food convenient for me." (Proverbs 30:7–8) "Give me this day bread suited to my need."

Listen, friend. There's no need too small. There's no need too big. Whatever you need, you seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and God delights to meet your need. He says, "Ask of me, and I will answer thee."

This past Easter season I took my wife Joyce and went to Moscow. I'm talking about Moscow in Russia. And there I preached, along with Josh McDowell and Bill Bright, in Red Square. There was erected in Red Square a thirty-thousand-dollar sound stage, a choir of hundreds of people from across America, and some from the former Soviet Union sat on that platform. And here was a service that was telecast nationwide on national television presenting the Lord Jesus Christ during the Orthodox Easter. That night Josh McDowell and I were to share the platform. There was a concert. We had prayed, "O God, give us good weather," because it had been snowing off and on all that week, and sometimes snow mixed with rain. And it was an outside concert.

At seven o’clock, when the concert was to begin, thousands had gathered out there at the foot of that stage. We were going to have a musical concert, and then present the Lord Jesus Christ. It would be my joy to tell people how to know Christ, how to be saved, to these former Soviets who had been taught there is no God; to tell them and preach the glorious gospel of Christ. And months and months and months and months of preparation had gone into this. The choirs had practiced. We preachers had prayed. The stage was set. The people were gathered.

It began to rain. The rain started coming down. I was with Bill Bright in a trailer that had been parked near to the stage, and we were there praying. Someone came in the door, brushing the rain off, and said, “The concert has been cancelled.” Bill Bright said, “What? They can’t cancel the concert.” He said, “Oh, yes, the rain has caused the concert to be cancelled.”

They had a great grand piano on the stage, a very expensive instrument. The contract said, “If it begins to rain, the piano must be covered.” That was in the contract—a very expensive instrument. Well, you can’t have a concert without a piano. The sound people said, “We cannot have all of these wires running everywhere in this mammoth sound stage. All of this electrical equipment, with it raining, somebody might get electrocuted. The concert is cancelled.”

Bill Bright went to the platform. He said, “No, we prayed too much. There are too many souls at stake. The concert cannot be cancelled.” The man in charge said, “We’ll give it ten minutes. If it doesn’t stop raining in ten minutes, the concert will be cancelled.” The skies were absolutely grey, the rain coming down. We have this on film. A little group of leaders got underneath a little shed, underneath a portion of the paraphernalia, there by the scaffolding, and they began to pray, “Lord, let the concert go on. Lord, stop the rain.” And then, Brother Jim, they lifted their face to heaven in that rain, and began to sing this: “Stop the rain, Lord. Stop the rain. Stop the rain. Stop the rain, Lord. Stop the rain.”

I’m here to testify to you, in nine and one-half minutes it looked like God just wiped His hand across that sky. It got as blue as if you’d painted it with a brush—in nine and one-half minutes. The concert went on. I stood and preached, and gave the invitation, and thousands lifted their hands that they were coming to Christ.
Now you can tell me that that was just a coincidence; it would have happened anyway. Well, you believe it your way. I’ll believe it my way. But, friend, I want to tell you that I believe that there’s a God in the heaven who answers the prayer of God’s people. Whether it be a small thing, if it concerns you, it concerns Him. Whether it’s controlling the weather in Moscow, there’s a God that reigns in the heavens. And many times we have not because we ask not.

III. Exercise a Personal Performance

Now there’s a third thing, if you were pray for daily bread. Not only must you establish a proper priority; not only must you express a prayerful petition; but, also, you must exercise a personal performance. Now this is very important. Prayer is not a substitute for work. It is not a substitute for diligence. If you pray for bread, do you know how you say amen? You work for it.

Let me give you some verses. Somebody says, “Well, you know, I’m not going to work. God just feeds the fowls of the air.” Well, He does feed the fowls of the air. Chapter 6—look, if you will, in verse 26—look at it: “Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather in barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?” (Matthew 6:26) You say, “Well, God feeds the birds. Then, God will feed me.” Well, that’s true. But how does God feed the birds? Does God throw it in the nest? No. They get out and scratch for it. How is God going to feed you? You want God to give you bread? Let me give you some verses. Genesis chapter 3, verse 19: “In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread.” (Galatians 3:19) Here’s another verse—2 Thessalonians 3, verse 10: “For even when we were with you, this we commanded you, that if any would not work, neither should he eat.” (2 Thessalonians 3:10) Is that cruel? It’s not cruel. That’s Bible. Proverbs 20, verse 4: “The sluggard will not plow by reason of the cold; therefore shall he beg in harvest, and have nothing.” (Proverbs 20:4) Too lazy to plow? Then you won’t have anything to eat. Proverbs 28, verse 19: “He that tilleth his land shall have plenty of bread: but he that followeth after vain persons shall have poverty enough.” (Proverbs 28:19)

There’s a priority. There’s a petition. There’s also a performance. Then you ask God for anything. Do you just sit back and do nothing, and say, “Well, I’m going to show my faith by doing nothing”? To the contrary, you will show your faith by doing something. For faith without works is dead—dead. (James 2:17, 26) It is the proof of your faith.

Do you want a house? Pray for it. Then say amen with a hammer and saw. You want a wife? Pray for one. Then go shave, and put on some cologne, learn some manners, how to be thoughtful.
Dwight L. Moody was asked to pray for a preacher who was in bad health. And you know what Moody said? Moody, kids, was an evangelist. He was the Billy Graham of his day, but he was in many ways an unlettered man, but full of a lot of wisdom. And Moody was asked to pray for the health of a fellow preacher: “Pray for Brother So-and-So; he’s sick.” Do you know what Moody said? Moody said, “I will not pray for it.” “Well, why, Mr. Moody? Why won’t you pray for him?” He said, “Because he does ten days work in five, and eats everything in sight.” That is, “Why should I pray for him to have health, when he himself will not even practice the rudiments of health?”

Are you asking God to give you, carte blanche, to let you do whatever you want—to be lazy, to be indolent, to be selfish, to be indulgent—and then just say, “Dear God, just through prayer counteract all of that”? Oh, no, God doesn’t do that. Friend, the Bible says, “You pray for bread.” “I will give you bread,” God says. But He also says, “If a man will not work, neither should he eat.” (2 Thessalonians 3:10) And so, there is a performance that we are to exercise: exercise a proper performance.

IV. Enjoy a Present Provision
One last thing: Enjoy a present provision. Now, notice the prayer: “Give us this day our daily bread”—not tomorrow; just today—just today. “And, Lord, help me to enjoy what you’ve given me today, whether it be little or whether it be much. I know how to be abased. I know how to abound. (Philippians 4:12) I’ve learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content.” (Philippians 4:11)

One of the wisest things I’ve ever read was written by a philosopher who said this: “To whom little is not enough, nothing is enough.” Did that get in? “To whom little is not enough, nothing is not enough.” If you’ve not learned in whatsoever state you are in to be content, you will never be content. Be content with a little, and don’t worry about tomorrow. “Give us this day our daily bread.” “Having food and clothing,” the Bible says, “let us therewith be content.” (1 Timothy 6:8)

Now I know what I want, and I know what you want. I want to have enough that I don’t have to depend on God. I want to have some money in the bank, you know, and I want to have something there so that, when tomorrow comes, I don’t have to worry about it. Isn’t that what we want? We call that security.

Question: Is that really security? Who is more secure: the man who has a warehouse full of stale bread, or the man whose father is a rich baker? Which had you rather have? A warehouse full of bread that the rats can get, that the thieves can get, or just have a father who is a very, very rich baker? See? “Our Father...give us this day our daily bread.”
Now we want to have it all laid up, you know. The Bible says, “Don’t trust in uncertain riches.” (1 Timothy 6:17) That can take weeks. You say, “Money talks.” That’s right. It says, “Goodbye.” I mean, it’s gone. You say, “Well, I’ve got it all.” Well, you may not have it all. “Give us this day our daily bread.”

Now the old trolleys would run with an arm up there, and that arm would be attached to an electric wire, and the power for that trolley comes from that wire. So this is the way the trolley runs all the way to the end of the line. It just keeps its arm connected to that power up there. How does an automobile run? Well, an automobile has a gasoline tank. So the automobile pulls into the gasoline station, fills the tank, and it will go as far as the tank will go, the tank full of gasoline. But when the gasoline gets low, he has to start looking for another station. Isn’t that right? That’s the way it works.

Well, so many of us want to live like the automobile. We want to have a tank full, and so we say, “Well, I can see three hundred miles”—or two hundred miles, whatever kind of mileage you get—“and I want to see my way all the way clear, because I’ve got this much in the tank.”

But you know how God wants us to live? Not like the automobile, but like the trolley. “I’ll always have enough as long as I’m in connection—always have enough. It’s not how much I’ve got in the tank; it’s just what I’m connected to.”

That’s the way the child of God is to live: just stay connected to God; just stay connected to Him. Your source is not in the tank. Your source is not in the bank. Your source is above you. “Our Father … give us this day our daily bread.”

I heard a preacher preach one time. He said, “I don’t need any money.” Well, you don’t hear many preachers say that. He was a country preacher. And he reminds me of the country preacher who went to cash his check, and the banker said, “Preacher, I hate to give you these old dirty bills; that’s all I’ve got.” He said, “Don’t worry about it. No germs could live on my salary.” This guy was kind of like that, you know; he was a dear sweet man. And I went to hear him in a little church one Sunday morning. He was just blessing me incredibly. But then he said this: “I don’t need any money.” Well, very frankly, when I looked at him, I thought, “You know, is that true?” “I don’t need any money.” Then he said something that I’ve never been able to forget. He said, “My wife and I have forty dollars in the bank.” He said, “We don’t need any money, until that’s gone.” You know, we’re saying, “O God, just give us so much, so we can just rest in that and trust in that.” What was he saying? He was saying, “God has given me today my daily bread.”

ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him?” (Matthew 7:11) Ask Him. “Ask and ye shall receive; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.” (Matthew 7:7)

A priority, a petition, a performance: “If any man will not work, neither should he eat.” God has not promised to bless your laziness and your indolence. And then, last of all, dear friend, there is a provision, a daily provision to enjoy this day. Just thank God for what He’s given you this day. Has God taken care of you today? Then don’t worry about tomorrow. The Bible does not tell us not to plan, but the Bible very clearly tells us not to worry. And as we continue in this series in the Sermon on the Mount, we’re going to find out where Jesus said, “Take no thought for tomorrow. Tomorrow will take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34)

One last thing. Listen. Jesus said, in Matthew chapter 4 and verse 4, “Man shall not live by bread alone.” (Matthew 4:4) Isn’t that what He said? That’s what He said. Now He says, “Give us this day our daily bread.” But He also said, “Man shall not live by bread alone.” And then He said, “I am the bread of life.” (John 6:35) There’s more than one kind of bread. Every piece of bread that you eat, in order for you to eat that, a corn of wheat had to fall in the ground and die, in order for you to eat that bread. Jesus is heaven’s bread for earth’s hunger. And Jesus, the Son of God, came, died, and was buried and raised again, and became the bread of life that you and I could have our deepest, deepest hunger met.

Conclusion
Do you know Jesus? Friend, if you fared sumptuously every day, and had bread enough, and to spare, and you died and went to hell, so what? You can eat today a Sunday dinner, and it can be wonderful; but if you don’t have Jesus, there’s a hidden hunger that will never be satisfied until it’s satisfied in the Lord Jesus Christ. Matthew 4 verse 4: “Man shall not live by bread alone.” Jesus is heaven’s bread.

I read something a while back that just spoke to me. After World War II there were some little boys. They called them the Junior Gestapo. Twelve- and thirteen-year-old boys had been taken by Hitler, moved out of their home, put in youth camps: the future Gestapo for Hitler. Well, Hitler lost the war. These boys had been displaced from their parents. Many times, their parents were dead. They were also displaced. And these little boys had gone from city to city, from slum to slum. And the humanitarians got these boys, the Junior Gestapo, and put them in tent cities to try to straighten them out. The boys were frightened. They would wake up in the nighttime screaming, with nightmares. They couldn’t get them to sleep all night long.
A psychiatrist said a part of it was that the boys had such an uncertain future. They were not supposed to face this kind of thing at eleven or twelve years of age, or at any time. And the boys were waking up in the middle of the night having nightmares, just screaming. The psychiatrist said, “I believe I have a plan.” And this is what he did. He fed the boys a big meal at nighttime, and then gave them a piece of bread, and said, “Hold this in your hand tonight. Hold it with both hands. It will be your breakfast in the morning.” And they went to sleep, and slept all night, because they had their breakfast in their hand the next morning. Somehow just going to sleep at night holding in the hand a piece of bread helped them to sleep all night.

Friend, when I go to bed tonight, I’m going to have bread, not in my hand, but in my heart. His name is Jesus. And I know that I know He’ll be sufficient for tomorrow.

Introduction
Some call it the Lord’s Prayer. It is really the model prayer, or the disciples’ prayer. But, we’re using it as a guide in our series of messages entitled “The Principles of Powerful Prayer.” Today, we’re going to be talking about “Knowing and Doing the Will of God.” Notice what the Savior said: “After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.” (Matthew 6:9–13) “Knowing and Doing the Will of God.” Our key verse—verse 10: “Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.” (Matthew 6:10) What’s wrong with the earth? What’s wrong with this world? What’s happened? Why is there so much sin, so much confusion, so much heartache, so much sorrow, so much war and animosity?

Turn to Isaiah chapter 14, and let me show you something here that we need to be familiar with. We’re going to find out how sin found its way into Planet Earth. Isaiah chapter 14. In Isaiah chapter 14, you’re going to find out how Lucifer, the son of the morning, became Satan, the father of the night. This is the story of the making of a devil—how God’s great, shining, bright, glorious creature named Lucifer became the hideous monster that we know as the devil. Isaiah chapter 14, verse 12: “How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! how art thou cut down to the ground, which didst weaken the nations!”—now, I want you to see what Lucifer did. Lucifer interposed his will against God’s will. Notice, in the next two verses, five times Satan uses this phrase “I will.” Notice—“For thou hast said in thine heart”—one—“I will ascend into heaven”—two—“I will exalt my throne above the stars of God”—three—“I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north”—four—“I will ascend above the heights of the clouds”—five—“I will be like the most High.” (Isaiah 14:12–14) “I will…” “I will…” “I will…” “I will…” “I will…” Five times he said, “I will.” Satan began to be Satan when he said to the Father, “Not thy will, but mine, be done.” And, that’s why there’s so much heartache on earth—because Satan deceived Eve, and Eve said to God, “Not thy will, but mine, be done.” Adam said to God, “Not thy will, but mine, be done.” They didn’t use those exact words, but that’s what their actions said when they took their will and put their will against the will of God. And, all sin is just simply saying, “I will.”

Most of us think this New Year that we need more willpower. That’s the one thing we need less of, perhaps. We need to surrender our will to Him and say, “Not my will, but thine, be done.” Oh, to have the will of God done in one’s life is what prayer is all about! Powerful prayer, dear friend, is submitting yourself to the will of God.

Now, don’t get the idea that God’s will is always done. I hear people say after some tragedy, “Oh well, it was the will of God.” Some deaths, some sorrow, some heartache, some rape, some murder, some pillage, some vile, terrible, loathsome thing—someone says, “Oh well, who can fight the will of God? It’s God’s will.” It is not God’s will. Murder is not God’s will. War is not God’s will. Rape is not God’s will. Stealing is not God’s will. Lying is not God’s will. Lust is not God’s will. Hate is not God’s will. And, don’t let anybody tell you that it is, and don’t let anybody tell you that God’s will is always done. If God’s will is always done, then why, pray tell, did Jesus tell us to pray that God’s will would be done? We’re to pray that the will of God will be done: “Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done.” (Matthew 6:10)

It’s not always done. It’s not always done in the unsaved. You would think the modern humanists would teach us to pray this way: “Our brothers, which are upon the earth, our kingdom come, our will be done on earth, because there is no heaven.” I want to tell you something, friend: God’s will is not always done in the lives and the hearts of those who claim to be Christians. There’s not a heartache, not a sin, not a failure but somehow comes to us when we say, “Not thy will, but mine, be done.” It’s possible for a Christian to take self and put self upon the throne and to say “no” to his Lord. And, at that time when we cease to do the will of God, it’s at that time that prayer is no longer powerful in our lives. We just know and do the will of God for prayer to be powerful. Prayer is not some sort of an exercise where we bend God’s will to fit our will. Prayer is just simply finding the will of God and getting in on it.

Turn to 1 John chapter 5. Let me show you a verse of Scripture—1 John now, not the Gospel of John, but 1 John, back near the back of your Bible—1 John chapter 5, and look in verses 14 and 15: “And this is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask any thing according to his will, he heareth us”—isn’t that wonderful? If we ask according to the will of God, not trying to superimpose our will upon Him, not asking Him to rubberstamp what we wish, but “if we ask anything according to his will, he heareth us.” (1 John 5:14) And, verse 15 is yet more wonderful—“And if we know that he hear us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of him.” (1 John 5:14–15) So, the key to answered prayer is to do the will of God. Prayer is not for rebels. Prayer is for those who know the will of God, ask for the will of God, and who are willing to do the will of God.

There are three things I want to say this morning about the will of God—knowing and doing the will of God—three thoughts I want to leave with you.

I. We Are to Desire the Will of God

First of all, dear friends, brothers and sisters in Christ, my dear friends, we are to desire the will of God. It is something that we’re to long for. It is something that we’re to yearn for. It is something that we’re to pray for—to want to know the will of God. The psalmist said in Psalm 40, verse 8: “I delight to do thy will.” (Psalms 40:8)

You see, the will of God is not something that we have to do. The will of God is something that we get to do. The will of God is not merely for the glory of God. It is also for our welfare. God’s will is best for us. So many times when we’re told that we must pray in the will of God, people think that takes the blessings out of prayer. Friend, praying in the will of God does not mean fewer blessings for you; it means more blessings for you. Not only is praying in the will of God right; it is also wise. For God wants for you what you would want for yourself if you knew enough to want it. The will of God is the happiest place, the best place. Jim Elliot said, “God always gives the best to those who leave the choice with Him.” I think that is tremendous!

And, just the opposite—when you strike out on your own and when you try to superimpose your will against God’s will, that’s when you run into trouble. You need to be like that country preacher who prayed, “Lord, help me to cooperate with you so you won’t have to operate on me.” So many times we try to do it our way and go against God’s will. Friend, God’s will is best. There is no better place in the world than God’s will.

Listen, friend, a businessman who is not a preacher, if he’s a businessman in the will of God, is in a higher position than he would be if he were a preacher preaching the gospel out of the will of God. Don’t get the idea that some people are better, are closer to God or more near God’s will, because they’re preachers, or pastors, or evangelists, or song leaders. No matter who you are, if you’re in God’s will, you can’t be in a higher place. If you were the President of the United States, or the Queen of England, it wouldn’t make any difference—if you’re a multimillionaire. The best place, the happiest place, the most wonderful place on earth is the will of God.

To know the will of God is the greatest knowledge. To do the will of God is the greatest achievement. We ask for people this year that they’ll have a successful and a prosperous New Year. Do you know what success is? Success is simply the progressive realization of the will of God for your life. And, that doesn’t mean the will of God is going to be easy. It’s not always easy. Many times it’s hard. Gethsemane wasn’t easy. It was in Gethsemane that Jesus prayed with the sweat, the perspiration, as drops of blood—when Jesus said to the Father, “Nevertheless not my will, but thine, be done.” (Luke 22:42) But, I want to remind you that Gethsemane was turned to Calvary, and Calvary was turned to Easter. And, God’s will may not always be easy, but God’s will is always best.

Bobby Richardson was the second baseman for the New York Yankees, a great Christian. And, he was speaking to the Fellowship of Christian Athletes one time and was asked to lead in prayer. And, his prayer was very short, but it was a good one. Here’s what he prayed: “Lord, thy will—nothing less, nothing more, nothing else. Amen.” It’s a good prayer: “Lord, thy will—nothing less, nothing more, nothing else. Amen.” Would you make that your prayer for the coming year? “Lord, I want to know and do your will. I desire to do your will.” Don’t be afraid, my friend, of the will of God. Love the will of God. Pray for the will of God. You are to desire the will of God.

II. We Are to Discern the Will of God
But secondly, not only are you to desire the will of God; you are to discern the will of God. For what good is it for you to want the will of God if you don’t know the will of God? Now, God has a will for us, and God’s not trying to hide it from us. It’s not God’s will that you not know His will. So, God wants you to know His will and His way for your life in this coming year. And so, how are you going to discern the will of God? I want to give you three principles this morning for knowing the will of God, for discerning the will of
The Surrender Principle

Principle number one I want to call “the surrender principle.” Turn, if you will for just a moment, to Romans chapter 12, and let’s look in verses 1 and 2. Now, Romans chapter 12, verses 1 and 2, is familiar to most any Bible student, but yet we need to look at it again this morning: “I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God.” (Romans 12:1–2) Now, here God gives us one principle for knowing His will, for proving that God’s will is good and acceptable and perfect, that you might “prove,” or understand or know, the will of God. Now, what is the principle of surrender?

1. There Is a Reasonable Presentation

Well, first of all, there must be a reasonable presentation. Look: “I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God”—that is, “because of the mercies of God”—“that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service.” (Romans 12:1) That is, it’s reasonable to do this. It is reasonable for me to come to the Lord and say, “Lord, here I am. Lord, I just take my hands off my life. I give it to you. I present it to you.” Why is that so reasonable? Well, he says, “I beseech you therefore…” (Romans 12:1) Now, I’ve told you before, whenever you see a therefore, see what it’s there for. What is that word therefore there for? He’s been talking in the first eleven chapters of what all the Lord has done for us—how He suffered, bled, and died in agony and blood upon the cross. He’s been talking about the grace of God, the goodness of God, the righteousness of God, the love of God. And then, on the basis of that, he says, “It’s reasonable that you present yourself to Him.” (Romans 12:1) It’s only reasonable. I’m not my own; I’m bought with a price. (1 Corinthians 6:19–20) I need to present myself to Him. Friend, I’ll never know the will of God, you’ll never know the will of God, until you make this reasonable presentation.

You say, “But Mr. Rogers, I’m afraid. I’m afraid just to give it all to Him.” Friend, that’s unreasonable. When you’re afraid to take your hands off your life and give it to God, it is because you distrust the wisdom of the goodness of God. And, to distrust the wisdom of the goodness of God is unreasonable in the light of Calvary. It’s really unthinkable that we would hold back our lives. And yet, so many do. Do you know, there are many of us who are absolutely afraid to say, “There it is, Lord. I just take hands off. I take hands off the ownership of my property. I take hands off the right to guide my children’s lives. I take hands off my right to live. I take hands off my right to die. I take hands off my right to marry or to stay single. Whatever it is, Lord, I give it to you. It is thine.” Have you done that? Friend, it’s unreasonable, if you’re a Christian, if you’ve not.

Now, let me tell you something: any Christian who says, “Lord, show me your will so I can know whether I want to do it or not” is in serious trouble. You don’t say, “Lord, show me your will so I can make up my mind whether I want to do it or not.” You’ll not know God’s will that way. You say to God, “My mind is made up. I will do it. Now, show me.” The Bible says, “He that wills to do God’s will shall know—John 7:17—“He who wills to do God’s will shall know it.” (John 7:17) You just simply come to the Lord, and you have a contract; and you sign the bottom of it, and He fills in all the terms. And, you just give it to Him. You sign the check and let Him fill in the amount. You just simply present yourself to Him.

Friend, have you done that? Let me find out whether you’ve done it or not. I want to ask you a question: Is there anything you would not do if you knew Jesus Christ wanted you to do it? Is there any place you would not go if you knew Jesus Christ wanted you to go? Is there anything you would not say if you knew Jesus Christ wanted you to say it? Is there anything you would not be if you knew Jesus Christ wanted you to be it? Is there anything you would not give if you knew that Jesus Christ wanted you to give it? Have you done that? Have you made a reasonable presentation?

2. There Is a Renewing Transformation
Now, watch what happens when you do that. When there is a reasonable presentation, then there is a renewing transformation. Look at the Scripture here now in verse 2. He says, “And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind”—“be not conformed to this world, but be ye transformed.” (Romans 12:2) Now, look at that word transformed. It is translated in another place in the Bible “transfigured.” It is the same word. When Jesus was on the Mount of Transfiguration, remember, He took Peter, James, and John and went up to a high mountain. And there, He was transfigured, and His garments became white as snow, glistening like the sun. And, there Jesus’ glory was manifested. The Bible, describing that term, says that Jesus was “transfigured,” (Matthew 17:2; Mark 9:2–3) but it’s the same word that is translated “transformed” here. And, both this word transfigured and this word transformed come from a word that we get our English word metamorphosis from. Do you know what a metamorphosis is? A metamorphosis is a transformation that takes place in an animal, an organism, or a person. It actually means “a change of form”—a metamorphosis, “a change of form.”

†For example, when a caterpillar goes into that chrysalis, that cocoon, and sleeps awhile and then comes out, and he emerges as a beautiful monarch butterfly, that caterpillar has gone through a transformation, a transfiguration. A metamorphosis is when the inner nature comes to the surface. The inner nature of that caterpillar is a butterfly, but it has to go through a metamorphosis.

What was the inner nature of the Lord Jesus? Glory! That glory was there, but when He was transformed, He went through that metamorphosis. That inner glory came to the surface, and, therefore, you saw the glory that was the Lord Jesus. It was there all the time, but He had to go through a metamorphosis for it to be displayed.

Now, the Bible says that a Christian is to go through a metamorphosis. That is, his inner nature is to come to the surface. What is the inner nature of a Christian? Jesus Christ. But, many times the inner nature of a Christian is not seen because he’s not transformed. Rather than being transformed, he’s conformed. Notice what this verse says: “Be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed.” (Romans 12:2) Now, Paul is making a play on words. What he is saying is, “Don’t let this world squeeze you into its mold, but rather, let your real nature come forth.” Your real nature as a Christian is not going to come forth, it is not going to be known, until you come to the Lord and say, “Here, Lord, I present myself to you. It is my reasonable service.” And, the reason that many of us don’t have the testimony that we ought to have, and the reason that our lives are not transformed, is that we have not presented ourselves to Him as the Bible teaches it is our reasonable service to do.

Now, we’re saved, but we’re like the little boy’s dog. Somebody asked a little boy who had a mongrel dog, “What kind of dog is that?” And, the little fellow said, “Why, he’s a police dog.” The man said, “Well, he doesn’t look like a police dog.” And, the little fellow said, “Well, he’s in ‘the Secret Service’.”

Now, I know a lot of Christians who are saved, but they’re in “the Secret Service.” I mean, they’re squeezed in. They’re not transformed. They have not gone through a metamorphosis.

3. There Is a Resulting Revelation

Now listen, I’m talking to you about how to know the will of God. First of all, there is a reasonable presentation. You say, “Here it is, Lord. It’s reasonable. You died for me. I’m not my own. I give it to you. I do, Lord. I do.” Then there is a renewing transformation. I am renewed in the spirit of my mind. I’m “transformed by the renewing of [my] mind.” (Romans 12:2) God gives me a new mind. I have a new tool to think with. I have a renewed mind. And so, the third thing is the resulting revelation. I know the will of God. With my new mind, I can know the will of God. He says, “Be [renewed in] your mind, that [you might] prove what is that good, and [perfect], and [acceptable], will of God.” (Romans 12:2)

How does this work? Well, I now can think His thoughts after Him. Do you remember what the Apostle Paul said? “We have the mind of Christ.” (1 Corinthians 2:16) Or again, he said, “Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus.” (Philippians 2:5) Do you know what wisdom is? Having the mind of Christ. Wisdom is seeing light from God’s point of view, having the mind of Christ.

Do you see it? Reasonable presentation plus renewing transformation equals revealed revelation. “That [I might know]”—“that I might prove”—“what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God.” (Romans 12:2) How does it work? With my new mind, I have wisdom and I think God’s thoughts after Him.

Now, there are some people who think the will of God is like a map. The will of God is not like a map; it’s like a compass. God doesn’t give you a map and just say, “Here’s where you’re going to go the rest of your life.” That would take all the excitement out. The Holy Spirit just points the direction, and God gives you wisdom. Day by day you use the mind that God has given you. You don’t pray, “Now Lord, which shoe should I put on first? What color socks should I wear? Should I hold my fork in my left hand or in my right hand? Should I comb my hair today or not?” Oh, that’s ridiculous! Friend, once you present your body to Christ, He transforms your mind.

What does He transform your mind for? For you to use it. Continue to read here in Romans chapter 12. Look, if you will, in verse 3: “For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith.” (Romans 12:3) Now, three times in one verse he says, “Think! Think! Think!” Don’t think that God renewed your mind so that you couldn’t use it. He renewed your mind that you might use it. You are to think God’s thoughts after Him. You are to walk in wisdom. And, God will reveal His will to you, as you have a mind that is transformed, a mind that is renewed. And then, you can “prove what is that good, and [perfect], and [acceptable], will of God.” (Romans 12:2) That’s what the Bible calls wisdom. Wisdom is not getting warm around the heart and wet around the lashes. It is sanctified spiritual sense. “If any [man] lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him.” (James 1:5) You can think God’s thoughts after Him. You can have the mind of Christ, but it will only come when you say, “Lord, I present myself to you.” A reasonable presentation plus a renewing transformation equals a revealed revelation. “[You will] prove what is that good, and [perfect], and [acceptable], will of God.” (Romans 12:2) Now, that’s one principle. I want to call that “the surrender principle.”

B. The Scripture Principle

There is another principle, and I want to call that “the Scripture principle,” because, you see, one way that you’re going to think the thoughts of Christ and use your renewed mind is by meditating on the Word of God. That’s the reason Jesus said, in John the fifteenth chapter, the seventh verse, “If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.” (John 15:7) What are His words? The Bible. These are His words. You can’t separate the Lord of the Word from the Word of the Lord. And so, you are to have Him in you, and you’re to have His words in you.

Now, in God’s Word is wisdom and knowledge and guidance to know God’s will. And so, you must saturate yourself with the Word of God. The way to be powerful in prayer, the way to know God’s will for your life, is to know the Word of God. You cannot know the will of God without knowing the Word of God. Many people today are floundering around because they don’t know God’s Word. God’s Word is to be a light and a lamp to your feet and to your path. (Psalms 119:105) You’re to read it. God’s Word is to illumine you and to guide you. I want to give you a suggestion: you go home today and read the one hundred and nineteenth psalm, and you’ll know what I’m talking about. There comes wisdom from knowing and understanding God’s Word.

C. The Spirit Principle

So, there’s the Scripture principle. But, I want to tell you, there’s a third principle, and it’s the Spirit principle. And, that is letting the Holy Spirit of God, who lives inside of you, guide you to know God’s will. The Bible says in the eighth chapter of Romans, the fourteenth verse, “As many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God.” (Romans 8:14) The Spirit of God is there to lead us.

In John chapter 16, verse 7, Jesus said He was going to give us another Comforter, and He was talking about the Holy Spirit. (John 16:7) And, the word for Comforter that Jesus used there is the word parakletos, sometimes translated “advocate.” But, what it really means is “a guide who walks by your side.” The Holy Spirit is here to guide you. Jesus said, “He will guide you.” (John 16:13) And, the Bible says, “The meek will he guide [with wisdom].” (Psalms 25:9) He will guide you. If in all of your ways you will acknowledge Him, He will direct your path. (Proverbs 3:6)

There are times when you need special guidance and your renewed mind cannot tell you what to do, and God’s Word does not speak to the issue specifically, and you need a supernatural, mystical guidance of the Holy Spirit of God. And, He is there to guide you, for the Bible says, “We know not what we should pray for as we ought: but the Spirit [Himself] maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered.” (Romans 8:26) That’s the reason that we must be filled with the Spirit to know the will of God. God’s Spirit sweetly, mystically, intuitively speaks to our hearts. Jesus said, “My sheep hear my voice,” (John 10:27) and He speaks through His dear Holy Spirit.

Thank God for the Holy Spirit of God, who has guided my life and shown me what to do and what not to do when a renewed mind could not do it and when the Word of God as such had no specific answer. Yet God’s Holy Spirit has said, “Adrian, do this. Don’t do that. Go here. Don’t go there. Speak this. Don’t say that.” So many times I’ve felt God’s Holy Spirit guide me. There have been times when I’ve been preaching that I’ve felt the Spirit of God put thoughts and ideas into my heart and into my mind right in the midst of a message and I felt God’s dear, sweet, wonderful Holy Spirit of God was guiding me and leading me.

And, He helps us to pray. You see, that’s called “praying...in the Spirit” (Ephesians 6:18)—when the Holy Spirit of God makes intercession. You see, the prayer that gets to heaven is the prayer that starts in heaven. Prayer is the Holy Spirit finding a desire in the heart of the Father, then putting that prayer into our heart and sending it back to heaven, because “of him, and through him, and to him, are all things.” (Romans 11:36) That is the divine triangle, and what we do in prayer is just close the circuit. Therefore, to know the will of God we must be filled with the Spirit as well as filled with the Scripture.

Let me show you a verse of Scripture. Turn to Ephesians chapter 5 here for just a moment. Ephesians chapter 5—let’s look at it—verse 17: “Wherefore be ye not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is”—all right. Wonderful. He says, “Don’t be unwise. You’re to know the will of the Lord.” But now, look in verse 18—“And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit.” (Ephesians 5:17–18) Obviously, to know the will of the Lord and to do the will of the Lord we must be filled with the Spirit of God.

Now folks, listen to me. You want to know God’s will for 1984? You want God to guide you in this New Year? You want God to give you leadership? Let’s check up again. There is the surrender principle. Have you presented your body a living sacrifice? Have you done it? Have you said, “Lord, I give myself to you. I take my hands off. If there is anything you want me to do, Lord, your wish is my command. I will do it. I will, I will, if you’ll only help me”? Secondly, is there the Scripture principle in your life? Are you a student of the Word of God? If not, I suggest that you become one. Thirdly, the Spirit principle—are you consciously filled with the Holy Spirit? Have you yielded all to Him? Have you said, “Come, gracious Spirit of God. Come and possess me. Lead me. Pray with me. Agonize with me. Help me to pray in the Spirit through the Son to the Father”?

III. We Must Do the Will of God

Now finally, not only must we desire the will of God and not only must we discern the will of God, but beloved, we must do the will of God. Now, what did Jesus teach us to pray? “Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be”—what?—“done.” (Matthew 6:9–10) The will of God is something that you do.
And, how is it to be done? It is to be done as it is in heaven. And, how is God’s will done in heaven?

A. It Is Done Confidently
First of all, it’s done confidently. The angels are not afraid to do His will in heaven. Don’t be afraid of God’s will, friend. God loves you. Remember how we’re to pray—not, “Our Tyrant which art in heaven” but, “Our Father which art in heaven.” (Matthew 6:9) He loves you more than any earthly father ever loved a child. “When my father and…mother [cast me off], then [will] the LORD…take me up.” (Psalms 27:10) He loves me with the tender compassion of a father.

B. It Is Done Completely
So, I’m to do it confidently, but I am to do it completely. How is God’s will done in heaven? Half-heartedly? Incompletely? No. Listen. What is the will of God? Not partial obedience. Completely—don’t give Him half; give Him all. Don’t obey in some area and not in another area. You say, “Well, I’m doing all right in my church life but not in my business life.” Then God’s will is not being done in your life. You say, “I’m doing all right in my business life but not in my social life, my date life.” Friend, give it all to Him. Is there any area of your life where you cannot say, “God, thy will be done”?

C. It Is Done Continually
It is to be done, dear friend, confidently. It is to be done completely. It is to be done continually because that’s the way it’s done in heaven. God’s will is done moment by moment in heaven. Why don’t you say, “Dear Lord, I want your will all through the year. I’m not just going to have a good day and then a bad day; a good week, then a bad week. But, all this year, Lord, I’m going to walk in your will. And, when I come to 1985, if 1985 gets here, I’m going to look back and I’m going to say, ‘For a year, Lord, I’ve walked with you. For a year I did your will confidently, I did it completely, and I did it, dear Lord, continually—your will’”? We are to do the will of God.

Conclusion
Now friend, listen to me: powerful prayer is not for rebels. The only way to get your prayer answered is to do the will of God, to want the will of God, to know the will of God. There’s nothing that lies outside the reach of prayer except that which lies outside the will of God. “And this is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask any thing according to his will, he heareth us: And if we know that he hear us…we have the petitions that we desired of him.” (1 John 5:14–15) I want the ambition of your life, your very being, this year to be this: “Thy will be done in my life, as it is in heaven.”

Introduction

Take your Bibles now, and turn—would you, please?—to Matthew chapter 6. We’re dealing with prayer. We’re in a series of messages entitled “Principles of Prayer.” These are coming from that wonderful passage of Scripture sometimes called “the Lord’s Prayer,” more aptly called “the disciples’ prayer” or “the model prayer.” I suppose many of you know it by heart. Let’s look at it again and read the entire prayer, and then we’re going to come back to our key verse for this morning, which is verse 13. Matthew chapter 6, verse 9: Jesus said, “After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.” (Matthew 6:9–13)
Prayer is the Christian’s greatest privilege. Prayer is the Christian’s greatest responsibility and highest duty. Alas, it is the Christian’s greatest failure. My life is no greater than my prayer life. My victory is no greater than the prayer life and the victory that I have in prayer. How important it is that we say with the disciples, “Lord, teach us to pray!” (Luke 11:1)

Now, we’ve already talked about this prayer and the many elements of it. Now today, we come to a key element where we’re dealing today with temptation and how to overcome it; for notice, if we will, in verse 13, Jesus taught us to pray, “And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.” (Matthew 6:13) I wonder, are you really concerned about overcoming temptation?

I heard of a man who went to see his doctor and he said, “Doctor, I have been misbehaving some lately, and my conscience has been bothering me so I thought I would see if you could help me.” The doctor said, “Well, what do you expect me to do—give you something to strengthen your willpower?” He said, “No, I was hoping you would give me something to weaken my conscience.”

Now, a lot of us are about that way. We really have no strong desire to overcome temptation. And, if you don’t, then there’s very little I, or anybody else, can do to help you. But, if you would like to be a victor rather than a victim, an overcomer rather than overcome—if you would like to learn how to turn temptations into triumphs—then I want you to pay attention because the scripture today is going to be a real blessing.

Now, right away as we get into this scripture, we’ve got a problem: Why should I ask God not to lead me into temptation? I mean, does God lead people into temptation? I mean, do I have to say, “Hey, Lord, don’t do that any more. Lord, quit enticing me to sin”? Is that the problem? I mean, is God trying to allure me, and entrap me, and entice me to sin? Is God going to cripple me and then blame me for limping? Is that what God is going to do? Am I fighting God as well as fighting sin? Is it God that is leading me into sin? And, am I asking God, “O God, don’t do that any more”? No, no, no, no, no, no, no. Listen, friend, God never tempts anybody with evil. Don’t you know that? God never induces you to sin. The Bible says in James chapter 1 and verse 13: “The Lord tempteth no man with evil; neither can He be tempted with evil.” (James 1:13) If a temptation comes to you to sin, it did not come from God, because if it comes from God, you’ve got a perfect excuse. You can say, “Who can overcome God?”

What does this mean, therefore, when it says, “And lead us not into temptation”? (Matthew 6:13) It doesn’t say, “Tempt us not,” because He never does that, but “Lead us not into temptation.” (Matthew 6:13) That is, “Lead us out of temptation. You’re not the source of it, Father, and, therefore, you be the help in it.” You know, the Bible says, “[God] knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptation.” (2 Peter 2:9) “Lead us, lest we fall in temptation.” That’s the idea. That’s the truth that we’re dealing with today. And remember, the prayer is, “Lord, lead us”; that is, that God is going to be the One who leads us. You see, a man needs three things. First of all, he needs direction: “[Lord,] lead us.” (Matthew 6:13) Number two, he needs deliverance: “but deliver us.” (Matthew 6:13) And, number three, he needs dynamic, or power: “For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory.” (Matthew 6:13) It’s all right here: the divine direction, the divine deliverance, and the divine dynamic are all right here in this prayer.

Now, I don’t have time to talk about all of those this morning, but we’re going to talk about the first one, the divine direction. “And [Lord,] lead us not into temptation.” (Matthew 6:13) Now, how does God lead us? Well, the Lord leads us with His power, but He also leads us by His examples. So, I want you to turn to Luke chapter 4, and we’re going to leave the passage in Matthew and let that merely be the springboard into a classic illustration of how to overcome temptation in answer to prayer. Now, the reason that I’ve chosen the passage in Luke chapter 4 is because of the three ingredients that are in Luke chapter 4. First of all, we see our enemy who is there, who is Satan. Secondly, we see the experience that is there, which is temptation. And thirdly, we see the example who is there, the Lord Jesus Christ. And so, it’s really a terrific passage to study in overcoming temptation.

I. The Subject of the Temptation
Now, let me ask you a question: How many of you think that you’re being tempted because there’s something wrong in you and something’s just not right and that’s the reason you’re being tempted? If you were better, you wouldn’t be tempted like you are—do you feel that way? And, you know, if you were just a better person, you wouldn’t be tempted. I hope you don’t feel that way. You know, a lot of folks feel that way. They think that when they’re tempted, there must be something drastically wrong with them, that there must be some horrible something in them or they never would be tempted that way. Well, don’t think that way, folks, because Jesus was tempted.

I want you to see something here. Look, if you will, in Luke chapter 4, verse 1: “And Jesus being full of the Holy Ghost returned from Jordan, and was led by the Spirit into the wilderness, Being forty days tempted of the devil.” (Luke 4:1–2) Forty days the Lord Jesus was tempted of the devil. Now, the subject of temptation in this passage is Jesus. It was Jesus who is being tempted. Did you know that you haven’t felt a temptation that Jesus hasn’t felt? Did you know that Jesus, the very Son of God, sinless and perfect, was tempted? I can’t deny that, friend. It’s in the Bible. The Bible says in here clearly and plainly, “For forty days Jesus was tempted of the devil.” (Luke 4:2) That tells me something right away—that you don’t have to be sinful to be tempted. Amen? But, it tells me something else: you don’t have to give in to temptation either, because Jesus didn’t. The Bible says in the book of Hebrews chapter 4 and verse 15: “For we have not a high priest who cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities”—that means He feels what we feel—“but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin.” (Hebrews 4:15) Every temptation that you felt Jesus felt—and I’m going to explain that more later on, but just put it down: every temptation you feel Jesus felt. “[Jesus] was in”—A-L-L—“all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin.” (Hebrews 4:15) He never sinned one time, and that tells me clearly and plainly, therefore, that it is not a sin to be tempted. Jesus was tempted of the devil. He was the subject of temptation.

II. The Setting of the Temptation

Now, I want you to notice the setting of this temptation. When was He tempted? Well, go back to chapter 3, and let me show you something here in verse 21: “[And] now when all of the people were baptized, it came to pass, that Jesus also being baptized, and praying, the heaven was opened, And the Holy Ghost descended in a bodily shape like a dove upon him, and a voice from heaven, which said, Thou art my beloved Son; in thee I am well pleased.” (Luke 3:21–22)

Now, I want you to get the setting. Jesus has just been baptized. Now, what was the baptism of the Lord Jesus? That was Jesus beginning, commencing, inaugurating His public ministry. You see, baptism deals with identification. When I am baptized, I’m identifying myself with Christ and His death, burial, and resurrection. When Jesus was baptized, He was identifying Himself with me. Jesus, when He was baptized, was showing that He was going to suffer, bleed, die, be buried, and raised again. And, that’s the meaning of His baptism. So, there’s a very real sense in which we identify ourselves with Christ, who identified Himself with us through baptism. So, Jesus is now inaugurating His public ministry; Jesus is being baptized. And, He’s being baptized—the Bible says He’s praying during this baptism. And, the Bible doesn’t say that incidentally but emphatically—that Jesus was praying when He was being baptized. And then, on top of that, the Holy Spirit comes down out of heaven in a bodily shape, like a dove. Everybody could see it. And, on top of that, God spoke.

Have you ever wondered what it must have sounded like for God to speak? What would the voice of God sound like? God spoke, and God said, “Thou art my beloved Son; in thee I am well pleased.” (Luke 3:22) Now, you talk about a mountaintop experience! Folks, that was one. You talk about a high point! That was one. Now, when was Jesus tempted? Right after that. Right then. That was the setting. He had just come out of a glorious spiritual experience.

I want to ask you a question. Look up here and be honest: Have you ever gotten in an argument with your wife or husband on the way home from church? Don’t look so pious. On the way home from church, out of a great spiritual experience. You preachers will know that the devil will sometimes attack your home after your church has had a great revival meeting—really will. I tell you, there is a spiritual principle, and here’s what it is: it’s what I call “the devil after the dove.” First of all, the Holy Spirit descends like a dove, and then He’s tempted of the devil.

Now, why is that? Well, of course, the enemy is going to counterattack. When God does something great, when you have the approval of God, you’re going to have the attack of the enemy. Remember what Leonard Ravenhill said? “When God opens the windows of heaven to bless us, the devil’s going to open the doors of hell to blast us.”

You see, I could take you through the Bible, had we time today, and show you person after person who, after great spiritual experience, went down. “Pastor, are you saying we ought not, therefore, have great spiritual experiences?” No, I’m not saying that at all. Of course we ought to have great spiritual experiences. But, I’m saying that when you do, you’d better not start coasting—you’d better not say, “I’ve got it made”—because the devil, the enemy, is going to counterattack. And, that was the setting of the temptation of the Lord Jesus. And, dear friend, there’s never a time—there’s never a time, there’s never a time—when you could say, “I’ve got it made; I’m just going to coast all the way to glory.” You can’t do that.

I’ll tell you something about the setting of this temptation. Do you know where He was tempted? Well, you can look at it right here in the Scripture. The Bible says, “[in] the wilderness” (Luke 4:1) in verse 1. That’s very interesting to me. Do you know where Adam fell? In a garden. Do you know where Jesus overcame? In the wilderness. I like that. Do you know why? That just knocks to smithereens the so-called “social gospel.” Do you know what the social gospel says? “We’ve just got to change man’s environment; and when we change man’s environment, then we’re going to fix man.” Well, I want to ask you a question: Where did man get in difficulty? In the Garden of Eden. You’re not going to have a better environment than that. Where did Jesus overcome? In the wilderness. What I’m trying to say, dear friend, is that man’s problem is greater than man’s environment. I’m for having a good environment, but I want to tell you, this matter of overcoming the devil is not primarily a matter of isolation; it is insulation. It is having God in you, with you, through you, and working in His mighty power. That was the setting of the temptation. Dear friend, it was after a great spiritual experience and it was in a wilderness that Jesus, the Lamb of God, the Son of God, overcame.

III. The Source of the Temptation

Now, I want you to notice something else: I want you to notice not only the setting of this temptation, but I want you to notice the very source of this temptation. Look again, if you will, in chapter 4, verse 1: “And Jesus being full of the Holy Ghost returned from Jordan, and was led by the Spirit into the wilderness, Being forty days tempted of the”—what’s that next word? I can’t hear you—“devil.” (Luke 4:1–2) Hey, I want to tell you something, friend: the devil’s real. You say, “Everybody believes that.” No, they don’t. A lot of people today think that the idea of the devil is old-fashioned, medieval superstition. Now friend, you’d better start believing your Bible. There’s a devil, and he is R-E-A-L—real. He’s real. Don’t explain him away.

I went to a semi-liberal college. I took Religion. My professor there was one of these sophisticated intellectual top-waters, and he told me and told our class, “There is no personal devil. The devil is but the personification of evil. That is, when people conceive of evil, they give it a name and call it ‘the devil,’ and the devil is a metaphor, a figure of speech, a simile, a form of speech, but not a real, actual devil.” I said, “Professor, I want to ask you a question.” I said, “In Mark 5, there’s a man possessed of demons. His name was Legion. And, Jesus drove the demons out of that man, according to Mark chapter 5. And, they went into some pigs, and those pigs went down to a steep place, into the sea. There were two thousand of them, and they were drowned in the sea.” I said, “Now, if the devil is but a figure of speech, a metaphor, what was it that caused those pigs to commit hogicide?” I mean, I want to ask you a question: Really, honestly, do you think that a metaphor could do that? Do you think a figure of speech could do that? Do you think personification of evil could do that? No, the devil’s real. And, the reason that some of us are not getting the victory is that we’re trying to deny reality. The devil’s real. You have an enemy. I mean, you have an enemy.

Now, don’t get swelled up about it. It’s not that you’re that important. Evil people have always known if you can’t hurt someone, hurt someone that someone loves, and you’ve hurt that someone anyway. The devil’s real war is with God, and the devil is trying to get at God through getting at you, and to harm you, and to hurt you. And, he’s already made plans today to sabotage your family and to harm your life. As a matter of fact, he’ll let you succeed, he’ll let you climb high, he’ll let you do good in order that he might bring you all the further down. You say, “He’s not after me.” He may be after you more than you realize. Your success may be the work of the devil to bring you up in order that he might bring you down. What I’m trying to say is, the devil is very sinister. He’s very clever. He is very real. And, your denying the devil is only going to cause you to get into deeper trouble.

I heard of a prizefighter who was losing. He was being battered and buffered, and his face was bruised and bleeding. And, he was hoping that his corner would throw in the towel, but they just let him fight. Finally, he looked over there, and when he got back to the corner, he said, “Look, man, quit this thing! Call if off! He’s killing me!” And, his corner said, “Ah,” he said, “you’re doing fine. He hasn’t laid a glove on you!” This man said, “Then watch that ref because somebody’s tearing me up.”

Now listen, the devil’s real, and to deny him is not going to do you any good whatever. Now, how did the devil tempt the Lord Jesus? Well, you remember the three ways that the devil tempted the Lord Jesus. First of all, he said, “Turn these stones into bread.” (Luke 4:3) We’re going to look at that in a moment. Secondly, he said, “I’ll give you the kingdoms of the world if you worship me.” (Luke 4:5–6) Thirdly, he said, “Cast yourself down from the pinnacle of the temple.” (Luke 4:9)

Now, some of you, when I said awhile back that “Jesus was tempted at all points like as you are,” (Hebrews 4:15) you kind of arched your eyebrows and you thought about that. You may not have said anything out loud, but you said, “I wonder… I wonder… did Jesus ever really face what I face? Has Jesus ever been tempted to run a red light? Was Jesus ever tempted to smoke cigarettes? Was Jesus ever tempted to take dope?” No. “Well,” you say, “I’ve been. So, how could Jesus be tempted in all points like as I am and yet He never faced some of the things that I face?” You see, friend, you need to understand there are only three temptations—only three; not four, not two, but three. That’s all there is. And, Jesus felt all three of them right here in this chapter, and I’m going to show you. And, they are the same three temptations that Adam faced in the Garden of Eden, and they’re the same temptations that you’re going to face this Monday morning, or even this Sunday afternoon.

Now, let me give you some scripture. First John 2 and verse 16—now, listen to it—1 John 2 and verse 16: “For all that is in the world”—now, what’s that little word? All—“For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world.” (1 John 2:16) How much? “All that is in the world.” (1 John 2:16) Folks, that’s it. “All that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world.” (1 John 2:16) All temptation is either the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, or the pride of life.

Now, the lust of the flesh deals with doing. The lust of the eyes deals with having. The pride of life deals with being. I’ll illustrate this in a moment, and it will become clearer. You see, the devil is either going to tempt you to do something wrong, to have something wrong, or to be something wrong—doing, having, or being. The lust of the flesh is doing. The lust of the eyes is having. The pride of life is being. The first is a temptation in the area of our passions. The second is a temptation in the area of our possessions, and the third is a temptation in the area of pride. Either in passions, possessions, or pride is the way the devil’s going to get you, or me, or anybody else. And, Jesus felt all three of these. So did Adam in the Garden of Eden, and so did Eve in the Garden of Eden.

For example, in the idea of the lust of the flesh, what tempted Eve when she saw that tree? She saw the fruit, that it was good for food—pleasant, good to taste. (Genesis 2:9) In other words, her flesh was involved—satisfied the cravings of her flesh. But, what else did she see? It was beautiful to look at. Remember? That’s the lust of the eyes—not only to do something, but to have something. And, what else? It was desired make one wise—not only to do something and to have something but to be someone, you see, to be a little tin god of your own. See? That was the first temptation there in the Garden of Eden: the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life. Now, those were the same temptations that the Lord Jesus faced, only in a different form. Let me show you what I’m talking about here, and it will begin to make sense to you, as we study here in the Word of God.

A. The Lust of the Flesh
For example, look, if you will, in verses 3 and 4 now, where we left off reading—chapter 4, verse 3: “And the devil said unto him, If thou be the Son of God, command this stone that it be made bread. And Jesus answered him, saying, It is written, That man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God.” (Luke 4:3) “Turn this stone into bread!”
Those of you who have been to Palestine, as I have, or to Israel, you know that all over the ground there are little stones. Some of them I picked them up. I started to bring one home one time. It looked like a little brown loaf of bread. They’re just all over. And, you can just see he’s saying, “Well, look, it even looks like a piece of a loaf of bread. Turn it into bread.”

Now, I think one of the great understatements of the Bible, if we can say the Bible has understatements, is, “He fasted forty days, and afterward He was hungry.” (Luke 4:2) I would think so, wouldn’t you? I mean, He was hungry. I mean, He was famished.
“Turn these stones into bread.” Now, He was there, led of the Spirit, to fast and pray and to seek the face of God. And, there’s nothing wrong with bread. There’s nothing wrong with eating bread. I’ve already showed you that Jesus taught us to pray, “Give us this day our daily bread.” (Matthew 6:11) Jesus fed the disciples with fish and bread.
Jesus went to parties. Jesus ate. Jesus went to banquets. But, the devil said, “Put bread above the will of God. Pamper your flesh. Commit spiritual suicide.” Jesus refused. But, you see, He felt the appeal to His body. And, in that temptation is captured and encapsulated all of the physical temptations—all of the desires—of the yearnings of your flesh. Jesus overcame His flesh; and so, you may overcome yours—the lust of the flesh.

B. The Lust of the Eyes
And then, the lust of the eyes. We’re not finished yet. Continue to read, if you will. Look in verses 5 and following in this: “And the devil, taking him up into an high mountain, shewed unto him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time. And the devil said unto him, All this power will I give thee, and the glory of them: for that is delivered unto me; and to whomsoever I will I give it. If thou therefore wilt worship me, all shall be thine.” (Luke 4:5–7) That is, not just in His passions, but now in His possessions. “All will be thine. You see it? Do you see it, Jesus? Do you see these kingdoms?"

Did you know that the eyes have an appetite? Have you ever heard this expression: "Feast your eyes upon that"? That’s the reason why people want things. Why do people want things they don’t even need, they can’t even use them? It is the lust of the eyes—the lust of the eyes, see? Possessions. Now again, there’s nothing wrong with possessions. It’s “the LORD, thy God…that giveth thee power to get wealth.” (Deuteronomy 8:18) But, you see, when these things get perverted by the devil, they become temptations. I wish I had more time to talk about that, but I’ll never get finished if I do.

C. The Pride of Life
Let me move into the third one, the third temptation here, which is the pride of life—and this is an interesting one—beginning in verse 9: “And he brought him to Jerusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of the temple, and said unto him, If thou be the Son of God, cast thyself down from hence: For it is written, He shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee: And in their hands they shall bear thee up, lest at any time thou dash thy foot against a stone.” (Luke 4:9–11) Wouldn’t that be a great way for the Messiah to come into the temple? I mean, you know, they were expecting the Messiah. One of the reasons that they repudiated Jesus—He didn’t have enough pomp, He didn’t have enough glory, He didn’t have enough circumstance for them. They were looking for a spectacular Messiah.

Now, suppose one day when everybody was worshipping, Jesus just came floating down out of heaven like that? Wouldn’t that have been something? You know, I’ve been thinking about a way to come in the pulpit. I’m going to get a wire, and I’m going to come sliding down a wire in a puff of smoke and just—sloomph!—“there he is.” Boy, wouldn’t that be impressive? You say, “That would be ridiculous.” Yeah, it would. You see, what the devil was saying is, “Make a spectacular entrance.” What it was was an appeal to His pride to do something spectacular, to get glory and attention to Himself in a God-forbidden way.

You see, Jesus faced every temptation that you face. Jesus faced the lust of the flesh. Jesus faced the lust of the eyes. Jesus faced the pride of life. And folks, that’s all there is. That is all that is in the world. And, Jesus overcame every one of them. That is the source of temptation.

IV. The Subduing of Temptation
But now, let me get right into the heart of the message in the time I have left and deal with the subduing of temptation. And, I want to give you six principles that were true in the life of the Lord Jesus that can be true in your life. And, I promise you on the authority of the Word of God, if you take these six principles and you live by them, you will be a victor and not a victim, you will become an overcomer and not overcome, and you will know victory in Jesus your Savior forever, because our God did not call us to fail. For the Bible says, “Thanks be unto God, [who] causeth us [always] to triumph in Christ [Jesus].” (2 Corinthians 2:14) Are you interested? Are you ready for these principles? I want you to get a piece of paper, and I want you to jot them down. There are six principles here that will cause you to live victoriously, and they’re right in the scripture that we have before us in Luke chapter 3 and Luke chapter 4.

A. The Principle of Sonship

Principle number one I want to call “the principle of sonship.” Look, if you will, please, in Luke chapter 3 and beginning in verse 21: “Now when all of the people were baptized, it came to pass, that Jesus also being baptized, and praying, the heaven was opened, And the Holy Ghost descended in a bodily shape like a dove upon him, and a voice came from heaven, which said, Thou art my beloved Son.” (Luke 3:21–22) Now, the only way to overcome the devil is to be a son of God. You say, “Like Jesus?” Well, Jesus was the only begotten Son of God. But, I want to tell you, because Jesus became a Son of man, we all can become sons of God. You see, the Bible says that by believing in Christ, we become the children of God, (Galatians 3:26) and Christ becomes our elder brother. (Hebrews 2:11) And, you see, how did Jesus overcome the devil? Well, He overcame the devil through His relationship to the Father. He was the Son of God; therefore, God was in Him. Therefore, God was with Him; and, therefore, He overcame as a Son of God.

Are you listening to me? Do you know how this prayer in Matthew chapter 6 begins? How? “Our”—what’s the next word?—“Father…” (Matthew 6:9) Are you His child? Not if you haven’t been born into His family you’re not. Not if you haven’t been born again you’re not. There is a principle of sonship. Jesus overcame the devil because He was the Son of God. I may overcome the devil because I am a son of God. There is a principle of sonship. Are you saved? Are you sure you’re saved? Do you know you’re saved? Are you born again? Are you? Why don’t you right now say, “Come into my heart, Lord Jesus, and save me”? You’re not going to overcome the devil without being a child of God. You can’t do it.

B. The Principle of Submission is, Jesus lived the life of submission.

Are you paying attention? Did you know that you can be saved and go down? Did you know that you can be saved and still stumble and fall? Did you know that you can be a child of God and be overcome by the devil unless you’re submitted to the Father? Did you know that there are a lot of Christians who are carnal and indifferent, and they have been saved, but God is not well pleased with them? As a matter of fact, He’s very displeased with them. Is He pleased with you? Have you submitted yourself to Him? Folks, look at me. Victory is not for rebels. There’s no way that you’re going to be victorious unless God is pleased with you. Is God pleased with you? I mean, is God pleased with you? It’s not rhetoric. As God looks down at you right now, is He pleased? Can you say, “I do those things that please Him”? Are you living that kind of a life? There’s a principle of submission.

C. The Principle of Spiritual Power

Third principle: There’s a principle of spiritual power. Now, look at it again here in this passage—verse 22: “And the Holy Ghost descended in a bodily shape like a dove upon him.” (Luke 3:22) Now look, when a person is a son, and when a person is submitted, then that person is going to know spiritual power. You see, Jesus overcame the devil with spiritual power. Look in chapter 4 and verse 1: “And Jesus being full of the Holy Ghost returned from Jordan, and was led by the Spirit into the wilderness.” (Luke 4:1) I mean, the Holy Spirit now has charge of the Lord Jesus’ life. I want you to look again, if you will, please, in verse 14. Look at it: “And Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit [unto] Galilee.” (Luke 4:14) Why, it’s obvious who has control of His life. Look, when He got to Galilee and He started to preach, at what He said in verse 18: “The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, [for] he hath anointed me to preach.” (Luke 4:18) Oh, Jesus overcame, because greater was He that was in Jesus than he that was in the world. (1 John 4:4)

Now listen, Jesus did not overcome the devil as God; Jesus overcame the devil as a man filled with the Holy Spirit. That’s one of the greatest principles in all of the Bible. If Jesus overcame the devil as God, then He’s no example to me. But, if Jesus overcame the devil as a man filled with the Holy Spirit, the same Holy Spirit that was available to Jesus is available to me, amen? You can say “amen”; it won’t hurt. I’ve got to tell you, I preach ‘til I think you understand. If you start saying “amen,” I’ll quit soon.

D. The Principle of Scriptural Knowledge

Now listen, folks, Jesus was filled with the Holy Spirit. Now, are you seeing this? First of all, the principle of sonship. Then, the principle of submission. Then, the principle of spiritual power. Now, what follows right on that? The principle of scriptural knowledge. Now, you see, when the devil came to Jesus, how did Jesus overcome the devil? Well, now remember, He’s a Son. He submitted. He’s Spirit-filled. And then, He begins to use the Word.

Now, if you’re just quoting the Bible, the devil is not going to back the devil up unless you’re Spirit-filled. Whose sword is the Bible? Your sword? Whose sword is the Bible? It is the sword of what? Can’t hear you. The sword of what? Spirit! It is the Spirit sword. It is the Spirit sword! When a man is Spirit-filled, then the Spirit uses His sword. Every time the devil would come to Jesus, Jesus would say, “It is written…” “It is written…” “It is written…” (Luke 4:4,8,10) And, three times Jesus ran the devil through with the Word of God. God has given you a book, dear friend, and there are truths in this book. When you know them, and learn them, and appropriate them, and the Holy Spirit of God uses this book, you’re going to know power. I am telling you, there is dynamite in this book to overcome the devil. The devil hopes you will not learn the principles and the promises and the prerogatives that are yours through the Word of God.

E. The Principle of Satisfaction

Now, the next principle—and I must hurry. I don’t have time. I wish I had time to deal more with the principle of the Scripture—but there’s another principle, and I want to call it “the principle of satisfaction.” Do you know why the devil couldn’t get to Jesus? I’ll tell you why: Jesus was already satisfied. You see, Jesus didn’t have an itch the devil could scratch. You know, He said, “The wicked one comes, and he finds nothing in me.” (John 14:30)

Do you know what the devil does? The devil says, “Hey, you’ve got a need, and I can satisfy it.” And, you say, “Well, help me, devil, because I want to be satisfied.” Is there anybody here who doesn’t want to be satisfied? If you lift your hand, you’re lying. Everybody wants to be satisfied. We all want to be satisfied. Now, do you know what a temptation is? A temptation is an inducement by the devil to satisfy a legitimate desire in an illegitimate way. That’s all it is—to take a God-given desire and satisfy it in a God-forbidden way. You see, the devil’s a pervert. Did you know that? The devil has no raw material. All the devil can do is take what God has created, what God has made, and pervert it.

Now, God has given us desires. They are part of our human nature. To deny them would be to deny yourself. For example, hunger—is there anything wrong with being hungry? No. Jesus was hungry. Nothing wrong with being hungry. Is gluttony a sin? Nod your head. You’d be surprised how many times in the Bible, when the Bible talks about drunkenness, it talks about gluttony at the same time. Well, gluttony is a good Baptist sin, isn’t it? Drunkenness—that’s not a good Baptist sin. But gluttony—that’s a good Baptist sin. Listen, folks. Let me tell you something. Do you know what gluttony is? Gluttony is a desire to satisfy a God-given appetite in an illegitimate way.

Now let me tell you how to overcome temptation. Find out the legitimate way and satisfy that desire the legitimate way, and then you don’t need the illegitimate way.

I mean, if you want to take away a bone from a dog... Have you ever tried to take a bone from a dog? It’s a good way to get bit. Let me tell you how to take a bone from a dog: just throw a steak down on the ground, and he’ll drop that bone. Isn’t that right?

You see, look, when you satisfy a desire the right way, then that ol’ dog doesn’t need that bone. When you have what God has for you... You see, all of these desires that we have, they’re God-given desires. The sex drive—it’s a God-given desire. Don’t feel like you must be sinful because you feel sexual urges. You’re not sinful. That’s a God-given desire. The devil wants to take that and twist it. Peter Marshall said, “Sex will be the nicest or the nastiest thing in your physical life.” He wants to twist it. But, you see, how do you handle that desire? Satisfy it the right way, then you won’t satisfy it the wrong way. I have a preacher friend who says, “If you’re eating steak at home, you won’t need bologna at the office.” Understand what I’m talking about? Listen, friend, a husband and wife ought to live together as sexual partners, happy in the Lord Jesus.

Now listen, folks, what I’m trying to say is this: that Jesus was satisfied. You see, everything is in Christ. What did I tell you the three great temptations were? Can you remember what’s number one? The lust of the flesh. What does that deal with? Doing. The lust of the eyes. What does that deal with? Having. Pride of life. What does that deal with? Being. All right. Now look, can you think of anything more exciting than serving Jesus? That’s doing. That’s more exciting than the Super Bowl, folks. Can you think of anything better to have than to have Jesus? That’s having. I mean, all things are yours. Can you think of anything better to be than to be a child of God? I mean, think about it, folks. Listen, in Christ we have everything. And, when your needs are being met in the Lord Jesus Christ, then you don’t have an itch the devil can scratch. And, the reason that the devil could not get to Jesus is Jesus was having His needs met.

Now, I want you right now to think of where you’re being tempted. Some of you are being tempted to get even with somebody. Did you know that’s a God-given desire—revenge? You say, “Oh, it couldn’t be.” Yes, it is. And, let me tell you how to satisfy that desire: if you’ve got an enemy, kill him with kindness; love him to death. That’s the way to satisfy the revenge drive. “[Or,] if [your] enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him [to] drink.” (Romans 12:20) “Pray for [those that] despitefully use you.” (Matthew 5:44; Luke 6:28) Do good to them, and you’re going to find suddenly that that temptation is gone.

You say, “I want to be successful.” How are you going to be successful? Well, let me tell you how to be successful, dear friend: if success is in the Lord Jesus Christ, just serve Him. If you want to be number one, there’s nothing wrong with being number one. Jesus said, “Whosoever be the greatest among you, let him be your servant.” (Matthew 23:11) Isn’t that wonderful? You say, “I want security—stocks and bonds.” No, no, no, no. Find security in Jesus.

I want you just to think, “Where is it that I’m being tempted?” and then I want you to say, “Lord, show me the legitimate fulfillment of this desire,” and then, “God, satisfy this desire legitimately,” and you’re going to find out that a wonderful thing is going to happen to you—that you’re going to begin to have your needs met, and the things of this world will have no more allurement to you. For the things of this world “grow strangely dim in the light of His glory and grace.” (Helen H. Lemmel)

F. The Principle of Supplication

Now, one last principle. I said six. I’m not even going to preach on it, but I’ll just give it to you because it wraps up all of the others. It is the principle of supplication. Remember that I said to you that Jesus was praying when the Holy Spirit came and descended upon Him? Look, if you will, again, in chapter 3. Just look at the verse. And, the Bible says in verse 21: “Now when all the people were baptized, it came to pass, that Jesus also being baptized, and praying, the heaven was opened.” (Luke 3:21) You see, Jesus overcame the devil. Do you know why? Do you know why? Do you know why? Folks, He had a prayer meeting before He got in that wilderness, hadn’t He? I mean, it says so right there. Do you know why we go out and fall flat on our face? We saunter forth to meet the world, the flesh, and the devil without praying, and we fail every time.

Conclusion

Let me give you those principles, and I’m finished. Number one: sonship. Are you saved? Number two: submission. Are you submitted? Number three: spiritual power. Are you filled with the Spirit? Number four: scriptural knowledge—the Spirit using His own sword. Do you have that—that Scriptural knowledge? Number five: satisfaction. Jesus had His needs met by God the Father, and the devil, therefore, had no allurement. Number six: supplication. Jesus had met the devil with a life that was filled with prayer. Now, that might seem just plain old-fashioned, but I promise you, if you’ll take those six principles and begin to apply them, you’re going to find out that God is going to give you unusual, marvelous, wonderful victory.

Introduction
I want you to take your Bibles and look, if you will, at what we often call “The Lord’s Prayer.” Really, it’s “the disciples’ prayer” or “the model prayer.” We’re talking about “The Principles of Prayer.” We’ve been using this passage as a guide for our study. Remember what Jesus taught His disciples? “After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.” (Matthew 6:9–13) Especially verse 13: “And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.” (Matthew 9:13) That may be translated this way—and I think rightly so: “deliver us from the evil one."

I’m talking to you today about “Overcoming the Evil One”: how to gain victory over the devil. And, the message today is an alarm, and it is a call to arms, because when you were saved, you were brought into a battle—not to a religious playground, not to a Sunday school picnic, but a fight to the finish with no holds barred against a sinister enemy. We are up against the demonized, mobilized hosts and forces of hell. Now, it has always been the devil’s plan to pull the veil of darkness across his kingdom so that we’ll not understand who he is, because the devil knows in any battle, you must understand your enemy. And, he knows that if we do not understand him, if we do not recognize our enemy, then we’re not going to be prepared for the battle. My prayer today is that God the Holy Spirit will so use me and that God the Holy Spirit will so use His Word today that we’ll pull away the mask, that we’ll pull down the veil, and your adversary, the devil, will be reflected for who he is.

I. The Devil Is a Decided Fact

Now, first of all, I want you to think with me about this: that Satan is a decided fact. It was none less than the Lord Jesus who taught us to pray and deliver us from the evil one. When I’m talking about the devil, therefore, I am not talking about a figment of someone’s imagination; I’m not talking about the unlearned ravings of a backwoods preacher. And, I’m not putting down backwoods preachers, you understand, but I am saying that some people get the idea that that’s where the devil has come from. I’m not talking about some leftover mythology of medieval superstition. I am talking to you about Bible fact and present-day reality. Jesus said we are to pray every day, “Lord Father, deliver us from the evil one.” (Matthew 6:13)

A. The Devil and His Personality

I want you to think about the devil and his personality. Now, when I say, “personality,” I mean the fact that he is a person with the attributes of a person. The Bible says in 1 Peter chapter 5, verse 8—and by the way, we’ll not turn to these scriptures this morning. I have so many, I’d like for you just merely to jot them down this morning—1 Peter chapter 5, verse 8: Peter warns, “Be sober”—that is, “be serious-minded”—“be vigilant; [for] your adversary”—you have an adversary—“your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, goeth about, seeking whom he may devour.” (1 Peter 5:8) Now, if you were walking through a jungle that was infested with ravenous lions, wouldn’t you look when you walked? Wouldn’t you be serious-minded? Wouldn’t you be looking around? Because the devil is there lurking, ready to pounce on you, ready to Maul you, ready to devour you. That’s what Peter said. “Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour.” (1 Peter 5:8) He is a person. He is the bitterest enemy of God and His people.

Now, if you want a blessing, think of the names of Jesus. If you want a warning, think of the names of the devil. Let me give you some of the names that have been given to him in the Bible. He is called “the deceiver.” He’s called a liar. He is called a murderer. He is called “the accuser of [the] brethren.” (Revelation 12:10) He is called “the tempter.” He’s called “the prince of the power of the air.” (Ephesians 2:2) He’s called “the destroyer.” He is called “the evil one.”

Now, if you do not understand how bitter your enemy is, you’re not going to make a preparation for defense. And so, therefore, the devil’s cleverest ruse is to make you believe he doesn’t exist. You know, today we laugh about the idea of a devil. We name football teams various kinds of devils, automobiles various kinds of demons and devils, cakes and food—“deviled ham,” “devil’s food cake.” We get the idea that the devil is some sort of a comical little character wearing long red underwear, with horns and a forked tail and a pitchfork, trying to catch somebody bending over. And, we just think all of that is funny. And, the devil’s behind all of that business to make us believe that he doesn’t exist, that he’s just some sort of a comical character like Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer. And, we laugh and mimic the idea of a devil. And, there are others who take the devil seriously, but they believe the devil exists but he is now in hell. The devil is not in hell. He will be in hell one day. Some people have the idea that the devil reigns over hell. He does not reign over hell. When he goes to hell, he will be incarcerated in hell; he will be tormented in hell. Hell was “prepared for the devil and his angels,” (Matthew 25:41) but the devil is not there yet. The devil is very real.

So many times we don’t understand who our enemy is. You see, we tend to want to fight flesh and blood. But, the Bible says in Ephesians chapter 6 and verse 12: “we wrestle not against flesh and blood.” (Ephesians 6:12) Your enemy is not the Communists. Your enemy is not the Republicans, not the Democrats, not the Internal Revenue Service—I don’t think I have to think about that one—not your wife or your wife’s family, not the pornographer, not the liquor baron, not the drug pusher. These are all flesh and blood. You see, the reason that, so many times, we don’t win the battle is we never show up for the war. We’re wrestling not against flesh and blood.

Now, the battle may be within man, but it’s never between men. The devil is a personality. He may have a thousand heads, but he has one heart. “An evil one,” the Bible calls him.

B. The Devil and His Position

But, I want you to think not only of his personality, but I want you to think of his position, because Ephesians chapter 6 and verse 12 says, “For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but”—listen to it—“against principalities [and] powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places.” (Ephesians 6:12)

You see, at one time the devil inhabited heaven. He served God as a mighty angel, but he rebelled against God, as I’ll show you later. He fell. And, when the devil fell, a host of angels fell with him—a third of the angels fell with him. They had become disembodied spirits. We call them today “demons.” They are the devil’s angels. And so, the devil is the lord of these angels. The Bible calls him “the prince of the power of the air.” (Ephesians 2:2) Jesus warned us about the devil and his angels. And, the devil, through his demon spirits, not only controls individuals, but he literally controls nations. Did you know that the devil has his influence in the UN and in the relationship between nations that the devil is often at negotiating table? Now, you may not believe that, but it is true.

Sometimes people have wondered, “How is the Battle of Armageddon going to come to pass?” John, on the Island of Patmos, had a vision. He saw one of the most horrible and grotesque things that a man has ever seen in the spirit. He said, “I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet”—John wondered what these frog-like spirits were, and God revealed to John in Revelation chapter 16, in verse 14— “[These] are the spirits of [demons], working miracles”—now, listen to this—“which go forth unto the kings of the earth of the whole world”—demon spirits. Are you listening? Demon spirits controlling world kings— “to gather them to the battle of [the] great day of God Almighty.” (Revelation 16:13–14) And, the Bible goes on to say, “[They] gathered them [to] a place called...Armageddon.” (Revelation 16:16) The demonized forces of this world are working in the hearts and minds of world rulers to bring them to the Battle of Armageddon. Ephesians chapter 6, verse 12 says, “For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against”—listen to this—“the rulers of the darkness of this world.” (Ephesians 6:12) Now, that may be translated “world rulers of this darkness.” That is, these demon spirits are leaders all over the world.

You say, “That just seems so farfetched.” Well, let me read something to you that I collected from a newspaper just a few days ago. Listen to it, a news article: “The United States should begin work on the military uses of ESP.” Do you know what ESP is? Extrasensory perception. Now, let me go back: “The United States should begin work on the military uses of ESP and other psychic phenomenon before the Soviet Union pulls too far ahead, according to a United States Army study. The study claims that the Soviet Union is making significant progress in finding military applications of precognition, out-of-the-body experiences, extrasensory perception, and psychokinesis.” Do you know what psychokinesis is? That is the ability to move a material object without touching it, by the power of the mind. You say, “That’s all hocus pocus.” The Soviets have been studying it seriously for years, and now the United States Army is afraid we’re getting behind. Now, we don’t have room for God, but we’ve got room for the devil. All of this is a part of the occult. And, the Soviets have been giving their minds over to the devil that they might learn more warfare.

When I read this scripture, or when I read this passage here just recently, I thought of the scripture there in Revelation chapter 16: “[These] are the spirits of [demons]...[that] go forth [to] the kings of the [whole] earth...to gather them to [that] battle of [the] great day of God Almighty.” (Revelation 16:14) The devil is called in 2 Corinthians chapter 4, in verse 4: “the god of this [age].” (2 Corinthians 4:4) He’s always desired to be worshipped; and so, he has built an exact counterfeit of true Christianity. He’s not against religion. One of the cruelest things around is religion without Christ, and the devil is behind religion all the way.

C. The Devil and His Power

Now, I’ve spoken to you about his personality—he’s a person. I’ve spoken to you about his position—he is a prince, the god of this age. I want to speak to you now about his power. He has great, great power. It is sheer folly to underestimate the power of the devil or to sneer or laugh at his power. As a matter of fact, the Lord Jesus Christ, the One who loves us so much, when He taught us to pray, was so aware of the power of the devil that He warned every one of us, when we pray, that we should pray, “And Lord, deliver us from the evil one.” (Matthew 6:13) Why do we need deliverance? Because he is so powerful. Acts chapter 26, in verse 18, speaks of “the power of Satan.” (Acts 26:18) Ephesians chapter 6, in verse 12, speaks of principalities and powers. (Ephesians 6:12) Paul, warning us about the antichrist in 2 Thessalonians chapter 2 and verse 9, says “[And] even him, whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and...lying wonders.” (2 Thessalonians 2:9) The devil is a supernatural person. He has supernatural power, dark power, devilish power, unholy power, chilling power. The devil is a powerful individual.

Martin Luther knew this. Martin Luther wrote that song—and thank God for it—“A Mighty Fortress is our God.” But, there’s a somber strain in that song. He says:

[And] still our ancient foe doth seek to work us woe;
His [power] and [craft] are great, and, armed with cruel hate,
On earth is not his equal.

D. The Devil and His Purpose

But, think not only of his power, but think about his purpose. What is the purpose of the devil? What is his unholy ambition? It has been to pull God from His throne, to overthrow God. The devil is a rebel in revolt against Almighty God. You say, “That’s foolish.” Yes, it’s foolish, but the devil has been deceived and twisted by the sin and the pride that’s in his heart. And, the Bible says, “Your wisdom is corrupted because of your pride.” (Ezekiel 28:17)
At one time the devil was Lucifer, the son of the morning, the most glorious angel that God had ever created. His heart was lifted up because of his pride, and he became the devil. Isaiah chapter 14, verses 12 and following: the Bible says, “How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! how art thou cut down to the ground, which didst weaken the nations! For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: I will be like the most High [God].” (Isaiah 14:12–14) “I will be like God,” he said. No sooner had that challenge been uttered than the thunders of God’s wrath rolled down the corridors of heaven and Satan fell. He was banished from heaven. No longer Lucifer, son of the morning, he became Satan, the father of the night. His angels fell with him. And now, he is in revolt against Almighty God, and his purpose is to literally overthrow God. And, believe it or not, he thinks he can do it. He can’t, but he thinks he can. He’s deceived, and he is a deceiver.

E. The Devil and His Plan

Now, what is his plan? His purpose is to overthrow God. What is his plan? How does he do it? I want to tell you again that the devil’s chief weapon is deception. He deceives that he might deprave, that he might destroy. Jesus said of the devil in John chapter 8, in verse 44, when He was speaking to some unsaved Pharisees: “[You] are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He”—the devil—“was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it.” (John 8:44) And, in that salient verse, our Lord tells us two things about the devil: his motive is murder; his method is the lie. He deceives that he might deprave, that he might destroy, that he might damn.

1. The Wiles of the Devil

If you’ll think about the Bible verses concerning the devil that speak of his plan and his methods, think of Ephesians chapter 6 and verse 11, where the Bible says, “Put on the whole armour of God, that [you] may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.” (Ephesians 6:11) That word wiles is the word we get our English word methods from. The devil is methodical. He’s willing to wait. He’ll let you succeed that you might further fall. He will let you get away with sin that sin might greatly entrap you and then snare you. He is quite content to be patient. He’s very methodical—“the wiles of the devil.” (Ephesians 6:11)

2. The Devices of the Devil

Then again, the Bible speaks in 2 Corinthians chapter 2 and verse 11 of the devices of the devil. The Apostle Paul said, “We are not ignorant of his devices.” (2 Corinthians 2:11) But, many today are ignorant of the devices of the devil.
3. The Snares of the Devil
Again, Paul warned in 2 Timothy chapter 2, verse 26, of "the [snares] of the devil." (2 Timothy 2:26)
Put those words together: the wiles of the devil, the devices of the devil, the snares of the devil, and you'll understand what kind of an enemy we have. Now, ladies and gentlemen, my first point has been simply this: that Satan is a decided fact. We have talked about his personality. We have talked about his position. We’ve talked about his power. We’ve talked about his purpose. We’ve talked about his plan. He is a decided fact.

II. The Devil Is a Destructive Force
Secondly, Satan is a destructive force. If Satan were not a destructive force, why then would Jesus have taught us to pray, “Lord, deliver us”? When you think of deliverance, you think of danger. And, would to God we could only understand just how dangerous our enemy is that we must pray, “Lord, deliver us from the evil one.” He is a destructive force.

Now, the Bible teaches that in the last days, there will be a resurgence of demonic power, and I’m going to zero in on the theme of this message tonight. Let me mention some forms of demonic power that are destroying civilization as we know it.

A. The Occult
First of all, there’s the great revival of the occult. If you were to go into a bookstore today, you would find very few books on good old-fashioned Bible religion, but you would find several sections filled with books on the occult, especially astrology, and witchcraft, and demonism. These things have a great appeal to people. Why? Because they offer power—not service, but power; because they offer knowledge of the future (so-called); because they offer contact with the dead. And, our world is infested with these.

Now, let me tell you, dear friend, that when you read this material, when you dabble in the horoscope, when you flirt with the occult, when you go to a fortuneteller… You say, “Well, pastor, there’s nothing about those fortunetellers. They’re just a bunch of frauds.” Some of them are, but others of them have made contact with the devil, and they will tell you things that you’ll wonder how they know. They’ll tell you things about yourself personally. They will tell you things about your departed loved ones. And, you’ll say, “Hey, there’s reality there! Maybe I’d better go back!” There’s reality—maybe you’d better stay away! Because I want to tell you, it is not your loved one they brought up; it is a demon spirit who knows about your loved one and who is mimicking your loved one.
People ask about someone like Jeane Dixon. Where does Jeane Dixon get her knowledge? Jeane Dixon doesn’t know enough to get it from God because she’s frequently wrong and God never is wrong. She knows too much to get it from human knowledge. She has received her information from the devil. You say, “Pastor, that’s strong!” Yes! I want it to be strong. Let me give you some scripture. The Bible says in 1 John chapter 4, verse 1: “Beloved, believe not every spirit, but [test] the spirits whether they [be] of God.” (1 John 4:1) Jot this scripture down—and you teenagers who are tempted to have a séance at your next slumber party, to get a Ouija board out and play with it, listen to this scripture—Leviticus chapter 19, verse 31: “Regard not them that have familiar spirits”—that is a medium—“neither seek after wizards, to be defiled by them: I am the LORD your God.” (Leviticus 19:31) In my ministry, I’ve dealt with people who were possessed with demons—defiled because they flirted with the occult.

