preface

“Cause me to hear Your lovingkindness
in the morning, for in You do I trust; cause me to know the way in which I should walk, for I lift up my soul to You.”

PSALM 143:8

How did you sleep last night? Deep, pleasant slumber, uninterrupted by troublesome dreams? Fitfully? Tossing and turning as you replayed yesterday's turmoil? Did you sleep the sleep of the perpetually exhausted, worn from life's burdens? Perhaps you did not sleep at all as you considered an important impending decision.

It doesn't matter. Whether you are well-rested or red-eyed, you need to be with God this morning—every morning—to be reminded of His love and faithfulness, to receive direction for the day, and to lift your soul in worship.

The book you are holding provides beautifully crafted devotions from trusted pastor, author and teacher Adrian Rogers. Pastor Rogers would, of course, point you to scripture first—to time alone studying God's Word, listening for His voice, and meditating on His instructions. He would point you to prayer—deep communion with your Father through the power of the Holy Spirit. He would point you to praise—giving glory to the Lord Jesus Christ as your Savior.

So it is with humility that this little book, Good Morning, Lord, is offered to you as an accessory to your time alone with God.

The most important thing is to get alone with Him consistently and expectantly. After all, His mercies are “new every morning.” (See Lamentations 3:23.)

What we need is not great faith but faith in a great God.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; For You are with me; Your rod and Your staff, they comfort me.
PSALM 23:4

Years ago, some men were on a leaky old ship in the middle of a rough and stormy sea, fearful for their lives. One went to see the captain and said, "Captain, are we safe?" He said, "Well, I'll put it to you this way: the boilers on this ship are very weak and may explode at any moment. Also, the ship is very old and she's taking on water. To be honest, we may have an explosion or we may sink. We may go up or we may go down. But," he continued, "at any rate, we're going on."

And that's the way we are as we face this new year. Jesus may come—we may go up. We may die—we'll go down and then go up. But at any rate, we're going on...even though we don't know what this year will bring.

Before the old map makers had the modern instruments we have, they would draw maps for as far out as they had explored. They didn't know what was beyond. You see on old maps: "Beyond this, there may be dragons." They'd never seen a dragon, but they didn't know what was out there. They were afraid of the uncharted. And that is the way many of us feel about the future.

ACTION POINT Face this new year by squaring your shoulders, lifting your head, and saying "I will fear no evil, for You are with me." if you have not done it yet, the greatest thing you could do to begin this year would be to give your heart to Jesus Christ. This would be the beginning of a brand new life, the first day of an eternal life! Are you willing to openly and publicly acknowledge Christ as your personal Savior?