Deuteronomy chapter 18, verse 9: “When thou art come into the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, thou shalt not learn to do after the abominations of those nations. There shall not be found among you any one that maketh his son or his daughter pass through the fire”—that is, at that time, they were sacrificing the children to demon spirits. Their little babies! Does it remind you of our generation?—“or that useth divination”—that is, a fortuneteller—“or an observer of times.” (Deuteronomy 19:9–10) Do you know what “an observer of times” is? That’s astrology. Many of you read your horoscope every day. You turn the newspaper. You say, “What’s today?” You say, “Well, that’s just a little harmless thing.” Listen to what God says: God says, “There shall not be found [any one] among you…that [does that—]an observer of times, or an enchanter, or a witch. Or a charmer, or a consulter with familiar spirits, or a wizard, or a necromancer”—that is, necromancy is contact with the dead—“For all”—all, all—“that do these things are an abomination unto the LORD: and because of these abominations the LORD thy God doth drive them out from before thee.” (Deuteronomy 18:10–12) Many of you need to go through your homes and pick out the symbols of the occult and get them out of your house. They’re an abomination to God. But, there’s a generation today that’s caught up in a satanic revival of the occult.

B. Drug Abuse
You say, “Well, that won’t get me. I’m not interested in that kind of thing.” The devil has another way, and that’s through drug abuse. Did you know that the great explosion of drug abuse that we have in our world today is a form of Satanism? Now, many of the drug users don’t realize this, but the Bible specifically warns against drug abuse, and the Bible teaches it’s going to be one of the chief sins in the Great Tribulation. I believe the world is about to enter into the Great Tribulation and will after the Rapture of the Church. But, the Bible speaks of the sins of the Great Tribulation in Revelation chapter 9, in verse 21, and the Bible says, “Neither repented they of their murders, nor of their sorceries, nor of their fornication, nor of their thefts.” (Revelation 9:21) What are the big four in the Tribulation? Murder, sorcery, fornication, thievery—those are the big four.

Now, what is sorcery? The word sorcery here is a translation of a Greek word pharmakeia, and it means “an enchanter with drugs.” The devil opens people’s minds to mystical experiences and causes people to lose control of their rational facilities through the use of drugs. You know, the Bible says, “Keep [your] heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life.” (Proverbs 4:23) But, the use of drugs destroys a man’s mind so that he can contact God and reduces his mind to rubble. It is instant heaven that leads to everlasting hell. It is a form of synthetic salvation. And, the Bible calls that “sorcery.”

Now, let me read what the four big sins of the Great Tribulation are going to be: “Neither repented they of their murderers…their [drug abuse]…their fornication, [and] their thefts.” (Revelation 9:21) Does that remind you of Memphis, Tennessee? Murder, drug abuse, fornication, and thievery—all of these things, ladies and gentlemen, are precursors of the Great Tribulation that’s going to come upon this earth. And, I’m going to tell you, when that happens—when God takes His Holy Spirit through His Church out of this world—to hold back evil will be like trying to damn up Niagara Falls with toothpicks. The antichrist is going to come. And, by the use of drugs and the use of computers, this whole race will become zombies who follow after the antichrist to take the mark of the beast and to do his will. I’m telling you that the devil is behind the drug culture, and the biggest pusher today is the devil himself.

C. False Doctrine

And then, again, another way that Satan is a destructive force—and we need to be delivered—is through false doctrine. Listen to the scripture—1 Timothy chapter 4, verse 1: “Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of demons.” (1 Timothy 4:1) Teachings of demons! When you look for the devil, never fail to look in the pulpit. The Bible says that “Satan himself is transformed [as] an angel of light.” (2 Corinthians 11:14) Satan has his ministers. They preach another christ than the Christ of the Bible. People receive another spirit than the Holy Spirit. Paul warned against making sacrifices to demons. He calls some churches “synagogues of Satan” (Revelation 2:9; 3:9)—at least, John the apostle did over there in the book of the Revelation. What I’m trying to say is this: that the devil has warped and twisted the minds of people. He has denied, and perverted, and twisted the Word of God.

D. The Media

I’m going to tell you another way that the devil has become a dangerous foe, a destructive force—and that is through the media, the entertainment, the airwaves, television, radio. He knows how to use these things. You see, he’s called “the prince of the power of the air.” (Ephesians 2:2) Did you know that the devil, by his very nature, is a musical being? If you read the book of Ezekiel, you’ll find out that when the devil would speak, it would be like an oratorio; it would be like great music. He had pipes and tabrets within him. He was like a huge pipe organ—a musical sound. Also, he was called Lucifer, the light-bearer. He’s now an angel of light. All of these things tell me together that the devil is a master of media.

I believe that we’ve lost a whole generation of young people through the rock culture, through rock music, which so much of it is blatant devil worship and pushing of drugs, and fornication, and all of these things. There’s such a thing now known as “backward masking,” where phonograph records played backward have hidden messages of praise to the devil, encouraging young people to use drugs and all of this. And, that is not the figment of someone’s imagination; that is a documented fact. And, your children today may have records in your home that have words of praise, and worship, and adoration to the devil himself.

You think of what’s happening in the games that children are playing today, and many of our department stores in this city and across the land are selling games by America’s most popular toymakers. Let me name some of those games: Dungeons and Dragons—have you ever heard of a game like that? You think, “Well, that’s a little harmless game.” Or, “Dark Tower” or “Sorcerer’s Apprentices”—can you imagine a child learning to be an apprentice sorcerer?—“Sorcerer’s Apprentices,” “Chivalry and Sorcery,” “Hellpits of Night Fang.” Little children are taught to play games with the demonic. And, college people are playing these games, and they have now been made into electronic games and enhanced by computers to make them all the more interesting. And, in order to play these games, so many times people have to act out things like murder, and rape, and other things that are forbidden by the Word of God, and learn how to practice the dark, hidden occult powers of evil. These are the games that little children this past Christmas received for Christmas. The devil is in this thing of entertainment and media.

Don Wildmon—and I thank God for Don Wildmon; he’s a Methodist minister from Tupelo who’s founded the National Federation for Decency—Don and I correspond. Recently, Don wrote me a letter. He said, “Adrian, our most recent monitoring of network television, when compared with a similar period, during 1982 indicated”—are you ready for this?—“that profanity increased 140%.” That’s in one year. Profanity—140%. Violence was up twenty-two percent! Sex was up thirty-five percent! And, Don said eighty-five percent of all sex that is shown on television—eighty-five percent—is outside of marriage—illicit sex.
Now, what I’m trying to say, ladies and gentlemen, is that the devil is a destructive force. Do you know what Paul Harvey said? Paul Harvey said this is what he would do if he were the devil. While I’m reading this, I’m aware of the fact that some of you who are watching by television will be leaving us. Now, precious friend, if you don’t know Christ, you can come to know the Lord Jesus Christ as your Personal Savior. There’s a friend standing by who wants to pray with you and lead you to Jesus. If you’ll call the number placed on the television screen, a friend will lead you to Jesus Christ.

Paul Harvey is a radio commentator. Paul Harvey said, “If I were the devil, I would want to engulf the world in darkness. I would have a third of its real estate and four-fifths of its population, but I would not be happy until I had seized the ripest apple on the tree. So, I should set about however necessary to take over the United States.” Paul Harvey went on to say, “I would begin with a campaign of whispers. With the wisdom of a serpent, I would whisper that the Bible is a myth. I would convince them that man created God instead of the other way around. I would whisper, ‘What is bad is good, and what is good is square.’ In the ears of the young married, I would whisper that ‘work is debasing, that cocktail parties are good for you.’ I would caution them not to be extreme in religion, in patriotism, in moral conduct. And, to the old, I would teach them to pray, to say after me, ‘Our father, which art in Washington.’ Then, I would organize—I would educate authors how to make lurid literature exciting so that anything else would appear dull, uninteresting. I would threaten television with dirtier movies and vice versa. I would pedal narcotics to whom I could. I would sell alcohol to ladies and gentlemen of distinction, and then I would tranquilize the rest with pills. If I were the devil, I would encourage schools to refine young intellects but to neglect to discipline emotions—let those run wild. I would designate an atheist to front for me before the high courts, and I would get preachers to say, ‘She’s right.’ I would infiltrate unions and urge more loafing, less work. Idle hands usually work for me. With flattery and promise of power, I would let the courts vote against God in favor of pornography. Then, I would evict God from the courthouse, from the schoolhouse, from the House of Congress. Then, in His own churches, I would substitute psychology for religion and deify science. If I were Satan, I would make the symbol of Easter an egg and the symbol of Christmas a bottle. If I were the devil, I would take from those who have and give to those who want until I had killed the incentive to be ambitious. Then, my police state would force everybody back to work. If I were Satan, I would just keep on doing what I am doing, and the whole world would go to hell as sure as the devil.” That’s what Paul Harvey said.

III. The Devil Is a Defeated Foe
The devil is a destructive force. But, very briefly, the devil is a defeated foe. We need to understand this, ladies and gentlemen. You see, Jesus taught us to pray, “And deliver us from the evil one.” (Matthew 6:13) And, do you know the basis of that? Listen to it; listen to the flow of it: “[And] deliver us from [the] evil [one]: For thine is the kingdom, and [thine is] the power, and [thine is] the glory, for ever.” (Matthew 6:13) The devil may be powerful, but God’s all-powerful. And, the kingdom does not belong to Satan ultimately; it belongs to the Lord Jesus Christ. And, those who follow Satan are going to end up where Satan ends up, for hell is “prepared for the devil and his angels.” (Matthew 25:41)

Now friend, it is not mastery over the devil that you need; it is the master of the devil, the Lord Jesus Christ—to know Christ. And, you can know Him. There are three chords that run through the Bible. One is the dark, somber chord of Satan’s revolt. The other is the crimson red chord of blood redemption. The third is the golden chord of the Second Coming of Jesus Christ. Those are the great themes all through the Bible. And, there is that dark and somber chord of Satan’s revolt and Satan’s power, but thank God there’s the crimson chord. And, when Jesus Christ went to the cross, He said, “Now [is] the prince of this world…cast out.” (John 12:31) Revelation chapter 12, verse 11, speaking of the devil, says, “And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb.” (Revelation 12:11)

Are your sins under the blood of Christ? Are you saved by the power of the blood?

He breaks the power of cancelled sin,
   He sets the prisoner free;
His blood can make the foulest clean,
   His blood availed for me.
   —CHARLES WESLEY

“They overcame him by the blood of the Lamb, and by the word of their testimony”—that is, they were not ashamed to confess Christ openly and publicly and to say, “I believe that Christ is the Son of God”—“and they loved not their lives unto the death.” (Revelation 12:11) That is, they said, “I’m going with God, and I’m going for God with every inch, every ounce, every nerve, every fiber! As much as in me is, I am going for God.”

I want to tell you, ladies and gentlemen, that the devil is a defeated foe to those of us who have received Christ as our personal Savior and Lord. The Bible says that we’re to “[take] the whole armour of God, that [we] may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.” (Ephesians 6:11) Are you saved? You are! Then you need not fear! You need not falter! You need not faint! You need not fall! You can stand in the name of Jesus. Amen?

Conclusion

But now, let me tell you something, folks: you’re not going to stand apart from prayer.
This message is not a message about the devil. This message is a message about prayer. It was Jesus Christ who taught us to pray. And, when Jesus taught us to pray, He said, “Our Father, deliver us from the evil one.” (Matthew 6:13) When Sidlow Baxter was here, Sidlow Baxter said, “Surely the devil must say to his demons, ‘Boys, keep them from prayer because if we can keep them from praying, we can beat them every time. But, if they pray, they’ll beat us every time.’”

Now people, you cannot pray, “Lord, deliver us from evil,” unless you can pray, “Our Father.” Is He your Father? I mean, is God your Father? Have you been born again? You see, when God becomes your Father, Christ becomes your Savior. But, when God is not your Father, Christ is not your Savior and Satan is your master. Do you know the Lord? Are you saved? Satan is a decided fact! “The evil one”—Jesus spoke of him. He is a destructive force. We need to be delivered. But, he is a defeated foe, “for [God] is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever.” (Matthew 6:13) Do you know Him? Do you know Him? Is Jesus Christ real to you? If you were to die right now, are you absolutely certain you’d go to heaven? You can be.

I want every head bowed and every eye closed. While heads are bowed and eyes are closed—no one is stirring and looking around—I want you to forget that you’re in an auditorium with other people, and I want you to put everything else out of your mind for just this moment, and I want you to think of your soul and your relationship with God. And, if this were your last moment right now, if you had to face God right now—you’re ready to be certain that you’re saved—I want you to pray like this: “Dear God, I need you. I want you. Help me to trust you today and to confess you as my Lord and Savior. Lord Jesus, help me not to be ashamed of you”—just say that right now—“Lord Jesus, help me not to be ashamed of you.”

Lord, I pray that all over this building that people will come to Jesus, trusting Him as Lord and Savior. Thank you, Lord.

Introduction
Be finding in God’s Word Matthew chapter 6, if you would, please. We’ve been speaking, teaching, and preaching through the Sermon on the Mount. Jesus Christ, after He gave this wonderful, wonderful sermon, said, “Whenever anyone hears these words of mine and does them, he is like a wise man that built his house upon a rock.” (Matthew 7:24) Therefore, we’re calling this series “Building upon the Rock.” Matthew chapter 6, verse 9: “After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.” (Matthew 6:9–13)

I want to direct your attention this morning to verse 10: “Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.” The title of the message: “The Coming Kingdom of Christ.” Now, is there anyone here who would daresay that today God’s will is being done on earth, and in earth, as it is in heaven? Do you think that the rape, the pillage, the arson, the murder, the blasphemy, the pornography, the debauchery that takes place on earth today is God’s will? No, it is not. But there is coming a day—and our Lord taught us to pray for it—that the will of God will be done in earth as it is in heaven. But right now man has enshrined himself in his nuclear glory, and his effort has been to dethrone God and enthrone himself. It’s almost as if you can hear them praying, “Our brothers which are upon the earth, Hallowed be our name. Our kingdom come, Our will be done, for there is no God in heaven.”

But, friend, there is a God in heaven—and His kingdom is coming. And the title of the message is “The Coming Kingdom of Christ.” Now that brings a question: What is the kingdom of God? What is the kingdom that we’re praying for? May I tell you that it is four things.

I. It Is the Kingdom of God’s Government

Number one: The kingdom is the kingdom of God’s government. Do you have it? It is the kingdom where God rules. It is the kingdom where God reigns. The kingdom of God is the place of God’s sovereign authority. And therefore, what is the purpose of all prayer? What is the purpose of prayer? Well, you have it in verse 10: “Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done.” Would you like to be effective in your prayer life? Would you like to pray so as to get your prayers answered? Verse 10 is the absolute key: “Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done.”

What is effective prayer? Effective prayer is not talking God into doing something He doesn’t want to do. Effective prayer is not bending God’s will to fit our will. Effective prayer is finding the will of God and getting in on it. “Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done.” And so, friend, there is nothing that lies outside the reach of prayer but that which lies outside the will of God.

Now, put in your margin this verse—1 John 5, verses 14 and 15. And here is the key to answered prayer. Listen to it. The Apostle John picks up on what the Lord Jesus Christ said here in Matthew 6, verse 10. And here is what the Apostle John had to say—1 John chapter 5, verses 14 and 15: “And this is the confidence that we have in him…”—are you listening?—“this is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask any thing according to his…”—what?—“his will, he heareth us: and if we know that he hear us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions we desired of him.” (1 John 5:14–15)

You say, “Do you mean, Pastor Rogers, that the only prayer that I can pray is the prayer that is in the will of God? Well, that leaves out so many things.” No, friend, praying in the will of God does not mean fewer blessings for you. Praying in the will of God means more blessings for you. You see, God wants for you what you would want for yourself if you had enough sense to want it. God loves us, and so therefore the kingdom of God is the kingdom of God’s government, where we pray, “Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done.”

Now that brings us to another question. The Apostle John said, “If we ask anything according to His will, He hears us.” (1 John 5:14) And Jesus said we are to pray for His will to be done. How do we know His will? Do we just guess at it? Does God say, “Well, you may hit it lucky: maybe it’s my will, and maybe it’s not”? No. God has given us principles whereby we can know His will and know that we’re praying in His will. May I tell you what they are? Three. Here are the principles so you can know that you’re praying in the will of God.

A. The Surrender Principle

Number one is the surrender principle. Now you’ll never know God’s will until you’re willing to know God’s will; until you’re willing to say, “Thy will be done”—“Not my will, but thine, be done.” (Luke 22:42) There is the surrender principle. Have you completely, totally, surrendered to Him? The Apostle James says, “Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your lusts.” (James 4:3)

I told you some weeks ago about being in Romania and talking with Pastor Joseph Tson, a true intellectual. He was my translator. After a while, after I felt comfortable with him, and he with me, I said, “Joseph, would you just tell me something?” He said, “What, Adrian?” I said, “You’ve been to America many times. Tell me about American Christianity.” He said, “Well, you asked me to, and I’ll tell you.” He said, “Adrian, the key word in American Christianity is commitment.” I said, “Well, that’s good; isn’t it, Joseph? He said, “No, that is not good.” He said, “Commitment is a relatively new word in the United States.” He said, “Oh, it can be found in some dictionaries, but it came into usage in the sixties, and American Christians have gotten stronger and stronger and stronger in using the word commitment.” I said, “Well, what’s wrong with commitment?” He said, “I’ll tell you what’s wrong. When a new word comes in, it always moves out an old word; it replaces an old word.” He said, “I searched to find out what was the old word that commitment has replaced, and the old word is surrender.” Pay attention. The new word: commitment; the old word: surrender. “Now when you commit, you are in control. The thing that you commit to may be good and fine and noble and wonderful. You may commit yourself to soul winning. You may commit yourself to prayer. You may commit yourself to sacrifice. That’s all well and good. But who decides? You do. ‘I am committing myself to this.’ You may commit yourself to lose weight. You may commit yourself to do many things. You decide to do something, and therefore you commit yourself to it. But in surrender, there’s a difference. In commitment, you decide what you’re going to do, and commit yourself to it. When you surrender, you lift both hands, and say, ‘I’m under your control.’”

Do you see the difference? Do you see the difference? In commitment, you’re in control. In surrender, He’s in control. He is the king, and He is supreme, and what we do is to say, “Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done”—“I am under your control.”
Why does anybody do anything? Why does anyone serve another? A son? Because he wants to. A servant? Because he needs to. But a subject? Because he must. God is sovereign. God is absolutely sovereign. Do you want to know the will of God? Do you? I mean, do you? Would you like to pray and know that you’re in the will of God? Well, God does not reveal His will to rebels. Have you ever totally, honestly, sincerely, with all of your heart, with every inch, with every ounce, with every nerve, every fiber, as much as in you is, said, “Thy will be done”? Have you? Then, if you have not, don’t complain that you don’t know the will of God. Don’t you think that it is an absurdity, and don’t you think it’s a contradiction, and really don’t you think it’s an insult, to say, “I want to know the will of God, but I’m not willing to do the will of God”?

B. The Scripture Principle

You see, step number one, in knowing the will of God, is the surrender principle. Another principle: the Scripture principle. Now, let me give you another verse of Scripture. Here Jesus says in John chapter 15 and verse 7, “If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.” (John 15:7) “Ye abide in me”: that’s surrender. “My words abide in you”: that’s Scripture. You take the Word of God. This book contains the will of God. This book is the Word of God. This print is God’s revelation to you. It is God’s Word to you.

Do you want to know God’s will? Do you? You say, “Oh, I’d like to know the will of God.” Test: How much time do you spend in this book? Do you think God really believes you when you say, “I want to know the will of God,” and yet you don’t read the one book above all books that God has specifically written to show you His will, to reveal His will to you, to unfold His will to you? Don’t you think that there’s a little bit of hypocrisy in a person who says, “God, I want more than anything else to do your will,” and yet he does not study the Word of God to know what the will of God is?

C. The Spirit Principle

Third principle. First one: the surrender principle. Second one: the Scripture principle. The third one: the Spirit principle. Now, listen. Let me give you another verse of Scripture—Romans chapter 8, verses 26 and 27: “Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what we should pray for as we ought: but the Spirit [himself] maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered. And he that searcheth the hearts knoweth what is the mind of the Spirit.”—now here’s the key, Romans 8:27—“because he maketh intercession for the saints according to the will of God.” (Romans 8:26–27)

There it is: The surrender principle: “I want to know your will.” The Scripture principle: it’s found in the Word of God. The Spirit principle: the Holy Spirit of God helps you to understand the Word of God, and helps you to articulate your prayer in the will of God. That’s the way to pray: “Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done.”

You see, “This is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask any thing according to his will, he heareth us.” (1 John 5:14) “Thy will be done.” Answered prayer is not for rebels. The prayer that gets to heaven is the prayer that starts in heaven. We just close the circuit. You see, you can be absolutely certain when you’re praying in the Spirit, any prayer that the Holy Spirit lays upon your heart will be answered, because the prayer that originates in heaven certainly is not going to be rejected there. That’s the reason it is so important. Over and over again the Bible tells us to pray in the Spirit. And to pray in the Spirit, you must be filled with the Spirit. And you’re not going to be filled with the Spirit until you surrender. It is all linked together.

I heard a beautiful definition of prayer. I love it. It’s my favorite definition of prayer. May I give it to you? “Prayer is the Holy Spirit finding a desire in the heart of the Father, and putting that desire into our hearts, and then sending it back to heaven in the power of the cross.” Did you get it? “Prayer is the Holy Spirit finding the desire in the heart of the Father, putting that desire into our hearts, and then sending it back to heaven in the power of the cross.”

II. It Is the Kingdom of God’s Grace

So, what is the kingdom of God? It is the kingdom of God’s government: “Thy will be done.” The second thing I want you to notice as we talk about the kingdom of God: Not only is it the kingdom of God’s government, but it is the kingdom of God’s grace. Look, if you will now, in Hebrews chapter 4. Take your Bibles and turn to Hebrews chapter 4. Let me show you a wonderful passage that I meditated on this morning and I think really just brought tears to my eyes as I thought about it as I prayed myself. Look in Hebrews chapter 4 and verse 16: “Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace,”—don’t you love that? A throne. It speaks of His kingdom. It’s speaks of His rule. Where does He rule from? What kind of a kingdom is it? What kind of a throne is it? Is it a throne of law? Is it a throne of judgment? No. It is a throne of grace. Two more wonderful words could not be put together: a throne and grace. The kingdom of God is the kingdom of God’s government. But it is also the kingdom of God’s grace. Because if it were only the kingdom of God’s government; if all we could think about is the awesome majesty and glory and splendor and unapproachableness of the thrice-holy God, how could we ever dare come? But the Bible says that we can come right on. We come right to the throne of grace—“that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need.” (Hebrews 4:16)

You say, do my faults keep me from coming to a throne of grace? No, my dear friend, it’s your faults that bring you to throne of grace. It’s your need that brings you. Don’t stay away because you have faults. Come and find mercy. Don’t stay away because you’re weak. Come and find help. When you’re praying for His kingdom to come, not only is it a kingdom of God’s government; it is the kingdom of God’s grace. It’s not a throne for receiving tribute. It is a throne for dispensing grace. And, you see, my friend, the grace of God does not do away with the sovereignty of God and God’s government; it only magnifies it.

Years and years ago I read somewhere of a woman who lived in a foreign country where they had a monarchy. And this woman was a very poor woman, and she had a daughter, and the daughter had gotten sick. The daughter was at home, and this poor woman had to go out and do her work. But somehow the sick daughter had said to her mother, “Mother, do you know what I think would make me feel better? If I just had some fresh fruit to eat.” Fruit was very expensive, almost unobtainable. “If I just had some fresh luscious grapes, Mama, I just think they would make me feel so much better.”

That mother had that in her mind as she went down the cobblestone streets; and as she was passing a very impressive building, a mansion-like building, a palace, she looked, and there was an iron fence, and behind it was a garden, and in that garden was a trellis, and from that trellis there was suspended a gorgeous grape vine, and on that grape vine there were just coming down in big clusters beautiful grapes. And she thought, “Oh, I have a few shillings. Maybe they would sell me a cluster of grapes.” And she noticed that the gate was open, and almost fearfully she pushed the gate open. And she went into this most gorgeous beautiful garden, and she was looking at those grapes, and someone said to her, “What are you doing in here?” She turned around, and there was the gardener. He said, “Did someone leave the gate open? You must get out of here in a hurry. You have no right; you have no business in this place. You must leave.” She said, “I was not trying to steal anything. I just wanted to know if perhaps I could buy a bunch of grapes for my daughter who is sick.” He said, “I’m sorry. These grapes are not for sale. You must leave. This is the king’s garden.”

And as she turned in her fear and started out to the gate, she heard another voice saying, “Wait a minute! Stop right there!” She turned around to look into the face of her king. He said, “Tell me again, what were you doing here?” She said, “Sovereign, I’m sorry. I did not mean to intrude. I did not know this was the palace. I am sorry. All I wanted was a bunch of grapes for my daughter who is sick. Please.” And he said, “Wait a minute. Don’t be afraid. It’s all right. Come here.” He said, “Gardener, hand me those shears.” He said, “Hold out your apron.” She held it out, and he began to flip off big clusters of grapes and load her down one cluster after another. She said, “Oh, no, that’s more than I can pay for.” “Oh,” he said, “you cannot buy these grapes.” “Oh,” she said, “but I must pay for them.” And he said, “If you must pay for them, you cannot have them. The only way that you can have them is to receive them as a gift from your king.
The king’s grapes are not for sale.”

Friend, I want to tell you, when I heard that story, I thought how much like the grace of God that is! If you want God’s grace, you may have it, but you’ll never buy it. “Not by works of righteousness that we have done, but according to His mercy, He saves us.” (Titus 3:5) “For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is”—what?—“the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast.” (Ephesians 2:8–9)

The king’s grapes, and the king’s grace, and the king’s goodness are not for sale. What is this kingdom? It’s a kingdom of God’s government: He is sovereign. But it is a kingdom of God’s grace: we come to a throne of grace that we may obtain mercy and find grace to help in time of need.

I was so blessed when precious Emily stood here and sang, “Amazing grace, how sweet the sound that saved a wretch like me,” and that wonderful stanza that says, “When we’ve been there ten thousand years, bright shining as the sun, we’ve no less days to sing God’s praise than when we’ve first begun.” The Bible says in Ephesians that in the ages to come He’s going to show us the riches of His grace. (Ephesians 2:7)

One of these days, folks, all of the vain toys of this world won’t mean very much to you. When the setting sun of your life mingle with the purpling dawn of eternity, and you’ve laid down the toils and the toys of this world, and your loved ones stand around your casket, all that will really matter then is God’s amazing grace.

III. It Is the Kingdom of God’s Goodness

“Thy kingdom come.” It is the kingdom of God’s government. It is the kingdom of God’s grace. I’ll tell you what else it is: It is the kingdom of God’s goodness. When you’re praying for the kingdom to come, for God’s will to be done on earth as it is in heaven, what kind of a kingdom is it? Let me give you another verse to put in your margin. Are you ready for it? Romans chapter 14 and verse 17. I meditated on this this morning, and I can tell you what a blessing it is: “For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost.” (Romans 14:17) That’s what the kingdom of God is. It is a kingdom of God’s government. It is the kingdom of God’s grace. And it is the kingdom of God’s goodness—“righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost.”

Are you in the kingdom? Are you? Well, if you’re in the kingdom, these are three marks that you’re in the kingdom. Number one: righteousness. Do you want to know whether a man is saved or not? Just see if he’s righteous. Is he righteous? I don’t care how loud you shout, or how high you jump: I want to know how straight you walk when you come back down. Has this thing called Christianity changed your life? If your religion hasn’t changed your life, you had better change your religion; you don’t have the New Testament religion. The kingdom of God is not meat and drink; it is righteousness. But not only righteousness, peace—peace with God, and the peace of God, and peace that passes understanding: that’s the kingdom that you’re praying for to come. And it’s the kingdom of joy.

Let me go back to Joseph Tson for a moment. When I was preparing the sermon, I thought of what he told me also. He said, “Adrian, back in the seventies, I was in my studies; I was pastoring a church near Bucharest, and I was in my home when suddenly at my door there came seven secret police, the Securitate, the communist soldiers. They came into my house and said, ‘We’re going to search your house.’ And,” he said, “they turned my house upside down. They were looking for any kind of literature, for anything that I might have in my house that they could interpret as being against the government, so they could put me in prison, or maybe put me to death. And they went through our house, just looking, turning everything over.” You know, they don’t have the kind of a constitution we have to keep soldiers just from breaking into your house and searching.

“And then,” he said, “they went into my study and began to go through every book that I had.” Now, you know, a pastor’s books are very precious to him. They’re like friends to him. “They went into my study and they began to go through my books, looking for something that could be interpreted as being against the government, perhaps some kind of anti-communist literature that might be there. And they wanted to use it all for evidence against me, so they took every book and made me sign on a flyleaf that this was found in my study. One book after another they were taking down: I had to sign them.” He said, “It was miserable.” He said, “I had not signed many books when they laid a book before me. You know what the title of the book was? Joy Unspeakable and Full of Glory. And,” he said, “you cannot believe what a miserable day this was—and there was the title of that book: Joy Unspeakable and Full of Glory. And the subtitle was this: Are You Experiencing It Now? Joy Unspeakable and Full of Glory: Are You Experiencing It Now?”

And he said, “O God, your joy, yes, I am experiencing it now. Greater than all of this is your joy.” He said, “I knew that the joy of the Lord was to be my strength, and I said to Elizabeth,”—Elizabeth, that’s his wife—“‘These men are guests in our home. Make some coffee for them, would you, please, and serve them coffee.’ And,” he said, “from that moment on, I was in control. What else was happening? I was in control, and my King was on His throne, and the mark that my King was on His throne was joy. And it was my strength.”

IV. It Is the Kingdom of God’s Glory
The kingdom of God: “The kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost.” (Romans 14:17) That’s what you’re praying for when you pray, “Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come”: the kingdom of God’s government—He is sovereign; the kingdom of God’s grace—He is merciful; the kingdom of God’s goodness—He is so good. “The kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost.” But there’s one last thing I want to mention that you’re praying for when you’re praying, “Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done”—where?—“in earth, as it is in heaven.” That prayer has not yet been answered. But, friend, it will be answered, because the kingdom of God is the kingdom of God’s government; it is the kingdom of God’s grace; it is the kingdom of God’s goodness; and it is the kingdom of God’s glory.

Let me tell you something, friend. God is going to be glorified here upon this earth. He is going to rule here on earth. The babe of Bethlehem is going to be the sovereign King of the whole earth. When Jesus Christ came into this world, the angel made this birth announcement. Put this verse down in your margin—Luke 1, verses 32 and 33. I want you to listen to it. Here’s what the angel said about the baby that was born: “He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest: and the Lord God shall give unto him”—listen—“the throne of his father David:”—the throne of David— “and he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end.” (Luke 1:32–33)

Now when he says “the house of Jacob,” he’s talking there not about spiritual Israel, but literal Israel—“the house of Jacob.” Jacob is never a term that is used for spiritual Israel, always for natural Israel. We’re talking here about the earthly reign of the Lord Jesus Christ. Did you know that Jesus Christ is going to rule one more time here on earth? Did you know that? I mean, literally rule here on earth where He was born, here on earth where He ministered, here on earth where He was crucified, here on earth where He was buried, here on earth where He rose, here on earth where He ascended; to this earth Jesus Christ is literally, actually, visibly, bodily coming back to this earth. Do you believe that? I hope you do.

Friend, He is going to reign on earth. “For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the LORD, as the waters cover the sea.” (Habakkuk 2:14) That’s what the prophet said. Do you think that Jesus Christ would have taught us to pray this prayer if it would not have been answered? His kingdom has not come yet on earth. His will is not being done on earth. But it shall be, and it will be, because our Lord taught us to pray that. Today Jesus Christ is an outcast in the world of government, in the world of education, and in society.

May I show you my favorite psalm? At least it is this morning. Turn to Psalm 2. If this does not set your heart on fire, your wood is very wet. Psalm 2: “Why do the heathen rage…”—I’ll tell you why. Rage is what you do when you don’t know what else to do—
“Why do the heathen rage, and the people imagine a vain thing?” Vain means “foolish.”
“The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the LORD, and against his anointed…”—that means “against His Christ”; that’s the Hebrew word in the Old Testament for the New Testament word Christ—“The kings of the earth”—the high muckety-mucks—“set themselves,”—I see them as they square their jaws in rebellion—“and the rulers take counsel together,”—they pool their ignorance—“against the LORD, and against His [Christ], saying, Let us break their bands asunder, and cast away their cords from us.” We can’t even post the Ten Commandments in our schoolrooms. You can give out condoms. I’ll tell you one thing, dear friend: This condom nation is headed for condemnation. “Let us break their bands asunder.” “We don’t want the Lord, and we don’t want His Christ.” Well, continue to read verse 4: “He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh:”—it’s not the laugh of humor; it’s the laugh of irony—“the LORD shall have them in derision…”—they’ve laughed at Him. He is the butt of the late night jokes. They are laughing their way into hell, but they won’t laugh their way out once they get there—“the LORD shall have them in derision. Then shall he speak unto them in his wrath, and vex them in his sore displeasure.” There is coming a day of wrath. But here’s the beautiful part. In my Bible I’ve got one little word circled in red. It’s verse 6: “Yet…”—boy, that’s a great word—“Yet…”—in spite of the ravings and the ramblings and the mouthings of the agnostics, the atheists, the humanists, the ungodly, the perverts—“Yet have I set my king upon my holy hill of Zion.” (Psalm 2:1–6)

Don’t you love that? God has set His heart on this, my dear friend. Yet when God gets ready to enthrone the Lord Jesus, like people playing checkers, He’s going to move His Son into king’s row, and say, “Crown Him.” “Yet have I set my king upon my holy hill of Zion.” I love that. Do you know what the “holy hill of Zion” is? That’s where they crucified Him. Friend, that’s where He’s going to reign. The Lord Jesus in Zion is going to reign. God has set His heart on it. How exciting is this! When we’re praying, “Thy kingdom come,” it is the kingdom of God’s glory.

Since I gave you my favorite psalm for this morning, let me give you my favorite verse for this morning—1 Timothy chapter 6 and verse 15: “Which in his times he shall shew, who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings, and Lord of lords.” (1 Timothy 6:15) When Jesus was carrying His cross, the women were standing there weeping and lamenting, and Jesus, carrying that cross, stopped and looked up, and said, “Don’t weep for me; weep for yourselves.” (Luke 23:28) “This is your hour.” (Luke 22:53) “My hour has not yet come.” (John 7:6, 8) “This is your hour.” “My hour has not yet come.” His time is coming. “Which in His time, in His hour, He shall show who is the King of kings, and the Lord of lords, the blessed and only Potentate.”

His kingdom, my friend, is a kingdom of glory. And I love what Brother Jim sang this morning about the Lamb enthroned in Revelation chapter 11 and verse 15: “And the seventh angel sounded; and there were great voices in heaven, saying, The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ; and he shall reign for ever and ever.” (Revelation 11:15)

Friend, He is not going to a four-year inauguration. He is going to an eternal coronation. Hallelujah! He shall reign! He shall reign! He shall reign! He shall reign forever and ever and ever and ever!

Jesus shall reign where'er the sun
Does his successive journeys run;
His kingdom stretch from shore to shore,
Till moons shall wax and wane no more.

—ISAAC WATTS

Conclusion

He has a kingdom that is a kingdom of God’s government. It is a kingdom of God’s grace. It is the kingdom of God’s goodness. And it is the kingdom of God’s glory. I can hardly wait for the King to come—“Even so, come, Lord Jesus” (Revelation 22:20)—when we’ll do what we sang about in that first hymn: “Crown Him with many crowns, the Lamb upon His throne.”

Let’s pray. Lord, we want to join the saints of the ages to pray, as you’ve taught us to pray: “Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.” In the name of Jesus. Amen.

Introduction

There was an evangelist of yesteryear who was the counterpart of Billy Graham today, a greatly used and anointed man of God. And this is what he said. He said, “There’s one sin that Christians have more difficulty with than any other, and there’s one sin that is holding back the power of God more than any other sin in the life of Christians.” Now he was a wise and intelligent man, and a man gifted of God. Would you like to know what that sin is? He said, “It is the sin of an unforgiving spirit.”

Look in Matthew chapter 6 and verse 9: “After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread.” And now we come to our text. Look at it: “And forgive us our debts, as”—in the same manner, like—“we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever.” (Matthew 6:9–13) And now, notice verse 14: “For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you: but if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.” (Matthew 6:14–15) When you forgive, you set a prisoner free. And then you discover that prisoner is you. “The Freedom of Forgiveness.”

There are two great enemies that come against the human soul—the human spirit, our psyche. One enemy is guilt, and the other is bitterness. Do you have it? Guilt and bitterness. So many people in this world are absolutely driven into the ground spiritually, psychologically, and physically by guilt and bitterness. They’re kept in a prison: a prison called guilt, and a prison called bitterness. Now the verse of Scripture that we’re dealing with today deals with those two things. It deals with guilt: “And forgive us our debts.” And it deals with bitterness: “as we forgive our debtors.” Both of those problems are dealt with right here. When we’re forgiven, we’re set free from the prison of guilt. He breaks the power of canceled sin. He sets the prisoner free. And when we forgive others, then we’re free from the prison of bitterness.

There are few forms of dissipation that will do more damage to the human soul and the human body than the deception of guilt and bitterness, and so we’re dealing today with those things under the title “The Freedom of Forgiveness.” One of God’s greatest gifts to you and to me is forgiveness, because, you see, the Bible calls our sins a debt—a debt. Look at this verse of Scripture, and see how it delineates our sins. Verse 12: “And forgive us our debts.” Our sins have put us in debt to God our Creator. We’ve been created to serve Him, to love Him—and we’ve not done it. We’ve been brought into heaven’s court, and we have been sued for damages, and we cannot pay, and we’re cast into a debtors’ prison. And the only way we’ll be set free is to be forgiven.

And then, not only that; but, friend, we must also then forgive. Now, when you forgive anybody, you cancel the debt. That’s what forgiveness is. Sin is a debt. Forgiveness is the canceling of the debt. Actually the word forgive here means “to bear the burden.” Now, if you owed me a thousand dollars, and you had nothing to pay, and could not pay, and I said, “Very well, then, I forgive the debt,” that cost me a thousand dollars. It costs to forgive. Sin is a debt. When the debt is forgiven, the forgiver pays.

Now salvation may be free to you, but it costs the Lord Jesus. I want you to just jot in your margin this text—Ephesians chapter 1 and verse 7. The Bible speaks of Jesus, “In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins,”—now, listen—“according to the riches of his grace.” (Ephesians 1:7) Our Lord paid through grace—out of His riches—for my forgiveness. That’s the reason we say grace is what? God’s Riches At Christ’s Expense. That’s how I’m forgiven. God doesn’t overlook my sin. God Himself pays the debt of my sin, and on the cross the Lord Jesus with His blood paid the debt of my sin. God never overlooks. Somebody must pay. Forgiveness is the paying of the debt that another cannot pay. “Forgive us our debts.” Now, when God forgives me, then God says I must forgive others as I have been forgiven. And, according to this verse, if I withhold forgiveness to someone else after having been forgiven, then I dam up the stream of God’s forgiveness, and that stream stops until I am willing to forgive those who have sinned against me.

I. The Compelling Reasons for Forgiveing

Now, with all of that as an introduction, let me talk to you, first of all, about the compelling reasons for forgiving—the compelling reasons for forgiving. I’m not talking about being forgiven now, but if you have been forgiven, look again at our verse of Scripture. The Bible says this: “After this manner we’re to pray,”—verse 9 says that; and then, verse 12: “Forgive us our debts as”—in the same manner—“we forgive other people.”

May I give you four reasons why you ought to forgive? Now, if there’s somebody who’s done you wrong—perhaps it’s your parents, perhaps your husband, perhaps your wife, perhaps your employer, perhaps some employee, perhaps a brother or sister, perhaps a neighbor: somebody who has done you wrong—and our Lord has taught you to pray, “God forgive me as I forgive them,” you ask yourself this question: Why should I forgive? Four reasons. Here they are.

A. The Grace Factor

The first is what I want to call the grace factor—the grace factor. You should forgive because you have been forgiven. You should forgive because God has so willingly forgiven you. Here’s our verse—Ephesians chapter 4 and verse 32: “And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you.” (Ephesians 4:32) God has forgiven you. God has shown grace to you. And therefore you must show grace to one another. Sam Jones, another evangelist of yesteryear said—and I quote—“I had a hard time forgiving people until I made up my mind I wasn’t going to fall out with anyone until he treated me worse than I treated Jesus. We crucified the Lord Jesus Christ.”

And so, reason number one that we need to be forgiving is that we have been forgiven. We have experienced the grace of God. And we’re to be kind, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven us.
B. The Guilt Factor

Reason number two: not only the grace factor, but the guilt factor. And the guilt factor means this: that, if we do not forgive, then no longer can we be forgiven. We should be forgiving, because unforgiveness shuts out the forgiveness of God. Verse 12 teaches us that an unforgiving spirit is unforgivable. And the person who will not forgive destroys the bridge over which he himself must travel.

Have you ever thought of this prayer, how dangerous it is? Have you ever thought that this is a dangerous prayer? It is. What you have said is, “God, treat me like I treat other people. Forgive me, as I forgive others.” Do you forgive others? If you don’t, you’ve asked God to deal with you the same way: “Forgive me the way I forgive others.” “Well,” you say, “I’ll forgive her, but I’ll never have any more to do with her.” God says, “All right, I’ll forgive you, and never have any more to do with you.” You say, “Well, I’ll forgive, but I can’t forget.” God says, “All right. But I won’t forget.” You see what you’re praying? You’re saying to God, “God, I want you to deal with me the way that I deal with other people.”

C. The Grief Factor

Why should you forgive? The grace factor: you’ve received grace. Why should you forgive? The guilt factor: if you don’t, your guilt will remain. Then, there’s a third reason that you ought to forgive friend—and that’s the grief factor—the grief factor. You see, you should forgive others, because, if you do not, you will have personal harm and grief that will come to you. An unforgiving spirit keeps you in prison. You say, “Well, I’m not going to let them off the hook.” Our sense of justice cries out, and says we dare not forgive: “I will not let them get by with this. I’ll keep them on the hook.” They’re not the only one kept on the hook. You yourself, by an unforgiving spirit, are hooked with them.

Why should you forgive them? Well, number one: for Jesus’ sake. God, for Christ’s sake, forgave you. Can you not for Christ’s sake, forgive them? God forgave them. Can you not, for Christ’s sake, forgive them? Our God, for Christ’s sake, forgave you. Can you not, for Christ’s sake, forgive them? But not only for Christ’ sake; but for their sake. You see, forgiveness is not giving to a person what they deserve; forgiveness is giving to a person what they need—but not only to do it for Christ’s sake, and for their sake; do it for your sake. Did you hear that? For your sake. An unforgiving spirit, bitterness, will keep you in a prison of your own making. And when you refuse to let them off the hook, I remind you that you stay on the hook with them.

You say, “Well, I’ll just get even.” Will you get even? Here you are up here. Here’s somebody wicked down here. And they have done you wrong. You’re going to get even, are you? You see where you are? When you get even, you come down to where they are. When you forgive, you bring them to where you are. “Well,” you say, “then I’ll not just get even; I’ll continue to hate. I won’t take revenge; I’ll just continue to hate.” Do you know what you do? You take an acid into your system when you continue to hate. And bitterness is an acid that destroys its container. Again, there are few forms of dissipation that will do more harm to you than resentment and bitterness. Resentment is slow suicide.

D. The Gain Factor

Why should you forgive? The grace factor: you’ve been forgiven. Why should you forgive? The guilt factor: if you don’t forgive, you dam up the stream of continuing forgiveness. And if you don’t forgive, the grief factor: you will continue to have grief, and that hurt you will continue to hurt you until you release it and let it go. The fourth reason you ought to forgive: the gain factor. Not only do you lose those things that have wounded you—you let them go, you release them; but you gain your brother. The person who has wounded you is either a brother, or a potential brother—a sister, or a potential sister.

Matthew chapter 18 and verse 15: “Moreover if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother.” (Matthew 18:15)

A brother is a precious thing. You’re in Matthew chapter 5—look in verse 24: “Leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way; first be reconciled to thy brother.” Matthew 5:24: “Be reconciled to thy brother.” When you forgive another, then you gain a brother. How sad it is when brothers and sisters fail to forgive!

1. Unforgiveness Disgraces the Father

Do you know what that does? It disgraces the Father. When my children do not love one another, it is a disgrace to me.

2. Unforgiveness Discourages the Saints

Not only does it disgrace the Father; it discourages the saints. There are few things that hurt a church worse than an unforgiving spirit.

3. Unforgiveness Disgusts the Lost

It also disgusts the lost. Unsaved people are quick to see when there is a rift in a family, when there’s a rift in the church, when there is a tear in the fellowship; they’re quick to point it out. And many of them are not saved because of the sin in our hearts and in our lives. And that sin is so often the sin of an unforgiving spirit.

4. Unforgiveness Delights the Devil

What does it do? It disgraces the Father. It discourages the saints. It disgusts the lost. It delights the devil. The devil, more than anybody else, loves to see brethren with an unforgiving spirit.
The Bible says, “Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!” (Psalm 133:1) The Bible says that God hates that one that sows discord among brethren. (Proverbs 6:16–19) You say, “Well, pastor, he’s not a brother. He’s not a sister. The person who has sinned against me is an unbeliever.” Well then, he’s all the more the object of your pity, because, if he’s an unbeliever, not only has he done wrong, but he’s blind, and he does not have the grace and the power that you have. If he is a brother, you’re in the same body. And when you harm him, you harm you. And he’s to be the object of your love. If he’s not a brother, he’s lost, and on his way to hell. And you don’t need to drive him further that way. He needs more of your love.

What I’m saying is there’s the gain factor. We have everything to gain, nothing to lose, by forgiving someone else. And I have given you four reasons why you ought to forgive. You see, the person that you forgive is more than a person who has hurt you. He is a person who needs you. And grace is not giving to people what they deserve; it is giving to people what they need. Those are the compelling reasons.

II. The Costly Requirements for Forgiving

Secondly, I want to talk to you, not only about the compelling reasons, but I want to talk to you about the costly requirements for forgiving. When I talk to you about forgiving someone else, I’m talking to you about something that is extremely costly. Remember what we said: somebody pays—somebody pays. Forgiveness is the canceling of a debt. And when you forgive your debtor, then you pay up.

What are the costly requirements for forgiving? Well, the model for forgiving is Jesus. Remember again Ephesians 4:32: “And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God, for Christ’s sake, hath forgiven you.” That’s the model. Now, take that as a model: how you got forgiven, and that’s the way that you are to forgive. The kind of price that heaven paid is the kind of price that you’re to pay.

A. Forgive Freely

Therefore, number one, as we talk about the costly requirements: You are to forgive freely—freely. The Bible says, “Freely ye have received, freely give.” (Matthew 10:8) Now some people forgive after they’ve collected their revenge. They’re wronged. They want the individual to know that they’ve been wronged. They want the individual to know how badly he has hurt them. Therefore they criticize, they castigate, they scold, they freeze out; they do everything that they can do to cause that individual to squirm like a worm in hot ashes. They roast them. They pummel them. They excoriate them. They do all they can do, and then, finally, after they’ve had their pound of flesh, they say, “Well, I forgive”—“I forgive.” And the forgivee feels like saying, “Never mind. I’ve already paid.” You are to forgive freely, not after you extract your pound of flesh. And because you forgive freely, you are to be quick to do it.

The Bible says, “Let all bitterness...be put away from you.” (Ephesians 4:31) Be in a hurry to forgive. If you’re not in a hurry to forgive, that bitterness will become an infection, and will become much more difficult to heal. When Jesus Christ was on the cross, while they were crucifying Him, He was praying, “Father, forgive them”—while they were nailing Him to the cross. (Luke 23:34) The Bible teaches that we’re to be so anxious to forgive a brother, a sister, that we are to seek them out to forgive them; we’re to run them down to forgive them. Matthew chapter 18 and verse 15—the Lord Jesus said, “Moreover if thy brother trespass against thee...” (Matthew 18:15) You say, “He’s the one who did wrong. Let him come to me. If he wants forgiveness, let him come and ask for it.” But Jesus said, “No, you go to him.” Again, He said the same thing: “When you bring your gift to the altar, and remember there that a brother hath ought against thee, you go to him.” (Matthew 5:23–24) Whether you’re in the right, or whether you’re in the wrong; whether you have ought against your brother, or whether you know that your brother has ought against you, you are to take the offensive; you are to go to that individual. Isn’t that what God did in the Garden of Eden? Adam and Eve sinned against God, and the Bible says that God came in the midst of the garden, and God cried out, “Adam, where art thou?” (Genesis 3:9) And that was not the voice of a detective. That was the voice of brokenhearted God.

B. Forgive Fully

What are the costly requirements for forgiveness? Number one: You’re to forgive freely: “Freely you have received, freely give.” Secondly: not only are you to forgive freely, but you are to forgive fully—fully. Now, you know what our pride does many times when a person ask us for forgiveness? We say, “Oh, don’t worry about it. It’s all right. Don’t worry about it. It doesn’t matter.” That is not forgiveness. You know what causes you to say that: “Forget it; it doesn’t matter”? Do you know what causes you to say that? Your pride. It did matter. You were hurt. But you don’t want them to know you’ve been hurt. You want to rise. And so, when you say, “It’s all right; forget it; it doesn’t matter,” no, friend, you have not forgiven that individual fully as you ought.

Forgiveness is not politeness. It is not acting magnanimous about it. It is not acting big. It is not taking it light and making out like it really didn’t matter. When you come to God for forgiveness, God says, “Oh, don’t worry about it”—do you think that’s what God does? Oh, no. Forgiveness is not politeness. Forgiveness is not merely accepting an apology. Or, forgiveness is not forgetting. “Adrian, I have wronged you. I’m sorry.” “Oh, forget it. Forget it.” That’s not forgiveness. As a matter of fact, he can’t forget it, in the true sense of the word, until it is forgiven. And forgetting is never the means of forgiveness; it is the result of forgiveness. Now God remembers our trespasses against us no more only because they have been forgiven.

And, incidentally, if you are going to an individual, and asking that individual to forgive you, make certain that it is forgiveness that you get. Many times we’re too proud to ask for forgiveness, and so we go and say, “You know, if I’m wrong, if I did you wrong, I’m sorry.” Well, in the first place, that’s not a confession: “If I did.” If you know you did, say you did. And then they say, on the other hand, “Well, don’t worry about it. Forget it.” You’re both wrong. You’re wrong for the way you came to that brother, and he’s wrong for the way he dealt with you. You come to him and say, “I was wrong. I did you wrong. Will you forgive me?” And he’ll say, “Don’t worry about it.” No. Say, “I am worried about it. I am concerned. Will you look at me and tell me that you forgive me?” Make certain that it is forgiveness that you get, not merely a glossing over.

C. Forgive Finally

When you forgive, forgive freely: not after that individual has paid his price. Seek them out to forgive them. When you forgive, forgive fully. And don’t just say it didn’t matter, or accept an apology rather than forgiveness. Thirdly, when you forgive, forgive finally. That is, what you forgive is buried in the grave of God’s forgetfulness, never to be brought up again. When God forgives, God forgets. Now that doesn’t mean that God forgets intellectually. God can never learn anything, or forget anything, in that realm. He knows everything. And He always knows everything. And if He ever forgot, in the sense that He couldn’t remember, then He would have changed. He cannot change. He would no longer be omniscient.

When the Bible says God forgets our sins, what does it mean? It means, as He says in the Bible, He remembers them against us no more—He remembers them against us no more. (Psalm 79:8) That doesn’t mean that intellectually He cannot remember. It just means there’s no grudge there. He does not remember that, in the sense of remembering it against it, holding any hostility. And somebody has done you wrong, and you say, “When I forgive, I forget”: does that mean that your mind goes blank? Oh, no. It just means that you remember it against them no more. And it costs to forgive freely. It costs to forgive fully. It costs to forgive finally. That’s probably the biggest test as to whether or not you truly did forgive: whether or not you keep bringing it up again.

I may have told you about the businessman who had everything filed in his office. He was meticulous for keeping records of everything. His secretary came in and said, “Sir, we need to clean out these files. These files are so loaded. We’ve got to get this stuff out of our files. There’s a lot of stuff in here we need to take out and shred. How about letting us clean the files?” “Well,” he said, “I guess you’re right. We’ve got all this stuff. We can’t just keeping saving it. All right, go through it. Clean out the files, shred and burn. But,” he said, “before you do, make a copy of everything.” That’s the way we do. We say, “Well, we’re going to clean the files,” mentally, but somehow we do not truly forget, in the sense that God wants us to forget.

Now, when God forgives me, first of all, God does something for me: He forgives me. And then He does something through me: He teaches me to forgive others. And that costs. It costs Jesus. When God forgave you, do you think God just forgave you? Do you think God was just acting magnanimous, and God said, “Oh, that’s all right”? Go to Calvary, and see if you think God was just acting magnanimous. See the Lord Jesus writhing in agony and blood.

_Blessed Redeemer! Precious Redeemer!
Seems now I see Him on Calvary’s tree;
Wounded and bleeding, for sinners pleading…_

—AVIS B. CHRISTIANSEN

It cost Jesus. But He paid the price. And why did He pay the price? The Bible says, “For the joy that was set before him.” (Hebrews 12:2) He said, “It’s worth it! It is worth it! I will shed my blood for the joy of seeing Adrian Rogers saved”—for that joy, the joy that was set before Him. Forgiveness costs, but it is worth the price.

You say, “All right, pastor. That was Jesus. I don’t have what it takes. If you knew that man who raped my daughter; if you knew the way my husband has squandered everything that we have, and is now running around with another woman; if you knew what my boss did to me; you wouldn’t stand up there and say, ‘Forgive, forgive.’ I can’t do it.” And you’re right. You really can’t.

But you really can. Let me show you how. Turn, if you will, to Philippians chapter 2—just turn to it. Look with me in verse 12: “Wherefore, my beloved, as ye have always obeyed,”—and that’s what we need, is obedience—“not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling.” (Philippians 2:12) He doesn’t say, “Work for your salvation.” You cannot work for your salvation. Salvation is the gift of God.

_I cannot work my soul to save;
For that my Lord has done.
But I will work like any slave
For love of God’s dear Son._

—AUTHOR UNKNOWN
“Work out your...salvation with fear and trembling.”

Well, how do I do it? Look in verse 13: “For it is God which worketh in you”—to do what?—“both to will and to do of his good pleasure.” (Philippians 2:13) So, don’t say you can’t. Don’t say you can’t. It is God that does two things in you. Number one: God gives you the desire. And number two: God gives you the dynamic. It is God who works in you, first of all, to will; and then, to do. When you say, “There’s somebody, and I cannot forgive them: my sense of justice cries out,” well, friend, God is just also. “Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord.” (Romans 12:19) God will do a better job on them than you will, to begin with. Turn it over to God. And don’t take that which is God’s. And begin to work out your salvation, and say, “God, help me to love, and love that person through me.” And God’s love will begin to flow. And that love is supernatural. And it is God that works in you both to will and to do of His good pleasure.

Have you ever heard this proverb: “To err is human; to forgive is divine”? That’s exactly it: “To err is human; to forgive is divine.” We’re to forgive one another, even as God, for Christ’s sake, hath forgiven us.

Corrie Ten Boom, the beautiful Dutch girl, in World War II, her family hid some Jews, in Holland, hid the Jews from the Nazis. Finally, the Ten Boom family was arrested. Corrie and her sister were carried away to a concentration camp. They were brutalized by the Nazi prison guards at Ravensbrück. They were treated to all kinds of indignities. One of the indignities was, every so often they were stripped down naked—young girls—put in the showers, to be deloused. The German guards would stand there and make obscene remarks, and leer at them, and, as it were, to rape them with their eyes—absolutely, totally humiliated; all modesty gone.

Later, Corrie Ten Boom survived. Her sister died. But she survived. She became a radiant Christian, was lecturing on forgiveness, and at the close of that service, a person came forward with a smile on his face. And she looked at him, and it was a face that had been chiseled into her memory, a face that had been indelibly stamped upon her soul. It was the face of the most cruel and wicked and obscene of those guards. And he was now at a Christian meeting. And he came up to her with a smile on his face, and he said, “Corrie, I want you to forgive me,” and put out his hand.

She said, “I froze.” She said, “A chill went over me. And when I saw that man that I knew to be the very mirror of evil, I knew that I did not have the power to forgive him. And I did not want to forgive him. And,” she said, “I breathed a prayer, and said, ‘O God, help me to forgive.’ And,” she said, “as an act of obedience, I put out my hand. And when his hand touched mine, liquid love began to flow through me. And I found out that God’s grace is sufficient. And I forgave.”
How did she do that? Was that Corrie? No. No. It was God working in her both to will and to do of His good pleasure. Well, that brings up a real question. You say, “Pastor Rogers, that prison guard evidently had repented of his sin; he’d given his heart to Christ. What about those who continue to sin against us? What about people who are still living in sin? Are we just to forgive them? While they’re stabbing us, are we to be forgiving them? While they’re kicking us, are we to be forgiving them? While they are stealing from us, are we to be forgiving them?” No. No.

What is forgiveness? You see, there are times when people refuse forgiveness. And in order for there to be forgiveness, there must be repentance. God does not forgive you without repentance. Neither can you forgive someone else without repentance. There’s a lot of soft thinking here, so let me just give you a verse of Scripture to make it very clear. Luke 17, verses 3 and 4—Jesus said—and He was talking to me; He was talking to you—“Take heed to yourselves: If thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him;”—now the word rebuke doesn’t mean “scold him”; it means “tell him you’ve done wrong”—“and if he repent, forgive him.” Do you see it? “And if he repent, forgive him.” Verse 4: “And if he trespass against thee seven times in a day, and seven times in a day turn again to thee, saying, I repent; thou shalt forgive him.” (Luke 17:3–4)

Now it’s very important that you understand that repentance is necessary for forgiveness. God does not forgive unless you repent. You cannot forgive unless another repents. So, what if they refuse repentance? What if they see no need for forgiveness? What do you do? You do exactly the same thing that God has done. You forgive them in your heart. You store up forgiveness for them.

When Jesus Christ died on the cross, He died for every man: those who would repent, and those who would not. And Christ died for all. “And he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world.” (1 John 2:2) And on Calvary, potentially, was that forgiveness. In the heart of God is that forgiveness. It is already there. And so for the brother who will not repent, the sister who sees no need of forgiveness, still in your heart, it must be there. Store it up, already there for them to receive. You cannot forgive them without their repentance, but your forgiveness is already given. All they need to do is receive it. You understand what I’m saying? You must make very certain that you have this forgiveness in your heart.

III. The Certain Results of Forgiving

Quickly now, and I’m finished. I’ve talked to you about the compelling reasons, and the costly requirements. What are the certain results? When you forgive, what are they? There will be three I’ll only mention.
A. Release

First of all, there will be release. Friend, you will set a prisoner free, and find out that prisoner is you. There will be a release. You will unhook yourself from the past, and God will free you up. And no longer will you bear this burden of an unforgiving spirit in this corrosive acid that is destroying your soul. There will be release.

B. Reconciliation

And if he will receive that forgiveness, there will be reconciliation. A brother is a precious thing.

C. Revival

And then there will be—and I thank God for this—there will be revival. You know how we began this service today? We began this service today with a song. And you know what that song was? “Revive Us Again.” You remember singing it: “Revive Us Again.” Do you know what revival is? May I tell you what revival is? Revival is not just getting the roof off, getting right with God; revival is getting the walls down, getting right with one another. That, my friend, is revival. “Forgive us”: get the roof off; “as we forgive one another”: get the walls down. And when we began to do that, there will be release; there will be reconciliation; there will be revival.

Conclusion

It all begins with your getting saved. Do you know the Lord Jesus?

Introduction

I want you to take your Bibles now, as the lights come up, and turn to Matthew chapter 6 and verse 9. Today, we’re continuing our series on “The Principles of Prayer.” And, we have learned last week—and we’re going to underscore it again today—that the only possible way to have victory over the devil is through prayer—no other way. The Lord Jesus clearly taught us that, and we are going to see it today, as we’re thinking today about “The Kingdom of Evil and the Kingdom of God.”

Now, we’re reading Matthew chapter 6 and verse 9. This is the “model prayer,” sometimes called “the Lord’s Prayer,” more aptly called the “disciples’ prayer,” which is a guide to prayer—not primarily a prayer to be rattled off by rote memory, but as a guide to lead us in all of our prayer life. Now, let’s read it again, and then we’re going to note specially verse 13: “After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil”—now remember, I told you last week that that phrase “deliver us from evil” is literally maybe translated “deliver us from the evil one.” And, some translations give it “the kingdom of evil”—“For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.” (Matthew 6:9–13) Now, we are in a battle—a fight to the death—with the kingdom of evil. And, there is set over against that kingdom of evil the kingdom of God. There’s a kingdom of darkness, a kingdom of light. There is a reign of terror, and there is a rule of love. There is the kingdom of death and the kingdom of life. There is the kingdom of Satan and the kingdom of our Lord and His Christ, the Lord Jesus Christ. And, you need to choose sides carefully.

Now, I want you, having read that passage of Scripture, I want you to turn with me to the Old Testament, to the book of Ezekiel—Ezekiel chapter 28—and I want you to notice one of the most amazing passages in all of the Bible. And, it is important for you to have a Bible in your hand this morning, so, therefore, I want you to keep the Bible open in your hand. If you don’t have a Bible, look there in the pew rack before you. There should be one there for you to use. Take it out, and find Ezekiel chapter 28. Now, we’re going to begin reading here in verse 12—Ezekiel 28, verse 12: “Son of man, take up a lamentation upon the king of Tyrus”—now, that is what we would call today “Tyre” there in Lebanon—“upon the king of Tyrus, and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord God; Thou sealest up the sum, full of wisdom, and perfect in beauty. Thou hast been in Eden the garden of God; every precious stone was thy covering, the sardius, topaz, and the diamond, the beryl, the onyx, and the jasper, the sapphire, the emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of thy tabrets and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created. Thou art the anointed cherub that covereth; and I have set thee so: thou wast upon the holy mountain of God; thou hast walked up and down in the midst of the stones of fire. Thou wast perfect in [all] thy ways from the day that thou wast created, till iniquity was found in thee. By the multitude of thy merchandise they have filled the midst of thee with violence, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as profane out of the mountain of God: and I will destroy thee, O covering cherub, from the midst of the stones of fire. Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beauty, thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness: I will cast thee to the ground, I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee. Thou hast defiled thy sanctuaries by the multitude of thine iniquities, by the iniquity of thy traffick; therefore will I bring forth a fire from the midst of thee, it shall devour thee, and I will bring thee to ashes upon the earth in the sight of all them that behold thee. All they that know thee among the people shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and never shalt thou be any more.” (Ezekiel 28:12–19) Ladies and gentlemen, in warfare it is absolutely necessary that we do not underestimate our enemy. We must know our enemy. And, therefore, this passage in the book of Ezekiel is one of the most important passages in all of the Bible. If we would pull the mask away from Satan, if we would see him for what he is and yes, praise God, for what he one day will be…

Now, I want to tell you, you cannot afford to be ignorant because there are two kingdoms: the devil is the prince of this world, but we are citizens of the kingdom of heaven. But, as citizens of the kingdom of heaven, we are living in hostile territory; we are living in enemy territory. Remember what Jesus said to the church there at Thyatira in the book of the Revelation? He said, “I know…where [you dwell], even where Satan’s [throne] is.” (Revelation 2:13) That is, “You’re having to live in hell’s headquarters,” and so are we. So, we’re citizens of another kingdom, but we’re living in hostile territory; we’re living in enemy territory. And, we need to be forewarned because to be forewarned is to be forearmed.

Now, there is a kingdom of evil, and that kingdom of evil has a king. Jesus called him in John 14, verse 30: “the prince of this world.” (John 14:30) He is the dark prince. Now, why, therefore, is a message addressed to the king of Tyre? In verse 12, we’re told to “take up a lamentation [against] the king of [Tyre].” (Ezekiel 28:12) “The king of Tyre” is a cryptic name, a symbolic name, for Satan. The king of Tyre has become a type, a picture, of the devil himself. Now, what I mean is this: there was a literal king of Tyre. And, if you were to read the first eleven verses, you would read a message to that literal king. That literal king that lived there in Lebanon was an egomaniac. He had the idea that he himself was God. And, God spoke a word of judgment to that king, and then God went beyond that king and began to talk about the power behind his throne. You see, there was someone who was making that king behave that way. There was someone who was putting suggestions into that wicked king’s mind, and it was the devil himself. And so, now the devil is being addressed through the king of Tyre.

You’re going to find out that God, in the Scriptures, spoke to the devil through others. For example, there, in the Garden of Eden, God addressed the devil through the serpent. He spoke to the serpent because it was the serpent that spoke for the devil and was the emissary of the devil, and, therefore, God spoke to the serpent and pronounced doom upon the devil.

You’ll find the same thing there in Caesarea Philippi when Peter had just confessed that Jesus was the Christ, the Son of the living God. And then, however, Peter began to rebuke Jesus and to remonstrate with Jesus about going to the cross. And, Jesus turned to Peter, and Jesus said to Peter, “Get thee behind me, Satan: [for] thou art an offence unto me: for thou savourest not the things that be of God, but [the things] that [are of another world].” (Matthew 16:23) Now, I want to ask you a question: Was Jesus talking to Peter or to the devil? He was talking to the devil through Peter when He looked at Peter and said, “Get thee behind me, Satan.” (Matthew 16:23) You’re going to find out that the same case is here. God is not primarily talking to the king of Tyre; He’s talking to the power behind the throne, the one that motivated and manipulated that ancient, wicked king.

So, we’re going to learn some things about the devil today, and I hope you’ll learn them well, because Paul said, “We are not ignorant of his devices.” (2 Corinthians 2:11) Paul said, “That is, those of us are not ignorant.” But, I believe those who live in this day are saturated with ignorance concerning the devil.

Now today, in the message, I’m going to attempt to answer four questions, and these are very vital questions. The first question deals with the origin of the devil, what we’re going to call “his creation,” as I said a few moments ago. Did God create a devil? Did God create the devil? And, if not, then where did the devil come from if God didn’t create him? For before God there was nothing. All right, the second question: What corrupted the devil? The first question deals with creation. The second question deals with corruption: How did the devil become the devil? Now, the third question deals not only with his creation and his corruption but his continuation: Why doesn’t God do something about the devil? Have you ever said, “Well, if I were God, I’d kill the devil”? Why doesn’t God snuff him out? Why doesn’t God eradicate the devil? Why doesn’t God do something about the devil? Why does God allow him to continue? Now, the fourth question deals with the condemnation of the devil: What is going to happen to the devil? What is the devil’s destiny? How will the devil’s career be consummated? Where is the devil going to end up? It’s necessary that you understand all of those things in order to have the total picture. And, I believe that God here, through the prophet Ezekiel, has given us a glimpse into the dark kingdom. And, I’m praying that God not only will pull the curtain from the devil’s kingdom, but He will also pull the veil away from your mind and your eyes and that God the Holy Spirit will give you a spiritual insight into the dark kingdom, and ultimately, O dear God, ultimately help you to see today the victory we have in the Lord Jesus Christ.

I. Did God Create the Devil?
Now, first of all, let’s answer that first question: Did God create the devil? The devil and his creation. Was the devil created? The question of his creation. Well, let’s begin reading again in verse 12: “Son of man, take up a lamentation upon the king of Tyrus, and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord God; Thou sealest up the sum”—now, what does that mean: “Thou sealest up the sum”? The kids would say today, “He was a perfect ten.” He sealed up the sum! That is, you couldn’t add anything to him—“full of wisdom, and perfect in beauty”—have you ever seen anything perfect in beauty? Not in your life, but the devil was perfect in beauty—“Thou hast been in Eden the garden of God; every precious stone was thy covering, the sardius, [the] topaz, and the diamond, the beryl, the onyx, and the jasper, the sapphire, the emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold: [and] the workmanship of thy tabrets and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created”—just underscore that phrase “thou wast created”—“Thou art the anointed cherub that covereth; and I have set thee so: thou wast [in] the holy mountain of God; thou hast walked up and down in the midst of the stones of fire”—verse 15. Look at it clearly; mark it—“Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day that thou wast created, till iniquity was found in thee.” (Ezekiel 28:12–15)

God created a creature; Isaiah tells us what his name was. It was Lucifer, which means “son of the morning.” And, this creature that God created was surpassing in beauty, and he was superlative in wisdom. He filled up the sum. As I said before, he was a perfect creature. As a matter of fact, he had a musical quality about him. The Bible, here in verse 13, speaks of his tabrets and his pipes. (Ezekiel 28:13) That is, his being was like a great pipe organ. When he would speak, it was like music rolling forth—like a grand, glorious musical instrument. You say, “Literally, did he have pipes in him?” Oh, no, friend. This is God’s way of speaking of the melodious quality of his nature.

And then, the Bible speaks of all of these precious gems: rubies, and diamonds, and emeralds. (Ezekiel 28:13) He lived in the kingdom of exquisite mineral beauty, very much like the kingdom that we’re going to live in one day. We’re looking forward to going to a place that has walls of jasper, gates of pearl, streets of gold. It’s a place that speaks of the glory of God and the paradise of God. If you’ll read the early chapters of Ezekiel, these stones of fire round about the throne of God there in the early chapter—what an environment this creature lived in!

And then, again, I want you to look. It speaks of the holy mountain of God in verse 14: “Thou art the anointed cherub that covereth; and I have set thee so: thou wast upon the holy mountain of God.” (Ezekiel 28:14) Now, in the Bible—in the Old Testament, especially—a mountain, in this sense, speaks of the government of God. We speak of that prophecy where the mountain of the Lord’s house shall be established in the last days. (Micah 4:1) That literally means “the government of God.” “The holy mountain” means “the government of God.” And, here was a creature who was associated with the government of God. He was in charge of the affairs of heaven. I believe that this creature was the prime minister of heaven and that he ran, under the authority of God, God’s vast domain and mighty universe. He was there in the holy mountain. What authority he had!

Also, look, if you will, please, in verse 14: he is called “the anointed cherub.” (Ezekiel 28:14) Anointed means a “special, set aside” cherub, selected from all of the other cherubs. Now, when you think of a cherub, don’t think of a fat little baby angel. That’s not what a cherub is. That may be the cherub you’ll get on your valentine, but that’s not what a cherub is. The cherubim were the highest rank in order of angels. Angels were ranked by powers, and there are different ranks and degrees of angels. For example, we read of archangels, who are over other angels. This angel, this cherub, was of the highest rank, and he—the highest of the high—not merely a cherub, but “the anointed cherub.” (Ezekiel 28:14)

And, the Bible says he’s the “cherub that covereth.” (Ezekiel 28:14) Now, the idea of covering here has the idea of protection. And, the literal Hebrew word, the scholars say, means “to spread out the wings.” Have you seen the pictures of the Ark of the Covenant with the cherubim with their wings spread out over that? It has to do with the holiness of God, the worship of God. You see, this angel, as we look, this cherub had to do not only with the government of God, but he had to do with the worship of God and the holiness of God. It seems to be as though he is receiving authority from God, and administering the universe, and receiving worship from the universe and giving it to God. Look, if you will, for example, down in verse 18: “Thou hast defiled thy sanctuaries.” (Ezekiel 28:18) A sanctuary is a place of worship. He had sort of a priesthood. He had a means of receiving worship and giving that worship on to the Lord. What a person this was! He was in the highest class of all things that are created.

Now, let’s get to the question: Did God create the devil? No, God created a cherub. God created a perfect being, not a malevolent devil, not a hideous creature. I like what Ethel Waters has to say: “God don’t make no junk.” Now, God didn’t make the devil. Friend, God did not make a devil. Look at it! Clearly, you don’t have to guess—verse 15: “Thou wast perfect in thy ways”—God, being perfect, did not create imperfection—“Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day that thou wast created, till iniquity was found in thee.” (Ezekiel 28:15) Now, that’s the first question. It deals with the devil’s creation. God did not create the devil. God created a surpassingly beautiful creature, the anointed cherub.

II. What Corrupted the Devil?
Now, how did the devil become the devil? We’re going to deal now not only with his creation but with his corruption. Now, let’s look again in verse 15: “Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day that thou wast created, till”—just underscore till—“iniquity was found in thee. By the multitude of thy merchandise they have filled the midst of thee with violence.” (Ezekiel 28:15–16)

A. Pride
Now, look at that word merchandise: “By the multitude of thy merchandise.” (Ezekiel 28:16) Do you know what merchandise means? The word literally means “that which passes through the hands.” You see, a person who merchandises things—he takes it from this person, and he sells it or transplants it to another person. So, he’s a merchandiser. Things are going through his hands. What was going through the hands of this cherub—through Lucifer’s hands? Well, the authority of God, as he was in the holy mount of God as the vice-regent of heaven, as he is the prime minister of heaven, the authority of God was passing through his hands. What else was passing through his hands? As he was the anointed cherub that covers, as he was there in the sanctuary of God, the worship of God was being received by him and being passed on to the Father. And, what he did was to make merchandise of his office.

Have you ever heard of a politician who makes merchandise of his office? That is, he finds himself in a place of authority and he also finds himself handling things that are not his own. And, if he’s not careful, that can go to his head. And, he can think he has certain prerogatives, and he begins to skim off the top. And, he begins to take things to himself that don’t belong to himself.

And, that’s exactly what the devil did—the devil became the devil by making merchandise of his office. He began to think, “I’m too beautiful! I’m too wise! I’m too important! I have too much authority not to have some of this authority for myself and to receive some of this praise for myself!” And so, the essence of his sin literally was pride.

There’s a very interesting passage of Scripture. You might want to jot it down somewhere so you can refer to it later. But, the Apostle Paul was telling Timothy the requirements for a pastor, and among those requirements, we read in 1 Timothy chapter 3, verse 6 that a new pastor is “not [to be] a novice.” (1 Timothy 3:6) Do you know what novice means? Somebody who has no experience, a ninety-day wonder. He is “not [to be] a novice”—now, here is the reason for that—“lest, being lifted up with pride he fall into the condemnation of the devil.” (1 Timothy 3:6) That’s a very clear passage to tell us what happened to the devil, how the devil became a devil. He was lifted up with pride.

You see, we need to be careful. Every now and then, some young man will come forward and say, “God has called me to preach.” And, how we rejoice in that! I’m glad God called me to preach. But, sometimes well-meaning church members dote upon a young man if that young man has particular ability, he has particular skills—maybe he has a sense of having arrived, and he can speak or whatever. Or, he doesn’t have to be a young man—he can be an older man, a businessman who’s been very successful in business. He says, “God has called me.” Well, they say, “We want you to preach.” And, he gets up there and preaches. Now, he’s handling holy things—that is, he’s in the government of God. He now becomes an authority. He is not just a preacher; he’s now a pastor, a bishop. And so, he is administering the affairs of God, and people are praising God through him. He is eliciting praise, and that praise is supposed to be going right on to God. But, if he’s not careful, he’ll start to skim a little bit. He’ll start to take a little of that to himself. He’ll go to the door after he preaches his second sermon, and some little lady will say, “Brother Billy, that was the best sermon I ever heard in my life!” And, he’ll believe it. He’ll get it in his head, “Wow! Wow! I’ve done good!” And, he’ll get to thinking, you know, really believing that. Now, this dear little lady—she means well. And, first thing you know, he begins to swell up with pride. I have seen it happen. They go up like a rocket and come down like a rock. They fall into the condemnation of the devil. And so, Paul is telling Timothy, “Be careful.”

But, all of that is incidental—just to tell you what really happened and how the devil became the devil. It’s clear. Paul tells us he was lifted with pride. He began to take that to himself that was not his own.

Now, I want you to see something. Look in verse 17—and oh, how important it is that you see this: “Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beauty”—underscore the word beauty—“thou hast corrupted thy wisdom.” (Ezekiel 28:17) Underscore the word wisdom. Beauty and wisdom. Now, don’t get the idea today that the devil doesn’t have wisdom. Friend, he does! Don’t get the idea today that the devil doesn’t have beauty. Friend, he does! He has both wisdom and beauty. But, I want you to learn this—that his beauty is a blemished beauty and his wisdom is a corrupted wisdom.

B. Beauty
Now, he’s beautiful. Don’t get the idea that the devil today appears as a scaly red monster with horns, breathing fire and having cloven hoofs. That’s not any idea of the devil that you get from the Bible. How does the Bible describe the devil? Listen: as an angel of light. You see, his name, Lucifer, means “light-bearer.” Oh listen, the devil knows how to use beauty. As a matter of fact, Hollywood is the prime example of how the devil knows how to use beauty. The Playboy empire is built upon the use of beauty for the devil’s methods. The devil is a lover of beauty.

C. Wisdom
And, he’s also wise. Now, don’t get the idea that the devil doesn’t have wisdom, because Paul said, “[We’re] not ignorant of his devices.” (2 Corinthians 2:11) He said, “[Take] on the whole armour of God, that [you] may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.” (Ephesians 6:11) And then, again, he warned against the snares of the devil. (1 Timothy 3:7; 2 Timothy 2:26) Why, he has so much wisdom—do you know what Jesus said? Jesus said, “If it were possible, [he would] deceive the very elect.” (Matthew 24:24) Did you know that the reason the devil hasn’t deceived you is not because you’re smart but because God won’t let him? Hmm? You’d better thank God for that. He’s not… You say, “Well, he’d never fool me.” Oh, yes, he would! He’d have you just like that! Jesus said, “If it were possible, [he’d] deceive the very elect.” (Matthew 24:24)

I’m telling you, ladies and gentlemen, that there is… Now listen, his beauty remains, but it is a blemished beauty. His wisdom remains, but it is a corrupted wisdom. Now, if you don’t remember anything else that I tell you today, I want you to remember this about the devil: the devil is brillianlty stupid and hideously beautiful. Okay? He is brilliantly stupid; he is hideously beautiful. When I say he’s brilliantly stupid, he’s really a knucklehead. I mean, can you imagine trying to overthrow God? I mean, can you imagine how stupid that is? But yet, can you imagine the brilliance and the cunning of the devil? Put those things together, and you’ll have a picture of this person. You say, “Does the devil literally believe he can do it?” Yes! He believes he can do it, and he still believes he can do it, see, because his wisdom is corrupted, his beauty is blemished.

And now, you’re going to see that it was pride that did that. And, ladies and gentlemen, how that needs to warn us today! Let’s go into this idea of pride and think for just a moment how terrible pride is. How do you think that the devil got the king of Tyre to act like such a fool, to say, “I’m like God”? It was pride! How do you think the devil got Eve to disobey God and eat the forbidden fruit? Do you think Eve did what she did for a piece of fruit? Well, she was in a garden filled with fruit. It was pride. He said, “You’ll be like God.” (Genesis 3:5) He knew what a powerful motivation pride is. And, there are so many people today who have been caught by the devil by pride. I want to say, dear friend, that pride is a terrible, horrible thing.

Let me ask you a question: Do you ever argue with your wife? Do you ever argue with your husband? Let me ask you a question: You kids ever argue with your parents? Let me ask you a question: Have you ever been in a church fuss or a church fight somewhere? Do you know what the Bible says? “Only by pride cometh contention” (Proverbs 13:10)—only by pride! There has never been an argument that was not caused by pride. Only by pride—only by pride! “Only by pride cometh contention.” (Proverbs 13:10) What a terrible thing pride is!

Had there been no pride, there’d have been no devil. Had there been no pride, Adam and Eve would not have fallen in the Garden of Eden. Had there been no pride in your heart, dear friend, you would never have needed to be saved. And, we’re all filled with pride. The Bible says it just comes out of our heart. And God, there in the book of Proverbs, lists the things that He hates, and this is what the scripture says: “These six things doth the Lord hate: yea, seven are an abomination unto him”—number one on the list—“A proud look.” (Proverbs 6:16–17) Number one: a proud look.

And, pride is such a devastating sin and such a deceptive sin. Do you know how a proud man talks? Let me tell you how a proud man talks. He says, “Boy, I’m so humble.” Boy, he’s proud of his humility! You see, that’s the way a proud man talks. You know how a humble man talks? “Lord, I just don’t know what you’re going to do with me. I fail you so.” But, a proud man: “I’m proud of my humility! I’m a humble person!”

Now, humility is not going around all slumped over. Humility is not thinking badly of yourself because you’re made in the image of God. That’s not what humility is. Humility is not thinking poorly of yourself. It is not thinking of yourself; it is thinking of Him. Humility is accepting what God says about you. The grace of God will exalt a man without inflating a man. The grace of God will humble a man without debasing a man so that man can say, “I am what I am by the grace of God!” Humility is believing what God says about you and accepting what God says about you. And, how wonderful that is! And, the old preachers used to say—are you listening?—“There is nothing that will put you further out of the reach of the devil than genuine humility.” There is nothing that will make you more like the devil than pride, nothing that will make you more like Jesus than genuine humility. The Bible says, “Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: Who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: But [He] made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant… And being found in [the] fashion as a [servant], he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross.” (Philippians 2:5–8) Now, the devil was created in perfection. The devil was corrupted by pride.

III. Why Does God Let the Devil Continue?
Now, let’s get to the third question. The first question deals with his creation. The second question deals with his corruption. The third question deals with his continuation: Why does God let the devil continue? Why doesn’t God bump him off? Why doesn’t God snuff him out? Why doesn’t God eradicate him? Why doesn’t God do something with the devil? Why does God let the devil continue all his devilish work? Well, let’s read here from the Word of God, and I want us to continue to read in verse 16: “By the multitude of thy merchandise they have filled the midst of thee with violence, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as profane out of the mountain of God.” (Ezekiel 28:16) Step number one in God’s dealing with the devil is that he’s cast out of his place of authority in heaven. Remember, Jesus said, “I beheld Satan as lightning fall from heaven.” (Luke 10:18) And then, God says, “I will destroy thee, O covering cherub, from the midst of the stones of fire.” (Ezekiel 28:16) “The midst of the stones of fire” (Ezekiel 28:16) here is the area around the throne of God. “You’re not going to stay there any more.” “[And] thine heart was lifted up because of thy beauty, thou hast corrupted thy wisdom because of thy brightness: I will cast thee to the ground.” (Ezekiel 28:17) Now God, in His plan, has cast Satan out of heaven. He’s now the prince of the power of the air; he’s now the god of this age.

Now, why doesn’t God just destroy him? Because God has a higher plan, a better plan, and it deals, ladies and gentlemen, with our redemption and our salvation. God is not going to destroy the devil with power that is inherently His as God, but God is going to destroy the devil by the power that He’s put into you and to me. You see, the devil hates us. The devil sees us as usurpers. The devil sees us as the kingdom of priests unto God, worshipping God and glorifying God. And, the devil hates us. And God, in His infinite wisdom, ladies and gentlemen, is going to give to His children the power to overcome the devil through the death of Jesus Christ on the cross. And so, God does not kill the devil, but, to the contrary, God puts His own Son upon the cross.

The key scripture here is Hebrews chapter 2 and verse 14, and it says, “Forasmuch...as the children are partakers of flesh and blood”—now, by “children” he means “human beings.” We are flesh and blood—“he also himself likewise took part of the same”—because we’re human, because we have flesh and blood, Jesus took flesh and blood. Why did Jesus take flesh and blood? Well, continue to read—“that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death” (Hebrews 2:14)—that is, the devil. By death, Jesus destroyed the devil. Now, when Jesus was going to the cross, Jesus said, “Now [is] the prince of this world...cast out.” (John 12:31) And, the devil is destroyed by the death of Jesus Christ. But, the word destroy here in the Greek language does not mean “annihilate”; it means, literally, “to render helpless.” And, Satan now has been rendered helpless by the death of Christ.

Now, he doesn’t want you to know that. He does not want you to know that his authority has been taken away by the death of Christ, that he has been cast out. And so, the devil, now, by deception—that’s the only way he can do it, because he has no more authority. That authority has been taken from him. But, by deception, he’ll oppress his people. (Acts 10:38) He binds people—Luke 13, verse 16. (Luke 13:6) He blinds people. (2 Corinthians 4:4) He buffets people—2 Corinthians 12, verse 7. (2 Corinthians 12:7) And, he continues his reign of terror: subversion, perversion, diversion. He wants to divide, depress, destroy—depression, oppression, possession. Satan’s sin and suffering are an inseparable trinity of terrors. And, he moves to those who do not know the truth or those who refuse the truth to do his dirty work.

God allows him to continue that God might work out His ultimate plan to redeem us and to give us power, and life, and victory greater than the devil himself ever knew. I say, greater. You say, “Brother Rogers, it can’t be greater.” Yes, friend, I want to tell you something: we are going to become “heirs of God, and joint-heirs with [Jesus] Christ.” (Romans 8:17) That means share and share alike. And God, that He loves us so much, allows the devil to continue. And, Jesus became flesh that He might die upon the cross, bring into creation a race of redeemed people, that we might rule and reign with Him forever. You say, “That’s deep.” It really is, but friend, it’s glorious!

IV. What Is Going to Happen to the Devil?
Let me just get to the last point because time is running away and you’re not listening fast enough. Let me talk to you not only about his creation, and not only about his corruption, and not only about his continuation, but let me talk to you about his condemnation. What’s going to happen to him? And, I’m going to skip some scriptures, but I want you to look, if you will, at verse 19: “All they that know thee among the people shall be astonished at thee”—now, just look at that phrase “astonished” and underscore it. “Astonished at thee”—that is, “They’re going to be amazed at thee”—“thou shalt be a terror, and never shalt thou be any more.” (Ezekiel 28:19) That is, “You’re a terror right now, but there’s coming a time when you won’t be.” That is, “There’s coming a time when you’ll no longer terrorize people. There is coming a time when even your false power, and your authority, and your blemished beauty—it’s going to be snatched from you, stripped from you. You’re going to be chained. You’re going to be ridiculed.”

I want you to turn to Isaiah chapter 14 in the closing moments that we have, and this is even going to make it clearer. Isaiah chapter 14 tells the time when the devil said in verse 14: “I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the most High”—he said, “I’m going to be like God!” And yet, in verse 15, I want you to see what’s going to happen—“Yet thou shalt be brought down to hell, to the sides of the pit”—the devil’s not yet in hell. He shall be in hell. Hell is “prepared for the devil and his angels.” (Matthew 25:41) But, the best part is yet to come. Look in verse 16—“They that see thee shall narrowly look upon thee.” (Isaiah 14:14–16) That means they’re going to scrutinize him. They’re going to study him. They’re going to walk up and down, and they’re going to say, “Would you look there?” He’s going to be like a caged animal in the zoo. And, people are going to look at him, and they’re going to study him with amazement. Remember that Ezekiel said, “They’re going to be astonished.” (Ezekiel 28:19) And, what are they going to say? “They’re going to consider thee. They’re going to stroke their chin, and they’re going to say, ‘Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, that did shake kingdoms; That made the world as a wilderness, and destroyed the cities thereof; that opened not the house of his prisoners?’” (Isaiah 14:16–17) “You mean, that’s him? That worm? That weakling? That insignificant, pitiful, ruined creature, who has been stripped, who has been subdued, who has been shamed—you mean, that’s him?” And, at that moment, people will see the utter folly, the sheer stupidity, of following the devil.

Conclusion

Now, ladies and gentlemen, listen to me. I’ve got to come to the end here, but listen to me. I hope you’re learning what I want to say. Listen to me well. There’s a kingdom of evil, and there’s the kingdom of God. You’d better make certain which one you’re in, because when you see where the devil ends up—and all of those who follow him are going to end up there, also, folks—it doesn’t make sense to follow a loser.

It takes a new birth. Jesus says, “Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.” (John 3:3) Have you been born again? I say, have you been born again? Are you saved by faith in the crucified Son of God? Do you believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God who died on the cross to pay for our sins? Are you willing at this time to repent of your sin, and, by faith, receive Him as your Lord and Master and to say, “Here, Lord, I give my life away to you. Save me, Lord, by your love and by your grace. Give me strength, and I’ll follow you to the ends of the earth. I receive you. I’ll follow you, Lord, to the ends of the earth as my Lord, as my Savior”?

I want to tell you, my precious friend, that Jesus Christ is knocking at your heart’s door today. The devil lies, is whispering into your ears, saying you can’t be saved, you’re not good enough, or you’re too good and don’t need to be saved. But, Jesus Christ is knocking at your heart’s door. He wants to save you. Maybe you did not even dream that today would be the day you’d be saved, and maybe you’re thinking thoughts right now that you didn’t even believe you’d think when you came in here. But, God has used the message today to tell you that—you understand what I’m saying—I am telling you as surely as my name is Adrian Rogers and I stand here, sin can’t win, and faith can’t fail. That’s the reason Jesus Christ taught us to pray, “[And] deliver us from [the] evil [one]: For thine is the kingdom, and [thine is] the power, and [thine is] the glory, for ever.” (Matthew 6:13) And, God’s people said, “Thine is the kingdom, and thine is the power, and thine is the glory!” And, God’s people said, “Amen! Amen!”

Friend, you’d better believe it. This is my Father’s world. He’s in charge. Sin can’t win; faith can’t fail.

It pays to serve Jesus, it pays every day,
It pays every step of the way,
Though the pathway to Glory may sometimes seem drear,
It pays to serve Jesus each day.

—FRANK C. HUSTON

Bow your heads in prayer. Heads are bowed; eyes are closed. Are you saved? Friend, you see, Christ… You’re with the devil’s crowd—just sit on the fence. Jesus said, “He that is not with me is against me; and he that [does not gather] with me [is scattering] abroad.” (Matthew 12:30; Luke 11:23) You see, dear friend, there are two kingdoms. And, everybody here is in the kingdom of evil or the kingdom of God. To step out of the kingdom of evil and to step into need…to step out of the kingdom of darkness and the kingdom of death into the kingdom of light and love.

Introduction

Be finding Matthew chapter 6, and we’re going to begin reading in a moment at verse 9 and read right on through verse 13—that prayer that we call “the model prayer,” “the disciples’ prayer,” sometimes called “the Lord’s Prayer.” You can do nothing better than to learn how to pray. So many times, however, when we pray, we really don’t expect God to answer the prayer.

Somewhere I have read about some children in a Sunday school class who were going to write a missionary and let the missionary know that they were praying for the missionary. And, the teacher of the class said, “Now, the missionary’s a very busy person, and he may not have time to write each one of you back. So, don’t expect him to write you a letter back.” And, one girl wrote the missionary a letter. It said something
I think so many times that is true. That’s the way we pray. We pray, but we really don’t expect an answer. But, God has said, “Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and show thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not.” (Jeremiah 33:3) And, our Lord taught us how to pray here. Notice, beginning in verse 9: “After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors”—and then, we come to our text for this morning’s message—“And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory for ever. Amen.” (Matthew 6:9–13) I thank God for the note of victory that this prayer ends in. And, I am speaking today on this subject: “Victorious Prayer.”

We’ve been having a family life emphasis in our church. This afternoon we’re going to have a great conference here—and you dare not miss it—with Josh McDowell. But, we’ve been talking about how we, as dads and moms, can protect our families. I know no better way than to learn to pray as Jesus taught us to pray: “And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.” (Matthew 6:13)

These are treacherous and dangerous days in which we live and try to bring up our children. We used to think of the old-time days on the frontier as dangerous days, but it is far more dangerous for a child on the streets of Memphis, Tennessee, than it ever was on the frontier. I’m far less afraid of a coiled rattlesnake than I am a drug pusher who interjects poison into the veins of our young people and makes them an army of the walking dead with hollow chests and sunken eyes. I’m far less afraid of a wild bear, a wolf, than I am the muggers, the rapists, that stalk the streets of America. Worse than wind, and snow, and ice, and sun, and drought is the all-prevailing humanistic philosophy that would invade the minds, and freeze the heart, and drive the spirit of our young people. And, we need today, in these dangerous days, to learn how to pray, to get hold of God, because we have an enemy and he is the evil one. When our Lord Jesus Christ taught us to pray, “Deliver us from evil,” (Matthew 6:13) actually that may be translated “deliver us from the evil one.” We’re up against the organized, mobilized, demonized forces of hell. We have a deadly enemy.

The message today is an alarm. It is a call to arms. I told a congregation of men yesterday that God’s alarm clock has gone off in America. If you can’t hear it, you’re deaf. God’s alarm clock has gone off in America, and we dare not push the snooze button and roll over for a few more winks. It is time to wake up, get up, dress up, and begin to go to war. And, we must learn to pray. The warfare is prayer. Three things, as we look at this verse, I want you to see.
I. The Sinister Person of Evil

First of all, I want you to see the sinister person of evil. Now, look at the verse again—verse 13: “Deliver us from evil.” (Matthew 6:13) Weymouth translates that “Deliver us from the evil one.” It speaks of Satan.

Now, Satan doesn’t want me to preach this message this morning, and he will try to keep you from listening to it. He doesn’t want you to understand what I’m about to tell you. It has always been Satan’s method to pull the veil of darkness over his kingdom, to hide behind a veil of lies, or to masquerade in some disguise. But, by the aid of the Holy Spirit today, I want to rip away that mask and expose him for what he is.

A. His Person

Now, I say, we must recognize the person of evil. He is a person. I’m going to give you many scriptures. I don’t want you to turn to them because we will not have time. I will share them with you. You jot them down. The first is 1 Peter chapter 5 and verse 8.

Here’s the warning: “Be sober; be vigilant; because your adversary”—“your adversary”—“the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour.” (1 Peter 5:8) Now, if you knew that somewhere on this property this morning is a ravenous, hungry lion, when you walked out these doors, wouldn’t you be a little careful? I mean, if you knew that behind some bush somewhere on this property this morning there is walking about a roaring lion, would you be just a little careful? Would you walk a little soberly? That is what God is saying. “Be sober, be vigilant…your adversary”—not somebody else’s; your adversary—“walketh about [as a roaring lion], seeking whom he may devour.” (1 Peter 5:8) The bitterest enemy of God and His people is someone called the devil, the evil one. Have you ever thought about the names that are given to him in the Bible? He’s called “the deceiver.” He’s called “the liar.” He’s called “the murderer.” He’s called “the accuser.” He’s called “the tempter.” He’s called “the destroyer.” He is called “the evil one.”

Now, he’s not the figment of someone’s imagination. When we talk about the devil, that’s not a figure of speech. He is personal. He is aggressive. He is intelligent. He is cunning. He is destructive. And, his cleverest method is to make people think that he does not exist at all, that he’s just some sort of a whimsy. And, we make jokes about someone in a long red suit, trying to catch somebody bending over, and we laugh because that is a comic presentation and illustration of this one that the Bible tells us that we are to be aware of. Some people say, “Oh, well yes, he exists,” but they talk about “the devil in hell.” The devil is not in hell. He is not in hell. He will be, but he is not. He “walketh about, seeking whom he may devour.” (1 Peter 5:8) He is not there yet.

Many of us don’t understand who our enemy is. Here’s another verse—Ephesians chapter 6 and verse 12: “For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritually wickedness in high places.” (Ephesians 6:12) “We wrestle not against flesh and blood.” (Ephesians 6:12) The battle is not between human beings. Your enemy is not the communist, not the humanist, not the Republican, not the Democrat, not your wife, not your husband, not your mother-in-law, not your boss. “We wrestle not against flesh and blood.” (Ephesians 6:12) Now, he may use all of these. He has a thousand heads, but he only has one heart. We wrestle against a person.

B. His Position

Now, I want you to think not only that he is a person, but I want you to think about the position of this person. That verse that I read to you in Ephesians chapter 6 and verse 12 says that he is a ruler of the darkness of this age. (Ephesians 6:12) He is a ruler. Have you ever thought of Satan as a ruler? He rules over a kingdom of fallen spirits. When Satan rebelled against God and fell from heaven, myriads of angels fell with him in rebellion. And so, in Ephesians chapter 2 and verse 2, he’s called “the prince of the power of the air.” (Ephesians 2:2) Matthew 25 and verse 41 speaks of “the devil and his angels.” (Matthew 25:41) Just as God has angels, Satan has angels, and as a prince he rules over the kingdom of this world. As a matter of fact, he offered to give those kingdoms to Jesus Christ, and Jesus Christ never disputed his power or his authority to give those kingdoms. He offered those kingdoms to Christ. Christ refused because the Lord Jesus knew that one day the kingdoms of this world would become—they are not yet, but they will become—the kingdom of our Lord and His Christ. (Revelation 11:15)

Do you know what the devil is doing now? He is moving the nations of this world like checkers on a checkerboard toward Armageddon. Put this scripture down: Revelation chapter 16 and verse 14. The Apostle John had a vision. He saw something happening; he wanted to know what it was. And, here’s what God said: “For they are the spirits of [demons], working miracles, which go forth unto the kings of the earth and of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of that great day of God Almighty.” (Revelation 16:14) Demon spirits are working in the hearts and minds of world leaders to bring them to Armageddon. That’s the reason the Bible calls Satan “the god of this age”—little “g”—2 Corinthians 4:4: “In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not.” (2 Corinthians 4:4) We have a generation that walks in darkness because they have been blinded by the dark prince. His great desire is to be worshipped as the god of this age, and, therefore, he has developed a system that is an exact counterfeit of Christianity. The devil is not against religion. It is his chief tool. He is in religion up to his ears.

C. His Power

Think not only of his person; think not only of his position, but think of his power. Only ignorance scoffs at the power of the devil. It is sheer folly to underestimate his power. That's the reason the Lord Jesus Christ taught us to pray, “Deliver us”—“Deliver us from [the] evil [one].” (Matthew 6:13) Acts chapter 26, verse 18 speaks of “the power of Satan.” (Acts 26:18) Ephesians chapter 6, verse 12 says, “We wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, [and] powers.” (Ephesians 6:12) Satan is a supernatural person. He has supernatural power. He is the supreme dictator in the evil empire. And, well did Martin Luther write that monumental song, “A Mighty Fortress Is Our God.” And, he has in there some dark lines about Satan, and this is what he says:

For still our ancient foe doth seek to work us woe;
His craft and power are great, and armed with cruel hate,
On earth is not his equal.

—MARTIN LUTHER

D. His Purpose

Now, what is his purpose? Let's talk for a moment about his purpose. Satan is a traitor. He is in open revolt against Almighty God. He was lifted up with pride and decided that he wanted to be most like the Most High. His original name was Lucifer. That's an ugly name to us today, but it was once a beautiful name, like the word gay was once a beautiful word. It was once a beautiful name. It means "light-bearer." But, Isaiah chapter 14, verse 12 says, “How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! how art thou cut down to the ground, which didst weaken the nations! For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north…I will be like the most High.” (Isaiah 14:12–14) No sooner had he unleashed his sordid rebellion against Almighty God than the judgment of Jehovah fell on him and he fell from heaven like lightning. When he fell, myriads of angels fell with him; and Lucifer, the son of the morning, became Satan, the father of the night. But, he is still in rebellion against God.

What is his plan? How does he work? His chief method is deception—his chief method. Jesus said to the unsaved of His day in John chapter 8 and verse 44: “Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth”—his motive is murder; his method is the lie—“He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it.” (John 8:44) That's John 8, verse 44. And so, he rules over a kingdom of darkness and a kingdom of deception.

I want you to notice the way he is described, for example, in Ephesians chapter 6 and verse 11. We're told to “put on the whole armour of God, that [we] may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.” (Ephesians 6:11) That word wiles is the Greek word methodia. It means the “methods” of the devil. He’s very methodological. He has a scheme. He already has a plan. He has a plan. Your adversary has a plan to ruin your life and your family. The wiles. Second Corinthians chapter 2 and verse 11 speaks of the “devices” of the devil. (2 Corinthians 2:11) In 2 Timothy chapter 2 and verse 26, the Bible speaks of “the snare of the devil.” (2 Timothy 2:26) Put those words together: wiles, devices, snares, lies. The Bible prophesies that in the last days, there will be a great resurgence of demonic activity. That’s one of the reasons that I believe that we’re living in the last days. And, what are some of these things that are demonic resurgence that we will see in the last days?

1. Spiritualism

For example, spiritualism, New Ageism. I watched on local television this past week some woman there with tarot cards telling somebody’s fortune. They thought that was quite humorous. It is of the devil. All forms of fortunetelling, contact with the dead, astrology—it is all of the devil. But how tantalizing that is to some people! They say, “Well, I’m learning the future.” No, you’re not; the devil doesn’t know the future. You say, “Well, I’m contacting my departed love one.” No, you’re not; you’re contacting a demonic spirit.

Some lady—bless her heart—was on television. She said, “Well, I really do believe there’s something to it.” I thought to myself, “There really is, lady. There is something to it.” First John chapter 4, verse 1: “Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world.” (1 John 4:1) Leviticus chapter 19, verse 31: “Regard not them that have familiar spirits”—even if her name if Shirley MacLaine—“Regard not them that have familiar spirits, neither seek after wizards, to be defiled by them”—“to be defiled by them”—“I am the LORD your God.” (Leviticus 19:31) Deuteronomy chapter 18, verses 9 and following: “When thou art come into the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, thou shalt not learn to do after the abominations of those nations. There shall not be found among you any one that maketh his son or his daughter to pass through the fire”—they were sacrificing the children to demonic gods. We’re sacrificing today on the altar of abortion—“or that useth divination”—that’s a fortuneteller—“or an observer of times”—that’s astrology—“or an enchanter, or a witch. Or a charmer, or a consoler with familiar spirits, or a wizard, or a necromancer”—listen to this—“For all that do these things are an abomination unto the LORD”—now, if that makes you angry, come up and apologize to me, and I’ll forgive you—“For all that do these things are an abomination to the LORD: and because of these abominations the LORD thy God doth drive them out from before thee”—that is, it’s the end of a nation; it’s the ruin of a nation when these things come—“Thou shalt be perfect with the LORD thy God. For these nations, which thou shalt possess, hearkened unto observers of times, and unto diviners: but as for thee, the LORD thy God hath not suffered thee to do so.” (Deuteronomy 18:9–14)

2. Drug Abuse
What’s his plan? To deceive you—number one: through spiritualism; number two: through drug abuse. Why do you think that we have an epidemic of drug abuse? Because we have an epidemic of demonic activity. And, the Bible teaches that in the last days, there will be a plethora of drug abuse. Revelation chapter 9 and verse 21: “Neither repented they of their murders, nor of their sorceries, nor of their fornication, nor of their thefts.” (Revelation 9:21) Those are the big four in Memphis today—these four. Murder and sorcery… “Well,” you say, “how many sorcerers are there?” The word sorcery comes from a Greek word, pharmakeia. It’s the word we get pharmacist from. Now, there’s nothing wrong with being in pharmacy, but this word means “an enchanter with drugs.” You see, the devil uses drugs to destroy people’s minds. It is demonic activity. So sorcery, from time immemorial, has been linked with potions that steal away men’s minds. What is sorcery? What is drug abuse? It is instant heaven that leads to everlasting hell. It is form of synthetic salvation.

3. False Doctrine
Another form of demonic activity that we see in the last days is false doctrine, apostasy. Where is the true faith today? The Bible says in 1 Timothy chapter 4 and verse 1: “Now the Spirit”—speaking of the Holy Spirit—“speaketh expressly”—that means “pay attention”—“the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith”—the faith, not a faith; the faith. There’s only one. How do they do that? He says—“giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of demons.” (1 Timothy 4:1) When you look for the devil, never fail to look in the pulpit. Satan uses religion. The Bible speaks of the ministers of Satan, (2 Corinthians 11:14–15) the sacrifices to demons, (Leviticus 17:7) doctrines of demons, (1 Timothy 4:1) “the synagogue of Satan.” (Revelation 2:9; Revelation 3:9) Again, I want to say that religion is one of his chief tools.

4. The Media
Another way that Satan has invaded this day, this age, and will want to capture the hearts and minds of your children, my children, our grandchildren, is through the entertainment and the media system. He is an angel of light. He is an angel of music. And, he is hideously beautiful; he is brilliantly stupid. And, it seems that in the media today we have reached the very bottom of the garbage pail. It is absolutely sickening—the entertainment and media system.

II. Realize the Seductive Power of Evil
Now, first of all, therefore, if you would have victory, you must recognize the sinister person of evil. There is a devil. He is your adversary. And, if you don’t recognize that you have an enemy, you’re not going to prepare yourself for defense. Jesus taught us to pray, “Deliver us from [the] evil one.” (Matthew 6:13) Second thing: Not only should you recognize the sinister person of evil, but you should realize the seductive power of evil. Our Lord taught His own to pray, “Deliver us, Lord; keep us; lead us.”

You say, “Well, pastor, I don’t have any problems with the devil.” Well, don’t brag about it. Jesus did. Jesus met him. Jesus had to deal with him. And, if you’ve never met the devil, it’s because you and the devil are going in the same direction. You’re in collusion with the devil. You turn around and get right with God, you’ll be in collision with him. And, you will learn how to pray this prayer: “O my God, deliver me.”

And, when do you pray this? When is this prayer to be prayed? In the morning. He’s also taught us in this passage to pray what? “Give us this day our daily bread.” (Matthew 6:11) Can you imagine a person just about to go to sleep at night, puts his head on his pillow and he says, “Lord, it’s been a great day. Give me today my daily bread”? It’s all over. Why pray for your daily bread at the end of the day? And, in the same prayer where we’re taught to pray for our daily bread, we’re taught to pray, “God, deliver us from the evil one.” (Matthew 6:13)

What is wrong with so many of us is that we wake up in the morning, everything’s going fine: we jump out of bed, and we go in and get dressed, and we go in and have our breakfast, we catch a few pages of the newspaper, gulp down some hot coffee, get in the car and go to work—everything is just fine. We think we’ve got it made—and then, here comes the enemy. Then we fail; we fall. And, we come to the end of the day, and we say, “O God, forgive me my debts as I forgive my debtors. O God, forgive me, forgive me, forgive me.” And, every time you pray that in sincerity and in truth, He does forgive you—He does. And, thank God for that. But, why do we keep on asking Him to forgive us for the same thing? You ask God to forgive you, and He does. Then you fall again and say, “God, forgive me.” And, He does. And then, you fall again, and you say, “God, forgive me.” And, He does. There are those in this building who’ve asked God to forgive them for the same thing thousands of times. And, you know it is true. Thousands of times—and you know it is true. Why? Why? Why? Thank God He forgives. I’ll tell you why we keep asking God to forgive us for the same thing: because we’ve only learned part of this prayer. We’ve learned to pray, “God, forgive us,” but we’ve not learned to pray, “Lord lead us, lest we fall into temptation. Deliver us from evil.”

You see, the best way to deal with your sin is not at the end of the day to clean it up, but at the beginning of the day to prevent it. As you go out, this prayer is not the lock that closes the night; it is the key that opens the morning. As we come to God in prayer and as we pray to God in the morning for daily bread, we should pray for daily deliverance—that God will deliver us.
“Well,” you say, “it’s not so bad around here, pastor. We live in the buckle on the Bible belt.” A Romanian pastor came to this country. He lived here for a while. And, do you know what he said? He said, “Satan is revealed in the Bible as a roaring lion and as an angel of light.” He said, “In Romania, we knew Satan as roaring lion, and his chief power was persecution and fear. But,” he said, “in America, I have known Satan as an angel of light, and his chief power is compromise and complacency. And,” he said, “it has been more difficult for me to deal with him as an angel of light than as a roaring lion.” It was easier to stay right with God with persecution and fear than with compromise and complacency. And, most of the people in this congregation this morning are compromising with the enemy, and you are losing—you’re losing your family, and you’re losing your children, you’re losing your testimony, you’re losing your reward, and you don’t even know it—complacency. A roaring lion; an angel of light.

And, Jesus Christ taught us to pray. When the great Dr. Sidlow Baxter was here, he said many wonderful things, but one thing he said that has stuck in my mind. He said that he can just imagine Lucifer himself gathering all of the other demons, and they’re saying, “What can we do to destroy Adrian? What can we do to destroy Dale? What can we do to destroy Bob? What can we do to render that man powerless?” And, Lucifer says, “Keep him from praying. Keep him from praying because no matter what else he does, if he doesn’t pray, we can beat him every time. But, if he prays, if he learns how to pray, he’ll beat us every time. Keep him from praying.”

There’s not a failure in my life, in your life, but what somehow it is a prayer failure. We have not prayed. Our Lord Jesus taught us to pray, “[Our God.] lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from [the] evil [one].” (Matthew 6:13) He would never have taught you to pray that if He did not intend to deliver you. Matthew chapter 26, verses 30 and following. It’s dark Gethsemane. Jesus is praying. The disciples are sleeping. Verse 40: “And he cometh unto the disciples, and findeth them asleep, and saith unto Peter, What, could ye not watch with me one hour?”—now, listen to this. Matthew 26:41—“Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation.” (Matthew 26:40–41) “Watch and pray”—“Watch and pray.” (Matthew 26:41) You say, “I don’t know why I fail so much.” What is your prayer life like? What is your prayer life like? Our Lord taught us to pray, “[Father.] lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.” (Matthew 6:13)

III. Rely on Sovereign Protection from Evil
Now listen, you must recognize the sinister person of evil. You must realize the seductive power of evil. Thirdly and finally, you must rely on sovereign protection from evil. Look in verse 13 again. Look at it—Matthew 6, verse 13: “And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil”—and then, notice the little word for—“for thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever.” (Matthew 6:13) That is the sovereign protection from evil.

Now, what I’ve spoken about Satan this morning, I do not want to keep your focus on the evil empire but on the glorious kingdom of God. Thank God for the note this prayer ends on: “For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory.” (Matthew 6:13) There are three cords that run throughout the Bible. One is the dark and somber cord of Satan’s revolt. The other is the crimson cord of the blood redemption, and the third is the golden cord of our Lord and His Christ. And, you need to see all three of those and need to learn, as we sang this morning, that the battle is the Lord’s; there is victory in Jesus. And, the Bible tells us in Ephesians chapter 6 and verse 11 to “put on the whole armour of God, that [we] may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil” (Ephesians 6:11)—and the whole armor of God is Jesus Christ. I’ve got wonderful news for you—wonderful news! You don’t have to fear. You don’t have to fall. You don’t have to faint. But, you can stand if you’ll learn how to pray.

A. His Is the Kingdom
What is the ground of our victory? First of all, we need to see that the ground of our victory is God Himself. “[His] is the kingdom.” (Matthew 6:13) That means absolute authority. Listen to these words: His kingdom cannot fail. He rules over earth and heaven. The keys of death and hell are to our Jesus. Do you believe that? Listen; learn this: Satan is powerful, but he is not all-powerful. Satan rules, but he rules a doomed domain. Satan sails a sinking ship. “[God’s] is the kingdom.” (Matthew 6:13)

B. His Is the Power
And, “[God’s] is…the power.” (Matthew 6:13) Some verses—Genesis 18, verse 14: “Is any thing too hard for the LORD?” (Genesis 18:14) Jeremiah 32, verse 17: “Ah Lord GOD! behold, thou hast made the heaven and the earth by thy great power and stretched out arm, and there is nothing too hard for thee.” (Jeremiah 32:17) Jeremiah 33:3: “Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and show thee great and mighty things.” (Jeremiah 33:3) “Thine is…the power.” (Matthew 6:13) Oh, what a mighty God we serve! All power resides in Him. And, “greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world.” (1 John 4:4)

A man went to an atomic power plant to see how they produced power. You know what he found out? He found out they don’t produce power at all; all they do is release power that’s in those elements. Friend, you don’t produce power; all you do is release the power of God that is in you. “[God’s] is…the power.” (Matthew 6:13) You have a dynamic power plant in you: God Himself.

C. His Is the Glory
And, “[His] is…the glory.” (Matthew 6:13) You want to get your prayer answered? Do you know what the secret of all answered prayer is? Right here: “Thine is…the glory.” (Matthew 6:13) Listen. Put this verse down—John 14, verse 13: “And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son.” (John 14:13) When your reason for asking and His reason for answering are the same, your prayer will be the same; your prayer will be answered. When you want Him glorified and He wants to be glorified, your prayer will be answered. “Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory.” (Matthew 6:13)

Conclusion

I’m telling you—I’m telling you out of my heart—that these are dangerous days in which we live. And, if you think that God just brought you here this morning for a Sunday morning exercise just to hear some preacher give a little three-point outline, you’ve missed it. God loves you so much—God loves you so much. You’re so privileged, not because I’m the preacher, but you’re so privileged to be able to hear today God’s plan for you in these evil days to protect your children, your family, your very life, your future—to learn how to pray. Pray in the power of the Holy Spirit, and pray like this: “O God, lead me, lest I fall into temptation. Deliver me from the evil one: for yours is the kingdom, power, and the glory, forever. Hallelujah!” It starts with the Father. It ends with Him again: “Our Father…thine is the kingdom.” (Matthew 6:9–13) A Father who can hear me, a King who can answer me—sympathy. “Our Father” (Matthew 6:9) — sovereignty. “Thine is the kingdom” (Matthew 6:13) — what a mighty God we serve! Folks, it’s not that complicated. Let’s learn to pray.†

Introduction

It has well been said, there is nothing—nothing—that lies outside the reach of prayer but that which lies outside the will of God. Our greatest need is to learn how to pray. And let's listen to the Master Pray-er, the Lord Jesus, as He tells us about prayer—Matthew chapter 6 and verse 5: “And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward. But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly. But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think they shall be heard for their much speaking. Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him. After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.” (Matthew 6:5–13)

Now, here is a prayer that our Lord Jesus Christ gave us. He didn’t give us this prayer simply to rattle off. As a matter of fact, He warned us about vain repetition. This is not a prayer necessarily to be memorized, though I hope you will memorize it—but not necessarily a prayer to be memorized and repeated. Often we get in a convocation of saved and unsaved alike, and someone will say, “Now, let’s all stand and say the Lord’s Prayer.” Well, you don’t say prayers; you pray prayers. There’s a difference. Suppose you and I are sitting in your living room, and you say to me, “Say a conversation.” Prayer is talking with God. It is not rattling off some phrases, even if they have come out of the Bible. Now, if this prayer meets the need of your heart, and it is expressing the exact desire that you feel, then you may pray those exact words. But Jesus did not say, “Pray this prayer.” Jesus said, “Pray in this manner; pray in this way.”

This is a prayer that is to be a guide—a lesson in prayer. Look in verse 9. Jesus said this: “After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven. Hallowed be thy name.” And that’s all we’re going to talk about today, is verse 9: “Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.” The title of the message today: “When We Say Father.”

What does that mean: that you and I can come to God and pray and call Him our Father? Three things.

I. When We Say Father, We Express God’s Nature

Number one: when we say Father, we express His nature, because it is the nature of God to be a Father. Who is this God to whom we pray? Well, different people have called Him by different things. Aristotle, the philosopher, called Him “the Unmoved Mover.” Huxley, in our day, called Him “the Eternal Unknown.” Arnold called Him “the Absolute Unknown.” In Star Wars, He’s “the Force.” To the irreverent, He’s “the Man Upstairs.” But do you know what Jesus called Him? One hundred and sixty-seven times in the Gospels alone, Jesus called Him Father—Father.

Now, what does that mean that we can address the One to whom we pray as Father? Did you know today in America there are people who do not want us to pray to God as Father, and many of them call themselves Christians? Did you know there is a great move in churches today to remove the idea of God as Father from the Bible, from our hymnal, from the prayer life of the church.

Here’s an article that was in The Wall Street Journal recently—Monday, April 27, 1992. This was the article. I clipped it, and I want to read a part of it to you. The title is “The Lord’s Name: Images of God as ‘He’ Loses Its Sovereignty in America’s Churches. More Worshipers Challenge Language That Describes Supreme Being as a Male.” “Long Beach, California. The First Congregational Church here looks every inch a bastion of religious tradition inside the imposing Italian renaissance structure graced with delicate rose windows, mahogany pews, and a grand old pipe organ. Then the Sunday service starts. ‘May the God who mothers us all bear us on the breath of dawn, and make us to shine like the sun, and hold us in the palm of Her hand,’ intones Mary Ellen Kilsby, the pastor.
Unorthodox? Some would say so. But no longer unique. The ancient Western image of God the Father is coming under assault. Although still relatively unusual, in most of America’s 350,000 Christian churches, gospel like this is making inroads among church leaders who have begun purging hymnals and liturgies of references to God as male. ‘I don’t think our conception of God will ever stand again,’ says Joseph Hough, Dean of Vanderbilt University’s Divinity School in Nashville, Tennessee. In his public utterances, Dr. Hough alternately refers to the Deity as She, then He. ‘I don’t think anyone would want to defend a view that God values males more than females. But that’s exactly what traditional language does,’ he says.

“The roots of the debate over what to call God are often traced to a book by Mary Daly called Beyond God the Father, a critique of patriarchal religion, that bluntly states, ‘If God is male, then male is God.’ A number of theologians warned that language shapes reality, and unless the church changes its imagery, it will effectively endorse gender and race bias. And, by insisting on God as Father, they say”—listen to this one—“traditionalists risk deifying a mere word, committing the sin of idolatry.” So now, if you call God Father, they say, “Why, that’s idolatry.” There is a Greek word for that. It’s baloney.

“‘As society becomes aware of the issue of injustice, the society’s language has to change to mirror that,’ says Letty M. Russell, Professor of Theology at Yale Divinity School.” And listen to this statement: “The way to respect the original words is to retranslate them as our understanding of their meaning changes.” Now, that’s the way you respect the original: just retranslate it. I’ve never heard such double-speak as that. “The Reverend Kilsby’s preaching has encouraged the congregation toward eclecticism. As they gather over coffee after the Sunday service, members talk about how they picture God as a cloud, a formless spirit, Mother Earth.” And on and on it goes, and gets more nauseating as it goes.

Jesus our Lord said, “When you pray, you begin, ‘Our Father’—‘Our Father.’” Now we’re not just ascribing human attributes to God. We don’t first look at ourselves, and say God is like us. That’s not the idea. No, no, no, no! Divine fatherhood is not a reflection of human fatherhood, but vice versa. Human fatherhood is a reflection of divine fatherhood. And it’s very, very important that you understand this, because some people have had cruel fathers. Some people have had harsh fathers. Some people have had weak-willed, feminine fathers. So we don’t get our idea of God from human fatherhood. To the contrary. We set the standard for human fatherhood by understanding what God is like. It is what God is like that every human father should understand and endeavor to be; not that we make God in our image, but that we might, my dear friend, conform more and more to the image of God.
This is not an analogy, when the Bible says that God is a father. He doesn’t mean that God is like a father. God is a father. It’s not merely analogous. This is not what God is like. It is what God is. When we say, “Our Father,” we express His nature.

II. When We Say Father, We Expect God’s Nurture

Number two: not only do we express His nature, but we expect His nurture—we expect His nurture. “What do you mean by that?” I mean that He is going to take care of us like a father takes care of his children. You see, we are His children. Now we always talk about our duty to God, and indeed we have a duty to God, but have you ever thought about it? God has a duty to you. We’re His children. I mean, God is honor-bound to take care of His children. God has a responsibility to take care of His children. He’s not going to take a vacation to Acapulco and leave us alone. He, my dear friend, has a responsibility to take care of His children. We are His children.

Now I want to say this: that God is not the Father of all people. There’s this wrong doctrine that many people sentimentally believe. They call it the universal fatherhood of God and the universal brotherhood of men. But God, in a spiritual sense, is only the Father of those who’ve been born into God’s family. You say, “No, God is the Creator of all, and therefore God is the Father of all.” Well, God created rats, roaches, buzzards, and rattlesnakes. He’s not their Father. He is their Creator. God is the Father of those who are born into the family of God.

Remember what the Bible says, in John 1:11–12, “He came unto his own, and his own received him not. But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God.” As many as received the Lord Jesus, they have the authority, the right, to become the sons of God. And then, John chapter 8 and verse 44—you remember that, don’t you? Jesus was speaking to the unsaved religious leaders of his day, and Jesus said, “Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do.” (John 8:44) You become a child of God by faith in Jesus Christ, the Apostle Paul tells us, in Galatians chapter 3. It is very clear and very plain—Galatians 3, verse 26: “For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus.” (Galatians 3:26)

A. We Have the Father’s Care

God becomes your Father, not by creation, but by conception. When you’re conceived of the Holy Spirit of God, when you are twice born, you’re born into the family of God. And because you’re His children, you have His care. Now, look, if you will, in Matthew chapter 6 and verse 26. Look at it—Matthew chapter 6 and verse 26: “Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them”—not “their heavenly Father”; “your heavenly Father feedeth them.” “Are ye not much better than they?” (Matthew 6:26)

Now, here’s the logic of our Lord. He’s saying, “What farmer would feed his chickens and neglect his children?” That’s what He’s saying. He’s saying, “Look, you’re my children. You’re better than animals.” There’s a difference between animals and human beings. The animal rightists don’t seem to understand this. But there is a distinct intrinsic difference. You are a child of God. You’re not a beggar. God has a responsibility to you. You have the Father’s care.

B. We Have the Father’s Correction

But not only do you have the Father’s care; because you’re His child, you have the Father’s correction. Look in Matthew chapter 6, and look in verse 14: “For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you: but if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.” (Matthew 6:14)

Now this is one of many examples where we find out that, not only do we have the Father’s care; we have the Father’s correction. God is not a doting Father. He is a Father that demands and commands respect of His children, and tells us that, when we’re wrong, He’s going to correct us. The fact that the Father chastises me doesn’t mean that He doesn’t love me. It means that He does love me. God loves me too much to let me live in sin. When I say Father—when I say Father—because I’m His child, I have His care. He wouldn’t feed His chickens and neglect His children. Because I say Father, I have His correction. He loves me, and He deals with me lovingly. When He scolds me, or when He whips me, that doesn’t mean He doesn’t love me.

Here’s a little boy out in the yard. He’s playing in the mud, and he’s covered with mud. And his father sees him. His father may go out in the yard, and take a hose, and hose him off, before he lets him come in the house. It’s not the little boy the father’s rejecting. It’s the dirt. And when God corrects us, God is not rejecting us. It is the sin in our life that God is rejecting.

C. We Have the Father’s Compassion

And when we say Father, not only do we have His care, and not only do we have His correction; we have His compassion. Look in chapter 6 and verse 8. He says, “Be not ye therefore like unto them:”—that is, like the heathen—“for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.” (Matthew 6:8) Now, what does this mean? It means when you say Father, He is a Father that compassionately wants to meet your needs. The Bible says, in Psalm 103, verse 13, "Like as a father pitieth his children, so the LORD pitieth them that fear him." (Psalm 103:13)

D. We Have the Father’s Companionship

When we say, “Our Father,” we’re talking about one whose compassions—whose compassions—fail not. When we say, “Our Father,” we express His nurture: we have His care. When we say, “Our Father,” we express His nurture: we have His compassion. When we say, “Our Father,” we have, dear friend, His companionship.

Have you ever thought about how fathers and sons are supposed to get along? I heard long ago about a man who was a bookkeeper. And this was back before the days of computers, and this man took special pride in his ledgers. I mean, he had every entry just right; it was just so. And he had his office at his home. And the children were told not to come in the office, and not to disturb Daddy while Daddy worked. And this man was in there making an entry in this journal, when his little four-year-old boy threw open the door and just ran full-speed into the room, and took a leap, and jumped up into his daddy’s arms, while his daddy was in that swivel chair. When he did, he hit his daddy’s arm, and the pen went right across the page and ruined the whole page.

When the father realized what happened, he threw the pen down, and he said, “Son, haven’t I told you not to come in here when I’m working? Look, son, what you’ve done. You’ve ruined the whole page. I’ve told you to stay out of this office when I’m working.” The little boy’s chin started to quiver, and tears just welled up in his eyes, and he said, “I’m sorry, Daddy.” He said, “I just wanted to sit in your lap. I just wanted to rub your beard.”

And when he said that, it just broke the father’s heart, and he realized what a mistake he’d made to throw off the love of that little child and to reject the love of that child. He said, “Son, I’m sorry. Daddy’s sorry. These books are not that important.” And closed the book, and he put his pen aside, and took that little fellow up, and hugged him, and just smelled his neck as a little scent that boys have, and just hugged him up close. And then they went out and walked a while, and talked about things that fathers and sons are supposed to talk about.

When I heard that, I said, “You know, I’m so glad that my heavenly Father is not so busy flinging out the sun, the moon, and the stars, and running this mighty universe, that He does not have time to speak to me.” There’s not a time but, when I say “Our Father,” He’s ready to listen.

I stay busy like most of you. And sometimes I dread the telephone. The telephone rings sometimes. I’m right in the middle of something that I must get done. I’m facing a deadline. The telephone rings, and I really don’t want to pick it up, but I know I must—and I pick it up. And I’m called by a lot of things. I have a lot of names. One of them is Adrian. One of them is Pastor. But one of them is Daddy. And when I pick up that phone, and on the other end it says Daddy or Papa, I tell you, right away then, I’m ready to talk—ready to talk. It’s because, you see, a child or a grandchild has an entrée that nobody else has.

And that’s what our Lord is saying: that when we say Father, we’re not coming to Him in some other relationship. We have His companionship. There’s a relationship between a child and the parent. Corrie Ten Boom put it in a beautiful way. She said, “When you pray, don’t wrestle; nestle.” Don’t you love that? “Don’t wrestle; nestle.” Just come to God as a Father.

III. When You Say Father, You Exalt His Name

Now, here’s the third thing—and I want to be very quick about this. When you pray to God, and you say Father, first of all, you express His nature. He is a father. He is Father. You express His nature. Number two: You expect His nurture. He has a responsibility to you. And, number three: You exalt His name. That’s the third thing. “Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.”

Now the word hallowed means “to speak with reverence.” You must recognize His name. You must reverence His name. And you must rely on His name.

What is His name? When Jesus said, “Hallowed be thy name,” what name was He talking about? Now this may surprise you, but do you know what the greatest name of the ages is? Do you know the one name above all names that is supreme? It’s Jesus. Let me give you this. Listen to this. This will bless you. John 17, verse 6—Jesus said, “I have manifested thy name”—“I have manifested thy name.” (John 17:6) And put that with Philippians 2:9: “God has given Him a name which is above every name.” There’s no name above His name.

And when Jesus said, “Hallowed be thy name,” Jesus was interjecting Himself here into this thing. And so, when you pray, you come in the name of Jesus. You come through the Lord Jesus Christ. We are to recognize the name. We’re to reverence the name. We are to rely upon the name. John 14, verses 13 and 14—Jesus said, “And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that I will do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son.” “Our Father...Hallowed be thy name”—“Hallowed be thy name.” “If ye shall ask any thing in my name, I will do it.” (John 14:13–14)

Conclusion

When we say, “Our Father,” we express His nature. When we say, “Our Father,” we expect His nurture. When we say, “Our Father,” we exalt His name. That’s the way our prayer begins: just talking to God as a Father.
Introduction
Matthew chapter 6. Progressing through the Sermon on the Mount, today, we come to a wonderful section on prayer, a subsection that we’re calling “Learning to Pray.” How important it is that we learn to pray! Listen to me: my friend, the time will come, if it is not already here, that, when for God to answer your prayer will be the most important thing to you on this earth. You can learn many things, but you can learn nothing better than to learn how to pray. Nothing can stand against the man who can pray because prayer can do anything that God can do—and God can do anything. It has well been said that “nothing lies outside the reach of prayer but that which lies outside the will of God.” You do not have a need but what proper prayer would help you to attain that which you need. You do not have a failure in your life but what proper prayer would have avoided that failure. You do not have a burden, a heartache, a tear or a fear that proper prayer cannot help to remove, to soothe, to bless, to help, to heal. I’m telling you, my dear friend, that prayer—prayer—is the order of the day.

The disciples asked the Lord Jesus, “Teach us to pray.” (Luke 11:1) Here’s what the Lord Jesus taught. Look in Matthew chapter 6 and verse 9: “After this manner therefore pray ye.” (Matthew 6:9) Before we even read the prayer, let me say that this is not primarily a prayer to be recited. Our Lord has already warned about vain repetitions. (Matthew 6:7) Sometimes we’ll be in a public assembly, and someone will say, “Let’s all stand and say the Lord’s Prayer.” Well, friend, you don’t say prayers; you pray prayers. Suppose I come and sit down in your living room; you look at me and say, “Say a conversation.” You see, that just doesn’t fit, does it? Prayer is not talking at God; it is talking with God. It is not rattling off beautiful thoughts—even verses of Scripture. Jesus is giving us a model prayer. Jesus is saying, “Pray like this.”

Now, let’s look at it and see: “After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.” (Matthew 6:9–13) What a mighty prayer this is! And, it is a model prayer for my prayer and your prayer. And so, we’re going to be spending a number of Sundays discovering what these verses teach because, friend, there is a world of truth packed in this model prayer that the Lord Jesus Christ gave that has endured throughout the ages. And so, today, we’re going to spend our time on one verse primarily, and that is verse 9—the way the prayer begins: “Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.” (Matthew 6:9) The title of the message: “When We Say, ‘Father.’” Now, what happens when we come to God and say, “Father”? Well, basically, three things.

I. When We Say, “Father,” We Express His Nature
And, number one: We express His nature. He is a father. What do we call God when we pray? Do you know what Aristotle called God? If this doesn’t leave you cold, nothing will. Aristotle the philosopher called Him “the Unmoved Mover.” That is, there’s nothing we can do to affect Him. He changes everything, but nothing changes Him. He’s unmoved. Thank God, He is not unmoved. He is touched with the feeling of our infirmity. Huxley, a more modern philosopher, called Him “the Eternal Unknown”—you’ll never know Him; you can’t know Him. Arnold called Him “the Absolute Unknown.” That just leaves me cold. Then our kids have been going to the movies. They want to call Him “the Force” because they’re watching Star Wars—“the Force.” But, 167 times in the Gospels, Jesus called Him “Father.” And, when you say, “Father,” you express His nature. God’s nature is the nature of a father.

Now, we don’t call Him “Father” because we know fathers and so what we’re trying to say is that our prayer is the reflection of our fatherhood. Oh, no. Our concept of father, and the very fact that we are human fathers, is that we are made in His image.
His fatherhood is not a reflection of our fatherhood but vice versa. Now, God is not like a father. This is not an analogy. God is a Father. We’re not talking about what God is like when we say, “Father”; we’re talking about what God is.

“Well,” you say, “big deal. Everybody knows that.” Did you know, my dear friend, in modern theology today, there’s a move to remove the idea of God as Father? Did you know that? As a matter of fact, they even speak of God as female. In churches across America today, you can hear God referred to as “She.” And, people would not want to pray, “Our Father which art in heaven” (Matthew 6:9); they’d pray now, “Our Parent in heaven.” You say, “That’s ridiculous.” I say, “Amen.”

Let me read to you from The Wall Street Journal—the prestigious Wall Street Journal, Monday, April 27, 1992. Here’s an article; I have it clipped: “The Lord’s Name: Images of God as ‘He’ Loses Its Sovereignty in America’s Churches. More Worshipers Challenge Language That Describes Supreme Being as a Male”: “Long Beach, California. The First Congregational Church here looks every inch a bastion of religious tradition. Inside the imposing Italian Renaissance structure, graced with delicate rose windows, are mahogany pews and a grand old pipe organ. Then the Sunday service starts. ‘May the God who mothers us all bear us on the breath of dawn, and make us to shine like the sun, and hold us in the palm of Her hand,’ intones Mary Ellen Kilsby, the pastor.”

A more local theologian said this—and I quote: “I don’t think our conception of God will ever stand again,” said Joseph Hough, Dean of Vanderbilt University’s Divinity School in Nashville, Tennessee. In his public utterances, Dr. Hough alternately refers to the Deity as ‘She,’ then ‘He.’ ‘I don’t think anyone would want to defend a view that God values males more than females. But that’s exactly what traditional language does,’ he says”—so he’s talking about calling God “Father,” just simply “traditional language”—“The roots of the debate over what to call God are often traced to a book by Mary Daly called Beyond God the Father”—that is, we’ve moved past that. Friend, Jesus was too old-fashioned for us—“Beyond God the Father, a critique of patriarchal religion, that bluntly states, ‘If God is male, then male is God.’ A number of theologians warned that language shapes reality, and unless the Church changes its imagery, it will effectively endorse gender and race bias”—now, do you see what you have done? Friend, when you say that God is Father, you’re gender-biased and racially biased. Shame on you, and shame on Jesus!—“And, by insisting on God as Father, they say”—listen to this one; this will bless your heart—“traditionalists risk deifying a mere word, committing the sin of idolatry.” So now, when you say, “God is Father,” and you say, “That’s the only way we should pray,” you’ve made a god of the word, and, therefore, that’s idolatry. Well, there’s a Greek word for all of this. It’s baloney.

And then, listen to this: “As society becomes aware of the issue of injustice, the society’s language has to change to mirror that,’ says Letty M. Russell, Professor of Theology at Yale Divinity School”—and here’s another classic example of double-speak. I want you to listen to this—“The way to respect the original words is to retranslate them as our understanding of their meaning changes.” Listen to it again: “The way to respect the original words is to retranslate them as our understanding of their meaning changes.” That’s the most classic piece of double-speak I’ve ever heard: “God says something. I don’t like it. I understand it differently. I’ll change it, and that’s the way I respect it.” It is Jesus who taught us to pray, “Our Father.” It is the basic intrinsic nature of God—not what God is like; what God is.

Put these verses in your margin. First Corinthians chapter 8, verse 6: “But...there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him.” (1 Corinthians 8:6) Or, perhaps this one—1 Corinthians chapter 15, verse 24: “Then cometh the end, when he shall have delivered up the kingdom to God, even the Father” (1 Corinthians 15:24)—not talking about what God is like; it’s what God is: the Everlasting Father. As a matter of fact, we’ll bring a whole message on this subject here on the feminists, who now have tried to change the very nature of deity to fit in with their schemes. This is not anti-female or pro-male; it’s just simple Bible doctrine, my dear friend.

II. When We Say, “Father,” We Expect His Nurture
And, when we say, “Our Father,” number one, we express His nature. Number two: When we say, “Our Father,” as we express His nature, then we expect His nurture—His nature and His nurture. You see, when we say, “Our Father,” that infers that we are His children, that we have been sired by Him, that we have been spiritually begotten of Him.

You see, God is not universally the Father of all people. So often, in glowing words, we hear this phrase: “the universal fatherhood of God”—now I suppose it will have to be “the universal motherhood of God”—“the universal fatherhood of God and the universal brotherhood of men”—well, we’d say, “the universal fellowship of people” today—“the universal fatherhood of God and the universal brotherhood of men.” But friend, God is not the Father of all people. God is the Father of those whom He has sired and who are born into His family.

The Bible says, concerning the Lord Jesus Christ, in John 1:11–12, that Jesus “came unto his own, and his own received him not. But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name.” (John 1:11–12) Jesus said to the unsaved religious leaders of His day in John chapter 8 and verse 44: “Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do.” (John 8:44) Like father, like son. You see, the Bible teaches in Galatians chapter 3 that we have become “the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus.” (Galatians 3:26) That’s the way we become children of God. That’s the way God becomes our Father. We are supernaturally born again. When God becomes our Father, His very life comes into us.

Now, I know how some of you are thinking right now. You’re racing your theological motors, and your logic is running away. And, you’re saying, “But wait a minute, pastor. Didn’t God create all human beings? And, if God created all human beings, wouldn’t that make God the Father of all human beings?” No, that makes God the Creator of all human beings. There’s a difference between fatherhood and creation. You see, God created many things. God created rats, roaches, buzzards, and rattlesnakes. He is their Creator. He’s not their Father. God becomes our Father, not by creation, but by conception, when we’re born into His family. And, the Bible says it is then we become “partakers of the divine nature.” (2 Peter 1:4)

A. We Have the Father’s Care
So, if He is our Father, then He has a certain responsibility to us. Now, we often talk about our responsibility to Him—and we do have a responsibility to whom? All children have a responsibility to their parents. But, you know, there are two sides to that coin. Parents have a responsibility their children. And, no one will ever have to level the charge of child neglect to our Heavenly Father. He is a Father who will take care of His own. God will fulfill His duties to you, and that ought to give you great, great comfort as you think of God as a Father. Because we’re His children, we have His care.

Let me show you what the Lord Jesus Christ taught about this, for example, here in Matthew chapter 6 and verse 26: “Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?” (Matthew 6:26) And, for all the animal rightist people, again, the Lord Jesus Christ makes an intrinsic difference between men and animals, and especially between the children of God and animals. What’s He saying? He’s saying, “Look. You see these birds? Your Heavenly Father”—not their Heavenly Father; your Heavenly Father—“feeds them. Aren’t you better than they are?” Do you see the logic of our Lord? What farmer would feed his chickens and starve his children? The God who takes care of the fowls of the air is the God who cares for you because you are His. You’re the object of His care. You’re a child of God. You’re not a beggar. Children don’t beg for their food. God is going to take care of you.

B. We Have the Father’s Correction
You see, because of the Father’s nature—we express His nature; we expect His nurture—we can say, “God, you are going to care for me.” But, not only do we have the Father’s care; along with that, we’re going to have the Father’s correction. Look in chapter 6 and verses 14 and following: “For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father”—do you see it? Your Father—“will also forgive you: but if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.” (Matthew 6:14–15)

Now, we’re speaking, not of the Father’s care, but of the Father’s correction. He’s not a doting Father. He’s not a Father who says to His children, “Live any way you like, and I’ll not correct you”—“Because I care, I will correct you.” And, the classic passage that goes along with this—I would like for you to put it in your margin—is Hebrews chapter 12, verses 5 through 7, and that speaks of the Father’s correction in a very plain way. Whoever the writer of Hebrews was, he says this: “And ye have forgotten the exhortation which speaketh unto you as unto children, My son, despise not thou the chastening of the Lord, nor faint when thou art rebuked of him”—now, to be rebuked means to be “scolded”; to be chastened means to be “whipped.” Verse 6—“for whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth, and scourgeth every son whom he receiveth”—and listen to verse 7. This is Hebrews 12:7. Listen to it clearly—“If ye endure chastening, God dealeth with you as with sons; for what son is he whom the father chasteneth not?” (Hebrews 12:5–7) If you’re a child of God, God loves you too much to let you get by with sin.

Sometimes people join a church like Bellevue Baptist Church, they get baptized, they continue to live in sin, and nothing ever happens. And, they say, “Well, God must surely love me. God lets me get by with sin.” God doesn’t love you like He loves His own children, “for whom the Lord [loves] he [chastens].” (Hebrews 12:6) Had you been His child, God would have carried you to the woodshed.

You say, “Why doesn’t God chastise me when I live in sin?” Because you’ve never been saved. This passage in Hebrews 12 goes on to say, “But if ye be without chastisement, whereof all are partakers, then are ye bastards, and not sons.” (Hebrews 12:8) You say, “Pastor, that’s strong language.” What does that mean? It just simply means this: God is saying, “If you were my child, I would have chastened you. But, since I didn’t chasten you, you’re not truly my child. You may appear as my child, but I did not legitimately father you. You were not truly born into my family. I’m not your Father. Somebody else is your father. If I were your Father, I would have carried you to the woodshed. If you were without chastisement, it’s just simply a sign that I never really fathered you.”

Now, if a mother goes to the front yard, and there are some children out there fussing, and a squabble, that mother calls her own children in, and she chastens them—or the father chastens them—but you don’t whip and punish the neighbors’ children. You’d better not in this day and age—you’ll get in trouble. They’re not yours. You chastise your own. And so it is with God the Father.

Do you know the difference between how God deals with a child of God and a child of the devil? You see, God deals with His own children on a cash basis, and God deals with the devil’s children on a credit basis. God deals with us as a father; God deals with them as a judge. God deals with us now; God deals with them at the Judgment.

Romans chapter 2, verse 5 speaks of the unsaved, and it says this: “But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasurerst up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath”—that is, you’re putting judgment in the bank; you’re just treasuring it up against the day of wrath—“and revelation of the righteous judgment of God.” (Romans 2:5) God says, “I am going to deal with you, not as a father; I’m going to deal with you as a judge at the Final Judgment.” But now, He deals with His children. He deals with them on credit: they’re just putting it in the bank. But, He deals with us day by day. As soon as you sin, as a child of God, the Father steps in to chastise. I’ve said many times from this pulpit, when God saves you, He doesn’t fix you up where you can’t sin any more, but He sure does fix you up where you can’t sin and enjoy it any more.

You know the difference between cash and credit? I learned that as a youngster. I guess I was about five. I went with my dad in West Palm Beach, Florida, to the community grocery store on Georgia Avenue up on the hill. My brother and I were in the store that day, and I saw something that day that astounded me. My dad went into that store and bought some groceries, and as he walked out, he said to the man behind the counter, “Charge it.” I’d never heard that word: “Charge it.” And, that man wrote something down in a book, and my dad just waved and walked out. I thought, “That’s the most amazing thing I’ve ever heard.” I’d never heard that word before: “Charge it.”

I went again, and I watched. My dad walked in there, bought some groceries, and said to that man who knew my dad very well, “Charge it.” My dad didn’t even sign his name. That’s the kind of business they had in those days. That man wrote something down in the book, and my dad walked out. I said, “Aha!” I told my brother, “I think we have something wonderful here. We have discovered a very special word.” So, we thought we’d give it a trial run. We put some money in our pocket, just in case it did not work, and bought some soft drinks, stayed around the store for a while, and on our way out, we looked to the man, and we said, “Charge it.” He nodded his head. And, we walked out. We thought we’d found the key to Fort Knox. And, for about two weeks we would visit the community grocery store and buy what we wanted, walk out, and say the old magic word: “Charge it.”

But, one day my dad called us in, and he had some things in front of him. And, right there, in a very special way, I learned two things: I learned, number one, the difference between cash and credit. And, I learned this: whom the father loves, he chastens. I learned that right then.

C. We Have the Father’s Companionship

Now friend, God loves us too much to let us get by with sin. “Whom the [Father loves],
...and so, when we say, “Our Father,” friend, we can expect His care. Indeed, we can, because what father would feed his chickens and starve his children? And, we can expect His correction. “If [you] forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your [Heavenly] Father forgive [you],” (Matthew 6:15) and so forth. “Whom the Lord [loves], he [chastens].” (Hebrews 12:6) There’s a third thing that we can expect because He is Father: not only can we expect that, but we can expect His companionship. Did you know He loves to be with us? It is a wonderful relationship. Father-and-daughter relationship? It is a wonderful relationship.

I’m called by many things. I have many names. I’m called “Pastor.” I am called “Adrian.” There’s someone who calls me “Honey” and those who call me “Daddy.” And, some call me “Papa.” And, I can just tell you, folks, that there are days when I get very, very busy, and I’m pressed, and I have certain deadlines. For example, I preach about six times a week, at least. And, I’ve got to be ready to preach. It’s like taking off an airplane. Pine trees are at the end of that runway: you’d better get up off the ground—and it’s time to preach. I face a lot of deadlines. Sometimes the phone will ring and I don’t want to answer the phone, but I know I must. And, I pick it up, not knowing what I will face on the other end. And, when I hear somebody say something like, “Hello, Daddy,” friend, it makes all the difference in the world. Man, I want to answer that phone. If they say “Papa,” it makes a double difference. I just want to talk because these are mine; they’re my children.

And, our Lord is saying that when we come to Him, we’re not talking about the Unmoved Mover, we’re not talking about the Unknown Absolute—we’re talking about our dear Father. And, the Bible says, “God hath sent [His] Spirit...into [our] hearts, crying, Abba, Father.” (Galatians 4:6) Do you know what that means? Romans 8: “Abba, Father.” (Romans 8:15) That’s an Aramaic diminutive. It means “Daddy, Father.” Have you ever thought about God as a daddy? You say, “That’s irreverent.” No, as a matter of fact, when Jesus taught us to pray, “Our Father,” in Matthew chapter 6 and verse 9, Jesus spoke, scholars tell us, in the Aramaic. And so, the word that Jesus would have used that is translated “Father” here is the word Abba—“Father.”

Now today, our children say, “Dada,” but in the Middle East, they say, “Abba.” That’s just the most basic syllables that a child can lisp. And, Jesus says that we can call the great God of the universe “Abba, Father”—“Daddy, Father.”

A father had his office at home. He was a bookkeeper. He was so proud of his ledger, so proud of his journals, that every entry was just right. He told the children, “Stay out of the office while Daddy is working.” He was sitting there at his desk making an entry in his journal when his little four-year-old boy burst in the room, ran across the... room, gave a leap, jumped up into his daddy’s arms while his dad was in that swivel chair. That pen went shooop right across the page and made a black mark all the way across the page. The father threw his pen down, slammed the journals shut, and said, “Son! Son, look what you’ve done! Didn’t Daddy tell you to stay out of the office? Son, look what you’ve done! You’ve messed up everything!” The little boy just started to cry. He said, “Daddy, I’m sorry! I’m sorry!” He said, “I just wanted to sit in your lap, and hug you, and rub your beard.” That broke the daddy’s heart. He put the pen down, picked the little boy up, and said, “No, son, Daddy’s sorry. I’m so glad you wanted to see me,” and gave that little boy a hug, and left the office, and they went around to walk and to talk about things that boys and daddies ought to talk about.

Friend, listen, I’m so glad that our Heavenly Father never gets so busy putting out the sun, the moon, and the stars, and running this universe, and commanding the angels that He doesn’t have time just to close his ledger and talk to you like there’s no one else on earth and nothing else for Him to do. You can come to Him anytime, any day and talk to Him and call Him “Daddy.” And, I don’t mean to be irreverent, but friend, you can jump up in His lap and put your spiritual arms around His neck. You know what Corrie ten Boom said? She said, “Don’t wrestle; nestle.”

D. We Have the Father’s Compassion

He is a Father—He is a Father. And, because of that, you have His companionship. But, not only do you have His care, and not only His correction, and not only His companionship, but friend, you have His compassion. The psalmist said, “Like as a father pitieth his children, so the LORD pitieth them that fear him.” (Psalms 103:13) “His compassions fail not.” (Lamentations 3:22)

When our first child was born, I talked to my pastor at that time, and he said something to me that I have never forgotten—and it is so true. He said, “Adrian, before you have children, you always think of the love that Jesus, the Son, had when He died for our sins. But, after you have children of your own, you think of the great love that the Father had when He gave His Son. Isn’t that true? Isn’t that true? Fathers are compassionate. A true father would die for his children, gladly fling down his life for his children. And, that’s exactly what God the Father did in His great compassion.

Recently I read a story, and I don’t mind telling you that the tears popped out of my eyes as I read this story, it so deeply moved me. A man had a massive heart attack, was taken to the hospital, the emergency room. They came in and saw that the man was in critical condition. A nurse was there. He said, “Nurse, would you please do something for me?” He said, “I have no family, except one daughter. She lives in this city.” He said, “I have not seen her for a year. Would you please call this number and tell her that I am here in this hospital and I really want to see her?”
The nurse said, “I’ll do it,” and she called the daughter. When the daughter heard what happened, she began to cry. She said, “No, no, you cannot let him die! I have not seen my dad for almost a year. The last time I saw my daddy, we had a terrible argument, and I told my daddy I hated him. I don’t really hate him. I didn’t hate him then, but I was so full of pride; I was so hurt. Please don’t let my daddy die! I’ll be there in thirty minutes. I want to see my daddy alive. Please don’t let him die! I’ll be there in thirty minutes.”

But then, code 99 was sounded, and that man’s heart began to give its dying gasps. And, all of the personnel came in and began to frantically work over him, and to pound on him, and to shock him, and to do all of those things to get that heart beating again. But, they were just pulling the sheet over him when the girl burst through the door. She was too late. And, the nurse stood aside, and she’d been praying, “God, don’t let him die ’til she gets here.” And, the nurse watched as the daughter put her face in her hands and began to weep. The last words she had said to her daddy on this earth were, “I hate you”; and now, he was dead.

And, the nurse, not knowing what to do, said, “Maybe God can use me.” So, the nurse went and put her arms around this girl and let her cry for a while and said, “Would you like to go in where he is?” The girl said, “I never really hated him. I never really hated him. I was so full of pride. I loved him. I loved him.” They went into the room. This girl just buried her face in the sheet and wept. And, the nurse looked over there on the nightstand, and there was a note there on the nightstand. And, the note said this: “Dear Susie, I want you to know that I love you, and I forgive you. And, I want you to forgive me. And Susie, I know you love me—Daddy.”

When I read that, I was so blessed, because I thought, “You know, no matter what happens, even an earthly father, even an earthly mother, they have a love that is stronger than any other love.” And yet, the Bible says, “When my father and my mother [cast me off], then [will] the Lord…take me.” (Psalms 27:10)

Oh friend, “His compassions [they] fail not.” (Lamentations 3:22) What a loving Heavenly Father! And, if an earthly father loves his daughter that way, how much more does God your Father love you!

And, what do we do when we pray to God and say, “Our Father”? Well, we express His nature: He is a Father. We expect His nurture: He is a Father who cares. He is a compassionate Father. He, my dear friend, is a correcting Father. Think of your great God as a Father.

III. When We Say, “Father,” We Exalt His Name
But then, there’s a third thing, and we must close: not only do we express His nature, and not only do we expect His nurture, but oh, friend, we exalt His name. Listen to what it says: “Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name”—“Hallowed be thy name.” (Matthew 6:9) When you pray this way, you exalt His name.

A. Recognize His Name

Now, in order to do that—listen—first of all, you must know what the name is. You must recognize the name. “Hallowed be thy name.” (Matthew 6:9) Well, what name is that?
What name is the name above all names that we hallow when we pray this way? Did you know that Jesus Christ, when He was here on earth, said this to the Father:
 “[Father.] I have manifested [your] name”? (John 17:6) Did you know that in Isaiah chapter 9, verse 6, concerning Jesus, His name is Wonderful? (Isaiah 9:6) Did you know that in Philippians chapter 2, verse 9, the Bible says that God has given Jesus Christ—are you ready for this?—“a name which is above every name”? (Philippians 2:9)

Do you remember when the banners came in here, and all of the banners were displayed—and all of the names of deity and all of the names of Christ? There is one name that is above every name. You know what it is? Jesus. Would you like to say it?
Jesus. Say it again. Jesus. That, my friend, is the name above all names. “God [has] given him a name which is above every name.” (Philippians 2:9) Jesus said, “[Father.] I have manifested [your] name.” (John 17:6)

B. Reverence His Name

Now, you recognize the name, and then you reverence the name. “Hallowed be thy name.” (Matthew 6:9) You see, when we say that God is our Father, intimacy does not mean irreverence. Oh, we’re to give Him praise and honor and glory and majesty, as we’ve done this morning. Never speak disrespectfully just because you can sit in His lap and put your arms around His neck, spiritually.

C. Rely upon His Name

But, not only do you recognize the name and reverence the name; oh friend, rely upon the name. Jesus said in John chapter 16: “Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name:
ask, and ye shall receive.” (John 16:24) “If you ask anything in my name”—“in my name”—“I will do it.” (John 14:13) So wonderful! When we pray, right on the front door of this prayer, we’re to come in the name that is above every name, in the name of Jesus. And, when we pray in the name of Jesus, the name that is above every name, when we hallow that name, when we recognize that name, when we worship that name, we have great power in prayer.

Two boys graduated from high school. They’d not seen each other for a long, long time, and they met on the street. One of the boys was a respected lawyer in that city who had made a lot of money. The other boy had become a beggar, a tramp. They met unexpectedly. They recognized one another. The beggar, the tramp, looked at the successful lawyer and said, “It’s wonderful what has happened to you. You went one way. I went another way. Look at me. I have nothing.” They talked for a while, and the lawyer said to his friend, “I hope I’ll not embarrass you, and I hope you’ll not think that I’m trying to patronize you—but I’d like to write you a check. I can do it. We’re old friends. I would like to make a gift to you. Here’s a check. I want you to take it and buy some things that you might need.” And, the man took the check and looked at it. “Oh,” he said, “that’s a generous gift. You’re a wonderful friend. I don’t know what to do with it.” He said, “Well, carry it to the bank and cash it.” “Oh,” he said, “will I go into the bank looking like this, dressed in these rags? Do you think they would give me any money?” And, the lawyer said, “My friend, it’s not the way you look that counts; it’s my name on the check."

And, that’s the way our Lord has taught us to pray. We don’t bring our shabbiness to God. Friend, when we pray, we pray in the name of Jesus. “Ask anything in my name, and in my name I will do it, that the Father may be glorified in the Son.” (John 14:13) “Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.” (Matthew 6:9)

Conclusion

Isn’t it a wonderful prayer that we can just begin with these words: “Our Father”? We express His nature, expect His nurture—we exalt His name—when we pray that way.

Introduction

Take your Bibles, please, and turn, if you will, to Matthew 6. We’re continuing our series today on the principles of prayer, and we’re studying that model prayer, the disciples’ prayer, the prayer that Jesus gave as a specimen prayer to teach us how to pray.

Matthew 6:9: “After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.” (Matthew 6:9–13)

Dwight L. Moody was a great evangelist. He was the Billy Graham of his day. He had a penetrating insight into human nature and into the Word of God. Dwight L. Moody said, “There is one sin that is giving Christians more difficulty than any other sin, and there’s one sin that is perhaps doing more than anything else to hold back the power of God and revival in the Church.” Now, what do you think that sin was and is? An unforgiving spirit.
I want to speak to you today about prayer, but I want to talk to you when prayer is dangerous. I want to talk to you today about “Dangerous Prayers.” And it’s wonderful to pray.

Thou art coming to a King,
Large petitions with thee bring;
For His grace and power are such,
None can ever ask too much.

A. —JOHN NEWTON

Oh, He’s a King. “For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever.” (Matthew 6:13) And, what a privilege it is to come to Him in prayer and to have our needs met! And, one of the greatest needs that we can have met is the need of forgiveness. Look in verse 12: “And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.” (Matthew 6:12) How wonderful that our debts can be forgiven!

Now, why does God call sin “debt”? Well, because we owe God something because of our sin. Now, in the affairs of men, when one man will injure another man or harm another man, those two often come into a court of law. And, a jury and a judge decide how much is to be paid to the one who’s been injured: “How much do I owe that person that I’ve injured?” And, in a lawsuit, an assessment is made against the guilty person, and there is a fine, a penalty that must be paid; there are damages that are awarded. And, the person who has injured the other person is in debt to that person and must pay that person. We’ve sinned against a holy God. We’ve come into heaven’s court. We have been found guilty, and there are damages that have been assessed against us. And, we’re guilty for what we’ve done, but we’re also guilty for what we have not done. God is Earth’s landlord, and we live here. And, is there one of us who can say we’ve done as we ought? You see, not only are there sins of what we do, but there are sins of what we fail to do. And, the Bible teaches that the sins of omission are greater than the sins of commission. That is, we’re behind in our rent.

For example, when Jesus placed a curse upon that fig tree, why did He place a curse upon that fig tree? Did it have poison fruit on it? No, it had no fruit. When that man buried his talent in the ground and Jesus said he went away into outer darkness, why did he go away into outer darkness? Had he confiscated the money? Had he misappropriated the money? Had he abused and misused it? No, he didn’t do anything with it. He just simply buried it in the ground. When Jesus gave the parable of the Good Samaritan—you remember that man was going from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell among thieves—and the priest passed him by, and the Levite passed him by, why did Jesus point out that they were guilty? Did they go over and finish that poor critter off? No, they just passed him by; they failed to do what they ought to do.

A man was walking through a factory that he owned, and he said to one worker

Now listen, the Bible says, “To him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin.” (James 4:17) God is the landlord. We’re behind in the rent. Is there anybody here who would stand up and say, “Pastor, I’ve always done for my Lord what I ought to have done”? No. What I’m trying to say is, friend, that sin is a debt; it is a debt that we owe God for things that we’ve done and things that we have failed to do—a great debt, a grand debt, an immeasurable debt, and, from our point of view, a debt we cannot pay.

Now, what does it mean to forgive? Do you know what the word forgive literally means? It means “to bear the burden.” When you forgive somebody, you bear the burden of that person’s debt.

Now, suppose I owed you a thousand dollars, and you say, “Pastor, I’m going to forgive the debt.” Well, when you forgive the debt, it costs you a thousand dollars. Do you understand? You see, when you forgive, then you bear the burden. Every time somebody is forgiven somebody else pays. Every time somebody is forgiven someone pays. There are no free forgivings; there are no bargain pardons. It costs—and it costs dearly—to forgive.

Now, God paid the price when He forgave us, and that’s the reason we call grace “God’s Riches At Christ’s Expense”—G-R-A-C-E—“God’s Riches At Christ’s Expense.” You see, God just doesn’t forgive us. When God forgave us, He paid a price. It took the silver of Christ’s tears and the gold of His blood upon Calvary’s cross that God might forgive us. He took our sins into Himself, and He “bare our sins in his own body on the tree.” (1 Peter 2:24) It costs to forgive. But, as we’re going to see in a moment, it’s worth it.

Now, there are many Christians, however, who need to be forgiven. And, God is willing to bear the burden, and God is willing to pay the price—indeed, has already paid the price—but those Christians are not forgiven because there’s another condition: that in order for us to be forgiven, we must be willing to forgive others. Now, Jesus taught us to pray, “And forgive us our debts, as we forgive those that are indebted to us.” (Matthew 6:12) Now, let me talk to you a little bit, therefore, about forgiving one another, okay?

I. The Compelling Reasons for Forgiving One Another

Now, first of all, I want to talk to you about the compelling reasons for forgiving one another. What are the compelling reasons for forgiving one another? And, right now, perhaps God the Holy Spirit is bringing into your heart and in your mind somebody that you’re holding a grudge against, somebody that you dislike, somebody that you’re saying, “Hey, I owe him one.” You’ve got your little IOU book out there, and you’ve got an IOU; and you say, “I’ll get you.” All right, listen. What are the compelling reasons for forgiving one another?

A. The Grace That We Share
Number one: the grace that we share. You see, God has forgiven us, and because God has forgiven us, then we are to forgive one another. We share such a marvelous grace. Listen to Ephesians 4:32; many of you know it by heart: “Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you.” (Ephesians 4:32) God has been so good to us. God has forgiven us. God has given us such grace. Then, we ought to forgive one another. That’s what Ephesians 4:32 says. Sam Jones, who was a Methodist evangelist, said this: “I had a hard time forgiving people until I made up my mind I wasn’t going to fall out with anybody until they treated me worse than I treated the Lord Jesus Christ.” I mean, we crucified Christ; we nailed Him to the cross. And yet, He forgave us.

B. The Guilt That We Bear
So, that’s the first compelling reason: the grace we share. But, secondly, the guilt we bear. Now, you see, all of us, from time to time—I don’t care who we are—we still fail every day. And, just as we need to pray for daily bread, we need to pray for daily pardon, don’t we? Sure we do! Is there anybody here who lives perfectly? You know, some churches teach sinless perfection.

I remember hearing about a man giving a testimony, talking about the fact that he was sinlessly perfect. And, it sounded pretty good until his wife stood up in the back and she said, “Remember, John, I’m here.” He sat down.

Now, listen. Let me tell you something, folks. Daily, every one of us has to come and say, “Lord, I failed, and Lord, I want you to pardon me. Lord, I want you to forgive me, and forgive me my debts. I haven’t been, I haven’t done, I haven’t said, I haven’t given, I haven’t acted like I ought to have been, and said, and done, and given, and acted. Lord, I want you to forgive me.” But friend, if we don’t forgive others, He just simply is not going to forgive us.

Look, if you will, in verse 14. Jesus explains it: “For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you: But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.” (Matthew 6:14–15) Now, why is this such a dangerous prayer: “Forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors”? (Matthew 6:12) Do you know what you’re praying? Pay attention. You’re praying, “Lord, I want you to treat me like I treat other people.” That’s a dangerous prayer, isn’t it? I mean, for some folks, that’s dangerous. You’re saying, “Lord, I want you to treat me like I treat others. Forgive me my debts in the same way as—in the same manner—I forgive

You say, “Well, I just can’t forgive her.” God says, “Okay, I can’t forgive you. That’s what you prayed.” You say, “Well, I’ll forgive her, but I can’t forget.” God says, “Okay, I’ll forgive you, but I’ll never forget. That’s what you prayed.” You say, “Well, well, I’ll forgive her, but I’ll never have any more to do with her.” God says, “Okay, I’ll forgive you and never have any more to do with you. I mean, that’s what you’re praying.” That’s a dangerous prayer. You’re saying, “Lord, I want you to treat me like I treat other people.”

“Forgive us our debts, as”—in the same manner—“we forgive other people.”

John Wesley and Oglethorpe, who was the Governor of Georgia back when Georgia was a colony, were having a discussion. And, Oglethorpe said to Wesley, “I never forgive,” and John Wesley said to General Oglethorpe, “Then, I hope, sir, you never sin.” Now listen, friend. Are you paying attention? An unforgiving spirit is unforgivable. The man who will not forgive another person destroys the bridge over which he himself must travel.

Take your Bibles—you’re in Matthew 6—turn to Matthew 18 and look, beginning in verse 21 here for a moment—Matthew 18. This is a story about Simon Peter. You know, Simon Peter often opened his mouth just to exchange feet. “Then came Peter to him, and said, Lord, how oft shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? till seven times?”—now remember, seven, being the perfect number, Simon Peter thought, “Well, if I forgive my brother seven times, I’ve gone far beyond the call of duty.” But, he wasn’t prepared for Jesus’s answer—“Jesus saith unto him, I say not unto thee, Until seven times: but, Until seventy times seven.” (Matthew 18:21–22) How many is that? Four hundred and ninety. Now, did Jesus mean on the four hundred and ninety-first time we beat his brains out? No, no, He didn’t mean that at all. What Jesus meant here—Jesus is just using a hyperbole, or just a figure of speech, to say, in essence, “As many times as he sins and he requests forgiveness, he comes in a repentant spirit, you just forgive him that many times.”

And then, Jesus gave a parable, and what a stinging parable it is! Look at it, beginning in verse 23: “Therefore is the kingdom of heaven likened unto a certain king, which would take account of his servants”—that is, he was doing an inventory—“And when he had begun to reckon, one was brought unto him, which owed him ten thousand talents.” (Matthew 18:23–24) Now, how much is that? Well, I tried to do some research, and one Bible I found said it was 52,800 dollars, if it was a talent of silver. If it was a talent of gold, it would probably be like our national debt—I mean 52,000,000 dollars. When Jesus told the story, He must have told it with a twinkle in His eye because that was more than the accumulated taxes of the whole land in that day. And, here’s a man who owes this king 52,000,000 dollars.

All right, and verse 25: “But forasmuch as he had not to pay, his lord commanded him to be sold, and his wife, and children, and all that he had, and payment to be made”—what the king said: “Well, I'll get something out of him. I'll sell him as a slave, and whatever I get by selling him and his family and liquidating all of his assets, I'll apply that against the debt”—“The servant therefore fell down, and worshipped him, saying, Lord, have patience with me, and I will pay thee all”—of course, he couldn't. How was he going to pay? He couldn't begin to pay. How was he going to pay it? But, he was asking for more time. The king, realizing the man can’t pay it, never could pay it, the king just has compassion on him. Look in verse 27—“Then the lord of that servant was moved with compassion, and loosed him, and forgave him the debt”—now, I want to tell you, at that moment, it cost the king 52,000,000 dollars. The king said, “I'll just take it all in. I will absorb the debt. I am out 52,000,000 dollars. I forgive you.” But wait—“But the same servant went out, and found one of his fellowservants, which owed him an hundred pence”—I looked this up: forty-four dollars; less than fifty dollars—“and he laid hands on him, and took him by the throat, saying, Pay me that thou owest. And his fellowservant fell down at his feet, and besought him, saying, Have patience with me, and I will pay thee all. And he would not: but went and cast him into prison, till he should pay the debt. So when his fellowservants saw what was done, they were very sorry, and came and told unto their lord all that was done. Then his lord, after that he had called him, said unto him, O thou wicked servant, I forgave thee all that debt, because thou desiredst me: Shouldest not thou also have had compassion on thy fellowservant, even as I had pity on thee? And his lord was wroth”—that is, he was angry—“and delivered him to the tormentors, till he should pay all that was due unto him”—and now, notice the stinging conclusion in verse 35—“So likewise shall my heavenly Father do also unto you, if ye from your hearts forgive not every one his brother their trespasses.” (Matthew 18:25–35)

Now, it's very clear, friend, that there are some people here and in other churches who are letting a fifty-dollar grudge shut out the love of God in their hearts and in their lives. I’m telling you again, an unforgiving spirit is unforgivable. When you refuse to forgive me, when I refuse to forgive you, when we refuse to forgive one another, then God just closes the curtain and says, “That's it! You've shut yourselves away from the grace of God. You've destroyed the bridge over which you must travel.” An unforgiving spirit is unforgivable.

†A father came home and walked into the living room of the house, and the little brother and the little sister were having a fight. Did you ever fight with your little sister, your little brother? Did you? They were having a fight. Now, the little daughter was kind of a con artist. When she saw Daddy come in, she knew she was in trouble. But, right away, she put on those crocodile tears. She came over to her daddy and said, “Daddy, I'm so sorry. Daddy, we shouldn't have been fighting. It was wrong, Daddy, and I want you to forgive me, Daddy. And, I love you, Daddy.” And, before long, she was in her daddy’s arms, hugging her daddy’s neck, and he was thinking, “Boy, she really has got the right spirit about this whole thing. I don’t need to punish her.” But then, he happened to look out of the corner of his eye, and while she was hugging his neck, she was sticking her tongue out at her little brother. He sat her down, and he said, “Sweetheart, you can’t hug my neck and stick your tongue out at your little brother at the same time.”

I want to tell you, there are some who’ve come this morning to worship the Lord, you come in this beautiful auditorium, and you sing, “It is Well with My Soul,” “’Tis So Sweet to Trust in Jesus,” “What a Friend We Have in Jesus,” and there’s some brother here, and some sister, that you’ve got a grudge toward. Do you think God receives that worship? I mean, you’re harboring a grudge. There are people who sometimes come to the Lord’s Table and partake of the Lord’s Table and they’re out of fellowship with a brother or with a sister in Christ. An unforgiving spirit is unforgivable.

I want to tell you something, mister: that unforgiving spirit will do more damage to you than it will ever do to the person you refuse to forgive. Did you know that? Did you know that resentment and an unforgiving spirit is slow suicide? Did you know that hate is an acid that destroys its container? What a debilitating effect it has on us, emotionally as well as spiritually—people spending all their time, their lives, trying to get even.
Friend, don’t you realize that that’s exactly what you do? You get even. When you’re up here and somebody wrongs you, they’re down here. When you get even, where are you? You’re down there with them. You don’t want to get even with them. No, you want to bring them to where you are and to restore that person.

Now, why? Why? Why? Why? What are the compelling reasons for forgiving one another?
Number one: the grace we share—God has forgiven us. Number two: the guilt we bear—even though we have been forgiven, and saved, and brought into the kingdom of God, even so, day by day, we fail, and we sin, and we need that daily pardon. “But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.”
(Matthew 6:15)

I wonder, do you have a fifty-dollar grudge today? It’s not worth it, friend. It is not worth it. Now, unforgiveness is a boomerang: it’s going to come back on you, and it’s going to do tremendous damage.

II. The Costly Requirements for Forgiving One Another
Now, secondly—first of all, I’ve talked about the compelling reasons for forgiving one another—secondly, I want to talk to you about the costly requirements for forgiving one another. Now, it costs to forgive. Remember what I said that forgiveness means? To bear the burden, to pay the debt. You cannot forgive easily, but you must forgive.
Now, Jesus is the model for us. We’re to walk as He walked; we’re to follow in His steps. Remember what the Scripture says? “Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you.” (Ephesians 4:32) That is the model and the pattern for our forgiveness—the way that God forgives us in Christ. “Be ye kind…tenderhearted, forgiving one another, [in the same way]”—in the same way—“[that] God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you.” (Ephesians 4:32) Then, therefore, how should we forgive one another?

A. We Ought to Forgive Freely

Well, number one: We ought to forgive one another freely. Now, that means we ought to be in a hurry to do it. Don’t wait around. Be swift to offer forgiveness. When they were nailing Jesus upon the cross, as they were driving those searing nails into His quivering palms, His lips are moving. We bend low to listen to hear what the Son of God is saying and what He is praying. And, what is it? “Father, forgive them”—“forgive them” (Luke 23:34)—I mean, while they’re crucifying Him. He did it freely. He did it quickly.

Have you ever wronged somebody and they took it out on you—I mean, they beat you up over it? I don’t mean physically; I mean verbally, I mean emotionally, they squeezed every drop of blood of you. I mean, they told you about it. They extracted their pound of flesh. They excoriated you. And finally, finally, they said, “Well, I forgive you.” I feel like saying, “Never mind. I mean, never mind. I’ve already paid. I mean, I’ve paid in full. You’re not forgiving me. You’re just using that as an excuse.” You see, we are to forgive freely. We are to forgive quickly.

Why, we’re even to chase somebody down that we might forgive them. Look in Matthew 18, where we were, and verse 15. Jesus here is talking about somebody that has wronged you. Jesus says, “Moreover if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone”—you say, “Well, he sinned against me. Let him come to me.” That isn’t what the Bible says. The Bible says—“Go [to him] and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother.” (Matthew 18:15) You’re not there to tell him off; you’re there to get him back. That’s what the thing is. It’s not that you’re there to let him know what a rat he is. That’s not the idea. You’re to find him.

You remember after Adam and Eve sinned in the Garden of Eden? You would have thought that God would have waited up in heaven and that Adam would have run all over the Garden of Eden without God there and said, “God, where are you?” But, it was Adam that was hiding in the bushes, and it was God walking through the Garden of Eden who said, “Adam! Adam! Adam! Where art thou?” (Genesis 3:9)—God seeking him to forgive him. And, as God forgave me, as God sought me to forgive me, I’m to seek you to forgive you. That’s a different level, isn’t it, than saying, “Well, it’s his fault. He did it. I’ll wait ’til he comes to me”? You see, we are to forgive. We are to forgive. freely. We’re actually to chase people down that we might forgive them. “Freely [we] have received, freely [we are to] give.” (Matthew 10:8)

B. We Ought to Forgive Fully

But, not only are we to forgive freely; friend, we’re to forgive fully. What I mean by that is, don’t do less than forgive when somebody else wrongs you. You know, so many times we want to do less than forgive. Have you ever wronged somebody and come and confessed it to that person, and they say, “Oh man, don’t worry about that! Forget it”? That’s not forgiving. Do you know what that is? That’s pride on their part. They don’t want to admit that it really bothered them. I mean, they want to act like they’re bigger than that. Now, it really did bother them. I’m not talking about a thing that is truly inconsequential that needs to be forgotten, but I mean sometimes when there’s a real wrong done, and we know there’s a wrong done, and that person knows there’s a wrong done, but we say, “Look, I’m sorry”—“Ah, man, forget it!” What they’re trying to act like is they’re above that.

Now friend, you can’t forget it until it’s forgiven. Did you know that? It can never be forgotten until it is forgiven because forgetting is not the means, it is the fruit, of getting right. Then, you can forget it. But, when you forgive a person, forgive them freely and forgive them fully. Don’t make excuses. Truly forgive. Don’t act like it doesn’t matter. Truly forgive. Forgive that person freely. Forgive them fully. And, by the way, if you wrong somebody, and you come to that person and ask for forgiveness, if you’re wise, you’ll try to get forgiveness. If they say, “Just forget it,” you say, “Well, I appreciate that, but I sure would like to hear you say, ‘I forgive you.’ Would you please just forgive me?” And, nail it down. It will make him feel better, and it will make you feel better at the same time.

C. We Ought to Forgive Finally

But, not only should you forgive freely and fully; you ought to forgive finally. I mean, when it’s forgiven, it is forgiven. That’s the way God forgives us, isn’t it? “Their sins will I remember against them no more.” (Hebrews 8:12; Hebrews 10:17) He has cast our sins behind His back. (Isaiah 38:17) Isn’t that great? Where are my sins? Behind God’s back. You say, “What if He turns around?” They’re still behind His back. When your sins are just behind your back, that’s where they are. “As far as the east is from the west, so far hath he removed our transgressions from us.” (Psalms 103:12) I’m glad He didn’t say, “As far as the north is from the south.” I can measure from the North Pole to the South Pole, but I can’t measure from the east to the west—limitless, boundless infinity. That’s how far God has removed our sins from us. “He hath buried our sins in the depths of the sea.” (Micah 7:19) Praise the Lord! Gone, gone, gone, gone! Yes, my sins are gone! And, when God forgives, God forgets—and they’re gone!
So, I am to forgive freely; that’s the way God forgave me. I am to forgive fully; that’s the way God forgave me. I am to forgive finally; that’s the way God forgives me. “Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you.” (Ephesians 4:32) But, I want to tell you something: that is not easy. It costs. For you to forgive some people some things you’re going to have to taste Calvary. Did you know that?

Let me show you what I’m talking about. Turn to 1 Peter 2 for a moment—1 Peter 2. That’s kind of back toward the back of your Bible. Let me show you what the Lord Jesus did—verse 24: “Who his own self”—that is, Jesus—“bare our sins in his own body”—now, do you remember what I told you: that to forgive is to bear the burden?—“[Jesus] bare our sins in his own body”—our sins; His body—“on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed.” (1 Peter 2:24) Whoever heard of a doctor who took the disease for the patient? That’s what Jesus did. With His sickness I’m made whole. There is no bargain pardon. It cost the Lord Jesus. He died in agony and blood.

You say, “Yes, He did. I praise Him for it.” But, I want to show you something. Begin in chapter 3, verse 1: “Likewise, ye wives, be in subjection to your own husbands; that, if any obey not the word, they also may without the word be won by the conversation”—“of the behavior”—“of the wives.” (1 Peter 3:1) What does that word likewise mean? It means as Jesus took the hurt into Himself, there are some wives that are going have to take the hurt into themselves. Husbands who live in adultery, husbands who are cruel, husbands who are selfish, husbands who are vile, husbands, if they got what was coming to them—I mean, if they got what they deserve—would have no forgiveness and no mercy whatever. God says to a wife, “Jesus suffered for you, ‘the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God’; (1 Peter 3:18) likewise you can taste of Calvary and forgive that man.” There are people in this congregation who’ve done just that, and a home has been restored, not because that man deserved it, but because there was a little woman who saw that there are no bargain pardons and she tasted a bitter Calvary. But, you see, the Bible says, “Jesus…who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, [ despised] the shame.” (Hebrews 12:2) You can do the same thing.

Have you ever wondered, “Why does the Bible always pick on women? Why is it that the woman has to suffer that the man might come?” Well, the Bible doesn’t always pick on women. Look in verse 7: “Likewise, ye husbands” (1 Peter 3:7)—same, likewise; same context. There are some husbands who are going to have to taste of Calvary to bring a wife back. There are some parents who are going to have to taste of Calvary to win some children. And, they don’t deserve it; that’s not the point. We, none of us, deserve it. Christ took our sins upon Himself upon the cross.

You say, “Well, I don’t have that kind of strength.” You’re absolutely right! I don’t either. Friend, that’s supernatural, isn’t it? I mean, that’s supernatural! Have you ever heard this expression: “To err is human; to forgive is divine”? I mean, it is. To forgive is divine. You see, how are you going to do that? Well, the only way I know is Philippians 2:13: “For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure.” (Philippians 2:13) You’re going to have to get that strength from God. You say, “I can’t do it.” That’s right. Just say, “God, I can’t. You never said I could, but you can. You always said you would, and I’m going to let you. And Lord, I’m going to let you love through me. I’m going to let you forgive through me. I’m going to let you restore through me.” There’s a cost, but it’s worth it.

III. The Contagious Results of Forgiveness

But, not only do I want you to notice the cost; I want you to notice the contagious results of forgiveness. What happens when I take Jesus seriously? What happens when I begin to forgive others “even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven [me]”? (Ephesians 4:32)

A. Reconciliation

Well, first of all, there’s reconciliation. People are put back together. Listen to these verses. Matthew 18:15: “If thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he shall hear thee”—listen to this—“thou hast gained thy brother.” (Matthew 18:15) A brother is a precious thing. “Thou hast gained thy brother.” (Matthew 18:15) Listen to Matthew 5:24. Jesus said, “[If you come to worship and remember there] that [your] brother [has] ought against [you]; Leave [first] there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way; first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.” (Matthew 5:23–24)

There are some of you who ought not to be in this worship service today. You ought to be out making it right with a brother—it’s far more important than you coming and listening to me preach. Did you know that? You ought to just say, “Hey, wait! Before I come to bring my gifts to God, I’m going to go be reconciled to my brother.” You see, what God wants is reconciliation. That’s so important—reconciliation. That’s far more important than singing in the choir. That’s far more important than preaching a sermon. That is far more important than taking an offering—reconciliation. “Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!” (Psalms 133:1)

B. Revival

The very first thing, when we do this, is reconciliation. And, on the heels of reconciliation is revival. You know what revival is? Dr. Charles Culpepper is here this morning. Dr. Charles Culpepper was in the great Shantung Revival. Now, I’ve heard Dr. Culpepper give his testimony. And, Dr. Culpepper, and Bertha Smith, and others said, “Revival began when people began to confess their faults one to another, prayed one for another, and forgave one another.” Is that not right, Dr. Culpepper? That’s right. You know what revival is? It is not just getting the roof off; it is getting the walls down. It is not just saying, “I’m going to get right with God”; it is getting right with my brothers and my sisters. And, I want to tell you, I cannot be right with God if I’m wrong with you. I cannot!

C. Rejoicing
Reconciliation, revival, and, following that, rejoicing. “Wilt thou not revive us again: that thy people may rejoice in thee?” (Psalms 85:6) You talk about a Holy Ghost joy! When you know there’s nothing between your soul and the Savior and nothing between your soul and a brother, there’s “joy unspeakable and full of glory.” (1 Peter 1:8) Joy, reconciliation, revival, rejoicing—that’s the contagious result of hearing Jesus, and obeying Jesus, and praying, “[L]ord[,] forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors,” (Matthew 6:12) and being right with God. How important that is!

Conclusion

In 1829, George Wilson was adjudicated guilty for robbing the mails and for murder. They sentenced George Wilson to hang from the neck until dead. George Wilson had some friends who petitioned the president, Andrew Jackson, that he might be pardoned. I don’t know why Andrew Jackson pardoned George Wilson, but Andrew Jackson felt like that he ought not to hang. And, he issued a pardon, that George Wilson would be pardoned. They brought the pardon to the prison and said, “Wilson, you don’t have to hang. The president has pardoned you.” Wilson said, “I’m going to hang.” He said, “No, you don’t understand. You don’t have to hang. The president has pardoned you.” He said, “No, I’m going to hang. I refuse the pardon.”

Well, they never had that happen before. They didn’t know what to do with it. It went through one court to another, and it came to the Supreme Court. And, a Justice of the Supreme Court, John Marshall, gave this ruling. Are you ready for it? “A pardon is a piece of paper, the value of which depends upon the acceptance by the person implicated. If he does not accept the pardon, then he must be executed, even though the president has given the pardon.” God loves you, and He wants to pardon you. But, if you refuse it, you’ll die and go to hell. The pardon must be received. George Wilson hung by the neck not because the President would not pardon him, but because he would not receive it.

God is willing to forgive our debts, but we must receive that by a spirit that’s willing to forgive others and cast ourselves upon Him completely.
Introduction

I want you to take God’s Word tonight and find a very familiar passage, Matthew chapter 6, and I want us to look for a few moments at one verse—Matthew chapter 6 and verse 10. Our Lord is teaching us to pray, and in that prayer our Lord gives us this request to pray: “Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.” (Matthew 6:10) I want to talk to you tonight about the principles of kingdom living. “Thy

Conclusion

Main Scripture Text: Matthew 6:10

“Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.”

MATTHEW 6:10
kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth…”

Now, if you were to read today’s newspaper, or any newspaper, watch any newscast, or listen to any conversation, or even be a casual observer of life, you would find out that God’s will is not—I say, is not—being done on earth—not yet! It is in pockets, it is in hearts; but as a general rule, it is not being done. Man has endeavored to dethrone God and enthrone himself in all of his nuclear glory. And as he worships at the shrine of his computer, he says it in his heart, if not with his lips: “Our brothers, who are upon the earth, hallowed be our name. Our kingdom come; our will be done on earth, because there is no heaven.”

Well, I want you to think about God’s kingdom. What is the kingdom of God? What is it that Jesus asked us to pray for? When we’re to pray, “Thy kingdom come,” what are we talking about? Well, the kingdom is the realm where Jesus rules. That’s what it is. It is the realm where Jesus rules.

I. The Dimensions of the Kingdom
And, first of all, I want you to think with me about what I’m going to call the dimensions of the kingdom. They are threefold.

A. A Kingdom of Grace
First of all, His kingdom is a kingdom of grace. This young lady just sang “Amazing Grace.” The writer of the book of Hebrews says this in Hebrews chapter 4 and verse 16: “Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace”—“the throne of grace.” (Hebrews 4:16) Our Lord rules His kingdom from a throne, and that throne is a throne of grace. So, how do you get into the kingdom? The grace of God. The door into the kingdom is the new birth. It’s impossible, ridiculous, even ludicrous, to pray that God’s kingdom will come, that His will will be done on earth, if you’ve not invited Him to be King of your heart. First of all, you receive the Lord Jesus Christ into your heart.

Now we are saved by grace, but as I preached this morning, that also means the lordship of Christ; it means that He is King. Notice these phrases: “the throne”—that’s His kingdom—“of grace.” The lordship of Christ—the throne and the grace—are not mutually exclusive; they both dwell together. We are saved by grace, not of works of any kind. But at the same time, Jesus Christ rules from a throne of grace—from a throne of grace. Now the Bible says, “Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved.” (Acts 16:31) You cannot have Jesus as Savior without having Him as Lord. You cannot have grace without the throne of grace—His rule, His reign.

Years ago, I read about Lord Nelson, the great British admiral. And he fought the French, and the French were defeated. And Lord Nelson met a French admiral, and the French admiral was coming to surrender to Lord Nelson. And this French admiral was all dressed in his regalia; he had this sword by his side. And he walked across the deck of the ship to meet Lord Nelson. He had signed the papers of surrender, and with a smile on his face, he put out his hand to shake hands with Lord Nelson. And Lord Nelson said, “Your sword first, sir.” That is, “Before you give me your hand, give me your sword.” You don’t surrender with a sword by your side. My dear friend, before you can say, “Christ is Savior” and have peace with God, He says, “Your sword first.” God doesn’t take rebels to heaven.

It is grace, but it is a throne of grace—a throne of grace. “Let us…come boldly unto the throne of grace.” (Hebrews 4:16)

B. A Kingdom of Goodness

Now we’re talking about the dimensions of the kingdom. It’s a kingdom of grace. Hey, but wait a moment. It’s also a kingdom of goodness. Let me give you this verse—Romans chapter 14 and verse 17: “For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost.” (Romans 14:17) You see, it’s a kingdom of grace, and it’s a kingdom of goodness. What is our Lord saying? What are we praying for when we pray, “Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done”? (Matthew 6:10)

Number one: We’re praying that souls will be saved, and then we’re praying that those who are saved will live like saved people. “For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink.” It’s not a matter of externals. It’s not a matter of whether you’re rich or poor, whether you’re elevated socially. That’s not it. These three things constitute the children of the kingdom:

1. Righteousness

Number one: righteousness—righteousness. Don’t tell me you’re in the kingdom if you don’t live right. I don’t care what kind of songs you sing, or how you praise, how high you jump, or how loud you shout. It’s how straight you walk that counts. Dear friend, “the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness.” Jesus is the “King of righteousness,” (Hebrews 7:2) the Bible tells us.

2. Peace

And then, peace. That’s peace with God, and that is the peace of God, because not only is He the King of righteousness, He is “The Prince of Peace.” (Isaiah 9:6)

3. Joy

But, you see, there’s also joy—“joy unspeakable and full of glory.” (1 Peter 1:8) Now these are college kids behind me, and I thank God for them. And I love the handsome countenance of these men and the gracious beauty of these young ladies. They have so much life in front of them. And all around they’re going to be told, “Here’s where fulfillment is. Here’s where joy is. Here’s where meaning is.” I’m going to tell you kids something: Real joy, true joy—this is more than a cliché; it is an absolute, rock-ribbed foundational truth—real joy is in Jesus Christ. I mean that with all of my heart. If I had a thousand lives to live, I’d give every one of them to Jesus.

Friends all around me are trying to find
What the heart yearns for, by sin undermined;
I have the secret, I know where ‘tis is found:
Only true pleasures in Jesus abound.

—Harry D. Loes

C. A Kingdom of Glory

Now we’re talking about the kingdom, and I’ve said that we’re to pray, “Thy kingdom come.” It’s a kingdom of grace. It’s a kingdom of goodness. But, my dear friend, it’s also a kingdom of glory. There’s more to come. Listen to your pastor tonight: One day, Jesus Christ will actually, literally, bodily come back to this earth and rule and reign here—here on earth, the kingdom of glory. Do you know what we’ve been taught to pray? “Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done”—where?—“in earth, as it is in heaven.” (Matthew 6:10) Do you think Jesus Christ would have taught us to pray that had that prayer not be intended to be answered? I mean, would Jesus Christ have put in our hearts and our minds, in our bosoms, a desire to pray for something that would not happen?

When the angel announced the birth of the Lord Jesus in Luke chapter 1, verses 32 and following, he said this: “He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest: and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David: and he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever.” (Luke 1:32–33) Now the amillennialist scholars, who try to explain away the literal promises of the rule of Jesus on earth, they say this does not really apply, that Jesus is not going to rule here on earth, that that’s talking about salvation. But notice it doesn’t say He’s going to rule over Israel; it says He’s going to rule over Jacob forever. There are some people who say that God is finished with the Jew, but Jacob is the name not of the group that we might call spiritual Israel, the church, but Jacob is the name for His fleshly people. “He shall [rule] over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end.” Where is Jesus going to rule? He’s going to rule on earth, where He was born. Where is Jesus going to rule? He’s going to rule on earth, where He lived. Where is Jesus going to rule? He’s going to rule on earth, where He suffered. Where is Jesus going to rule? He’s going to rule on earth, where He was crucified. That’s where Jesus shall rule.

4. Man’s Revolt

Today, on this earth, Jesus Christ is an outcast. He’s an outcast in government, education, and society. But one of these days, our Lord is going to rule and to reign.

a. Violent Rage

I want to show you a psalm. Just turn with me, if you would, please, to Psalms chapter 2 for just one moment. I want you to listen to this—Psalms chapter 2, verse 1: “Why do the heathen rage, and the people imagine a vain thing?” (Psalms 2:1) Do you know what rage is? Rage is what you do when you don’t know what else to do. Have you ever noticed when people are losing an argument, they get red in the face? “Why do the heathen rage…?”

b. Vicious Rebellion
All right, first of all, you have violent rage. And then, look in verse 2: “The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the LORD, and against his anointed” (Psalms 2:2)—violent rage, now vicious rebellion. They “set themselves.” Can you see them as they square their jaws in determined opposition against Christ? May I tell you that Jesus Christ is not only the most loved but the most hated person on earth. The kings of the earth literally set themselves against Christ in their determined opposition.

c. Vain Reasoning
Violent rage—verse 1. Vicious rebellion—verse 2. Vain reasoning—verses 2 and 3. Continue to read; see what it says: They “take counsel together, against the LORD, and against his anointed, saying, Let us break their bands asunder, and cast away their cords from us.” (Psalms 2:2–3) They take counsel together. They pool their ignorance. They rationalize away eternal truths. They did it in Nazi Germany. They have done it in Soviet Russia. And they are doing it in the United States of America right now, saying, “Get rid of this religion! Get rid of this Bible! Get rid of these Ten Commandments! Get rid of all of this! We do not want it!” Violent rage, vicious rebellion, vain reasoning.

5. God’s Reaction
Well, what does God say about that?

d. Derision
Well, continue to read, beginning now in verse 4: “He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh: the LORD shall have them in derision.” (Psalms 2:4) Now, first of all, there’s derision. God laughs. God doesn’t laugh because it’s funny. It’s irony; it’s absurdity. God laughs at man flaunting his puny fist in the face of the Almighty.

e. Displeasure
Verse 4 is derision. Verse 5 is displeasure. Look, if you will, in verse 5: “Then shall he speak unto them in his wrath, and vex them in his sore displeasure.” (Psalms 2:5) Man has vexed the Almighty, and the Almighty is getting ready to vex mankind.

f. Determination
But notice not only derision, and displeasure; notice determination. Look in verse 6—and here’s the best part of this psalm: “Yet…” Now, if you have your own Bible, just draw a circle around the word yet. Here is man in rebellion against Almighty God and against His anointed— that is, against His Messiah, Jesus— saying, “No, we will not have this One to rule over us.” But here is what Jesus taught us to pray: “You pray that my kingdom will come and my will will be done on earth, as it is in heaven.” (Matthew 6:10) Well, will it be done? Look at that word yet. Oh, I love that word yet. God Almighty says from the glory, “yet,” in spite of the ranting of the atheist; “yet,” in spite of the scorn of the modernist; “yet,” in spite of the scorn of the modernist; “yet,” in spite of the ignorance of mankind; “yet,” in spite of the scheming of Satan, “Yet have I set my king upon my holy hill of Zion.” (Psalms 2:6) What does that mean? It means that Jesus Christ is going to reign from Zion, the very city where they crucified Him.

My dear friend, God has His heart set on it. God says, “I’m going to do it. It doesn’t matter what happens. All hell can’t stop it.” There’s a kingdom of grace: He rules from a throne of grace. (Hebrews 4:16) There’s a kingdom of goodness: “The kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness… peace, and joy.” (Romans 14:17) But, bless God, there’s coming a kingdom of glory.

May I tell you what my favorite verse tonight is? You know it meanders around. But here’s my favorite verse tonight—1 Timothy chapter 6 and verse 15. It speaks of Jesus coming, and it says this: “Which in his times he shall shew, who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings, and Lord of lords” (1 Timothy 6:15)—in His time—in His time! When they were carrying Jesus to crucify Him, the women were weeping. And Jesus looked at them, and Jesus said, “Don’t weep for me; weep for yourselves.” (Luke 23:28) He said, “This is your hour; my hour has not yet come.” (John 2:4) Oh, I love that—I love that! Oh, in the city where they crucified Him: “Yet”—yet, yet—“have I set my king upon my holy hill of Zion.”

Have you ever played checkers and people move the checkers back and forth, and then one time you see your move, and you put your man right there on king’s row, and you say, “Crown him”? That’s what God’s going to do: put His Son right there and say, “Crown Him.” And Jesus will reign!

Jesus shall reign where’er the sun
Does his successive journeys run;
His kingdom stretch from shore to shore,
Till moons shall wax and wane no more.

—ISAAC WATTS

The dimensions of the kingdom: It’s a kingdom of grace, a kingdom of goodness, and, bless God, a kingdom of glory. We’re praying for it: “Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done.” (Matthew 6:10)
II. The Demands of the Kingdom

Now there’s something else I want you to see: Not only the dimensions of the kingdom, but I want you to see the demands of the kingdom—the demands of the kingdom. What is the demand of the kingdom? Well, if He’s the King, then there comes with His lordship our service. So we’re to pray for His will to be done. That’s the demand of the kingdom.

Now our Lord is teaching them to pray. Do you know what the purpose of prayer is? The purpose of prayer is to secure the will of God. You see, when we pray, prayer is not some exercise where we bend God’s will to make it fit our will. Oh, no. Prayer is finding the will of God and getting in on it. And that’s the reason someone has wisely said, “Nothing lies outside the reach of prayer except that which lies outside the will of God.” Prayer is finding the will of God and getting in on it. “Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done.” (Matthew 6:10)

Now, let me give you the formula, therefore, for getting your prayer answered. It’s found in 1 John chapter 5, verses 14 and 15: “And this is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask any thing according to his will, he heareth us.” (1 John 5:14) Don’t worry about praying in the will of God—I mean, like the will of God is something you have to do. No, the will of God is something you get to do. Praying in the will of God does not limit you; it frees you. Praying in the will of God does not mean fewer blessings for you; it means more blessings for you, because God wants for you what you’d want for yourself if you had enough sense to want it. God loves you, and God’s will is for your welfare as well as for His glory. But you don’t get your prayers answered without faith, and you don’t get faith or confidence until you know you’re in the will of God.

A. You Have Never Prayed with Faith About Anything That Wasn’t the Will of God

May I tell you, dear friend, number one: You have never prayed with faith about anything that wasn’t the will of God—never! You might have called it faith, but it wasn’t faith, because God didn’t give you faith. God only gives you faith for that which is His will. You see, God is not going to give you faith for something that is not God’s desire. So if it wasn’t God’s will, why would God give you faith to claim something? You see, faith isn’t something you generate; faith is a gift of God. You have never prayed with faith for anything that wasn’t the will of God.

B. You Have Never Prayed with Faith but What Your Prayer Was Answered

I’m going to tell you something else: You have never prayed in faith but what your prayer was answered—never! “This is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask any thing according to his will, he heareth us”—whatever it is. (1 John 5:14) When we pray in faith, we have it. That’s the reason Jesus Christ taught us to pray, “Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done”—“Thy will be done” (Matthew 6:9–10)—because praying in the will of God is the secret of praying in faith.

How do you know the will of God, therefore? May I give you three quick principles that you might pray in faith in the will of God?

1. The Surrender Principle
Number one: There is the surrender principle. You bow before that throne of grace, that throne of goodness, and that throne of glory. He’s the King; let Him reign supreme. You see, the Bible says—and we’ve referred to this verse several times recently—Psalm 37, verse 4: “Delight thyself also in the LORD: and he shall give thee the desires of thine heart.” (Psalms 37:4) What does that mean? Does that mean that you can love God and have what you want? No, my dear friend. It means if you love God, you’ll want what He wants. That’s what it means. You see, “I want to have what you want me to have, God. I delight in you.” When you delight in God and not in yourself, when you want the will of God, my dear friend, then you’ll have the desire of your heart. James says, “Ye lust, and have not; ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not. Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your lusts.” (James 4:2–3) The surrender principle.

Let me ask you a question: Is there anything you wouldn’t do for God if you knew He wanted you to do it? Now, don’t answer it out loud, but think about it. Is there anything you wouldn’t do for God if you knew He wanted you to do it? My dear friend, if you cannot say, “I am ready to do whatever He wants me to do, regardless,” you’re not in a position to know the will of God. God does not show His will to rebels. There is the surrender principle. When you delight yourself in the Lord, when you say, “Lord, you are Lord”—that means boss—“whatever it is, I’m reporting for duty,” that’s step number one: the surrender principle.

2. The Scripture Principle
Step number two is the Scripture principle. God gives you His Word so that you might know His will. That’s the reason Jesus said in John 15, verse 7, “If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you”—have their dwelling place in you—“ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.” (John 15:7) Now, wait a minute. Do we ask what God wills, or do we ask what we will? The answer is yes—yes. Why? Because we abide in Him, His Word abides in us, and now His will is our will. And now we pray and get our prayers answered—the Scripture principle. But the Scripture principle won’t do you any good at all unless you first of all practice the surrender principle, to say, “Lord, your will be done. I want your will.”
3. The Spirit Principle

The third principle: the surrender principle, the Scripture principle, and then the Spirit principle—the Spirit principle. Romans 8, verses 26 and 27: “Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what we should pray for as we ought:”—isn’t that true? We don’t know—“but the Spirit itself maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered. And he that searcheth the hearts knoweth what is the mind of the Spirit, because he maketh intercession for the saints according to the will of God.” (Romans 8:26–27) How wonderful! When you have that surrender principle, you get the Word of God in you—that Scripture principle—then the Holy Spirit of God begins to pray in you and through you. He energizes, motivates, and guides your prayer.

And the most wonderful definition of prayer I know of is this: Prayer is the Holy Spirit finding a desire in the heart of the Father, and then putting that desire in our heart, and then sending it back to heaven in the power of the cross. Do you love that? The prayer that gets to heaven is the prayer that starts in heaven. We just close the circuit. That’s what it means to pray in the name of Jesus. To pray in the name of Jesus means nothing more or less than to pray in the will of God. Jesus said in John 16, verse 24, “Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name:”—that is, “in my will”—“ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full.” (John 16:24) Now I can’t ask in His name if I don’t know what He wants.

III. The Desire for the Kingdom

You see, there are the dimensions of the kingdom: a kingdom of grace, a kingdom of goodness, a kingdom of glory. There are the demands of the kingdom: “Thy will be done.” (Matthew 6:10) There’s one last thing, and I’ll be finished. And I’ll just shave this point down. There is the desire for the kingdom. Oh, my dear friend, we’re taught to pray for the kingdom. We’re to center our affections on the kingdom. Let me tell you what you should do. You fill in the points; I’ll give you the outline. We should live for the kingdom. We should long for the kingdom. We should look for the kingdom. Because, my dear friend, the King is coming! Oh, hallelujah!

Conclusion

Let’s pray. Father, I thank you for your Word tonight. O God, I pray that you’ll put a desire in our hearts to see the King in His glory and to serve the King until we see Him. And what a day that will be when we look upon His face! O Lord Jesus, be thou King tonight in our hearts and in our lives. ✝

Introduction

Be turning, please, to Matthew chapter 6. We’ve been making our way through this wonderful Sermon on the Mount under the general title “Building on the Rock.” And today, we come to Matthew chapter 6, and I begin reading in verse 19. Before I read, may I say that this is a plastic and a phony world in which we live. Many of us have been lied to, conned, abused, gypped, manipulated, deceived, until we have a sales resistance built up. And yet, in spite of it all, many times we sell out too cheaply, and we end up having the wrong thing.

Today I want to talk to you on this subject: “Make Sure You Get the Real Thing.”

Verse 19: “Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also. The light of the body is the eye: if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light. But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness! No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other: or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.” (Matthew 6:19–24) There are three basic truths in these passages that I have read to you—many things, but three basic truths.

I. We Must Possess Real Wealth
Truth number one: We must possess real wealth if we would be successful in life. Look again in verse 19: “Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven.” (Matthew 6:19) Now, there are many people who think that they are wealthy who are not. It’s a strange thing. We see on television the lifestyles of the rich and famous, and really, many times it’s the lifestyle of the rich and foolish.

When is a rich man poor? Well, a rich man is poor when he tries to find satisfaction in his money, because he will never find it. Solomon, the wisest man who ever lived, said, “He that loveth silver shall not be satisfied with silver.” (Ecclesiastes 5:10)

A man of modest income said to a man who was very rich, “I have more than you have.” The rich man said, “How is that so?” He said, “Because I have all I want, and you don’t.” Think about it: “I have all I want, and you don’t.”

Did you know that not to want something is better than owning it? You don’t have to maintain it. Listen—listen. A rich man is a poor man when he tries to find satisfaction in what he has. A rich man is a poor man when his wealth increases his worry. Let me give you some verses. Proverbs 15, verse 6: “In the house of the righteous is much treasure: but in the revenues of the wicked is trouble.” (Proverbs 15:6) Think about it: “in the revenues of the wicked is trouble.” (Proverbs 15:6) You see, many times a man, when he increases his riches, increases his worries.

Thirdly, a rich man is a poor man when he becomes a slave to his money. Put this verse down—Proverbs 23 and verse 4: “Labour not to be rich: cease from thine own wisdom.” (Proverbs 23:4) If you set your goal to be wealthy, I can tell you you’re going to have difficulty, because when you set your goal to be wealthy, then money becomes your master rather than your servant. It’s incredibly bad advice to tell a young person, “Make all the money you can, just so long as you make it honestly,” because if you tell a person to do that, he’ll be making money when ought to be doing something else. He’ll be making money when he ought to be spending time with the children. He’ll be making money when he ought to be serving the Lord, when he ought to be praying, when he ought to be doing other things. A rich man is poor when he becomes a slave to his money.

A rich man is a poor man when he has no treasure in heaven. Put this verse down—Proverbs chapter 23 and verse 5: “Wilt thou set thine eyes upon that which is not? for riches certainly make themselves wings: they fly away as an eagle toward heaven.”
Money talks all right; it says, “Goodbye.” I mean, you cannot keep it—you cannot keep it. And, if you don’t have any treasure in heaven, really, how rich are you? Everything that you have that you think is yours, in a material sense, sooner or later, you’re going to leave. That’s what the Bible says: “riches...make themselves wings.” (Proverbs 23:5)

Some time ago, when the bottom fell out of the oil market, I heard of a woman walking down the streets of Dallas, Texas. She heard a noise on the ground, a little voice. She looked around. She couldn’t imagine who it was that was speaking, but some little voice down there, low behind. And, she looks down, and she picks up a frog off the ground. And, it’s a frog that’s talking, and the frog says, “Kiss me.” She said, “Why should I kiss you?” “Well,” he said, “I am a Texas oilman. I’ve been turned to a frog. But, if you’ll kiss me, I’ll turn back to a Texas oilman.” She took him and put him in her purse. And, her friend said, “Why didn’t you kiss him?” She said, “I’d rather have a talking frog than a Texas oilman.”

Friend, money can only last so long, and then it goes. I’ll tell you, a rich man is poor if he dies a Christless death. Listen to this one—Proverbs 11 and verse 4: “Riches profit not in the day of wrath.” (Proverbs 11:4) Oh boy, what does that mean? It means, friend, you may pay off a traffic policeman, but you’ll not bribe heaven’s Judge. It doesn’t matter how wealthy you are, your riches are not going to help you at the Judgment if you don’t know the Lord Jesus Christ.

Luke 16—a tragic story. The Bible says, “The rich man...died...and in hell he lift up his eyes, being in torments.” (Luke 16:22–23) Our Lord says, “[Don’t] lay...up for yourselves treasures upon [this] earth.” (Matthew 6:19)

Years ago, I read a story about a man named Charlie Dobson, who lived in Ontario, Canada. They didn’t have regular garbage pickup there; and so, Charlie Dobson had a little fun game, the way he would get rid of his garbage. He took his coffee grounds, and his grapefruit rinds, and his eggshells, and the paper, and the trash, and so forth, and would put it in a little box and then wrap that box up in wrapping paper and put a bow around it and then take it out in front of his house and put it down by the curb. Invariably, someone driving along would see that beautifully wrapped box, would stop, pick it up, put it in their car, and off they would go. And, Charlie was looking behind the curtains all the time, watching those people drive off with their giftwrapped garbage. So often—so often—that’s what the devil does: he just takes the things of this world and wraps them up beautifully. But, all we have is not treasure; what we have is trash.

Now, the Bible does not say that it is wrong to have material things. Don’t ever get that idea. Let me give you this verse—1 Timothy chapter 6, verse 17: “Charge them that are rich in this world”—are you rich? Listen, God doesn’t condemn you for being rich, but God says this—“Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded”—that is, “don’t be proud”—“nor trust in uncertain riches”—“don’t put your trust in your possessions”—“but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy.” (1 Timothy 6:17) God does not mind you enjoying your wealth. Just don’t let it make you proud, and don’t put your trust there. Remember it is a gift of God, and “God [gives] us richly all things to enjoy.” (1 Timothy 6:17)

Certainly, when the Bible says, “Lay not up for yourselves treasure [on] earth,” (Matthew 6:19) it does not mean you’re not to work, because the Bible says in Proverbs chapter 6, verses 6 and following: “Go to the ant, thou sluggard; consider her ways, and be wise: Which having no guide, overseer, or ruler, Provideth her meat in the summer, and gathereth her food in harvest.” (Proverbs 6:6–8) God says you’d better learn how to work like an ant works. Nothing wrong with work. Nothing wrong with having material goods.

What does this mean then—when the Lord Jesus Christ says, “Lay not up for yourselves [treasure] upon earth”? (Matthew 6:19) Actually, you don’t see it in the English, but He uses the word treasure twice in that sentence. What it literally says is, “Stop treasuring treasure”—“Stop treasuring treasure.” That is, when your money possesses you rather than you possessing it, when you see wealth as an end in itself rather than a means to an end, you have begun to treasure treasure. And, when you treasure treasure, you really don’t have any treasure because it can be lost. As a matter of fact, our Lord is not saying, “Don’t have a treasure.” Our Lord is saying, “Do have a treasure; just make certain it’s a real treasure you have.” You see, He’s saying, “Get the real thing”—“Get the real thing.” Don’t be cheated. Don’t let the devil make a fool of you. Quit treasuring treasure. “Lay up for yourselves [treasure] in heaven.” (Matthew 6:20) Make sure it’s real treasure. You want to know how wealthy you are, mister? You add up everything you have that money cannot buy and death can’t take away; then you’ll know how wealthy you are. Quit treasuring treasure.

Now, listen to this. Put this verse down—1 Peter chapter 1 and verse 4. Peter is talking about what we have in heaven, and he says we have “an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you.” (1 Peter 1:4) “Incorruptible”—“incorruptible.” You see, our Lord spoke of that—where the moths can eat it, the rust can corrode, the thieves can get it. Our Lord is saying, “You’d better have a safety deposit box in heaven, where the foul breath of decay and the gnawing tooth of time and some thief cannot get what belongs to you—incorruptible, undefiled.” That means that it’s not tainted money. It’s not tainted wealth. It doesn’t have a curse upon it—unfading. That means no fees, no court costs, no taxes, no inflation can take it away—reserved in heaven for you. That’s pretty good treasure.
Jim Elliot, that missionary who gave his life to take the gospel to the Auca Indians and was slain there by the Amazons with a spear, a fine young missionary, died in the prime of his life, but he wrote these immortal words in the flyleaf of his Bible: “No man is a fool who gives what he cannot keep to gain what he cannot lose.” That’s a pretty good philosophy. You see, He’s talking about treasure in heaven. That’s what our Lord is talking about.

Now, how can you have treasure in heaven? How can you have treasure in heaven? Paul told Timothy that you’re to lay up for yourself a “foundation against the time to come.” (1 Timothy 6:19) How can you do this? You know, people say, “Well, you can’t take your money to heaven with you.” Well, that’s right, but you can send it on ahead. You say, “How can you send it ahead?” Well, the only way that you can get your money to heaven—the only way you can take your treasure and put it in heaven, lay up for yourselves treasure in heaven—is to invest in something going to heaven; that’s all. Now, what’s going to heaven? Praise goes to heaven so you ought to praise the Lord. Souls are going to heaven so you ought to win souls to the Lord Jesus Christ. Invest your money in missions. Invest your money in soul winning. Invest your life in prayer and praise and those things that are going to heaven. And, when you invest your wealth in that which is going to heaven, you don’t take it with you; you send it on ahead.

Some time ago I heard a story that touched me. I have a pastor friend up in Virginia, and his name is Vander Warner. He just recently resigned from the wonderful Grove Avenue Baptist Church there in Virginia—Richmond. But, Vander told a story something like this: He had in his congregation a beautiful young woman. She was working hard. She was saving her money. She fell in love with a young man. They were going to get married. They were just getting ready for the wedding. This young girl in her automobile was driving along, and one of those tragic accidents happened. She had a collision, and she was killed.

When the police came to the scene of the accident, they were trying to find out who this girl was, trying to find out how they were going to notify the next of kin. And so, they had to open her purse. They began to go through her personal things trying to find some address, to find some identification. Do you know what they found? They found her bank statement and where her checks had been written, and from that they got her name. And, somehow they got her fiancé, and he ended up there at the scene of the accident. And, the policeman said, “I had to look at this bank statement, and,” he said, “whether it was right or wrong,” he said, “I couldn’t help it,” he said, “but my eyes just went down to her deposits and withdrawals, and so forth, and the checks that she’d written. And,” he said, “I kept seeing a check written to a certain church, a check on a regular basis, a good-sized check written to this church, to this church, to this church.” He said, “What kind of a girl was this?” The young man told what kind of a girl she was,
who loved the Lord Jesus in such a way that you could tell by looking at her bank account, and led that policeman to a saving faith in Jesus Christ.

I wonder, would somebody come to know Jesus Christ by looking at your bank statement? Would somebody have some idea as to where really your treasure is, what really matters to you? Jesus said, “Don’t lay up for yourself treasure on earth. Lay up treasure in heaven,” (Matthew 6:19–20) because friend, all of these things that you think are treasures, one of these days you’re going to leave. You say, “But now, wait a minute, pastor. I’ve got to save something for me.” And, the Bible does teach that you need to take care of yourself, and plan for your children, and leave an inheritance.

There’s a wealthy businessman over in Nashville. If I were to give his name, many of you would know his name because it’s a well-known name. That man invested so very much in the cause of Christ. He was a man that God blessed with the ability to make money, but also God touched his heart with the ability to give money; and he gave and gave and gave and gave. And then, he had a financial reverse. Things went wrong for him, and he lost. And, his fortune was gone after he’d given all of that money.

You say, “Pastor, was that right for that to happen to him after he gave all of that money?” God is sovereign. He can do as He wishes. He did with Job, didn’t He? This man lost all that money.

One day a friend came to him, and the friend said, “You know, you don’t have anything now, do you?” He said, “No, I really don’t—not in this world.” He said, “Well, do you ever think about all that money that you gave away? Do you ever think about that?” “Oh,” he said, “I think about it a lot of times.” He said, “That’s all I have left.” Don’t you love that? “That’s what I have left.” That’s the part that nobody can get. It is in heaven, reserved; nobody can take it away. That’s what the Lord Jesus Christ is talking about when He says, “Lay up for yourselves [treasure] in heaven.” (Matthew 6:20)

II. We Must Perceive Real Wisdom

What I’m trying to say to you as your pastor and as your friend—we must possess real wealth. Second thing: Not only must we possess real wealth, but we must perceive real wisdom. Look, if you will, in verses 22 and 23: “The light of the body is the eye: if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light. But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!” (Matthew 6:22–23)

There are many people who think they have wisdom, but they don’t. They don’t have real wisdom. The light that is in them is darkness. How great is that darkness! I can hardly overstate the need for wisdom in this world. Proverbs chapter 4, verses 4 through 7: “He taught me also, and said unto me, Let thine heart retain my words: keep my commandments, and live. Get wisdom, get understanding; forget it not; neither decline from the words of my mouth. Forsake her not, and she shall preserve thee”—talking about wisdom—“love her, and she shall keep thee. Wisdom is the principle thing”—young man, listen to me this morning—“Wisdom is the principle thing; therefore get wisdom: and with all thy getting get understanding.” (Proverbs 4:4–7) We’re not talking here about learning; we’re talking about wisdom. We’re not talking about intelligence; we’re talking about wisdom. Make sure you get the real thing. “If…the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!” (Matthew 6:23) Suppose you go off to the university, and you get a graduate degree. You have a 4.0 average, and you don’t know Jesus Christ. You’ve made straight A’s and flunked in life. You’ve missed it. You have missed it.

Now, when our Lord is talking about the eye, He’s not talking about the eye of the body; He’s talking about the eye of the soul. And, He’s comparing the eye of the soul to the eye of the body. Our Lord here is talking about sight physically, and insight spiritually, and He uses your physical eye as an illustration because it’s your physical eye that lets in the light. It’s the light that enables you to see. And so, what our Lord here talks about is the single eye and the sinful eye. “If [your] eye be single, [your] body [is] full of light…if [your] eye be evil”—and the word for “evil” there is the word that means “sinful”—“then [your] body [is] full of darkness.” (Matthew 6:22–23)

So, you have the single eye, and you have the sinful eye. Now, a single eye is an eye that is healthy, an eye that is focused. And, what is it focused on? Of course, it’s focused on the Lord. The Apostle Paul said, “I determined…to know [nothing] among you, [except] Jesus Christ, and him crucified.” (1 Corinthians 2:2) The Apostle Paul was a one-note man. You say, “Well, now wait a minute. Paul preached about many things other than Jesus Christ.” Now, if you analyze it, no matter what else he was talking about, it was just more about Jesus. Everything centers in Jesus. You see, you may learn more about Jesus; you may go deeper into Jesus. “But really,” Paul said, “I haven’t known anything else but Jesus.” You say, “Isn’t that fanatical?” Call it what you wish, but you need a single eye. The Apostle Paul said, “This one thing I do.” (Philippians 3:13)

Remember that old story about the man who had the cello and was playing it just like this? Somebody said, “You don’t move your fingers up and down like other people; you just hold your finger in one spot.” He said, “They’re looking for it. I’ve found it.”

Friend, that is it! That is it: Jesus Christ! Other people can go up and down as they wish—“if [your] eye be single.” (Matthew 6:22) Oh, to know the Lord Jesus! To have all your wellsprings in the Lord Jesus! You can go deeper into Christ. You’ll never go beyond Christ. When you come to that spot, your body will be full of light. (Matthew 6:22) There are times when I get busy and get on the fast track, and I pray and so forth.
But, sometimes I have an idea that I’m just really not centered in Christ like I need to be—just not what I ought to be—and I have to have a session. I’ll get in my study and lock the door, and I say, “Lord, I’ve been double-minded; I need to be single-minded.” And, I take everything that means anything, and I bring it under the dominion of Jesus Christ. And, I take things that are precious to me—I take my family (very precious to me), give it to Jesus Christ; I take any so-called “possessions” that I think I hold title to and make Him Lord of those things; I take any so-called “ability” as a speaker, as a preacher; I take this church; I take my health, my body, my right to myself and give it Jesus Christ.

Now, sometimes I say that I am more than I am, and I know that I haven’t arrived yet, so I have to stay there and I have to wrestle. Maybe you never do, but I have to go through this from time to time. You know how I can tell when I get there? My body is full of light. You say, “Well, what does that mean?” I don’t know that I can explain it to you, but there’s something about being clear. There’s something about saying that Jesus Christ is Lord of all. And, when your eye is single, your body is full of light. (Matthew 6:22; Luke 11:34) That’s the way God wants us to live, my dear friend—with real wisdom; the single eye, as over against the sinful eye.

What is the sinful eye? Well, if the single eye is an eye that is focused, the sinful eye is an eye with double vision. James says that, “A double minded man is unstable in all his ways.” (James 1:8) But, the sad thing about the man with double vision is that he thinks that he sees. You see, Jesus said, “If… the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!” (Matthew 6:23) It’s bad when a man is in darkness and knows he’s in darkness, but isn’t it tragic when a man is in darkness and thinks he’s in the light?

Do you know in the book of Judges what it says about a time of moral declination? It says in the book of Judges that “every man did that which was right in his own eyes.” (Judges 17:6; 21:25) He didn’t do what was wrong in his own eyes; he “did that which was right.” (Judges 17:6; 21:25) And, the nation was going deeper and deeper and deeper into moral declination. That’s exactly where America is today. These people that are trying to lead this nation, they’re not doing what they think is wrong; the tragedy is that they’re doing what they think is right, and they’re so wrong. When the blind lead the blind, they both fall in the ditch. “Every man did that which was right in his own eyes.” (Judges 17:6; 21:25) It is morality by majority rather than the Word of God. And, “if the light that is in [you] be darkness, how great is that darkness!” (Matthew 6:23) “Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools.” (Romans 1:22) And, it becomes midnight at high noon. I mean, they’re saying, “Oh, we’re walking in the light,” and they’re stumbling in the darkness. Wisdom is the principle thing. Knowledge is proud that it knows so much. Wisdom is humble that it knows so little. You need knowledge to pass the test in school. You need wisdom to pass the test of life. Knowledge is learned. Wisdom is given. Knowledge comes by looking around. Wisdom comes by looking up.

“If [your] eye be single, [your] body [is] full of light.” (Matthew 6:22) What is our Lord saying in the passage before us? He’s saying, “Make certain you have real wealth. Make certain that you have real wisdom. Don’t let the light that’s in you be darkness.” What a tragedy! What a travesty!

III. We Must Practice True Worship

The third thing our Lord is saying: not only make sure that you have real wealth, not only make certain that you have real wisdom, but make certain that you have real worship. Possess true wealth. Perceive true wisdom. Practice true worship. Look at it—verse 24: “No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.” (Matthew 6:24) Now, what is mammon? Just an Aramaic word for “possessions.” It came to be the god of wealth, the god of personal possessions. You can’t serve both. Now, Jesus, here, did not say, “You ought not to try to have two masters.” Jesus didn’t say, “It’s better not to have two masters.” What Jesus Christ here is talking about is an impossibility: you can’t serve two masters. It’s absolutely impossible.

You say, “Now, wait a minute. I’ve got a job. I work for this company so many hours. And then, after I work for this company so many hours, I quit. I get something to eat. I’ve got a second job. I have two masters. I have a job here, and I moonlight over here. I have two masters.” No, you don’t; you have two employers—and that’s fine. If you can carry it, if you can handle it, fine; that’s all right. That’s not what our Lord is talking about here at all. The word that he uses for “master” is the word kurios: “lord, a slave owner.” Now, if you are my slave, you can’t be anybody else’s slave. We’re not talking about somebody that you serve, in the sense of your willingness. Willingness doesn’t have anything to do with this. We’re talking about a master and his slave. And, Jesus said, “You can’t be a slave to two any more than you can walk in different directions at the same time.” “No man can serve two masters.” (Matthew 6:24) It is absolutely, totally impossible. And, there is one absolute Lord, and His name is Jesus. And, Jesus does not want a place in your life—He really doesn’t. Jesus does not want prominence in your life. Jesus demands—listen, demands—preeminence in your life. He is Kurios. He is Lord. That means no rival, no refusal, and no rebuttal.

Now, if you’ve go two slave owners, which one owns you? Neither one. You are His slave. You say, “Well, I don’t want to be a slave.” Then you’ll never know what Christianity is, and you will never know the freedom that comes through absolute slavery. When you bow the knee to Jesus Christ and say, “I’ll say ‘yes,’ Lord—yes, you are Lord of all,” then Jesus said, “If the Son shall make you free, [you’ll] be free indeed.” (John 8:36)

You say, “Well, I don’t want to be anybody’s slave.” You already are. “He that serves sin is the slave of sin.” (Romans 6:16) You say, “Well, I’ll do as I want.” Yes, you’ll do as you want, but you’ll never do as you are. You’re free to do as you want, but you’re not free to do as you ought, until you become a slave of Jesus Christ. You’re the slave, the servant, of Satan. Make sure, friend, that it is real worship that you get.

So many people think that coming to church on Sunday is worship—coming, sitting, listening to Adrian preach is worship; listening to the choir is worship. And then, you go back out to that other world, and you’re trying to serve God and mammon. You can’t do it. You deceive yourself. Our God is not a moonlighting God. He doesn’t have a duplex for a throne. There’s one God. “Thou shalt [serve] the Lord thy God, and him only.” (Matthew 4:10; Luke 4:8) And, if He is not Lord in the true sense of the word, you haven’t got the real thing.

Jesus is saying that you must possess real wealth. Jesus is saying you must perceive real wisdom. Jesus is saying you must practice true worship. Make certain it’s the real thing that you get.

This past week I was in California, the National Religious Broadcasters, and we heard Paul Yonggi Cho speak. You know who Paul Cho is? He’s the pastor of the largest church in the world. You say, “Well, I think this a big church you pastor here, Pastor Rogers. How big is that one?” Well, buckle your pew belt. Let me tell you: 700,000 members. I didn’t mistake that: 700,000 members. We’d better get busy, folks—700,000 members in Seoul, Korea.

I’ve met Paul Cho—had dinner with him in Korea, preached in his church. Brother Bob, we were there together. Paul Cho, among other things, is a man of prayer. He told of an experience. He said, “I knew I have to have that special time with God in prayer so I told my secretary, “I’m going to pray. I do not want to be disturbed by anyone unless it is Jesus Christ Himself. Don’t disturb me.” He went to pray. And, the president of Korea came. The president of Korea said, “I want to see the pastor.” The secretary said, “I’m sorry. He can’t be disturbed.” He said, “You don’t understand. I, the president of Korea, want to see the pastor. I want to talk with him.” She said, “I can’t disturb him. He’s talking with God,” and wouldn’t let the president of Korea in to see the pastor. Later on, the president’s wife was talking to Paul Cho, and she said, “You ought to fire that secretary that you have. She wouldn’t let my husband in to see you.” He said, “I told her to do that.” “Well,” the wife of the president said to the pastor, “he is the president of Korea.” He said, “I was talking to the President of the universe.” One Master, one Master, one Master—not two; one. That challenged me because I think if the president of the United States wanted to see me, I’d say, “Excuse me, Lord. I’ve got somebody more important.” That was a challenge to me.

I also had some time some special time with one of my dear friends, Bill Bright. You know, Bill Bright is the founder of Campus Crusade for Christ. Do you know what happened to Bill and Vonette Bright? Bill Bright, in 1951, was a young businessman, and Bill Bright began to study the Bible. Christ got a hold of his life; and so, Bill and Vonette, just young people, many years ago, 1951, decided that what Jesus Christ said in this passage of Scripture, that “no man can serve two masters” (Matthew 6:24) … Do you know what they did? I'll tell you what they did: they wrote out a contract and signed it—Bill and Vonette together; they signed it—and this contract said, “Lord, we will be your slaves.” And, they signed it—not just said it, but actually wrote it out and signed it, a contract. That was 1951. Today, they head up that organization called Campus Crusade for Christ that has forty thousand fulltime workers, counselors, and volunteer workers around the world in 152 countries—because they said, “Lord, we are your slaves.”

You say, “Well, Lord, you can have a little bit of my time.” He doesn’t want it. Just keep it. You say, “Lord, you have a little bit of my life.” Just save yourself the time. “No man can serve two masters.” (Matthew 6:24) You just can’t do it.

Conclusion
Why don’t you make certain it’s the real thing you get? Real treasure—you'll never lose it. Real wisdom—“[your] body [will] be full of light.” (Matthew 6:22) Real worship—“Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.” (Philippians 2:11)

Introduction
Would you find Matthew chapter 6 in the Word of God? And, I want to talk to you about something that you need to hear tonight. Now, this is a word for worriers. Now, I know it doesn’t really apply to you, but you can give this on to somebody else who may need it. Actually, all of us, if we would be honest, worry more than we should worry. And, actually, we shouldn’t worry at all according to this passage of Scripture.

Look, if you will, in Matthew chapter 6, beginning in verse 25. Now, these are the words of Jesus, not of pop psychologists. Jesus said, “Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought”—now, let’s just stop there. And, the Greek word doesn’t mean that you’re not to think, but the idea is anxious thought, worrisome thought—“Take no [worrisome] thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body more than raiment?”—or “clothing”—“Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they? Which of you by taking thought”—that is, “by anxious care”—“can add one cubit unto his stature? And why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin: And yet I say unto you, That even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to day is, and to morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith? Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? (For after all these things do the Gentiles seek:) for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things. But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:25–34)

Now, worry, really, is a serious problem that we all must face. And, in some way or another, we worry. The ignorant worry that they know so little, and the educated are concerned that they know so much. The poor fret and worry because they don't have any money, and the rich fret and worry because they have assets and they're afraid somebody's going to take them away. The old worry because they're facing death and the sunset of life, and the young worry because they're facing an uncertain future. And, we just worry. As we get older, we're afraid—we're afraid we will get older, and then we're afraid we won't. And so, we just worry. It's kind of built into human nature, but in verse 25, and verse 31, and verse 34, our Lord tells us not to do it. (Matthew 6:25,31,34)

Actually, the word worry, or “anxious thought,” has the idea of division, being pulled apart, being double-minded. James tells us that “a double minded man is unstable in all his ways.” (James 1:8) Now, when Jesus says, “Take...no thought for the morrow,” (Matthew 6:34) He's not saying that we're to live a careless, happy-go-lucky, flippant life that does not consider the future. To the contrary, Jesus taught us to consider the future, to prepare for death and after death. And, He said before we go to war, we ought to decide whether or not we have enough to fight the battle. (Luke 14:31) If we go to build a tower, we ought to consider whether or not we have enough to finish the tower. (Luke 14:28) Jesus is not against planning. He's not against looking toward the future and doing as we ought to make ready for the future, but what He is warning against—as a matter of fact, forbidding—is foreboding; that is, to worry about the future.
Now, in this passage of Scripture, God doesn’t merely tell us not to worry, but He tells us how not to worry. And, if He just simply told us not to do it and we were not able to do it, all that would be to increase our worries.

I. The Cause of Worry
So, what is the cause of our worry? Well, the Lord summarizes that right here. Look, if you will, in chapter 6, beginning in verse 24, and you’re going to find out of about four or five things that we all are prone to worry about.

A. We Are Prone to Worry about Finances
The first is finances. Look in verse 24: “No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.” (Matthew 6:24) Now, mammon is just a word for the god of riches, the god of wealth. You can’t put money first. When you worry about money, it’s just a way of making money your god rather than God your God—so He mentions mammon in verse 24.

B. We Are Prone to Worry about Food
And then, He mentions food in verse 25. Look at it there: “Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat.” (Matthew 6:25) And, He tells us how foolish it is to worry about food. He says, “God feeds the fowls of the air. Isn’t He going to feed you? Aren’t you worth more than they?” (Matthew 6:26) There was a wonderful logic about Jesus’ teaching. The inference is, what farmer would feed his chickens and starve his own children? If God takes care of the fowls of the air, won’t your Heavenly Father take care of you? He’s not saying we ought not to work for food. The chickens scratch for their food, but He’s saying that God doesn’t throw the worms in the nest. The birds have to go out and get them, but God feeds them.

C. We Are Prone to Worry about Fashion
And then, not only do people worry about finance and food; they also worry about fashion. Look again in verse 25. He says here in verse 25: “Nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on.” (Matthew 6:25) And, so many today are worried about fashion and the clothes that we’re going to wear. Verse 28: He says again, “And why take ye thought for raiment?”—“for clothes”—“Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin: and yet I say unto you, That even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.” (Matthew 6:28–29) “If God puts these beautiful robes on the flowers that fade, how much more,” He says, “will He take care of you?”

D. We Are Prone to Worry about Fitness
And then, He mentions not only finance and food and fashion, but He also mentions fitness. Look in verse 27: “Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?” (Matthew 6:27) Now, we’re asking ourselves this question: “Does that mean can you worry yourself taller?” The commentaries that I’ve studied says this does not primarily refer to height, but it refers to length of life. And, what He’s saying is that you’re not going to be able to make yourself live longer, you’re not going to add to your lifespan, by worry. Again, the Bible is not against exercise. The Bible is not against diet. The Bible is not against vitamins and proper rest. I hope that you do all of those things. I try to do those things. But, worry is not going to lengthen your life; it’s going to shorten it. You can worry yourself to death if you want to.

E. We Are Prone to Worry about the Future

And, Jesus not only mentions fitness, but He also mentions what most of us are more prone to worry about than anything else: the future. Look, if you will, in verse 34: “Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself.” (Matthew 6:34)

So, just look at all the things that He says to not worry about. Don’t worry about finances. Don’t worry about food. Don’t worry about fitness. Don’t worry about fashion. Don’t worry about the future. Just don’t worry about these things. Now, many of us worry about all of these things, or some of these things. I was doing some reading on this subject of worry, and I came across somebody’s statistics. I cannot vouch for the statistics, whether or not they’re accurate, but I can certainly say that they are interesting. Listen to this: “Forty percent of the things that we worry about will never happen. Thirty percent are about the past, which cannot be altered—it has already happened. Twelve percent of the things we worry about deal with the area of criticism by others—and most of that is untrue. Ten percent of what we worry about deals with our health—and worry and stress only makes that worse. Eight percent are about real problems that must be faced.”

So, much worry, as we’re going to see in a moment, the best you can say about it: it’s useless. And, most of the things we worry about never come to pass anyway.

I think about a little lady who said, “Don’t tell me that worry doesn’t do any good. Most of the things I worry about never happen.”

And, worry just has a way of just capturing us unnecessarily.

II. The Cost of Worry

Now, those are the things we worry about—and maybe some things that Jesus did not list. But, think not only about the cause of our worrying, but think about the cost. What will worry do to you? Why does our Lord forbid it? In the Psalms, He says, “Fret not thyself; it tendeth only to evil.” (Psalms 37:1–8) Well, look, if you will, in verse 27 again:
“Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?” (Matthew 6:27)
That tells that the best you can say about worry is that it’s useless. It is absolutely useless. That’s the best thing you can say about it. It never solved a problem. It never lifted a burden. It never dried a tear. It is absolutely useless.

When I was a youngsters, somebody told me something I’ve never forgotten. Somebody said, “Adrian, there are two categories—two classes of things—you should never worry about. Number one: things that you can do something about. If you can do something about it, don’t worry about it; do it. The second category that you should never worry about are things you can’t do anything about. If you can’t do anything about it, worry’s not going to change it.” Now, that may seem to you like it’s simplistic, but there’s a lot of wisdom there. Two categories of things that you’re never to worry about: number one, things you can do something about; number two, things you can’t do anything about. And, that covers the waterfront, doesn’t it? That’s it. There’s nothing else. At the best, worry is useless.

A. Worry Hurts You
But, worry is absolutely harmful. Worry is harmful to you physically. It will do the same thing to you physiologically that sand will do to machinery.

I read this interesting comment on worry: little ants can pick the carcass of a dead animal cleaner than lions can—a lot of little ants. It seems like it’s just those little nagging things seem to pull us down.

B. Worry Hurts Others
But, not only is worry harmful to you; it’s harmful to other people. Do you like to be around people who are neurotic and who worry all the time? I mean, I know individuals who, when they walk into a room, it seems like somebody just turned the lights off, and they brighten up the room when they leave it. And, as I said about the bitter people Sunday, there ought to be a place where you could lock all the worrywarts up and let them worry one another.

C. Worry Hurts God
Now, I say that, but it’s kind of cruel because, seriously, these people need our pity and they need our love. But, worry’s harmful to you. It’s harmful to other people. But, have you ever thought what a wound in the heart of God that worry must be—how worry must hurt our God? Look in verse 30: “Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to day is, and to morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?” (Matthew 6:30) Now, a little faith is an insult to God.

If you were to speak about me and say all sorts of nice things about me—and if you want to do that, I give you permission—but then say, “There’s one thing about Adrian:
you can’t trust him,” well, no matter what else you may have said about me, if you then say that I’m not trustworthy, you’ve just cut the taproot of my character.

You say, “God is good. God is great. God is strong. God is grace. God is love.” Well, the Bible says that “he that believeth not God hath made him a liar.” (1 John 5:10) Do you see how worry just says, “God, Romans 8:28 that says ‘all things are working together for good to those who love God, who are the called according to his purpose,’ is not true”? (Romans 8:28) Worry is an insult to the face of God.

We have children. Joyce and I had the joy of seeing our children grow up—and our grandchildren now. But, suppose when my children were small, I came home and found my four children in the corner sniveling and crying and trembling. And, I would say, “Well, children, what’s wrong?” And, they would say, “Well, Dad, we’re afraid that the money’s going to run out in the family; and so, therefore, we’re going to have to move out of the house. And Dad, we’re afraid that we’re not going to have food to eat. And Dad, we’re concerned that we’re not going to have clothes to wear. And Dad, we don’t know what’s going to happen tomorrow—it may get worse. Dad, we’re terribly concerned.” Well, how do you think that would make me feel as a father if I saw my children feeling that way? That would grieve my heart, would make me feel like my children feel like I cannot take care of them. The truth of the matter is that since I’m only human, I may not be able to take care of them—that is, in and of myself. But, that aside, I would be deeply grieved to see my children sniveling and crying and trembling, thinking that their father was not able to take care of them. Worry says to our Heavenly Father, “Father, this is too big for you. You can’t handle this. It’s beyond you, God.”

We are concerned about things that are going to get out of hand, and that’s the reason He says, “Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field,”—verse 30—“which to day is, and to morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?” (Matthew 6:30) And then, He goes on to say in verse 31: “Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed?”—now, watch this next phrase, and it will hit you right between the running lights. Verse 32—“(for after all these things do the Gentiles seek:)” (Matthew 6:31–32) What He is saying is this: “You’re acting like pagans when you worry. Worry is pagan.” When He says, “the Gentiles,” He’s talking about the pagans. He said, “That’s the way the people of this world think.”

III. The Cure for Worrying

Now, we’ve talked about the things that we worry about. We’ve talked about that worry is harmful to us. It’s harmful to others. It is an insult and a wound to the heart of God. It is the hallmark of small faith when we worry. Worry is faith turned inside out—that’s all it is. “Well, pastor, that’s fine. You’ve got me under conviction. Can you give me some help?” Well, God can, and He’ll do it through His Word and, I trust, through His preacher tonight. Let me give you some factors that will help you and things that I have proven in my own life—still learning, not there yet, not perfect—let me give you some factors.

A. The Father Factor

The first factor is what I want to call “the Father factor.” Look, if you will, in verse 32: “(For after all these things do the Gentiles seek:) for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things.” (Matthew 6:32) I want you to see God as your Father. He is your Heavenly Father.

Now, we talk about our obligations to God. Has it ever dawned upon you that God has an obligation to you? When somebody brings a child into this world, do they not have an obligation to that child to take care of that child? Do you think that God some day is going to be accused of child neglect? Do you think that God brought you into this world, created you to begin with, and redeemed you to forsake you? No! “He that spared not his own Son, but [offered] him up [freely] for us all, how shall he not…also [with him] freely give us all things?” (Romans 8:32) God loved you enough to send Jesus to die for you. You don’t have to doubt His love any more. And so, there is the Father factor: He is your Father.

Now, you’re in Matthew chapter 6. Just turn over to Matthew chapter 10 for a moment, and look, if you will, in verse 29. We’re talking about the Father factor. Look at it: “Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? and one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father. But the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear ye not therefore, ye are of more value than many sparrows.” (Matthew 10:29–31) Now, if God attends the funeral of a sparrow—and He does: “not a sparrow falls but what He knows about it”—if God attends the funeral of a sparrow, is not your Heavenly Father going to take care of you? Put your trust in Him.

*Said the robin to the sparrow,
“*I should really like to know,
*Why these anxious human beings
Rush about and worry so.”
*Said the sparrow to the robin,
“*Friend I think that it must be,
*That they have no Heavenly Father,
Such as cares for you and me.”
—ELIZABETH CHENEY

If God takes care of the birds, He’s going to take care of us.
B. The Focus Factor

So, there’s the Father factor: remember that He is your Father; He will not abandon you. The Bible says, “When my father and my mother forsake me, then the LORD will take me up.” (Psalm 27:10) And, secondly is the focus factor. Once you settled the Father factor, then you can focus on something else. And, the focus factor is to focus on the will of God. Look, if you will now, in verse 33: “But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) What things? Finances, food, fitness, fashion. Put God first.

Now, there’s one thing about God: He will not work in second place. I’ve heard people challenge Matthew 6:33, but I’ve never known anybody who put it into practice to see it to fail. “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.” (Matthew 6:33) Do you know what worry is? Worry is just simply the symptom that tells you you have things out of focus; you are focusing on the wrong things. You are focusing on food, or fashion, or fitness, or finance, or future, but you’re not focusing on the Father, seeking first the kingdom of God and His righteousness. What God is saying is this: “You trust me enough to take care of my business, and I’ll take care of yours.” I believe that with all of my heart. You see, God is more able to take care of the things of life than you are. Most of us feel, “Well, you know, if I put God first, then I’ll be neglecting the things, and the things may slip away from me.” That’s wrong. That’s just a lack of faith; you don’t see God as your Father. Now, He’s the source of everything. Do you think it’s up to you to conserve the things that you have? They can slip away. Riches have wings; they fly away. And, not only can they leave you; you can leave them. An air bubble hits your brain tonight—then whose shall those things be which you have provided for yourself?

So, how do you not worry? There is the Father factor: see God as your Father. “Your [heavenly] Father knoweth what things ye have need of.” (Matthew 6:8) He is your Father. He brought you into this world. David said, “[Once I was] young, and now [I’m] old; yet [I] have…not seen the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread.” (Psalms 37:25)

C. The Future Factor

Now, there’s a third factor. The first factor is the Father factor. The second is the focus factor: you focus on the things of God, not on things of this world. It’s not to say that these other things are not important. “[He knows] what things [you] have need of.” (Matthew 6:8) He knows you need food. He knows you need clothes. He knows you need recreation. “[He knows] what [you] have need of.” (Matthew 6:8)

I got an invitation to preach in Florida one time when my grandchildren were down there, and I accepted the invitation. And, Joyce said, “Adrian, you’re not accepting that invitation just because the grandkids are down there, are you?” I said, “Well, God knows where my grandchildren are.”

God is good—God is good! “[He knows] what things [we] have need of.” (Matthew 6:8) God knows when we need sleep. God knows when we need fun. “[God knows] what [we] have need of.” (Matthew 6:8) God is good all the time.

Now, there is the Father factor. There is the focus factor. And, primarily, there is the future factor. And, this is very, very important—I want you to look at it in verse 34: “Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) Now, if you’ve been around churches very much, you’ve heard this before, but you need to hear it again: God has arranged your life and my life with a sort of ecology. God sits at master control, and God plans the events that will come to us. If He doesn’t cause them, He allows them. And, God allows—God engineers—for me, for you, difficulty for every day. Some days are more difficult than the others. Now, the Bible calls it “evil”: “Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) Now, the word evil here does not mean “sin”; it means “difficulty,” like we would say, “That’s an evil smell.” It means “vile” or “difficult” or “problem.”

You may think that the devil’s causing your problems. No, back in the Garden of Eden, what did God say to Adam and Eve? “Cursed is the ground for [your] sake” (Genesis 3:17) —not “for your punishment,” but “for your sake.” The worst thing that could happen for sinful people such as we would be to live lives without trouble: we would never seek God. So, God gives us enough trouble every day to cause us to turn to Him and to get the grace. So, “sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) Sufficient what? Sufficient grace for today’s problems.

Now, God doesn’t give us grace for tomorrow’s problems. God says, “As [your] days [are], so shall [your] strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25) God doesn’t give me strength today for tomorrow’s problems. That’s what He’s saying. Look at this verse again: “Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself”—save that ’til tomorrow, see?—“Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) God gives you sufficient evil, and God gives you sufficient grace. Now, if you take things that belong to tomorrow and you bring them into today—I’m not talking about planning now; I’m talking about concern, worry, anxious thought. You reach out to tomorrow and you borrow problems; you bring them over to today—we call that “borrowing trouble.” Now, if you borrow trouble, you’re going to find out that the interest is very high. What is the high cost of borrowed trouble?

1. Worry Buries Blessings
Number one: It buries blessings. When you bring tomorrow’s trouble into today, it makes it more difficult for you to see today’s blessings because not only will you have, today, difficulty, but you’ll have delights today; not only will you have burdens, but you’ll have blessings. Now, listen to me carefully: worry does not take the sorrow out of tomorrow; what it does is to take the joy out of today. It’s very important that you understand this. You see, what worry does is to pull tomorrow’s clouds over today’s sunshine. Now, there are plenty of blessings today if you will think about them. But, if you go out into tomorrow and begin to worry about things that God does not intend for you to worry about and you bring that into today, it’s going to make you blind to blessings today. You’re not going to see all the blessings that you have.

I had a couple come to see me. He was a handsome man. She was a beautiful girl. They were in their early twenties. They had a little baby with them, and I wondered, “Well, what could the problem be?” The woman was in tears. The man was near tears. I said, “Well, tell me what your difficulty is.” And, without telling you the whole story, their difficulty was they “didn’t have anything,” they said. They didn’t have a house. They didn’t have a car. They had a meager job. And, they saw everybody else had all these things—they didn’t have them.

And, I looked at that man—he was well built, noble looking, handsome. She was beautiful. The baby was gorgeous. I said, “I want to tell you kids something: you don’t know how wealthy you are.” I said, “Would you sell this baby?” “Oh, no!” I said, “Not even for a thousand dollars?” “No!” “All right, well, let’s try five hundred.” “No! We wouldn’t sell our baby for anything,” I said, “Well, sir, there are a lot of people who don’t have a baby who would give almost anything to have a baby like you have.”

Then I said, “Let’s look at your health. Suppose a millionaire were to come to you and say, ‘Let’s do a head exchange. Take your head and put it on my body; take my head and put it on your body. And, we’ll just exchange, and I’ll have your body.’” I said, “If such an operation were possible, would you exchange your body for an old man’s body who is about to die—if he were to give you millions of dollars?” He said, “No, of course not!”

I said, “This girl sitting next to you—do you love her?” He said, “With all of my heart.” I said, “Do you love him?” She said, “Oh, I love him.” I said, “Do you know there are a lot of people who would give everything they have just to have their home back together?”

I said, “You’re an American. Have you ever lived in a foreign country?” “No.” I said, “Do you know that there are people who are leaving absolutely everything they have—who are leaving absolute fortunes behind—just to come to America, just to get on this shore, and to have nothing, just to be here?”

I said, “Look—look at that baby; look at your health; look at your marriage; look at the land: you are wealthy!” Boy, they straightened up and began to feel so good. And folks, that wasn’t rhetoric. They were wealthy. But, what they were thinking about—they were focusing on what they felt was an uncertain future rather than thanking God for the blessings that they had right there.
2. Worry Steals Strength
What does worry do? Worry buries blessings. I'll tell you what else worry does: it steals strength. It steals strength when you worry about tomorrow. Remember God does not give you strength today for tomorrow's problems. The Bible says in Deuteronomy 33, verse 25, “As thy days, so shall thy strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25) I appreciate these words:

> God hath not promised skies always blue,
> Flower-strewn pathways all our lives through;
> God hath not promised sun without rain,
> Joy without sorrow, peace without pain.

> But God hath promised strength for the day,
> Rest for the labor, light for the way,
> Grace for the trials, help from above,
> Unfailing sympathy, undying love.

—ANNIE JOHNSON FLINT

But, what does God promise? Strength for today. You see, worry just saps strength. Worry is wasted energy. Worry doesn't get us ready for tomorrow. It doubles up the load today so that when we get to tomorrow, we get to tomorrow out of breath. What does worry do? It buries blessings. Worry really can produce the very things that you're worried about. Job said, “The thing which I...feared is come upon me.” (Job 3:25)

3. Worry Produces Problems
Now, worry buries blessing. You can't see today's blessing. Worry steals strength. And, therefore, worry produces problems. Worry really can produce the very things that you're worried about. Job said, “The thing which I...feared is come upon me.” (Job 3:25)
Some people—you’ve been behind them—they expect every light to turn red; by the time they get there, it has. Tomorrow has two handles: fear or faith. And, you can take it by either handle. The Bible says, “Fear [has] torment.” (1 John 4:18)

Conclusion

And so, what do we do? There is the Father factor: just keep saying to yourself, “God is my Father. He knows what I have need of. How foolish for me, what an insult it is to Him, what a wound in His heart when I worry!” There’s the focus factor: I’m going to seek the kingdom of God with all of my heart and trust God to add these things to me. And, there’s the future factor: I will leave the future in God’s hands. “Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34)

Introduction
Would you take God’s Word and find again the Sermon on the Mount, Matthew chapter 6, we’re going to begin reading in a few moments and read right through verse 34. Have you ever worried? Well, I know you do. I do. We all do. But we ought not. As a matter of fact, to worry is a sin: not just a weakness, but a wickedness. I want to speak to you today on this subject: “How to Win in the War with Worry.”

All right now, let’s begin to read here in Matthew chapter 6 and verse 25. And every worrier—that’s us—pay attention. Our Lord is speaking, and He says, “Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought”—and the word here actually means, “Don’t worry, no anxious thought”—“for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?”—or clothing. “Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they? Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature? And why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin: and yet I say unto you, That even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to day is, and to morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith? Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? Or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? (For after all these things do the Gentiles seek:) for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things. But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:25–34)

Now worry is a serious problem. The ignorant worry because they don’t know enough. The smart worry because they know too much. The rich worry because they’re afraid of losing what they have. And the poor worry because they don’t have anything. The old worry because they’re facing death. And the young worry because they’re facing an uncertain future. Back to the old: When we were young, we used to worry that we were getting older. And when we get old, we worry that we won’t get older. And so we just continue to worry. And it doesn’t matter who we are, and what category we are, we can find something to worry about.

Now, when our Lord says, “Take no thought,” the word for “thought” there is a word that may be translated “worry.” It’s a root word, which means “to divide.” That is, worry divides our minds. It is a distracting thing. It is a dividing thing. And you remember what the Apostle James said, in James chapter 1 and verse 8, that, “A double minded man is unstable in all his ways.” (James 1:8) And there’s nothing more destabilizing than worry.

Now, when our Lord says, “Take no thought,” He’s not talking about not planning ahead. He’s not talking about having a flippant, happy-go-lucky attitude that does not provide for tomorrow. As a matter of fact, the Bible takes the ant that provides her meat in the summertime for the winter as an example. (Proverbs 30:25) The Bible teaches that we should remember the law of sowing and reaping. (Galatians 6:7) God is not saying that we ought not make provision for tomorrow. God is not saying that we ought to just go through life in a lackadaisical, happy-go-lucky, flippant way.

It is not foresight, but foreboding, that is forbidden; not foresight, but foreboding, that this passage deals with: three basic things, if you would win in the war with worry.
I. Recognize the Cause of Your Worry

First of all, you must recognize the cause of your worry. What is it that people worry about? Well, it's very interesting here; our Lord has summarized them for us right here.

A. Food

First of all, people worry about food: how they're going to get enough to eat. And maybe that's not your worry, but for many people in many places of the world, that is indeed a very big worry. Look, if you will, in verses 25 and 26: “Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat,”—that is, food—“and the body than raiment? Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them.” Here's the logic of our Lord: “Are ye not much better than they?” (Matthew 6:25–26)

Now, if God Almighty takes care of the birds, and you’re so much better than a bird, isn’t He going to take care of you? The logic is this: What farmer would feed his barnyard chickens and starve his beloved children? Now He’s not telling us that we ought not to work for food. God feeds the birds, but He doesn’t throw it in the nest. Remember, we told you that. And the birds must work. The early bird does what? He’s the one that gets the worm. And the Lord is not saying not to work. What the Lord is saying is: “Don't worry.”

B. Fashion

But not only do we worry about food; we worry about fashion. Look again in verse 25. He tells us there not to worry about raiment, what we shall put on our bodies. (Matthew 6:25) And then, look in verse 28: “And why take ye thought for raiment?—that is, clothing. “Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin: and yet I say unto you, That even Solomon...”—and he was the most opulent, rich, incredibly decked out king that you can imagine—“even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.” (Matthew 6:28–29)

Now the flowers fade. The flowers bloom today, and then they're cast into the ovens. The women of this day would heat their oven with the grass, the straw, the field. And what our Lord is saying is, “If God takes such care of fading flowers, aren't you worth so much more?”

C. Fitness

And then, not only does He mention food and fashion, but He mentions fitness. Look in verse 27—and this is what so many Americans worry about: “Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?” (Matthew 6:27) Now He’s probably not talking about making yourself taller. You cannot worry yourself taller. But the word here stature is translated by many, “lifespan.” What He’s saying is that worry cannot lengthen your life. You just can’t worry yourself into a longer life. Now He’s not saying, again, that you ought not take care of yourself. He’s not saying that you ought not to jog. He’s not saying that you ought not to exercise. He’s not saying that you ought not to eat nutritional food. He’s not saying that you ought not to get proper sleep. He’s not saying, “Don’t do that.” But what He’s saying is that worry won’t lengthen your life. You can worry yourself to death, but you can’t worry yourself to a longer life. That’s what He’s saying. He’s saying, “Now, look”—in the area of food, in the area of fashion, in the area of fitness.

D. The Future

And then, in the area of the future. Now many of us who have the food that we need, and the clothes that we need, and we have the strength that we need today, that’s not enough now, if we say, “But I may not have it tomorrow.” So, look down in verse 34, and He says, “Take... no thought for the morrow:”—now He mentions the future. He says—“for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) Now, remember, it’s not foresight, but foreboding, that our Lord says we’re not to do. We’re not to reach out into tomorrow and borrow trouble. We’re not to pull tomorrow’s clouds over today’s sunshine.

Somebody has done a study about what the average person worries about. They took a survey and they found this: that forty percent of what people worry about—forty percent of the things that people worry about—never happen at all. Thirty percent of what people worry about has already happened: it’s in the past. So forty percent’s not going to happen. Thirty percent has already happened. And you can’t do anything about it. Twelve percent of what the average person worries about is in the area of criticism, what people say about you—most of it untrue. Ten percent deals with your health—according to this survey—and worrying would only make that worse. Add all of these together, that’s about ninety-two percent: you only have about eight percent of the things that are considered to be real problems, and even for these, worry will not do any good. But it’s incredible that we worry about a lot of things that are not going to happen, or already have happened—like the little lady who said, “Don’t tell me that worry doesn’t do any good: most of the things I worry about never happen.” So worry really is sort of a futile thing: that’s what our Lord is saying.

I read recently an interesting thing: that in a dense fog—I mean a dense fog, that would cover seven city blocks one hundred feet deep—you know how much water it takes to make a fog to cover seven blocks a hundred feet deep? Less than a glass full—less than a drinking glass full. It is divided up into more than six hundred thousand million little droplets. You could take a couple of jugs of water and put a fog over all of Memphis, Tennessee.

Worry is not like a thunderstorm where you have rain and thunder and lightning—you can put up an umbrella; you can go inside, wait for the storm to come over. And that happens to all of us. We have storms, and we have to deal with them. That’s not worry. But worry is like that fog; it’s like that less than a glass of water that just permeates all of our life.

II. Realize the Cost of Your Worry

Now our Lord, first of all, says that we should recognize the cause of worry. And then He goes on, secondly, to help us to understand the cost of worry. Once we recognize the cause, we need to realize the cost. Now worry is a costless thing. The very best thing that you could say about worry—I mean, if you wanted to say something good about it—the best thing you could say is not good, and it is this: that it is useless—absolutely useless.

Look, if you will, in verse 27 again: “Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit to his stature?”—just by worry. (Matthew 6:27) I mean, it doesn’t do any good. It’s well been said, there two categories and classes of things we should never worry about: a) those things that we can do something about; and, b) those things we can’t do anything about. Now, whether we can do something about it, or whether we can’t do anything about it, worrying only makes the matter worse.

For every evil under the sun,
There is a cure, or there is none;
If there be one, try and find it,
If there be none, never mind it.
—WILLIAM HAZLITT

“Which of you by taking [anxious] thought can add one cubit to his stature?” Worry never dried a tear. Worry never lifted a burden. Worry never solved a problem. The best thing that we can say about worry is that it is useless.

A. Worry Is Harmful to Self

But worry is absolutely harmful—and harmful, number one, to you, to yourself. There are few forms of dissipation that will do more damage to you physically emotionally and spiritually than worry. Worry will do the same thing to you that sand will do to machinery. And it’s not the big things that get most of us; it’s the little things.

I read that where a mighty lion may destroy and kill, still little ants will pick the carcass far cleaner than the mighty lion. It’s the little ants that seem to nibble at us.

B. Worry Is Harmful to Other People

Worry is harmful to us in every area. Worry is harmful to other people. Have you known folks that, when they walk into the room, it seems like somebody turned the lights off? You know people like that? I know people like that. They brighten up the room when they leave. These are just the worriers. And not only do they worry themselves; worry is contagious, and they just start spreading this gloom and this worry everywhere. There ought to be a place where they could quarantine these people—just lock them up and let them worry one another.

C. Worry Is Harmful to God

Worry is harmful to the self. And worry is harmful to other people. God deliver us from the worriers in the church. And then, worry is a wound in the heart of God. Do you know how our Lord remonstrates with them? Look, if you will, in verses 30: “Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to day is, and to morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you,”—now, watch this little next phrase here—“O ye of little faith?” Do you see what worry says about God? “O ye of little faith.” Do you know what an insult worry is to God? Do you see how this worry says, in response to Romans 8:28, that “all things work together for good to those who love God who are the called according to his purpose,” do you see how that points the finger in the face of God and says, “God, that’s a lie”? Verse 31: “Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? Or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed?” Now, watch verse 32: “(For after all these things do the Gentiles seek:)” (Matthew 6:30–32)

What’s He talking about there? The people of the world, the people who don’t know Jesus. Do you know what our Lord is saying? Beloved brother or sister in Christ, what our Lord is saying is that, when you worry, you’re living like a pagan. That’s what He’s saying. He’s saying that’s pagan; it’s faithless: “O you of little faith! You’re like the people of this world. You are thinking like the world. You’re not thinking like somebody who has a heavenly Father.” Worry, I say, is a wound in the heart of God, and it is an insult to the providence of God.

III. Rely on the Cure for Your Worry

All right then, thirdly, let’s move on. Our Lord talks about the causes—and we must recognize the causes; and then He talks about the cost, and the curse—and we must realize the cost, the curse, of worry; but then our dear Lord deals with the cure. And this is not just pop psychology. Our Lord gives us just a very real, very practical, down-to-earth way to win in the war with worry.

A. The Father Factor: Trust in the Lord

Number one—this is so simple: Trust in the Lord. Look, if you will, in verse 32: “(For after all these things do the Gentiles seek:) for your heavenly Father”—just underscore that phrase: “your heavenly Father”—“knoweth that ye have need of all these things.”
(Matthew 6:32) You don’t have a need in your life but what someone who loves you so incredibly that He gave his dear Son, the Lord Jesus, to die for you, He knows all about it. And so you’re just simply trust in the Lord. That’s what I call the Father factor—the Father factor.

You have a heavenly Father. If you could fast-forward in the Gospel of Matthew, you’d come to Matthew chapter 10 and verses 29 through 31. Our Lord, again, is on this same subject. He says, “Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? and one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father.” He doesn’t say that a sparrow won’t fall. He doesn’t say that you’re not going to have trouble. But He says God is right there. He attends the funeral of every sparrow. And then He says, “But the very hairs of your head are numbered.” Friend, He knows things about you that you don’t know about you. You think He doesn’t understand: you don’t understand how much He does understand—how much He does understand. There is not a person here that knows how many hairs you have on your head, except a few guys that I’m looking at right now. “The very hairs of your head are numbered.” And then our Lord says, “Fear ye not therefore, ye are of more value than many sparrows.” (Matthew 10:29–31)

Said the robin to the sparrow,
“I should really like to know,
Why these anxious human beings
Rush about and worry so.”
Said to the sparrow to the robin,
“Friend I think that it must be,
That they have no Heavenly Father,
Such as cares for you and me.”
—ELIZABETH CHENEY

Are you not worth more than a sparrow?

There is the Father factor. Robert Louis Stevenson used to delight in telling the story about a ship that was at sea on a rocky coast. It was very important that a ship not be washed upon a reef, and it was a stormy, blustery time. There was a sailor and some other sailors that were beneath the waterline in that ship that was being tossed and turned. They knew the danger. They knew that they were in peril and danger. And they were wondering, “Are we going to make it?” One of those sailors beneath the deck could take it no longer. He left his duty, went up to the pilothouse, pushed open the door, and there was the captain of the ship in the pilothouse, steering that ship through those treacherous waters. The captain knew that the sailor was worried. And he didn’t say a word to the sailor. He just turned and smiled at him. The sailor went back down below the deck, and he said to his fellows, “Don’t worry. It’s all right. I have seen the captain, and he smiled at me.”
I like that. You know, I think that’s what we need to do: just see the smile of God, don’t you? You know that God is in control. Somebody wrote a couplet like this:

Every morning lean your arms awhile
Upon the windowsill of heaven
And gaze upon the Lord.
Then with the vision in your heart,
Turn strong to meet your day.
—THOMAS LAKE

Isn’t that what we need to do? Early in the morning get up and see that we have a Father in heaven who knows. He cares. He loves. Friend, He really does. There’s the Father factor—there’s the Father factor.

B. The Focus Factor: Put First Things First

There’s the Father factor. And then there’s another factor, which is the focus factor. Do you know that a person who is worrying is a person whose mind is out of focus? Remember what we told you? He’s double-minded. Now, what our Lord says is that you need to get your focus back. Look again, if you will, in this passage of Scripture now in Matthew chapter 6 and verse 33: “But seek ye first”—“first”—“first”—“the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things”—food, fashion, fitness, future—“shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) Just seek God first!

Do you know what many of us do? We try to put things first and God second. Now, we don’t exclude God—we don’t exclude God—but we just try to kind of add God in. You know, for many people, living the Christian life is doing the best we can with God’s help. That’s what many of us do: the best we can with God’s help. But that isn’t the Christian life. Our Lord does not want a place in your life; He demands, deserves preeminence. “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33)

You say, “Pastor, it won’t work.” Before you tell me it won’t work, I’m going to ask you this question: Have you tried it? Have you tried it? Don’t tell me it won’t if you are not a person who has obeyed the Lord. After the Father factor—your Father knows what you have need of; He knows!—then get your life in focus and “seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.” (Matthew 6:33) And do you know what God is saying in this passage? Our Lord is saying, “You take care of my business, and I’ll take care of yours. You take care of my business, and I will take care of yours. You put me first”—‘seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness’—“and I’ll take care of all of these things that are bothering you.” God is more than able to take care of the things in your life.
A. The Future Factor: Don’t Borrow Trouble

Now here’s the third factor. There’s the Father factor, there’s the focus factor, and there is the future factor. Now look, if you will, in verse 34: “Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34)

Now what’s He saying? The Father factor: Trust in the Lord. The focus factor: Put first things first. The future factor: Don’t borrow trouble! Don’t borrow trouble! Don’t do it! “Take no thought for the morrow; the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself.” (Matthew 6:34) Do you know what you do when you take thought and worry about tomorrow? You borrow trouble. Do you know what worry is? Worry is the interest paid on borrowed trouble. That’s what worry is. Worry is the interest you pay on borrowed trouble.

Now what God has done is God has arranged your life with a perfect ecology. We talk about the ecological problems in the world today. Well here’s one where people get the concern out of balance. Now what does God do? God engineers your problems. Did you know that God has arranged some problems for you today? God is up there in heaven saying, “Well, I’m going to give her this problem; I’m going to give him that problem. I’m going to give one this problem. God is preparing some problems for you. You say, “I thought God loved me.” Yes, He does, and that is why He gives you some problems. Did you know that we would not come to God, we would not trust God, we would not lean upon God, if we didn’t have some problems? Did you know that?

Back in the Garden of Eden, God said to Adam, “Cursed is the ground for your sake.” (Genesis 3:17) He didn’t say, “For your punishment,” but “For your sake.” It is trouble that reminds us that we live in a sinful world. It is trouble that tells us, we must come to God. And so God gives us every day some evil: “Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) The evil for what? He doesn’t mean sin; He means problems, difficulties. That’s the kind of evil He’s talking about. We all have it. God gives it to us to cause us to depend upon Him because we are frail human beings, and we need some trouble. All sunshine makes a desert, and so our Lord gives us some trouble.

But with the sufficient trouble, God gives us sufficient grace. So “sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) What God does, God gives us grace for today, not for tomorrow. God doesn’t give us grace for tomorrow, only for today. Now, if you begin to reach out into tomorrow, and we said, “You pull tomorrow’s clouds over today’s sunshine,” what you do is you upset that ecology. The Bible says, “As your days are, so shall your strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25) God did not give me strength for tomorrow.

Now, listen. If you fail to understand the future factor, if you begin to reach out into the future and drag the future into today, here are three terrible things you are going to do to yourself.

1. It Buries Blessing

   What does this do? Well, in the first place, it buries blessing. Did you know that God not only has given every one of us today some difficulty, but God has given every one of us today some great, great blessings? And the danger is that you get the ecology out of balance, and you do not see the blessings of today. There are plenty of blessings around, if you'll just look around and not let worrying about the future blind you to them.

2. It Steals Strength

   But not only does worry bury blessings, it steals strength. It steals strength. You see, worry is not just useless—I've already told you—it's harmful. Not only does it take the joy out of today; it takes the strength out of tomorrow. You see, what happens is this, that when you do get to tomorrow, you get to tomorrow out of breath because you have been carrying a double load today. Do you know that the God who designed you knows how much you can bear; He knows your frame? (Psalms 103:14) Do you know that?

   A truck—we say that’s a ton-and-a-half truck, that’s a two-ton truck, a five-ton truck. What do we mean? Not how much the truck weighs, but how much the truck can carry. Now the manufacturer of that truck knows the frame, the chassis, of the truck. And so he says, “Don’t ever put a load on that truck that it ought not to bear.”

   Now your Father, according to Psalm 103, He knows your frame. (Psalms 103:14) And so, “as your days are, so shall your strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25) God is not going to give you a burden that you cannot bear if you use the strength that God gives you. But what we do is this: We overload today with tomorrow’s problems. And therefore, friend, we break down the springs of life, and it’s no wonder that we have to call a wrecker to haul us in because what we have done is just simply overloaded our spiritual truck. And not only does it bury blessings; it steals strength! It breaks us down.

3. It Produces Problems

   The third thing, and finally, it produces problems. Did you know that the thing you worry about may happen just because you worry about it? You know what Job said? Job said, “The thing I feared”—“the thing I feared”—“is come upon me.” (Job 3:25)

   Have you ever gotten behind a person driving; they expect every light to turn red? By the time they get there, it has. Have you ever done that? There are people who go through life that way.

Conclusion

And our Lord says, “Listen. Don’t worry about tomorrow.” He didn’t say not to plan for tomorrow. He said, “Don’t take anxious thought for the morrow, *the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.’” (Matthew 5:34)

Don’t let worry bury blessings! Don’t let it steal strength! Don’t let it produce problems! Live today! This is the day the Lord hath made. I will rejoice and be glad in it. (Psalms 118:24)
The Incredible Power of Proper Priorities

Conclusion

We’re preaching through the Sermon on the Mount—“Living on the Rock”—“Building on the Rock.” And I want you to take God’s Word now and turn to Matthew chapter 6, and we’re going to look at a verse that we touched on last week but did not have enough time to do it I think proper justice, and we’re going to look again in Matthew chapter 6 and verse 33: “But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:33) “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.”
I want to speak to you today on this subject: “The Incredible Power of Proper Priorities”—“The Incredible Power of Proper Priorities.” Our Lord here is speaking about priorities. He’s telling us what to put first. And He says, “Seek ye first the kingdom of God.” And if ever a message were needed, this one is, in this generation, in this day, in this age, and in this place. Ours is a nation, and ours is a city, of vanishing values, and therefore pathetic priorities. You see—listen—values determine priorities; and priorities always determine success or failure. Values determine, and priorities always determine, success or failure.

Recently, in The Wall Street Journal, March 15, 1993, William Bennett, former Secretary of Education, talked about the leading index of cultural indicators—not economic indicators, but cultural indicators—and he gave some alarming statistics. William Bennett said this—and I’m quoting now from The Wall Street Journal. This is not some Baptist preacher speaking, but a highly trained, skilled surveyor of the social situation. He says—and I quote—“Since 1960, the U.S. population has increased 41 percent; the gross domestic product has nearly tripled; and total social spending by all levels of government (measured by constant 1990 dollars) has risen from $143.73 billion to $787 billion”—that’s social spending. That’s the money that we spend to solve problems—“more than a fivefold increase”—that’s in thirty years, with constant dollars. That’s allowing for inflation: a fivefold increase. “Inflation-adjusted spending on welfare has increased by 630 percent, spending on education by 225 percent. But during the same 30-year period there has been a 560 percent increase in illegitimate births;”—by the way, there are no illegitimate children; just illegitimate parents—“a quadrupling in divorce rates;”—that is, the divorce rate has increased fourfold—“a tripling of the percentage of children living in single-parent homes;”—listen to this one—“more than a 200-percent increase in the teen-age suicide rate; and a drop of almost 80 points in SAT scores.” And then he goes on to say, “Perhaps more than anything else, America’s cultural decline is evidence of a shift in the public’s attitude and beliefs.”

Now that’s exactly what I was trying to say: that values determine priorities, and priorities determine success or failure. We are a generation of misplaced priorities. Therefore I want to speak to you about “The Incredible Power of a Proper Priority.” Our Lord said, “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.”

I. The Principle of His Preeminence
Now, listen very carefully this morning, because our Lord has a wonderful, wonderful truth for us. Here’s the first thing I want you to see. It’s the preeminence of our Lord that is required. When the Bible says, “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness,” what does that mean? It means, “Make the King supreme.” That’s what it means. It is the kingdom of God. You are to give to your Lord proper preeminence.

Turn, if you want to—or listen to me as I read—Colossians chapter 1, and I'm going to begin reading verse 17. I think there's not a better commentary on what our Lord has to say than Colossians chapter 1 and verse 17. It speaks of the Lord Jesus Christ. And this is what the Apostle Paul says of our dear Lord and Savior Jesus Christ: “And he is before all things, and by him all things consist.” That means everything hangs together by the Lord Jesus Christ. He's the glue of the galaxies. “By him all things consist.” Now, listen to verse 18: “And he”—that is, Jesus—“is the head of the body, the church: who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence.” Now that ought to be underscored in your Bible. That's one of the key secrets of Christian living: that in all things Jesus Christ would have the preeminence. Now, notice verse 19: “For it pleased the Father that in him”—in Jesus—“should all fullness dwell; and, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven.” (Colossians 1:17–19)

Now, look up here and let me tell you something. In every life—in your life and in my life—someone or some thing has first place. Isn't that true? In everybody's life—in your life and in my life—someone or some thing has first place. Dr. S. D. Gordon used to say, “In everybody’s life there’s a throne.” And he used to say that, “Either Christ or self is on that throne. Now,” he said, “if self is on that throne, then Christ is on the cross. But if self is on the cross, Christ is on the throne.”

God’s plan for you is not that Jesus Christ have a place in your life. God’s plan for you is not that Jesus Christ have prominence in your life. God’s plan for you is that Jesus Christ have preeminence in your life: “that in all things he might have the preeminence.” (Colossians 1:18) That’s what the Apostle Paul said. And Jesus said we’re to seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness.

Now, you see, you want to understand what God is about? You want to unravel the mystery of history? You want to cut the Gordian knot? The mystery of history is this: that it pleases the Father that in Jesus all fullness dwells. And everything that God does is for this reason. Why did God send the Holy Spirit? To glorify the Lord Jesus Christ. Why is there going to be a final judgment? “That…every knee should bow…and…every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God.” (Philippians 2:10–11) I mean, everything that God does is that Jesus Christ will have the preeminence.

And on what basis does He deserve and demand preeminence?

A. Because of His Deity

Well, because of His deity. In verse 18, that I just read to you, it says this concerning the Lord Jesus: “He is the head of the body, the church: who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead.” (Colossians 1:18) I mean, He is the Lord. He is the Lord. He is God. He’s not a Baptist preacher saying that you’re to give Him preeminence. It is not some denomination that requires preeminence.

B. Because of His Death

He is God because of His deity, and because of His death. “He died,” the Bible said, “that He might redeem us.” Now, if He’s God, and if He died for us, isn’t it reasonable that He ought to have first place? If He is God, and He died for us, isn’t it reasonable that He have preeminence? I say to you, by every foul mouthful of spit they spat in His face, by every hair of His beard that they plucked from His cheeks, by every lash that they laid on His back, by the piercing of that crown of thorns, by those hellish nails that held Him to the cross, by every drop of blood that fell to the ground, by the agony and the great heartbeat of the Lord Jesus Christ, He deserves preeminence in your life.

“You are not your own. You are bought with a price. Therefore you’re to glorify God in your body and your spirit, which are God’s.” (1 Corinthians 6:19–20) That’s the reason the Apostle Paul brought His life into a burning focus and had gotten proper priorities. And the Apostle Paul said, in Philippians chapter 3 and verse 13, “I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do,—one thing, one thing I do—“forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.” (Philippians 3:13–14)

Now Paul had learned a proper priority: that is, that Jesus Christ is number one. The secret of true success in any realm is to bring your life into a burning focus. Jesus Christ said, “No man can serve two masters.” (Matthew 6:24) James said, “A double minded man is unstable in all of his ways.” (James 1:8) To be successful, you’ve got to narrow your interests. In your life, someone or some thing is going to be number one. Jesus says, “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.” That means, where the King is supreme. People say, “Don’t put all your eggs in one basket.” Friend, put all your eggs in one basket. And watch that basket.

Jesus is Lord—Lord. Concentration is the secret of power in any realm. You take water, and put it in a channel: it becomes a mighty river. Just spread it out: it becomes a stagnant swamp. Everything—everything—in your life ought to come under the heading of the Lordship of Christ. He must have preeminence in everything.

But you say, “Pastor, I have a job. I’ve got to pay attention to my job. I have a family. I must pay attention to my family. I need rest. I need recreation. I need friends. I’ve got to watch my diet.” Of course you do. Of course you do. But why do you do these things? All of these things must become the servant of your master goal. Even your vacation ought to make you a better Christian: to serve the Lord Jesus Christ; that in everything
He would have the preeminence.

That means there are some things that can stay in your life, and there are some things that have to go. You remember what the Apostle Paul said there in 1 Corinthians chapter 6, verse 12? He said, “All things are lawful for me, but not all things are expedient.” (1 Corinthians 6:12) What does that word expedient mean, anyway? It’s just a big double-jointed word. Think about it. What word do you hear in there? Expedition. What is an expedition? An expedition is a trip. Well, what do you do on a trip? You’re going somewhere. Now what the Apostle Paul says, when he says, “All things all things are lawful for me, but all things are not expedient,” is this: that “I have a goal. I’m getting to that goal. Now, if anything hinders me from my goal, even though it might be legal, it might be lawful, if it keeps me from getting to my goal, then it’s got to go in my life.” That means any friend, any pleasure, any sleep, any rest, any job, any ambition, any hobby, anything that keeps me from making Jesus Christ number one in my life: it’s got to go. Any thing, any job, any friend, any love, any hobby, any emotion that pushes me this way: it’s got to stay. Everything has to serve my master goal: that in everything Jesus Christ would have the preeminence. It pleased the Father that in Jesus all fullness should dwell and that He should have the preeminence. We’re to seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness.

Now, have you done that? I say, have you done that? Have you come to the place where you have made Jesus Christ absolute, total Lord of your life? If you’ve not done that—if you’ve not done that—I don’t think you have any right to call yourself a Christian. Jesus said, “Why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?” (Luke 6:46) The Bible says, “Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved.” (Acts 16:31) Now, don’t tell me it won’t work, if you haven’t tried it.

II. The Practice of His Preeminence

First of all, friend, you must recognize His sovereign preeminence. You must yield to the fact that the King is supreme. That’s what Jesus is saying, when He says, “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.” Now, having done that, how is that going to work out in our practical lives? When we think of the sovereign demand of this priority, what are the sweeping dimensions of this priority?

Well, let’s just see if we can get practical. If Jesus Christ is number one in my life, if I’m seeking first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, what’s that going to mean to me day by day and week by week?

A. Give Him the First Thought of Every Day

Well, number one, it means that I am going to give Him the first thought of every day. I’m to wake up with heaven on my mind. I love Psalm 5, verse 3: “My voice shalt thou hear in the morning, O LORD; in the morning will I direct my prayer unto thee, and will look up.” (Psalm 5:3) When you get out of bed, when you open your eyes, the very first thought, as you seek first the kingdom of God, the very first thought ought to be your Lord. Rather than letting the alarm clock go off, and you roll over and look at it, and say, “Good Lord, it’s morning,” you ought to be able to say, “Good morning, Lord. I am awake, and I’m going to live this day for you.”

I have developed a little habit I just simply call “pacing” myself. I don’t know if I’ve ever told you this in public, but I do this. It’s a habit every morning—almost every morning, anyway. P-A-C-E. Do you know what P stands for? It says Praise. I wake up, just open my eyes, and praise the Lord: “God, I give you glory.” Praise. A: that’s to abide. I say, “Lord, I live in you. You live in me. I’m in you. You’re in me. Your strength is my strength. C: that is control. “Lord, I live, therefore, for you. Whatever you want to do with me today, you can do it.” E: “I expect you to live in me, and I thank you for it, and I praise you. P-A-C-E: I just pace myself. That’s the pace I want to live. I want to give God the very first thought when I roll out of the bed. On my way in to brush my teeth, I am pacing my life, praising my Lord, saying, “I’m abiding in you; I’m under your control; I expect you to live your life through me today.”

B. Give Him the First Day of the Week

If in all things He has the preeminence, then He ought to have the first thought every morning. And then, not only that, but you ought to give Him the first day of the week—the first day of the week. Do you know what Sunday is? It is not the weekend. It is the first day of the week. And it belongs, not to Michelob, but to Jesus Christ. Acts chapter 20 and verse 7: “Upon the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul preached unto them.” (Acts 20:7) First Corinthians 16, verse 2: “Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay him in store, as God hath prospered him.” (1 Corinthians 16:2) That is, you’re to bring your gifts to God on the first day of the week. We’re to come to church and honor our Lord, because He’s first. He has the first day of the week. The Bible says, in Hebrews chapter 10, verse 25, we’re not to forsake “the assembling of ourselves together, as the matter of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching.” (Hebrews 10:25) As we get closer to the end time, you need more and more and more to be in the house of God with the people of God to hear the Word of God and to exhort one another on the first day of the week.

Sunday is the Lord’s Day. We’ve made it everything else. We’ve made it a time for football, baseball, fishing, motorcar racing, and all of the rest of it. Friend, Sunday needs to be set aside for Jesus Christ. It is the Lord’s Day. It is not the Sabbath. The Sabbath is Saturday. Sunday is the Lord’s Day. What is the difference? All of the Old Testament Sabbath prophecies were summed up in the Lord Jesus Christ upon the first day of the week. Upon the first day of the week, Jesus rose from the dead. Upon the first day of the week, He first appeared to His disciples. Upon the first day of the week, the Holy Spirit descended upon the early church. Upon the first day of the week, the Apostle Paul preached to them. Upon the first day of the week, they received their offerings. And you need to give Jesus Christ preeminence, and give Him the first thought every day, and you need to give Him the first day every week, and reserve this day for our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

C. Give Him the First Fruits of Your Income

I’ll tell you the third thing. You need to give Him, friend, the first fruits of all your income. Proverbs chapter 3, verse 9: “Honour the LORD with thy substance, and with the firstfruits of all thine increase.” (Proverbs 3:9) That doesn’t mean, after you’ve paid your grocery bill, and after you’ve paid Sears, and after you’ve done this and this and this, then you see what you have left to give to God. What a disgrace! What a disgrace!

Suppose you invited me to your house, and there’s a lovely cake there, and you give a piece to everybody else, and then there are some crumbs on the plate, and you say, “That’s what’s left, pastor. That’s for you.” We’re giving God the leftovers. We’re giving God the crumbs. We give this thing, and we give this thing, and we pay that bill, and we pay that bill. Friend, you honor God with the first fruits of all your increase. You take God’s part first—not second, first. He is your sovereign Lord. He died for you. There is nothing more important than your recognizing Almighty God. Jesus said, “Seek ye first the kingdom of God.”

You say, “Well, pastor, if I did that, I wouldn’t have enough.” The reason you don’t have enough is because you don’t do that. Jesus said, “You put me first, and all these things shall be added unto you.” You’ll do more with nine-tenths and God as a partner than you’ll ever do with ten-tenths by yourself, my dear friend. “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.”

There are three reasons to tithe. The lowest reason is, if you tithe, you’ll prosper. A higher reason is, there’s the need of a lost world. But the highest reason is the honor and glory of your great God. There was no other need: even if you didn’t get blessed, you should still give Him the first fruits.

D. Give Him the First Consideration in Every Decision

I’m going to tell you something else: you need to give the Lord the first consideration in every decision; you don’t make a decision without bringing it to God. Second Corinthians chapter 8 and verse 5: “And this they did, not as we hoped, but first gave their own selves to the Lord, and unto us by the will of God.” (2 Corinthians 8:5) When you give yourself to the Lord, then everything else is going to follow out—your choice of a job, a vacation, a girlfriend or boyfriend—whatever it is has to be considered in the light of Calvary.

Many of us want the Lord in our lives, but you know how we want the Lord? We want the Lord as a spare tire. Friend, He doesn’t want to be the spare tire. He’s the steering wheel in your life. He’s the control center in your life. He’s not the emergency kit. He is number one in your life.

E. Give Him the First Devotion of Your Heart

You’re to give Him the first devotion of your heart. You’re to love Him. You’re to love Him more than anybody or anything else. Anything you love more, serve more, or fear more than Almighty God is an idol. And idolatry is the number one sin. Our Lord remonstrated with the church at Ephesus for this one thing. I’ll tell you what it was: they left their first love. He said to this church—it was a wonderful church, a going, growing, glowing church—but He said this, in Revelation chapter 2, verse 4: “Nevertheless I have this against you: you have left your first love.” (Revelation 2:4)

Do you know what first love is? Well, were you ever in love? Well, I can remember first love with Joyce. What an experience that was! I remember the first time I kissed Joyce. We were grade-school sweethearts. Chills went up and down my spine. Her popsicle was leaking. Seriously. I’ve known this girl so long. But, you know—this is the truth, not rhetoric—as sure as there’s a God in heaven, I love her more today than I ever have. But I’ll tell you why. I’ll tell you why: because the honeymoon has not ended. She’s more beautiful to me, and more pleasing to me, than she ever was—because I’ve not lost that first love. Somebody says, the honeymoon is that period of time between “I do” and “You’d better.” But, friend, listen. Jesus said to this church, “There’s something wrong with you: not that you don’t love me, but you’ve left that glowing, burning, passionate love that you used to have.”

Do you remember how it was when you first got saved? Do you remember how? Friend, if you don’t love Jesus Christ more today, you love Him less. And if you don’t love Him more today than you did yesterday, you’re living in sin. Every day with Jesus ought to be sweeter than the day before. And He deserves, He demands, first place in your devotion. Give Him the first thought in the morning. Give Him the first day of the week. Give Him the first fruit of your income. Give Him the first consideration in every decision. Give Him the first devotion of your heart and of your life.

One great preacher proposed to his wife this way. He said to her, “Would you consider being second place in my life?” Isn’t that beautiful? I love that. “Would you consider being second place in my life?” You say, “I don’t want to be second place in anybody’s life.” If you’re a smart woman, you’ll want to be second place in a man’s life, because any man who loves Jesus Christ supremely will love you in a way that He could never love you any other way. Friend, He will love you with the love of God. And you ought to thank God for a man or woman that loves Jesus Christ more than anything else.

III. The Promise of His Preeminence

Now, what are we saying? We’re saying, this verse says, “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.” That means a wholehearted devotion to our Lord. And then it means there are some practical considerations. And then, not only is there that principle, and that practice; but, friend, there is the promise.

Now, look at the promise. Go back and look at it—verse 33: “But seek ye first the kingdom of God…and all these things shall be added unto you”—“all these things.” Most of us are in the thing business, aren’t we? Our Lord said, “Don’t worry about the things.” This verse is the key to prosperity, and this verse is the cure for worry. Modern Americans put things first, and God second. As I told you last week, we’re to worship God, love people, and use things. Most Americans love things, use people, and ignore God. And we wonder why we’re in the condition that we’re in. But our Lord says, “If you will do this, if you will put me first, then I’m going to take care of your problems.” Do you know what a worrier is? Primarily, a worrier is a person who has put things first—that’s all. A worrier is a person who puts things first.

Now, let’s review just a little bit. Why did our Lord say not to worry?

A. Worry Is Needless

Look, if you will here, in chapter 6 and verse 25. Look at it. He says here, “Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought”—that is, anxious thought—“for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for you body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?” And verse 26: “Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them.” (Matthew 6:25–26) What our Lord is saying—put it down, number one: worry is needless.

B. Worry Is Senseless

But then if worry is needless, then it is senseless. Verse 26: “If God takes care of the birds and the flowers, isn’t He going to take care of you?”

C. Worry Is Useless

But not only is it needless, and senseless; in verse 27, it is useless: “Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?” (Matthew 6:27) That means his lifespan. You can worry yourself to death, but you can’t worry yourself alive.
D. Worry Is Faithless

It is faithless. Look, if you will, in verse 30: “Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to day is, and to morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?” (Matthew 6:30) It is faithless.

E. Worry Is Excuseless

And, therefore, it is excuseless. Verses 31 and 32: “Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? (for after all these things do the Gentiles seek:)”—you know what the Gentiles were? They were the pagans. Worry is pagan—“for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things.” (Matthew 6:31–32)

Conclusion

You say, “But wait a minute, pastor. Don’t tell me not to worry. That doesn’t do any good. Tell me how not to worry. All right, I will. Verse 33: “But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” Worry is needless. Worry is senseless. Worry is faithless. Worry is excuseless. Oh, friend, we are to seek God: the kingdom of God and His righteousness!

Some years ago at Bellevue Baptist Church we had as a guest Pete Maravich. Were any of you here when Pistol Pete came and spoke? A lot of you remember Pistol Pete Maravich, I suppose, one of the greatest, if not truly the greatest, basketball player who ever lived—Pistol Pete. He was an amazing guy. If you’ve ever watched the film clips of Pistol Pete Maravich, that guy could do anything with a basketball. I mean, he invented the moves that the pros are using now, and the college and high school students try to emulate. He was the guy who taught people how to dribble behind their back and pass between their legs. He could make such amazing passes that, many times, not only would he catch the opposition off-guard but catch his own teammates off-guard. Let me tell you what his average was in college. His average: forty-four points. That was his average. Scotty: forty-four points. In his day, he was the top scorer in all collegiate basketball, three-time All American, 1970 Player of the Year. And he didn’t stop. When ol’ Pistol Pete went into the pros, he was an incredible player there. There averaged thirty-one points per game. In a career of a span of ten years, Pistol Pete Maravich played with a flare, and with an intensity, that never has been seen, in my estimation, on the basketball floor. I used to watch it.

You know why he played basketball that way? It was his life. Pistol Pete Maravich said, “This one thing I do.” He went to bed with a basketball. He told me about it, sat in my study. We talked about it. Basketball was his life. But it never satisfied. His life seemed to come apart. His mother committed suicide. Pete felt responsible. He became a social drinker, and then he became a problem drinker—even while playing basketball. He had no inner peace. He thought, “Maybe, if I could win a professional basketball championship, then I would be at peace; maybe that would be it.” But he never won that championship. And he retired at thirty-three, the same age our Lord was when He was crucified, and the same age that Alexander the Great was when he conquered the world.

Pistol Pete Maravich, at thirty-three, who many consider to be the greatest in the sport, now retired, had almost more than he could take. For twenty-five years, basketball had been his god. It never met the need of his heart. So Pistol Pete began to turn to other things, strange things: New Ageism, mysticism, astrology, survivalism, even UFOs. Nothing like that could meet the need of his heart. Then somebody told him of Jesus Christ that our Lord loved him, died for him, rose for him, wanted to come in and satisfy him, and change his life. And Pistol Pete told me how, in November 1982, when he could not sleep, he rolled out of bed, put his knees on the floor, opened his heart, and received Jesus Christ as his Lord and Savior. And Jesus, and Jesus alone, became first in his life.

Pistol Pete Maravich learned the verse that I’m talking about: “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.” He went to Columbia, South Carolina, where Billy Graham was speaking in a crusade. Pistol Pete Maravich gave his testimony before thirty-five thousand people. I want to quote to you what he said. He said, “Next week, I will be inducted into the Hall of Fame. But I wouldn’t trade my position in Christ for a thousand NBA championships, for a thousand Hall of Fame rings, or for a hundred billion dollars.” That’s what Pistol Pete Maravich said. No longer was basketball number one; Jesus Christ was number one.

I remember rejoicing with him, and praying with him, and thanking God, as I saw the burning intensity of this young man. Then it happened so suddenly. He was forty. Out on the basketball court, just playing with a friend. His friend said to him, “Pete, how do you feel?” He said, “I never felt better,” and then fell to the floor in writhing pain. They called an ambulance. For fifty minutes they tried to revive Pistol Pete. But it was all over. At 9:42, January 5, 1988, he stepped into the presence of Jesus Christ, and could look into the face of someone that he’d made number one.

I’m so glad he didn’t walk up to the throne dribbling a basketball, saying, “Lord, watch these moves.” I’m so glad Pistol Pete could say, “Lord, I got it settled. I gave you my heart, my life. And you, Lord, are number one.”

Now, look at me, everyone in this building. In everybody’s life here today there is someone or some thing that is number one. If Christ is number one, if He has the preeminence in you life, then Matthew chapter 6, verse 33, perhaps, for you can be the greatest verse in all of the Bible: “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” But if you put things first, and God second, you’ll never discover the peace that I’ve discovered, that Pistol Pete discovered, and that millions have discovered.
The Incredible Power of Proper Priorities, Part 2

Take God’s Word and be finding Matthew chapter 6 and verse 33. Have you heard that verse before—Matthew chapter 6 and verse 33? The title of our message tonight: “The Incredible Power of Proper Priorities: Part 2.” Just a lot in this verse, and I want us to look at it just a little more tonight: “But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) “The Incredible Power of Proper Priorities.”

You could put the problem in most people’s lives in one phrase: the failure to put first things first. That’s really it. I mean, just let all the air out of it. The problem in everybody’s life is the failure to put first things first. When you put first things first, you cannot fail. If you don’t, you cannot succeed. Our Lord has made a solemn promise: “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.”

I heard some time ago about a man who went into a pet store and there he saw a parakeet advertised for twenty-five dollars, which is remarkably low-priced for a parakeet guaranteed to talk—and this one was. He bought the parakeet, and bought a cage, and brought it home, and waited for several days. And the parakeet said not a word, so he went back to the pet store and said, “Look, I paid twenty-five dollars. And I realize this was a low price for a parakeet, but you said it was guaranteed to talk, and this one has not talked yet.” “Well,” the man said, “did you get a little swing?” He said,
“No.” He said, “Well, he always gets up on the perch on the swing before he says a word.” He said, “Well, how much is a swing?” He said, “That’s ten dollars.” “Well,” he said, “all right.” So he bought a swing and went back, waited several days, and went back again to the pet store and said, “Look, I paid twenty-five dollars for this bird. I bought a cage. I bought a swing. He has not said a word. The man said, “Well, did you get one of the little mirrors?” “What do you mean?” “Well,” he said, “he always gets on the perch, and then looks in the mirror, before he talks. You don’t have a mirror?” He said, “No.” He said, “That’s another ten dollars.” So he bought a mirror, went home. Several days, he went back again. He said, “Look, I bought the bird. I bought the cage. I bought the swing. I bought the mirror. He’s not said a word.” He said, “Well, you mean he pecked the bell, and didn’t say anything?” He said, “You didn’t say anything about the bell.” “Oh, yes,” he said, “he gets on the perch, he looks in the mirror, he pecks the bell before he talks.” He said, “That’s ten dollars for a bell.” So the man bought the bell, went home.

Several days, he went back. He said, “Look, this is getting old. That bird has still not said one word.” He said, “Do you mean to tell me that he sat on the perch, looked in the mirror, pecked the bell, ran up and down the ladder, and didn’t say anything?” He said, “You didn’t say anything about the ladder.” “Oh, yes,” he said, “he always runs up and down the little ladder before he talks.” He said, “That’s ten dollars for a ladder.” So he bought the ladder. After a while, he came back. The man said, “How is the bird?” He said, “The bird is dead!” He said, “You mean, the bird died?” He said, “Yes, the bird died.” He said, “Did he never say a word?” “Yes,” he said, “the bird talked.” He said, “Well, what did he say?” “Just before he died, he said, ‘Don’t they sell any bird seed in that store?’”

I think that that illustrates the importance of proper priorities. I think, in our Christian life, we’re sitting on a perch, looking in the mirror, pecking the bell, running up and down the ladder, but somehow we have failed to prioritize and to feed ourselves and nurture ourselves on the Lord Himself. “Seek ye first”—first, first—“the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.”

Now I want us to look in the book of Matthew from a different perspective, and I want to give you tonight five powerful priorities—five powerful priorities.

I. Fellowship Before Worship

Now, go back now to Matthew chapter 5, and look with me, beginning in verse 23—our Lord is speaking: “Therefore if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought”—that means “anything”—“against thee; leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way;”—now here’s our word. Look at it; look at it—“first”— “first”—“be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.” (Matthew 5:23–24) What is the priority here? The priority here is this: fellowship before worship—fellowship before worship. What our Lord is saying is this: that you cannot consciously be right with God if you’re consciously and willingly wrong with your brother.

Now, here’s a man. He comes to worship. He’s taken his envelope. He’s filled his envelope out. He’s put on there the date. He’s put on the amount, or whatever he does, and fills that out, licks it, seals it, comes to church on Sunday morning. The offering is taken, and he puts his envelope in the offering plate. And he feels good about it. But he knows that he knows that there’s somebody in the congregation that has something against him, and he doesn’t make it right. Do you know what? That gift is not acceptable to Almighty God. God does not receive that gift. No one can worship God who does not first get right with his brother if his brother has ought against him. It doesn’t say, “if he has something against his brother.” It doesn’t say, “if somebody has wronged him.” If people have wronged me, I can worship. As a matter of fact, it causes me to worship all the better. But if I have wronged somebody else, if there’s somebody who has something against me—that is, I have done something that is wrong, and I know it—and I don’t go and make it right, God says that all I call worship is sheer vanity. I can give my money, but God will not accept it. I may sing, but no praise goes to God. I may pray, but God does not hear my prayer. There’s a divine priority: fellowship first; worship second. You cannot be right with God if you are consciously and willingly wrong with your brother.

Is there something you need to make right? Are there some debts that you owe that you’ve not paid? Are there some harsh words that you’ve spoken that you’ve not asked forgiveness for? Is there some criticism and some gossip that you’ve done that needs to be put right? Is there some duty towards some individual that you’ve neglected?

“Well,” you say, “Pastor Rogers, since you’ve told me that—that if I bring my gift tonight, God will not receive it—then I’ll just take it and spend it for what I want.” No, go back and read it again: “If you bring your gift to the altar, and there remember that your brother has ought against you, leave your gift”—“leave your gift”—“and go be reconciled to your brother.” Don’t take it and spend it. That would be even worse. It is tainted money: t’ain’t yours—t’ain’t yours. But it is tainted, and God cannot accept it. It is being held in escrow. It is never put on the blessing side of the ledger until you go and get right with your brother.

You see, there is a divine priority: “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) Many of us need to go get right with a brother, with a sister. And when you go to get right, be certain of your motivation. What some people call “burying the hatchet” is really just digging up more dirt. Go in a spirit of love, and be reconciled to your brother. Confess; make it right.

II. The Spiritual Before the Material
Here’s another priority in the book of Matthew: Not only does He teach relationship and fellowship comes before worship, but He also teaches that the spiritual comes before the material. Look again in Matthew chapter 6 and verse 33—that’s the second powerful priority: “But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness;”—that’s the spiritual—“and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) Now I would say that 99.44 percent of Americans put things first and God second. But this verse, as we told you this morning, is the key to prosperity, and it is the cure for worry: to put the spiritual before the material, to “seek…the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.”

Do you really expect to go to heaven worshipping things? Anything you love more, fear more, serve more, or are more concerned about than God, to you, is an idol. And what you go after here determines where you will go hereafter. “Seek ye first the kingdom of God.”

III. Purity Before Ministry
Priority number one: fellowship before worship. Priority number two: the spiritual before the material. Priority number three: purity before ministry. Look, if you will, in chapter 7, verse 1: “Judge not, that ye be not judged. For what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again. And why beholdest thou the mote”—that means “the speck”—“that is in thy brother’s eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye? Or how wilt thou say to thy brother, Let me pull out the mote out of thine eye; and, behold, a beam”—a log, a crosstie—“is in thine own eye?” Don’t tell me that Jesus didn’t have a sense of humor. Here’s a man with a railroad tie in his eye trying to do surgery, removing a speck, a mote, out of his brother’s eye. Notice what Jesus says: “Thou hypocrite, first”—there’s our word again. Do you see it? Three times He’s used it already—“first”—“first cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother’s eye.” (Matthew 7:1–5) What is our Lord saying? First, purity; and then, ministry.

Our Lord here does not say we’re not to judge. This verse has been misused and abused more than any verse in the Bible, I suppose. And next Sunday morning, God willing, we’ll do a full exposition of what it means to judge or not to judge. What our Lord here is warning about is being a hypocrite. He’s talking about hypocritical judgment.
Now, in the very next verse, He tells us that we need to discern, or we need to judge. For example, look, if you will, in verse 6: “Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither cast ye your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn again and rend you.” (Matthew 7:6) You've got to be able to judge the difference between sheep, dogs, and swine. You've got to be able to make discernment. You've got to be able to judge in that area. What our Lord is warning against here is the sheer, unmitigated hypocrisy of an individual endeavoring to remove a speck out of somebody else's eye when he has a log, a cross tie, in his own eye.

What our Lord says: “Purity comes before ministry.” He's not saying not to get the speck out of your brother’s eye; He is saying, “Get the speck out of your brother’s eye.” He says, “If you'll get the cross tie out of your eye, then you’ll see more clearly how to remove the speck out of your brother’s eye.” The Bible teaches very plainly in the book of Galatians that we “which are spiritual” are to help these that need help. Galatians chapter 6, verse 1: “Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual…”—not hypocritical—“ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness.” (Galatians 6:1) If I have a speck in my eye, I want you to help me get it out; but I don't want you to help me get it out if you’ve got a cross tie in your own eye.

There's something about the sin of a hypocrite that blinds him:

Faults in others I can see;
But, praise the Lord, there are none in me.

Now, listen. May God help you to prioritize and have your life absolutely, totally clean with God before you try to minister to somebody else! When I first came to this church, I got the deacons together, twenty years ago, and I said, “Brother deacons, I want you to do something. I want you to help me to minister to those who've come forward. I want you to be ones to go to the prayer room and pray with people. I want you to be the ones that take the Bible and show these people how to come to Jesus Christ. I want you to be the ones to bear their burdens and weep with them and pray with them and lead them to Jesus Christ.” And then I said, “May God have mercy on you if you try to point a man, a woman, a boy, a girl, to Jesus Christ, or to make any spiritual decision, and your heart is not absolutely, totally right with God!” You agree, don’t you? How can anybody get a speck out of somebody else’s eye when he has a log in his own eye?

Now I'm not a perfect man—you've discovered that, I know, a long, long time ago—and my wife can tell you I’m not a perfect man; but I tell you what else my wife will tell you: “He’s not a hypocrite.” I would not dare stand in the pulpit and preach the Word of God with unconfessed, unrepented-of sin in my life. What arrogance! What an unmitigated fool is the man, the woman—anybody—who would take sacred and holy things in profane hands and would try to tell others what to do or what not to do when he’s got a crosstie in his own eye! If you’re a Sunday School teacher in this church, and you’re not going to live a righteous and a holy life, for God’s sake, my sake, and your sake, resign! Get right with God, or resign! If you’re a deacon in this church, and you’re not going to be pure and clean and holy, and live before God as you ought to live before God, then resign! Don’t do it! If you’re a staff member in this church, and your life is not absolutely, totally right with God—blameless, pure—don’t attempt to minister in the name of Jesus! It is folly! It is sin! It is repugnant to God! We’re to “seek first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.” (Matthew 6:33) Our Lord says, “You hypocrite! First get the log out of your eye; then you’ll see more clearly how to get the speck out of somebody else’s eye.” (Matthew 7:5)

I heard about a man who went into the psychiatrist’s office, had a fried egg on his head, a strip of bacon over each ear. He said, “I came to see you about my brother.” Many of us are just like that:

Faults in others I can see;
But, praise the Lord, there are none in me.

IV. Binding Before Loosing
Our Lord says there is a proper priority: that fellowship comes before worship; that the spiritual comes before the material; that purity comes before ministry. Then, I want you to turn to Matthew chapter 12, and it gets even more serious. Look, beginning in verse 22: “Then was brought unto him”—that is, “unto Jesus”—“one possessed with a devil…”—now, every time in the King James Version where you read the word devil—“a devil”; not “the devil, but “a devil”—it means “a demon”—“one possessed with a [demon], blind, and dumb: and he”—that is Jesus—“healed him, insomuch that the blind and dumb both spake and saw.” This was a miracle. Now there is a spirit of blindness and a spirit of speech impediment. Not everyone who is blind—obviously, not everyone who is blind—is demon-possessed; or everyone who cannot speak is demon-possessed; but this man was. “Then was brought unto him one possessed with a devil, blind, and dumb: and he healed him, insomuch that the blind and dumb both spake and saw. And all the people were amazed, and said, Is not this the son of David?” That’s just a way of saying, “Isn’t this the Messiah?” “But when the Pharisees heard it…”—now the Pharisees hated Jesus because the people were following Jesus. They were envious of Jesus. The Bible said it was for envy that they delivered Him. (Matthew 27:18) Besides that, they had no compassion. They didn’t care that a man had been healed. In these guys, the milk of human kindness had curdled—“when the Pharisees heard it, they said, This fellow doth not cast out devils, but by Beelzebub the prince of devils.” (Matthew 12:22–24)

That was one of the vilest things they could say. Beelzebub was a Phoenician god of filth. They worshipped filth—the lord of the flies. The Phoenicians saw that when there was carrion and filth on the ground, after awhile there would be larvae, maggots. They couldn’t see the microscopic eggs that the flies would lay, so they thought that life came out of putrefaction; life came out of filth and stench and manure; and so they worshipped that. Can you image any idolatry any worse than that? Now, you know what they call this god of filth? Beelzebub.

Now I want you to see how cruel, and how malevolent, and how wicked, and how twisted, and how warped these Pharisees were. They said, “Yeah, He healed him, but He healed him by Beelzebub, the god of filth, the prince of the devils.” “And Jesus knew their thoughts, and said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and every city or house divided against itself shall not stand: and if Satan cast out Satan, he is divided against himself; how shall then his kingdom stand? And if I by Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your children cast them out? therefore they shall be your judges. But if I cast out devils by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God is come unto you.” (Matthew 12:25–28)

Now Jesus uses that spiritual logic that He has. He says, “Nobody works for the devil by lifting drooping spirits, by cooling fevered brows, by opening blind eyes, by loosing dumb tongues, by driving out devils. I am not in collusion with the devil; I am in collision with the devil.” And you know that—very obvious. They knew that. And Jesus then goes on to talk and tell how He does cast out demons. Look in verse 29: “Or else how can one enter into a strong man’s house, and spoil his goods,”—that means “carry off his materials”—“except he”—and here’s our word—“first bind the strong man? and then he will spoil his house”—“first bind the strong man.” (Matthew 12:29)

Now, who is the strong man in this parable? Jesus said, “You go into a man’s house. He’s got all of this wealth. You want his wealth? How are you going to get his wealth? Well, first of all, you’ve got to go in there and tie him up, because he’s very strong and you’re not going to be able to carry all this loot away unless you first bind the strong man.” Who is the strong man? The strong man is Satan. And Satan is strong. As Martin Luther said, “His craft and power are great, and, armed with cruel hate, on earth is not his equal.” But Jesus said, “In order to rob him, you must bind him. You must first bind him. You must take away his goods by binding him.”

Now, notice Jesus didn’t say that you could sneak up on him. The thief slips under cover of night. You can’t do that. He’s the master of the night; he is the prince of darkness. You cannot slip into his house and steal anything from him. He’s too clever for that. The only way that you're going to take anything from Satan is armed robbery. I mean, you're going to have to strong-arm him. You'll never fool him; you'll never trick him. He is the prince of darkness.

And it’s time that churches and organizations and everybody else learn that we’re not going to outwit, out-move, outmaneuver, out-manage, out-organize, out-advertise the devil. You can’t do it. You’ve just got to overcome him with sheer force. You’ve got to bind him. Jesus said, “You know the way I got this man out of Satan’s territory? How did I deliver this man who had become the victim of a wicked, cruel, malevolent, strong person?” Jesus said, “I bound him. That’s how I did it: I bound him. I bound Satan. And, therefore, I robbed his house, and I carried away his goods. This man that he thought was in his possession, I carried him away, and I delivered him.”

First—first—the binding; and then, the loosing: That’s the priority. Before you would loose anyone, you must first of all bind Satan. Many of us, when we go to war, we don’t know exactly what we’re doing. We are wrestling against flesh and blood, but the battle is not against flesh and blood. Are we stronger than Satan? Of course not! Is Jesus stronger than Satan? Of course He is! Does Jesus live in us? Yes, He does. Has He given us the power of attorney? Yes, He has. And we can bind Satan, and we can loose souls.

Now you’re in Matthew chapter 12. Turn to Matthew chapter 18; look in verse 18: “Verily I say unto you”—now, when our Lord says, “verily,” that means “pay attention; put up your antenna”—“[Truly, truly],”—“verily”—“I say unto you, Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven. Again I say unto you, That if two of you shall agree on earth as touching any thing that they shall ask, it shall be done for them of my Father which is in heaven.” (Matthew 18:18–19) The binding comes before the loosing. Jesus said, “I did not rob the strong man’s house except I first bound the strong man.” (Matthew 12:29) That’s the proper priority. We’ve got to get it in the right order.

Now you say, “Well, Pastor Rogers, if I have a son, a daughter, a husband, a wife who’s in the grip of a vile and cruel devil, demon-possessed, can I take them out of Satan’s hands?” If they want to come, you can. You see, many of them don’t even have the ability to come except you pray, except you bind. You remember, in 2 Corinthians 4:4, the Bible says, “The God of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ…should shine unto them.” (2 Corinthians 4:4) Who is “the god of this world”—literally, “the god of this age”? Satan! He’s “the prince of the power of the air,” (Ephesians 2:2) and he is the sinister minister of deception. He has “blinded the minds of them which believe not.” Never scold an unsaved man when he says, “I don’t see it.” He doesn’t see it. He’s not lying. He can’t see it. “Except a man be born again, he cannot see.” (John 3:3) Jesus said, “He is blind.” Your job is to bind the blinder, the one who’s blinding them. Your job is to render him inoperable, so you can go into his house and carry away his captives.

Does that mean that, ipso facto, I can bind Satan and carry away whomever I wish? No. They’ve got to be willing to go—they’ve got to be willing to go. You see, my prayers free you to be saved; they don’t force you to be saved. God won’t force anybody to be saved. But there are many people today who are in bondage. They need somebody to pray for them. They need somebody to bind Satan. They need to go into the strong man’s house. And many of them would be saved, and could be saved, if we would become people of a proper priority and “seek…first the kingdom of God”: (Matthew 6:33) get right with those that we’ve wronged—fellowship before worship; get our value system right—the spiritual before the material; get our ministry right—purity before ministry; get the battle right—binding before loosing.

We’re in a battle, and we’re losing. And I’ll tell you why we’re losing: We’re not even showing up for the war. “We wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, and powers and spiritual wickedness.” (Ephesians 6:12) We need to learn how to bind the power of Satan that’s carrying this community and this nation to hell in a handbasket. And he has his captives, and he’s carrying them off with chains of darkness. Many of us have failed to pray and to bind the strong man.

V. The Inside Before the Outside

Now, here’s the last of these five powerful priorities. Turn, if you will, to Matthew chapter 23; look, if you will, in verse 25—our Lord says, “Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites…”—you know, Jesus had loving words for drunkards, thieves, prostitutes. He had such compassion. He was called “a friend of sinners.” (Matthew 11:19; Luke 7:34) But He had His most scathing denunciation for hypocrites. Jesus, with no equivocation, excoriated those that were hypocrites, actors playing church—“Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess. Thou blind Pharisee, cleanse”—here’s our word—“first that which is within the cup and platter, that the outside of them may be clean also.” (Matthew 23:25–26) There’s the proper priority: the inside before the outside. That just sums up everything else—the inside before the outside.

Now, evidently, the way that men do dishes hasn’t changed through the years. Joyce will hand it back to me and say, “Adrian, that’s not clean.” Well, I’ll hold it up. She says, “Look on the inside.” A man can just sort of polish the outside and say, “I’ve done a good job.” But if you’re going to eat out of a vessel, you’d much rather have it clean on the inside than on the outside, hadn’t you?
Our Lord says, “Don’t be a hypocrite. Don’t just simply polish the outside of the vessel without doing the inside.” You see, what men need is a new birth, not another bath. I mean, they need to be changed from the inside. They need to be changed radically and dramatically.

What do most people do? What does government try to do? Government tries to change men by starting on the outside and working to the inside. We think if we can change the environment, we can change the man. Do you realize that man got in trouble in a perfect environment, the Garden of Eden? Do you think that the environment is the answer? I’m for a good environment—that’s better than a bad environment. But men always want to start on the outside and try to work toward the inside. God starts on the inside and works toward the outside.

That’s the reason we need to understand the proper role of the church and the proper role of the state. I believe in government. God founded government. God ordained government. But learn this about government: Government cannot make you good; it can’t do it. Only God can make you good. Only the church has the message that makes men good. The government is not here to make you good; the government is here to restrain evil. That’s what the government is for. There’s no law on earth that can make you love me, Greg, so I’ve got to have one to keep you from killing me, see? The government is here to restrain evil. Only God can make you good.

Man always thinks if he can simply begin on the outside, he can work to the inside. He cleanses the outside of the cut; he fails to cleanse the inside. Jesus Christ begins in the heart of man, and Jesus says, “First, the inside—get your heart right; and then, the outside will be taken care of.” When a man comes to Jesus Christ, is he going to sprout wings and get a halo? If somebody comes down this aisle tonight to give his or her heart to Jesus Christ, does that mean he will never curse again? Does that mean he’ll never lose his temper again? Does that mean he’ll never lust again? Of course not! He will. Why? Because he has in him a nature that has been accustomed to do these things. But then he comes to Jesus, and he gets saved: The Lord transforms him. There’s a germ that is planted on the inside—a life, more than a germ; the life of God. He’s made a “partaker of the divine nature.” (2 Peter 1:4) And God begins to do a miracle in the heart of that man, and he begins to “grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.” (2 Peter 3:18) And he’s not perfect. He will be perfect. But he’s not perfect. The Bible says in Philippians chapter 1, verse 6, that “he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it.” (Philippians 1:6) That is, He’s going to complete what He started.

Joyce and I were taking our walk the other morning. Spring—we love spring! Don’t you love spring? I love it. In Florida, we didn’t have spring. We didn’t have winter either, though—just green all year round. All right, we’re taking our walk, and do you know what happened? I mean, it’s springtime—spring now. And I saw a dead leaf come floating down. That’s supposed to happen in the fall. I said, “Joyce, look at that. It’s spring, and the leaves are falling.” And, you know, most of the leaves fall off the trees in the fall. But, you know, there are some leaves that don’t fall off the trees until the spring. Have you noticed that? There are some that just kind of cling on there, and they don’t fall until the springtime. And do you know what causes them to fall, ultimately? They don’t blow off; they’re not knocked off. They’re pushed off—they’re pushed off. What pushes them off? It’s new life: a new leaf that is pushing the old life, the old leaf, off. Something is happening on the inside. Until you just get full of Jesus, you’ll save a lot of time picking leaves. Just let Jesus come into your heart, into your life.

Jesus says, “First—first, first—the inside; then, the outside.” You may have some habits; you may have some problems; you may be wrestling with some things; but you begin to take care of and nurture the inner life and “seek…first the kingdom of God” (Matthew 6:33)—just seek it—and you’re going to find out that your life will be being changed day by day. But if you start on the outside with resolutions and good intentions and rededications and all of that, if you don’t tend to the inner part, you’ll never have real victory.

Conclusion
Now, these are five powerful priorities. They’re taught by our Lord—our Lord—who said, “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.” (Matthew 6:33) I want to say again that if you’re having difficulty living the Christian life, it is because your priorities are wrong. And if your priorities are wrong, it’s because your values are wrong. And if your values are wrong, it’s because you’re ignorant of this book, or you don’t believe in it. So that’s why you’re here, and that’s why I’m preaching tonight.
The High Cost of Borrowed Trouble

Introduction
Take God’s Word, please, and turn to Matthew chapter 6. And in just a moment, we’re going to read two very familiar verses—Matthew chapter 6. I’m going to be speaking to you on the subject of worry. There’s not a person here, including this pastor who is doing the speaking, who doesn’t need to hear the message. And so I’m listening to what I have to say about you, because indeed worry seems to be America’s favorite indoor and outdoor sport. We worry about so many things. Those who are poor worry because they don’t have any money, and those who are wealthy worry about everybody getting what money they have away from them. Those who are ignorant worry because they don’t know very much, and those who know a lot worry about what they know. Those who are young, they worry because they face an uncertain future. And those who are old, they worry because they seem to be facing sickness and death. And we just seem to think that worry is normal and natural, and some of us actually think that worry does good. But the Bible says, “Fret not thyself.” (Psalm 37:1; Psalm 37:7; Psalm 37:8; Proverbs 24:19) It tends only to evil—it tends only to evil. Now, the very best we could say about worry is that it is useless. Jesus said, “Which of you by taking [anxious] thought can add one cubit unto his stature?” (Matthew 6:27) It doesn’t do any good at all. Worry never solved a problem. Worry never lifted a burden. Worry never dried a tear. The best we could say about it, folks, is that it is useless.

But, oh, my dear friend, I don’t want to talk to you about the uselessness of worry; I want to talk to you about the harmfulness of worry. I want to show you what worry will do to you today in this message that I’m going to call “The High Cost of Borrowed Trouble.” Now, look here—Matthew chapter 6, and I begin reading in verse 33: “But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) Now, what things is He talking about? Well, He’s talking about the things that people worry about. Verse 31: “Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? (for after all these things do the Gentiles seek:)”—and when He says “Gentiles,” He’s saying “the pagans.” And what He’s saying is, folks, that worry is pagan—“for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things. But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” And then Jesus gives this command. Look at it. It’s not a suggestion, and it is not pop psychology. It is a command. Look at it. He says here, “Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:31–34) Now, look at that phrase “the evil thereof.” He doesn’t mean, “Sufficient unto the day is the sin thereof.” The word that is translated “evil” here means “the trouble, the problems.”

Now every one of us has problems. Just nod your head. And, by the way, God engineered you to have problems. God doesn’t want you to live a problem-free life. Back in the Garden of Eden He said to Adam and Eve, “Cursed is the ground for thy sake.” (Genesis 3:17) It is for your good that you have problems.

I. What a Problem Does in the Life of a Believer
What do problems do in the life of a believer? What does this evil that our Lord talks about that we have every day, what does it do? What good does it do?

A. It Silences Satan
Well, in the very first place, it silences Satan. Did you know that God gives us trouble so we can shut the devil’s mouth? The devil said to God one day, “You’ve got a man down there named Job, and that Job, he doesn’t really love you, God. Oh, he just serves you because he doesn’t have any trouble. If he had some trouble, he would curse you, God, to your face.” (Job 1:9–11) God said, “You don’t know my servant Job. I’m going to allow you to give him trouble. And even though he has trouble, you’re going to see that he continues to praise me.” And Job did, and Job silenced Satan. Now some of you out there are suffering. Just keep on praising God; just keep on giving Him glory—and I’ll tell you what it will do: It will silence Satan.

B. It Builds Believers

But not only will it silence Satan; let me tell what else trouble does: Trouble builds believers. That’s the way you’re going to grow. You don’t sharpen an axe on a pound of butter. God wants you to have trouble to put strength in your soul. Trouble will build purity. It will build patience. It will build sympathy. And it will build humility. Trouble builds believers.

C. It Glorifies God

But not only does it silence Satan, and build believers; it glorifies God. You see, these other two things, the sum total is the glory of God. Remember when Jesus approached that man who was born blind and Jesus said, “This sickness is not because of sin, but for the glory of God”? (John 11:4) Trouble glorified God. Now, just put it down: Every day—every day—has a sufficient amount of evil or trouble. But God, along with that sufficient amount of trouble, God gives us a sufficient amount of strength. I’m going to show you later on that God says, “As your days are, so shall your strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25)

Now God is sitting there in heaven, and God is mixing your life together in the crucible of His wisdom. God takes a certain amount of trouble, and God takes a certain amount of strength, and God takes a certain amount of blessings; and He mixes them all together, and God says, “That’s just right for today. That is sufficient for today.” Now what happens is this: Many of us go out into tomorrow, and we borrow trouble from tomorrow, and we take tomorrow’s problems, and we add tomorrow’s problems to today’s strength. And when we add tomorrow’s problems to today’s strength, we get the whole ecology—we get the whole thing—messed up. Notice what the Lord said. The Lord said, “Take…no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself.” And then He says this: “Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) That is, “I give you sufficient strength for today’s problems”—okay? “I don’t give you strength for tomorrow’s problems; I give you sufficient strength for the problems of today.”

Now, when you go into tomorrow, and you borrow problems and bring them into today, you don’t take the sorrow out of tomorrow; you take the strength out of today. Do you know what worry is? Worry is the interest you pay on borrowed trouble—worry is the interest you pay on borrowed trouble. When you go into tomorrow and you drag tomorrow’s problems and stuff them into today, you mess up the whole ecology; you mess up the whole delicate balance that God has made for your life. “Take...no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” God has a very delicate balance for you, and God wants you to live today’s life with the strength that God gives you for today.

II. What Borrowed Trouble Does in the Life of a Believer

Now, when you borrow trouble, here’s what that borrowed trouble will do for you; here’s the high cost of borrowed trouble.

A. It Buries Blessings

First of all, it buries blessings—it buries blessings. You see, not only does today have some trouble; today also has some blessings. There’s not a one of us but if we would look around—I don’t care what kind of difficulty you’re in—not a one of us today, if we would think, we’d just say, “God has blessed us tremendously”—every one of us. If we would just think about the blessings that God has given us! Every one of us is knee-high in blessings, but many times we don’t see it, because worry pulls tomorrow’s clouds over today’s sunshine. And sometimes we can stand knee-high in harvest, and be looking for a famine, and fail to see the blessings that God has given us already.

You see, again, there’s that balance. You see, God gives us blessings, and God gives us burdens. Both are necessary—just like God gives rain and God gives sunshine. All sunshine—you wouldn’t want that, because all sunshine makes a desert. All rain—you wouldn’t want that, because all rain makes a swamp. But rain and sunshine makes a garden, and that’s what God is up to. God is up to building your life.

And so God says there’s a sufficient amount of evil, but, oh, there’s also a sufficient amount of blessings, because He says in verse 33, “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) So here are the blessings. And then in verse 34, (Matthew 6:34) here are the burdens. And God just mixes them all together. But, you see, what happens sometimes is, when you go out here and you bring more burdens into today than you’re supposed to bring into today, those burdens bury the blessings and you don’t see the blessings.

Many of us are not seeing the blessings that God has given us. Do you remember—did any of you used to read Li’l Abner? I used to read Li’l Abner. And there was a little fellow in Li’l Abner, his name had no vowels in it, all consonants—Joe Btflsplk. And you couldn’t pronounce his last name, and that guy went with a little cloud over his head. Everywhere he went, there was a little cloud over his head. Am I the only guy that remembers that? Do you remember that? What was his name? Do you? You can’t pronounce it—Joe somebody. And there was that little cloud that went over his head.
Everywhere that bird went, that little cloud, dark cloud, thunder, and lightning—and it could be sunshine everywhere else. I know people just like that. I mean, no matter how many blessings they’ve got, there’s that little cloud that goes over their head. And, you know, you don’t dare ask them how they feel, because they’ll tell you. I mean, you get an organ recital.

And this doesn’t mean that we’re not to be sympathetic with people who have problems—I don’t mean that at all. But, my dear friend, don’t let the problems cover up the blessings. If you get too many problems, they’re going to cover up the blessings. If you go out here to tomorrow and you just bring tomorrow’s problems into today, you’re going to bury blessings.

Now I was talking to a couple a while back, a precious little couple. And none of you know them, so I feel free to use this illustration. It was in another place. But they came to me; they were just heartbroken—I mean, just sobering. I thought, “What kind of a terrible problem could these people have?” It was just, oh, you’d have thought it was the end of the world. So I brought them into my study, and I sat down. I said, “Tell me about your problems.” He was handsome and young and virile. She was beautiful and gracious, and they had a precious little baby. And I said, “Tell me about your problems.” He was out of work; he didn’t have any work, and they were out of money. And they were just heartbroken; they were just weeping.

I said, “Hold it! Whoa! Wait just a moment!” I said, “Now here you are weeping and crying, and you live in America.” I said, “Don’t you know all over the world there are people who would leave all of their possessions if they could just immigrate and come to America? They’d be glad to start where you are. They’d leave everything. They would leave a fortune just to be where you are.” I said, “Don’t you understand that?” I said, “Let me tell you something else.” I said, “Sir, how much is your wife worth to you?” “Oh,” he said, “she’s worth the world to me.” I said, “Well, she seems to be lovely.” I said to her, “How much is your husband?” “Oh,” she said, “he’s a wonderful man. I love him so.” I said, “Well, you’re pretty rich, aren’t you? How much would you sell this baby for?” “Oh, we wouldn’t sell our baby.” I said, “There are a lot of people who would give everything they have if they could have a little baby like you have.” And I said, “You’re healthy—you’re healthy. Would you sell your health?” “Why,” they said, “no.” I said, “Well, there are plenty of millionaires who’d be glad for you to take their millions if you’d just give them your body. Just trade places. You could have all of their millions—just give them your health.” I said, “You’re young. How much would you sell twenty-five years of your life for?” They said, “Nothing.” I said, “Hey, you’re pretty wealthy people, aren’t you?” And they were: living in America, loving one another, with a baby, with youth, and with health, blubbering and crying, because what they had done is just let tomorrow’s clouds hide today’s sunshine.

Now I’m not saying that we don’t have problems. Friend, we do have problems. But the Bible says, “Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.”

B. It Steals Strength

And what this does—this borrowed trouble—is, number one, it buries blessings. I’ll tell you what else it does: Not only does it bury blessings; it steals strength—it steals strength. Now, notice what our text says: “Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) Sufficient what? Not only sufficient evil, but sufficient strength. You see, when God gives you a problem, then God gives you the strength to meet that problem.

Let me give you a wonderful verse—Deuteronomy 33:25. Are you ready for it? Deuteronomy 33:25: “As thy days, so shall thy strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25) Isn’t that wonderful? God gives you strength for today. “As your days are, so shall your strength be.” That’s, I believe, exactly what our Lord was talking about when He said, “Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” God’s saying, “I’m not giving you strength for tomorrow.” There are two days God doesn’t give you strength for, because you don’t need it: number one, you don’t need strength for yesterday; number two, you don’t need strength for tomorrow.

Dr. Jerry Vines, President of the Southern Baptist Convention, was telling me he was on an airplane, and it got in one of those real bad storms. Have you ever been in one of those real bad, bad storms? I mean, it was so bad, and I think the airplane was malfunctioning some, too. Jerry said he really got scared. You know, that airplane poison—you know, one drop will kill you. And so he said, “I got concerned.” And he said, “I got to praying to the Lord.” He said, “I said, ‘Now, Lord, this is a serious matter.’ And he was telling God all about this, and he thought they were going down at any time. And, finally, they broke through, and they got on the ground, and it was all right. And he said, “Lord, I’m a little concerned.” He said, “I thought you were supposed to give me dying grace; and, Lord, I was scared stiff.” God said, “Son, you weren’t dying!” A lot of times, dear friend, we’re wanting God to give us something we don’t need.

Now, listen—listen. God gives you strength for today’s problems. “As your days are”—“as your days are”—“so shall your strength be.” Now you remember over there in Psalm 103 the Bible says, “Bless the LORD, O my soul: and all that is within me, bless his holy name.” (Psalm 103:1) And then the Bible in Psalm 103 has a wonderful little phrase. It says, “He knoweth our frame;”—“he knoweth our frame”—“he remembereth that we are dust.” (Psalm 103:14) Do you know what that means? He knows what kind of a load you can bear. A one-ton truck has a frame to bear one ton; a two-ton truck bears two tons. He knows our frame. He knows what kind of a load you can bear. And so God says, “All right, here is your frame. Here’s how much Adrian can bear,” and He puts that much on Adrian. You say, “Why do I have trouble more than other people?” Maybe it’s a compliment to you. Maybe God knows you can bear more than other people. He knows our frame; He knows what you can bear.

But now, wait a moment. Suppose He has fully loaded your truck, and then you go out and put another load on it? No wonder you have to call a wrecker on the highway of life! What you have done, dear friend, is you’ve just simply overloaded. Now, “Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” And God says, “You’re a one-ton truck. I’ll give you a one-ton load,” and you go out and add tomorrow’s half-ton to it. You say, “What’s wrong with me? Why can’t I cope?” My dear friend, this borrowed trouble, it just simply steals strength—it steals strength.

Listen to what a lady wrote:

God hath not promised skies always blue,
Flower-strewn pathways all our lives through;
God hath not promised sun without rain,
Joy without sorrow, peace without pain.

But God hath promised strength for the day,
Rest for the labor, light for the way,
Grace for the trials, help from above,
Unfailing sympathy, undying love.

—Annie J. Flint

You see, “God hath promised strength for the day.” Now what happens is this: When you borrow trouble and begin to pay that interest, you’re going to find out that you’re bankrupting your strength. You’ve just overloaded yourself, and that’s not good for you.

I heard about a grandfather clock that stood in a hallway for two generations and told time—a beautiful old clock. But one day the grandfather clock got to thinking about the responsibilities that were on it, and it went to see the clock psychiatrist. And the clock psychologist said, “What is your problem?” He said, “Well, I’m afraid I’m going to have a nervous breakdown.” And the clock psychologist said to the clock, “Well, why? Why are you going to have this nervous breakdown?” He said, “Well, I got to thinking.” He said, “You know, I tick two ticks a second, and,” he said, “that means that’s 120 ticks a minute.” He said, “That’s 7,200 ticks an hour. That means 172,000 ticks every day. That means that would be 1,209,000 ticks a week.” He said, “Listen: That’s 62,000,000 ticks a year.” The grandfather clock said, “I just don’t know whether I can do that or not.” And so the clock psychologist stroked his whiskers a moment and thought, and he said to the clock, “Well, I want to ask you a question: How many ticks do you have to “Tick at a time?” “Well,” the clock said, “I only have to tick one tick at a time.” And the clock psychologist said, “Well, let me suggest you do this. Don’t think about ticking 62,000,000 times a year. Just go back and tick one tick at a time. And when you tick one tick and that’s finished, then tick the next tick. And don’t worry about how many ticks you’re going have to tick.” The clock said, “That sounds like good advice to me,” and went back and has been ticking ever since.

Now I think we could take our verse and say, “Tick no tock for tomorrow.” Listen, dear friend: “Sufficient”—“sufficient”—“unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) Just live one day at a time. If that’s too much, just live one hour at a time. If that’s too much, live one moment at a time: “Moment by moment, I’m trusting in thee.” You see, that’s so wonderful. Let me tell you what happens, friend. When you worry, when you go out there and overload your truck, you don’t take the sorrow out of tomorrow; you take the strength out of today.

C. It Produces Problems

And that brings us to the third high cost of borrowed trouble. The first high cost is it buries blessings. The second high cost is this: that it steals strength. The third high cost is, it produces problems. Now, when you bury blessings, and when you steal strength, you’re headed for trouble; you’re going to have problems. And when you get to tomorrow, you know what’s going to happen to you tomorrow? God gave you strength for today, and He’s going to give you strength for tomorrow. But what you do is you overload today, and then when you get to tomorrow, how do you get to tomorrow? Out of breath! You get to tomorrow run down; you get to tomorrow where you can’t even use the strength that God gives you for tomorrow, because you have exhausted yourself with the stolen strength out of today. And so you just come to tomorrow with problems in your heart and in your life.

And a lot of the problems we worry about never happen, anyway. One man said, “My life has been filled with terrible misfortunes, most of which never happened.” That’s true about a lot of folks. We just worry about things that never come to pass. But let me say this: Many of the things that we worry about do come to pass because we worried about them; and had we not worried about them, they would not have come to pass. Remember that line in the book of Job where Job said, “The thing which I…feared is come upon me”—“the thing which I…feared is come upon me.” (Job 3:25) Worry produces problems that we would not have if we did not worry.

Now, dear friend, that’s the reason why I said that not only is worry useless; it is absolutely harmful. It doesn’t make us ready; it makes us unready. We think, “Well, boy, I have to lie awake all night and worry about tomorrow, because I’ve got a lot to do tomorrow.” Well, friend, if you’ve got a lot to do tomorrow, it would be better for you to be sleeping soundly—wouldn’t it?—than staying up all night worrying about it. You see, it doesn’t make you ready; it makes you unready. You face the future out of breath, because you’ve been fighting imaginary foes. The Bible says, “Fear hath torment.” (1 John 4:18) And you just let yourself keep on worrying, and you’re going to torment yourself into a form of mental illness.

Now I’m not saying that we are not to be concerned. The Bible doesn’t talk about a happy-go-lucky life. Jesus said, “Which of you who is going to build a tower doesn’t sit down first of all and count the cost?” (Luke 14:28) And Paul said, “Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.” (Galatians 6:7) Our Lord is not saying, “Don’t plan for tomorrow.” Our Lord is not saying, “Don’t live a concerned life,” when there are legitimate problems. Our Lord is not saying that we’re not to have burdens. Our Lord is not saying there are to be no tears. He is not saying that we’re to be happy-go-lucky, flippan people. Folks, there are some real serious problems in this world, and people have legitimate burdens. But what I’m trying to say is, don’t overload yourself with burdens that God doesn’t want you to bear today. That’s what I’m saying: “Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) And when you overload your truck, when you bring today’s problems into tomorrow, it buries the blessings of today, it steals the strength of today, and it produces problems tomorrow that you would not have had had you not worried about them. “Fear hath torment.” (1 John 4:18) It’s a form of mental illness. The word worry actually means “to divide.” “A double minded man is unstable in all his ways.” (James 1:8)

“Well,” you say, “pastor, well and good. You’ve just made me feel worse now, because I’m going to worry about my worry.” Well, I don’t want to do that—I don’t want to do that. I want to tell you how to deal with this thing. You see, before verse 34 is verse 33. That’s profound, isn’t it? All right, verse 33—and here’s what our Lord says; he says—listen—“But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” And then He says, “therefore.” Do you see the word therefore? It just follows: “Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself.” (Matthew 6:33–34) What’s our Lord saying? He’s saying in verse 34, in the light of verse 33, “If you’ll put God first—if you’ll honor God, trust God—He’s going to take care of you—He’s going to take care of you.”

He feeds the birds. It doesn’t mean He throws it in the nest, but He takes care of them. What father would feed his chickens and starve his children? (Matthew 6:26; Luke 12:24) That’s the rationale—that’s the logic—of Jesus. If He feeds the fowls of the air, isn’t He going to take care of you? Let me tell you something, folks. The wealthiest man on earth couldn’t feed all these birds for one day. God feeds them every day; He feeds them every day. The wealthiest man on earth couldn’t feed them one day. God feeds them all every day, and He’s going to take care of you. You seek first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness. Now, if you get your mind all fastened on “I’m not going to worry; I’m not going to worry; I’m not going to worry,” it’s going to make you worry more, okay? So don’t get all wrapped up in that kind of stuff. It’s unprofitable. Seek God. “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.” Forget about trying not to worry, and just bring your heart, your life, to God.

I heard about a lady who was living a victorious life. She was just one of these ladies that just seemed to have a lot of trouble. She had a lot of problems, but she was on top of her problems. And another lady who was prone to worry decided she’d go talk with this lady and see if she could learn anything from her and learn her secret of victory. When she found this particular lady, she said to her, “Are you the lady with great faith in God?” She said, “No, I’m not.” She said, “I am the lady with a little faith in the great God.” Now, you think about it: “I am the lady with a little faith in the great God.” You see, dear friend, it is not primarily the size of your faith; it’s the object of your faith. “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.”

When you come to think of it, it’s really not much of an honor to call somebody “a person of great faith.” Now I want to be a person of great faith; but if I am, it’s not an honor to me; it’s really an honor to my God.

Let me illustrate what I’m talking about. I have a wife. Her name is Joyce. Joyce and I were grade school sweethearts. We just grew up together. I love her more than anything. She’s precious to me, and she’s a great, great influence on my life. She’s the best Christian I know, and by far the biggest on my life for Christ, for good, for God. But sometimes I have to travel. When I travel, Joyce stays home sometimes. And do you know that she can write any kind of a check she wants on our bank account? She can go wherever she wants. She can do what she wants.

You say, “Well, how do you know that Joyce is not going to bankrupt you, or how do you know Joyce doesn’t have a boyfriend when you’re away?” I’m not worried about it. “You’re not worried about it?” Not that much! Not one-half of one fingernail am I worried about it! Not one scintilla of an iota! I don’t worry about it at all. You say, “Well, wow! What great faith!” Oh, no. What a great wife! What a great wife! It’s not a compliment to me that I don’t worry; it’s a compliment to her—who she is—who she is!

Conclusion
Now, friend, what I’m trying to say to you is this: You need to see who God is. That’s the answer. Look in verse 33—that’s the way to get to verse 34: “Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness” and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) He’s the God who loves you; He’s the God who cares for you. Friend, if you worried, it wouldn’t do you any good, anyway; but it tends only to evil. I want to remind you again that when you go out in here to tomorrow, and you take these problems of tomorrow and you jam them into today, you’ll just blow up; you mess up everything. “Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) God has a plan for you today. “And as your days are, so shall your strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25) You just say, “Today, dear God, I’m going to put my eyes on you. I’m going to trust you.” And, friend, “The peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus.” (Philippians 4:7)

Introduction

Take your Bibles and turn to the Gospel of Matthew chapter 6 and verse 34—Matthew chapter 6 and verse 34. And, here’s some strong medicine for tired souls, the words of Jesus: “Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) I want to speak to you today on this subject: “The High Cost of Borrowed Trouble.” Listen to the text one more time: “Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) When you go into the future and bring the problems of the future into the present, all you do is mortgage the present to the future; all you are doing is borrowing trouble. And, worry is the interest you pay. Worry is the interest paid on borrowed trouble. And, so many people today want to borrow trouble. They want to go into the future and begin to take thought for the morrow.

Now, when the Bible says, “Take no thought for the morrow,” (Matthew 6:34) the Bible doesn’t say, “Don’t fail to plan for tomorrow.” That’s not what the Word means here. When the Bible uses the phrase “take no thought,” it means “don’t worry” about tomorrow. It doesn’t tell you not to plan about tomorrow. As a matter of fact, our Lord said, “What man going out to build a tower doesn’t sit down first and count whether he has sufficient to build the tower?” and so forth. (Luke 14:28) No, the Bible is not against a thought-out life. The Bible is not against planning. But, the Bible is definitely against worry.

Now notice, the Bible speaks of evil today. Look at it: “Take therefore no thought for [tomorrow], for [tomorrow] shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) Now, the word evil there doesn’t mean “sin,” but it means “the difficulties” of today. Every day has its difficulties. And, God wants us to have difficulties. Now, sometimes we think that God is here always to deliver His little darlings from difficulties, but that’s not so, ladies and gentlemen. God wants to deliver us through difficulties, not from difficulties. Difficulties are God’s plan for us. God planned it that way. And, difficulties serve a very definite purpose.

A. Difficulties Silence Satan
Number one: to silence Satan. You remember when Satan chided God and said, “[Does] Job [serve you] for nought?” (Job 1:9)—“No wonder Job serves you. You’ve been so good to Job. Why, you’ve built a hedge around him. You take away all of these things that you’ve given him, God, he’ll curse you to your face.” And, God said, “You don’t know my servant Job. He doesn’t love me because of what I’ve done to him. He doesn’t love me just because the sun is shining on his life. Job is not a fair-weather Christian. Job just loves me. And, you can take these things away from him, and he will still serve me.” (Job 1:8–10) And, I want to tell you, my dear friend, when in the midst of difficulties you praise God, it will also shut the mouth of Satan. And, I’ll tell you one of the wonderful things about difficulty is that it gives us an opportunity, number one, to silence Satan.

B. Difficulties Build Believers
But, not only does it silence Satan; it builds believers. We’re built, we’re strengthened, by difficulties. You don’t sharpen an ax on a pound of butter, but on a grindstone. And, God is going to build into us patience, and God is going to build into us sympathy. And, God is going to build into us endurance, and God is wanting to build into us humility. And, these things often come on the anvil of difficulty. That’s how they are forged and that’s how they are founded—on the anvil of difficulty and in the crucible, sometimes, of sorrow. And, that’s all right. God has a purpose in it.

Do you remember back there in the Garden of Eden when Adam and Eve disobeyed God, and God came, and God said to Adam and Eve a very remarkable thing? He talked about the curse that was going to be upon the ground, how it would bring thorns and thistles and all this. But, this is what God said: God said, “Cursed is the ground for thy sake.” (Genesis 3:17) That is, “Adam, I’m not doing this as a part of your judgment altogether. I’m doing it because I love you. The thorns, the thistles, the sweat, the labor, the heartache, the sorrow—it’s for your sake.” You see, the worst thing that would have happened to Adam and Eve would have been this: for them to live with a sinful nature in a world without difficulties. They would never see their need of God.

Say, if the doctor could give you an injection and promise you that with this injection you’d never feel any more pain, would you allow him to do it? Be careful now. Pain is a gift of God. Pain tells you something is wrong. Now, if you couldn’t feel any pain this afternoon, you’re liable to go home and be slicing the roast and find your finger in the plate. Why, it’d be terrible, wouldn’t it? And, you’d never know the difference. You’d sit on a hot stove and never know the difference until you smelled the smoke. Why, that would be awful. Why, you’d step on a nail or whatever. Why, pain is God’s gift. Pain is God’s way of telling you there’s something wrong; you’d better do something about it.

And, I want to tell you, when God said, “Cursed is the ground for thy sake” (Genesis 3:17) and God allowed our world to be a world of daily difficulties, God was doing it for our sake—to tell sin-cursed man there’s something wrong in the universe and to keep us coming back to the Great Physician, you see. That’s what difficulties are: difficulties are to the universe what pain is to the body. It is God’s signal. It is telling us that something is wrong. And so, it causes us, dear friend—sinful creatures though we be—to depend upon the Lord.

C. Difficulties Glorify God

And so, difficulty silences Satan. Difficulty builds believers. Difficulties glorify God as He delivers us through them. Remember there when Lazarus was sick, and the disciples came and said, “Master, the one that you love is sick,” (John 11:3) Jesus said there in John 11: “This sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God.” (John 11:4) That puts a new wrinkle on it, doesn’t it? “For the glory of God.” (John 11:4) You see, God works through those things to get glory to Himself.

And so, the difficulties that we have, they silence Satan, they build believers, they glorify God. And, every day has its measure of difficulty and trouble. And, don’t you think for one scintilla of a moment that just because you become a Christian and just because you’ve given your heart to Jesus Christ that you’re not going to have any more difficulties. You indeed are.

But now, those difficulties are for today. But, you would make a tragic mistake if you were to go into the future and bring tomorrow’s difficulties and dump them into today. That’s what brings so much mischief and problems into our lives. And, I want to speak to you about “The High Cost of Borrowed Trouble,” and I want to mention three definite things that it does.

I. Borrowed Trouble Buries Blessings

Number one: Borrowed trouble buries blessings. Now, what do I mean by that? I mean, dear friend, that when you bring the fears of the future and the potentialities—the unknown potentialities—of the future, and you bring them into today, and you dump them upon today, they cover up today’s blessings. You see, God, in the crucible of His love, is mixing into your life a very delicate balance. God gives you every day a certain number of burdens, and God gives you every day a certain number of blessings. And, God balances the burden and the blessing. But, if you bring more burdens into today than today is meant to have, you begin to bury the blessings and you don’t see the blessings; you don’t see God’s goodness to you.

You see, God not only gives us our daily dose of difficulties, but God also gives us our bountiful blessings every day. The Bible says, “[He] daily loadeth us with [blessings]” (Psalms 68:19)—every day. God is so good, ladies and gentlemen. But, you see, you can get to be so much of a pessimist and so much of a worrywart and you can focus so much on difficulties—or even imaginary difficulties—that many times you fail to receive today’s blessings. But, you see, you can become such a pessimist and so much of a worrywart that you focus too much on the difficulties and then fail to see God’s blessing.

Now, if God were to just give you blessings and no difficulties, that wouldn’t be good. You see, all sunshine—a desert. But, if God were to just give you all difficulties and no blessings, all rain makes a swamp. But, you see, when God gives us the blessings and the burdens and these things are mixed together, they cause a beautiful garden of joy and character to grow in our lives.

But again, when you borrow trouble, you bury blessings. You aren’t able to see the blessings that God is giving you because you are focusing in on and overloading the burden side of your life. And, some people just can’t enjoy life because they just are built of such a nature they are always anticipating what’s going to happen. One lady said, “I always feel bad when I feel good because I know I may feel bad later.” And, there are people who are just that way. They just are looking forward to feeling bad. They are like an accident going somewhere to happen. They stand neck-deep in blessings and harvests and anticipate famine. There are plenty of blessings for you, dear friend. And, God is blessing you today abundantly if you’ll just stop and look around.

I was speaking to a couple a while back—they came to see me. I have never seen people that looked like they were on a lower limb. This little, sweet, young lady—I guess they were about twenty-five years of age—she was weeping. The young man—strong, stalwart in appearance—but he was weeping. I couldn’t imagine what kind of difficulties they were having. I said, “Tell me about it.” They had a precious little baby—healthy, beautiful baby. And, I said, “What’s wrong?” “Well,” he said, “I’ve lost my job, and I can’t get a job. And, we’re destitute, and we’re worried about the future.” And, they were just weeping.

I said, “Now, wait a minute. Let me ask you a question: How much is it worth to you to live in the United States of America?” He said, “What do you mean?” I said, “Well, I’ve been reading in the paper about people who are trying to get out of Cuba and trying to get out of Vietnam, and people who are trying to get out of East Germany, and people who are trying to get out of Soviet Russia, and people who are trying to get out of China, and so forth, who are leaving all of their possessions behind so that they can live in the United States of America—people who were very wealthy who are willing to leave their wealth that they might live here.” “Oh,” he said, “well, it means a lot to me that I can live here.”

I said, “Well, I want to ask you another question: Your health, your body—are you healthy?” He said, “Yes, sir. I’m healthy.” I said to the lady, “Are you healthy?” “Yes, sir. I’m healthy.” I said, “Well, now, would you sell your health? I mean, if a millionaire were to come to you and say, ‘You can have my millions; just give me your health.’ And, let’s suppose he had a run-down, decrepit, broken-up body.” I said, “Would you trade?” He said, “No siree.” I said, “You mean, that body’s worth more than a million to you?” He says, “It is indeed.” I said, “Well, you’re young.” I said, “Suppose an older person were to come and say, ‘Just give me some of your years and I’ll give you some of my money; you just sell me some of your years.’” I said, “Would you sell? How much is a year of your life?” “Oh,” he said, “my life’s not for sale.” “Huh,” I said. “You value it.” “Oh, yes, yes.”

I said, “Well, let me ask you a question: Are you in love?” “Oh, yes, we love one another.” I said, “Would you sell your wife?” He said, “No, sir.” I said, “Would you?” “Oh, no, no, no. My husband means more to me than anything.” I said, “This little baby,” I said, “suppose somebody wanted to buy this little baby. Is it for sale for half a million dollars? A million? Two million?” “No, that baby is not for sale.” I said, “Well, you’re multimillionaires, aren’t you?” They said, “We sure are.” They put a smile on their face and went walking out.

Now, the problem is—look—the problem is they had so much. Man, in a way, the people all over the world would have loved to have traded places with that little couple. But, what they had done—they had gone into the future, and they had anticipated some bugbear of a problem and brought it into the present; and they were whining, and groaning, and moping, and complaining. I want to tell you this, dear friend—you’d better learn this and learn it well: that worry doesn’t take the sorrow out of tomorrow; it only takes the joy out of today. Now, just learn that: worry doesn’t help tomorrow; it just messes up today.

That’s the reason Jesus said, “Take…no thought for the morrow…the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself.” (Matthew 6:34) There are plenty of blessings today. God is so good. And, if you’ll look around, you’ll see and count your many blessings—and that’s not trite. “Count your many blessings…it will surprise you what the Lord hath done.” (Johnson Oatman, Jr.) Some people just don’t want to do that.

† They are like a woman I know of. She was complaining about all of her problems, and someone said, “Well, think on the bright side.” She said, “No siree. If God gave me tribulations, He expects me to tribulate.” And, there are people just like that. I mean, brother, they are they going to tribulate, and you can’t stop them.†

II. Borrowing Trouble Steals Strength
Now look, what is the problem? What is the high cost of borrowing trouble? Number one: Borrowed trouble buries blessings. It keeps us from seeing the goodness of God, “who daily loadeth us with benefits.” (Psalms 68:19) But, not only does it bury blessings; secondly, it steals strength. It saps your strength. You see, with the burden, God gives strength. Every day has its fair measure of difficulty, and God wants you to have that difficulty. But, you see, along with the difficulty God gives you added strength. But, He gives you strength just to meet today’s difficulties. He doesn’t give you any more. God doesn’t give strength for yesterday, and God never gives strength for tomorrow. He just gives us strength for today.

Now, I want you to put this in the margin alongside Matthew chapter 6 and verse 34—I want you to write in your margin “Deuteronomy 33, verse 25.” And, this is a wonderful promise. This is what it says: “And as thy days, so shall thy strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25) “As thy days, so shall thy strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25) Now, you remember what the Bible says here in the text that we just looked at? “Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) That is, God gives you a sufficient amount of evil. God knows just how much is a sufficiency for you. But, the same God who gave you a sufficient amount of difficulty is the God that gives you a sufficient amount of strength to meet that difficulty. “As [your] days [are], so shall [your] strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25)

Now, there’s a very delicate balance. God knows how much difficulty you need; and so, God knows how much strength you need to meet those difficulties. Now, if you go and you add to the difficulties, you’re not going to have enough strength to meet those difficulties because God only gives you strength for today. And, when you bring tomorrow’s burdens in, then you are going to run out of strength. You see, the Bible says, “He knoweth our frame” he remembereth that we are dust.” (Psalms 103:14)
When a manufacturer manufactures a truck, he knows the frame of that truck. He knows what load that truck can bear. He knows the frame of that truck. So, maybe he says, “This is a one-ton truck” or, “This is a two-ton truck,” or whatever—“a ton-and-a-half truck. Don’t overload it. If you overload it, you’re going to break it down.” Now, dear friend, God knows your frame and knows how many burdens you can bear. But, when you borrow trouble, you overload your truck. And, when you add the weight of tomorrow to today’s load, it is no wonder someone should call a wrecker and pick you up on the highway of life—because what you’ve done, you’ve just overloaded things. “As [your] days [are], so shall [be your] strength.” (Deuteronomy 33:25)

Now, when you go into tomorrow and you take that load of tomorrow and you dump it onto today, dear friend, God didn’t give you that much strength. He gave you strength for today, not for tomorrow. There are two days God won’t help you—yesterday and tomorrow—because those are just imaginary days. Yesterday is gone, and tomorrow is not yet. We live now. The Bible tells us we are to “[forget] those things which are behind” (Philippians 3:13)—just forget them. You know, some of you want to live in the past, much less the future, and you’re going around saying, “What a fool I was! What a fool I was!” Why don’t you say, “What a fool I am to keep saying what a fool I was”? Forget it. Paul says, “Forgetting those things which are behind” (Philippians 3:13)—commend them to God. God will forgive you, and you bury them in the grave of God’s forgetfulness. God’s not going to give you strength for yesterday. You don’t need it. It’s gone. And, God’s not going to give you strength for tomorrow because it’s not yet here. “Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) “As [your] days [are], so shall [your] strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25)

I heard of a man who was unloading a ship down in New Orleans. He was walking the gangplank, and the gangplank broke; and he sank to the bottom of the Mississippi. He came up. He called for help. He sank again. He came up and yelled for help. He sank the third time, pushed off the bottom, came up to the top, and said, “If somebody doesn’t come help me, I’m going to have to drop these anvils that I’m carrying.” Now, I have an idea he could have made it out if he were to let go of an anvil in each hand. Now, yesterday and tomorrow are like anvils, and we’re in some difficulty right now. Why don’t you drop those things here? God will give you strength to swim out if you will just let go of yesterday and if you’ll just let go of tomorrow. Those are days that God doesn’t give you strength for.

He never has promised to give you strength for yesterday. He never has promised to give you strength for tomorrow. The Bible says, “Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof” (Matthew 6:34) and, “As [your] days [are], so shall [your] strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25) You see,
God hath not promised skies always blue,
Flower-strewn pathways all our lives through;
God hath not promised sun without rain,
Joy without sorrow, peace without pain.

[...]

But God hath promised strength for the day,
Rest for the labor, light for the way,
Grace for the trials, help from above,
Unfailing sympathy, undying love.

—ANNIE JOHNSON FLINT

That’s what God has promised: strength for today.

Dr. Jerry Vines, pastor of the Dauphin Way Baptist Church, was telling me a story the other day that amused me. He was telling me about being on an airplane and going somewhere, and the airplane got into difficulties: they were in some real rough weather, and they couldn’t get the landing gear down. And, the pilot came on with that ominous message, and he could tell by the sound of the pilot’s voice they were in serious trouble. He said, “Ladies and gentlemen, we’re having some difficulty, and the stewardess is going to come by and tell you what to do because we may have to have a crash landing,” and told them, you know, how to sit with their heads down, and put the pillows up and cover their faces, and do what all they do in those kinds of difficulties. And, Jerry said, “Up until that time, people had been laughing and talking and carrying on in a raucous sort of a way, but they all got very religious. They began to go through all kinds of religious motions and signs, and it got quiet in there.”

And, he said he did a little checking up on himself, too. He’s a pastor, but he said, you know, he kind of renewed his relationship to the Lord, did a little last minute confessing and cramming for the finals. And, he said that he just got all that thing straightened out, and he said his heart began to beat a little faster, and his palms got clammy and so forth, and he just got a lump in his throat, and pretty fearful. But then, the pilot came back on and said, “Ladies and gentlemen, we’ve got the landing gear down, and we’ve got a hole in the clouds. We’re coming in. Everything’s all right. Relax.”

Whew. Everything was fine then, you know. But, he said he got to thinking. He got to feeling a little ashamed of himself. He said, “Lord, I’ve been preaching all this time about dying grace: “When it comes time to die, if you love Him, He’s going to give you dying grace.” And, I said, “Here I was about to die, and I didn’t have any dying grace.” And, I said, “What’s wrong with me?” He said, “God just leaned over and said, ‘Jerry, you weren’t dying.’”

Now, you know, so many times we just want strength for things we don’t need strength for. God’s going to give us our strength. “As [our] days [are], so shall [our] strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25) But, you see, when I reach into tomorrow and I load today with tomorrow’s problems, what I do is I take strength that I need for today’s problems to solve those imaginary problems of tomorrow, and I just don’t have enough strength. You talk about an enemy of progress!

Now friend, worry takes energy. It saps your strength. It steals strength away. You talk about conserving energy—one good way is to stop worrying, amen? You’ll conserve a lot of energy that way, if you’ll just stop borrowing trouble. It’s a waste of energy. You see, worry is useless. That’s the best thing that we could say about it, is that it is useless. That’s the best thing. It doesn’t do any good. Jesus said in this same chapter, “Which of you by taking [anxious] thought can add one cubit [to] his stature?” (Matthew 6:27) You can’t do it. Worry doesn’t change a situation. It doesn’t make it any better. Worry never solved a problem. Worry never dried a tear. Worry never lifted a burden. It just doesn’t do it. It is absolutely useless. There are two things you should never worry about: those things that you can do something about and those things you can’t do anything about. Amen? If you can do something about it, do it. If you can’t do anything about it, well, worry is not going to help it.

For every evil under the sun,
Either there is a cure, or there is none.
If there be one, seek ’til you find it.
If there be none, never mind it!

That is, what’s he saying? He’s just saying that worry doesn’t do any good at all. “Which of you by taking [anxious] thought can add one cubit [to] his stature?” (Matthew 6:27) Worse than that, not only does it fail to do good; it literally does harm. You see now, if I have today’s problems, and I have today’s strength to meet today’s problems, and so I go to work on today’s problems, that is therapeutic. But, if I have an imaginary problem and I worry about it and that worry is not translated into work, the energy generated by that worry turns into acid that destroys my stomach; it turns into frustration that tenses up my nerves. You see, not only is worry useless; worry is harmful. And, that’s the problem of borrowing trouble. Dear friend, it saps strength; it steals strength, and you ought not to do it. God has given you strength to meet today’s problems. “Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) And, “as [your] days [are], so shall [your] strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25)

I think I told you one of my favorite stories about an old grandfather clock that stood in the hallway for two generations and kept wonderful time until one day it began to think about the future. And, the clock started to reason with itself, and it said, “You know, I tick every second.” And then, he started doing a little mathematics, and he said,
“Why, that’s 120 ticks a minute. Why,” he said, “that’s 7,200 ticks an hour.” And then, he said, “My goodness, that’s 172,000 ticks a day.” And then, he said, “My, my, my, that is 1,905,000 ticks every week.” And then, he said, “Why, that would be 62,000,000 ticks a year!”

Why, he had a nervous breakdown, and he went to the clock psychiatrist. And, the clock psychiatrist began to talk to the old grandfather clock, and he said, “Why, I want to ask you a question now. You’re worried about all these ticks you’re going to have to tick in the future. How many ticks do you have to tick one tick at a time?” “All right,” he said, “I only have to tick one tick at a time.” “Well,” he said, “from now on, I want you to go back, and rather than thinking about all the ticking you’re going to have to do, just think about the one tick you have to tick. And,” he said, “don’t think about the next tick until you tick this tick.” And so, he went back, and he started just thinking about one tick at a time. And, for the last twenty years, he’s been there, healthy as can be, just ticking one tick at a time.

Now look, folks, that’s the way you are to live. God gives you strength for today. God gives you strength for now. “As [your] days [are], so shall [your] strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25)

III. Borrowed Trouble Produces Problems

Now, the third thing I want to mention about the high cost of borrowed trouble—the first thing I said that it does: it buries blessing; the second thing I said that it does: it steals strength—the third thing that it does: it produces problems. Did you know that the very thing that you worry about happening may happen because you worry about it? Do you know what Job said? “The thing…I…feared has come upon me.” (Job 3:25) Did you know that you can worry yourself into problems? It is true that many of the things that we worry about never happen, and therefore it is foolish. One philosopher said, “My life has been full of terrible misfortunes, most of which have never happened.” It is true that many of the things we worry about never come to pass. But, it is also true that our worry can cause some things to come to pass that would not have come to pass had we not worried about them.

Have you ever gotten behind someone driving who approaches every traffic light expecting it to turn red? Boy, that eats my lunch. I mean, you get behind a car and there they are—I mean, it’s green and they are slowing down, getting ready for it to turn red. And sure enough, it does, every time.

Now, there are people who live that way. I mean, they’re telegraphing trouble. They’re anticipating trouble. They’re borrowing trouble. And, with their borrowed trouble they are producing problems, and the thing they fear does indeed come upon them.
Now, tomorrow has two handles, and you can reach out and grab it by either handle. One is called fear, and the other is called faith. And, worry doesn’t make you ready to meet tomorrow; it makes you unready to meet tomorrow. You face the future out of breath because you’ve been fighting imaginary foes. Many times, you produce these foes in the future.

Fear has torment. Why should you be tormented by fear?

The Chinese warlords used to have an ancient torture they called “the Chinese water torture.” And, they would take the poor, hapless victim and chain him to meet a canvas bag that would drip a huge barrel filled with water—that would drip on top of his head. Drip, drip, drip, drip, drip—one drop of water, day after day—drip, drip. After a while, the dripping of that water would be like hammer blows. One! Two! And finally, the whole sensibilities would explode, and the man would be driven insane just by the dripping of water over and over.

Worry will do that to you. It’s not the great problems that we have. Listen. Somebody says, “Oh, you just lost all your money” or, “Your loved one has been hit by a car.” God gives you strength, and right away you move into action. Those things you work through, but it is that constant dripping, a nagging worry, that mortgaging today on the future, that going into the future and paying the high interest of worry and borrowing problems—I tell you, it produces problems. You were not meant for that. You were meant to live today with today’s strength. “Take…no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself”—when it gets here, God will give you strength for it—“Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34) When are we going to learn how to live according to God’s book of psychiatry, the Holy Bible?

Conclusion

Let me just close this simple message this morning by saying that all of this was given in the context of Matthew chapter 6 and verse 33. Now, I may be talking to some people and telling you to live this way, and you say, “Well, Brother Rogers, that’s pretty easy for you to say. You don’t look like you have any difficulties.” Well, I didn’t say that. Jesus said it—the One who was facing the cross. He’s the One who said it. And, He tells you how to live this way. You cannot apply Matthew chapter 6 and verse 34—“Take…no thought for the morrow” (Matthew 6:34)—until you apply verse 33, the verse right before it, which says, “But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) You see, it is when we put God first that He takes care of our tomorrows.

Now, what Matthew chapter 6, verse 33, is really saying God is saying to us: He’s willing to enter into a covenant with us. And, what God is saying is this: “If you take care of my business, then I’ll take care of yours.” Now, that’s pretty good, isn’t it? God says, “If you just look after my business, you just put my kingdom first, “seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and”—then—“all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) What things is He talking about? The things that you need, the necessities—food, clothing, health—whatever it is you need. “My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus.” (Philippians 4:19) But, you must seek God first.

Now, I would like to say to everybody that is listening to me that Matthew 6:34 is something you can just take and practice and live happily ever after, but I can’t say that to everybody who is listening to me. I can only say that to people who first of all have practiced Matthew 6:33, who have sought first the kingdom of God, who have put Him first. Is Jesus Christ Lord in your life? Do you know Him? Have you surrendered your life to Him? Have you turned everything over to Him? That’s the only way you can live in Matthew 6:34: “Take...no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34)

Alexander Maclaren was a Scottish preacher of yesteryear and one of the great expositors of the Word of God. And, he said that his favorite verse, his life verse, was this verse in Deuteronomy chapter 33: “As thy days [are], so shall [be] thy strength.” (Deuteronomy 33:25) And, he said it had a special meaning to him when he was an eighteen-year-old boy. He said that he received his first job, and he lived in a little village outside the big city; and he had to go to the big city to work and stay there for a week, and he had to walk to work, which was about six miles away. And so, he went, and his father walked with him. And, they walked through a deep, dark ravine, a very foreboding valley, and then up and out the other side, and then on to the big city.

His father said to him, “Alex, when your work is over this week, on Saturday night, I want you to come home.” And, young Alex said—this sixteen-year-old boy said—“Dad, I’ll be tired Saturday night. I’ll come home, Dad, Sunday morning.” And, his dad said, “No, Alex, this is the first time you’ve been away from home, and my old heart is going to miss you. I’ll be longing to see you. Please, Alex, come home Saturday night, as soon as you finish.” What Alex didn’t tell his dad was this: that there had been some terrible things happen in that deep ravine, and he was afraid. He didn’t want to go down into that thing at night by himself, down into that inky black darkness by himself. And, he was fearful. He was afraid, in a way, to tell his dad that. But, he just swallowed hard and said, “All right, Dad, I’ll come home Saturday night.”

And, all of the week he was tossing, anticipating that problem, worrying about it and worrying about it. And, the Saturday night came, and he made his way. And, he stood there on the brink of that dark ravine and looked at it, and it looked so black and so forbidding and foreboding that his chin started to quiver and the tears started to run. He didn’t have the strength to enter into it. And then, he heard a noise, and he saw a figure, a shadowy figure, coming down. But, he noticed something about the features, the way the footfalls fell, that looked familiar. It was his dear father who had come to meet him. And, his dad said to him, “Alex, I just”—he didn’t say a word about the boy being afraid, but he said—“Alex, I missed you so badly I just thought I’d come to meet you and walk home with you.” Alex said, “Oh, with that grand old man by my side,” he said, “the two of us went shoulder to shoulder down into that valley, and,” he said, “I wouldn’t have fear of anything that walked, with my father by my side.”

And, I believe that’s what this text is all about, my friend. Oh, the things that we worry about! Oh, the things that we anticipate! Oh, the unknown—the deep, dark forbidden valleys that we think that we might have to go through! I want to tell you that when you know the Lord Jesus, when you get there, He will be right by your side. He will go through that valley with you. And, He has promised that He will never leave you nor forsake you. (Hebrews 13:5)

Why don’t you stop worrying about tomorrow? Why don’t you stop facing the future with fear? Why don’t you live today and enjoy the blessings of today and face the burdens of today with the strength of today? “[For] as [your] days [are], so shall [your] strength be.” (Deuteronomy 33:25) And, “take…no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.” (Matthew 6:34)
Introduction

Well, amen. What a joy it is to be here this morning. I was sitting here thinking about Dr. Steve Gaines and the privilege and the responsibility and the opportunity that God has given to him and to us. On September the 11th, Dr. Gaines will be here to preach his first message as the pastor of Bellevue Baptist Church. And I will be here rejoicing and I thank God for His good hand upon this church.

Let me say a word, a personal word. Thank you for your prayers. Thank you for your love. Thank you for your cards. Thank you for your words of encouragement. We are doing wonderfully well. You are praying and God is healing. I sincerely believe that and I thank you and I thank our Heavenly Father for His goodness to us.

Would you take the Word of God, the inerrant, infallible, Word of God, and turn to Matthew chapter 7. When you’ve found it look up here and let me just tell you a word or two. The new religion in America is tolerance. Tolerance. It used to be that the best-known verse was John 3:16. But no longer. The verse that people will quote to you almost more than any other verse is Matthew 7:1, “Judge not that you be not judged.” And today, the only sin in Americas is to call sin, sin. I’m going to speaking today on this subject: Tolerance: The Good, the Bad, and the Ugly.

Now, tolerance, as we learned it, as we grew up with it, is a good word. I’ll call it the old tolerance. Let me tell you what Webster said that tolerance was. Webster said what tolerance is. Webster said, “To recognize and respect other’s beliefs, practices, etcetera, without sharing them and to bear or put up with someone or something not especially liked.” That’s what tolerance is, and that’s a good virtue.
The children were studying the Ten Commandments, and they said, “Now, apply these, boys and girls, to living at home. What commandment would apply to living with brothers and sisters?” A little boy lifted his hand and said, “Thou shalt not kill.” The things, at home, we have to tolerate. We don’t always like them. They’re things at work we have to tolerate. There’re many things in society that we do not approve of, believe in, but we tolerate. There’re many other kinds of beliefs that we do not share, but we tolerate, and we ought to tolerate. That is good tolerance.

But there’s a different tolerance that’s come today that’s become the new religion in America. And it does, does not simply mean that we put up with, we bear, or we forbear. It is an uncritical tolerance that accepts all truth as equal. That is, you cannot say today, “This is right and that is wrong.” If you do that, you are intolerant and to be intolerant is the great sin in America today. Now, obviously, we should respect all people, and if we disagree with them, we should live with them as much as possible, peaceably. We must hold true to our faith. I would not force my faith on anybody if I could. And I couldn’t if I would. I believe in absolute total freedom to choose in religious things. But there is an uncritical tolerance that our boys and girls are being taught in school. And you need to understand this, this uncritical tolerance, listen, that accepts all truths as equal.

There used to be a time, when you, if you preached, you would preach on the inerrancy of the Word of God, or the virgin birth or the bodily resurrection. Someone would say, “I don’t agree with that.” And you could argue. And you could discuss and you could philosophize. And you could take the Word of God and other sources and go back and forth trying to determine what is true and what is not true. But, that’s not so today. If you were to tell someone, today, “I believe in the virgin birth. I believe in the absolute sinless deity of the Lord Jesus Christ. I believe in His vicarious death upon the cross.” Today, with the new tolerance, you would not be argued with. They would say, “That’s, that’s wonderful. That’s your truth. Now let me tell you my truth.” And when you get down to it, there is no fixed standard for anybody’s truth. All truth’s today are considered equal.

Now, the old tolerance says that people have a right to their opinions. They new tolerance says all opinions are right. And so, if you say, “Jesus Christ is the only way.” You’re in trouble. If you say that there is a fixed standard of right and wrong, then, today, you’re going to be looked down as an ogre, a sinner and intolerant. The new tolerance says we’re not merely to allow, listen, we’re not merely to allow, we are to endorse all truths a morally equivalent. The new tolerance doesn’t say we’re to forbear. The new tolerance says we are to approve. And therefore, you’re children and our children are being put in to classes today, and I’m not exaggerating, sensitivity classes, where they’re taught that sexual preference, one sexual preference, as over against another sexual preference and it’s just a matter of equality. And we’re to approve all sexual preferences. One form of marriage as over against another, so-called, form of marriage, for example, two people of the same sex, all of these things are to be looked upon and morally equivalent. And we are learned, we are taught now to accept under the guise of tolerance, these things.

Now, lets look at the Word of God—Matthew chapter 7 and verse 1. I told you that, Matthew chapter 7, verse 1, is perhaps the most quoted verse today. And if you were to say, “This is right and this is wrong.” Someone one would say, “Jesus said, ‘Thou shalt not judge.’” Well, let’s read it. Read it in context. “Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again. And, why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother’s eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye? Or how wilt thou say to thy brother, Let me pull out the mote out of thine eye,” and the mote, here, means like a speck of sawdust, “and, behold, a beam,” that is a log, “is in thine own eye? Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother’s eye. Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither cast ye your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn again and rend you.”

There are three words that I want you to keep in your heart and in your mind as we study the Word of God, this morning. The first word is the word discriminate. The second is the word tolerate. And the last word is the word to examine. I want us to learn how to examine. So, these three words, discrimination, toleration, examination, are the backbone, the spine of what I want to say today as I talk to you about tolerance, the good, the bad, and the ugly.

I. A Time of Discrimination

Now, there should be a time of discrimination. Now, discrimination has become an ugly word. But it’s not always ugly. If you don’t teach your children to discriminate, you have failed as a father or a mother. To discriminate means to see what is good and to see what is bad. So, discrimination is simply evaluation, elimination, appropriation. I evaluate. This is good or this is bad. I eliminate. I turn from that which is bad. I appropriate. I choose that which is good.

Now, people say that Jesus said we’re not to judge. May I tell you frankly, clearly, plainly, that is not so. Jesus taught us to judge. Let me give you some Scripture now, that, where Jesus very clearly and very plainly teaches us, to judge. For example, in John chapter 7 and verse 24, “Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment.” Don’t tell me that Jesus said, told us not to judge. He says, “Judge righteous judgment.” And then in Matthew chapter 7, this same chapter, again, verses, 15 and following, “Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. Ye shall know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs or thistles?” What’s He saying in verse 16? He said, “You know, you can’t gather grapes from thorns and figs from thistles. You just can’t do that.” Now, what He is saying is you have to learn that there is a difference between right and wrong. In this same context, where our Lord says, “Judge not that you be not judged.” He said, “Don’t give that which is holy to dogs. Don’t cast your pearls before swine.” Sounds to me like you have to discriminate to find out where the dogs and the hogs are. Who they are. What they are. The Bible clearly and plainly teaches discrimination.

Let me give you some verses outside of the context. First Corinthians 2 verse 15, “He that is spiritual, judgeth all things.” Are you spiritual? Then you’re going to learn to judge all things. The word here judge comes from the word krino, and it has a number of different meanings. It can mean to separate. It can mean to choose. It can mean to select. It can mean to determine. It can mean to condemn. And the meaning must be determined by the context. And so, when the Bible says, “he that is spiritual, judges all things,” the word here is, he discerns. He understands. He sees through. He makes the evaluation. He makes the discrimination. He judges all things.

First John 4, verse 1, again, the same idea, “Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits,” test the spirits, “whether they are of God.” Don’t go around with pudding in between your ears saying, “Well, I’m not going to say that anything is right or anything is wrong because Jesus said not to judge.” To the contrary. Jesus said, “Judge righteous judgment.” “He that is spiritual judgeth all things.”

Now, you see, there is a difference between your own personal evaluation of things and the Word of God. For example, if I were to say, from myself to Ken, there is fifteen feet right now. That would be about right but it wouldn’t be exact. If I were to take a tape measure and measure from here to there and say, “It’s fifteen feet and six inches.” Then that’s not an evaluation and, and, a judgment that comes out of my own heart and mind. That is a measurement.

Now, there are certain things that are right and there’re certain things that are wrong. Now, listen to me very carefully, I know they are right and wrong because of God’s yardstick, the Bible. It’s not my own opinion. Listen to me, adultery is wrong, because God said so. Fornication is wrong because God said so. Sodomy is wrong because God says so. Stealing is wrong because God says so. Lying is wrong because God says so. Drunkenness is wrong because God said so. We have God’s Ten Commandments. These are measurements.

Today, our world hates moral absolutes. Our world hates for anybody to say, “This is right and this is wrong.” And, if you confront society with the kind of preaching I’m going to do today, and am doing today, people will call me, believe it or not, they do, bigoted.
Can you imagine that? As sweet as I am. Bigoted. Narrow. Prejudicial. Arrogant. Self-centered. Narrow minded. Fundamentalist. Too much fun, too much damn, and not enough mental. That’s what we’ll be called. And I’m telling you, ladies and gentlemen, we need to teach our boys and girls there is a right and there is a wrong. Now, some people call that kind of talk, unloving. But contrary. “To fail to lift up your voice like a trumpet and show my people their sin is unloving.” Put in your margin Leviticus 19 verse 17, listen, “Thou shalt not hate thy brother in thine heart…rebuke thy [brother], and [he shall, and] not suffer sin upon him.” Let me give you that again because I boggled it a little. Leviticus 19:17, “Thou shalt not hate thy brother in thine heart…rebuke thy neighbour, and not suffer sin upon him.” Now, what’s He saying? He’s saying that to rebuke sin is loving. To fail to rebuke sin is hate. Love says that we must speak clearly.
The preacher who loves is not the preacher who glosses over sin. The preacher who loves is the one who speaks clearly.

So, the first point is simply this: there is a time, ladies and gentlemen, where we have a discrimination. That is we look at life and we discriminate according to the Word of God. This is right and this is wrong. We make that discrimination and after that discrimination then there’s an appropriation, we choose that which is right. There is an elimination; we refuse that which is wrong.

II. A Time for Toleration

Now, here, let’s, let’s shift gears. And, and, not only is there a time for, discrimination. But there is a time for toleration. I’m talking about good ole fashioned toleration. Now, when, when out Lord says here, “Judge not that you be not judged.”
He’s talking about people being intolerant of false in other people. He’s not saying that we deny faults in other people. As a matter of fact, He said once we get the log out of our own eye, we’ll see more clearly how to get the speck out of our brother’s eye. He’s not saying there’s no speck. He’s not saying it doesn’t need to be taken away. But what He is saying is, “You are forbidden, you are forbidden to exercise unmerciful, self-righteous, condemnation of another person. Hypocritical judgment, especially when you, yourself, are guilty of doing the same thing.” Let me give you another verse that I think is a good commentary on Mathew 7 verse 1, also from the Gospels, Luke chapter 6 verses 36 and 37, “Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful. Judge not, and ye shall not be judged: condemn not, and ye shall not be condemned: forgive, and ye shall be forgiven.” Now, this is simply an extrapolation of Matthew 7 verse 1. What He’s saying is, Brother Mark, if I have some problems, notice the if. I do. I have some big ones. I need your mercy. I need your help. I need your forgiveness. I need your love. I need your support. I don't need your judgment. I don't need your condemnation. That doesn’t mean I expect you to say, “Oh, whatever you’re doing is alright.” If what I’m doing is not all right, if it is sin, you need to lovingly rebuke me, but you have no right to judge me. Number one because you haven’t got what it takes to judge me. I don’t have what it takes to judge you. The Bible says concerning this kind of judgment, in John chapter 5, verse 22, “Even the Father judgeth no man but hath committeth all judgment to the Son.” When you judge other people without mercy, not whether or not what they’re doing is right or wrong, but when you judge them in a condemning way, in an unmerciful way, what you’re doing is usurping the rights and the prerogatives of the Lord Jesus Christ. And what you’re also doing is, you are acting like the devil. The Bible tells us that it is the devil who is the accuser of the brethren. Don’t go around judging other people, condemning other people, examining their motive. There is no one big enough, no one just enough, no one loving enough to judge us but God Himself. And surely the judge of all heaven and earth with do right.

Now, why is it that we tend to have this merciless judgment? Why is it that we tend to be intolerable when we ought to tolerate other people lovingly? Well, one of the reasons, very frankly, is the sin that’s in our own hearts and our own lives. That’s what Jesus Christ is talking about here. He said, “You’re looking for a speck of sawdust in your brother’s eye, and you’ve got a saw log in your own eye. You are a hypocrite.” Now, why do we see fault in other people? It’s a form of projection many times because of the sin that’s in our own lives, we hope, somehow, to make ourselves better by condemning somebody else that if we pull them down we’ve pulled ourselves up just a little bit. And, therefore, a person to see a speck of dust in somebody’s eye, has to be looking pretty close, wouldn’t you agree? Especially if he’s got a saw log in his own eye. What he is seeing is what he is looking for. Hoping to find.

It’s amazing what people, find. If you come to church this morning looking for fault, you can find it, beginning with the man standing in the pulpit. You will get what you look for. Remember they little nursery rhyme? Pussycat, pussycat, where have you been? I’ve been to London to see the queen. Pussycat, pussycat, what saw you there? I spied a little mouse under her chair. Now, here, here’s Westminster Abbey with the sainted dead and, and the spires, and, and the glorious accouterments of that place. And there’s the Queen of England, in all of her royalty, and the cat sees a mouse. Ha, ha, they’re people today who might fail to understand this music. By the way, that’s great music. My help cometh from the Lord. But they’ll find a mouse under a chair somewhere because that’s what they’re looking for.

If you wanted somebody to give you a review of the landscape and report back, say, fly over the fruited plain and come back. Don't send a buzzard because a buzzard would come back and his report would not be on the fluffy clouds and the green meadows and the sparkling brooks, and the magnificent snow-capped mountains. He would come back and he would report and this is what he would say, “I saw a dead cow with maggots in it.” That’s what a buzzard’s looking for.

You see, there are people who are just simply looking for a speck in somebody else’s eye, because they have a log in their own eye. We need to examine ourselves. That’s the reason, the Lord, tells us so much that we’re to be merciful. Because we are the ones that need mercy.

They tell a story of a grandmother who was always going around dusting—dusting, dusting everything. She saw that everything had dust. Finally, somebody said, “Grandma, give me your glasses.” And looked at them, they were covered with dust.

And so, that’s, that’s what happens, sometimes. The reason we, another reason that we are so judgmental is because of our own insecurity. We think somehow that if we pull somebody else down, we can make ourselves better. If we can just make them conform to our opinion of what they ought to be, and make them like us, then somehow we feel that we are all right. Procrustes was an ancient chieftain in mythology. And what Procrustes would do is he would capture those who invaded his kingdom and would bring them into his cave. And there, in his cave, he had an iron bedstead. And according to mythology, Procrustes would put his captures on that iron bed. Now, if they did not fit the bed exactly, if they were too short, he would put them on the rack and stretch them until they would fit the bed. If they were too long, he would cut part of them off until they would fit the bed. Well, Procrustes bed is still with us today.

We have those who measure other people, by themselves and the reason for that is our own insecurity. Now only our iniquity and our insecurity, but I’ll tell you another reason, that we’ve failed to, to love people and be merciful to people and it is because of our ignorance. We judge people when we don’t know enough to judge them. We don’t know their hearts. We don’t know their problems. We don’t know their background. We don’t know their temptation. We don’t have all the facts.

Some years ago, it’s worth repeating right now, of a woman who was waiting for an airplane. So she went to the little concession stand there and bought a bag full of cookies, and sat down in the waiting room. And another man sat down beside her. The cookies were in between the two of them, unopened. This man reached over and unopened the cookies and took one out and began to eat it. She thought what unmitigated gall and nerve that he would do that. And so she just reached in and got one and ate it herself and gave him a dirty look. He just smiled, reached in and got another. They traded back and forth until there was one cookie left in the bottom and with a smile; he broke it in half, took one half and left her the other half. She thought as she got on the airplane, “I’ve never seen a person as arrogant as that man was.” But when she opened her purse, there was her bag of cookies unopened.

You see, look, sometimes we judge other people because of our sheer ignorance. Now, Romans chapter 14 verse 4 says, “Who art thou that judgest another man’s servant? To his own master he standeth or falleth. Yea, he shall be holden up: for God is able to make him stand.” Another reason that we unmercifully judge other people and fail to tolerate them is because we’re insensitive. We just don’t love as we ought. Jesus did not come to condemn. He came to save. “The Son of Man has come to seek and to save that which is lost.” John chapter 3 verse 17, “For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved.”

You see, when you judge other people, that’s not what they need. They don’t need you to point your finger at them and tell them what they’re doing and what they’re doing wrong. When Jesus saw Zacchaeus up in that tree, you remember the story. Zacchaeus climbed a tree. He was a little tax collector, short of stature. Climbed up in a Sycamore tree down at Jericho so he could see Jesus pass by? What did Jesus do? Jesus did not point His finger up in that tree and say, “Zacchaeus, you black hearted son of the devil. You thieving, conniving, dishonest tax collector. Get down out of that tree. I’ve got a thing or two I want to tell you about your sin.” Jesus said, lovingly, “Zacchaeus, come down. I want, I want to go to your house with you. I want to eat with you. I want to have fellowship with you.” Now, friend I want to tell you very clearly, if you have a judgmental spirit, you’re living dangerously. Put this down, James 2 verse 13, “For he shall have judgment without mercy, that shewed no mercy; and mercy rejoiceth against judgment.” Put this verse down, Matthew chapter 6 verse 15, “But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive [you] your trespasses.”

So you need to get out of the FBI, Fundamentalist Bureau of Investigation. Get off the Sin Seeker Committee and show mercy. There are people in this city who are hurting, in the church and out of the church. They don’t need your condemnation. They need your mercy.

Now, last of all, there, there is a time for discrimination. There is a fixed standard between right and wrong. Don’t let that be blurred. There is also a time for toleration. It is not to deny that there is a right. It is not to deny that there’s wrong, but it is to say, “I myself am a sinner. And I know you are, but I love you. Let me help you. Let me help get this speck out of your eye.” The Bible doesn’t say we’re not to get it out. To the contrary, we are to help get it out. But not with a log in our own eye.
III. A Time for Examination

Now, the third thing, and very quickly. There is a time for examination. Examine yourself. That’s what our Lord is teaching us here, in Matthew chapter 7, look in verse 3, “And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother’s eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?” Examine. Get your heart right with God. They hardest that you need to be the hardest on is you. The person that you need to be the most merciful to is me and the person sitting next to you and the people in your family. But consider, is there a log in your eye today. Is there sin, unconfessed, unrepentant of, be done with it. As I stand before you this morning, there’s no known unconfessed, unrepentant of sin in my life. Now, I’m light years from perfection. But there’s no sin that I harbor. I would be a sheer unmitigated fool to stand up here and try to preach with a heart that’s not clean and not pure. But, daily, I examine my heart, my life and I ask the Lord to help me to examine. Search me, oh God and know my heart. Try me and know my ways and see if there be some wicked way in me. And lead me in the way everlasting.

Conclusion

Now, I want to tell you some good news, I’m finished with the body of this sermon. But the Bible says, “Judge not that you be not judged.” Let me talk to you a little but about judgment. Our judgment was taken by the Lord Jesus Christ on the cross at Calvary. Therefore, you can I do not need to endure judgment because Jesus Christ, the Son of God, in agony and blood, died for us. And therefore, Romans 8:1, “There is therefore now no condemnation, not judgment, to those who are in Christ Jesus.”

Bow your heads in prayer. Father God, help me today to examine my own heart. Don’t let me, dear Lord, be a hypocrite, preaching to others, trying to get sawdust from their eye when there’s a log in mine. Help us, dear Lord, to know how to discriminate between right and wrong and teach our children. Help us, dear Lord, to know how to tolerate those who are not perfect as we’re not perfect but to show love to them, Lord, and to help them, and to gently remove the speck that may be in their eye. And, Heavenly Father, help us all to see ourselves, as we really are, if there may be, indeed, some sin in our own lives that needs to be dealt with.

Now, keep your heads bowed. Friend, the most important thing is not to be a church member, not to be a nice person, not to be religious. The most important thing is to have a personal relationship with God, through the Lord Jesus Christ, to have your sins forgiven, put under the blood of Christ. To have the Holy Spirit in your life to give you comfort and peace and joy and to know that when you die, you’re going straight to heaven. And all of this is in the Lord Jesus Christ when you receive Him, by faith, as your Lord and Savior. The Bible calls that condition that I described as being saved. Being saved. And the Bible says, “believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and you will be saved.” So, let me help you to believe on Him right now. I didn’t say believe about Him. Facts about Jesus don’t save anyone. To believe on Him. You can believe an airplane can fly but you don’t believe on it until you get on it. You don’t really trust it until you get on it.

May I lead you in a prayer? Right where you are. Forget that anybody else is here if you can and pray silently and fervently something like this, “Lord Jesus, I need you and I want you. I believe that you are the Son of God. I believe that you’ve paid for all of the sins on the cross. Thank you for such suffering. Thank you for doing that for me. I believe that you were raised from the dead. I believe that you can save me and will save me if I trust you. And I do, right now, in this chair, this morning, at this moment, right now, I receive you into my life as my Lord and Savior. Forgive my sin. Cleanse me. Save me. And begin, now, to make me the person you want me to be. I belong to you and you belong to me. I love you Jesus. Give me the courage to make this public. In your name I pray, Amen.”

Now, look up here, we’re going to sing what we call a gospel invitation. And what we’re going to do is, we’re going to ask those of you today who would like to declare openly and publicly and unashamedly your faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, to leave your seat and come forward. You say, “Oh, Pastor, there are so many people there.” Friend, Jesus hung naked on a cross before a bigger crowd than this. Don’t be ashamed of Him. These people here love you and they love Him and they will rejoice when they see you coming. That’s what we live for. That’s what this church exists for.

Now, all across the front here will be a man of God, a minister of this church, standing at the head of each of these aisles to welcome you when you come. Those of you in the balcony, there’ll be a minister under that banner there, in the corner, to my right that says “Redeemer,” or this one over here that says “Messiah.” Waiting to welcome you. You just move in that direction. “Well, Pastor, what would I say when I go down there? I’ve never done that.” Just say, “I’m trusting Jesus.” And what we will do is rejoice with you, give you some Scripture to stand on. Seal this in prayer. Maybe you’ve made your decisions long before our prayer time this morning but you have denied Him the glory and you the joy if you’ve failed to make it public. As a matter of fact, if you willingly refuse to make it public, I doubt that you’re saved at all. Jesus said, “If you’re ashamed of me, I’ll be ashamed of you.” It’s just that simple. So, I want to invite you to come this morning and do what you would do if you know this would be the last service that you would ever be in.

And then they are many precious friends, you’re saved and you know it. You need a church home. I’ll tell you, knowing what I know, if I lived here, I’d be a member of Bellevue in a heartbeat if I were not already a member, unless God absolutely directed me somewhere else. So if you need a church home, a great fellowship, a place of service and a place of discipleship, I want you when we stand and sing to come forward also. And I want you to tell the minister something like this, “I want to place my membership here.” And, to come, you just come. You may be saved and not a member anywhere. You may just want to come and say, “Look, I want to have believer’s baptism and be a part of this fellowship.” Just tell Him what’s on your heart. No one will leave during the invitation unless it is an emergency. And, many times, there are emergencies and I understand that, you’re perfectly free to go if you must. But otherwise, stay and pray and as soon as we begin to sing, don’t look around to see what someone else is going to do. If possible, you be the first one.

Lord God, bless in this invitation. In the holy name of Jesus. Amen and amen. You step out and come.

Conclusion

Introduction
Choir, that was absolutely magnificently beautiful and wonderful. And, indeed, my help, your help, our help, cometh from the Lord.

I want to thank you for your prayers for me. And, I want to tell you that you are praying and God is healing, and I am looking forward to total, complete, wonderful healing, and its coming from God. Thank you so much for your prayers. And, in the meanwhile, God has been merciful and so many people ask me, “How are you feeling?” Believe it or not, I’m feeling great, and I praise the Lord for that. That, in itself, is an answer to prayer.

September the 11th, our new pastor will be here. And I, as I sat on the platform at the early service, and then this service, I was thinking, “What a wonderful church this is! What a great future God has for us under the leadership of Dr. Steve Gaines!” And I’m going to do my best. You’re going to do your best. I’m going to do my part. You’re going to do your part. And God is going to pour out blessings that we’ve never even dreamed about upon our dear church.

Take the Word of God, and turn to Matthew chapter 7, if you will. And, when you’ve found it look up here. I want to talk to you a little bit about a new religion that is in America. And that new religion is the religion of tolerance. Tolerance is the buzzword today. Today we’re to be tolerant of everything, everybody, no matter what. And the only sin is to call sin, sin. And, the best verse now, known to people is not John 3:16. But the one I’m going to read to you here from Matthew chapter 7, “Judge not that you be not judged.” And if you call something wrong or if you point out sin, some will say, “Judge not that you be not judged.” They don’t have a clue as to what this verse is talking about.

Let’s read it in context. “Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again.” That is, it’s coming back to you. You get your little homemade yardstick and begin to measure other people, and it’s going to turn into a boomerang.

I heard about a man who bought a new boomerang, killed himself trying to throw the old one away. What He’s saying here is what goes around comes around. “For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again. And why beholdest thou the mote, [and] considerest not the beam,” that is, the log, “that is in thine own eye. Or how wilt thou say to thy brother, Let me pull out the mote out of thine eye and, behold, a beam is [on] in thine own eye?” Now, I don’t want somebody trying to get a speck of sawdust out of my eye when they’ve got a crosstie in theirs. They’ll probably take mine out while they’re doing it. “Thou hypocrite, first cast the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother’s eye.” He’s not saying we’re not to get a mote out of our brother’s eye. He’s saying, “Don’t try to do it when your blind when you’ve got a log in your own eye.” “Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither cast ye your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn again and rend you.” Thus saith the Word of God.

I want to tell you again that we have a false concept today in America of tolerance. Now, tolerance in the good sense, old-fashioned tolerance, before the new tolerance got here, is not bad at all. Webster says this, tolerance is, “To recognize and respect other’s beliefs, practices, etcetera, without sharing them and to bear up or put up with someone or something not especially liked.” Now, that kind of tolerance is a wonderful tolerance. And we need it. Sometimes we need it at home. Children were studying the Ten Commandments, and, and the teacher said, “Now, apply this at home. What commandment, for example, would help brothers and sisters?” A little boy said, “Thou shalt not kill.” Sometimes there are times when we have to be tolerant of things that irritate us in society and so forth.

Now, there is, in America, a wonderful tolerance and that’s what makes America great. Legal tolerance. In America, you are free to believe whatever you believe or not to believe anything at all. And I join you in saying I’m totally, one hundred percent, with every inch and ounce of me against any kind of forced religion. I need to tolerate your religion. You need to tolerate my faith. That doesn’t mean that I approve of it. But, I would not force my beliefs on you if I could, and couldn’t if I would. We have this, spiritual tolerance. We have legal tolerance. We, we have social tolerance. We respect all people. Doesn’t mean that we necessarily like all people, but we love all people and we’re to trust all people, sinners, saints alike in our love. Of course we have a special love for the children of God. But the point that I’m trying to make is this; we should live with courtesy and kindness to all people. That’s tolerance. And we need to get rid of our self-righteous bigotry.

I’m going to speak to you today about Tolerance: The Good, the Bad, and the Ugly. Because there is a new tolerance that is being taught today and it is an ugly tolerance.

The new tolerance doesn’t say that this is right and this is wrong, this is true and that is false. They say that there is no fixed standard of right and wrong and that all truths are equal. For example, there used to be, back when I first started preaching, you could make a theological statement and people would argue with you. You could say, “I believe the Bible is the inerrant infallible Word of God.” And somebody else would say, “I believe they’re mistakes in the Bible.” You could say, “I believe that Jesus is the virgin born Son of God. God in the flesh.” And somebody would say, “I believe that He was a good moral teacher but I don’t believe that.” You can say, “I believe that salvation is by grace through faith.” And somebody else would say, “Oh no. Works are involved.” And you can get into some arguments. And, you could say, “This is right and this is wrong. And somebody else would say, “This is right and that is wrong.” That’s not the way it is today. You say, “I believe that the Bible is the Word of God, Jesus Christ is the Son of God, and we’re saved by faith in His name.” And they say, “That’s wonderful. That’s wonderful. That’s your truth. Now let me tell you my truth.” Now, catch this, its very subtle, but you need to understand it. Today, with the new tolerance, all truths are equal. And you say, “This was is right and this way is wrong. You are intolerable. You have judged and Jesus said, ‘Judge not.'” Now, the most quoted verse today, I say, is no longer John 3:16, but Matthew 7:1, “Judge not that you be not judged.” Now, the new tolerance says that all opinions are right. Not that you have a right to your own opinion. But all opinions are right. Now, we used to talk about pluralisms in America. And we have many different beliefs. We have Jews, Christians, and Muslims, and Hindus, and they practice their own faith in America and that’s pluralism. But the new tolerance doesn’t like pluralism. It likes syncretism. Everything now is meshed together. And there is no difference. You have no right to stand up for this way or that way.

Now, the old tolerance is forbearance. The new tolerance is approval. And children, this very day, this very week, will be taught in schools, “You cannot disapprove of somebody else’s lifestyle.” If a person has a sexual orientation towards homosexuality, and you have a sexual orientation, they call it, toward heterosexuality, you must understand that this is not wrong. They’re all right. If you believe, for example, that marriage is a man and a woman in a holy commitment, that’s fine. But if we believe that two men or two women can get married that is a lifestyle that they have chosen and its not up for you to say that it is wrong. It would be wrong for you to say that it is wrong.

And, so, that’s the new tolerance today. Now, you say, “Pastor, that’s, that’s incidental.” No, my friend, your children today are being taught, in school, that the worst sin that they can commit is intolerance. But, it is the tolerance that they’re taught is to tolerate evil and sin and not to make a difference.

Now, I want us to take this passage here in Matthew chapter 7. And I want us to look at it and learn from it and apply it. I pray that we will apply it in our own lives and God help us to teach our children.

I. There Is a Time for Discrimination

They’re three basic things I want to lay on your heart this morning. First of all, there is a time for discrimination. There is a time for discrimination. Now, when our Lord says here, “Judge not that ye be not judged,” the Greek word is krino. And it has a dozen or more shades of meaning. It means to separate, to choose, to select, to determine, to condemn. You have to determine by its context. Now, sometimes people say, “Jesus said we should never judge.” He did not say that. You have to understand the context of what Jesus is talking about here is Matthew chapter 7 and verse 1. To the contrary, Jesus has commanded us to judge. He’s commanded it. Put in your margin here, John chapter 7, verse 24, “Judge ye,” “Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment.” Jesus said that. Judge righteous judgment. In this passage, for example, that was just read before you. Our Lord is talking about logs, hogs, and dogs. He said, “Don’t try to get a piece of sawdust out of somebody else’s eye when you’ve got a, a crossbeam in your own eye.” And He says, “Don’t, don’t give that which is holy to dogs. Don’t cast pearls before swine.”

Now, friend you have to be able to discriminate. You have to say, “What is a log?” You have to say, “What is a hog?” You have to say, “What is a dog?” Later on, in this same chapter, He’s talking about, “You know things by their fruit.” So, our Lord, here, is not against discrimination. One of the most important things that we can do is to teach our children to learn to discriminate. I’m not talking about unfair discrimination where we try to discriminate on the basis of race, or the basis of origin, or, or religion. That’s wrong. But to discriminate between right and wrong, is so very necessary. Now, today, if you come along and say there’s a fixed standard between right and wrong, you’re the one who is the criminal. You’re the one who is the heretic. You’ve sinned against the new religion. No, we are to learn to discriminate. All of successful living is discrimination, elimination, and appropriation. I look, when I go reading, or when I go shopping or whatever I do. I, first of all, I discriminate, is this good or bad? Then, I eliminate to get rid of the bad. I appropriate to choose the good. So, there is a discrimination that is good, but in today’s society, people will come down on you like a hammer when you say there is a fixed standard between right and wrong.

Now, if I were to say from myself to Carter Threlkeld over there, Carter, I love you. If I were to say from myself, where I am, to Carter, there’s fifteen feet. That’s approximately right, maybe a little more. But, I’d say, from right here, fifteen feet. But then, I could be wrong because that is my judgment. That is what I consider, that’s my opinion. But if I were to take a tape measure and measure from here to there and say its fifteen feet, six inches. That’s a measurement, not a personal judgment. That is a measurement. Now, what is the standard that we use as a measurement? Some people will accuse you of judging subjectively when you’re simply using the Word of God.
Jesus said, “I didn’t come to destroy the law and the prophets,” over in Matthew chapter 5 before He talks about Matthew chapter 7. He said, “I didn’t come to destroy this but to fulfill it.” Listen to me, ladies and gentlemen, there is a fixed irrevocable standard of right and wrong and it is fixed by the Word of God. Now, listen carefully. Adultery is wrong because says so. Fornication is wrong because God says so. Sodomy is wrong because God says so. Thievery is wrong because God says so. Murder is wrong because God says so. And if you say so, that doesn’t mean that you have become a judge. It means that God has given us a standard and with that standard we judge, as Jesus said, righteous judgment. And don’t let anybody ever tell you that you’re not to judge where you discriminate between that which is right and that which is wrong. That is to take this verse completely, totally, one hundred percent out of its context. This verse assumes that there’s right and wrong and that the wrong may be in your own eye and you have to get that out before you get the wrong out of your neighbor’s eye, your brother’s eye, the speck of sawdust. But there is a fixed standard of right and wrong and that is quickly receding over the horizon and there are people today who do not like for you to say there are absolutes in any area.

Now, you speak up and confront society with this and they will come down on you like a hammer. The only sin today is to call sin, sin. There are people who, you know, who listen to me, if they do, maybe later on a tape or on television. Maybe somebody
You are judgmental and you are intolerant.” No, my friend, I believe the Bible is the Word of God. And I believe there is a standard that is forever fixed and we must teach our children to discriminate, to learn the difference between right and wrong and not let people homogenize everything and say, we used to say you have a right to your opinion. Today we’re told that all opinions are right. You have your truth, I have my truth and what that does is to literally do away with any fixed standard of truth at all. Now, we, we have to speak clearly about these things even when we are impugned and called intolerant. Leviticus chapter 19 verse 17 says, “Thou shalt not hate thy brother in thine heart…rebuke thy neighbor, and not suffer sin upon him.” That is, if you don’t tell people what is right and wrong from the Word of God, you hate him. Love tells the truth.

II. There Is a Time for Toleration

So, first of all, there is a time for discrimination. There is a time for discrimination. Number two; there is also a time for toleration. Now, what our Lord Jesus Christ is talking about here in Matthew chapter 7 and verse 1 and following is toleration. The right toleration, old-fashioned toleration. Toleration that bears and forbears. Toleration that is merciful toward others and sympathetic towards their hurts and their wounds. What our Lord has forbidden is an unmerciful, self-righteous condemnation of another person. Hypocritical judgment. Let me give you a, a verse that makes even Matthew 7:1 more clear and its found in Luke chapter 6 beginning in verse 36, “Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful.” Now, listen, the key here is mercy. Now, listen, “Judge not, and ye shall not be judged: condemn not, and ye shall not be condemned: forgive, and ye shall be forgiven.” Now, hat kind of a judgment did Jesus, proscribe and forbid in Matthew 7:1 and in, Luke, chapter 6? It is unmerciful judgment. Not that we jettison a standard between right and wrong. That standard is fixed. That is the Word of God. But many of us, all of us fail from time to time. And what we need is not condemnation from one another. What we need is mercy from one another. And we do not need to accept the prerogatives of Almighty God by setting ourselves up as judge, jury, and executioner. Judgment belongs to God in that sense, and the Bible says in John chapter 5, “The Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son.” It’s not up for you to take His place and to play God. Actually when you begin to condemn somebody with that kind of a judgment, you are playing the devil because it is the devil that has the spirit of accusation, and that’s what our Lord is warning against. What He’s saying is there needs to be toleration. There’s nobody in this audience big enough, strong enough, wise enough, good enough, insightful enough to judge me. Nor am I big enough, good enough, wise enough to judge you. I cannot tell your heart. I don’t know your hurts. I don’t know your temptations. I don’t know your struggles, only God does. And He is merciful and I thank God that He is merciful. And that’s the reason our Lord says that we don’t need to go around picking specks out of our brother’s eye.

A. We Judge Others Because of Our Iniquity

Now, do you know why, we judge other people? Number one, it is because of the sin that’s in our own lives. The sin that’s in our own lives. Our Lord is saying, “You’ve got a log in your eye and here you are trying to pick a speck out of somebody else’s eye.” Have you ever thought about that? It’s really humorous. People think that Jesus didn’t have humor. Friend, the Bible’s full of humor. I mean, you, you talking, Jesus talking about a camel going through the eye of a needle. You talk about a person with a saw beam in his own eye trying to pick sawdust out of somebody else’s eye. It’s really kind of ridiculous. It’s irony what our Lord is talking about. Now, if you’ve got a log in your eye, ha, you can’t see to get sawdust out of somebody’s eye. A speck, or what the Bible, here in King James calls, a mote. The only way that a person could see a mote in his brother’s eye, now, Carter, I’ll use you again, if I’m standing over here, I cant tell whether you’ve got a mote in your eye or not. So I have to say, Aha! I saw a mote. Why did I see it? Because I’m looking for it.

You know the little nursery rhyme we used to have? Pussycat, pussycat, where have you been? I’ve been to London to see the queen. Pussycat, pussycat, what saw you there? I spied a little mouse under her chair. Now, here’s the cat gone to London. There’s the, the London, the Tower Bridge. There are the royal jewels. There’s Westminster Abbey with all of its sainted dead. There’s the Queen and all of her regalia, and what does the cat see? A mouse, under a chair. Why? Because that’s what the cat’s looking for. If you were to send somebody out, to survey America and fly from coast to coast, don’t send a buzzard. He’ll come back with a report and he won’t tell about the lakes and the mountains. He won’t tell about the meadows. He won’t tell about the golden grain. He won’t tell about the flowing streams. How would the buzzard report? He’ll say, “I saw a dead cow with maggots in it.” Why? That’s what the buzzard’s looking for.

You see, a person who finds a speck in his brother’s eye is looking for it. He’s examining. He thinks he’s a member of the FBI, the Fundamentalist Bureau of Investigation. He’s looking for it. And this hypocrite, this hypocrite who mercilessly judges another person has a crosstie in his own eye and that’s why one of the reasons that he does it, the sin that is in himself and we see in others what is often in ourselves.

B. We Judge Others Because of Our Insecurity

Another reason that we are so judgmental and fail to be tolerant of others is our own personal, not only our iniquity, but our insecurity. We, ourselves, are insecure and I think if I can find fault in this man then somehow it justifies the fault that is in me. And if I can make the two of us more equal, then I feel better.

In ancient, mythology, there was a robber, chieftain, Procrustes. And according to the story, Procrustes, when someone would come into his territory, he would capture them and bring them into his cave where he had an iron bedstead. And he would put them upon this iron bedstead and measure them. If they were not long enough to fill the bed, they would be put on the rack and stretched. If they were too long they would be trimmed down to size and part of their body would be lopped off. Because, he said, “This is my measurement and I’m going to measure you by this. You’re going to be just like I want you to be.” I think that bed is still around. Many of us are trying to put people in our own mold, by our own standards, rather than by the standard of the Word of God and the reason is that we, ourselves, are so insecure that we think if we can find fault in other people, somehow, that makes us better.

C. We Judge Others Because of Our Ignorance

Another reason, just our sheer ignorance. That’s the reason I said nobody is wise enough, big enough, strong enough to judge because you don’t know the circumstances. They accused Paul of doing certain things. And Paul said, “Look, it’s, it’s a small thing with me that you judge me. I don’t even judge me.” He said, “Well wait until the Lord comes and then every man will have praise of God. How can you judge my heart when I don’t even know my heart?” You don’t fully know your heart. We can look into the hearts and minds of other people. We, we’re ignorant. We don’t have the facts.

I’ve told you a story years ago that bears repeating this morning, about a woman in the airport. Supposedly, it’s a true story. She was waiting for an airplane and so she was going to read a little bit. She went to the little concession stand and bought a bag of cookies, and sat down there in the terminal. And a man sat next to her. The cookies were between them in a bad. This man reached over and unopened, himself, the bag of cookies. She thought, “That’s very strange.” And then he reached in and took one. She thought, “What arrogance. “ She was embarrassed to say anything, but she, something rose up in her, so she reached in and got a cookie and ate it. He just smiled, reached in and got another one and ate it. She reached in and got another one and ate it. Back and forth until there was just one cookie in the bottom of the bag. This man, with a smile, reached in and broke it in half and ate that half and left her the other half. She was steaming when she got on the plane. She said, “I’ve never seen such arrogance in my life.” Then she opened her purse and there were, was her bag of cookies.

We don’t have the facts sometimes. We’re not able to, to judge as, as we think that we’re able to judge. And Paul, again, said, in 1 Corinthians 4, verse 3, “But with me it is a very small thing that I should be judged of you, or of man's judgment: for, I judge not myself.”

D. We Judge Others Because of Our Lack of Compassion

Another reason that we do judge and that we won’t tolerate is because of our lack of compassion. Friend there are people that are hurting, all our in our city, in your neighborhood, in your family, they don’t need from you a merciless, judgmental spirit. They need mercy. They need love. They need understanding. It does not mean that you approve their sin. No, there is a fixed standard of right and wrong. But, O God, help us to learn sweet tolerance in the good old-fashioned sense. When Jesus saw Zacchaeus, the little tax collector, who had run ahead, wanted to see Him when He passed by and climbed up in a Sycamore tree that he might see Jesus. Zacchaeus was a thief, and extortionist. Jesus could have excoriated him. But Jesus, when He saw Zacchaeus up in the tree, didn’t point a finger at him and say, “Zacchaeus, you black hearted son of the devil. You thief. You scoundrel. You sinner, get down out of that tree. I’ve got a thing or two to tell you.” He didn’t do that. He said, “Zacchaeus, come down. I want to go to your house and eat with you.” I’ll tell you folks, there are a lot of people out there, they don’t need your judgment. They don’t need your criticism. Well, you say, “But they’re sinners.” That’s exactly right and what do sinners do? They sin. You don’t blame them for acting like sinners. You don’t lower the standard. But what you do is to love.

Now, don’t have a judgmental spirit. Listen to this promise from God’s Word in James chapter 2 verse 13, “For he shall have judgment without mercy, that shewed no mercy; and mercy rejoiceth against judgment.” Again, Matthew chapter 6, verse 15, before we get to Matthew 7, Jesus said, “If ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.” So, I think we need more watchmen and less watchdogs, don’t you?

Now look, there is a time for discrimination. There is a fixed standard of right and wrong that’s being blurred in today’s society. There is a time for toleration. People who are caught up in wrong, people who have failed, don’t need our judgment, that’s the job of the Lord Jesus Christ. Paul said, “Who are you to judge another man’s servant?” They need our love. They need our help. Yes, indeed, we can help get the speck out of their eye. Jesus said, “Don’t,” Jesus did not say, “Don’t take a speck out of your brother’s eye.” Jesus said, “Do it with clear eyesight. Then you will see more clearly how to do it.”

III. A Time of Examination

Now, last of all, and very briefly, not only should there be a time of discrimination and a time of toleration, but, according to Scripture, there needs to be a time of examination. Examination. What our Lord is saying is that you examine yourself. You see if there is a log in your own eye and get that out. Now, rather than me judging you, I need to judge me. I need to be very gentle on you and very harsh on myself. And the Bible says that we’re not to judge our brother but judge this rather that no man put a, a fence or cause a stumbling in his brother’s way.

Why don’t you just go to the Lord and say, “God, deliver me from carping and criticizing and judging. And, Lord, search me and know my heart. Try me and know my way and see if there be some wicked way in me and lead me in the way everlasting.”

Michelangelo was one of the greatest sculptors of all time. He lived many, many years ago, but his statuary is known and loved and prized today. I read an interesting story where Michelangelo, one day, was walking through the streets of Florence, Italy and he saw a massive piece of marble by the side of the road. It had been thrown away, discarded by the, the quarry. Michelangelo said, “I want that piece of marble. Bring it to my studio. There is an angel in that block of marble and I’m going to liberate him and set him free.”

You know, I’m very much like that old piece of marble, so are you, but without the Lord Jesus. But aren’t you glad that He sees us, not only for what we are, but what we can be by the touch of His hand.

Conclusion
Bow your heads in prayer. Lord, I just pray, today, that you’ll help us to be wise and know how to discriminate between good and evil and never lower the standard. I pray, Lord, that you’ll give us a sense of compassion toward others who don’t meet the standard and help us to lovingly tolerate. And, Lord God, I pray for my own life and we pray together that you’ll help us to do some self examination and rather than examining others, Lord, to deal with our own problems.

Now, while heads are bowed. Friend, I’ve been talking to Christians today, those who are saved and all of the Word of God, as truthful as it is, can never really apply to your heart and to your life until you know the Author. Do you know the Lord? Christianity is not behavior modification. It is a personal relationship with God through Christ. The Bible calls it being saved. The Bible calls it being converted. The Bible calls it being born again. The Bible calls it being justified. All of these are just different ways of expressing a Bible truth that we can come to God and our sin can be forgiven. An established relationship can be made. We can have joy and peace and purpose. We can have fellowship with brothers and sisters. We can have heaven for our home.

Would you pray and ask Christ to come into your heart right now? I invite you to pray silent but fervently, “Dear God, I need You and I want You. I recognize that I am a sinner. I’m like that ugly piece of marble, but Lord, You can make something out of me. Lord, I yield myself to You. Jesus, You died to save me. You shed your blood for me. You were raised from the dead to show and to prove You’re the Son of God. Lord Jesus, this morning, right now, this morning, in this seat, right now, right now, I receive You by faith as my Lord and Savior. I just don’t believe that You were a historical person. I trust You now. I commit my life to You now. I receive You now into my life as my personal Lord and Savior. Begin now to make me the person You want me to be because now, I belong to You and You belong to me. Thank you Jesus. I love You. Amen.”

Now, look up here. Friend, if you prayed that pray, may be right now, may be before, and you don’t have to use those words, but if you’ve said, as best you know how, I give all I know of me to all I know of you, Jesus. Here’s what I’m going to ask you to do. I’m going to ask you to do something that will help settle it and seal it. I’m going to ask you to leave your seat and come forward in this service. You say, “Pastor, why?” Because the Bible says, “Let the redeemed of the Lord say so.” As a matter of fact, Jesus said, “If you’re ashamed of me and of my Word before this sinful and adulterous generation, I’ll be ashamed of you when I come in the glory of the Father with the holy angels.” But Jesus said, “If you will confess me before me. I will confess you before my Father.” Would you like your name called in Heaven today? Would you? Would you like to say, for Jesus to say, “Look, Father, there is Susan. She belongs to me.” You see, Heaven is watching this service. Heaven will see what you’re doing today. So, when we stand and sing, all the way across the front of this auditorium, at the head of each aisle, will be a man of God who will welcome and receive those of you who come. Thos of you who are in the balcony, if you look to your left and to your right, there’re banners in the corners there. There will be a man of God, waiting under that banner, to welcome and receive you. “Pastor, what shall I say when I go down there?” Well, say, “I’m trusting Jesus.” If you can say it and mean it. “What will happen? I’ve never done that.” Well, we’ll rejoice. The whole church will rejoice. We’ll give you some Scripture to stand on, answer any questions, seal it in prayer. What a time it will be. And God brought you here today for this moment. The Bible says, “Boast not thyself of tomorrow for you don’t know what a day may bring forth.”

Others of you, who need a church home, and you don’t have one, may I lovingly invite you to become a part of the Bellevue family of friends, the family of God called Bellevue—a place of discipleship, a place of service, a place of fellowship. I invite you to come. “Pastor, what would I say when I go down there?” You say, “I want to place my membership here.” And we’ll take it from there and show you how you may become a member of this wonderful church.

Let’s stand for prayer. Father I pray now, in the strong, strong name of Jesus. O God, O God, dear God, open hearts. Draw people, not only to a personal faith, but to a faith that is unashamed. Lord, bring men, women, boys and girls, openly and publicly to Jesus. Lord, it is our sincere prayer. In His name.”

Now, as we begin to sing, don’t look around to see what anyone else is going to do. You be the first one, if you can, to say yes to Jesus. Let’s sing.

Conclusion

Introduction

Take God’s Word and turn now to Matthew chapter 7. We’re continuing through the Sermon on the Mount, and today we come to a very interesting passage of Scripture. We’re going to read Matthew chapter 7, verses 1 through 6, in a moment. The title of my message is a little of different today: “When Yardsticks Become Boomerangs.” You’ll find out why I called it that in just a moment.

Let’s look in verse 1. Our Lord says, “Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again. And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother’s eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye? Or how wilt thou say to thy brother, Let me pull out the mote out of thine eye; and, behold, a beam is thine own eye? Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother’s eye. Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither cast ye your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn again and rend you.” (Matthew 7:1–6)

Now, so far in the Sermon on the Mount our Lord has been talking about our relationship to God, and our relationship to things. And now, in chapter 7, He begins to talk about our relationship to other people, and He begins speaking about I suppose one of the most treacherous things in human nature. It is our human nature to put other people before us, that we might judge them. We want to measure, adjudicate them guilty, and then in our hearts and minds condemn them. And we all have our measuring rods. We all have our tape measures. We all have our yardsticks by which we measure and then judge other people. But our Lord says that that yardstick will become a boomerang. That is, the very yardstick that you use to judge somebody else with is what you’re going to be judged with. It’s going to come back to you in a deadly way. I heard about a man who bought a new boomerang and killed himself trying to throw the old one away. That judgment of yours is the very judgment that you’re going to be judged with later on.

Now, let’s look at this verse, because there are a lot of questions in these verses that need some good answers.

I. We Are to Apply Wise Discrimination

Number one: We are to apply wise discrimination. Now so often people are confused, because if you try to discriminate, evaluate, adjudicate any matter, there’s always someone who will say, “Judge not”—“Judge not.” Now the word that is translated “judge” here, krino, has a number of meanings—as a matter of fact, about a dozen shades of meaning. It might mean “to separate.” It might mean “to choose.” It might mean “to select.” It might mean “to determine.” It might mean “to evaluate.” Or it could mean “to condemn.” Now you’re going to know which one—like many words, you have to see the word in its context.

Now our Lord is not telling us here that we are not to make evaluation and discrimination, because in these verses, verses 1 through 6, He tells us three things to look out for: logs, dogs, and hogs. He says, “You can’t look for sawdust in your brother’s eye, when you’ve got a log in your own eye.” He says, “Don’t give that which is holy to dogs.” He says, “Don’t cast pearls before swine.” Now, evidently, you’ve got to know what a log, a hog, and a dog is. You’ve got to make some evaluation. You have to make some judgment. Our Lord is not saying that we cannot make discriminatory evaluations. As a matter of fact, that’s the one thing that you must teach your children to do: how to measure the good and the bad; how to see what is right and choose what is right; how to see what is wrong and refuse what is wrong.

All judgment is not forbidden. Jot these verses down. John chapter 7 and verse 24: “Judge righteous judgment”—“Judge righteous judgment”—John 7:24. Why, in 1 Corinthians chapter 2, verse 15, the Bible says, “He that is spiritual judgeth all things”—“he that is spiritual.” (1 Corinthians 2:15) A spiritual man knows how to evaluate, to discriminate, to choose what is right and to refuse what is wrong: “Judge righteous judgment.” “He that is spiritual judges all things.”
Now, there are some people who just think we are wrong and un-American if we don’t just put our arms around everybody else, and say, “Your religion is just as good as mine.” But the Bible says, in 1 John chapter 4 and verse 1, “Beloved, believe not every spirit, but [test] the spirits”—“try the spirits,” “judge the spirits”—“whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world.” (1 John 4:1) And our Lord Jesus Christ in this same chapter—you’re in Matthew chapter 7, just fast-forward on down to verse 15. We’ll get to it later on as we preach about it—but our Lord says, “Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep’s clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves.” (Matthew 7:15) I can just hear someone saying, “Oh now, Jesus, don’t judge. Jesus, you just said, ‘Judge not.’ Why, you don’t have any right to call them false prophets. Lord, you don’t have any right to call them ravening wolves.” And what Jesus said—He said, “You’d better watch out: they’ll get you. ‘Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep’s clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. You shall know them by their fruits.’” (Matthew 7:15–16) Anybody with his eyes wide open needs to make discernment.

And so our Lord is not saying here that it is wrong to make discerning discrimination. As a matter of fact, it is wise to do that. That’s what you do every time you go to the polls and vote: you judge. You say, “It should be this man, this woman”—“this man, this woman. I have to make a judgment.” It’s a shame Americans don’t do it better.

We must examine our words. We must examine our actions. We must examine situations by the Word of God. So He’s not talking about wise discrimination, nor is He talking about Bible measurements. There are certain things that are just wrong, plain wrong. And why? The Bible says so. Adultery is wrong. Fornication is wrong. Sodomy is wrong. Lying is wrong. Stealing is wrong. Pride is wrong. Hatred is wrong. Envy is wrong. That’s not my judgment. That’s God’s Word. It’s just that simple. And sometimes, if you stand up and you say, “Oh, these people who do these things are wrong,” there’s always some self-righteous person who will say, “Don’t judge.” I don’t have to. God already has. God already has. That is the Word of God.

Now we live in a day that hates moral absolutes. They just hate them. And they hate theological absolutes. And when you confront society with absolutes, there’s always someone who will say you are judging.

To call wrong what God calls wrong is not judging, nor is it unloving. I want to show you an interesting verse. Turn to Leviticus chapter 19 for a moment. Just turn to this one, because it’s worth noting. Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus—all right, that makes it the third book, doesn’t it? All right, this one I just discovered, and it was an amazing verse when I saw it—verse 17. Listen. Look at it: “Thou shalt not hate thy brother in thine heart...”—we’d all say amen to that, just say amen—“Thou shalt not hate thine brother in thine heart: thou shalt in any wise rebuke thy neighbour, and not suffer sin upon him.” (Leviticus 19:17) Now, do you know what that verse means? That verse means, “If you do not point out sin where sin needs to be pointed out, you hate your brother.”

There are those who will tell you it is unloving—it is unloving—to call sin sin. It is unloving not to call sin sin. We have a generation of young people who are being sucked down into the swirling sewers of sin, and nobody has the moral courage and—if you’ll forgive the word—the guts to say, “That is wrong, because God says so.” And if we love them, we will. If we love them, we will. If we love them, we will. It is not judging to do that, in the sense that Jesus is talking about. It is certainly not unloving.

So, when He says, “Judge not,” He’s not talking about evaluation and discrimination between right and wrong. Nor is He talking about Bible standards, holding up Bible standards. Our Lord said, “Not a jot, not a tittle, till all be fulfilled.” (Matthew 5:18) He’s not talking about that. Nor is He talking about law courts where we have civil cases and criminal cases. Thank God for the law courts. They are ordained of God. Read Leviticus chapter 19. (Leviticus 19) Read Judges chapter 13. (Judges 13) You know, there are those people who would like for us not to have policemen. They don’t want us to have judges and magistrates and all of that. Why, if there were no civil law, hell would have a holiday. The law courts are ordained of Almighty God. Read Romans chapter 13. (Romans 13)

II. We Are to Avoid Wicked Condemnation

So, what is our Lord saying here? Well, He is saying that we are to apply wise discrimination. But now, secondly—listen—we are to avoid wicked condemnation. Now, let’s see what He does mean when He says this in Matthew chapter 7: “Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again”—your yardstick will become a boomerang.

Now what our Lord is talking about here is unmerciful and self-righteous condemnation of another human being. Now you’re in Matthew 7—Matthew, Mark, Luke—just turn to Luke for a moment. Just turn to Luke—quickly do it—Luke chapter 6 and verse 36, and we’re going to find what our Lord means. Luke 6, verse 36—here’s the parallel passage. Our Lord preached this sermon several times, and here He expands on it a little bit. Luke chapter 6 and verse 36—He says, “Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful. Judge not...”—now you see the judging that He’s talking about is unmerciful judgment—“Judge not, and ye shall not be judged: condemn not, and ye shall not be condemned: forgive, and ye shall be forgiven.” (Luke 6:36–37) Here our Lord makes it very clear what He’s talking about. He’s talking about a censorious, unloving, unmerciful, condemning attitude toward another human being.
God is the only One who has the right and the prerogative to pass that kind of judgment. Jesus said, in John chapter 5 and verse 22, “The Father judgeth no man, but hath committeeth all judgment unto the Son.” (John 5:22) The same Jesus Christ who wants to be your Savior will one day be your judge. But all judgment belongs to Him—that is, to condemn. And if you try to condemn another human being, what you do is to assert God’s authority. God has not appointed you to be the prosecuting attorney. As a matter of fact, the devil himself is the accuser, and when you do it, you are acting just like the devil.

The Apostle Paul, with that great mind of his, asked this question in Romans chapter 8 and verse 33: “Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God’s elect? It is God that justifieth. Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us.” (Romans 8:33–34) Jesus Christ is the only One big enough, wise enough, strong enough, good enough, loving enough, all-knowing enough to redeem or to condemn. You don’t have the power to redeem anybody, and you don’t have the power to condemn anybody. And when you use unmerciful, unloving, unforgiving judgment toward another human being, again I say you are usurping the authority, the right, of Almighty God.

Now, why do we do this? I want to mention three or four reasons why human beings judge other people.

A. We Judge Others Because of Our Iniquity

First of all, because of our iniquity. Look, if you will, in verse 3: “And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother’s eye, but considerest not the beam that is thine own eye?” (Matthew 7:3) Here’s a man with a saw log in his eye looking for sawdust in somebody else’s eye. Don’t tell me the Lord Jesus didn’t have a sense of humor. Here’s a man trying to practice spiritual ophthalmology, and he’s got a plank in his eye.

Now, who is the Lord talking to? He’s talking to hypocrites. Look in verse 5: “Thou hypocrite.” (Matthew 7:5) Learn this, friend. It is the hypocritical that are hypercritical. It is the hypocritical that are hypercritical.

You say, “Well, why do you say hypercritical?” Well, I want to ask you a question. You guys are taking notes—I hope you’re not writing a letter. All right now, look up here at me. They could be, you know. I sit by that guy right there. All right, have I got a speck in my eye? Huh? They don’t know. You know why they don’t know? Have I got a speck in my eye? Is there sawdust in my eye? They don’t know. Does anybody here know whether I’ve got a speck in my eye? You don’t know. You know why? You’ve got to get real close and look real hard to see it. I mean, in order for you to find out, you’ve got to come up and inspect me. Isn’t that right? You have got to get up close. If you see a speck in my eye, I’ll guarantee you made an extra effort to find it, didn’t you? I mean, you have to look for it. You have to get up and inspect me very carefully.

Now, wouldn’t you be ludicrous if you had a big two-by-four in your eye, coming up here looking for a speck in my eye? That’s what our Lord Jesus Christ is talking about. You see, listen. It is the hypocritical that are hypercritical.

People find what they are looking for. Every church has its own speck hunters. We’ve got some in our church. They specialize in specks, motes: examiners of other people. You always see what you’re looking for.

You remember the little poem,

Pussy cat, pussy cat, where have you been?
I’ve been down to London to visit the Queen.
Pussy cat, pussy cat, what did you do there?
I frightened a little mouse, under her chair.

—AUTHOR UNKNOWN

Isn’t that something? There’s the Big Ben, the Tower of London, the Palace, all of that, and this cat goes to London: what does he see? A mouse under the Queen’s chair. Not the Queen—the mouse under the Queen’s chair. Why did the cat see a mouse under the Queen’s chair? Because that’s what the cat was looking for.

Do you know you’ll find this morning what you’re looking for? If you came this morning to find a mote, if you’ll get up close enough, you’ll find it. If you came this morning to find some criticism, something to criticize, you can find it. If you come this morning to find some fault in the sermon, I’ll guarantee you can find it. I’ll tell you something else. If you came to find God, you’ll find Him too. You will. You will get what you are looking for.

If you wanted somebody to survey the landscape for you, suppose you got a buzzard and you sent the buzzard out, and you said, “Mr. Buzzard, go survey the landscape.” And he would fly over the meadows, and the streams, and the brooks, and the flowers, and the fleecy clouds, and come back, and you would say, “Mr. Buzzard, what did you see?” He’d say, “I saw a dead cow with maggots in it”—because that’s what he’d be looking for.

You see, it’s the hypocrite. It’s the hypocrite who sees in others, really, what is in himself. All we see when we judge others—or what we see generally when we judge others—is a reflection of what is in our own hearts. That’s what our Lord is saying. Here’s a man with a saw log looking for sawdust.

I heard about an old grandmother who would go into the house, and she would dust, and then dust again, and then dust again—kept on dusting the furniture, and polishing the furniture, because she said, “It’s dusty.” Finally, they took off her glasses, and they were covered with dust. Why, what she was seeing was just simply herself.
Let me tell you what God says. Turn to Romans chapter 2 for a moment, and look, if you will, in Romans chapter 2. Boy, I’m telling you, if God doesn’t excoriate the judgmental person here! Look in verses 1 through 3: "Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoever thou art that judgest: for wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself;"—your yardstick becomes a boomerang—"for thou that judgest doest the same things. But we are sure that the judgment of God is according to truth against them which commit such things. And thinkest thou this, O man, that judgest them which do such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the judgment of God?" (Romans 2:1–3)

In chapter 1 of Romans, the Apostle Paul is talking about the pagan, the ungodly, the sins of the flesh. (Romans 1) In chapter 2, he’s talking about the religious man and the sins of the spirit. (Romans 2) There are many in this building today: you’re dressed so nicely; you look so nice; you have a Bible; you’re glad to judge the thief, the prostitute, the murderer, the pimp, the drug pusher, the pervert; you wouldn’t do any of those things, but your heart is headquarters for hatred; you reek with pride; you’re stuffed full of self-righteousness, and you judge other people. Jesus Christ had far more to say to the Pharisees, who were so full of self-righteous pride, about their sin than He said to the harlot, the thief, and the down-and-out. You know one of the great dangers in America today? We’re egomaniacs strutting to hell, thinking we’re too good to be damned—and we judge other people. We’re full of lust and ambition and pride. Oh, we don’t commit adultery; we don’t steal. But God sees our heart. God sees the wickedness that flows out of our heart. The sin of the flesh can be so easily hidden in the heart. But God sees it.

You remember the story there in the Gospel of Luke? Two men went to the temple to pray: one a Pharisee, the other a publican. The Pharisee stood, and he prayed, "Father, I thank you that I’m not like other men. I tithe. I fast. I attend the worship service. And, God, most of all, I thank you that I’m not like this publican.” Publicans—they were the tax collectors and the offscouring of society. And Jesus said, “The old publican, he was praying, he wouldn’t even lift his eyes to heaven. He beats himself upon the chest, and he says, ’O God, be merciful to me a sinner.’” Actually, the Greek says, “the sinner.” He saw himself as the worst sinner of all. “Lord, I thank you that I am not like other men—like this man.” And Jesus said, “That man went home justified. The other man just went home.” (Luke 18:9–14)

Everybody’s going to leave this church this morning. Some are going leave dignified, and some are going to leave justified. We’re so full of our self-righteousness. Read Romans 2. Our Lord swings His guns upon the self-righteous.
B. We Judge Others Because of Our Insecurity

I’ll tell you another reason that we judge: not only because of our iniquity, but because of our insecurity. Envy digs the mud that jealousy throws at success. We’re so insecure. We want to judge other people by our standards, because if we can get them to look like us, act like us, and do like us, then we feel better. Somehow it makes us feel better.

In Greek mythology, there was a chieftain. He was a robber, and his name was Procrustes. And he would go out and capture people, and drag them into his cave. And in his cave he had an iron bed. Have you ever heard of the iron bed of Procrustes? And he put people on the bed—that’s what he measured them with. If they didn’t fit his bed, if they were not long enough, he would stretch them until they would fit his bed. If they were too long, he would lop off their legs. And he made everybody fit the bed that he thought was just. Now we do that. We have the bed that suits us, and we say, “Everybody else has got to be just like me.” You’d better thank God that they’re not.

C. We Judge Others Because of Our Ignorance

Many times, because of our iniquity, we judge. Many times, because of our insecurity, we judge. Many times, because of our ignorance, we judge. We judge people. We don’t know enough. That’s the reason that I’m so glad that God is the judge. The Apostle Paul, there in 1 Corinthians, mentions some people who were judging them. You know that people always like to judge preachers. They think that’s they’ve been called of God to do that, you know? And many of you are just sitting out there kind of evaluating me right now. And they were judging the Apostle Paul. And do you know what the Apostle Paul said to them? He said, “It’s a small thing with me that you judge me.” He said, “I don’t even judge me.” He said, “We’ll wait till the Lord comes and makes known the counsels of men’s hearts. Then shall every man have praise of God.” (1 Corinthians 4:3–5) What did he mean by that? He said, “I don’t even know enough to judge myself. So how on earth are you going to judge me, if I can’t even judge me? I’m on the inside, looking out. You’re on the outside, looking in.” And Paul said, “I can’t even judge me. How are you going to do it?” You see, our ignorance causes us to judge other people.

I was reading about a lady—she went into the airport, waiting on her plane. She thought she would have some cookies and a cup of tea. So she went into the little shop like they have there, and bought her a bag of cookies, went and sat down, put the bag between herself and the man who was sitting next to her, had a cup of tea; and she noticed that the man sitting next to her just reached over and opened her bag of cookies and took one out. She thought, “Now, that is some nerve.” She said, “I’m going to eat my cookies anyway.” So she reached in and took a cookie, and began to eat it. And he finished the one he ate, and reached in and got another one. She didn’t know what to do. She was embarrassed. But she would take one. And he would take one. Finally, there was one cookie left. He reached down and broke it in half and ate it. She was so steamed. She thought, “Of all the gall! The nerve of that guy!” Anyway, she gathered her stuff, the plane was called, she sat down on the plane, still steamed, opened her purse to get a tissue, and there was her bag of cookies.

None of us is wise enough to judge another person. We don’t have all of the facts, even when we’re certain that we do. Thank God there’s One good enough, One wise enough, One loving enough to judge me and to judge you. And the Bible says, “Shall not the Judge of all heaven and earth do right?” (Genesis 18:25) Put this verse down in your margin—Romans 14, verse 4: “Who art thou that judgest another man’s servant? to his own master he standeth or falleth. Yea, he shall be holden up: for God is able to make him stand.” (Romans 14:4)

D. We Judge Others Because of Our Insensitivity

I tell you another reason we judge: not only because of our iniquity and not only because of our insecurity, and not only because of our ignorance, but because of our insensitivity. Do you know the Bible says of the Lord Jesus, in John the third chapter, “For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world;”—to judge the world—“but that the world through him might be saved.” (John 3:17) Many times, we’re quick to judge and condemn those that God wants to save. Maybe we do know all of the facts. Maybe they do deserve to burn in hell. But I don’t want them to go there. Do you?

I cringe every time I hear one individual tell another individual, “You go to hell.” Who are you to tell somebody to go to hell? If you know Jesus Christ, your heart ought to be yearning, burning, hoping that they go to heaven. And when you tell an individual to go to hell, it makes me believe, dear friend, you probably are headed there—because “with what judgment you mete, it will be measured to you again.” And that yardstick is going to become a boomerang that’s going to come right back to you. “With what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again.”

Our Lord is full of compassion. We’re so insensitive, that we judge. When Jesus Christ saw Zacchaeus, that little man down there in Jericho who climbed a tree that he might see the Lord, that tax-gatherer—he was a thief—but Jesus, when He saw him, Jesus didn’t say, “Hey, listen. You black-hearted son of the devil, you skinflint, get down out of that tree!” Jesus said, “Hey, Zach, come on down, buddy. I want to go have dinner with you today.” Jesus loved him. Jesus did not condemn him.

Conclusion
Well, what is our text telling us? We must apply wise discrimination. We must avoid wicked condemnation. We must apply wise discrimination: we’ve got to know the difference between logs, and hogs, and dogs, and wolves in sheep’s clothing. We’ve got to know that. God has given us some standards. God teaches us that we’re to choose what is right, and refuse what is wrong. But, oh, our hearts are to be filled with mercy and compassion and forgiveness with those who need it!

And if not, what is going to happen? Friend, if you want to be a part of the FBI, the Fundamentalist Bureau of Investigation, I kind of feel sorry for you. Turn to the book of James. Look, if you will, in chapter 2 and verse 13—James 2, verse 13: “For he shall have judgment without mercy, that hath shewed no mercy...”—“he shall have judgment without mercy, that hath shewed no mercy;”—but, oh, look at the next part of that—“and mercy”—“mercy”—“rejoiceth against judgment.” (James 2:13) Don’t you love that? When I stand before God, I tell you what I want. I want mercy. I need mercy. And I don’t want to judge you, because if I do, I won’t have any mercy. I want to see every man, every woman, every boy, every girl, as God sees them. And God loves them all: “For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son.” (John 3:16)

God is a God of love. God does not rejoice in judgment. Yes, judgment will come. The hottest part of hell is reserved for the unmerciful. We look at other people, and we say they’re unworthy.

Michelangelo, the sculptor in Florence, was walking past the quarry, and he saw an ugly piece of marble—misshapen, ugly. They had discarded it. They had thrown it out. It was useless. Michelangelo looked at it a while, and he said, “I want that piece of marble.” And they said, “Sir, it’s no good.” He said, “I want it.” He said, “There’s an angel in that piece of marble. I can see him, and I’m going to set him free.” And in that piece of marble, and out of that piece of marble, Michelangelo made the sculpture of a beautiful, beautiful angel.

Now we see people sometimes unworthy, unfit, fit only to be discarded. But God doesn’t love us for what we are; He loves us for what we can be. God doesn’t change us, so He can love us. He loves us, so He can change us. And God sees a saint in you today. You just put yourself in His hands.
The Problem of Unanswered Prayer

Introduction

Matthew chapter 7 and verse 7—we’re going to be thinking today on “The Problem of Unanswered Prayer”—“The Problem of Unanswered Prayer.” Jesus has made a wonderful and a clear promise concerning prayer in Matthew chapter 7 and verse 7. He says, “Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.” (Matthew 7:7–8) And, indeed, that is true. But I want to ask you a question. Will you be honest? Nod your head. Oh, sure, fine. How many of you have ever prayed and didn’t get your prayer answered? Lift your hand. Oh, come on now, folks. Be honest. If you want God to answer your prayer, you have to tell the truth now. All right—all right. A lot of us have prayed and not gotten our prayers... answered. And why? What is the problem of unanswered prayer? Did Jesus not mean what He said when He said, “Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and [he] that knocketh it shall be opened”? What’s wrong? Has prayer failed? No!

Suppose you walk into your house this evening, and you flick a light switch, and the light does not come on. Would you say that electricity had failed? Or, would you say there was no Thomas Alva Edison who invented such a thing as the incandescent light? Or, would you say there is no power plant in the city of Memphis? Would you say that? No, you would say something is wrong. It could be one of many things. Maybe the light bulb burned out. Maybe the transformer has burned out. Maybe you didn’t pay the bill. It could be a lot of things. But you would not say that electricity did not fail just because you simply flicked the switch and the light did not come on. You would say, if you’re a rational, thinking person, “Something is wrong. I need to find out what it is, because when I throw the switch, the lights don’t come on.”

Now we’re going to talk this morning very simply and very plainly, and the message this morning is going to be extremely plain, I trust. But we’re going to look at our prayer life and see if we can discover why it is that sometimes we ask and don’t receive, sometimes we seek and do not find, sometimes we knock and it is not opened unto us. Where is the problem? What is the problem—the problem of unanswered prayer? And I want to give you seven reasons why sometimes our prayers are not answered. And lick your fingers, because we’re just going to turn all back and forth through the Bible. This is not primarily an expository message, but it is going to be a biblical message.

I. Savior-less Prayer

And, first of all, I want you to turn to John the fourteenth chapter, and let me give you the first reason why prayer is sometimes not answered and people pray but God does not hear. In John the fourteenth chapter, we find the first reason, and it is what I call Savior-less praying—Savior-less praying. Look, if you will, in John chapter 14, verse 6: “Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man…”—and might I say, not even you, sir—“no man cometh unto the Father, but by me.” (John 14:6) The only way that you can come to God is through the Lord Jesus Christ. He is the way.

Have you ever been lost and asked a person to give you directions, and you stop there at a service station and you say, “How do I find thus-and-such a place?” “Oh,” he said, “very simple: If you’ll just go up here to the third stop light and turn right, and go seven blocks, you’ll cross the railroad tracks. And then, count two more blocks and turn right, and you’ll come to a house with a white picket fence; and there will be a fork in the road. Now you can go right or left, but go left. And then, at the second intersection there, you’ll notice a…” And by that time, your mind is so muddled you cannot remember any of it. And you just sit there and nod and act like you’re paying attention when they left you back there at the Y in the road somewhere.

Well, that would be one way of giving directions. Perhaps a little better: A person says, “I’m going there. If you’ll just get behind me, I’ll drive you there.” That’s a little better. But suppose a person says, “Just get in with me. I’ll take you there.” Now, that is a better way. This person then does not become a way-pointer or a way-shower, but becomes the way. Jesus is the way who brings us to God.

Jesus said, “I am the way.” (John 14:6) And the Bible says in Ephesians chapter 2 and verse 18, “Through him we…have access by one Spirit unto the Father.” (Ephesians 2:18) By Jesus, we have access to the Father. Friend, if you don’t come through Jesus, you don’t come. Now, look. If you don’t come through Jesus, you do not come. Jesus said, “I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me.” (John 14:6) And, very frankly, the reason that some prayers are not answered is they are simply not asked in Jesus’s name.

You’re in John 14. Look in verses 13 and 14, as Jesus elaborates on this. He says in John 14, verse 13, “And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son”—“whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do.” Look again in verse 14: “If ye shall ask any thing in my name, I will do it.” (John 14:13–14) Turn to John chapter 16, and look, if you will, in verse 23—John chapter 16 and verse 23: “Verily, verily, I say unto you, Whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my name, he will give it you.” Verse 24: “Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full.” (John 16:23–24) Again and again, Jesus is saying, “I am the way. You have access to the Father through me. Ask in my name.”

But to ask in the name of Jesus does not mean merely to say, “In Jesus’ name,” when you pray. It is not some sort of a magic little formula that you tack on to the end of your prayer, sort of an abracadabra so that when you give an incantation, that makes it right. No, no, no, no! What does it mean to ask in Jesus’ name? Well, it means, really, three things.

A. Ask with His Approval

First of all, it means to ask with His approval. You see, when a person signs his name to something, that means he approves it. For example, if you’re an inspector in a factory, and you go and you put your name on the product, that means, “Okay, this meets my standards; this meets my specifications.” What little boy has not wanted a baseball bat because his favorite big-league star had put his name on it? It’s a Ted Williams bat, or whatever it is. Of course, that’s how you can tell how dated I am. But it’s a baseball bat that he has signed. Your favorite star has put his name on that glove, on that bat, on that ball. That means he approves it. It holds the standards that he holds.

B. Ask with His Acclaim

And so, when we ask in Jesus’ name, it means that Jesus approves that—Jesus approves that. He’ll put His name to that, you understand. But not only does it mean to ask with His approval, but it means also to ask for His honor, for His glory. You see, name means approval; it also means a claim.

My Jewish friends have told me—and they’ve given me a certificate, my dear Jewish friends—they said, “Brother Rogers, we have planted a grove of trees in your name in Israel.” Isn’t that wonderful? So there’s a grove of trees there—the Adrian Rogers’ grove of trees. I like that, because I love that land so much. Now, why did they do that? They said, “That is in your name.” In other words, “We’re trying to honor you.” And I receive that humbly and gratefully. That’s a real honor to me. You see, “in somebody’s name” means “for their honor.”

So, when you’re praying in the name of Jesus, not only do you pray with His approval, but you pray for His acclaim. You understand that?

C. Ask with His Authority

But now, because you have His approval and His acclaim, then you have His authority. Name means authority.

You see, to “stop in the name of the law” means to “stop in the authority of the law,” right? “Stop in the name of the law,” or in the name of this, or in the name of that. If you take of paper, a check, and you sign your name to it, and give it to somebody else, they can carry it to the bank; and that gives the bank people the authority to take money from your account and give it to that person. See? Name means authority.

And so, when you pray in the name of Jesus, what are you doing? You’re praying with the approval of Jesus. You’re praying for the acclaim of Jesus. You’re praying with the authority of Jesus. You understand? You see, it is not just simply saying, “In the name of Jesus. Amen.” But, does Jesus approve this prayer? Is this prayer for His glory? Therefore, do I have His authority to ask? That’s what He means when He says, “Whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son.” (John 14:13) And, very frankly, very clearly, very plainly, the reason that some people are not getting their prayers answered is they’ve never been born again; they have never received Christ as their personal Savior; or else, if they have, they are not praying as they ought to for Jesus’ glory, with Jesus’ approval, and in the authority of the name of Jesus. You see, prayer is just finding the will of Jesus and acting as His power of attorney here on this earth.
II. Spiritless Prayer

Now, let me give you a second reason. And we have eight, so we’re going to have to listen in a hurry. Let me give you the second reason why sometimes prayers are not answered. We said, number one, because they are Savior-less prayers: You’re not praying in the Savior’s name. Number two, because they are Spirit-less prayers—Spirit-less prayers: You’re not praying in the Holy Spirit.

Now, let me give you a verse—Ephesians chapter 6, verse 18. Some of these you may not be able to look up; just jot them down. And I hope you’ll jot these points down and these scriptures. The Bible says in Ephesians chapter 6 and verse 18 we are to be “praying always with all prayer and supplication”—now, listen to this phrase—“in the Spirit”—“praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit.” (Ephesians 6:18)

Now, let me give you another verse, and this is from the Old Testament. And you just jot this down. In Zechariah chapter 12 and verse 10, the Holy Spirit is called in that verse, “the spirit of grace and supplications.” (Zechariah 12:10) The Holy Spirit is the Spirit of supplication. The word supplication means “prayer.” The Holy Spirit is the Spirit of prayer. And then, in Jude verse 20, the Bible says there in the book of Jude, “But ye, beloved, building up yourselves on your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Ghost.” (Jude 1:20)

You see, we pray through Jesus, but we pray in the Spirit. Now, if your prayers are not being answered, it may be therefore that you are not praying in the Spirit of God. You see, there’s all the difference in the world when you pray in the flesh and those prayers don’t get answered. But when you pray in the Spirit, those prayers do get answered.

Now, here’s a verse I really want you to turn to. We’ll just take time to turn to this one—Romans chapter 8, verse 26. Now, remember, we’re talking about praying in the Spirit. Romans 8, verse 26—and here’s a wonderful, wonderful promise. Look at it—Romans 8:26: “Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what we should pray for as we ought: but the Spirit itself maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered.” (Romans 8:26) What a wonderful, wonderful reason to pray in the Spirit! And, really, in Romans 8:26, there are two reasons given here why we ought to pray in the Spirit.

A. We Ought to Pray in the Spirit Because of Our Weakness

Number one: Because of our weakness, for it says the Spirit, here, “helpeth our infirmities.” Now we’re all infirmed. That word infirmity means “weakness.” Are you weak? Just nod your head. Sure you are! We’re all weak—we’re all weak. You say, “Oh, that’s a deterrent.” No, it’s a help. Paul said, “When I am weak, then I am strong.” (2 Corinthians 12:10) Thank God that you’re weak, because when you recognize your weakness, then you can depend upon your strength. And it is our weakness that enables us to depend upon our strength—and our strength is the Holy Spirit. “Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities”—our weaknesses.

Now this word help is a very interesting word. It has a double prefix in front of it in the Greek, and it means, really, “instead of” and “together with.” Now, pay attention here for a moment, because it sounds almost contradictory. That is, the Holy Spirit does it instead of us, and then the Holy Spirit does it together with us. Now, there’s not a contradiction. It sounds like it, but there’s not a contradiction. When we pray, the Holy Spirit prays instead of us; but then He prays together with us. Now what that means in plain English is this—now, pay attention: He will not do it without us; but we cannot do it without Him. That’s what it means. He will not do it without us; we cannot do it without Him. What a wonderful partnership this word helpeth refers to!

Actually, this word is only used one other time in the Bible. It’s used in the Gospel when Martha was in the kitchen. You know, there was Meatloaf Martha and Meditating Mary. And Meatloaf Martha was in the kitchen cooking, and Meditating Mary was at the feet of Jesus. And Meatloaf Martha came out of the kitchen and said to Meditating Mary and said to Jesus, “Would you tell her to come help me?” (Luke 10:40) And she uses this same word: “The Spirit also helpeth our infirmities.” (Romans 8:26) “Will you tell her to come in this kitchen and take hold of things and get things done?” Aren’t you glad the Holy Spirit can do that—just come in there and help you to get those things done? He will not do it without you; you cannot do it without Him.

And the Bible says that He just makes groanings—He “maketh intercession…with groanings which cannot be uttered”—in this same verse. Look at it: He “maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered.” (Romans 8:26) That means that the Holy Spirit of God sometimes takes those things that we’re unable to articulate. This word groaning is a very interesting word, too, because it speaks of the groanings and the sounds that a woman would make when she’s in travail about to give birth to a child. It’s the same word here as a woman in travail about to give birth to a child. This is the way the dear Holy Spirit of God agonizes for us.

Isn’t that wonderful that we have such a friend who takes hold and He prays with us alongside of us? He knows our weaknesses, and therefore He makes groanings for us that cannot even be articulated and uttered.

B. We Ought to Pray in the Spirit Because of Our Ignorance

But, you see, that’s one reason we need to pray in the Spirit: because of our weakness. Another reason is because of our ignorance. Look again in verse 26. The Bible says, “For we know not what we should pray for as we ought.” (Romans 8:26) Now, be honest, folks. There are lots of times we pray and we really don’t know what to pray for.

Let me give you an example. Suppose you have a mother who's up in age, and your mother gets sick. And she's in the hospital, and you're praying for her. Now, what do you pray? Do you pray, "Lord, make her well"? If you're like most of us, we'll say, "Lord, make her well," don't we? But it might be God's will not to make her well, but to make her perfectly well; that is, to bring her to heaven, see? As a matter of fact, Jesus prayed for your mother: "Father, I [pray for them] whom thou hast given me, [that they may] be with me where I am; that they may behold my glory." (John 17:24) So it is God's will that one day we go to be with Him. We wouldn't want to deny them of that, would we? But we want them to stay here, too, don't we? Because we love them. And so we have that ambivalence within us. We don't know whether to pray, "Lord, let them stay," or, "Lord, let them go." Sometimes we really do not know how to pray. Now, be honest, folks. Sometimes we do not know how to pray in a situation like that, right? Right. And so the dear Holy Spirit has to make intercession.

Incidentally, I've noticed that many times we're far more interested in getting our sick loved ones well than we are getting our unsaved friends saved. You get in the average prayer meeting and ask for prayer requests: There are prayers for people who are sick, who are saints, that they might get well. Could it be that we're more interested in keeping the saved out of heaven than we are the lost out of hell? Think about that. I mean, how many times in the average prayer meeting are we saying, “O God, I pray for my neighbor, my sister, my brother, my father, my mother. They're lost. They're going to hell”? Oh, no. “Dear Lord, don't let Aunt Susie—don't let Mama—die and go to heaven.” Are we more interested in keeping the saved out of heaven than we are the lost out of hell? But sometimes it is God's will to heal—there's no doubt about it. Sometimes if we would ask God, God would supernaturally heal our loved ones, but we don't know how to pray like that. But aren't you glad the Holy Spirit knows? And so, “We know not what we should pray for as we ought: but the Spirit [Himself] maketh intercession for us.” (Romans 8:26)

And it's just so wonderful! You see, I'm down here praying, and I might be asking God for the wrong thing, but my heart is right. It's a mistake of the head, not of the heart. And so the dear Holy Spirit is saying to the Father, "Now, Father, Adrian down there is asking for this thing. He thinks that's what he wants. But it's not what he really wants; it's not what he needs. This is what he needs, Father. And so, Father, while he's asking for this, give him that." Isn't that wonderful? And my prayer is answered—my prayer is answered.

You know, you see these big black things hung on the telephone poles. They're transformers. Sometimes they're put in concrete boxes, or underground, and so forth. What is that transformer? Well, that super-electrical power comes into that transformer—very high voltage—and then it is transformed so it can drop down off the wire into your house, and into your fan, into your toaster, your hairdryer, and so forth. Now, if it did not go through that transformer, it would just blow those things, melt them, blow them to smithereens, blow the fuses, and so forth. But it has to go through the transformer. There is that energy; it is the same energy, but it has been transformed so it can be made adaptable and useable. The Holy Spirit is like that transformer. You see, your prayer is like that energy, and it comes through the Holy Spirit. And the Holy Spirit takes that prayer energy—He transforms it; He adapts it; He makes it useable before the throne of God. So that’s why we must pray in the Spirit.

Friend, God sees our hearts. And many times our heads are wrong, but our hearts are right. And so God the Holy Spirit just takes that prayer energy, and we know not what we should pray for as we ought: but the blessed Holy Spirit makes intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered. Therefore, dear friend, not only must you be saved; you ought to be surrendered and filled with the Holy Spirit so you can pray in the Spirit. Many times our prayers do not get to heaven because they’re not guided, inspired, and energized by God the Holy Spirit.

III. Sinful Prayer

Sometimes prayers are not answered because they are Savior-less prayers: We’re not praying in the name of Jesus. Sometimes they’re Spirit-less prayers: We’re not praying through or in the Holy Spirit. Now, let me give you a third reason that sometimes our prayers are not answered, and that is because it is sinful praying—sinful praying. You see, it is foolish to pray with unconfessed sin in our hearts and in our lives.

David knew better than to try to pray that way, because David said in Psalm 66, verse 18, “If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me.” (Psalm 66:18) Now we talk about the great prayer promises. Friend, that’s one of them. Not the kind of promise we like, though, is it? “If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me.”

Now, Isaiah also knew better. And I want you to take your Bibles this time and turn to Isaiah chapter 1. I want to show you something. Did you know God is not always pleased when we worship? Isaiah chapter 1—I want you to look with me in verse 11: “To what purpose is the multitude of your sacrifices unto me? saith the LORD:”—and people coming to worship Him with sacrifices—“I am full of the burnt offerings of rams, and the fat of fed beasts; and I delight not in the blood of bullocks, or of lambs, or of he goats. When ye come to appear before me, who hath required this at your hand, to tread my courts?” “Who told you to come in here?” God is saying. “Bring no more vain oblations; incense is an abomination unto me…”—here they were, burning incense to God; and not only was God not receiving it, God said, “It is abominable”—“incense is an abomination unto me; the new moons and sabbaths, the calling of assemblies, I cannot away with; it is iniquity, even the solemn meeting.” God said, “It is abominable—it is iniquitous—when you worship.” Now He goes on to say in verse 14, “Your new moons and your appointed feasts my soul hateth:”—it’s not that God just doesn’t receive that worship; He hates it—“they are a trouble unto me; I am weary to bear them.” And now, notice especially verse 15: “And when ye spread forth your hands, I will hide mine eyes from you:”—here’s a person saying, “O God”; and here’s God saying, “I don’t want to see that.” Why? Well, continue to read—“yea, when ye make many prayers, I will not hear: your hands are full of blood.” (Isaiah 1:11–15)

They were a sinful people, and God says, “Who told you to come in here and worship me that way? You bring me sacrifices. You burn this incense. You bring the fat of rams to me.” God says, “I hate it. I don’t want to hear it. You weary me. You make me tired. I’ll hide my face from that because of your sin.” Friend, I want to tell you that sinful praying just angers God. Not only does He not hear it; it’s an affront to God that we would pray with unconfessed, un-repented-of sin in our hearts and in our lives.

Go on. You’re already in Isaiah. Look in chapter 59, verses 1 and 2. Some of us think, “Well, because God is not doing miracles anymore, He must be old; He must be sick; He must be tired.” But look what He says here in Isaiah chapter 59, verse 1 and 2: “Behold, the LORD’s hand is not shortened, that it cannot save; neither his ear heavy, that it cannot hear: but your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, that he will not hear.” (Isaiah 59:1–2) Now, friend, put a star by that—Isaiah 59, verses 1 and 2. It is not that God is weak; it is not that God is unable to answer our prayers. Isaiah knew better than to try to pray with unconfessed sin.

Ezra knew better. Jot this scripture down—Ezra 9, verse 6. Ezra prayed and said, “O my God, I am ashamed and blush to lift up my face to thee, my God: for our iniquities are increased over our head, and our trespass is grown up unto the heavens.” (Ezra 9:6) Ezra said, “O God, I can’t even lift my face. I blush to try to pray with unconfessed, un-repented-of sin.”

James knew better. James said in James chapter 5, verse 16, “Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much”—not a sinful man; a righteous man. “Confess your faults.” (James 5:16) Many times, we’re praying for healing, and nobody is healed, because they’re not the prayers of a righteous man, a righteous woman, a righteous boy, a righteous girl. Many times, the reason our prayers are not answered is so simple: We have failed to confess our faults one to another and before a holy God. Prayer cannot be used as a smokescreen. So many times we just have the idea that God is just going to bless us anyhow. But He will not.

Remember that Joshua prayed before the Lord when Israel had been defeated. And the armies of Israel ignominiously had fled before the enemies. Joshua is on his face before the Lord, and he says, “Lord, why did you bring us out here to die in the wilderness? God, have you forsaken us?” And God said to Joshua, “Joshua, get up off your face. Israel has sinned. Joshua, you’re down here praying, and squalling, and complaining, and blaming me. There’s sin in the camp. You want me to tell you why I haven’t answered prayer? You want me to tell you why there’s defeat? ‘He that covereth his sins shall not prosper.’ (Proverbs 28:13) And you’re not prospering because you’ve allowed sin to be in the camp.” (Joshua 7:6–15)

What I’m trying to tell you very plainly, friend, is that one reason our prayers are not answered is that these prayers are Savior-less praying: We’ve never prayed in the Savior’s name with His power, His authority, His acclaim, His approval. Another reason is Spirit-less praying: We’re not praying in the Holy Spirit of God; the Holy Spirit of God is not guiding, inspiring, motivating, leading our prayers. Another reason is sinful praying: there’s unconfessed, un-repented-of sin in our hearts and in our lives. And our sins not only are not answered; they literally, actually, anger God.

IV. Selfish Prayer
Now, let me give you a fourth reason—and that is selfish praying—selfish praying. The Bible says in James chapter 4 and verse 3, “Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your lusts.” (James 4:3) One reason, very clearly, very plainly, that some prayers are not answered is these prayers do not have the glory of God as their chief aim. The person who is praying these prayers is only interested in his own personal self-aggrandizement.

Now, let me tell you something. God does not answer selfish prayers. He does answer personal prayer. It is not that you cannot ask anything for yourself. Indeed, you ought to ask for yourself. And, the Bible says, “If you need a fish, ask it. If you need bread, ask it.” (Matthew 7:9–11; Luke 10:11–13) “Give us this day our daily bread.” (Matthew 6:11) God wants to meet your personal needs; but there’s a difference in meeting your personal needs and meeting your selfish needs. You see, you don’t have the glory of God in your heart. This is the reason that the Bible says in Psalm 37, verse 4—here’s a wonderful promise— “Delight yourself in the Lord, and He’ll give you the desires of your heart.” (Psalm 37:4)

Now, you say, “Does that mean that I get a mansion with a swimming pool and a pink Cadillac?” No. Is that the desire of your heart? If it is, it shows me that you haven’t delighted yourself in the Lord. You see, listen. When you delight yourself in the Lord, what determines your desires is the thing that you delight in. You show me what you delight in, and I'll tell you what you desire. “Delight yourself in the Lord, and He’ll give you the desires of your heart.” What is the desire of the heart of a man who delights himself in the Lord? That God be glorified; that this man know and serve the Lord. You see, many times our prayers are not answered very clearly, very plainly, because “we ask, and receive not, that we might consume it upon our lust.” (James 4:3)

Now, go back to the scripture that I started with—Matthew 7, verse 7. Don’t turn to it. But Jesus said, “Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.” (Matthew 7:7) You say, “Well, look. I asked; I didn’t receive. I sought; I didn’t find. I knocked; it wasn’t opened to me. Matthew 7:7 must not be true.” Well, friend, listen. No scripture is of private interpretation. (2 Peter 1:20) When you look at a verse like that, you have to see the context in which it’s found. Any text without a context is a pretext. You just simply take that text out of its context and you can make it all say almost anything. But, you see, Matthew 7:7 is a part of the Sermon on the Mount. And before He gave us Matthew 7:7, He gave us Matthew 6:33. And what does Matthew 6:33 say? It says, “But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.” (Matthew 6:33) “Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, it shall be opened unto you”—to the person who is delighting himself in the Lord, to that person who is seeking first the kingdom of God and His righteousness. But if a man is seeking his own kingdom, if a man is not abiding in—dwelling in—the righteousness of Christ, he cannot take Matthew 7, verse 7, and apply it to his own heart.

I find some examples of some prayers that were not answered in the life of Jesus when people came to Jesus when He was here on this earth in the life of His flesh. In Luke chapter 12, verse 13—let me share with you: “And one of the company said unto him,”—that is, to Jesus—“Master, speak to my brother, that he divide the inheritance with me.” That is, “Here’s something I want you to do for me, Jesus. I’ve got a brother. And our father evidently had left a will, and the brother, he evidently would not divide the inheritance.” Now here’s what Jesus answered. How did Jesus answer this man who came to Him with this request? “And he said unto him…”—I’m reading now in Luke 12:13 and following—“And he said unto him, Man, who made me a judge or a divider over you? And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man’s life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth.” (Luke 12:13–15)

Jesus looked with a penetrating look right into the heart of this man who had asked Him for something, and Jesus knew that that man was motivated by one desire. What was it? Covetousness. He asked. He did not receive “because he asked amiss, that he might consume it upon his lusts.” (James 4:3) He was a covetous man, and Jesus said, “I’m not going to be a part of your covetousness.”

Many times we ask, because we ask wrongly, they are selfish prayers. Again, I read where the mother of James and John came to Him, the sons of Zebedee, and said, “Jesus, I have a request. I want one of my sons to sit on your right hand and one of my sons to sit on your left hand when you come into the kingdom.” Jesus said, “You don’t know what you’re asking.” (Matthew 20:21) Jesus rebuked her. Why? She “asked amiss, that she might consume it upon her lust.” She was on an ego trip. She wanted her sons to sit one on the right hand and one on the left. She wasn’t concerned about the glory of Christ; she was concerned about the glory of her little boys.

Many times we pray, but our motivation is wrong. And, my dear friend, God is not up in heaven just to stroke your ego; God is not up in heaven just to pamper your whim. That is not the reason that God answers prayer.

V. Stubborn Prayer
And so, one reason that prayers are not answered: They’re Savior-less prayers. Another reason: They’re Spirit-less prayers. Another reason: They’re sinful prayers. Another reason: They are selfish prayers. I want to give you another reason that prayer is sometimes not answered: because it is stubborn prayer—stubborn prayer. Turn with me to 1 John chapter 5 and verse 14—1 John. That’s not the Gospel of John, but 1 John chapter 5 and verse 14. Look at it: “And this is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask any thing according to his will, he heareth us.” (1 John 5:14) Now, stubborn prayer and selfish prayer may be akin, but not exactly the same. What is stubborn prayer? Stubborn prayer: That is prayer that is not willing that God’s will be done.

Now, let me tell you something about prayer, dear friend. Prayer is finding the will of God and getting in on it. Prayer is not some sort of an exercise where you twist God’s will and bend God’s will to fit your will. Prayer is not talking God into doing something that He ordinarily would not want to do. Prayer is just finding what God wants to do. Remember that I’ve told you before, the prayer that gets to heaven is the prayer that starts in heaven. We close the circuit. “This is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask any thing according to his will…” So, therefore, you must be praying in the will of God.

How do you know the will of God? You must pray in the will of God. How do you know the will of God? Well, one thing we’ve said already: that the Holy Spirit makes intercession for us. But the Holy Spirit makes intercession only for those who are willing for God’s will to be done. You see, in order to know the will of God, for the will of God to find you—because it finds you; you don’t find it—for the will of God to find you, there must be this surrendered heart. Jesus said in John chapter 7, verse 17, “If any man wills to do God’s will, he’ll know it” (John 7:17)—that is, if your will is surrendered. But if you’re stubborn…

Suppose I were to ask you, are you willing to do anything God asks you to do right now? What would be your answer? Oh, well, you'd nod yes, because that’s the thing to do in church. But suppose I were to ask you a specific thing. Suppose I said, “I know the will of God for your life.” And suppose I did know it and you knew that I knew it. I’m not saying I do, but suppose I did, just for the illustration. Suppose you knew that I had a hotline to heaven so that I knew precisely what God wanted you to do, and I were to come to you and say, “Now God has something He wants you to do. Will you do it?”

You know what many of you would say? “Well, I don’t know. Tell me, what is it?” “Yeah, tell me, so I can see if I’ll do it.” You know what you ought to say? “Yes, I’ll do it. What is it?” All right? “Yes, I’ll do it. What is it?” You see, dear friend, the way to know the will of God is to do the will of God even before you know the will of God, which is to surrender to the will of God. Just simply say, “God, I’ll do it, whatever it is. Here’s a blank sheet of paper; I’ve signed my name at the bottom.”

Friend, praying in the will of God does not mean fewer blessings for you; it means more blessings for you. God wants for you what you would want for yourself if you had enough sense to want it. He’s a good God. He loves you. He doesn’t need anything. Everything already belongs to Him. He’s not trying to get something out of you; He’s trying to give something to you. He loves you. God’s will is for your blessing and for His glory. “The LORD God is a sun and shield…no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly.” (Psalm 84:11) But many of us are stubborn. We have not laid our lives before the Lord, and we’ve not said, “Dear Lord, I want to do your will, whatever it is. Now, show me your will, so I can pray in your will.”

Very frankly, friend, one reason that your prayer may not be answered is you don’t have a surrendered will and you’re not willing to do the will of God as He reveals it to you. You say, “Well, I’m just afraid what He might ask me to do.” Friend, never be afraid of that. “He that spared not his own Son…how shall he not with him also freely give us all things?” (Romans 8:32) God loves you enough to send Jesus. You never have to doubt His love again. Romans 12:2 says, “The will of God is good, perfect, and acceptable.” (Romans 12:2)

VI. Spiteful Prayer
All right, let me give you another reason. I’ll give you another reason sometimes that our prayers are not answered: not only because of selfish praying; and not only because of stubborn praying; but spiteful praying—spiteful praying.

Turn to Mark chapter 11 with me for a moment—the Gospel of Mark. In Mark chapter 11, let’s look in verse 25. Now, either jot these scriptures down or mark them in your Bible somehow so that you’ll not miss them—Mark 11 and verse 25. Jesus said, “And when ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have ought against any: that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses. But if ye do not forgive, neither will your Father which is in heaven forgive your trespasses.” (Mark 11:25) Now, if you have spite in your heart—if your prayer is spiteful praying—prayer with malice, prayer with an unloving, unforgiving spirit—you might as well forget it: God is not going to hear your prayer. You see, if you’ll not forgive others, He won’t forgive you. And if you don’t get forgiven, then there’s sin in your life. And if there’s sin in your life, your prayer can’t be answered. Just that simple! As I said a few Wednesday nights ago when I spoke on forgiveness, the man who will not forgive destroys the bridge over which he himself must travel. An unforgiving spirit, therefore, is unforgivable. If you’re unwilling to forgive men, God is unwilling to forgive you. And if God does not forgive you, your prayers cannot get through.

Now we have a psychiatrist sitting here on the front row, and I think he will agree with this. I haven’t talked to him about it. I don’t want to put him on the spot. But there’s something about our carnal nature that gives us a little pleasure hating those who’ve done us bad. We kind of enjoy that a little bit. I don’t know what there is that we kind of enjoy hating people. As a matter of fact, we feel they deserve it. And so we kind of get a carnal satisfaction out of hurting them, or hating them, or seeing them suffer and not wanting good to happen to them. Now, if we get this carnal satisfaction, we may have that for a little bit, but even that carnal satisfaction doesn’t bring real joy. But I want to ask you, is it worth the price of your prayer not being answered? Is it? That carnal satisfaction of harboring a hurt, nursing a grudge, feeding a fever, is it worth it? Oh, how foolish we are!

And, many times—listen to me—many times the thing that is doing that is the relationship of husband to wife and wife to husband. The Bible says in 1 Peter the third chapter and the seventh verse—listen to it; every man in this building, listen to it—“Likewise, ye husbands, dwell with them”—your wives—“according to knowledge, giving honour unto the wife, as unto the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life; that your prayers be not hindered.” (1 Peter 3:7) Some of you I don’t think were married by the justice of the peace; you were married by the Secretary of War. You are just constantly at one another’s throats. And you say, “Why doesn’t God answer my prayer?” God says, “You’re to honor your wife as unto the weaker vessel. You are to dwell together as heirs of the grace of life, that your prayer to God be not hindered.” Spiteful prayers are not answered. And, oh, how we need to get that out of our hearts and out of our lives! And only the Holy Spirit can take it out; but He will, if we confess our sin. “He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.” (1 John 1:9)

VII. Stingy Prayer
Now I want to mention the seventh of these eight reasons why sometimes our prayers are not answered—and the seventh is what I call stingy praying—stingy praying. Proverbs chapter 21 and verse 13—are you ready for it?—“Whoso stoppeth his ears at the cry of the poor, he also shall cry himself, but shall not be heard”—“Whoso stoppeth his ears at the [crying] of the poor, he also shall cry himself, but shall not be heard.” (Proverbs 21:13) If you’re one of these persons who has a stingy spirit, an un-giving spirit, then God cannot give to you.

There is a law of sowing and reaping that is just as plain as the law of gravity or centripetal force. It operates in our world. The Bible says in the book of Luke chapter 6, verse 38, “Give, and it shall be given unto you”—“Give, and it shall be given unto you.” (Luke 6:38) You want God to give to you? Do you give? Are you a giver? Do you think that you’re just like a sponge to soak up everything and take it in and never give it out unless you’re squeezed? No wonder God cannot answer your prayer!

You see, again, we are so great at taking these promises of the Bible and taking them out of context and trying to stand on them. One promise that everybody likes is Philippians 4:19, that says, “But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus.” (Philippians 4:19) Oh boy, we like that one, don’t we? “God’s going to supply all my needs.” All right, fine. But to whom did God say that God would supply all their need? Read it in its context. That is verse 19. Go back and look at verse 14. And here’s what God said. He was talking to the church at Thessalonica, and this is what He said: “Notwithstanding ye have well done, that ye did communicate with my affliction.” Now the word communicate does not mean that they called him on the telephone; it means that they gave. They sent money to help Paul. Paul was a prisoner, and they took up a collection. They helped him. And he goes on to say, “Now ye Philippians know also, that in the beginning of the gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no church communicated with me as concerning giving and receiving,”—he said, “When I started out on my missionary work, when we first start preaching the gospel, man,” he said, “I had to do it alone. No one helped me.” But then, he goes on to say—“but ye only”—“you were the one church that did it.” “For even in Thessalonica ye sent once and again unto my necessity” (Philippians 4:14–16)—which really means, “Over and over again, you were taking offerings for me—over and over again. And I know you had needs, and I know that you had your own responsibilities. But,” Paul said, “you kept giving to me. You saw my necessities. Over and over again, you were investing money in missions.” And then, he said, “Because you have given to me, God’s going to give to you. My God shall supply all your need. You supplied my need; and God’s going to supply yours.”

Now, what God was saying? Now, pay attention. God was saying people who are investing their money in the work of the gospel and the preaching of the gospel can then say, “God will supply my need.” But you’re sitting here with God’s tithe in your pocketbook. You don’t tithe. You don’t sacrifice. You don’t give. Why should God give to you? Why? “Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together.” (Luke 6:38) Prayer is not some way that a tightwad can have everything he wants. Stingy praying does not get through. And, oh, my dear friend, when we learn how to give, when we get the spirit of giving!

One man went to church and the pastor preached on giving. And the man got incensed; he walked out. He said, “Give, give, give! That’s all I ever hear!” And the pastor said, “Thank you for the best definition of the gospel I ever heard of. That’s it: Give!” “For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son.” (John 3:16) “Give, and it shall be given unto you.” I want you to listen again: “Whoso stoppeth his ears at the cry of the poor, he also shall cry himself, but shall not be heard.” (Proverbs 21:13).

Introduction
That is my prayer. That is my desire for me, as an individual, and for all of us as a church.

We’ve been talking about, the kind of church that we ought to be, the kind of church that I’ve tried to teach you to be in these years that God has given me the wonderful privilege of being your pastor.

This morning, I want you to open, God’s Word, if you will, to Matthew chapter 7, and in a moment, we’re going to look at verses 7 and 8. I know they are very familiar to you. But the church that I want to be talking about today, our church, Bellevue Baptist Church, needs to be a praying church.

We’ve talked about a unifying church, or a unified church, and a steadfast church, and other things; but, today, a praying church.

Bellevue will be no greater, no better, no more useful than her prayer life. And her prayer life is not going to be any better than your life because you are the church. And don’t ask yourself is Bellevue a praying church? Ask yourself this question: Am I a praying Christian?

If you could ask the Lord Jesus Christ for anything you wanted, what would you ask Him for? Would you say, “Lord, teach me to preach,” or, “Lord, teach me to sing,” or, “Lord, teach me to lead?” The disciples prayed, asked this: “Lord, teach us to pray.” And the Lord gave them some words here and I want you to listen to them. This is, Matthew chapter 7, verses 7 and 8. Listen carefully. “Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.”

These are not the words of Adrian. These are the words of Jesus: undeniable, impeccable promise. Our Lord says we’re to ask, to seek, and to knock.

When we ask, that speaks of our desires. When we seek, that speaks of God’s direction. And when we knock, that speaks of determination. And what we need to do is to bring desire, direction, and determination together into a burning laser point to get our prayers answered before God. Now, I want to tell you, folks, listen to me. The greatest problem that you have in your life is not unanswered prayer; the greatest problem is unoffered prayer, unasked prayer. The Bible says in James chapter 4 and verse 2:

“…we have not because we ask not.”

You see, not to pray is not only to miss a blessing; it is rebellious. Our Lord has commanded us to pray. Quickly jot these scriptures down:

Luke 18, verse 1. And he says in here that “men ought always to pray…” Now, who said that? Jesus said that.

Mark chapter 14 and verse 38. Jesus said, “Watch and pray…” Watch and pray.

And the Apostle Paul said in Philippians chapter 4, verse 6: “Be careful for nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your request be made known unto God.”

There’s no substitute for prayer. Not enthusiasm. Not eloquence. Not energy. There is no substitute for intercession and for prayer. And the reason that many of us fail, the reason that, that many of us are poverty-stricken in our spiritual life is we’ve never learned to pray. May God help you to pray, may God help me to pray, so this church will be a praying church.

Now, listen very carefully. Why does God ask us to pray? It’s a good question. I mean, doesn’t, isn’t God good? Doesn’t God want to do good things? And doesn’t God know everything? So why should we pray? Or put in an ancillary verse over there in Matthew 6. We’re in Matthew 7. Go back to Matthew 6. Jesus said here in verses 7 and 8: “But when you pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think they shall be heard for their much speaking. Be ye not therefore like unto them—now, watch this—for your Father knoweth what things you have need of before you ask him.” That’s very interesting. God knows before you ask. Well, that just begs a question then—why should we ask?

Well, number one: Not to impress God. Don’t use vain repetition. You don’t, you don’t have to a junior-size Shakespeare in order to pray with your little flowery praises. We don’t pray to impress God. And we don’t pray to inform God. God already knows what things we need. He knows everything that you need, and there’s nothing you can tell Him that He does not already know.

So if you don’t pray to impress God, and you don’t pray to inform God, why do you pray? Do you pray to instruct God? Absolutely not! Prayer is not some way where you bend God’s will to fit your will. You don’t instruct God in prayer.

Why do we pray? To invite God, to invite God to be a part of our lives so we can delight ourselves in the Lord. The Bible says there in 2 Corinthians chapter 6, verse 1, that we are “…workers together with him.” God loves us so much that God gives us the privilege of participating in His kingdom work through prayer. Now, God can work without our prayers, but we cannot work without God, and it is prayer that causes us to depend upon Him. God does not want us to live lives independent of Him. If God just simply blessed us without our asking, what would that do? That would teach us to live life independently from God. But the Bible, Jesus said, “If you abide in me and my word abides in you, then you’ll ask what you will and it shall be done unto you.” You see, God wants you to abide with him. And that’s the reason God has taught us to pray - to invite Him to take control of our lives.

Now, listen very carefully. The devil cannot keep God from answering. So what will he do? He will endeavor to keep you from asking. Think about it now. The devil can’t keep God from answering. So what will he do? He will try to keep us from asking. Now, our Lord in this scripture says, “Ask, seek, and knock.”

Now, three factors I want to give you.

I. The Desire Factor

Factor number one: The desire factor: ask and express your desires to God. So if you have a desire in your heart, “what things soever ye desire, when you believe that you’ll receive them and you shall have them.” Now, the Bible says, “Delight yourself in the Lord and he will give you the desire of your heart.” Now, don’t get the idea that there are spiritual things that you can ask for and, secular things that you cannot ask for. The Bible never divides life from, between the sacred and the secular. With God every task is a holy task, every day is a holy day. Can you imagine Jesus dividing His life into the sacred and the secular? Can you imagine Jesus saying, “Now, Lord, Father, when I preach, I want anointing, but the rest of the time I’ll do it Myself.” No! You see, “In everything by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your request be made known unto God…” A good test as to whether you should desire it or whether you should do it is can you ask God to help you, or can you ask God to do it through you? Whatever you desire. Listen. Whatever you desire, tell God. Ask!

“Well,” you say, “what if I want the wrong thing?” Tell Him! Say, “Lord, I want the wrong thing. Have mercy upon me, O God. Fix my wanter.” That’s right! Listen. You can’t hide it from God. If you want it, He already knows it, doesn’t He? So tell Him! Say, “O God, this is what I want, and I know it’s not what You want.” Say, “Have mercy upon me.” But, friend, pray about everything. The responsibility for asking is ours. The responsibility for giving is God’s. Now, you just ask. Learn to ask God for whatever you want.

You see, sometimes the answer to prayer is direct. And I want you to learn these three words today: direct, different, and delayed. All right. Sometimes you ask God and the answer is absolutely direct.

Last week, I went to the inauguration of our president. Had a wonderful time, and God blessed our lives. But, I did not have a ticket for the inauguration, so I called our senators’ offices, Bill Frist and Lamar Alexander, and I said, “I need a ticket.” Well, they sent a ticket, but they said, “We need to tell you it is standing and you will be 1/3 of a mile back!” No exaggeration. A third of a mile! I said, “Well, I’ll stay home and watch on television. And so I, asked another friend for a better ticket. He said, “Yes, you’re supposed to have better ticket in a seated area.” And, he said, “I’ve sent it over to the hotel.” I went to the hotel. It wasn’t there. I went again. It wasn’t there. I went again. It wasn’t there. It was time for the inaugural event. And I’m sitting out there in the lobby and Jim Dobson comes around the corner. We fellowshipped some. Jim’s a good friend and we fellowshipped some. He said, “What are you doing?” I said, “A man was supposed to send some tickets over here, for me, and, they haven’t come.” Well, he said, his friend there said, “Look, I’ve got four tickets—one, two, three, four—I had my daughter and son-in-law—one, two, three, four—here!” And these were the best seats in the house. I was as about as close at those of you on, on the back row, sitting in a nice chair on a cement platform.

Now, let me tell you something. Just before I was given those tickets, I prayed, and here’s what I prayed. I said, “Lord, I don’t have to have those tickets, and I’m no better than anybody else in this city. There’s no reason that I should have the privilege of getting a closer seat or having a chair to sit on, but I want one!” And, I said, “God, I don’t know this is Your will. I can’t pray in the name of Jesus. It’s just what I want. Lord, I’m Your child. That’s what I want!” I’d not prayed that prayer two or three minutes before they came around the corner, and I had four of the best seats in the place in my hand. I ask Him and the answer was direct. You know, don’t think of some things too big or too small for God to answer.

Down in Florida one time I got to go fishing. And I love to fish, especially in salt water—not one of these cow ponds around here. I’m sorry. But I was out in a saltwater lagoon called the Indian River with some pals. And I had not been fishing for a long time. We were wading on the sandbar casting for speckled trout, and I’m talking to the Lord all by myself, away from everybody else, just loving Him and praising Him. And I said, “Lord, I am not catching any fish.” And I said, “Lord, I haven’t been fishing for a long time, and maybe a long time before I go fishing again. But, Lord, I want to catch a great big trout.” I told Him this. “I want to catch, not a small one, I want to catch a big one.” And I said, “I can’t ask in Jesus name. I have no right to catch a big fish. It’s not a necessity, but I want one.” I’d not prayed that prayer any faster than two minutes, any longer than two minutes. And I dropped that mere lure down into a deep hole there off that sandbar and began to bring it up, and I saw a big yellow mouth like that coming up out of that water. And that big speckled trout hit that thing, and I wrestled him all over the landscape out there, or the waterscape. Finally got him landed. It was a prize trout. It was what they call a button trout. Immediately after I prayed for this fish, there God gave the answer. I said, “Lord, that was great. I want another one!” And I cast for another one. And I suppose in two or three more minutes I’d caught another huge trout. I stopped asking and I stopped catching. Now, what was God doing? God knew the desire of my heart. You see, don’t be afraid to ask God. Sometimes the answers like that are absolutely direct.

I woke up one night with an excruciating pain in my right ear. What caused it, I do not know. But I put my hand on my ear, and I said, “O Jesus, in Your holy name, heal me!” because I felt that was His will. Immediately, immediately, immediately the pain was gone. I don’t know what caused it, but I know who took it. His name was Jesus.

I was driving to a revival meeting one time. And, this was in Florida. And I had preached Sunday morning, Brother Jim, at Merritt Island, and I was going over to Watula, Florida. Was out there in, driving my automobile, going along just as happy as I could be, driving about, 65 miles an hour, when my car stopped running. It didn’t sputter. It just stopped running. The engine was not running at all. I put it in neutral, coasted as far as I could. I’m out there all by myself on this road, and the car won’t run. I did what everybody does—I got out and looked under the hood. I mean, there’s the engine. It hadn’t fallen out. What was wrong with that car, I don’t know, but I got in and I cranked and I cranked and I cranked and I cranked, and it would not even sputter, till, finally, my battery was just going. And I said, “Well, worse than a car not running. Now, I’m going to have a dead battery.” Then I thought, Adrian, have you asked God? I got out of that car and I, now, I know this sounds silly, but I laid my hand on the hood, and I said, “Lord, if You are the great physician, You’re also the great mechanic, and I ask You, in the name of Jesus—because I was going to revival meeting—in the name of Jesus, fix my car.” I got in, turned the key. “Zooooooom”—the engine just roared. You say, “Well, that was a coincidence.” You believe what you believe; I’ll believe what I believe. But, friend, sometime the answer is direct. We ask God and God answers our prayer. Now, remember, Satan cannot keep God from answering, so he’ll try to keep you from asking. Now, he cannot, answer unless we ask. Now, that’s the first factor, the desire factor, what things soever ye desire. The desire factor is ask and express your
II. The Direction Factor

Now, the second factor is the direction factor. Seek and expect direction from God, because there are sometimes there are things that we ask God for and they're not His will. Why did He say seek? Because God sometimes wants to redirect our prayers to His will. Asking and seeking have to be linked together. Sometimes God's ways are unknown to us. Sometimes we're asking for one thing and we need to be seeking another thing, and so we keep asking and keep seeking until God directs our prayer if we're not asking for the right thing the first time.

Have you ever thanked God for unanswered prayer? It’s reported that Mrs. Billy Graham said, “I thank God that He does not answer every prayer of mine. Had He done so, I would have married the wrong man five different times.” Sometimes we ask God for things and it’s not what God wants us to have, so we have to keep seeking.

This property that we’re built on is an answer to prayer, but not because I sought it at first. We were trying to build downtown. And had we built downtown, we would have, overbuilt the area and under built our need. But we were trying to buy at least three more acres of property. Out here we have 400 acres of property. But we had 24 acres. We needed at least three more acres of, of property. And we prayed and I stained heaven, asking God for the property that we might build a worship center where we could reach people, because we were having three services on Sunday morning. I preached three times in a row then again Sunday night. Then after church they slid me under the door. And so we were praying.

I remember I was with Roland Maddox. We were walking across the parking lot. And the, and Roland said, “You know, pastor, that piece of property we’ve been trying to buy up there?” Said, “The man has just raised the price again.” Here's what I said. I can remember the exact words. I said, “Well, praise God. No two-legged man whose breath is in his nostrils is going to stop what God is doing. Just praise God. I don't understand the way, but praise You, Lord, praise You.” That man did us the best favor he could have possibly done for us by raising the price on that property.

In Orlando, asleep, or trying to sleep, God laid on my heart that we need to move this entire facility out here. It has been an incredible blessing. We asked God for one thing and we kept seeking God until God showed us what His real plan for us was.

I remember I used to pray, “O God, let Interstate #40 go through Overton Park.” Now, if you're a tree lover, I'm sorry, but that's what I prayed. “Let the interstate go through the park so that our people, who live where they live, can get to the church rather than going around through Robin Hood’s barn, wherever that is.” But I told the Lord. I explained the whole deal to Him. You know, I tried to inform Him, and then instruct Him, but I didn’t impress Him. But He heard my prayer.

When I went and told the mayor of the city what we were about to do, he said, “That’s wonderful!” He said, “You know, the money that was set aside to go through Overton Park can be used to put an interchange right there.” You see, isn’t God good? Isn’t God good? Hasn’t God been good to our church? You see, friend, sometimes the answers are direct. Sometimes the answers are different.

The Apostle Paul had a thorn in the flesh, and you read about it over there in 2 Corinthians chapter 12, verses 8 and following. And he said, “O God, take away this thorn.” Three seasons of prayer he prayed, but God said, “No, I’ve got something different for you, and I’ve got something better for you. My strength will be made perfect in your weakness. I’m going to give you a special anointing, a special power.”

So, what do we do? We ask and express our desires to God. Then we seek and experience direction from God.

III. The Determination Factor

And then, thirdly, we knock. And when we knock, we exercise determination with God. Sometimes we’re asking in the will of God. Sometimes we’re asking with specificity for what God wants to give us. But we give up too easily. To knock implies determination.

In the Greek language, and this was written, as you know, in Greek, the word is knock and keep on knocking. Knock, knock, knock upon heaven’s door. Now, I said that sometimes the answers are direct. You ask God for something; there it is! I love those kinds of answers. But sometimes the answers are different. You ask God for one thing and God in love does not give it, but He gives you something better, but different. But sometimes the answers are not direct and they’re not different—they are delayed. There seems to be some impediment, something there. We, we’ve asked God. We’ve sought God, but the door is closed. And so, God says, “Knock, knock, keep on knocking on heaven’s door.” That’s very interesting. Why would God tell us to do that? Why doesn’t God just, give us what we ask?

Well, this same Scripture—ask, seek, and knock—is repeated in Luke chapter 11. You might want to turn over to Luke chapter 11. Jesus here again is teaching on prayer. And look, if you will, in Luke chapter 11, verses 5 though 10: “And he said unto them, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go to him at midnight, and say to him, Friend, lend me three loaves—that is, three loaves of bread—for a friend of mine in his journey is come to me, and I have nothing to set before him.” Now, in the Middle East, if a friend comes to you, or you must invite him to stay there and you must feed him. That is the expected thing. “And he…” And, now, the man said, “Look, the cupboard is empty. I’ve got this friend. I’ve got to feed him something. “And, and he from within shall answer and say, trouble me not: the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise and give thee. I say unto you, though he will not rise and give him, because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity—now, just write out in your margin his persistence—he will rise and give him as many as he needeth. And I say unto you—here it is—seek, ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.”

Now, he’s not talking here about a light rattle on the doorknob. He is talking about a man banging on the door. And his friend, his neighbor said, “Will you go away! Do you know what time it is? Man, if you wake up those dogs and wake up those babies, we’re going to have some serious trouble.” You know, the houses were small. They would sometimes keep animals beneath on the first floor, and, the locks were complicated; the whole family often in one room. And he said, “Look, I can’t do this. Go away!” “I said, Go away!” “I said, how many you need?” “How… get this bread and get out of here.”

Now, why would Jesus use an illustration like that about prayer? He’s not saying that God is like an unconcerned neighbor. He’s just saying that if a neighbor will do that just because he’s being pestered, how much more will God hear us if we continue to seek, if we continue to ask, if we continue to knock?

Jesus told a story of an unjust judge. There was a widow. She had a good case. But this crooked judge would not answer. He didn’t have time for her. And, she just kept on pestering him. And notice, if you will, here in Luke chapter 18, and verse 5: “Yet, because this widow….” Well, let’s go to verse 4: “And he would not for a while: but afterward he said to himself, though I fear not God, nor regard man;” What a hard-hearted guy this was. Didn’t fear God. Had no respect for man. Listen to what he says, “Yet because this widow troubleth me, I will avenge her, lest by her continual coming she weary me. And the Lord said, Hear what the unjust judge saith. And shall not God avenge his own elect, which cry day and night unto him, through he bear long with them? I tell you that he will avenge them speedily.” Now, what’s all of this about? Is he saying that God is like an unconcerned neighbor? No! Is he saying God is like a perverted, wicked judge? No! But what He’s saying if an unconcerned neighbor will hear persistent prayer, if an unconcerned judge will hear persistent prayer, then keep on knocking. That’s taught, we see it all in the Bible.

Over there in, Matthew chapter 15 there’s a story of a, of a Canaanite woman. The Bible calls her a Syro-phoenician woman. She was from Syria and Phoenica; that is, she was a Canaanite. She had a daughter that was demon-possessed. She came to Jesus, and she said, “Jesus, I’ve got a big need. My daughter has a demon. Do something for her!” Do you know what Jesus said to her? “I haven’t come to you Canaanites. I’ve come to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. Do you think I’m going to take the children’s bread and give it to dogs?” Now, suppose Jesus talked to you that way. You’d say, “Ha, some Messiah He is. Some caring person He is, calling me a dog. Said He doesn’t care about me and my daughter. She’s demon-possessed.” You know what that woman did? She said, “That’s right, Lord. You described me perfectly. I’m a Gentile dog. But I’m a dog under Your table, and I’m going to stay there until I get a crumb from you.” Jesus’ heart broke. He wasn’t being cruel to that woman. He was trying to teach her to knock, to persist, and He said, “Woman, great is your faith. Great. You’ll have what you ask.” You see, she just continued to knock.

Elijah was a prophet of God in the Old Testament. God had shut up heaven that it would not rain. For three years it didn’t rain. The leaves were shriveled. The animals were dying. It was a judgment of God upon the land. But then Elijah and the people prayed for rain for the glory of God. Elijah went up on the top of Mount Carmel. I’ve been there many times. And he looked out and he sent his servant and said, “Go see if you see any clouds.” He went. Nothing. He prayed some more. He said, “Go again.” He went. Nothing. He prayed some more. “Go again.” He went. Nothing. On the seventh time the servant came back and said, “Well, I see a little cloud about the size of a man’s hand.” Elijah said, “There’s going to be an abundance of rain.”

We sang this morning, “Rain down, Lord, rain down.” Friend, we need to keep on praying until God rains down upon us. And here was a man who knocked and kept on knocking. And that’s what we need to do. If God doesn’t answer your prayer, just keep praying. Well, that, that brings up a question.

How long should we continue to pray? Let me tell you how long you continue to pray, how long you continue to knock. You continue to knock until you have the answer in your hand or in your heart or until God says no. If you have the answer in your hand—you got four tickets—you don’t have to keep asking. Now, you may have the answer in your heart. God says, “I have heard your prayer. Wait upon me.”

I had a deep prayer request in my life one time concerning some of my loved ones, and I tried again to tell God how to do it, but He would not let me instruct Him. But one day He said to me, “Adrian, you trust me. I’m going to take care of it. I have heard your prayer.” Now, it took a while for that prayer to come to me, but I had the answer in my heart.

Now, sometimes God will just simply say no. Why? Because He doesn’t love us? No, because He does love us! Three of God’s greatest prophets in the Bible asked God to kill them. God said no. You know, God said, “No, I’m not going to do that. That’s not what you need.” You ask. You seek. You knock. You pray until you have the answer in your hand, in your heart, until God says no. The answer may be direct. The answer may be different. The answer may be delayed. But God answers prayer.

Conclusion

And what is my desire for this dear church? That we will be a praying church. Bow your heads in prayer. O, our God, my God, our God, we join the disciples in asking You, Lord, teach us to pray. Amen.

Now, look up here. I hope you will develop the habit of asking, seeking, knocking. These are not my words. These are the words of Jesus. “Ask, it will be given to you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.” But let me put this caveat there. He’s talking to His children. Now, God may answer the prayer of an unsaved man, but He’s never promised to. These promises are to God’s children. Now, friend, I’m telling you something. Listen to me. Even if you not, not all that excited about going to heaven and missing hell, live long enough and the time will come when for God to answer your prayer will mean more to you than anything in the whole world. And you cannot ask with assurance unless you’re a child of God.

Now, if you don’t know the Lord Jesus Christ as your personal Savior, I want to invite you today to give your heart to Him, just to trust Him, to depend upon Him, to do with you and for you and through you what He said He would do. Remember that He loved you so much, He took your sin debt and paid it with His precious blood on the cross, and said, “It is finished! It is paid in full.” And then He offers you salvation if you will trust Him and receive what He did for you. When you trust Him, that moment you become a child of God. Now, you’ll be a baby Christian. You’ll have to grow. You’re not going to sprout wings and get a halo. You’ll have to grow in the grace and knowledge of Jesus. I’m still growing. I don’t want to stop growing. But you’ll grow, and the Lord will be in your heart, you’ll have fellowship with Him, and heaven will be your sure destination.

Bow your heads in prayer. If you already know the Lord, I want you to begin to pray for those round about you who may not yet know the Lord. If you do know Him, thank Him that He has saved you. And, today, if you are not sure that you’re saved, or sure that you’re not saved, I’ve got wonderful, wonderful, good news for you. Jesus can and will save you today. You might pray a prayer like this: O God, I’m a poor, lost sinner. I need to be saved and I want to be saved. Thank You for paying my sin debt with the blood of Your dear Son, Jesus. Lord Jesus, I open my heart right now like a little child. I receive You into my life. Come into my life. Forgive my sin. Cleanse me. Save me, Jesus. Amen and amen. Now, look up here.

“Pastor, did Jesus save me?” It all depends. Were you sincere? You say, “Well, I thought I was sincere. How can I know?” Here’s the way. Are you willing to make it public? “With the heart man believes unto righteousness; with the mouth confession is made unto salvation.” The faith that will not lead to confession will not lead to heaven. You don’t confess Jesus in order to be saved, but because you’ve been saved. When you believe unto righteousness, you confess with your mouth. Jesus said, “If you’re ashamed of me and of my word before this sinful and adulterous generation, I’ll be ashamed of you.” But Jesus said, “If you’ll confess me before men, I will confess you before my Father.”

Now, we’re going to sing an invitational hymn, and the ministers of our church are going to stand here at the head of each of these aisles all the way across the front to welcome those of you who’ll be coming forward. If you’re in the balcony, there’ll be someone to welcome you under that banner there in the corner, that speaks of the Lord Jesus, and this one over here. They call it Messiah. He’s your Redeemer and your Messiah. You go to one of those banners and there’ll be a friend there waiting to receive you. If you prayed and asked Christ today into your heart, you need to come down this aisle and let it be known. If you’ve already been saved and never given Him the glory, you need to come and say, “I’m, I have trusted Christ.”

Now, if you are a, if you are a Christian and have, don’t have a church membership or that you don’t attend where you, your membership is, and this is where God speaks to your heart, where you feel God working, then I invite you to come and say, “I want to place my membership here.” Now, placing membership is not a substitute for being saved. If you haven’t been saved, that comes first. And if you haven’t had believer’s baptism, we’d want to baptize you. But if you need a church home, I want you to come.

Some will be coming today and saying to the minister, “I’m trusting Jesus.” Others will be coming, saying, “I want to place my membership here.” We will receive you, rejoice with you, give you some Scripture to stand on, and seal your decision in prayer.

Let’s stand together. Bow your heads one more time.

Now, heavenly Father, we ask You to open the hearts and move the will of those who need to acknowledge You. In Jesus’ wonderful name. Amen.

Now, you step out and come as we sing.

Introduction

Would you take the Word of God, the Bible, and open to Matthew chapter 7? In a moment, we’re going to look at verses 7 and 8. But, let me ask you a question: If you could ask the Lord Jesus Christ to do anything for you, what would you ask Him to do? Would you ask Him, if you were a preacher, to help you to preach? Or, if you were a musician, would you ask Him to help you to sing? Or, if you’re a businessman, would you ask Him to help you to be a success? Or, if you’re a church leader, would you ask Him to make you a better leader? All of those are well and good, but they’re all wrapped up in one thing. The disciples said, “Lord, teach us to pray”—“teach us to pray.” (Luke 11:1)

Now, we’ve been in a series of messages called “Milestones and New Horizons,” and what I’m trying to do in these messages is to distill the things that I’ve tried to teach you for thirty-two years and to look into the future new horizons and say, “O God, let these things be true about Bellevue Baptist Church.” Today, we’re talking about a praying church. Now, don’t ask the question: “Is Bellevue Baptist Church a praying church?” Ask yourself this question: “Am I a praying Christian?” You see, the Church is nothing but a composition of all of us. So, ask yourself this question: “Am I a praying Christian?”

Now, here’s what our Lord says. Look, if you will, in verses 7 and 8—wonderful, wonderful promise: “Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.” (Matthew 7:7–8) Now, these are not the words of Adrian; they are the words of Jesus Christ—an incredible promise in the Word of God. “Ask…seek…knock.” (Matthew 7:7) Rivet those three words in your mind. Etch them upon your heart: “Ask…seek…knock.” (Matthew 7:7) Ask—that speaks of desire. Seek—that speaks of direction. Knock—that speaks of determination. Now, these are three small words, but a great door to a room of wonderful things can swing on three hinges. And, I want us to learn these words. I want us to understand that they are from Jesus and they are a promise. I don’t have a failure and you don’t have a failure but somehow it is a prayer failure. I don’t have a need and you do not have a need that proper prayer could not supply.

Prayerlessness is not only a missed opportunity; it’s a sin. Samuel said, “God forbid that I should sin against the LORD in ceasing to pray for you.” (1 Samuel 12:23) The Lord Jesus said in Luke chapter 18 and verse 1: “And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray.” (Luke 18:1) The Lord said in Mark chapter 14, verse 38: “Watch…and pray.” (Mark 14:38) The Apostle Paul said in Philippians chapter 4 and verse 6: “In every thing by prayer and supposition with thanksgiving let your requests be made unto God.” (Philippians 4:6) So, prayerlessness is really another form of wickedness. It is a life that lives so proudly that it lives independently of God. There is no substitute for prayer—not energy, not eloquence, not enthusiasm, not intention. There is no substitute for prayer. And, I believe that prayer is the greatest unused and untapped energy in the world. The reason behind our poverty is our prayerlessness—and I’m talking about spiritual poverty.

Now, listen to me. Why should we ask God to give us what He already wants to give us? Why should we tell God things that He already knows? Well, we’ve read Matthew chapter 7. Back up to Matthew chapter 6 for just a moment and look in verses 7 and 8: “But when ye pray”—these are the words of Jesus. Now listen—“But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think they shall be heard for their much speaking. Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.” (Matthew 6:7–8)

Now, why do we pray, therefore? We don’t pray to impress God. We’re not “heard for [our] much speaking.” (Matthew 6:7) You don’t have to be eloquent to pray. If an earthly child can speak to an earthly father, you can speak to your Heavenly Father. He is not impressed by your vocabulary or by your poetry. Number two: You don’t pray to inform God. God already knows what you need. “Your [Heavenly] Father [knows] what things [you] have need of, before [you] ask him.” (Matthew 6:8) Again, you don’t pray to instruct God. You’re not going to be able to tell God what to do. Prayer is not bending God’s will to fit your will. Prayer is finding the will of God and getting in on it. Well, then, why do we pray? If we don’t pray to impress God, to inform God, to instruct God, why do we pray? We pray to invite God into our lives. You see, prayer is a way God has of binding Himself to us and us to Him.

Now, if God were to meet all of our needs and we didn’t pray, we would tend to be independent of God. We would just simply say, “Ipsa facto, the needs are going to be met.” But, the Bible says that, “[We] have not, because [we] ask not.” (James 4:2) God never wants us to live independently of Him. Paul said we’re “workers together with Him.” (2 Corinthians 6:1) Now, He could do it without us; we cannot do it without Him. But, thank God, when heaven and earth come together, God allows us to pray—and we do this by abiding in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Now, there are three factors that I want to go back to: ask, seek, and knock. And, these are the keys to getting your prayers answered.

I. The Desire Factor
The first factor is what I’m going to call “the desire factor.” Ask and express desire to God. “What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them.” (Mark 11:24) God wants you to tell Him your desires—not just the big ones; the little ones. Can you think of anything that’s big to God? God is interested in you so much that the very hairs of your head are numbered. (Matthew 10:30; Luke 12:7) There’s not a sparrow that falls but what God attends the funeral. (Matthew 10:29; Luke 12:6) So, you can ask Him. Don’t get the idea that you can ask God for spiritual things but you cannot ask Him for material things, you can ask Him for sacred things but not for secular things. Can you ever imagine the Lord Jesus Christ dividing His life between the sacred and the secular? When you’re saved, every day is a holy day, every place is a sacred place. And, if you want something, ask God for it.

“Well,” you say, “what if I want what God doesn’t want me to have?” Tell God about it. Tell God, “God, I want something you don’t want me to have.” He already knows it; you’re not going to surprise Him. And, you just say, “Lord, here’s a desire in my heart, and I’m not quite certain it’s your will”—or, “I’m certain it’s not your will”—“God, if my wanter is wrong, fix my wanter.” But, bring your desires to God. Tell God what you want, and God will hear that prayer. Now, the responsibility for asking is ours. The responsibility for giving is God’s. Friend, Satan cannot keep God from answering so he’ll try to keep you from asking.

Now, here are three words also I want to lay on your heart. Sometimes the answer to prayer is direct: we ask, and God gives it. Sometimes the answer to prayer is different: we ask, and God gives us something different. Sometimes the answer to prayer is delayed: and we ask, and God wants to give us something; but He makes us wait. So, let’s think of those three words.

First of all, when we ask, we’re going to find out that many times, the answer is
Last week, Joyce and I were at the inaugural ceremonies for the president, and I wanted a seat there in the inaugural meeting—because you can’t just walk in. So, I contacted our senators’ offices, Senator Alexander and Senator Frist, and asked to make certain that I had an invitation. Well, I heard from those gentlemen, but the office said, “This is an invitation to the inaugural ceremonies, but it’s a standing area where you have to stand and you will be about a third of a mile away.” No kidding! A third of a mile! Well, friend, I’d rather stay home and watch it on television. And, I certainly didn’t want to stand out in the cold for about three hours—not that I was too good to do it; I just didn’t want to do it. And so, I asked another friend who was in charge of the inaugural events if I couldn’t get some better tickets. He said, “Yes, I’ve got better tickets for you in a seated area—you and Mrs. Rogers and your daughter and son-in-law.” So, he said, “I’ll get them over to the hotel for you.” Well, they never came. The morning of the inauguration I kept asking the concierge, “Have the tickets arrived?” He said, “No, they have not.” I was sitting in a chair there in the hotel lobby just ready to go, and I prayed, “Dear Lord, I want some good tickets.” Now, here’s what I said: I said, “Lord, I don’t deserve them. I’m no better than anybody else. I can’t say I know it’s your will. I can’t ask in the name of Jesus. I just want some tickets. And Lord, if in your grace, you could do that, I’d be most grateful.” I had just concluded the prayer when around the corner came Dr. Jim Dobson and some friends. And, Dr. Dobson and I are close friends so we chatted a little bit. He said, “What are you doing?” I said, “I’m waiting on that man to bring the tickets, but he hasn’t brought them.” A man who was part of the entourage with Dr. Dobson said, “I have some tickets.” I said, “I’ll need four.” He said, “I have four tickets—one, two, three, four.” Friend, they were the best seats in the house. I wasn’t a third of a mile away; I was as close as I am to you on the back row from the inaugural service, sitting up there in a folded chair on the concrete. I didn’t deserve that. I’m no better than anybody else. But, you know, God sometimes just knows the desire of our heart.

And, He delights to give us things like that. You ask, and you receive, and the answer is direct. And you can’t quibble about the answer being direct. God is interested in what sometimes we call frivolous things.

Down in Florida I went fishing. And, I’d not been fishing for a long time, and it looked like it would be another long time before I would go fishing. I was out on a sandbar there in the Indian River lagoon there. And, you know, I love to fish in saltwater. Freshwater’s all right, but we have something better than cow ponds down there to fish in. And, I was out there, you know, by myself, wading around about knee-deep in the water on a sandbar with my rod and mirror lure, talking to the Lord Jesus. I said, “Lord, thank you for letting me be out here. Thank you for the beauty of this day. Thank you for the sunshine. Thank you for the water. Thank you for all of it. But Lord, I want to catch a fish.” And, I’d been fishing for a long time, and I hadn’t caught a fish. “Now Lord, I don’t deserve it. I can’t demand it. I can’t say, ‘In Jesus’ name.’ I just want it.” So, I said, “Lord, I want you to help me to catch a big trout.”

Within a minute or two, I dropped my mirror lure down in a deep hole there in the sandbar, and as I was bringing it up, I saw a big yellowmouth like that coming out of the water. It took that lure, and we wrestled all over the sandbar. And, I landed him, and he was a trophy trout, one they call a “button trout”—a big one, just like I asked God for. I said, “Lord, that’s wonderful. I want another one,” and I talked again. And, I cast, and in a very short time I had another one on the line, another big one—not as big as the first one, but, you know, a king-sized one. And, I thanked the Lord for that. I didn’t ask Him for any more, and I didn’t catch any more.

Now, you can say that was a coincidence. Well, you can believe what you want. But, I asked, and I received.

I was going to a revival meeting, driving my automobile across the state of Florida. And, I preached Sunday morning at Merritt Island. I was going over to Wauchula, Florida, to preach that evening. When I was right out in the middle of nowhere, my Ford stopped running. It just stopped. I was doing about sixty-five miles an hour, and the engine stopped. It didn’t sputter; it just stopped. I rolled to a stop, and I tried to start the engine. It wouldn’t start. I got out and did what everybody does: I opened the hood and looked in. There was the engine. It didn’t fall out. I’m not a mechanic. But, I knew I had a revival meeting I needed to get to. This time I prayed this way: I said, “Lord Jesus, if you’re the Great Physician, you’re also the Great Mechanic. Now, my battery is almost dead. I’ve tried to crank this automobile. It will not start.” I put my hand on the hood, and I said, “Lord Jesus, in your holy name, fix this car.” I got in and turned the key, and it went zooooooom! And, the engine began to run, and it ran smoothly. I’ve never had it back in the shop.

Now, you can say what you want. You can say that was a coincidence. You have your opinion. But, the Bible says, “Ask, and [you will] receive.” (John 16:24) God just gives us an answer to prayer, sometimes, immediately.

I awakened in the middle of the night. I had an excruciating pain in my ear. I don’t know what caused it. But, I put my hand on my ear, and I said, “Lord Jesus, please heal me.” Immediately, the pain left.

You say, “Well, just a coincidence.” Again, you have your ideas, and I have mine. But, many times we just simply ask and we receive.
II. The Direction Factor

But, sometimes we ask and we don’t receive. What do we do then? We seek so we can find. So, the next factor is what I want to call “the direction factor”: seek, and expect direction from God. Now, if you don’t have the desire of your heart, and you ask God for something and you don’t get it, you have to ask yourself, “Well, why didn’t I get it? Why didn’t God do for me what I asked Him to do? Well, maybe I was asking for the wrong thing.” James said, “Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss.” (James 4:3) God is too good to give us the wrong thing; and so, we pray until God directs us. We expect direction from God.

The Apostle Paul, who was a better Christian than anybody in this building, had a thorn in the flesh, and he asked God to remove his thorn. God didn’t do it immediately like He did my earache. He prayed once—one session of prayer—and God didn’t answer his prayer. He prayed another session of prayer, and God didn’t answer his prayer. He prayed the third time, and God did not answer his prayer. But, God gave him an answer, but God did not answer and give him what he asked for (that the thorn would be removed). God said, “Paul, I’ve got a better plan for you. I’m going to give you extraordinary power. I’m going to let my strength rest upon you.” Paul said, “Well, praise the Lord!” He didn’t say, “What can’t be cured must be endured.” He said, “It will be enjoyed.” He said, “I take pleasure in what God has done for me.” (2 Corinthians 12:7–9) Why, you see, Paul was seeking.

Now, you may be sincere in your prayer, but God may not be wanting to give you that exact thing that you’re asking God for because He has something better for you. I think it was Mrs. Billy Graham who said, “If God had answered every prayer of mine, I would have married the wrong man on five different occasions.” And, some of you girls praying for a man had better be careful. You’d better say, “Lord, I want to seek your will. I don’t want to just go ahead of you.”

This church used to be located in Midtown. It’s why we call it “Bellevue.” It was on Bellevue Boulevard. And, we just outgrew our skin. The church just kept growing and growing and growing. We had an auditorium. It was about half filled, and we filled it up. Then we started another service, and we filled that one up. So, we started a third service, and I was preaching at 8, 9:30, and 11, and then again Sunday night. When I got finished preaching, they just slid me under the door Sunday night. I was whipped. We needed to grow, and we were bound—root-bound. There was no way that our oak could grow so we decided we’d need to build. Well, we had purchased, up until this time, about twenty-four acres of property. We needed at least three more. And, we set out to buy that property. And friend, we ran into a wall—a brick wall. Some people did not want to sell. And, the ones who did sell to us wanted exorbitant prices. And so, we were working trying to buy some property. Our committee—good, godly committee—was working with these people.

I remember one time walking across the parking lot with Brother Roland Maddox. He said, “Pastor, you know that piece of property we have been negotiating for? The man just raised the price again.” It was already exorbitant. I can tell you exactly what I said: I said, “Well, praise God! No two-legged man whose breath is in his nostrils is going to stop what God is doing.” I didn’t know how He was going to do it, but I just knew that God was with us and we’d been praying. You know the story.

I went to Florida to look at some churches. In the middle of the night, God spoke to my heart and said, “Adrian, you need to move that facility out east.” Now friend, we were trying to buy three acres. We now have four hundred acres of property. Now, we’ve given some to the seminary and some to Bellevue Woods, but God has given us an incredibly beautiful, significant piece of property. You see, as we were seeking God, God said, “Now, this is what you’re asking for, but over here is what you need.” And, God has poured blessing upon blessing upon blessing upon blessing on us in this new location. How I praise Him for it!

I used to tell God how He needed to let the Interstate go through Overton Park. You know, you can go from one coast to the other coast on the Interstate, but when you get to Overton Park in Memphis, you have to go around. It’s a dogleg. Now, you have to just kind of go around Robin Hood’s barn. You just go around, either on one leg or the other, but you can’t go straight through on Interstate 40. Well, I used to tell God, “God, we need the Interstate to go through Overton Park.” Now, if you’re an environmentalist and a tree hugger, I’m just going to confess to you I still prayed that. I said, “Lord, I want to bring our people from out east who are trying to come here so they can get to Bellevue.” And, I explained it to God. I tried to inform God. Then I kind of instructed God. But, nothing happened.

When we purchased the property out here and I told the mayor about it, he said, “That’s wonderful.” He said, “You know, the money that had been designated to put the Interstate through Overton Park—we can use to put an interchange out where you are.” Isn’t that amazing? That’s amazing. Here I was asking God for one thing; and God didn’t give me what I asked for, but He gave me something so better. And now, you can tell anybody, “You want to come to Bellevue Baptist Church? Get on Interstate 40 and just get off at Exit 15. We’re right there.”

Now friend, that’s an answer to prayer. God doesn’t always give us what we ask, but God gives us something different and God gives us something better.

III. The Determination Factor
So, when you pray, remember the desire factor: you ask and express your desire to God. Then, remember the direction factor: you seek and expect direction from God. Now, here’s the third factor, and this is a very important factor—and it’s what I want to call “the determination factor”: you knock and exercise determination with God. Now, sometimes you ask, and God’s answer is direct. Tom, sometimes you seek, and God’s answer is different. And, sometimes you knock, and God’s answer is delayed—God wants to answer the prayer, but God delays to answer the prayer. There are some barriers that are in front. There are some closed doors that have to be answered by persistent prayer.

Now, He says, “Ask…seek, and…knock,” (Matthew 7:7) and these are in the present tense, meaning, “Keep on asking. Keep on seeking. Keep on knocking. Don’t pray and then quit.” Luke 18:1: “And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint.” (Luke 18:1)

Now, this scripture that I gave you from Matthew chapter 7, this promise is repeated in Luke chapter 11 with a great illustration. So, you might want to turn to Luke chapter 11 and begin in verse 5: “And he said unto them”—Jesus, now, is speaking—“And he said unto them, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go to him at midnight, and say to him, Friend, lend me three loaves; For a friend of mine in his journey is come to me, and I have nothing to set before him? And he from within shall answer and say, Trouble me not: the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed;; I cannot rise and give thee. I say unto you”—now, Jesus is speaking—“Though he will not rise and give him, because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity”—just write out in your margin “his persistence”; that’s what the word means—“he will rise and give him as many as he needeth. And I say unto you”—now, here’s our text again—“Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.” (Luke 11:5–10)

Now, here Jesus is using the illustration of knocking. In the Middle East, there are no Motel 6’s, or Holiday Inns, or whatever. You’re traveling; you have a friend, you stop by, and he’s going to put you up—he’s obligated to do it. It would be unthinkable that he wouldn’t do it—and to feed you. Now, this man has an unexpected guest, and he doesn’t have anything in the cupboard. He’s embarrassed. He goes to his next-door neighbor in the middle of the night and knocks on the door. Nobody answers. “Who is it?” “It’s John.” “What do you want at this time of night?” “I need three loaves of bread.” “Man, are you crazy? Do you know what time it is? Go away.” “I need some bread.” “Listen, mister, it’s late. I’m already in bed. I’ve got the covers up over me. The children are with me in bed. If you wake up that baby or you start the dogs to barking, there’s going to be real trouble. Go away!” “What do you want?” “I told you what I want. I’ve got to have three loaves of bread.” He said, “Oh, my! Wait just a moment.” And, he gets up, and he works with that complicated lock; and he opens the door and says, “Now, here. Take this bread and get out of here. I need to get some sleep.”

Now, is Jesus saying that God is like that neighbor? No. You missed the point altogether. What Jesus is saying is if a man like that, because of persistence, will give his friend bread, how much more will your Heavenly Father answer you if you persist? Now, He’s not saying that God is like a careless, unconcerned neighbor, but what He is saying is that we need to learn to persist. That’s the idea there. We need to knock and keep on knocking. Why? God wants us to search for Him with all of our heart. Jeremiah chapter 29, verses 12 and 13: “Then shall ye call upon me, and ye shall go and pray unto me, and I will hearken unto you. And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart.” (Jeremiah 29:12–13) You see, God wants us to pray not only in His will, but God wants us to pray with all of our heart.

Jesus told the story of a widow. She didn’t have anybody to stand up for her. And, somebody had cheated her financially, and she didn’t have anything to live on apart from that. So, she went to the judge and said, “Judge, I want you to rectify this matter.” The judge said, “Go away. I’m not interested in this.” Jesus said the judge didn’t fear God or man. The woman came again and said to Mr. Judge, “You need to help me. I don’t have any other help.” The judge said, “I’m not interested in you. Go away.” But, she kept coming over and over and over again. And, Jesus said, “Finally, the judge said, ‘Lest this woman weary me, I’m going to adjudicate her case in the right way.’” (Luke 18:1–6) Now, was Jesus saying that God is like an unjust judge? No. Again, what He is saying is there is a principle of persistence. It works in the world. It works in the neighborhood, and it works in the kingdom of heaven. We have to persist with God.

There was a story in the Bible about a woman who was a Canaanite woman. The Bible calls her a Syrophoenician woman. She had a daughter that was demon-possessed. She heard that Jesus was in the neighborhood. She thought this was her opportunity. She comes to Jesus, falls down in front of Him, and says, “Lord, have mercy upon my daughter. She’s possessed with a devil.” You know what Jesus said to her? “Look, I haven’t come to you Canaanites. I’ve come to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. Do you think that I’m going to take the children’s bread and give it to dogs?” You would think the woman would say, “Well, some Messiah He is! Some loving man He is! I’ve never been treated so rudely in my life!” You’d think she’d turn and go away. But you know what she said? She said, “You’re right, Lord. That’s what I am. I’m a Gentile dog.” But, she said, “Lord, even the dogs get the crumbs that fall from the table, and I am under your table. And, if I’m a dog, I’m your dog, and I’m under your table.” Jesus’ heart broke. Now, He wasn’t being cruel to that woman; He was trying to teach her to persist in prayer. And, He said, “O woman, great is [your] faith.” (Matthew 15:28) And, that woman had her prayer answered and her darling daughter delivered from demons. (Matthew 15:21–28; Mark 7:24–30)

Jacob was out lonely at night seeking peace, seeking meaning to life, and the Bible says that an angel of the Lord pounced him. Now, can you imagine being asleep out in the wilderness and getting pounced by an angel? This angel, the angel of the Lord, was really the angel Jehovah, which was Jesus, a preincarnate Jesus. And, the Bible says that they wrestled all night. Now, can you imagine a man wrestling with an angel—the angel of Jehovah? And, the angel says to Jacob, “Let me go.” (Genesis 32:26) Well, good night! He could get away any time he wanted to. That fight was fixed. And, Jacob said, “I will not let thee go, [until you] bless me.” (Genesis 32:26) And, the Lord says, “Oh, that’s great. You prevailed with God. I’m going to give you a new name, “Israel,” because you have become a prince to prevail with God.” (Genesis 32:24–30)

Sometimes you have to ask. Sometimes you have to seek. Sometimes you have to knock and keep on knocking because God does business with those that mean business. Your answer may be direct. Your answer may be different. Your answer may be delayed.

I had a personal need in my life. I told the Lord about it. I stained heaven with my prayers, but the answer didn’t come. I felt definitely I was praying in the will of God. I prayed in the name of Jesus. But, the answer didn’t come. And, one day God spoke to me, and He said, “Adrian, I’ve heard your prayer. Your prayer is answered. Wait upon me.” And, I did, and I cannot explain to you how gloriously wonderful—how gloriously wonderful—God answered that prayer.

What does God want for Bellevue Baptist Church? God wants our church to be a praying church. And, for our church to be a praying church, you’ve got to be a praying person. Question: When do you stop knocking? When do you stop seeking? When do you stop asking? When you have the answer either in your hand or in your heart—you know it’s done—or when God says, “No.” Now, God may say “no” because He loves you too much to give you what you’re asking for. Jonah asked God to kill him. Moses asked God to kill him. Elijah asked God to kill him. God said, “I’m not going to do it. You don’t know what you’re asking for.” You pray until you have the answer in your hand, or you have the answer in your heart, or until God says, “No.” If God says, “No,” praise Him; He knows what He’s doing. “Your [heavenly] Father [knows] what things [you] have need of, before [you] ask him.” (Matthew 6:8)

Conclusion
Bow your heads in prayer, and I want you to pray this prayer: “Lord, teach me to pray.” Pray about your prayer life. Now, these are the words of Jesus: “Ask…it [will] be given [to] you; seek, [you’ll] find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.” (Matthew 7:7) Now, while heads are bowed, let me say that this is a promise to God’s children. And, if you’re not a child of God, God may hear your prayer sometimes, but He’s not obligated to; He hasn’t promised to. You can only pray in Jesus’ name when you’re a child of God.

Would you like to know the Lord personally? Understand that you’re a poor, lost sinner. Understand that Jesus paid your sin debt with His shed blood on the cross. Understand that salvation comes by faith. You put your faith where God has put your sins: on Jesus. The Bible says, “Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and [you will] be saved.” (Acts 16:31) Pray like this: “O Lord, I’m a poor, lost sinner. I need to be saved, and I want to be saved. Jesus, you died to save me and promised to save me if I would trust you. I do trust you right now, this moment. Come into my heart. Forgive my sin. Cleanse me. Save me. And, begin now to make me the person you want me to be. In your name I pray, my Lord and Savior. Amen.”

Introduction
Would you take your Bibles and turn with me, please, to Matthew 7:7—Matthew 7:7. I want us to think tonight on this subject: “Prayer: The Unused Resource.” Jesus said, “Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.” (Matthew 7:7–8) We’re going to be thinking again tonight on the subject of prayer. And I don’t know what these messages on prayer are doing for you, but they’re doing a lot for me. And God has been encouraging my heart more and more and inclining my heart more and more to this matter of prayer. And there is a divine dissatisfaction in my heart with my present prayer life and a keen, wonderful anticipation in my heart for the victories that will yet be mine, and yours, and ours as we pray together.

I really, sincerely believe that the greatest untapped resource in the world is not the fact that we have not yet ultimately harnessed electricity as perhaps we could. Benjamin Franklin, when he saw that electricity up there in the sky and forked lightning flashing across the bosom of the sky, thought, “That is awesome power! If some way we could harness it!” And you remember he flew that kite with the key attached to it, thinking somehow that that there must be power up there that we could harness. And when I think of Benjamin Franklin doing that, when I look at a congregation like this of between two and three thousand persons, I think, “Oh my! The untapped resources of prayer that there are in this place if our people were mobilized to pray!”

We think of the power of the atom—and awesome and mighty is the power of the atom—and we think of all of the atomic resources that are yet ours to be discovered in the power of the mighty atom. Or, perhaps the surging oceans: Some people are saying that the ocean is an untapped resource as the waves come in and out and as the tides move in and out, that there’s some mighty power there—some mechanical genius can tap that power. And that is true. There’s power in all of these things: in electricity, in the atom, in the ocean, and so many other things perhaps we’ve never even dreamed of or thought of. But I am confident tonight that the greatest untapped resource and the greatest untapped power in the world really is still just prayer.

Wasn’t it Archimedes who said, “If you will give me a lever long enough, and you will allow me to place a fulcrum outside this world—give me a fulcrum to rest it on and the lever long enough—I can move the world”? And that’s true. That’s a principle of physics: that if you get up a lever long enough and can place a fulcrum somewhere outside the world, a man could move this entire world with his little pinky. That’s all he’d have to do is just lay it on that lever, and therefore he could move the entire world. It’s just a principle of power. But I want to tell you that the fulcrum is the Word of God, and the lever is prayer; and with it not only can we move this world; we can move heaven and hell, as well, if we learn how to pray. We can move heaven by prayer. It is a mighty untapped resource.

A. Prayer Is a Resource in a Time of Need

Now, whatever you need, dear friend, you’re going to find that need met through prayer. If you have a personal need—that is, you need some resource in your life—James said in James 4:2 that “we have not, because we ask not.” (James 4:2) Now I want to say, having said that, that if you need something, you ought to ask God for it. But that does not mean that prayer is a substitute for work. Now, when we pray for something, we correspondingly ought to work for the thing for which we have prayed, and we ought to cooperate with heaven. You see, divine grace and human cooperation... and responsibility work together. Now we’ve even sloganized it—that “God helps those who help themselves.” Now you may respond against that and think that is carnal wisdom because that verse or that little slogan—that little proverb—is not found in the Bible. But I believe it is found incipiently in the Bible—all over the Bible. God helps those who help themselves.

Let me give you an example. For example, Jesus taught us to pray in the Sermon on the Mount, “Give us this day our daily bread.” (Matthew 6:11) We’re to pray and ask God for bread. That’s a wonderful promise. Thank God for it. But the Bible also says in 2 Thessalonians 3:10, “If a man will not work”—what?—“neither should he eat,” right? (2 Thessalonians 3:10) So I can sit around on my fist, and lean back on my thumb, and say, “God, give me today my daily bread.” And if I’m too rotten lazy to go out and work, I have no right to expect God to give me today my daily bread. And so, prayer is not a substitute for work, but neither is work a substitute for prayer.

A person says, “O God, I want you to make me a strong Christian.” Well, wonderful! That’s a good prayer. But if you say that you want God to make you a strong Christian, then you ought to say amen with church membership and Bible study, and submit yourself to the church and the spiritual means of grace and power that God has put at your disposal. People sitting around saying, “God, teach me the Bible. God, help me to understand. God, help me to be a strong Christian,” and you’re not even a member of a Bible study class, and you’re not faithful to your church, you want God to answer that prayer? You’d better say, amen with your cooperation. You say, “Lord, save the lost. Lord, save the world. Lord, save my neighbor. Lord, save my wife, my husband, my children.” All right, that’s fine; that’s a good prayer. But you’d better say amen with your money. You say, “Lord, save the world.” You’d better be a tither and give beyond the tithe. You say, “Lord, save my lost ones.” You’d better say, “My loved ones who are lost,” you’d better say amen with your witness, and you’d better be willing to be a part of that prayer. I believe it is sheer religious hypocrisy to be praying for someone that you’re not willing to witness to. Hypocrisy: asking God to do something that you’re not willing to participate in!

One time Dwight L. Moody was asked to pray for a preacher who was sick. Moody said, “I’m not going to do it.” They said, “What? You’re not going to pray for your friend who is sick?” He said, “No.” He said, “He does the work of ten men and eats everything in sight, and I’m not going to pray for him until he repents for God to heal him.”

I mean, we’re praying, “Lord, give me health,” and we break the laws of health. We think God is somehow going to give us a license to steal; that is, that we’re going to be able to break God’s laws. We don’t cooperate with God about the matter of health, and still we ask God to give us health. You ask God for a job: Fine! Wonderful! But you’d better read the want ads, and you’d better get out and knock on doors. You’re sitting around saying, “Well, I don’t have a job. I prayed. God didn’t give me a job.” Get out! Get to work! Get busy! You pray for a wife, some of you guys: “O God, I need a wife.” Well, start shaving. I mean, some woman is not going to come knock on your door and say, “Hello, I’m your wife. God sent me.” Now we have not, because we ask not.” That’s true; but, you see, prayer is not a substitute for cooperating with God.

I want to give you back again that scripture: “Give us this day our daily bread.” (Matthew 6:11) “If [a man will] not work, neither should he eat.” (2 Thessalonians 3:10)

You see, prayer and work go together.

I heard about a man one time who was out with his servant, the man who worked for him. They were out in a rowboat, the man and his boss. And the boss was not all that much of a Christian, but his servant was supposed to be a deep Christian. And a terrible storm came up that was about to sink the boat. And so this man, who was not so wise in the ways of the Lord, looked to his servant and said, “Sam, we’re in a predicament. It looks like our boat’s going to go under. And I want to ask you a question: Do you think we ought to pray, or do you think we ought to row?” Sam said, “Boss, let’s mix them. Let’s pray and row.”

And that’s exactly what we ought to do: We ought to pray as though it all depended upon God; we ought to work as though it all depended upon us. But when you have a need, come to God and ask Him for it.

B. Prayer Is a Resource in a Time of Temptation

And prayer is the resource in time of need. Prayer is the resource in time of temptation. I spoke to a young man this week, and he said, “I love God in my heart, but I have a problem of lust.” And he said, “It’s almost uncontrollable. I don’t know how I’m going to be able to control this fire that burns in me. What am I going to do?” Well, I want to tell you, dear friend, that Jesus said in Luke 22:46, “Rise and pray, lest ye enter into temptation”—“Rise and pray.” (Luke 22:46) There’s no way that a young man can live in this sex-saturated society unless he spends time on his knees and stays clean and pure before God. Friend, prayer in the time of temptation is going to keep us clean and pure.

C. Prayer Is a Resource in a Time of Discouragement

Some of you are discouraged. You’ve got problems, and you’ve got burdens, but prayer is the resource in time of discouragement. The Bible says in Philippians 4:6, “Be careful for nothing;”—that is, “Don’t worry about anything”—“but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep”—literally, “shall guard”—“your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus.” (Philippians 4:6–7)

What a friend we have in Jesus,
All our sins and grieves to bear!
What a privilege to carry
Everything to God in prayer!
O what peace we often forfeit,
O what needless pain we bear,
All because we do not carry
Everything to God in prayer.

—Joseph M. Scriven

You want to win the lost to Jesus? Friend, pray—pray! You say, “Can we pray for the lost?” Not only can we, but must we. Paul said, “Brethren, my heart’s desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved.” (Romans 10:1) We need to intercede for our lost. You have loved ones that are lost. Soak them in prayer. Saturate them in prayer.

Monica was the mother of Augustine. We know him today as St. Augustine. But he was a wild and wicked young man. This was his testimony. He said, concerning his sin, “But in spite of all of the floods of tears, at sixteen years of age I took a concubine.” That is, his mother had been praying for him with tears, but he said, “When I was sixteen, I took a concubine.” That was the old-fashioned way of saying, “I moved in with a girl”: “I took a concubine. And when I was less than twenty, I was the father of an illegitimate child.” Now this is the man that we know as St. Augustine, living in a state of non-marriage when he was sixteen; his mother, a godly woman. When he was twenty he had an illegitimate child—“but at the floods of my mother’s tears continued. And then one day, after hearing the mighty Ambrose preach, the mighty conviction fell while Monica still prayed. I fell under a fig tree and confessed my sins to God, and I opened the book and there was the Word, not in revelry, not in envy and strife, but, ‘Put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof.’” (Romans 13:14) And Augustine was born of God and has blessed the entire world.

Why? Because he had a mother who prayed and prayed and prayed with tears, and would not stop praying. I’m telling you that prayer is a mighty untapped resource.

Now, if we’re going to pray therefore, and tap this resource, what must we do, and how shall we do it? I want to give you some suggestions, and these are simple things. This is not a profound sermon, but it is profoundly important. And the things that I have to say to you are very true, so in that sense, it will be profound.

I. Learn to Pray About All of Your Life
The very first thing I want to say to you is develop the habit about praying concerning all of your life. Don’t just divide things up into the sacred and the secular, and you pray about the sacred, but you don’t pray about the secular. Don’t divide things up into the big things and the little things as to where you pray about the big things, but you do not pray about the little things. Remember the verse that I’ve already given you in Philippians 4:6? “Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication...let your requests be made known unto God.” (Philippians 4:6)

Now, friend, if you desire something, you have every right to pray for it. Mark 11:24: “Therefore I say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them.” (Mark 11:24) Anything—anything—that you have a right to want, you have a right to pray for. Did that get into your heart? Anything—that you have a right to want you have a right to pray for. It is a sin to want anything that you can’t ask God for. And if there’s something that you can’t pray about, that’s a pretty good test you have no business doing it. For example, it would be hard to pray for a fifth of Jack Daniels, wouldn’t it? Sure! I mean, it would be hard to pray that God would give you a ticket to a rock concert, see? Anything—anything—that you have a right to want, you have a right to pray about. So you pray about all things: the material things and the spiritual things, the great matters and the little matters.

As a matter of fact, if you want something, and you know that God doesn’t want you to have it, tell God about that, too. Ask Him to fix your wanter. You can even pray about wanting the wrong things. You might as well tell Him about it; He already knows it. I mean, don’t try to hide it from Him. Just come to God and tell Him, “Lord, I want this, and it’s wrong.” You can even pray about the things that you want that are wrong and ask God to deal with that desire in your heart. Learn to pray about all matters in your life.

Now you say, “Well, God’s not interested in those little things.” Well, friend, can you imagine anything that’s big to God? Even the things that are big to you are little to Him. You’ve never really come to God with anything that’s not a little thing, when you really think about it from His viewpoint. So don’t get all concerned about whether it’s too big or too little. God is a God of infinite strength and infinite knowledge. And the same sun up there in the sky that holds the mighty planets in orbit ripens a little bunch of grapes like it had nothing else to do; and the same God that runs this mighty universe is concerned as to whether or not you can thread that needle. He knows about you. He knows not a hair in your head falls to the ground but what He knows about it. “The very hairs of your head are all numbered.” (Matthew 10:30; Luke 12:7) The little sparrow—His eye is on the sparrow. (Matthew 10:29; Luke 12:6) Learn to pray about everything. “Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God.” (Philippians 4:6) If you have a desire in your heart, if you want it, it’s all right to ask God to help you to have it.
II. Learn to Pray in the Will of God

Now, the second thing: Learn to pray in the will of God. I want you to turn with me, if you will, to 1 John 5:14. And this is a scripture that I’m certain that all of us are familiar with, but certainly we need to read it again: “And this is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask any thing according to his will, he heareth us: and if we know that he hear us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of him.” (1 John 5:14–15)

Now, successful praying is for those who love the Lord, who are those who are surrendered to His will. Prayer is not some way to change God’s mind. What I mean by that is this: that while prayer moves the heart of God, and while prayer motivates God to do things He would not do unless you pray, prayer is not some way of talking God into doing what He does not want to do. Prayer is not bending God’s will to fit your will; prayer is finding the will of God and surrendering to it.

You see, there is a principle. Down in the Atlantic Ocean, off the coast of Florida, there’s a place out there in the ocean they call the Devil’s Triangle or the Bermuda Triangle, and there’s all kind of folklore about planes and ships that fly over that area or sail into that area that are forever lost and immobilized, and so forth. Well, that is what they call it the Bermuda Triangle or the Devil’s Triangle. I want to give you the divine triangle of prayer. The Bible says, “Of him, and through him, and to him, are all things.” (Romans 11:36) Of Him: Our prayer starts from heaven. Through Him: We pray in the name of Jesus. To Him—are all things. That’s the divine triangle. And, by the way, I don’t want to say too much on this, because I’m working on a sermon on it, and I don’t want to preempt it and just eat the heart of that message; but what I’m trying to say is, dear friend, that the prayer that gets to heaven is the prayer that starts in heaven. “Of him, and through him, and to him, are all things.” And the way to pray in the will of God is to learn the truth of that divine triangle, that we know the will of God.

Well, how can I know the will of God? How can I know what God wants me to have? Well, I must spend time with God. I don’t run into God’s presence with a shopping list and expect to have my prayers answered if I’ve not been spending time with God. Didn’t Jesus say in John 15:7, “If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you”? “If ye abide in me”—to abide in Jesus. (John 15:7)

He’s already used the illustration of the branch and the vine: “I am the vine, ye are the branches.” (John 15:5) Now, what does a branch do to abide in the vine? Not only is there union—that is, the branch is attached to the vine—but there is communion. That’s what it means to abide. The branch receives its life, its strength, its sustenance from the vine. Now Jesus said, “If ye abide in me”—that is, if you’re saved; but more than union, communion—“and [I] abide in you”—“my words abide in you”—“ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.” (John 15:7) Now to abide in the Lord means to have time alone with Him.

Do you like to be around a person who does all of the talking? You know, somebody says an egotist is somebody who talks about himself so much that you don’t have time to talk about yourself. There are people like that, and they’re not very pleasant people to be around. As a matter of fact, if you want people to think you’re a wonderful conversationalist, don’t say much; just listen. Pay attention. nod your head. Say, “That’s right,” or, “How wonderful!” or, “Tell me more.” And they’ll say, “That’s the most interesting person I ever spoke with.” You won’t be saying much at all; you’ll just be listening. That’s true. And what the world needs is more sympathetic ears. I don’t want to digress on that but to say that we need to let God speak to us, not just run into His presence and say, “Listen, Lord: Your servant speaks,” but, “Speak, Lord: Your servant listens.”

And we need not only to listen to God, but we need to love His Word. “If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you…” You remember what the psalmist said concerning that man who’s like a tree planted by the rivers of water? The Bible says, “His delight is in the law of the LORD; and in his law doth he meditate day and night. And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper.” (Psalm 1:2–3) Why? Because God’s Word is in him. He knows the will of God. He knows the ways of God, and he’s able to pray, therefore, in the will of God. And so, learn to pray about all of life. Learn to pray in the will of God.

You know, it’s so amazing when God just sort of tells you what to pray. I one time had an experience when Joyce and I lived at Merritt Island. We’d gone out to lunch and I took my billfold out to pay for the lunch. And, evidently, I left my billfold on the counter somewhere, because when I came home, after a while, I reached back to my hip pocket where the billfold was, and it wasn’t there. So you know what you do: You retrace your steps. Just think: “Now, what did I do? Where could it be?” I said, “Lord, help me to find that billfold.” I had in it credit cards. I had in it a driver’s license. I had in it important papers. I had in it an old Roman coin that a little fellow who loved me had given me. He was a coin collector, and he said, “Pastor, this coin dates back to Bible times.” It was a Roman coin. It was in there. And I had a few dollars in there—three or four dollars. And that was the billfold.

And so I went back to the restaurant. They said, “No sir, we haven’t seen it,” and so forth. I don’t know who got it or who’d seen it or what. I never have found that out. But I thought about it, and I pondered on it, and I wondered, and I worried, and I thought. And then I can just remember the spot when I was driving along there on North Tropical Trail in Merritt Island where I said to God, “God, I want you to forgive me. I’ve been more concerned about a lost billfold than I have a lost soul. And I’m sorry, God, about that. I commit this matter to you, and I refuse to worry about it anymore. I just commit it to you. Thank you, Lord.”

That evening just before I went to sleep, I had a strange impulse. I never had one like it before or since. But the Lord said, “Adrian, I want you to ask something of me.” Now He didn’t say it in audible words, but I felt this impulse in my heart. He said, “I want you to ask me to show you where that billfold is, and I want you to ask me to show you in a dream.” Now, friend, I don’t take a lot of stock in people’s dreams. One of the drawbacks of being a pastor is that people frequently come to you and say, “I dreamed thus and such. What do you think it meant?” And, generally, they’re kind of flaky people that ask you that—not always, in case you ask me. But people are coming to you, you know, and they say, “Well, I had a dream. What do you think that dream meant?” And, you know, I don’t put a lot of stock in dreams and visions and ecstasies. And so this was strange for me that I would feel this impulse. But I felt a distinct impulse in my heart to pray this, and I prayed it—prayed it out loud, even verbalized it: “Lord, I want you to show me in a dream where my billfold is. Thank you. Amen,” just before I went to sleep.

I dreamed about that billfold in my dream. I had a dream or a vision—I don’t know what. But in the middle of the night, while I was asleep, I saw my billfold. It was in a mailbox: one of those big mailboxes, the blue kind with the oval top that says, “US Mail” on the side. And I could see it. In my dream, I was like Superman. I had X-ray vision, and I could see right through that mailbox. I could see my billfold in that mailbox. I could see it was open like this, leaning up against the side of the mailbox. I could see right through the billfold. I could see the Roman coin in there. I could see the cards. And I could see there was no money in it, lying up against the side of the mailbox, right on through the inside of that mailbox.

I awakened the next morning and went to my office. The fist call I had was from the postmaster. He said, “Mr. Rogers, we have your billfold.” I said, “Don’t you tell me; I’ll tell you: It was in a mailbox.” He said, “That’s right.” I said, “Don’t you tell me; I’ll tell you: There’s no money in it.” He said, “That’s right.” But I said, “The credit cards are in it.” “That’s right.” “And there’s an old Roman coin in it.” He said, “That’s right. You may come and pick it up.”

Now, friend, I wish that I could give you a lot of stories like that about how definitely God has answered my prayer. And to me that was nothing beyond the miraculous, but the important thing about that prayer to me is this: that I believe that God the Holy Spirit dictated that prayer. I believe I would never even have thought to ask God to do something like that. But I do believe that the prayer that gets to heaven is the prayer that starts in heaven.

Now that’s a dramatic answer to prayer. I believe it was a specific answer to prayer.
But I do believe that we need to pray in the will of God. Now I believe that God every now and then so dramatically and so specifically and so intricately answers a prayer just to give us that little extra push, that little extra identification of courage to help us to pray. And I really believe if I lived closer to the Lord, there would be more things like that happening in my life, and in your life, and in our lives, as God supernaturally, marvelously, wondrously, answers prayer, as we find that divine triangle: “For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things.” (Romans 11:36) Now the important thing is not that I got the billfold back, but the important thing is that I saw there is a God in heaven who is able to answer prayers so specifically, so clearly, so plainly, there can be no ifs, ands, and buts about the fact that God has done it.

III. Learn to Pray in Faith

Now we’re to pray in the will of God. Now we’re to pray in faith. Not only should we make a habit of praying about everything; not only should we seek to know the will of God when we pray; but when we pray, we must pray in faith. Now I want you to turn to Hebrews 11:6 with me for a moment. Now the Bible says, “But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him.” (Hebrews 11:6) Now this verse tells us two things, primarily. Number one: By faith man gives God pleasure. “Without faith it is impossible to please him.” If you want to please God, the best way to please God is to believe God. By faith man gives God pleasure. Now, just turn it around: Through faith God gives man treasure. God “is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him.” How? Through faith. “Without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him.” Faith is not just simply believing that God exists, but believing that God is a God that answers the prayers of those that diligently seek Him.

Now we must pray in faith. We have a little saying, “Pray, believe, and you’ll receive; pray and doubt, you’ll do without.” Amen? It’s just that plain. “What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them.” (Mark 11:24) Hebrews 12:1–2 tells us really how to have that kind of faith. Now, look at it: “Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus the author and the finisher of our faith.” (Hebrews 12:1–2) Now the writer of Hebrews has been talking about faith, and now he gives us in a capsule a recipe for faith: how to have faith.

Now, what is it?
A. Saturate Yourself with the Word of God

First of all, you must be saturated with the Word of God. You see that word wherefore? The word wherefore refers back to chapter 11, and all of chapter 11 is filled with promises and admonitions and illustrations of faith. That is, on the basis of the Word of God, the promises of God, the stories in the Word of God, the record of God’s revelation, God’s working with His people—on the basis of that—he’s saying we’re to have faith. So if you would be a person of faith, get into this book. There’s no way that you can be weak in the Bible and strong in faith, because the Bible says in Romans 10:17, “Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God.” (Romans 10:17) If you’re mighty in the Word, that’s going to enable you to be mighty in faith. So if you want faith, saturate yourself with the Scriptures.

B. Separate Yourself from Sin

Secondly, separate yourself from sin. He says, “Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us” (Hebrews 12:1)—that is, “that entangles us and trips us up.” That’s what the word beset means; it has the idea of wrapping around one’s feet. That is, if you’re going to run a race, you don’t want to be all ensnared and entangled with things wrapped around your legs. That’s what the weight of sin does. So not only must I be saturated with the scriptures; I must be separated from sin. I must lay these things aside. There’s nothing more damning, more debilitating, more stultifying of faith in the heart than sin in the heart. Lay aside these things. It is not without significance that the Bible links repentance and faith side by side. And if you’re having difficulty with faith, try repentance; for the Bible says, “[Beware] lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief.” (Hebrews 3:12) Unbelief comes out of a wicked heart. And if you’re having trouble believing God, it is because there’s sin in your life.

C. Be Activated by the Spirit

So, number one: Be saturated with the Scripture. Number two: Be separated from sin. Number three: Be activated by the Spirit. Notice what he says: “And let us run with patience the race that is set before us.” (Hebrews 12:1) Do you know the difference between belief and faith? Faith is belief with legs on it. It is not just believing that God can do something, but it is letting the Holy Spirit of God so activate us that we move out. I’ve already mentioned this: that we pray and work. We ask God for something. Then we enter into it, and we let the Holy Spirit teach us to run the race. Trust God. Now, do it with your finances. Do it with your witness. Do it with your life. Get busy. Get active, and you will develop the faith that you have. Just as an athlete becomes strong by running, then you’re going to develop your spiritual strength by running the good race of faith.
D. Dedicate It to the Savior

Now, here’s what he says—look. First of all, saturate it with the Word of God. Secondly, separate it from the world, from sin. Thirdly, activate it by the Spirit. And, fourthly, dedicate it to the Savior. He says we’re to be “looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith.” (Hebrews 12:2) Spend time knowing Jesus, loving Jesus. Don’t try to make yourself believe. You can’t make yourself believe. You can’t have faith just by clenching your fists, and gritting your teeth, and saying, “I’m going to believe.” But know Jesus. Look to Jesus. Understand Jesus. The Bible says here we are to be “looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith.” Faith comes by seeing Jesus and going on seeing Him. See Jesus: who He is, what He’s done, what He has promised. Know Him. Learn about Him from the Word of God, and you’re going to find that faith is automatically there. It is the byproduct of a life spent with the Lord Jesus Christ.

IV. Learn to Pray in Jesus’ Name

Now I want to say one last thing, and my time will be gone: Learn to pray in Jesus’s name—learn to pray in Jesus’s name. In John 14:13–14, Jesus said, “And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. If ye shall ask any thing in my name, I will do it.” (John 14:13–14) Now, what does it mean to ask in Jesus’s name? Does it mean that when I finish praying, I say, “In Jesus’ name. Amen”? No, that’s not what it means. Now there’s nothing wrong with praying that way. There’s nothing wrong with saying, “In Jesus’s name. Amen.” I do it frequently, most all of the time, when I pray. But I want to tell you, so far as I know, there is no prayer in the Bible that ends with that little phrase. And even the model prayer that the Lord Jesus taught us to pray—“Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done,” (Luke 11:2) and so forth—does not end with this little phrase, “In Jesus’s name. Amen”—the model prayer. So there’s nothing wrong with praying that way, but these are not supposed to be little words necessarily tacked on to the end of a prayer.

Now, don’t get me wrong. I’m not saying not to pray in Jesus’s name. If you like to say, “In Jesus’s name” when you finish praying, fine, wonderful, good. As a matter of fact, I think very good. But that is not primarily what this means.

A. As His Disciple

First of all, it means that you’ve got to be His disciple. You see, Jesus said in John 16, “Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name.” (John 16:24) That is, “Before this, you weren’t my disciples.” You have got to come as His disciple, knowing Jesus. If you try to pray in Jesus’s name and you’re not a Christian, you’re just forging His name into your prayers. You have no right to expect your prayers to be answered if you’re not a Christian.

B. For His Glory

Now, not only must they be as His disciple, but they must be for His glory. He says, “Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive…” (John 16:24)—“that the Father may be glorified in the Son.” (John 14:13) Now, when you’re asking in Jesus’s name, you’re asking for His glory. That’s the reason that so many prayers are not answered. We may say, “Lord, in Jesus’ name, help me to win the beauty contest.” Well, I mean, is that going to give Him glory? Well, if you can, if indeed you might say, “It will give me a platform from which to witness for you,” or something, and it’s not an immodest or ungodly thing, perhaps so. But not necessarily so. It might just be something you want to consume upon your lusts so you can strut your stuff and feed your ego, see? And the fact that you say, “In Jesus’ name”—you’re not really praying in Jesus’s name. A prayer in Jesus’ name is that the Father will be glorified through the Son: “This is something, Lord, for your honor, for your glory.”

C. With His Authority

I’ll tell you something else: Not only does it mean I pray as His disciple; not only does it mean I pray in His glory; but it also means I pray with His authority. Just like we say, “in the name of the law,” we mean in the authority of the law. You see, I have authority over all the powers of hell. Jesus gave to me the power of attorney. I have His name. I can use His name. I am His servant. I am His steward. And when I know His will, I can bring the name of Jesus into this matter. And when I say, “in the name of Jesus,” and I’m praying for His glory, as His disciple, in His will, I have all heaven behind me. And how wonderful it is to pray in the name of Jesus!

Conclusion

Folks, I honestly believe that the greatest untapped resource in my life, our lives, your life, and anybody’s life, is prayer. And we ought to say with the disciples, “Lord, teach us to pray.” (Luke 11:1) The saintly Samuel Chadwick said this: “The one concern of the devil is to keep Christians from praying. He fears nothing from our prayerless studies, prayerless work, prayerless religion. He laughs at our toil, mocks at our wisdom, but trembles when we pray.” I was thinking about old Daniel, who had rather spend a night with the lions than miss a day in prayer. That’s why he was thrown into the lions’ den: because he refused to miss his time with God in prayer.

Introduction

Matthew chapter 7, and we come today in our journey through the Sermon on the Mount under the title, “Building on the Rock,” we come today to Matthew chapter 7 and verse 7. Look at it. It’s one of the grand promises in all of the Bible. It tells us how to get our prayer answered. And I’ll say it again. The time will come, if the time is not already here, when the most important thing for you on this earth will be for God to answer your prayer.

Now these are the words of Jesus. And if you cannot believe these words, you have no right to believe you’re saved. For the same Bible that promises salvation promises answered prayer. And if you cannot believe one promise, why should you believe the other? Look at it. Look at it clearly and plainly. Our Lord says, “Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened. Or what man is there of you, whom if his son ask bread, will he give him a stone? Or if he ask a fish, will he give him a serpent? If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him?” (Matthew 7:7–11)
Dr. C. Roy Angell used to be a noted pastor in Miami, Florida, when I was a boy. One of the things that Dr. Angell would do in his preaching was to tell stories. He was a great illustrator of messages with stories. And he told a story one time of a shepherd boy who was out tending his sheep. And he happened to look down, and the shepherd boy saw the most beautiful flower he believed he had ever seen. He got down on his hands and knees, and looked at that flower. And it was so beautiful that he dug it out of the earth, root and all, and cupped it in his hands, and brought it up closer to his face to look at it. When he did that, there was a mountain nearby, and it seemed that the entire mountain would open up, as if there were doors in the mountain on great oil hinges, and the doors swung open, and the sunlight went into the side of that mountain into that great vault in the mountain. And the boy looked in there, and he saw all kinds of treasures: gold and silver, and diamonds and rubies and sapphires. He had never seen anything like that. He went in there and set the flower down. And he began to gather that treasure: rubies and diamonds and emeralds and gold. His arms were full of treasure.

He was just a shepherd boy. And now he is wealthy. And he takes the treasure and begins to make his way out of the mountain, and he hears a voice that says, “Don’t forget the best.” But he has the gold. He has the silver. He has the rubies, the emeralds, the sapphires. He looks around. Is there is there something he didn’t see? Is there anything better than this? No, he’s got the best. And he starts out again. And the voice says, “Don’t forget the best.” He looks around one more time. What could be better than this? And he walks out again into the sunlight. And when he does, the great doors in that mountainside close and disappear. And he looks in his hands, and he has nothing but dirt. And the voice says, “The best was the flower. That was the key to the vault. And you left it locked inside the vault.”

That’s only a story. Of course, it’s not true. Just a parable, just a story, just a fable. But, friend, the best, the key to the vault of all of God’s treasure, is prayer. Don’t forget the best. Now you’re gathering treasure every place. But the key to the vault is prayer. Jesus said, “Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.”

Three things I want you to see today.

I. A Promise to Claim
First of all, as we look at this passage, there is a promise to claim. Our Lord says, if we will ask, if we will seek, if we will knock, it shall be given unto us. There is no substitute for prayer.

Now, if you lose a leg, you can get an artificial leg. If there is a substitute for communication—if your telephone is not adequate, perhaps there is a fax machine; or if you don’t telephone, tell-a-woman—somehow you can communicate. There is a substitute there. If you need one thing in this life, you can perhaps substitute something else. But there is no substitute for prayer. Not eloquence, not intellect, not energy, not enthusiasm, not intention: there is no substitute for prayer.

I believe the greatest unused and untapped resource in the world is prayer. If somehow we could harness lightening, or somehow tap into the resources of the mighty tides of the ocean as they ebb and flow! The greatest untapped unused resource is not some use of atomic energy; it is prayer—prevailing prayer. What fools we are, if we don’t pray!

Why the poverty of so many Christians? Why the powerlessness of so many Christians? There is one answer—and it is prayerlessness. I don’t have a failure in my life but what it is a prayer failure. I don’t have a sin in my life but what proper prayer would have avoided it. I don’t have a need in my life that cannot be met through prayer—prevailing prayer.

Now, why does God want us to pray, anyway? You know, we’ve already studied in the Sermon on the Mount that our Heavenly Father knows what we have need of before we ask Him. (Matthew 6:8) So, why ask Him? Why ask God to do what He already wants to do? And why ask God to do something for us, when He already knows that we have need of it? That’s a good question. Why has our Lord commanded prayer? Why?

Well, when we pray, we don’t pray to inform God: God already knows. We don’t pray to instruct God, because God has a will. What we do is not inform God, or instruct God, but we invite God. We invite God when we pray.

Now, what does that mean? Well, you see, God wants to do some things in us. And God wants to do those things through prayer. Why does God tell us to pray?

A. The Fellowship Factor

First of all, there is the fellowship factor. Remember there in John the fifteenth chapter, Jesus said, “If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, then ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you”—John 15:7. “If ye abide in me”: what does our Lord want us to do? Does God just simply want to give us things or does God want us to have fellowship with Him? God wants us to have fellowship with Him.

And so therefore God says, “You’re going to pray. And prayer is the way of you abiding in me, and me abiding in you.” And that way, you and God do it together. God could do it without you. You can’t do it without Him. But He will not do it without you, because God wants you to have that fellowship with Him.

You remember awhile back I told you about somebody coming to pick me up in a private airplane to go someplace, and we were sitting up there side by side in the cockpit. I don’t know anything about flying an airplane. But he said, “Do you want to fly this thing?” I said, “If I can. If you’ll tell me what to do.” So he said, “Do thus-and-such.” And so here I am flying that airplane across the United States. Now he’s sitting right there: his hands are on the control, and my hands are on the control. He could do it without me, but I could not do it without him. But it was a lot of fun to fly that airplane. And as I was flying that airplane, this man and myself were having wonderful fellowship.

You see, friend, when you pray, and God answers, you abide in Him, and He abides in you. Together—we are laborers together with God. Second Corinthians chapter 6 and verse 1 says we are “workers together with him.” (2 Corinthians 6:1)

B. The Development Factor

And so, there is the fellowship factor. That’s one reason you pray. There is the development factor. There is nothing that will grow you as a Christian more than prayer. You see, when you abide in the Lord Jesus Christ, and He abides in you, then you are growing as you pray. Have you ever wondered why God doesn’t answer your prayer immediately? Because He wants you to grow some more.

Here is a boy that asks a girl for a date. She looks at him, and she says, “Well, he doesn’t use good manners. He’s not courteous. He doesn’t dress neatly. He’s got dirt under his fingernails. And there are other things about him. His shoes are not shined. And she says, “Well, I just don’t think I want a date, thank you. I’m busy.” “Well,” he wonders, “why didn’t she go out with me? I wonder what it could be?” He asks a friend, “Why do you think that Susie would not date me?” He says, “You want me to be honest with you?” “Well, yes.” “You’ve got bad breath.” “Me?” “You’ve got bad breath. You ask me? I’m going to tell you.” “Well,” he said, “I didn’t know I have bad breath.” And so he goes in, and, you know, he drinks a glass of iced scope, and he brushes his teeth, and then he asks again. And she still says no.

He goes to his friend again: “Why do you think she wouldn’t go out with me?” He says, “Well, look at the way that you are dressed. Look how your shirt is dirty.” “Is that shirt dirty?” “Why, of course! Go look in the mirror.” And on and on this goes. And one day he comes—he looks sweet; he smells sweet; he is sweet; and he says to her, “Please go out with me.” She says, “I believe I will.” And they have a wonderful date.

Now, that’s a small illustration. But, you know, sometimes we come to God, and we say, “God, please do this.” But there is something God wants us to do first. Prayer is the way of developing our lives. And we ask God for something, and God doesn’t give it to us; and we go back and say, “Why didn’t God answer my prayer?” And the Holy Spirit says, “There’s sin in your life.” The Holy Spirit says, “You’ve been selfish; you’ve been carnal.”
C. The Dependency Factor

You see, there is the fellowship factor in prayer. There is the development factor in prayer: God is growing us through prayer. And, of course, there is the dependency factor in prayer. Jesus said, in John 15, “Without me ye can do nothing.” (John 15:5) You see, if God were to answer our prayers just automatically, then there would be no growth. But if we never had to pray, there would be no dependency. Prayer is God’s way of bonding us to Him.

II. A Process to Follow

And so there is a promise to claim—a wonderful promise, a wise promise: Ask, seek, and knock. But, secondly—listen—not only is there a promise to claim; there is a process to follow. Have you ever noticed these verbs: ask, seek, find? That’s a process; that is an intensification: from asking, to seeking, to knocking. Ask, seek, knock: “Ask, you receive; seek, you find; knock, it shall be opened unto you.” That is an intensification and an escalation. So, there is both a promise, and a process, in this verse. The promise is that God will hear us. But there is a process of asking, seeking, and knocking.

A. “Ask”: A Desire Expressed

Now, let’s look at the first one: asking. That is, you express your desire. There is something you want. You come to God, and you ask Him for it. Do you know, the greatest problem in prayer is not in unanswered prayer; it is unasked prayer. Most of us don’t even get to the asking part. And James says, “You have not, because you ask not.” (James 4:2) Unoffered prayer is not only a tragedy; it’s a sin. “God forbid that I should sin against the LORD in ceasing to pray for you” (1 Samuel 12:23): that’s what Samuel said—“God forbid that I should sin...in ceasing to pray.” Over and over again, the Bible not only invites us to pray; the Bible commands us to pray. The Bible says of the Lord Jesus, in Luke 18:1, “And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint.” The Lord Jesus said, in Mark 14, verse 38, “Watch and pray, lest you enter into temptation.” (Mark 14:38) Every time you sin, it is because you’ve failed to pray as you ought. “Watch ye and pray, lest ye enter into temptation.” The Apostle Paul said, “Be careful for nothing;”—that is, “Don’t worry about anything”—“but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God.” (Philippians 4:6)

The reason you’re so full of care and worry right now is you’ve not truly learned how to pray. In everything, by prayer and supplication, you are to ask God for everything that you need. You know a good test of anything, whether it’s right or wrong for you to have it, is: can you ask God for it? Now, if you don’t feel you can ask God for it, you really don’t have any business with it.

You see, we’re to pray about anything. If it’s wrong to ask God for it, it’s wrong to have it or to do it. Don’t divide your life up into the secular and the sacred. Don’t say, “Well, there are certain things I can pray about, and certain things I don’t pray about, because God’s not interested in those things.” Oh, no. Can you imagine Jesus living that way? You see, to a Christian, all things are sacred. Every day is a holy day. And every object is a proper object of prayer. Pray about everything.

You say, “Well, the little things? I just pray about the big things.” Well, can you imagine anything big to God? Or can you imagine anything too small for God to be interested in? Yes, pray about the big things. Yes, pray when your child is sick. You can also pray for a parking place. God is a God who is over all. God knows your needs.

You say, “Well, what if I want a wrong thing? Should I pray about that?” Yes. God already knows you want a wrong thing. Tell Him you want a wrong thing, and tell Him it’s wrong for you to want it, and ask Him to fix your wanter. Listen. Pray about all things. “In every thing by prayer…”

B. “Seek”: A Discovery Experienced

But God can’t answer, unless you ask. God can’t answer, unless you ask. “You have not, because you ask not.” And so, first of all, he says, “Ask.” That is a desire expressed. But then, he says, “Seek.” And that is a discovery experienced—because, you see, many times we ask for the wrong thing. Many times, we don’t know what to ask for. Many times, we are not in an asking position. Many times, there are things that are lost, or unknown to us. And so, true prayer, true asking, is linked with seeking. It may be the will, the purpose, of God that we need to seek.

You remember what James says? “You ask, and receive not, because you ask amiss: you ask for the wrong thing.” (James 4:3) And so, sometimes we need to seek the will of God. We need to say, “Dear God, is this your will?” Sometimes we need to seek the very presence of God. God wants to do something in us before He can do something through us. And James, in that classic passage on prayer, in James chapter 4, verse 8, says, “Draw nigh to God, and [God] will draw nigh to you.” (James 4:8)

Maybe it’s the presence of God that we need to seek as we pray. Maybe it’s the power of God—because James also said, in James 5, verse 16, “The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much.” (James 5:16) And that word effectual means “powerful, stretched-out” prayer.
You know, we pray so many little giddy, frivolous, now-lay-me-down-to-sleep-type prayers. Many of us pray, and fifteen minutes later we could not even tell someone what we asked God for, if our life depended on it—because we do not pray with seriousness; we do not pray with intention.

One day a lady called me, and she said, “Pastor, I need you to come over to my house. I’ve got a prayer burden, and I want you to pray with me.” I said, “I’ll be there.” I went to her house. I said, “What is the prayer burden?” She said, “Pastor, it is my son. He is a drunkard. I want you to pray with me for my son.” And then she said, “And his wife has just been diagnosed with cancer. My son is a drunkard. My daughter-in-law has been diagnosed with cancer. And I want you, my pastor, please, to pray with me.” I said, “I will.” She said, “I’ve asked my son to come over.” I said, “Wonderful.”

So the three of us were there. The drunkard son, the mother and grandmother, who was concerned, and the pastor. And we got down on our knees and began to pray. And she prayed, and I prayed. And then she prayed. And then I prayed again. And that boy, that man, I say, he was, oh, maybe thirty-five. He looked at me, and said, “Pray, preacher. You ain’t praying.” I thought I was praying. I thought I was doing a good job. But he said to me, “Preacher, pray! You ain’t praying.” Well, I think I got a little louder and faster. I thought maybe it had something to do with the tone or the rhythm, or maybe I needed to groan a little more, do something. I’ve never had anybody challenge me like that. He said, “You ain’t praying, preacher.”

So I prayed a little more. And then I looked up, and she was gone. The grandmother was gone. She wasn’t in the room. I thought, “Just me and this boy here, and he doesn’t think I’m praying.” And then I heard another sound in another room. And so I just stopped, since I wasn’t praying anyway, and got up and looked in that other room. And there she was, spread eagle on the carpet, her face down in the carpet. And I just paused to listen to her praying.

I heard her, I listened to her, I saw her, as she went up through the skies, pushed open the gates, walked down those golden streets, right to the throne room, right past the torn veil. I heard her walk right in and get hold of the altar. And I listened to her pray. And I heard the anguish of her heart. I heard her pray. I heard her faith. I heard her do warfare with Satan. I heard her remind God of His promises. I heard her pour out her heart, her life, almost to death for that boy. I heard her pray. And I think maybe, perhaps sometime in the past, that boy had heard his mama pray, and that’s the reason he was saying to me, “Preacher, you ain’t praying.”

C. “Knock”: A Determination Expressed

I learned a lesson about prayer that day, about what it means to get hold of God in prayer. That, my friend, is not only asking; it is seeking prayer. “The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much.” (James 5:16) But not only are we to ask—that’s a desire expressed; not only are we to seek—that is a discovery experienced, as we find what we seek for; but Jesus said we are to knock—and that, my dear friend, is a determination expressed. To knock means that we will not stop until we know that we have the thing that we have asked of God or God tells us no. “Knock, and it shall be opened unto you.”

Now, there are many stories in the Bible about knocking—knocking. As a matter of fact, this same passage that we have here in Matthew is expounded on in the Gospel of Luke, and Luke tells us a little bit more about what it means to knock. I want you to turn to Luke chapter 11 now—Matthew, Mark, Luke—just turn to Luke chapter 11, and look with me, if you will, for a moment, in verse 5. Jesus is giving a parable. And here is what Jesus said: “And he said unto them, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go unto him at midnight, and say unto him, Friend, lend me three loaves;”—that is, three loaves of bread—“for friend of mine in his journey is come to me, and I have nothing to set before him? And he from within shall answer him and say, Trouble me not: the door is now shut,”—you see, a door is what you knock on—“and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise and give thee. I say unto you, Though he will not rise and give him, because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity”—that is, his persistence—“he will rise and give him as many as he needeth.” Now that’s the parable. Now, look in verse 9: “And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.” Now, there is no doubt in my mind that this is the illustration for knocking right here. “For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened.” (Luke 11:5–10)

Now you have to understand something about Bible times. In Bible times, it was absolutely, totally, unthinkable that a friend would come to you, and you would not give him lodging, and you would not give him food. Hospitality is of the highest premium in the Middle East. And so, here’s a man, he has a friend on a journey, and says, “James, may I stay at your house tonight?” And he says, “Why, we’re so happy to have you, John, to come and stay. You’re so welcome. Come right in, and the wife will fix us something to eat.” And he goes in to the wife, and he says, “John has come, and he’s going to be staying with us tonight. And fix us something to eat.” She says, “We haven’t got anything.” “Oh,” he says, “don’t say anything. I’ll get it.” So he says, “John, just sit down, and we’re going to get you something. It’s all right. Just sit there. Here’s your bed right here.” And he goes next door to his friend Matthew: “Matthew!” It’s about midnight now. Nobody answers. Nobody answers. “Who is it?” “James.” “What do you want?” “I need some bread.” “Hey, man, don’t bother me. Do you know what time it is?” “Matthew, listen. I’ve got to have some... Man, listen.” “Don’t bother me. I’m in bed.”
Now, let me tell you how the houses of that day were built. Many of them had stables underneath. The animals came in at night and stayed in the house, and the body heat of those animals helped to heat the whole house—and fragrance the house also. And they were underneath. And the children would sleep upstairs. They didn’t have big houses upstairs. They had everybody in one room: you wake up one person, you wake up everybody.

And the locks of that day were very complicated—oriental locks. You didn’t just put in a key. I mean, to get up, you have to go downstairs through the animals; you’ve got to wake up everybody; you’ve got to get out of bed and all of this. He says, “Look, don’t bother me. The children are asleep. Now, you wake the baby, you’re going to pay.” “Listen. I’ve got to have some bread.” “Oh,” he says, “just be quiet. I’m coming. I’m coming. What do you want? Help yourself, and get out of here.”

Now he didn’t do it because he was his friend; he just did it because this man would not take no for an answer. That’s what Jesus said. That is persistence in prayer. How many of us pray that way? Jesus said, “Ask, seek, knock.” “Keep on asking,” is literally what it says. It’s in the present tense: “Keep on seeking. Keep on knocking.”

So many times we had these little take-it-or-leave-it prayers. Again, remember the Lord Jesus told, in Luke 18, about a widow. She went to an unjust judge, and she asked the judge that he might adjudicate the thing rightly. And the judge didn’t fear God or man. He was an atheist and a selfish lout. And he wouldn’t vindicate this widow. But she keeps coming and saying, “I need to see the judge.” She keeps asking. She keeps talking. She keeps coming. And Jesus said, “After a while this judge will give her what she needs, just to get her off his back.” Now Jesus’ illustration is that, if an unrighteous judge will do that, how much more will a righteous God hear our prayers—if we persist. Jesus is not saying that God is like an unrighteous judge. He is saying God is not like an unrighteous judge. So, if an unrighteous judge finally will do something to get somebody off his back, how much more shall your Heavenly Father!—but to those who persist. (Luke 18:1–8)

Yes, God wants us to persist—because God is doing something in us and through us. And all through the Bible you find the Lord Jesus Christ teaching persistence and prayer. Whether you understand it or not, the Bible teaches it.

You remember that Syrophoenician woman who came from the place that we call Lebanon today? She was down there, and she had a little daughter that was demon-possessed. She came to Jesus, and she said, “Jesus, please—please, Jesus—do something for my daughter.” And the Lord Jesus said, “Why it’s not fitting, it’s not proper, that I would take the bread that is for children and give it to dogs. I didn’t come to you. I came to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.”

What an insult! Seemingly, He used the word for “dogs” which meant “household pet, a little puppy.” “I can’t take the children’s bread and give it to dogs.” She said, “Oh, that’s right, Lord.” But she said, “Oh, Lord”—listen—“the dogs get the crumbs that fall under the table”—and she used another word for “dog” which means “mangy, yellow, back alley cur.” She applied that to herself. Jesus, heartbroken, he said, “Woman, great is your faith. You’ll have what you’ve asked.” You see, she kept on knocking. (Matthew 15:21–28; Mark 7:24–30)

Even the Lord Jesus Christ—we saw it here in the Passion Play; He was kneeling right here on this platform in the Passion Play—the Lord Jesus prayed to the Father once, twice, thrice. Jesus, the Son of God, prevailed in prayer.

The Apostle Paul, the greatest Christian who ever lived, had a thorn in the flesh. And the Apostle Paul prayed to God, and he said, “Three times I asked God to take it away. That doesn’t mean, “I said, ‘Once, twice, thrice, take it away.’” That means Paul had three extended sessions of prayer—over a long period of time, I imagine—and then he got his answer. Don’t tell me Paul’s prayer was not answered; it was answered—and I’ll say more about that later on—and Jesus’ prayer was answered, as they persisted in prayer.

Elijah prayed for rain. He was there on Mount Carmel. He sent a servant and said, “Go tell me if you see something.” “I don’t see anything.” “Go again.” “Go again.” “Go again.” He went the seventh time, and he said, “I see something: a cloud about the size of a man’s hand.” I believe that’s just an illustration of ol’ Elijah, who had pressed his hand against heaven so hard. Elijah said, “Get up. I hear the sound of the abundance of rain.” He had learned to pray through.

Jesus said, “Ask.” Jesus said, “Seek.” Jesus says, “Knock, knock, knock, and it shall be opened unto you.” That brings a question. How are we going to know when to stop asking, seeking and knocking? When do we stop? That’s a big question. Well, let me give you three steps here—three things. Listen. When do you stop in this persistence in prayer?

1. Keep Praying till You Get What You Asked For

First of all, you can stop when you get what you asked for—you asked God for it, and He gives it to you. Sometimes God’s answers are direct. Sometimes God’s answers are different. Sometimes God’s answers are delayed. And sometimes prayers are denied. So, how do you know? How do you know? Well, If God gives you what you ask for, then you have it.

I wish I had time in this message to tell you the times that I have asked God for something so direct, so simple, so plain, and God has given it to me so directly that there is no way in my mind to explain it apart from a absolute answer to prayer, a miraculous answer to prayer. I ask, and he gives, and I say, “Thank you, God.” That’s direct. So, if you get the answer, that’s fine. But sometimes you pray, and you don’t have it in your hand, but you have it in your heart. And you can stop. I mean sometimes God will say to you, “You have it.” You have it. You have the assurance that what you’ve asked God for now God has granted, and God has given, and you can begin to praise Him for the answer.

2. Keep Praying till God Says No

Sometimes God says no. And you stop asking. And if God says no, thank Him. Thank Him, because God only gives good things. The rest of this parable says, “How much more shall your Heavenly Father give good things to them that ask Him!” So you keep on asking until God says, “Yes, you have it,” in your heart, or until God says no.

III. A Provision to Enjoy

All right now, here’s the final thing—and I just have a few moments for this. You see, here is a promise to claim. Here is a process to follow. And here is a provision to enjoy.

Now, notice what our Lord says here about why He answers this prayer, and how He answers. Go back to Matthew chapter 7, if you will, and see how our Lord illustrates this. Here’s the rational. The Lord says, “Or what man is there of you, whom if his son ask bread, will he give him a stone? or if he asks a fish, will he give him a serpent? If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask?” (Matthew 7:9–11)

Now, how do I know—how do I know—that God’s going to answer pray? How do I know? Notice what our Lord is saying. I mean, just be reasonable. Just take human nature. Take a man who is not even saved, a man that doesn’t even know God—and if his children ask him for food, and he can get it, will he not give it? Jesus said, “If you, being evil,”—“if you, being evil”—“know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more shall your Heavenly Father give good things to them that ask?”

Why will your prayer be answered? Because God is good. Do you have that in your heart and in your mind? God is good. God delights to answer your prayer. God wants to answer your prayer. God is a good God.

And not only because God is good, but because God is wise. If you ask bread, He’s not going to give you a stone. He won’t give you the wrong thing. The stones in Palestine, when you go there, the little brown stones on the ground look like loaves of bread. Wouldn’t that be a cruel joke? You see, God knows exactly what you have need of. You ask bread, He’s not going to give you a stone.
I’ll tell you something else, friend. If you ask for a stone, He won’t give you a stone, either. If you ask for the wrong thing, He’s not going to give you the wrong thing, just because you asked for it. God is good, God is wise, and God is able. He says, “How much more should your Father in heaven?”

I have an earthly father. I love my dad. My dad is eighty-six years old now. He thinks he’s about forty. And he’s a great guy. And he would do anything for me he could. But, you know, he’s limited. He’s limited. All human beings are limited. My Heavenly Father’s not limited. You see, I have the sympathy of a Father, and the sovereignty of a King. I have a Father who can hear me, and a King who can answer me. Why will God hear my prayers? Because God is good, God is wise, and God is sovereign. And I say, “Hallelujah! What a mighty God we serve!”

Conclusion

And I want to tell you something, friend. We are fools, if we don’t learn how to pray. It is Jesus who said, “Ask, and it will be given you.” It’s Jesus who said, “Seek, and ye will find.” It is Jesus who said, “Knock, and it shall be opened unto you.” The wisest thing, the best thing, we can do is to learn how to pray.

That brings me to this—and I’m finished. Is He your Heavenly Father? Jesus here is not talking to lost people. He’s talking to saved people, people who are saved. Is He your Heavenly Father?

Introduction
Would you take God’s precious Word and open it to Matthew chapter 7? And, in a moment, we’re going to begin reading in verse 7. And, before we begin to read, let me tell you what we’re talking tonight on: “The Principles of Prayer.” And, I want to say that prayer is the Christian’s greatest privilege, but alas, for most of us, it is our greatest failure.

Now, there is, in the Christian life, no substitute for prayer. If you, in an accident, were to lose a leg, it’s possible to be fitted for an artificial leg to replace a natural leg. If you don’t want to use a telephone, you can find a substitute. You can get a fax machine, or an e-mail, or a female, or whatever you want to get to carry the message. You can get a substitute. There is no substitute for prayer. Other things may be good and fine in themselves, but they’re not a substitute. Eloquence is not a substitute for prayer. Energy is not a substitute for prayer. Enthusiasm is not a substitute for prayer. Intellect is not a substitute for prayer.
substitute for prayer. There is no substitute for prayer. Prayer, in my estimation, is the greatest untapped, unused force in the universe. People are always trying to tap into energy. Scientists have been looking at the energy of the ocean, as the tides ebb and flow and the waves swell, and think, “Somehow could we tap that energy.” Or, we have learned how to tap into the energy of nuclear power. But, the greatest unused, untapped energy in the world is prayer.

Now, let’s look at the passage of Scripture, beginning here in Matthew chapter 7 and verse 7. These are the words of Jesus. Jesus said them clearly and plainly. And, we have no reason to doubt them, but we must believe them: “Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: For every one that asked receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened. Or what man is there of you, whom if his son ask bread, will he give him a stone? Or if he ask a fish, will he give him a serpent? If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him?” (Matthew 7:7–11) So, we’re going to put the message tonight in three easy divisions, as we’re thinking about “The Principles of Prayer.”

I. The Reasons for Prayer

And, the very first is “the reasons for prayer.” Now, you know, I have pondered much in my life about the reason for prayer. Why does God want us to pray? You see, look, Jesus taught, very clearly and plainly, our Heavenly Father “[knows] what things [you] have need of, before [you] ask,” (Matthew 6:8) isn’t that true? He already knows what we have need of, and He is infinite love. So, why should we have to pray? Why should we have to tell Him what we have need of? And, why should we have to ask of Him what He already wants to give us because He loves us? Have you ever thought about the mystery of prayer? Well, friend, why do we pray?

Well, go back, if you will, to Matthew chapter 6 for just a moment, and look in verses 7 and 8: “But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking. Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him. After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.” (Matthew 6:7–9) Now, in these verses, we learn some things. First of all, we do not pray to God to impress Him. You don’t have to be a junior-sized Shakespeare and pray in King James English. You don’t have to be a poet and use flowery language. You do not pray to impress God. “Don’t use vain repetition.” (Matthew 6:7) Nor do you pray to inform God—verse 8. “Your Father [knows] what things [you] have need of.” (Matthew 6:8) We pray not to impress God, not to inform God, but to invite God to work in our hearts and in our lives. Well, why should we invite God to do this? Well, let me give you three reasons.

A. The Delight Factor

Number one: There is what I want to call “the delight factor.” You see, God wants us to love Him. God wants us to fellowship with Him. God could run this universe without our prayers, but if He ran this universe without our prayers, you and I would not have the privilege of working with Him, and fellowshiping with Him, and being with Him as He administers this great universe.

So, over in John chapter 15, He spoke of Himself as the vine—the Lord Jesus as being a vine, like a grapevine—and He spoke of us as being branches. And then, He said in John chapter 15, verse 4: “Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me.” (John 15:4) In a moment now, He’s going to be talking to us about prayer, but He’s saying that the reason for this prayer is to get us to abide in Him. We abide in Him. He goes on to say, “If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.” (John 15:7) Prayer is a way of God bonding us to Himself. It is a way of causing us to dwell in Him and He in us until we have the same kind of a union that a branch has with a vine. Now, we cannot do it without Him. He will not do it without us.

Some time ago, a college called and said, “Can you come and be a speaker?” I said, “I would like to, but I cannot. I’m sorry; my schedule won’t allow it.” They said, “Well, if we’ll send a pilot for you, would you come and speak?” I said, “Well, I don’t know.” It said, “Well, we have a very fine pilot. He pilots a jet aircraft, and he can be there and pick you up.” And, I thought, “Well, fine. I will go.” And so, when I went out to the airport, it was a jet pilot, but it wasn’t a jet airplane; it was just one of these coffeepot airplanes. And so, we got up there, and we were flying over to this particular college where I was going to speak. And, this man says to me, “Do you know how to fly an airplane?” I said, “No, I don’t.” He said, “Would you like to fly this airplane?” I said, “Yes, I would.” We’re sitting side by side. He said, “All right, those are the pedals. Here are the controls. Do this, and do this.” So, we’re sitting up there, flying over Arkansas, and I’m flying that airplane.

And, I want to tell you, beyond the shadow of any doubt or peradventure, I could not have done that without that man for a very long time. I could not have done it! He could have done it without me; I could not have done it without him. But, he gave me the privilege of flying that craft with him. And, do you know, it was a lot of fun. It was an experience I still remember. And, while we were doing that, there was a bonding that was going on between the two of us that was very wonderful. We were having great fellowship as I was depending upon him, learning from him, and he was sharing his responsibilities and his duties with me. And, there that airplane goes. And, I thought to myself, “That’s so very much like prayer: We can’t do it without God, and God could do it without us. But, when He allows us cooperate with Him, we have the thrill of helping God regulate this mighty universe.” Prayer comes when we abide in Him and He abides in us.

B. The Development Factor

So, there’s what I call “the delight factor.” Then, there’s also the development factor. Did you know that prayer is one of the ways that we grow? We are developed in prayer. In this same passage, in John chapter 15 and verse 7, He says, “If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.” (John 15:7)

Sometimes we pray and the answer doesn’t seem to come. And so, we begin to study the Word of God, we begin to seek the face of God, and we begin to “grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ” (2 Peter 3:18) until the answer does come.

Some boy may have his eye upon a particular girl and want to date that girl, and she won’t date him. And, he asks her for a date, and she says no. And, he says, “I wonder why she won’t date me? Could it be my breath?” So, he takes a little bit more care of his dental hygiene. And, he asks her again for a date, and then she says no. And, he says, “I wonder if it could be the way I groom myself?” So, he watches his fingernails, and gets his hair cut, and puts on a clean shirt. Again, he asks her for a date, and she says no. So, he does something else: “Maybe it’s my manners. Maybe it’s the way I drink my soup.” And so, he changes that. And then, one day, he asks her for a date, and she says yes. The whole time he’s been asking her, he has been improving, he’s been growing, he’s been getting more and more acceptable to her. And, you know, I think that’s the way prayer is: we ask God for something, and the answer doesn’t come; and we ask again, and we say, “Well, Lord, what could it be? My selfishness in my life? Could it be my lack of faith? Could it be my lack of Bible study? My lack of commitment?”

C. The Dependence Factor

And so, prayer is not only a delight; it is a form of development. It helps us to “grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour.” (2 Peter 3:18) And then, there is the dependence factor. God never wants us to live independent of Him. So, if God were to do things for us without our praying, we would fail to have the dependence that a branch has upon a vine. In John chapter 15, verse 5, Jesus said, “I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing.” (John 15:5) It would be tragic if God were to run this universe and leave us out of it because we’d never know the delight of prayer, we would never know the growth and the development that comes through prayer, and we would never know that dependence upon God, that bonding, that comes through prayer. So, whether we understand the philosophy of prayer or not, we know that our Lord has invited us and our Lord has commanded us to pray.

II. The Request in Prayer

Now, not only the reasons for prayer, but let’s look at the request in prayer. Notice what Jesus says in chapter 7 and verse 7: “Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.” (Matthew 7:7) Now, let’s look at that.

A. Ask: Desire

First of all, ask—just ask. We are commanded to ask God. Did you know that the great problem in prayer is not unanswered prayer; it is unoffered prayer? James chapter 4 says very clearly, in verse 2: “Ye have not, because ye ask not.” (James 4:2) Jesus said we are to ask. Unoffered prayer is not merely a tragedy; it is a sin. We are commanded to pray and ask God. Luke 18:1 says, “Men ought always to pray.” (Luke 18:1) Jesus said to His disciples in Mark 14, verse 38: “Watch…and pray.” (Mark 14:38) Philippians chapter 4, verse 6 says, “Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God” (Philippians 4:6)—in everything! Prayer ought to be as normal, as natural, as breathing. Paul said, “Pray about everything.” (Philippians 4:6) You say, “Really? Everything?” Well, if it concerns you, it concerns God. A good test of whether or not you ought to be participating in something, or wanting something, or attempting something is can you pray about it? Now, if you cannot pray about it—if it’s wrong to pray about it—then it’s wrong to do it, or it’s wrong to want it. Don’t divide life up into the secular and the sacred. Don’t say, “Well, I’ll pray when I’m preaching a sermon, but I won’t pray when I’m fishing.” Why not? Do you think it would be wrong to pray when you go fishing and ask God to help you when you go fishing?

I was fishing down in Florida some years ago, right at Cape Canaveral, out there on a sandbar, with some buddies. I hadn’t been fishing for so long. And, I had a mirror lure, and I had a spin-casting outfit. And, I was away from my buddies. I was in water about up to my knees out there in the Florida sun, and I could hear off in the distance other men catching fish. I wasn’t catching any. And, I prayed; I said, “Lord, I’m not catching any fish. These other guys are catching fish.” And, I said, “Lord, I’ve been working real hard. This is the only time I’ve got to go fishing in a long time. And Lord, I’m going to ask you to let me catch a speckled trout—not a little one, but a big one.” I prayed that prayer, Brother Jim, and threw that mirror lure over into a deep hole there in the sandbar, and it sank to the bottom. And, I twitched it and reeled it in a couple of times, and I saw something about that big, and yellow, coming out of the water. It was the mouth of a great big speckled trout. And, he took that mirror lure, and we wrestled it all over the sandbar. It was about...a great big fish; I mean, the biggest—listen, for me—the biggest speckled trout I've ever caught. It was a prize-winning trout.

Now folks, I had just prayed. I just said, “Lord, I want to catch a big fish,” and I caught a big fish. Do you know what I did? I said, “Lord, that was so great; I want to catch another one.” So, I said, “Lord, let me catch another one.” And, I cast, and I caught another fish right after I’d prayed. Now, I’d been fishing for a long time and not praying. I wondered, “Hey, why didn’t I pray sooner?” So, I caught another one. I didn’t want to push it any further. I never prayed for another fish. I was afraid I might have to say, “God, they ruined my illustration. God doesn’t answer all the prayers.” But, I was just so blessed.

Now, you may think that’s a little frivolous, but folks, I want to tell you something: none of us has any business doing anything that we can’t pray about. I don’t care what it is—if you can’t pray about it, you’ve got no business doing it. If you can’t ask God for it, you have no business wanting it. The Bible says, “In every thing by prayer and supplication”—can you think of anything too big for God to handle or anything too small for God to notice? You think about it—“in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God.” (Philippians 4:6) And so, we are to ask.

You say, “Well, what about if I want a wrong thing?” You even ought to pray about that. You ought to say, “God, I’m wanting a wrong thing. Help me. Fix my wanter.” No matter what it is, carry it to God in prayer. Our responsibility is the asking; God’s responsibility is the giving. But, He cannot do His responsibility unless we do ours, so our Lord says, “Ask.” (Matthew 7:7)

B. Seek: Discernment

But then, not only does He say, “Ask” (Matthew 7:7); look at that verse again—He also says, “Seek.” (Matthew 7:7) So, not only should there be a desire; there needs to be discernment. Now, you say, “What do you mean by ‘discernment’?” Well, when you’re seeking—think with me now—when you’re seeking, there’s something that you don’t see or there’s something you don’t know. You’re on a quest. If you’re seeking something, it’s lost or unknown. And so, you’re trying to get some things to get out. You’re trying to find something. You’re trying to discover something. And, prayer is not only a matter of desire, where we ask, but it’s a matter of discernment, where we seek.

Now, we might be seeking the purpose of God. Did you know we might be praying out of the will of God? And, the only thing that lies outside the reach of prayer is that which lies outside the will of God. Remember James chapter 4, verse 3: “Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss”—if you’re asking for the wrong thing, God’s not going to bless you; God’s not going to give it to you. Maybe it might be that you’re selfish in your motivation—“ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your lusts.” (James 4:3) I can ask for personal needs, but I can’t ask for selfish needs. It may be just God Himself that He wants me to seek. Maybe before God gives me what He wants, He wants me to want Him more than I want the thing I’m asking for. And so, He says also in that same fourth chapter of James, in verse 8: “Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you.” (James 4:8) So, it may be that God wants me just to draw nigh to Him and to seek Him, to get away from my frivolous, half-hearted, giddy prayers. God does business with those that mean business. It may mean that God wants me to seek the power of God that comes through purity, for He goes on to say in James chapter 5, verse 16: “The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much.” (James 5:16)

C. Knock: Determination

Look, there’s the desire that asks. There’s the discernment that seeks. As I pray, I say, “Lord, what is it? How do you want me to pray? What do you want me find?” But now, watch it: desire, discernment—now, watch this—determination. “Ask…seek…knock”—“knock.” (Matthew 7:7) Well, what do you knock on? You knock on a closed door. The door is closed. And, when you pray, you have to keep on praying until that door opens. There are barriers that we have to overcome when we pray. And actually, this verb is in the present tense. What it literally means is “keep on knocking.”

Sometimes God’s answers are direct. You ask God for something, and He gives it to you just like that, ipso facto. We’ve all had that happen to us. Sometimes God’s answers are different. We ask for one thing; He gives us something else. Sometimes God’s answers are denied. We ask for something, and God says, “No, that’s bad for you. I don’t want you to have it,” or, “You’re asking for the wrong motive.” Sometimes we ask, and God’s answers are delayed. And, that’s what I’m talking about right now. We have to knock, and we have to keep on knocking.

Now folks, this is kind of hard to understand, but it is a Bible truth so we’re going to slow down here just a little bit on this thing of knocking. Keep on knocking until you get the answer. Look with me, for example, in Luke chapter 11. Turn to this one: Luke chapter 11, verse 5. Jesus, here, is talking about prayer. And, His disciples said in Luke 11, verse 1: “Lord, teach us to pray.” (Luke 11:1) So, the subject here is prayer. Now, go down to verse 5: “And he said unto them, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go unto him at midnight, and say unto him, Friend, lend me three loaves; For a friend of mine in his journey is come to me, and I have nothing to set before him? And he from within shall answer and say, Trouble me not: the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise and give thee.” (Luke 11:5–7) Now, do you get the picture? Here’s a man who is knocking on a door. He is knocking on his neighbor’s door. He’s knocking on his friend’s door. He’s knocking on the door of somebody who knows him and loves him, and he says, “I have a need. I’ve got an unexpected guest. The cupboard is empty. I would be embarrassed if I did not feed this friend. I need three loaves of bread, and I need them now.”

But, notice what happens here—verse 7: “And he from within shall answer and say, Trouble me not: the door is now shut”—and, by the way, let me say, that may not seem much to you—“the door is now shut”—but in those days, locks were very complicated. It was not easy to unlock a door. Locks were complicated—“and my children are with me in bed”—everybody didn’t have separate bedrooms. They all slept, more or less, in the same bedroom. To get up would wake up the baby because everybody had to get up. And, there were sometimes animals, and so forth, kept in the same house with the people. The livestock might wake up. The neighbors’ dogs start barking. He says, “Look, I’m not going to do this. Just be quiet. You’re waking the neighborhood. I’m not going to do it.” But, notice verse 8—“I say unto you, Though he will not rise and give him, because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity”—that is, his urgency and his persistency—“he will rise and give him as many as he needeth”—now, watch this now—“And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.” (Luke 11:7–9) That’s the same verse that we’re using over here in Matthew. You ask; that’s desire. You seek; that’s discernment. And, you knock; that is determination. Now, whether you agree with it or not, whether you understand it or not, friend, you’ve got to knock on heaven’s door, and you’ve got to keep on knocking, sometimes, to get those prayers answered.

Now, you’re in Luke chapter 11. Just turn to Luke chapter 18. Let me show you the same thing. Let me hear the pages turn. Luke chapter 18—begin here in verse 1: “And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray”—now, watch this—“and not to faint”—the word here means “not to quit praying.” So many times we pray. We knock once. We rattle the doorknob. The voice within says, “Go away,” and we just go away. But, He doesn’t want us to go away. He wants us to keep on knocking, keep on asking—“men ought always to pray, and not to faint; Saying, There was in a city a judge, which feared not God, neither regarded man”—sounds like some I know—“And there was a widow in that city; and she came unto him, saying, Avenge me of mine adversary. And he would not for a while: but afterward he said within himself, Though I fear not God, nor regard man; Yet because this widow troubleth me, I will avenge her, lest by her continual coming”—just underscore that—“by her continual coming she weary me. And the Lord said, Hear what the unjust judge saith. And shall not God avenge his own elect, which cry day and night unto him, though he bear long with them?” (Luke 18:1–7)

You say, “Pastor, why does God stay in bed and not get up and open the door right away? Why does God not avenge me of my adversary right away?” Because God does business with those that mean business. And, Jesus said we are to keep on knocking for whatever reason. We need to understand that the Bible says, “Therefore will the LORD wait, that he may be gracious unto you.” (Isaiah 30:18)

Let me give you another example of this same thing, of this determination. In Matthew chapter 15—we won’t turn to that—but in Matthew chapter 15, many of you remember the story of Jesus and the Syrophoenician woman. Jesus was there for dinner. This woman came and said to Jesus, “Master, have mercy on me! My daughter has a demon! She’s grievously vexed with a demon! Have mercy on me!” (Matthew 15:22) And, Jesus said, “I haven’t been sent but to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. You’re a Syrophoenician woman! You’re a pagan! Get away! I can’t take the children’s bread and give it to dogs.” (Matthew 15:24; Matthew 15:26)

Now, how would you feel? How would you feel? I mean, you’ve got a demon-possessed girl. You come to this One who’s supposed to be the Savior and the Lord of the universes—this One, full of compassion—and He says, “Hey, dog! Away! Get away! Get away! I’ve just come to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. I don’t have anything for you. You’re an outcast.” (Matthew 15:24; Matthew 15:26) What would you do? You know what she said? She said, “You’re exactly right.” She said, “I don’t deserve anything. But,” she said, “you know, the dogs get the crumbs that fall from the table.” (Matthew 15:27) And, Jesus said, “Woman, great is thy faith,” (Matthew 15:28) and He gave her exactly what she asked for.

You say, “Why are you comparing God to a selfish neighbor? Why are you comparing God to an unjust judge? Why are you comparing God to a bigoted person?” You don’t understand what the scripture’s about here, folks. Jesus is not saying God is an unjust judge. Jesus is not saying that God is a selfish neighbor. Jesus is not saying that God is a respecter of persons. But, what the Bible teaches is that we need to press through in prayer. We need to ask. Many times, “[we] have not, because [we] ask not.” (James 4:2) And then, we need to seek—not only desire, but discern. Is there something God’s trying to teach us? Is there some key to this puzzle that we don’t need? And then, once we ask and once we seek, then we knock and we knock and we keep on knocking.

Let me give you another example. In 1 Kings chapter 18, Elijah has prayed, and he shut up heaven. And, it would not rain on the earth for a number of years. And then, God tells Elijah, “You go tell Ahab that it’s going to rain.” (1 Kings 18:1) Now, I’m going to pick up the reading here—you can turn to it if you want to—in 1 Kings chapter 18, beginning in verse 41: “And Elijah”—he’s an Old Testament prophet—“said unto Ahab”—he’s an Old Testament king—“Get thee up, eat and drink; for there is a sound of abundance of rain”—by the way, it had not rained a drop when he said this. Not a drop—“So Ahab went up to eat and drink. And Elijah went up to the top of Carmel”—that’s a mountain. I’ve been on top of Carmel sometimes. Our friend is here who has just come from the Holy Land. I don’t know whether you went to Haifa or not. Did you go to Haifa? That’s where Mount Carmel is—“And Elijah went up to the top of Carmel; and he cast himself down upon the earth, and put his face between his knees, And said to his servant, Go up now, look toward the sea. And he went up, and looked, and said, There is nothing. And he said, Go again seven times”—now, here is a man who already knows. He’s been told of God that it was going to rain. But, he prays once, twice, thrice, four times, five times, six times, seven times—“And it came to pass at the seventh time, that he said, Behold, there ariseth a little cloud out of the sea, like a man’s hand. And he said, Go up, say unto Ahab, Prepare thy chariot, and get thee down that the rain stop thee not.” (1 Kings 18:41–44)

Why didn’t God send the rain the first time? I don’t know, but He didn’t do it. I mean, and He had promised that He was going to send the rain. But, he had to ask seven times. Delays are not denials, and we just can’t pick God’s blessing before they’re ripe. God has the right time. I don’t know when it is.

Did you know that the Lord Jesus Christ Himself knocked on heaven’s door? Would you think that Jesus’ prayers, because He was the Son of God in the flesh, had His prayers answered automatically? I was shocked when I really considered this scripture today, but in Matthew chapter 26, verse 44: “And he left them, and went away again, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.” (Matthew 26:44) Can you think about that? Jesus—Jesus; I said, “Jesus”—prayed the third time with the same words. There’s a mystery here, folks. But, there is also a truth, whether we understand the mystery or not, and that is we are to keep on knocking. Ask, seek, and knock.

“Well, Pastor Rogers, does there come a time when you stop knocking?” Sure, when the door opens; sure, when you have what you ask for, or when you have the assurance in your heart if you don’t have it in your hand, or if God tells you, “No.” Paul, the mighty apostle, had something that he wanted. He said, “I asked God for it three times, and on the third time, God said to me, ‘No, I’m not going to give you what you’re asking.”’ (2 Corinthians 12:8–9) Paul was asking God to take a thorn from his flesh. And, Paul said in 2 Corinthians chapter 12, verse 8: “For this thing I besought the Lord thrice, that it might depart from me.” (2 Corinthians 12:8) But, God said to Paul, “Paul, listen, I’m not going to take it away. I’m going to give you added grace.” So, Paul stopped knocking then. He didn’t pray the fourth time. When do you stop? When the door opens—you have what you ask—or when you have it in your heart and God has given you the assurance.
About six years ago, God told me that He heard a prayer from me. I had been knocking. As a matter of fact, I’d been kicking the door some and saying, “God, I’ve got something on my heart, and I want to remind you about it.” And, I prayed again and again and again and again, and God said to me, “I’ve heard your prayer. You can stop asking.” I didn’t have the answer in my hand, but I had it in my heart. And, God had heard my prayer. But folks, listen, there is a desire—that you ask. There is a discernment—that you seek. There is a determination—that you knock. Many of us, I believe, do not press through in prayer.

Joyce and I, this past week, went to Dallas-Fort Worth Airport for a conference on prayer and fasting. And, for three days Joyce and I fasted and prayed along with some other people. It was an incredible experience. We began about 7:30 in the morning and ended about 9:30 at night—no breaks, no food; just prayer, just prayer, seeking God with praise worship. Brother Jim, some of the sweetest praise worship—and I want you to meet this guy that led this praise worship; he’s incredible. And then, little vignettes—different people talking, giving prayer subjects. And, a few of us brought small messages. I had the joy and the privilege of bringing a message. This was sponsored by Campus Crusade for Christ—a wonderful, wonderful experience in prayer! And, I can tell you, folks, that my own heart has been renewed and refreshed in this subject of prayer, and we just need to thank God for this prayer.
